'Greeks' Improve In Over-all Indices

Statistics concerning the scholastic averages of the living groups and classes for the first semester 1956-57 show that the over-all student average is 2.48 and that senior women hold the highest indices, having an average of 2.88.

Tiffany House, with a 2.77 average, is the highest women's living unit, while Delaware Avenue, 2.75, is the highest men's living unit. The senior class has average of 2.76, giving them claim to being the highest class, and Alpha Epsilon Pi, 2.69, holds first place among the fraternities.

'The King and I' Is Weekend Highlight For Annual Fling

Individual dormitories on south campus are preparing various types of entertainment for Friday night of Women's Weekend, which will be held on March 15, 16, and 17.

Smyth Hall is carrying out the theme of the entire weekend—"The King and I"—by featuring an evening for "All the Queen's Men." A buffet supper, prepared by the girls under the direction of Lee Lee Hannold and Sally Schmidt, will be held from 6 to 8 p. m. Following the buffet supper, the Queen Belles Combo will play in the upstairs lounge until midnight.

At the same time that the combo is playing upstairs, the basement will serve as a recreation room for games and TV. In charge of refreshments is Ruth Scherer; decorations, Ellie Byers; Nancy Williams, clean-up. Janet Lee Keller, acting as general chairman of Smyth's evening, extends an invitation to members of all dormitories to party-hop to Smyth for the entertainment.

Sussex will feature a gondola entrance to a Bermuda party which will feature pizza, coke, and dancing afterwards. Ellen Hoffman is general chairman of the pizza party.

Warner's buffet supper and party will be carried on under the direction of Fifi Dawson, entertainment chairman, and Barbara Shan, social committee chairman. Bridge dancing, and games will follow the buffet supper.

Campus Queen Enters State Beauty Contest

Nancy Cathcart, University coed who came within a hair's breadth of being crowned Miss Delaware last year, today became the latest contestant for the 1957 Miss Delaware title.

The brunette college freshman, who was the first runner-up in the 1956 pageant, is being sponsored this year by the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity.

Last fall she became the first freshman in the university's history to be elected Homecoming Queen, a contest in which she was also sponsored by Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The 19-year old Miss Delaware aspirant served as Miss Stardust of 1955 and Queen of Theta Phi. While in high school, she also was vice president of Sigma Kappa Alpha sorority, representative leader and a participant in into the Student Council, a cheer-

Pertaining to fraternity indices, Dean of Students John E. Hocutt announced that fraternity men have compiled the most outstanding scholastic record in their history during the past semester.

In a letter to fraternity presidents and their advisers, Dean Hocutt states, "The improvement in scholarship made by all nine fraternities for the first semester is most gratifying. For the first time, all fraternities achieved indices equal to or better than the all men's index. Four of the fraternities earned averages above the composite average for men in the senior, junior, and sophomore classes."

Queen Elaine

ROYAL COLONEL—Elaine Leary, Education '58, Queen of the Military Ball, was sponsored by Company C. Elaine lived in Kent Dormitory last semester and is now commuting from Wilmington. As for her activities, she was a May Queen at P. S. Dupont High School, an attendant at May Dayinher freshman year at Delaware, and is now in Women's Chorus and D.S.T.A.

In addition, Elaine will serve as honorary cadet colonel of the ROTC cadet regiment at regimental reviews.

E-52 Stages 'The Gilded Hoop'; Premier Production of Play

The doors of Mitchell Hall opened to a potential Broadway drama last night when Miss Anna Marie Barlow's original script, "The Gilded Hoop", was presented on the stage for the first time to an audience.

"The Gilded Hoop" is a play about a family. The plot device is the past basketball scandals that occurred in many of the large colleges on the East coast.

The youngest son of the family, Jim played by Jack Scott, is a star basketball player who gets involved in one of these scandals. He has accepted money with the conditions that he be high scorer for the team but at the same time help to shave off five or six points a game. Inevitable justice catches up with him and his two friends. The time is a few days before Christmas. The older brother, Fred portrayed by Homer Livisos, has come home from the South for the holidays. The close neighbors, Bill and Louise (Dick Swarout and Ginger Bruce) have recently returned from a vacation and are dropping in on the Campbell household. Not having any children of their own they look upon Fred and Jim as almost adopted children. Meridian, played by Jan Cox, is Jim's girlfriend. She and Jim have drifted apart when Jim slowly became involved more in basketball and less in his desires for medical school.

Why did Jim take the bribe? What caused him to go astray and get caught in the "drift" as his brother Fred put it? (A drift is a strong blast of wind that throws one off course.)

The story of the Campbell family raises the question. The question comes up strong and hits hard. Mat, he father, played by Tom Waters, wanted his sons bigger than he was. When they did become bigger he suddenly realizes that he never knew what

REVIEW Personnel To Play 'Switch' On Next Editions

In preparation for the annual election of an editor-in-chief and the selection of an editorial staff, the next two issues of the Review will be published by "trial" editors and staff.

Frank Garosi, A & S '58, the present news editor, and Janet Bonin, A & S '58, the present associate editor, will alternate between the positions of editor-in-chief and managing editor for the two issues. Garosi will be editor-in-chief next week and Bonin will assume the same duties the following week.

Special Feature editor Nancy Stewart, A & S '58, will become associate editor for the issue of March 15. Scott Wilson, A & S '59, will move from sports editor to news editor, and Dorothy Levy, Ed. 59, will go from assistant news editor to feature editor. Frank Helms, A & S '59, and Jane Doran, HE '59, will become circulation manager and typing editor respectively.

Four freshmen will also be tried in editorial positions. Dave Heeren, A & S, will become

Petitions Open For SGA Posts Starting Mon.

The new Student Government Association Constitution was passed this week by a bare two-thirds majority of those people voting in the referendum.

The election, held on Monday and Tuesday, drew 598 undergraduates to the polls in the lobby of Mitchell Hall. Of this number 409 voted for the constitution and 187 against. There were two abstainers. Under the terms of the constitution it had to be passed by 66.7 per cent of those voting. It received 68.6 per cent.

Ballots were counted Wednesday by members of the SGA and representatives from the Dean of Students' Office.

Petition to Begin
Charles Thompson, chairman of the SGA elections committee, announced yesterday that petitioning for SGA offices will begin next week. Official petition forms will be available beginning Monday in the Dean of Students' office. They will be accepted in the Dean's office from March 11 through April 2. Elections will be held April 11 and 12.

All petitions must be on official forms and must include the names of 25 endorsers, classification and list of activities of the candidate and a glossy photograph of the candidate, 2 x 3 inches.

Dean John E. Hocutt and Thompson will check the eligibility of the candidates and confirm the nominations. Under the new constitution certified nominations will be posted on a bulletin board outside the Dean's office at least one week prior to the election. All nominees declared ineligible will be notified within two days following the close of petitions.

No Unopposed Offices
If there are vacant or unopposed offices at the end of the petitioning period, there will be an extension of three days during which time petitions for those offices will be accepted. If at the end of that time there are not at least two qualified candidates for each office, the elections committee will make nominations to fill them.

There are 36 elected offices to be filled in the SGA under the new constitution. They are the president, vice president, record-

Work of Andrews In Library Gallery

Paintings and prints by Julia Andrews, an instructor at the Art Center, Wilmington, are currently on exhibit at the Art Gallery.

Miss Andrews, who is from Tennessee, is a professional artist and has had one-man shows at Carlin Gallery, Philadelphia, and the University of Tennessee. She has had her paintings exhibited in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and in the Philadelphia Academy of Art.

Miss Andrews will be the guest at a coffee hour from 4 to 5 p.m. on March 14. Interested students may discuss her work with her at that time, according to Jane L. Gardner, associate professor of art and chairman of art projects for the Cultural Committee.

The art exhibits are under the direction of Dr. Alan Gowans, chairman of the department and associate professor of art.

Indonesian Student, Maswar, Invades Graduate Chemistry

By Alice Matuszeski

Maswar is the name of a graduate student in chemistry who comes from Indonesia—a group of islands south east of the Asiatic mainland.

He was born in the town of Kota Gedang, in central Sumatra, but went to high school and college in the capital of Indonesia, Djakarta. His father was a government official, and his mother a home economics teacher in a local school. Maswar was in junior high school during the Japanese occupation of Indonesia. Of those three years, he says only that the Japanese were very cruel, and that many people died. He says that it was "the worst time of my life."

After the Japanese withdrew the Dutch moved back into Indonesia in 1945 and the people there began a fight for independence. Maswar was among many high school boys who left school to fight in the Indonesian army. He was with the revolutionaries for two years, during which he worked mostly behind the front lines on such jobs as communications and construction. Although Maswar returned to school, the fight for independence went on for three more years—until the republic was formed in 1950. According to Maswar, the Indonesians are still trying to get the Dutch half of New Guinea.

The college at Djakarta is a government school and most of the students are there on government scholarships. To receive this help they must promise to work for the government and not for a private company after graduation. Maswar, himself, is pledged to work for the Indonesian government after he returns home.

Biology Dept. Has Prof. E. Anderson As Guest Lecturer

Professor Edgar Anderson, Engelmann Professor of Botany at Washington University, St. Louis, and director of the Missouri Botanical Garden, was the guest of the department of biological sciences at the university last Monday and Tuesday.

Professor Anderson, who was invited to the university under the visiting scholar program, gave a public lecture on "How to Measure a Species and Why Bother."

Well known as a research scientist, Professor Anderson has also been a teacher, lecturer and author. His book, "Plants, Man and Life," is an account of how his research interests as a geneticist have led him to an interest in tracing the history and origin of such plants as corn, cotton, wheat, iris and many of our common weeds.

He has been the recipient of many academic honors and has held offices in scientific societies, including presidency of the Botanical Society of America. He is currently working in the Department of Mathematics at Princeton University under a grant from the Guzzenheim Foundation.

Tri-Beta to Type Undergrad Blood

Beta Beta Beta honorary biological society, will type blood during the first and second weeks of April.

All University personnel will be eligible to have their blood type and Rh factor determined. Cards with this information will be given to each person.

Details as to times when the student health center will be open for those desiring this service will appear in a future issue of the Review.

Maswar had graduated from college and had been a technical lab assistant there for six months when he won a fellowship offered by the U. S. Department of Education. To get here he flew across Asia and Europe to New York and then came to Delaware.

Maswar

He will study in the United States for two years, but he is not sure if both years will be here at Delaware.

An atmosphere of freedom and equality is what Maswar notices most here. He explains that you can ask the professors here a question at any time, while in Indonesia there were special question periods. He adds that the professors are more friendly and think nothing of doing menial jobs "like carrying water," while at his home college there was a greater difference between teacher and student, even with the European and American professors.

There is also a greater freedom in America from custom and tradition. Maswar has noticed that even Europeans demand more formality and "etiquette".

In his own field Maswar feels there is a greater amount of specialization here in the United States. In Indonesia factories are small and the technical chemist must have a broad background but needs less depth of knowledge.

For outside activities Maswar attends various cultural programs on campus and is a member of the Cosmopolitan Club. Much of his spare time he spends cooking for himself. He explains that he has had a little trouble getting used to an American diet—"too much bread, and not enough rice," so most meals he cooks himself. This was not too successful at first because Maswar had never cooked before. Now when he gets tired of his own cooking he eats out, but this does not happen very often.

Maswar visited New York City during the mid-semester vacation, and plans to see more of this country during other vacations.

Campus Chest Fund Includes Crusade for Freedom Charity

Delaware's Campus Chest Fund will include among its charities this year an international charity, The Crusade for Freedom.

The Crusade for Freedom is an organization supported by the American people through voluntary contributions. It, in turn, sends all contributions directly to Radio Free Europe.

Eight Years Old

RFE was organized in 1949 by the Free Europe Committee, Inc. and has become a principle instrument in keeping the spirit of freedom alive in Communist-controlled nations of Central and Eastern Europe.

RFE first went on the air in July, 1950, with a total programming schedule of 10 hours a week. Presently, it represents a combined air time of over 3,000 hours a week and is an organization of 2,000.

Powerful Station

Modern equipment and technological knowledge combine to make RFE one of the most efficient and effective radio broadcasting stations in the world. There are 29 transmitters located in West Germany and Portugal, which launch the voices of freedom through the Iron Curtain. RFE keeps skilled engineers working constantly to increase transmitter effectiveness and to devise better means for combating the Communist jamming stations.

Domestic Events

Covering a range of subjects equal to that of any domestic radio station, a primary function of Radio Free Europe is to give the true facts about events within the listener's own country.

Of primary importance is Radio Free Europe's practice of objectively interpreting trends and developments within the listener's own country. Religious news and services are broadcast to listeners of all faiths. Culture, comedy, drama, music, satire, quiz shows, forums and interviews are all included in the program schedule.

Each program is broadcast over several transmitters. In this way, 95 per cent of RFE's programs break through Communist jamming on at least one channel. "Operation Saturation" successfully minimizes jamming by transmitting simultaneously on 22 units half an hour every night over Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

Music Dept. Honors Composer In Concert Program March 14

A program of five compositions by Paul Creston will be given in Mitchell Hall on March 14 at 8:15 p.m. The concert will be performed by the University Concert Choir, Symphonie Band and the Symphonette.

Paul Creston, an American composer, has been active as lecturer, pianist, organist and conductor. He has composed work for piano, choral ensemble and

Dean of Students Discusses Openings Of New Buildings

Although a few weeks behind schedule because of the recent inclement weather, DuPont Hall, the new engineering building will be ready for occupancy by February, 1958, according to John E. Hocutt, Dean of Students.

At the present time, the foundations are complete and the stone work is getting started. Equipment is now being ordered. When the weather is too bad to work outside, the construction crew has been working on the modification of Evans Hall. The anticipated cost of Evans Hall improvements is $70,000.

The ground breaking for the East Campus Dormitories and the Student Union building will have taken place by March 15. At the present time, some top soil has been scraped off and some of the materials are at the site. The contract date for completion of the buildings is April 30, 1958.

Icelandic Undergrads Strive for Admission

Three Icelandic students will seek admission to the University of Delaware in September 1957, as recipients of Brittingham International Scholarships.

The young men, all about twenty-one, are Peter Josephson, Olafur Sigurdsson and Olafur Hannibalsson. All are from Reykjavik, the capital of Iceland. Olafur Hannibalsson is the son of Hannibal Waldimarsson, Minister of Social Affairs in the Icelandic Cabinet.

Chosen by Industrialists

Dean of Students John E. Hocutt disclosed today that the three students have been selected by Thomas E. Brittingham, Jr., well known Wilmington industrialist and for the past several years an officer of the University of Delaware Research Foundation, who is providing scholarships for the students on the same basis as his International Scholarships at the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Brittingham has devoted an increasing amount of his time and personal attention during the past five years to bringing foreign students to American universities. For the most part, these students have been from Scandinavian countries.

First Attending U. D.

Previously, all of his Viking and International Scholars have attended the University of Wisconsin, an institution in which the Brittingham family has been interested for years.

This year, due to his intense interest in Iceland and his awareness of the need for improving Icelandic-American relations, Mr. Brittingham decided to select several Icelandic students as International Scholars to attend Wisconsin. In addition, he decided to sponsor three Icelandic students at the University of Delaware.

Mr. Brittingham described his objectives as follows: "I am looking for younger men who are potentially leaders of their countries. I realize that you can't be infallible when interviewing twenty-year olds. However, if selected on the basis of demonstrated leadership, personality, strength of character, and not solely on the basis of high scholarship, these students may be expected to profit the most from an American college experience. It is important for them to share in all aspects of American university life."

UD to Administer Master Degree Candidacy Exams

Candidacy examinations for University students seeking masters degrees will be given in Room 311, Allison Hall, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on April 6.

Students who wish to take the tests should have their applications in by today. Each applicant will be sent forms which must be completed and returned before March 15. Unless these requirements are met by the specified dates, it will not be possible for the applicant to take the examination in April, since time to process the information is required.

The results of the examination will be used to aid students and their advisers in planning the remainder of the students graduate program. Of special concern is whether or not the student should write a thesis.

The examination will be administered to those students who have: (1) been admitted to the School of Graduate Study as a regular student; (2) completed nine hours of graduate study with a grade of B or better; (3) submitted application to take the qualifying examination; (4) signed and returned slip signifying intention of taking examination on April 6 before March 15; (5) completed and returned the personal information sheet before March 15.

Further information concerning the application and the examination may be obtained from Mrs. Elizabeth Eager, School of Education, Allison Hall.

Bob Harry to Play For Sr. Week-end

"Bob Harry's Orchestra has been contracted to play for Senior Week-end; final arrangements have just been completed," announced Steve Voorhees, dance chairman.

Harry's Orchestra, to which seniors and their guests will dance on May 30 in the Gold Ballroom of the Hotel DuPont in Wilmington, consists of eleven pieces and a vocalist.

According to Charles Thompson, senior class president, the schedule and arrangements for the entire week end are in the final stages of preparation.

At present, plans call for the dance on Thursday night, a party at the Italian American Club in Kennett Square on Friday and a gathering at White Crystal Manor on Sunday.

UD Choir Travels To State Ceremony

The University Choir took part in the Washington Day observances at the State House in Dover, February 22 by invitation of the General Assembly Under the direction of Dr. Ivan Trusler, assistant professor of music the 32-voice choir sang for the legislators in the Senate Chamber.

Featured on the program was music of American composers. James Hughes and Donald Reed were soloists.

The invitation to join the Washington Day celebration was a result of a concert given by the choir for members of the Assembly when the legislators visited the university during their tour of state-supported institutions early this month.

Paul Creston

he sung by the Concert Choir; "Celebration Overture, Opus 61," by the Symphonie Band; concluding with "Two Choric Dances, Opus 17" and "Pastorale and Tarantella, Opus 28," by the Delaware Symphonette.

Dr. Ivan Trusler, associate professor of music, will direct the choir while both the Band and the Symphonette will be conducted by Mr. J. Robert King, associate professor of music. Janice Olson will be soloist with the choir and Carolyn Brown will be the accompanist.

Renowned Violinist Series Attraction

Frances Magnes, well-known violinist, will appear in Mitchell Hall, March 11, as the next presentation in the Artist Series programs.

Her program will consist of: "Sonata in G Major" by J. S. Bach; "Sonata in A Major, Opus 47," "Krentzer" by Beethoven; "Poeme" by Chausson and "Trigane" by Ravel.

Born in Cleveland, Ohio, Miss Magnes is a member of a famed musical family. Her great-grandfather was court violinist for a Russian Czar. She had her first lesson when she was six years old. Her debut as a soloist came with the Cleveland Orchestra, when she was fourteen.

Frances Magnes has studied and toured both in the U. S. and in France. Recently she was favorably acclaimed in Alaska.

Frances Magnes uses a famed Amati violin which was made in Cremona, Italy, in 1614. Amati was the teacher of Stradivarius.

Miss Magnes will be accompanied at the piano by Malcolm Frager.

Lawrence A. Long ATO Guest Speaker At Founders Dinner

Epsilon Rho Chapter, Alpha Tau Omega, will hold its annual Founders Day Banquet on March 10, at the Newark Century Club. The banquet commemorates the passage of ninety-two years since the founding of Alpha Tau Omega.

Both the active chapter and the alumni will have an opportunity to meet Mr. Lawrence A. Long, president of the national fraternity, who will be the guest speaker.

In conjunction with, and immediately preceding this banquet, Epsilon Rho has planned a non-denominational church service to be conducted by the Reverend John R. Symonds, Vicar of the St. Stephens Episcopal Church in Harrington, Delaware and one of the founders of Epsilon Rho.

Tomorrow, as a part of the ceremonies, Epsilon Rho will hold a formal initiation to be attended by the alumni and visiting national officers. Tomorrow evening there will be an informal dance at Brecks Mill in Wilmington.

Venture Requests Original Material

Regularly enrolled undergraduates of the university are eligible to submit entries of poetry or prose to Venture, undergraduate literary magazine. Although the Creative Writing Contest is now closed, contributions to the publication will be accepted until April 1.

Material for this semester's issue will be drawn from the entries submitted to the Creative Writing Contest and from other material turned in to Venture, Box T, before April 1. Winning entries of the Creative Writing Contest will be published. All other material will be voted on by the editorial board, consisting of Mr. Richard Francisco, faculty advisor to Venture; Dottie Pannell, editor; Jim Chowning, editor emeritus; Hank Berman; Jim Dugan, Al Walters; Kay McKay; Zona Herzog; Charlie Betts and Jack Jones, the new associate editor.

Scholastic Tea Honors Dean's List Students

Kappa Delta Pi, the Honorary Education Society, held a Dean's List Tea for all freshman and sophomore Education majors on last night, in the Smyth Hall Lounge.

Joan Henderson, president of Kappa Delta Pi, stated the purpose of the tea: "We want to acquaint these students with Kappa Delta Pi and its purposes here on our campus, and would also like to know them better since it is from this group that we will be selecting our future members."

The students invited to attend this tea were Ann Alexander, Susan Bernhard, Laurie Bliss, Blanche Champion, Edith Cranmer, Shirley Darrell, Nancy Edwards, Katherine Gordy, Margaret Hamblet, JoAnn Krumbeck, Sara Lee, Dorothy Levy, Amy McNulty, Marilyn Palombo, Nancy Spahr, Carol Turner, Lenora Lee Watts, Nancy Weir, Janet Wickman, Doris Wild and Nancy Williams.

Chairmen of the committees for the tea included: Doris Reed, invitations; Ann Farlow, refreshments; Connie Rutter, table decorations and Eunice Harry, hostess committee. The officers of Kappa Delta Pi are: Joan Henderson, president; Irene Haldas, vice president; Elaine Crittendon, secretary; Doug Roberts, treasurer and Connie Rutter, historian. Dr. Arthur Schwarz, associate professor of education, is the faculty advisor.

Richard McKelvey Men's Exec Prexy Urges Compliance

"As almost all innovations are met by unfavorable reactions, I expected the new rule concerning men's dress in the dining hall on week ends to be met with some disapproval. However, I believe that this change will eventually be accepted as a great improvement by all students of the university. We of SGA feel that this is a step in the right direction, especially with the future construction of more adequate and modern dining facilities," stated Dick McKelvey, chairman of Men's Executive Council.

Dick, a senior sociology major, is well known on campus for his activities in sports as well as in SGA. He has been on the varsity basketball squad for several years and has been pitcher on the varsity baseball team.

As chairman of Men's Executive Council, Dick is a member of SGA. He serves on the Cultural Activities Committee, a sub-committee of that organization. He has also been appointed to a position on the Senior Executive Council, a group which plans senior week end and other activities.

Dick (Noodles) McKelvey has excelled in other areas as well. He is vice president of his fraternity, Sigma Phi Epsilon and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity.

Editor Announces Hen To Feature University Scenes

One of the goals of this year's yearbook staff has been to have a finished product ready by May 10, according to Bill Starkey, editor.

As of now all copy is in the publishers' hands. The 1957 Blue Hen will feature several sections in color while the dividing pages will be decorated by pen and ink sketches of university scenes and activities.

Most of the Blue Hen have been purchased through contract agreements, but Starkey states that a few extra copies will go on sale shortly after May 10.

An improvement this year will be noted in the individual pictures as all of these were taken by a professional photographer. Starkey states that it was through the excellent cooperation of the staff that the deadline was made with promises of new and better Blue Hen.

AIEE-IRE Hears Douglas Morgan

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers at a joint meeting with the Institute of Radio Engineers on March 4 at 7:30 p.m. will have Douglas L. Morgan as guest speaker.

"Information Theory and the Reduction of Error in Communication" will be the topic of his speech. Mr. Morgan is from the Mathematical Research Division of the National Security Agency.

Bubble, Bubble

Toil and Trouble

University students went to the polls this week and made their decision on the proposed SGA constitution. It is unfortunate, however, that a small uninformed group could stir up such a controversy late last week about the constitution.

The notorious "white sheet," unsigned, which was distributed in mailboxes was an example of unsubstantiated declarations and ridiculous propositions—obviously the product of persons who knew little about the workings of the SGA, the constitutional committee and the university faculty. Whether the SGA had the right to pull the propaganda from the boxes before their distribution became widespread is questionable. Perhaps had all the students an opportunity to examine the paper thoroughly, the absurdity of its content would be realized by more. Nevertheless, in that it advocated an overthrow of everything the government of the students had been working for to date plus the fact that it was anonymous, the sheet could by a stretch of imagination, be called libelous.

The scandal sheet first mentioned a mature student body that wanted more responsibility. Such an act as the distribution of the paper is far from the work of mature individuals, who do not even have the "guts" to sign it. Nor do these "few" realize that the students must show that they are capable of accepting existing responsibility before additional responsibility can be considered. The constitutional committee provided in the new document for more student responsibility than now exists. Among other things, they allowed for the administration of the new Student Center by a board of directors, a committee of students to be appointed by the Senate.

Next the naive instigators advocated direct representation for students in the administration of the school and he Board of Trustees. This is out-of-the-question, since trustees are selected by the state legislature. They are responsible to the state—not to the students. It should also be pointed out that there are now student members of the faculty committees that deal with student affairs, such as the Committee on Student Personal Problems, and the Committee on Student Publications.

The critics of the proposed constitution seemed to represent the fact that the constitution had to be approved by and would be subject to the rules and restrictions of the university faculty. The constitution has no power, they claimed. Here at Delaware and to our knowledge at all other similar institutions, it has always been a basic premise that students have no rights, except those privileges the administration deems fit to grant. In order for such an organization to exist here, it must have a constitution which must be approved by the administration. At the present time we are sure that any radical movements such as those suggested would never be permitted.

The students must face the cold, hard facts. This is the situation and we must live with it. The SGA saw this; and their constitutional revision is the best thing possible right now.

Another Rung

On The Way Up

Another feather has been added to the caps of President John A. Perkins and the university by virtue of Dr. Perkins' appointment to a high federal post in Washington. Not only does it add prestige to his name, but it also aids the reputation of the university.

Few know, probably, what an important personality Delaware has as its president. He may have his campus critics, but for the most part, both here and in the rest of the nation, he is respected as being an up-and-coming figure in the educational and political fields.

This is not the first time that such an honor has been conferred upon Dr. Perkins. In July 1953 he was elected to the executive board of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization; and in 1954 he served as a member of a special committee on Intergovernmental Relations for the Federal Government. In addition, Dr. Perkins has held numerous state and educational posts in Delaware and in his home state of Michigan. He has had published over forty books and articles.

Now Dr. Perkins is Undersecretary of Health, Education, and Welfare. What next?

Early Morning Disturbances

By Sidney Ezrallson

The alarm clock sounded its undesired and authoritative buzz, one morning last week as it does every morning almost without fail. I reached out almost automatically and groped blindly, finally turning it off. Then I turned on the radio, setting the dial for a local station. What I heard jangled and disturbed me more than the alarm clock. A commercial was in progress; the point of it, the advertiser will be sorry to hear, I don't remember. At any rate, it was loud and distasteful to my half-awake mind at that hour in the morning.

As I got out of bed and looked from my window at the usual kind of day, I thought I would not buy that thing if it was the last one of its kind in the whole world. Thinking further on the subject, I find that commercials on the whole, on both radio and television have sunk to an all time low. First of all there are certainly too many of them too often. One local radio station divides one of its news programs into local, national and international news and the weather report, each part having its own individual sponsor. Generally, commercials seem to give the impression that the American public is entirely ignorant and will buy anything if it sounds like a bargain. Auto dealers announce proudly, for example, that the monthly payments on the 1957 model are such-and-such, but never how many months of the radically low figure the buyer will be paying. Some television stations run a long movie spotted with commercials every ten minutes selling everything from storm windows to encyclopedias, and screaming at the viewer not to wait a second, but to telephone the numbers flashed on the screen.

The commercial that made me think of all others was and the announcer came on telling me that the next record was dedicated to Mary and Joe and Henry's grandmother, or something like that. This announcement seemed ridiculous that an obviously private reference was made over the public air. Perhaps three or four people who knew who Mary and Joe were, but the other thousands certainly don't know, and like me, probably care less. The record started, and since people's taste in music varies (Continued on Page 11)

It's All Greek...

Theta Chi takes great pleasure in announcing the following: The Bowery Ball tomorrow night is going to be the greatest yet—brothers, pledges and their dates will be seen costumed and enjoying themselves.

Belated sincere congratulations to Dick (Stony) Jackson and Carolyn Lantz on their recent engagement. Best of everything for you both from all of us.

Pledges George Lord and John Ruells have assumed to-captainship of their pledge class.

The joint Theta Chi, KA party was a success and a repeat performance will be arranged in the future.

The installation of a new "pledge," Iwo. With four legs (and one of them a fast one), your writer speculates that he will soon rule, or ruin, the roost.

The Alpha Tau Omega house will be bustling with activity this weekend with many alumni returning for our Founders' Day. It has been 92 years since the founding of Alpha Tau Omega at the Virginia Military Institute and eight years since the installation of the Delaware Epsilon Rho Chapter. With us this weekend will be our national president, Worthy Grand Chief Lawrence M. Long and other celebrities. Saturday will feature a semi-formal dance at Brecks Mill in Wilmington. On Sunday a church service will be held for Alpha Tau Omega at the Newark Century Club followed by the annual Founders' Day Banquet.

The Delaware Tau's split two Inter-Province basketball games last weekend. On Saturday Maryland won by a slim margin while Delaware returned to victory on Sunday against Johns' Hopkins.

Congratulations to the newly elected officers of our pledge class who are Neal Warrington, President; Bill Payne, Vice President and Rick Matwaring, Secretary. Congratulations also to Dick Price, Tom Price and Joey Roy on their pledgeship to Alpha Tau Omega.

Tomorrow night Phi Kappa Tau will hold a house party, financed by the blood donations made by the brothers this week. The combo of Chuck Laskin, who appeared here last fall and drew many favorable comments, will furnish the music.

On Wednesday, March 13, our annual Founders' Day Banquet will be held at the Officer's Club of the New Castle Air Base. This is an event looked forward to each year by both members of the active chapter and of the alumni, as a chance to get together and talk over old times.

Last Friday a severe storm struck the house, causing inestimable damage to the every day routine of the brotherhood. The cause of the disaster was found to be, when the smoke had cleared, none other than the incomparable P. W. Robertson. And, since this marks your writer's last column, Aloha to all.

Last Saturday the brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha, with the Maryland Chapter, got together for the Annual Founders' Day Banquet which was held at the Park Plaza Hotel in Baltimore. The Pikes were honored by having, as the guest speaker, Congressman Paul C. Jones of the state of Missouri. After the banquet the Pikes from both chapters got together and had a night on the town.

Congratulations are in store at this time for George Seidle who was recently pledged into the fraternity. Pikes, guests, and dates will assemble at Taylor Gym this Saturday, for a splash party.

From Friday to Monday last week, Delta Tau Delta had the privilege of entertaining Jack McElenny, Field Secretary from the National Office; his interviews and ideas have proven very helpful. On Thursday the chapter journeyed to the Royal Oaks Restaurant where the semi-annual steak dinner was held; the brothers were matched by index last semester, and the winners enjoyed their rewards in steak form.

On Saturday Brothers Mundy, Moore, Terres and Stubbsline will bend for Syracuse to attend the Fraternity's Eastern Divisional Conference. Several other members are going to Connecticut for a weekend; they will carry with them about a ton of Art Hodger's property which he left before transferring to the University of Connecticut.

Congratulations to all the Brothers of Alpha Epsilon Pi on a great Buccaneers Brawl. The big ship was really rocking Saturday night; a great time was had by all.

The brothers and pledges of Alpha Epsilon Pi will journey to the University of Pennsylvania to play their first game in the Eastern Regional Conclave Basketball Tournament. Good luck to the team!

Pledge Shames brought glory to himself last week when this five foot five inch dynamo expelled Theta Chi's Bob Jones in a closely contested basketball game.

Once again Alpha Epsilon Pi has led the scholarship trail of the fraternities with an over all 2.69 index. The brothers are going into seclusion to prepare to defend their title. Rumor has it that an overall 3.00 index is in the making for this semester.

Sigma Nu will hold a card party this week. Brothers, pledges and dates will play Bridge, Rummy, Poker, Old Maid, or some other game of chance. Social chairman Bill Timmons hopes it will be a big success and something a little different from the usual house party.

Bill Walston has announced plans for the Annual Initiation Banquet to be held on April 13. Co-advisor George Thompson will address the new brothers.

Several brothers and dates were the guests of the Wilmington Alumni Club at their Annual Founders' Day Banquet and Dance at the Hotel Dupont.

Tomorrow evening the long awaited "Shipwreck Party" will be held at Sigma Phi Epsilon behind the "Big Red Door." The music will be by that ever popular "Queen Belle" and her combo whom many will remember from some of our best parties.

On Wednesday evening Brother Bill Taylor was initiated into the Brotherhood of Sigma Phi Epsilon upon the termination of his pledgeship.

Now that the basketball season is over some congratulations are due the men of "Sig Ep" who performed for the "Hens" this season. Brothers Harris Mosher, "Knut" McKelvey, Al Brown, Gil Mahla, and Jerry Bacher did a fine job and added much to the wins which the Hens had this year. Brother Ralph Tilleff also added to the team effort in the capacity of assistant to the coaches and his smiling face, and jovial appearance on the bench raised the spirits of the team on more than one occasion.

The Kappa Alpha "A" basketball team is in top notch form after defeating Sigma Nu and Phi Tau last week. Pledge Bill McCafferty is doing a fine job in the basket making department. Also credit goes to Pledge Bob Downes who is a new member of the "A" team. Bob is playing fine ball and is a real asset to the team. The KA "B" team is also having a good season with the plunging center, Brother Dale "Abdullah" Wilhelm, tearing up the boards. Pledges Steve Welch and Jack Gordy are turning in top notch performances. And there's the old reliable Tom Adams who always turns in a superior performance.

The Pledges are getting off to a good start. They are displaying the old Ka spirit well in their interest. The brothers would like to welcome Lloyd Bushy who recently pledged. Lloyd is a Freshman and is a candidate for a berth on the freshman baseball team.

Also congratulations are in order for brother Lou Cash. Lou was recently initiated into the brotherhood. We are proud to welcome him.

Many thanks go to Theta Chi for their fine hospitality at the houseparty last Saturday night.

Letter to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR

What a happy surprise greeted me when Dean Houghton compiled the scholastic standings achieved by our student body for the first semester. There was marked improvement over the previous semester in all major categories with two exceptions. The All Women's average declined slightly. The Seniors were considerably below their counterparts in the second semester of last year. The other three classes did better. This academic performance is particularly noteworthy in that scholastic averages for the second semester of any school year are usually higher than in the first semester. If the student body continues to pay major attention to the prime reason for attending the university—to study to learn—there is a good possibility that comparison of grades in June of 1957 with those of June, 1956, will permit us to say, "The school year of 1956-57 was the greatest in the history of the university." May I ask you students (through The Review) as individuals and as living groups to make this a record year?

I should particularly like to commend the men students. They are the ones whose performance is in large measure responsible for the improvement noted. Among the men's living groups, the most notable scholastic improvement has been made by the fraternities. The All Fraternity average climbed from 2.38 to 2.50. For the first time, all nine fraternities have indices equal to or above the All Men's average. The All Fraternity average is above the composite average for the men in the Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes. I am most happy to say, "Well done," to the fraternities for their scholarship efforts.

Delaware students are proving they know why they are attending the University. John Perkins
University President

New York U. Offers Juniors Opportunities

Junior Year in New York, a new plan through which college students across the country can take advantage for one year of the educational opportunities in the New York metropolitan "urban laboratory", will begin in September at New York University's Washington Square College of Arts and Science.

The plan has been adopted in response to requests from students in other colleges and universities, according to Dean Thomas Clark Pollock of Washington Square College. It calls for the acceptance of a limited number of candidates who have completed their sophomore studies in good standing and have the recommendation of the academic officers of their institutions. These students would return as seniors to their own colleges to complete the work for their degrees.

The Junior Year in New York program for each student will be designed to meet his specific educational needs. It will consist of a combination of regular courses and supervised off-campus study experiences in his field of interest. The university will provide easy access to New York City's unique educational opportunities in the arts, international affairs, social service, business, communications, and other fields.

According to Associate Dean Frank H. McCloskey of Washington Square College, who is administering the program, NYU's School of Commerce, Accounts, and Finance, School of Education and School of Retailing will help with the programs of Junior Year students who wish to specialize in these fields.

The students will be housed either in university dormitories or by groups in other suitable quarters under university supervision.

Applications should be submitted no later than May 1 to Associate Dean F. H. McCloskey, Washington Square College of Arts and Science, New York University, New York 3, New York.

Visiting Scholar Discusses People, Place, Government

Dr. John G. Gaus, professor of government at Harvard University, visited the campus this week as a visiting scholar sponsored by the Political Science Department.

On Tuesday, Dr. Gaus was honored at a luncheon at the College Inn. At 8 p. m. he delivered an address in Wolf Hall Auditorium on: "People, Place and Government." In addition, Dr. Gaus met with the Constitute Law classes on Tuesday and on Wednesday spoke at a coffee hour in Brown Hall Lounge.

Dr. Gaus is a former president of the American Political Science Association and former president of the American Society for Public Administration. He has also held government posts at local and federal levels.

Dr. Gaus received his undergraduate degree from Amherst College, two earned degrees from Harvard, and an honorary doctorate from Columbia University. He has been professor of government at Harvard since 1947 and previously taught at Amherst, the University of Minnesota and the University of Wisconsin.

He is especially interested in public administration and regional planning and is the author of several publications in this field.

Godbey to Assume Directors' Position

Gordon C. Godbey has been appointed by President John A. Perkins to replace Dean William Penrose as director of the university summer school. Dean Penrose, who left in December for a year's leave of absence, is spending his time in Holland in research and writing.

Mr. Godbey, who also heads the university extension school, has worked very closely with the summer school program as director of university extension. He has worked with the "late" summer program of studies in Rehoboth Beach, and has also been in charge of conferences which are held on campus all summer.

ing secretary, corresponding secretary, and treasurer; chairman of the Board of Directors of the new Delaware Student Center; chairman of the Women Executive Council and Chairman of the Men's Executive Council; the class offices of president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer; four women dormitory resident representatives three independent men dormitory representatives, three fraternity representatives and two commuter delegates. Five of these are freshman offices to be elected in the fall.

According to Thompson, plans for the coming election call for pictures of the candidates and a sample ballot to be published in the Review on April 5. An open rally, to give each candidate a chance to speak before the student body, will be held on April 10.

Gilded Hoop

he told his sons. "Not once," as Beanie, the mother, played by Elaine Labour, says, "did we ever tell them to do what they thought was right."

This story of the Campbell family, its difficulties, and its realizations is a moving and powerful story. Its message hits both generations, the parents and their children. It hits them hard. It asks the parents whether or not they're pushing their children too hard and are they pushing in the right way and in the right direction. It asks the younger generation to sit back and think about what they do. It asks them if they have thought whether what they do is right or are they just going on blindly.

The play has many warm moments. A family functioning together and overcoming their problems is a sight to bring tears of happiness to many eyes. The real and moving acting of the cast brought many wet eyes to the opening nights audience.

It is also a show with suspense. The waiting for decisions within a family that is struck by tragedy, the wondering of the outcome of those decisions, and finally the realizations of the situation that has come to each member of the family.

"The Gilded Hoop" is more than just another Mitchell Hall show, a revival of an old Broadway play. It is a preview of a Broadway play. Anna Marie Barlow, the playwright has superior material for the stage in this production.

Two more performances are slated for the production, tonight and Saturday night. Dr. Kase has directed a play well worth seeing. Mr. Thomas Watson has designed a set that has all the warmth of a real home. The cast and crews have put forth a tremendous and closely knit piece of work that adds up to an ensemble worthy of professional theatre or better.

Students may pick up their reserved seats by presenting their ID cards to the box office from 3:30-5:00 and 7:00-8:30 on Friday and at 7:00 on Saturday night. Curtain time is 8:15.

Dr. DeLong Discusses Educational Research

Dr. Arthur R. DeLong, associate professor of education, presented a graduate lecture last Monday afternoon in Hulihan Hall.

Reporting on a pilot study that he originated while still teaching at Michigan State College, Dr. DeLong explained that the research was new on the basis that it was longitudinal rather than cross-sectional. He stated that programs in research before his time tended to take only representative samples from various grades, rather than observe one child or group of children over a period of time.

Progress Report

This study, begun in September 1950, involved approximately 300 students in the Holt, Michigan Public School System. The students were selected from the kindergarten and first grade levels. They were given yearly tests, and observational data were taken from them periodically for six years.

The measurements on the children involved included physical and mental development, subject-matter achievement, general development and social status.

Study Habits

The object of the study was to isolate factors that affect the learner's ability on an individual basis.

Dr. DeLong illustrated two techniques by which the variables in education could be isolated. However, Dr. DeLong added, additional data are needed.

CAC To Sponsor Mark Twain Night With Hal Holbrook

"You want to be very careful about lying; otherwise, you are nearly sure to get caught," was Mark Twain's advice to youth.

Hal Holbrook, who has been called Mark Twain's reincarnation by The New Yorker Magazine, will discuss this and other Twain quotes in addition to giving readings in Wolf Hall Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on March 19.

Mr. Holbrook began to characterize Mark Twain when he was 22; he has toured the country doing selections which Mark Twain himself used during his career as a lecturing humorist.

The program that is to be presented will feature selections from "Huckleberry Finn", and "The Advice to Youth" speech in addition to other Twain works.

Sponsoring this "Mark Twain Tonight" is the Cultural Activities Committee, whose chairman is Dick McKelvey.

Campus Chest Supports Heart

"American Heart Association, its purpose and duties" is presented as the third in a series of articles designed to acquaint the student body with the charities to which they will contribute through the Campus Community Chest Drive in April.

The study, development, and application of knowledge concerning the causes, treatment, and prevention of heart disease is just a part of the purpose of the American Heart Association. The Association also studies the opportunities for employment available for heart disease patients and opportunities for adequate care of cardiac patients who are permanently incapacitated.

Heart and circulatory diseases cause more than one-half of all deaths at all ages in the U. S. In 1955, heart disease was responsible for 810,200 deaths. It is estimated that 10,000,000 people have some form of heart disease. Of these, 500,000 are children of school age.

The Heart Association is putting into effect a program which calls for extensive research, post-graduate education of the medical profession on heart disease, and the health education of public and professional groups.

Research, supported by the Heart Association, is producing new drugs, new diagnostic methods, and new surgical techniques. Science produces weapons to fight rheumatic fever, coronary heart disease and high blood pressure—the principle causes of heart disease.

Baseball Drills Intensify, But Pitching Berths Remain Open

With less than a month to go until the beginning of the 1957 season, the Delaware baseball team this week is conducting intensive infield drills in the dirt-floor hanger of the Carpenter Field House under the watchful eye of coach Harold (Tubby) Raymond.

"We have a lot of infield talent on hand," Raymond said last night, "and we have been shifting them around this week to see where they work best. Right now we are trying to get the hitting power distributed in the infield."

South Campus Hoop Race Led By New Castle

By Barbara Jenkinson

New Castle Hall kept up its winning ways this past week by winning some more basketball games. The record now for the dormitory is five victories and no defeats.

Table tennis is still going strong down at the gym. I don't want to mention all the girls names because there are so many. Congratulations are in order for them all.

Bowling has been rolling along nicely. Gall Partridge, Mary Ann Crawford, Marlene Griffith, and Sue Bernard have the highest total team score so far. Other teams should not be discouraged, however, keep plugging away.

The home front is pretty quiet right now but things will start popping pretty soon. The Aquatic Club show is coming up soon after Spring Vacation. Modern Dance concert will be soon after that, and before you know it, May Day will be here.

Knuckle down to your studies, girls so you enjoy those soon to be Spring Days.

Bob Peterson Is Top Scorer For Wrestlers

Bob Peterson, scrappy 130-pound wrestler for the University of Delaware, is the team's leading scorer, final statistics reveal.

Scoring 25 points during the course of the season, "Tiger" was seconded in his effort by teammate Jim Zawicki with 24 points. Peterson is in his second year of wrestling at Delaware.

Altogether, Peterson scored five victories while dropping four. He lost two matches by one point. He is a junior Mechanical Engineering major.

Along with Zawicki, behind Peterson was Dick Duerr with 23 points. Duerr had never wrestled a match before November. He is a sophomore.

Peterson and Duerr also led the team in number of pins. Peterson was top with five while Duerr chipped in with four. Zawicki and the injured Steve Voorhees led the team with number of decisions, each with four.

The team scored 163 points for an average of 18.11 per match. It set a record in producing the first Delaware shutout. This was recorded over Albright, 38-0.

Those Delaware wrestlers who recorded winning seasons are: Zawicki, 6-2-1; Hugh Mooney, 4-0; Voorhees and Bill Walker, 5-1 apiece, and Peterson and Duerr, 5-4.

Coach Whitey Burnham will be without the services of three of his grapplers next year. They are Captain Bill Baur, Jim Horn, and Steve Voorhees.

NEWARK NEWSSTAND

Pipes Tobaccos
Magazines Newspapers
70 E. Main St.

Batting drills got a boost last week with the addition of an automatic pitching machine, which was quickly dubbed "Iron Mike" by the admiring Hens. "Iron Mike" is currently serving them up for bunting practice chores from the Hen hurlers next week.

Pitching Problem

"Pitching is the big question," Raymond admits. "We'll make runs, but whether we will get anybody out, I don't know yet."

Hurlers Tony DeLucas, of Westville, N. J.; Art Kreitz, Easton, Pa.; and Frank Savaiko, Scranton, Pa., have all been working since January and are progressing ahead of expectations. Bill Patterson, a Prospect Park, Pa. lad, came in for special mention by Raymond as a promising pitcher, and a converted catcher, Dave Colcomb, from Pittsburgh, has shown considerable improvement in the past two weeks.

Others Report

The end of basketball season has added another regular to the Hens' mound staff with the return of Dick McKelvey, of Wilmington, who finished the 1956 season with an earned run average of 0.71. McKelvey gave up only two runs in 25 innings of pitching and struck out 18 last year.

Other returnees to the squad are second baseman Jim Smith, of Wilmington, and sophomore Dick Duerr, a Lyndhurst, N. J., product who played outfield for the freshmen nine in 1956. One new candidate, Richard Holden, from Newport, joined the race for outfield positions this week.

Blue Hen Of The Week

Jim Zawicki, 177-pounder, was a mainstay for Whitey Burnham's wrestler's during the season recently finished.

Jim Zawicki

A three-year man on the squad, Zawicki compiled a 6-2-1 record. Also a junior, he will be under consideration for next year's captainship.

The Delaware wrestler is a native of Wilmington where he attended P. S. duPont High School. Aged 20, he is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Hens Lose Final Games

Delaware's varsity basketball schedule closed last Saturday as a game but outmanned Blue Hen team was defeated, 99-77, by powerful Lafayette (21-3) at Easton, Pennsylvania. The setback, which gave Delaware an overall record of 8-16, came on the heels of last Tuesday's fingernail biter against Navy at Annapolis, Maryland.

The Midshipmen, paced by substitute guard John Mascali's ten points in the final five minutes of play, overcame a Delaware edge the Hens had nursed for most of the contest. Delaware's "Big Three" consisting of "Skip" Crawford, Jim Smith, and Frank Wickes, accounted for 65 of the 76 Hens points.

The Lafayette game was one sided as Delaware put up a futile struggle. The Leopards, hungry for a tournament bid, gave it all they had in this one and it showed on the scoreboard.

Record-shattering Guard Stu Murray was again outstanding for Lafayette as he poured 31 points through the hoop. His mates matched the point-producing efforts of Crawford, Smith and Wickes, basket for basket, and effectively stymied the rest of the Hens.

The 1956-57 campaign was, on the whole, a frustrating one for Coach Irv Wisniewski's forces. It was marked by the outstanding individual performances of Crawford and Smith and, late in the season, Wickes and Dick McKelvey. It was marred by seven "almost-but-not-quite" games against independent opponents.

Lee Elia Seen Better as Halfback; Hurm, Skander Change Positions

Blue Hen coach Dave Nelson says nothing is certain yet, but that Lee Elia looks better at halfback than at quarterback as Spring Football practice continues.

Mark Hurm has been shifted from guard to center, and Jim Skander will move from center to guard. The Delaware coach, who is pleased with spring training so far this year, says that intensity exerted by each player individually has been a major factor in the success of the practice.

"If we can gain perfection and execution and make it equal the intensity, Nelson remarked, "we'll have a good ball team." He added the coaching staff is finding out things it would not have learned otherwise. Also, the freshmen are getting fundamentals they wouldn't have been able to pick up next fall.

In daily workouts the team has group work, the separate units such as ends, backs, and line working by themselves, usually from 4:30 until 5:15. The rest of the practice is devoted to team work, use of dummies and scrimmages. Sometimes the emphasis is on a defensive game, sometimes offensive, and other times passing.

Bowling Green University, the new opponent to be taken by Delaware, is champ of the Mid-American Conference, which includes such schools as Miami University, Kent State and Ohio University. The Hens will pick up the University of Massachusetts for the 1958 and 1959 seasons.

Sports SLANTS

by SCOTTY WILSON
Sports Editor

Delaware's basketball team had a real climax to their season a week ago yesterday.

Nothing new about the result of the game—the Hens lost their finale to Lafayette. But the ride home was one that won't soon be forgotten. The Delaware team, riding in two automobiles, was involved in a nine-car accident just off the Pennsylvania Turnpike in the vicinity of Easton. Several people were injured and one 12-year-old boy was killed.

Rumors about what happened had been circulating around campus on Friday. It wasn't until last Monday that we got the straight stuff—and this in fragments.

Gerry Gonser, assistant coach for the Blue Hens, was driver of one of the cars involved in the mishap. He called the night "a madhouse." He said that Coach Irv Wisniewski was driving in front of him and had already been tied up when he approached the scene. "I saw Whiz was starting to slide," Gonser remarked, "so I eased up on the accelerator so I wouldn't hit him."

The trouble is—he did hit him, Gerry turned around to see how his passengers were doing but found that two of them were there no longer. Skip Crawford, Hen forward, and Dick McGee, team manager, were thrown from the auto just an instant before Gonser's collision. Crawford suffered a few bruises while McGee sustained a severe gash on his forehead.

Other members of the team got out of the two cars to help anyone who might be injured. Clyde Louth, captain, found a woman lying in a ditch with a fractured skull. Her husband was lying next to her, hysterical over her injury. Members of the team went back to the car and got their warm-up jackets for the woman. They covered her with these until an ambulance arrived.

Gerry said he took a walk over to a big, luxury car to see if anyone was hurt there. Inside was a man of about 55. The Delaware coach asked if he was alright. He was told yes, but "I think I broke my leg." Jerry glanced down and saw he was suffering from a compound fracture.

Not long later, police and hospital attaches arrived and took charge. The Delaware manager was taken to town where he was given six stitches for his wound. The team stayed at the Easton Hotel for the night, returning to Newark after a morning of red tape with the insurance men.

Fred Freibott Salvages Eight Points In MAC Swimming Championships

Fred Freibott, Delaware's star freestyler, was the lone man for his team to place in the scoring at the Middle Atlantic Conference Swimming Association Championships, held last Saturday at Franklin and Marshall College.

Freibott managed to salvage eight points, giving the Hens a seventh place in the field of 12. He placed second in each of his two specialties, the 50 and 100 yard freestyle events.

The freshmen fared a bit better. The 400 yard medley relay team, composed of Pete Reiter, Dan Grant, Shelly Soss and Gerald Harrison cracked the Delaware record for that race. Better than 11 seconds were knocked off the old record of 5:10.8, by a clocking of 4:59.5. The new record, however, was only good enough to take a second place in the event.

Don Brunner took a fourth in the 220 yard freestyle while the 400 yard freestyle relay team managed a fifth position.

Today, Freibott will be participating in the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association Championships at New York University. He is entered in the 50 yard freestyle.

Summaries of Delaware-Swarthmore meet two weeks ago:

400 MEDLEY—1. Swarthmore (Norman Bass, Fred Chase, Bill Waddington and Steve Boyer), 4:54.5.

220 FREESTYLE—1. Dave Preston, Swarthmore; 2. Larry Helm, Swarthmore; 3. Earl Rhinehart, Delaware, 2:44.6.

50 FREESTYLE—1. Fred Freibott, Delaware; 2. Pete Lieu, Swarthmore; 3. John Boyer, Swarthmore, 1:24.1 (New record, old 1:24.5 set Feb. 1956, Paleo Logus, Lafayette).

100 BUTTERFLY—1. Waddington; 2. Gerry Bait, Swarthmore; 3. Jack Fisher, Delaware, 2:39.7.

DIVING—1. Ron Hauber, Swarthmore; 2. Franz Gross, Swarthmore, 157.5 points.

100 FREESTYLE—1. Freibott; 2. Steve Boyer; 3. Lieu, 1:37.1.

200 BACKSTROKE—1. Bass; 2. Ed Kimmel, Delaware; 3. Dave Goslin, Swarthmore, 2:43.6. (Bass, Kimmel disqualified; event awarded to Goslin.)

400 FREESTYLE—1. George Weibbe, Delaware; 2. Rhinehart; 3. Preston, 6:04.2.

200 BREASTSTROKE—1. Chase; 2. Waddington; 3. Fisher, 2:54.2. (New Swarthmore pool record; old 2:56 set by Waddington, 1955.)

400 FREESTYLE RELAY—1. Swarthmore (John Boyer, Lieu, Bass and Steve Boyer), 4:10.2.

100 BREASTSTROKE—1. Fred Chase, Swarthmore; 2. Bill Waddington, Swarthmore; 3. Jack Fisher, Delaware, 2:54.2 (new Swarthmore College pool record).

Lacrosse Problems

Milt Roberts, Delaware lacrosse coach, has his headaches right now. The first meeting of his team this season resulted in a meager turnout of 15 last Saturday. In addition to this, star defense man Jerry Weis is injured and ace scorer Bob Tait is scholastically ineligible, Roberts said.

Spring Football

spring practice will end on Saturday, March 16. Next fall, the team will start practice on September 1, and will work full day schedules until school starts later in the month.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"The future looks unlimited"

"I wanted a career that offered variety, opportunity and a chance to work with people," says Lewis William Post, C.E., Michigan State, 1950. "That's why I went to work for the telephone company."

"My initial training—two full years of it—probed every phase of company operations and acquainted me with all of the jobs in the Plant Department, where I was starting."

"Today, as Plant Engineer, I'm responsible for preventive maintenance of all field equipment, installation of new facilities for wire and cable, and I work with architects and builders on telephone needs in new buildings."

"Selling's part of my job, too. I sell ideas—like the wisdom of planning for telephone service when you're building. Recently I advised an architect and an owner on telephone wiring and outlets in a new $160,000 medical center. I enjoy getting in on the ground floor of such projects and making contributions both as a civil and a telephone engineer."

"In my area of Chicago there are 30,000 telephones, home and business. More are being added every day. There's expansion everywhere in the telephone business—all across the country. To me, the future looks unlimited."

Low Post's career is with Illinois Bell Telephone Company. Many interesting career opportunities exist in other Bell Telephone Companies, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer can give you more information about them.

Women's Army Corps Begins New Program

A brand new WAC officer program for college juniors is being offered by the Women's Army Corps this year according to a recent statement of the Women's Army Corps.

The new program is open to college girls, who will be enlisted as corporals while in their junior years. Then, next summer, the period before their senior year, the women will depart for four-week tour of duty at the new multi-million dollar WAC Center, Fort McClellan, Alabama. The women will be paid $122.30 for this four-week period, whether they decide to apply for their commissions during their senior year or not!

Upon their return to their college the women will be reassigned to an inactive status, where no further training or study will be required. In their senior year, they may apply for a commission as a second lieutenant in the Women's Army Corps. If they desire, they may relinquish all military rights and obli-tions and revert to civilian life.

In addition to the salary for the four-week training period, all necessary uniforms are furnished free of charge, and transportation is paid to and from Fort McClellan, Alabama. During the summer training period, girls have an opportunity to meet other college girls from colleges and universities throughout the nation. They will live as officers and learn firsthand how WAC officers live and the various types of executive assignments and positions WAC officers hold.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Lt. Jocelyn A. White through the Reserve Officer Training Corps, University of Delaware.

Mrs. Lupton Supplements Reading Clinic Instructors

Teaching in the Reading Clinic and analyzing the student reading tests comprise the duties of Mrs. Gladys Lupton, newest member of the Department of Education.

Starting this month, Mrs. Lupton will assist Dr. Stauffer, acting Dean of Education, in Developmental Reading Instruction. She is also planning to instruct in summer school. Mrs. Lupton works primarily with the younger child who needs special assistance in reading.

According to Mrs. Lupton, she is "intensely interested in her work" and appreciates having the opportunity of working in the reading field.

Mrs. Lupton attended West Chester State Teachers College and recently did graduate study at the university. She has also taught in elementary and secondary schools in Pennsylvania. Before coming to the university she taught Developmental Reading at the Kennett Square Junior High School.

American Juniors Visit Scandinavia For Year's Study

People from all fields and vocations who are interested in a year of living and learning in Denmark, Norway or Sweden are urged to submit applications to the Scandinavian Seminar, 127 East 73rd St., New York 21, before the deadline of April 1.

The Scandinavian Seminar is open to college juniors for a Junior-Year-Ahead and to all grade or the equivalent in work experience. Teachers, professors and others with an interest in the field of education may also apply. The Seminar fee of $925 covers tuition, room and board for nine months from August to May, as well as language-study records. Round-trip transatlantic travel plus travel in Scandinavia can be done for $500 (minimum).

After three months devoted to orientation, intensive language study and two four-week periods of living with families, the American student enters one of the thirty top folk schools in Denmark, Norway or Sweden.

Marilyn Cook, social chairman of New Castle, is taking charge of their buffet supper. Under the direction of Marsha Flumerfelt and Carol Shaw, the girls from the dorm will put on skits and singing.

"South Pacific" will be the theme of Kent's party and buffet supper. Palm trees, exotic dancing and informal dancing will follow. The buffet supper is under the combined efforts of Mallory Hughes food chairman and Jane Wollenwebber, who is chairman of a committee of fifteen who take charge of table arrangements.

The entertainment which follows the supper is under the direction of Carol Hoffecker, Ginny Hurm, and Maryann Smevda.

Natalie and Vladimir Bohdan will do a Ukrainian dance in full costume. Hansa Gajjar, a graduate student in Human Relations will do an authentic Indian dance. Hansa is a commuter who is affiliated with Kent. The finale will be singing by Maryann Smevda and her sister and brother.

Following the floor show, novelty dances and ballroom dancing will last until midnight in the recreation room. Kent's party will not be opened for party hoppers until 10:30 so that the entertainment will not be interrupted.

The majority of girls of Johnston House are going to go as a group to The Pub in Camden, New Jersey. After eating, they plan to go to a jazz concert in Philadelphia.

Joyce Mitchell, social chairman of Cannon Dormitory announced that the theme of their buffet supper would be St. Patrick's Day. The supper, a cold dish meal, is under Kay Farris' direction; Sandy Baker is assistant chairman of the entertainment which will consist of comedy skits, group singing, games and dancing.

The commuters will hold their party in Brown Hall Dormitory lounge and will have as entertainment dancing, ping pong, and games.

Jo Anne LaFountain is general chairman; the entertainment and planning committee consists of Shirley Riley, Jo Croce, Harriet Herrman and Grace Miller; refreshments, Bert Reusing, Joan Asowski; decorations, Eleanor Sikorski and Martha Nowak.

Thoughts

considerably, I won't comment on that.

Later in the day, I began to think of the generally poor programs that come into our lives over AM radio. Recorded and perhaps popular music, soap operas, and quiz shows seem to sum up the scope of AM radio. It seems a pity that the listener has to pay a premium in buying an FM receiver to get continuous music all day long, either classical or mood-music.

One station on the AM dial, WOR in New York, started last summer a nightly program, "Music from Studio X", which brings the listener almost uninterrupted good music for four hours every evening. This program has become New York's most popular, and even has listeners like myself, who brave the far away reception to hear the wonderful music.

Unfortunately, most of radio is still in the awful form of the morning I described above. The responsibility for this rests almost entirely upon the networks and stations themselves. These networks have been given the almost divine privilege of coming into people's homes. This privilege has not been understood or respected in recent years. Radio and television stations must realize that their first obligation is to the people and not to their advertisers with this realization will come better programming on the public air.

Forms Available For Scholarships At Dean's Office

Scholarship applications for the school year 1957-58, which may be obtained from Mrs. Louise Baker, secretary to the Dean of Students, must be completed and returned to that office by May 1.

Students must apply for the renewal of financial aid as all scholarships, grants, and employment are awarded for a single academic year. Most awards are renewable.

"While no guarantee is made that aid will be continued beyond the year for which awarded, the university feels an obligation to assist the qualified, deserving student throughout four years of college as long as funds are available," states the university's financial aid program brochure, which is also available in the office of the Dean of Students.

"What's it like to work for a big, expanding company like IBM? What would I be asked to do? Would I get ahead fast?" These were some of the questions that filled Bob Everett's mind as he faced up to the big problem, "How can I put my M.B.A. training to the best possible use?"

Bob came directly to IBM from Cornell in July, 1955, with an M.B.A. in finance. He was immediately assigned, with twenty-nine other M.B.A.'s, to a Business Administration training program. This six months' program comprised general orientation in the entire IBM organization, a six weeks' field trip to the

Developing a new system

Syracuse branch office and several months at the Poughkeepsie manufacturing facilities. There he gained a functional knowledge of IBM machines, particularly the 700 series of giant electronic computers.

His training completed by January, 1956, Bob was assigned to the Methods Department as a Methods Analyst at IBM World Headquarters in New York City. Here, with the cooperation of operating department personnel, he worked on the development of systems and procedures for the various Division areas. In addition to normal methods techniques used in developing systems and procedures, he studied these projects in terms of possible machine application for either IBM high-speed giant computers or conventional accounting equipment. One project was the study of the Machine Ordering procedure with the objective of simplifying and mechanizing it and at the same time improving the source information to provide for a more complete analysis of sales and production backlog.

Filtering out the "hot" projects

Promoted the same year

By December of the same year, Bob was promoted to his present job—Administrative Assistant to the Controller of the Data Processing Division. "The first function of an Administrative Assistant," says Bob, "is to filter out the 'hot' projects from those that can be handled later. You follow through on projects assigned by the controller and keep him posted on their progress." Bob's new position affords a pleasant diversification of work: charting divisional responsibilities of the controller's function... plans for decentralization... costs of regionalization... summarizing key financial and statistical information for presentation to top management.

Bob points out that there are many areas in Business Administration at IBM for men with an M.B.A. or a B.S. in accounting: corporate, general, and factory accounting; internal audit; methods; payroll and taxes. Administrative and management positions constantly open up at World Headquarters, IBM's 188 branch offices, many plants and laboratories.

"What's it like to be in ## BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AT IBM?"

Two years ago, Robert Everett asked himself this question. Today, as Administrative Assistant to the Divisional Controller, Bob reviews his experience at IBM and gives some pointers that may be helpful to you in taking the first, most important step in your business career.

Why Bob picked IBM

Bob made a careful study of existing opportunities before selecting IBM for his career. He had a dozen campus interviews; took nine company tours. IBM's M.B.A. program interested him—because, as he says, "It gave me a chance to review the entire company before starting an actual line assignment." He was intrigued by the increasing use of data processing equipment in finance and he knew that IBM was a leader in this field. Salary-wise, he found IBM better than many, but it was company growth potential that motivated his choice. "Opportunity certainly exists at IBM," he says. "Growth factors alone will account for many new executive positions. A second factor is the trend toward decentralization, which also creates new jobs. These factors, plus IBM's 'promote-from-within' policy, add up to real opportunity."

"Opportunity certainly exists at IBM"

IBM hopes that this message will help to give you some idea of what it's like to be in Business Administration at IBM. There are equal opportunities for E.E.'s, M.E.'s, physicists, mathematicians and Liberal Arts majors in IBM's many divisions—Research, Product Development, Manufacturing Engineering, Sales and Sales Assistance. Why not drop in and discuss IBM with your Placement Director? He can supply our latest brochure and tell you when IBM will next interview on your campus. Meanwhile, our Manager of College Relations, Mr. P. H. Bradley, will be happy to answer your questions. Write him at IBM, Room 10002, 590 Madison Ave., New York 22, N. Y.

Lisle Group Offers Summer Workshops

Lisle offers for the summer of 1957 its summer workshops in human relations in the United States, Europe, Jamaica, Japan, West Africa, with educational tours to the Near East and Soviet Russia.

The six - weeks' workshops are open to from 20 to 40 graduates and under - graduates from all races, religions, and nations. Activities during the time of the "unit" are divided between community situations where the students are invited to live and work with the people of the community, whether it be an institution, a farm, a factory, a minority group, a camp, or a social agency—all are chosen to represent a part of community life, and time in the home center where the activities participated in during the field trips are discussed and shared with the other members of the unit who have all gone, in teams of from four to six, to other locations and areas.

Students who wish to have further information about the Lisle program, fees, dates, etc., can arrange to see Sonja Kareby, travelling field representative for Lisle, by registering for an interview with Dr. Daymond Turner at the Modern Language office.

Chorus, Band Tour Delaware Schools

"The University Band and Choruses look forward each year to their performances in Delaware High Schools. The audiences are very enthusiastic and the chorus and band members feel that it provides for a closer relationship between the university and our state," stated Dr. Ivan Trussler, assistant professor of music.

The first tour will take place March 21, when the Varsity Chorus will journey to Milford, Harrington and Laurel high schools. The 50 voice chorus will be accompanied by Joyce Mitchell.

Cheerleaders Elect Jones and Parker As 1957 Captains

Nancy Jones was selected as captain and Joan Parker as assistant captain of the 1957 cheerleader squad at a meeting of the cheerleaders on February 19.

Other officers chosen at that time are: Louise Lattimus, secretary; Barbara Biancioni, treasurer; and Jane Lotter, publicity.

Recently selected as permanent members of the squad for next year are Beverly Hartle, Molly Weiss and Barbara Biancioni. This year, for the first time, the cheerleaders have added three instead of two new members to the squad.

Wild-Life at JH

Kidnapping pledges — a practice of fraternities at some schools — gets a review in the Johns Hopkins university NEWS-LETTER.

"The typical pledge's first conception of his fraternity is one of a neat, white-shirt-and-tie-and-sharp-blue-suit . . . organization run by . . . smiling activities whose only purpose . . . is to make the gasping neophytes happy."

"Unfortunately, this dream is not allowed to remain extant very long . . . The final disillusionment comes when the room of the pledge is invaded, he is dragged to a waiting car and taken far from the city to return as best he can."

Most actives agree, the paper says, the idea behind kidnapping is to solidify the class by giving all pledges the same treatment. Secondly, it "helps put the pledges in their place."
