C. M. A. STINE SAYS LIFE IS GREAT CAREER

Addressed 76 Graduates At Annual Commencement
Exercises Tuesday

STUDENTS ALSO SPEAK
Ruth Sinclair And Virginia
Cooch, Honor Members
Of Class Of 1937

"Young men and young women—living, wisely and kindly; living, devotedly and charitably; is living, the greatest of all careers," Dr. Charles M. A. Stine, a vice-president of the duPont Company, told 76 graduates and a capacity audience at the Newark High School commencement exercises held Tuesday evening in the auditorium.

Introducing the speaker, Carleton E. Douglass, superintendent of the Newark Public Schools, presented Dr. Stine as a "neighbor," and "a friend of young people." "I have always been impressed by the idealism of this man," Mr. Douglass said.

"Living As A Career"
Speaking on "Living as a Career," Dr. Stine continued, "You, young folks, as you sit before me here this evening are like the sculptor who sits before the formless block of marble and sees in it the form and outline and grace of the finished figure; you are like the artist as he holds the poised brush in his hand and beholds upon the white, untouched canvas the thrilling beauty of his finished picture—Oh, youngsters, how will you live? What is your philosophy of life. Does where you live and what you own or how you live and whom you help make life worth living?"

In answer to the query, "Is life worth living?" Dr. Stine stated, "Certainly the answer is not to be found in externals. A materialistic philosophy spells ruin and bitterness for man as well as for a nation."

"We are proud, even boastful, of our material progress, but civilization and the education of mankind, intimately connected each with the other as they are, involve something more profoundly important and significant than the ability to fly, or to talk around the earth to an audience of tens of millions of human beings. Dr. Stine pointed out the dictionary definition of "civilization" as "a condition of organization, enlightenment and progress, refinement and culture and drew attention to the antonyms; 'barbarism, boorishness, coarseness and rudeness.' He then raised the (Continued on Page 10)

NEWARK MAN IS RADIO SPEAKER

Arthur B. Eastman Spoke On Navy In Address Under
D. A. R. Sponsorship

"The U. S. Navy in the Revolution," was the topic of a recent radio address, given by Arthur B. Eastman, of Newark, over Station WDEL, under the sponsorship of the Cooch's Bridge Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Navy Was Important
Mr. Eastman discussed the importance of our navy during that period, despite the fact that we, with our modern battleships, cruisers, airplane carriers and sea planes, are inclined to smile upon the sea constructions of that time. However, the colonists, unable to build a fleet due to lack of finances, through "audacity and ingenuity overcame insurmountable obstacles and wrecked havoc among the British merchantment and their smaller war vessel during the five years preceding the treaty of Ghent."

"Without a doubt," Mr. Eastman stated, "it was the crying need of our armies for munitions and stores that gave the first real impetus to our naval operations against England. Washington, as soon as he was made commander-in-chief, fitted out several small ships to prey on the shipping (Continued on Page 6)

Automobile Manufacturers Offering Awards To Grange Members In Tests

By Robert Yearsley
Lecturer, Delaware State Grange

There were never as many challenges for Grange usefulness and activity as at present, and I am glad to announce that the Automobile Manufacturers Association, through the Highway Education Board, is again conducting a Highway Essay Contest with the cooperation, support and approval of the National Grange.

The 1936 contest was a great success, and I hope that every Grange in Delaware will take part. All members in good standing of a subordinate Grange, who are not more than eighteen years of age on August 2, 1937, are eligible to take part. The subject is, "A Grange Program for Highway Accident Prevention." Those interested should see their local lecturer, or myself, for details. The closing date is August 2, 1937. The first national prize is a trip to National Grange at Harrisburg with all expenses paid and four cash prizes. There are also state prizes.

Gift To Fund

C. OF C. SPOTS ROAD MARKERS

Work Aided By Contribution
From AAA; Road Plans
Are Discussed

Prior to the opening of Delaware Park, the Newark Chamber of Commerce will erect 26 road markers as direction signs for motorists coming here, President George F. Jackson reported to the June meeting of the board of directors at Powell's Restaurant Monday night. Part of the expense for building and erecting the signs was defrayed by a contribution of $25 made by the Wilmington office of the Automobile Association of America.

With all race track traffic from the south and west being diverted through Newark as the most direct route to the public entrance on Capitol Trail, Delaware Park officials plan to place additional signs near Elkton and Rising Sun as further aids to motorists.

Aid Fund For Swimmers

The chamber voted $25 toward the maintenance fund being raised for the opening of the University of Delaware pool for the use of the local public during July and August.

Following the disposal of routine business, a general discussion of the immediate industrial outlook and contemplated road plans being considered by the State Highway Commission took place. Weldon C. Waples was appointed to investigate road improvements said to be listed by the state.

ROADS SYSTEM OBSERVED FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Highway Commission Makes
Aerial Survey Of Whole
Delaware Set-Up

TO VIEW RACE TRAVEL

Capitol Trail Seen As Four-Lane Thoroughfare In Near Future

State Highway Commissioners Frank V. duPont, chairman, and A. Franklin Fader, accompanied by W. W. Mack, chief engineer, made an aerial inspection of the public road system in Delaware last Friday.

Starting from the duPont airport, Mr. duPont and Mr. Fader flew west above Capitol Trail, circled over Newark, turned southeast to Bear and St. Georges, and thence to Dover, where Mr. Mack joined the party. Captain R. L. Holliday, Mr. duPont's private pilot, was in charge of the flight. The trip was made in a four-place Stinson plane.

Upon leaving Dover the inspectors turned southeast to the coast, thence to Lewes, Rehoboth and Bethany Beach; west over the extreme southern section of the state, then north over Laurel and Seaford and back to Dover.

Meeting Is Held

Following a two-hour meeting of the commission, New Castle County's two members returned to duPont Field, trailing the Delaware River shore line to Wilmington.

By using an ordinary road map as a guide, Mr. Fader was introduced to the complete highway system in the exact manner in which it is pictured.

On opening day at Delaware Park, Mr. Fader, in company with Superintendent C. C. Reynolds of the State Police, will fly over all sections adjacent to the track in order to observe areas of congested traffic congestion created by motorists going to and from the races.

Based on this preliminary study, emergency changes in the routing of traffic will likely be forthcoming, and plans for future road needs in this section will be determined.

Additional Survey

In addition to the aerial observation of race track travel, the commission will have men placed at strategic points along roads leading to the park to count automobiles.

While definite plans have not been announced, the commission has listed four roads in the Newark vicinity for rebuilding and improving. It is thought that route 273, from the Newark Country Club to the Maryland line, will be widened by at least two feet. Word from Baltimore in (Continued on Page 2)

Lesson for June 20

JOSEPH'S KINDNESS TO HIS KINDRED

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 46:1-7, 28-30; 50:24-26.

GOLDEN TEXT—And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you. Ephesians 4:32.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Joseph Saw His Father Again.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Joseph Honoring His Father.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Kindness in the Family.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Mutual Helpfulness in the Family.

A happy ending—yes! Modern writers may look with disfavor on it (and perhaps rightly so, for most of them write about life apart from fellowship with God) but to those who trust God and who seek his will, the story of life has a bright and joyful conclusion.

But someone may object that the lesson for today closes with the last words of the book of Genesis, which are "a coffin in Egypt." Is that a happy ending? It is, because even that forbidding emblem of death pointed in faith toward the day when God was to keep his promise and bring his people into the promised land.

Our lesson centers around the last of our patriarchs, Joseph, and his kindness to his father and his family. The highest official in the land of Egypt (save for Pharaoh himself) proves his inherent greatness by forgetting position and power, except as they enable him to be a loving son and brother. We consider his kindness as it is centered in his devotion to God, shown forth in thoughtful provision for others, expressed in affectionate deeds, and as it imparted itself by faith to others.

I. Founded on Fellowship (Gen. 46:1-4).

Jacob, having heard from his sons that Joseph was in Egypt, and having thus learned of their treachery and deceit, came at last to realize that his beloved Joseph is alive. He has been urged to go to Egypt but he hesitates about leaving Canaan. How shall he know whether to believe in and respond to Joseph's invitation. He asks God, the One who is the joy and center of Joseph's life, and of Jacob's as well, and he has his answer.

Real family life and devotion center around a mutual fellowship with God. There may be little else to share, but "little is much when God is in it." Has God been honored in your home? Has He been made the center of family life? These are vital questions.

II. Evidenced by Thoughtfulness (vv. 5-7).

Joseph had arranged for Pharaoh to send wagons to bring his aged father, the women, and the little ones.

Many men in our day glory in being "hard-boiled." In their relentless pursuit of fame and riches they ignore and even trample on the members of their own families. They are ashamed of the broken bodies, the humble apparel, the uneducated speech of their parents, fearing lest their new-found friends in the circle of wealth and position may ridicule them. There is a crude but apt expression that describes such persons as "stuffed shirts."

III. Manifested in Love (vv. 23-30).

Joseph kissed his father whom he had gone out to meet, and held him close and wept for joy. Again he showed his true greatness by being his natural self.

We are not all demonstrative in showing our affection. Furthermore, we would not plead for more of that sham public expression of affection which is so distasteful to right-thinking people. But may we not suggest that there is room for improvement in our loving consideration for our kindred. Let us ask ourselves how long it is since we did something to show that we really love our mother, our father, or a faithful wife, son, or daughter? How long is it since you wrote home to mother, or went home to visit?

IV. Imparted by Faith (50:24-26).

Jacob had been gathered to his fathers; time had gone on its relentless way, and Joseph is about to die. What shall be the heritage to his family? Money, property, position? No; he leaves them something infinitely more valuable—a forward-looking faith that will keep alive in their hearts the expectation that God will in due season bring them into their own land. Joseph had spent most of his years in Egypt, he had attained high position and great honor, but he never lost his vision of the promised land. He imparts to them by faith that hope.

Hope

Ah, what thoughtful, loving provision God hath made for us in the gift of the angel of Hope! There is no path so dark but we may see the glimmer of her shining wings, no misfortune so heavy but her helpful hand is outstretched to us, and her smile still ready to cheer and encourage us.

The Natural Tone

Peace is the natural tone of a well-regulated mind at one with itself.—Humboldt.

THIS WEEK—150 YEARS AGO

The Story of the Constitutional Convention of 1787

BY RAYMOND PITCAIRN

THE NEW JERSEY PLAN

During the period from June 14 to June 19 of the historic year 1787, members of the Constitutional Convention took part in a discussion which had a profound influence on the form and the future of our government.

Briefly, they debated whether the new Constitution should assume, in general, the form we know today, or should cling closely to the earlier pattern of the Articles of Confederation, which had proved so unsatisfactory.

Into that discussion—staged just a century and a half ago this week in the red-brick structure of Independence Hall—entered many famous men.

Among them were the calm and deliberate James Madison, of Virginia, who would later become our fourth President; the flashing Alexander Hamilton, of New York, who became our first Secretary of the Treasury; and the brilliant lawyer, James Wilson, of Pennsylvania, who was to serve as one of the original members of the United States Supreme Court.

Like its predecessors, the debate was marked by an extraordinary knowledge of history and of government on the part of delegates. It has been computed that in the discussions which occupied the early weeks of the Convention, references were made to the governments of twenty-two nations, both ancient and modern, evidencing a thorough understanding of the problems and institutions of Greece, Rome, France, England, Switzerland, Holland and the then German states.

The debate arose over the introduction on June 15 of the "New Jersey Plan," by William Paterson, "delegate from and later Governor of that state, as a substitute for the earlier-discussed Virginia Plan. In contrast to the Virginia Plan, Paterson's proposals sustained the sovereignty of the separate states to a degree which many delegates feared would weaken rather than strengthen the federal union.

What many historians regard as one of the clearest and most accurate statements of the Convention was then made by James Wilson, contrasting the two plans. It showed, in part, that:

The Virginia Plan provided for two branches of the legislature; the New Jersey Plan for only one.

Representation of the people at large was the basis of the Virginia Plan; the state legislatures were the "pillars" of the New Jersey Plan.

Representation on the basis of population prevailed in the Virginia Plan; equal suffrage by each state in the New Jersey suggestions.

A single Executive was proposed in the Virginia Plan, a plurality of Executives in the other. Under the Virginia Plan the majority of the people of the United States would prevail; under the New Jersey Plan, a minority.

The Virginia Plan provided for ratification of the Constitution by the people; the New Jersey Plan for ratification by legislative authorities.

There were other differences affecting the nature and extent of legislative authority, the federal courts, etc., but these summarize what most delegates considered the more significant ones.

Still another set of proposals was offered in an address by Alexander Hamilton. His suggestions included election of both the Chief Executive and members of the Senate "to serve during good behavior," with powers far beyond those contemplated in either the Virginia or the New Jersey Plan. Probably because of their resemblance to monarchical forms of government, the Hamilton suggestions were neither referred to by any committee nor considered by the Convention.

Finally the Virginia Plan, the form closest of the three to our present Constitution, was approved by the Committee of the Whole, and favorably reported to the Convention.

Next week—The American Spirit.

WE WONDER WHY?

One of the strangest things known and most difficult of explanation is that when the Delaware boys, raised probably on turnip-greens and hogs just go to college four years, they are of necessity compelled to go out of the State for the Senior banquet. It shows how college improves a man—his tastes become—oh, it causes a "wonder why" sort of feeling.

The Senior class holds its banquet at Atlantic City this year. The menu will in all probability come from Delaware.

FLASH!

G-man shot dead by bandits in Topeka post office.FLASH!
That evening, Sheriff Homer Sylvester and Deputy Sheriff Cass Sylvester shot bandit car near Plattsmouth, Nebraska. Give chase in their 1937 Ford V-8.FLASH!
Quickly overtaken, bandits surrender and now await trial.Plattsmouth, Neb.
April 26, 1937

This is a dramatic example of Ford reliability and V-8 maximum performance. You may go through a lifetime of driving without making such an extreme demand on your car. But an engine so skillfully designed, so well built, so fully able to get the maximum power out of each gallon of fuel, is able to meet ordinary assignments for years on end. Easily and economically!

Take a ride in the Ford V-8. Find out why it's the quality car in the low-price field.

SEE YOUR FORD DEALER

When my brother Cass wheeled my Ford V-8 out after those bandits that killed the G-man in Topeka, I knew we had them—because THEY didn't have a Ford V-8. They were hitting 60 or 65 when we picked them out by their Kansas license, but inside a mile and a half from a standing start we were right on their tail. Cass had the V-8 up to 85 right quick, while I looked after our guns and directed the chase.

You can't fool me about automobiles—when I have to get somewhere sure and fast, the Ford V-8 is the only car for me. I've tried more expensive automobiles, but they couldn't do the things this 1937 Ford V-8 or mine will do any time I call on it. The 85-hp. Ford V-8 is inexpensive to buy and cheap to run—and it's the best motor car I know of!

28 GRADUATE FROM KREBS ON THURSDAY

H. B. Lynam Gives Diplomas To 13 Girls And 15 Boys; Operetta Is Presented

OTHER ENTERTAINMENT

By Miss Emma S. Maclary
Twenty-eight eighth grade students, 13 girls and 15 boys were graduated from the Henrik J. Krebs School at Newport on Thursday evening. The presentation of certificates was made by H. B. Lynam, president of the board of trustees.

Present Operetta

An operetta "The Lass That Loved A Sailor" was presented under the direction of Miss Sarah Goldstein, with children from the first to seventh grades participating. The professional was played by the Krebs School Orchestra, under the direction of Charles L. Edwards. Invocation was made by the Rev. M. W. Riker and the address of welcome by Miss Elizabeth Eckles. A piano duet was presented by the Misses Viridiana Saunders and Carolyn Bromwell. There were songs by the eighth grade members; a reading by Thomas Mertens and a piano solo by Miss Thelma Green. Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. J. C. McCoy, and the school orchestra played the recessional march.

Gifts Given

Members of the graduating class presented D. J. Richey, principal of the school, with a fountain pen and pencil set as token of appreciation of his efforts in their behalf. The presentation was made by Samuel Richardson. Mr. Richey expressed his appreciation of the gift; commended this class on their record, and urged them to continue their education in high school and college if possible. He commented that the Krebs School had an average of 30 per cent "A" grades in their standard tests given by the state, while the average of schools in the state was only 7 per cent "A" ratings, so he was very proud of the record made here by the children.

Mr. Richey commented that the scenery for the operetta which was presented at the closing program was the result of the training the children had received in art, and they made all scenery for the play. Also, that the operetta was the result of their musical training received, under the direction of Miss Sarah Goldstein.

Appreciation Expressed

In closing, Mr. Richey expressed his appreciation of the wonderful cooperation he had received from all organizations of the town, as well as from parents of the children.

Pupils of the eighth grade also presented Miss Belle Chambers, seventh grade teacher at the school, with a gift; the presentation being made by Miss Jane Lindsay.

Miss Sarah Goldstein was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers in recognition of her efforts in the presentation of the operetta.

Members of the graduating class, accompanied by Mr. Richey, Mrs. Margaret Tindall of Wilmington and Mrs. Ruby Porter of Silview, also members of the faculty, left Monday morning by bus for a two days stay in Washington.

About 75 members, representing the Ladies' auxiliaries of various fire companies throughout New Castle County, were guests of the Minquas Fire Company Auxiliary here on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Nan Laws Woods, president of the county association, was in charge of the meeting.

There was Scripture reading at the opening of the session, by Mrs. Horn, chaplain, and a member of the Mill Creek Fire Company Auxiliary.

Address of Welcome

The address of welcome was made by Mrs. W. Jensen, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Minquas Company, and Mrs. Woods, head of the county group, responded.

Mrs. Edwin Huber of St. Louis, Mo., was a guest, visiting with a member of the Five Point Company.

Mrs. Woods announced a change in the date of the memorial service to be held by the State Firemen's Association. The affair will be held on June 20 at 7:30 standard time in the Asbury M. E. Church at Dover. Those attending will meet at the firehouse, and proceed to the church. The auxiliary associations will also attend this service.

Country Club Dance

Charles Staib and the Ambassadors, a Wilmington orchestra, will furnish music for a dance at the Newark Country Club on Saturday evening. The affair, which starts at 9 o'clock, will be informal.

Girl Scouts Like to Cook

ALMOST 12,000 Girl Scouts of America were awarded cook badges during 1936 and 71,500 passed tests in the home-making arts, according to an announcement made coincident with the 25th anniversary of the founding of the organization.

Practical experience in domestic arts and sciences is one of the most popular pursuits of these girls of 'teen age, who choose their individual activities from the many included in the national program.

Members of the graduating class presented D. J. Richey, principal of the school, with a fountain pen and pencil set as token of appreciation of his efforts in their behalf. The presentation was made by Samuel Richardson. Mr. Richey expressed his appreciation of the gift; commended this class on their record, and urged them to continue their education in high school and college if possible.

HOME EDUCATION

"The Child's First School is the Family"—Froebel
Issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th Street, New York City. These articles are appearing weekly in our columns.

"Jean, stop bouncing your ball!" The mother looked over her book as she spoke; the father frowned behind his newspaper. Their eight-year-old daughter stopped and glanced from one to the other. But no sooner had the parents become absorbed in their reading again, than, "Bounce, bounce," went the ball!

"I told you to stop playing here!" the mother said sharply.

"Well, it's raining outside!"

"Find something else to do."

Jean amused herself for a while with a book, and all promised well. However, that troublesome ball soon began to bounce once more. Sighing, the mother laid down her book; the father tossed his paper aside and went out. Jean had been allowed to spoil the evening for her parents—through lack of obedience.

People Dominate Him

"I can't understand why John lets people dominate him the way he does," said an influential woman speaking of her grown-up son. "He and his sister Susie seem to have no will of their own. John lets that partner of his dictate all policies and decide every issue. Dear me! I have enough initiative and determination; why aren't my children stronger?"

"May it be that your will was law to such an extent, when the children were young, that there was little opportunity for them to develop initiative?" asked her friend, gently. "You always prided yourself upon getting implicit obedience. I used to wonder how you gained such complete control."

"I certainly did insist on obedience! When I gave instructions they were carried out, and no questions were asked. Mine were the best disciplined children in the community. I remember when John was a little fellow, I told him one day to sit on a stool in my room until I said he might go. I forgot about him, and went out. He was still sitting there three hours later! I believe if he had stayed there I would have been able to get him to obey."

"Yes, but you see he continues to obey now, while other command. He never developed initiative, he learned only to obey."

Obedience Is Important

How to secure an obedience that does not lead to servility is an important consideration for every parent. We do need to render obedience, from the very day of birth, to such requirements as regular times for feeding, sleeping and exercise. But submission to customs held to be best by the race, consideration for the rights of others, order and cleanliness, should be taught rather than commanded. Obedience to a parent's will, merely because it is his will, is unimportant, in fact, harmful.

As soon as a child is able to understand reasons—and this is very early—it is wise to encourage him to seek reasons for those forms of behavior that we desire. In that way obedience becomes intelligent. "Why must I go to bed so early?" "So that you may grow to be strong and capable and brave like the heroes." If the innocent pastime of ball-bouncing annoys others then that is the reason it must be stopped. The child should be encouraged also to challenge his own independent actions: "Why am I going to do this?" It is a really important habit.

Training To Obedience

Training to implicit, unquestioned obedience: "Why must I do this?" "Because I say so" is not satisfactory. The boy or girl brought up this way is usually easy to manage and often practices very pleasing behavior habits until the time comes for him to be his own master. Then it is discovered that he is unfit for the task. On the other hand, a child allowed to be disobedient to the principles that he is able to understand, is also in danger of an unsatisfactory adulthood. He is apt to live according to his own selfish desires, regardless of others. What we need is intelligent obedience; this can be developed. It is an attitude of mind that causes one to choose to do right because it is right and best.

STANTON

By Miss Emma S. Maclary

Closing exercises were held at the Stanton School on Thursday evening. Plans had been made to present the musical program on the lawn adjoining the school, but the storm which occurred in the early evening, compelled them to finish the program in the school building. About 200 parents and friends of the children attended, as well as approximately 200 school children. There were 17 members of the graduating class, 6 boys and 11 girls.

Presents Diplomas

Presentation of certificates was made by C. S. Reed, president of the board of school trustees.

Members of the eighth grade presented Miss Lora Little, principal of the school with a sterling silver butter knife and a white handkerchief, in appreciation of her efforts in their behalf. Other teachers of the school were presented with white pocket-books by the eighth grade pupils.

Mrs. Jane Chambers, in charge of the cafeteria, as well as Mr. Gregg Lynam, caretaker at the school, received gifts.

Perfect attendance certificates were presented to three pupils by Miss Lora Little. Recipients were: Gerald Newcomb, fourth grade pupil, who has been perfect for four years, or ever since starting to school; Robert Wilson, seventh grade, with an attendance record of three years. Lelia Lynam, eighth grade, who has a perfect record of attendance for the past three years.

The personnel at the Stanton school will be the same for next year, as all members of the faculty contemplate returning here in the fall.

Members of the 4-H Club of Stanton School who will attend the short course at the University of Delaware beginning on Wednesday and continuing until Saturday, comprise Mary E. Boyce, Margaret Brown, Ray Vansant and Richard Ward.

THE QUESTION BOX

FOR FARMERS, GARDENERS AND HOMEOWNERS

Q. Can Good Calves Be Raised On Pellets Or Calf Meal?

A. Yes. These materials contain food that is probably satisfactory. However, any calf worth raising should be fed whole milk for at least a month after birth and the change from milk to pellets or calf meal should be gradual, extending through a week or more.

Q. What Is The Best Method Of Cleaning The Inside And Outside Of Porcelain Or Enamel Finished Refrigerators?

A. A solution of soda in lukewarm water is the most effective and desirable cleaning agent to use. For washing both the inside and outside of the refrigerator, a soft cloth should be used and care taken that no abrasive or harsh material comes in contact with the finish.

Q. What Is A Good Dairy Ration, Using Home Grown Feeds, Which Will Help Maintain Milk Production?

A. Where a good legume hay is available in sufficient quantities a supplement consisting of one part by weight of 32 per cent dairy feed and two parts by weight of corn and cob meal will do very well. Where the hay is not plentiful, a mixture of one part cotton seed meal, one part bran with four parts ground grain has been satisfactory. Where soybeans are available, they may be ground and substituted in the above formula for the cotton seed meal.

Q. How Much Honey Should Be Left In A Honeybee Hive To Provide Winter Food For The Colony?

A. At least 30 pounds of honey should be left for each colony. It is better to provide 45 pounds and thus insure the proper building up of colonies in the spring.

Q. Bedbugs Have Been Bothering In A Tenant House For Years And We Seem Unable To Get Rid Of Them. What Can We Do To Kill Them?

A. When bedbugs have become well established in a house ordinary control measures, such as the use of commercial fly sprays or kerosene, often do not kill the bugs. The only satisfactory way to become rid of them is to fumigate with the poison cyanide gas. The special instructions which are necessary before attempting to use this treatment may be obtained by writing to the Entomology Department, Agricultural Extension Department, University of Delaware, Newark, Delaware.

Q. Why Is It That Insects Do Not Freeze In Winter?

A. Many insects do freeze and are killed during cold weather. However, if the cold kills a species of insects in one stage of its development, overwintering is accomplished in some other stage. Some insects are able to endure freezing temperatures without being injured while others must burrow in the ground or seek out some other protected place in which to spend the winter.

Q. I Have Two Breeds Of Chickens In My Flock, White Leghorns And Wyandottes. The Leghorns Are Infected With Chicken Pox While The Wyandottes Are Not. Would It Be Possible To Vaccinate The Wyandottes And Prevent The Spread Of Chicken Pox Among Them?

A. Yes. If the Wyandottes are not yet infected with Chicken Pox, it is possible to vaccinate them and thus prevent spread of Chicken Pox among them. Vaccine for this vaccination is obtained from pigeons and can be purchased from commercial laboratories. The feather follicle method should be used in which a feather is removed from the leg of the bird and the vaccine painted on the spot where the feather has been pulled.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear loved one, Estella H. Ely, who passed away two years ago today, June 17th, 1935.

In the graveyard safely sleeping Where the flowers gently wave, Lies the one we loved so dearly, In her lonely silent grave.

She will never be forgotten Never shall her memory fade. Sweetest thoughts will always linger Around the grave where she is laid.

No one knows how much we miss her No one knows the tears we shed But in heaven we hope to meet her Where no farewell tears are shed. Sadly missed by husband and daughter.

FIRESTONE TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY—
AKRON, OHIO—

HAVE TODAY WON THE SILVER ANNIVERSARY 500-MILE INDIANAPOLIS RACE ON FIRESTONE GUM-DIPPED TIRES AT 113.58 MILES PER HOUR. BREAKING ALL RECORDS STOP I KNEW I COULD WIN IF MY TIRES COULD STAND THE TERRIFIC HEAT GENERATED AT THESE NEW HIGH SPEEDS STOP WORDS CANNOT EXPRESS MY GRATEFUL APPRECIATION FOR THE MARVELOUS STRENGTH BUILT INTO YOUR TIRES AND THEIR OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE.

WILBUR SHAW.

Gum-dipped cords
PROVIDE THE EXTRA MARGIN OF SAFETY ON THE SPEEDWAY OR THE HIGHWAY

THOUSANDS said that tires could not stand the terrific grind. They said cars had been built with much greater speed, turns in the track had been repaved with granite-like surface, yet Wilbur Shaw drove to victory on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires setting a new record of 113.58 miles per hour on one of the hottest days in the history of the Indianapolis track.

Think of the terrific impact on these tires as the cars roared into the treacherous turns and out again. Tons of force straining, pulling, and twisting inside the tire, yet not one cord loosened, not one tread separated from the cord body—all because Gum-Dipping, the Firestone patented process, successfully counteracted the internal friction and heat that ordinarily destroy tire life.

You will never drive your car at these record-breaking speeds, but for the safety of yourself and family you need the safest, strongest and most dependable tires. Come in today. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires—the safest tires that money can buy.

DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON THIN WORN TIRES

No car owner is going to risk his life and the lives of his family knowingly on thin worn tires.

DO YOU KNOW

That last year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 28,000 men, women and children? That a million more were injured?

That more than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to unsafe tires?

HOW DICTATORS WORK

News from Italy shows how the minds of dictators work. To quote an A. P. dispatch of May 8, "Fascist Italy, angered by printed jeers at the prowess of Italian fighters in Spain, virtually broke off press relations with Great Britain today." An official order recalled all Italian correspondents from London, and banned all but three English newspapers from Italy.

Thus dictatorship achieves its ends by keeping its people in darkness, and shutting them away from any knowledge, any facts, any opinion which may suggest that the man or the party in power is less than perfect. Under various dictatorships the right to vote in free and honest elections has been taken from the people. The right of free speech has been taken from them. The right of free assembly has been taken from them. The right of a free press has been taken from them.

Between the United States and such tyranny stands the Constitution—a living document. We must be continually on our guard lest, in our eagerness for seeming advantage, we unknowingly sacrifice the liberties for which millions of men fought during centuries of bloody history.

WHY? SO!

Several of my friends, who have been accused of graduating from our local high school, asked whether they should go to a co-ed college. Never!

What is it that impedes a majority of colleges as educational institutions? Is it a poor faculty? Never! Is it a lack of interest on the part of the student body? Certainly not! Is it a lack of funds, lack of support, lack of interest? Not at all!

That which is impeding the progress of these colleges today is co-education!

Before the co-eds entered men were wont to go there for an education. The literary societies flourished. Ninety-nine per cent of every class were Phi Betas and the other one was sick! Men talked in Greek, sang in Latin, and gargled in French. Every man was a gentleman and a scholar.

Today, women go there. Literary societies languish. Phi Betas are only men without sex appeal. Foreign languages are only spoken by foreigners. Some men are scholars still, perhaps, but no men are gentlemen.

Who has done this? Women, women were made to be the curse of man. They are ever with us from the cradle to the grave. O, let there be four years at least when you may enjoy the company of men, unpainted by lipstick, ungassed by perfume—that is, except at vacation time.

recreation in the two gymnasiums and swimming pools.

The first evening of the course included a welcome to the university extended by Dean C. A. McCue, group singing, and a travel talk by Russell Kincaid, Elkton, who has resided in South Africa, Australia and several Oriental countries.

This morning, following breakfast in Kent Hall, the boys and girls were divided for serious work. The boys were split into two groups, one studying cattle management under Professor T. A. Baker, of the Animal Industry Department, and the other learning about brooding and rearing chicks from F. H. Leuschner, extension poultryman. In the meantime, the girls, who were also divided into two groups, were studying better lighting under Mrs. Marion G. Severance, Sussex County home demonstration agent, and Miss Ruth Minn, home management specialist at the university, was leading a class in "The 4-H Girl in Her Home."

Class Work Resumed

Class work was resumed after lunch, with the groups of boys and girls alternating in the work being studied, so that all the boys would have the same opportunity to learn of several phases of agriculture and the entire group of girls would benefit from additional instruction. Again at four o'clock, the recreation hour was to begin.

Tonight's events will consist of a surprise program, at which A. D. (Dad) Cobb, state 4-H Club leader and assistant director of extension, will be in charge. In addition, E. Paul Burkholder, supervisor of rural schools in Sussex County, will make an address.

Friday's program will be similar to Thursday's, except that the boys will devote their morning hours to a study of swine management, while the girls will learn the secrets of personality and charm from Miss Ruth Hogeland, beauty editor of Country Gentleman. Friday afternoon, Miss Hogeland will talk to the entire short course group on "Social Graces and Popularity for Boys and Girls."

The Friday evening program is scheduled to include a style revue and the annual Link Membership and Candle-Light Ceremony, led by Mr. Cobb. Saturday morning, after breakfast, the boys and girls will return to their homes.

Among the leaders in charge of the various phases of the 4-H Club Short Course are: William Miller, music teacher, Milford Schools, in charge of group singing; Leon Buehler, Newark, in charge of recreation, and assisted by Miss Virginia Wilson, Newark; Dr. C. R. Kase, Newark, in charge of dramatics, to which will be devoted considerable time; and Jack Lafferty, Cheswold, a student at the university and a former 4-H Club member, who will be in charge of Vespers.

Attending Short Course

Boys and girls attending the 1937 short course are Mary Edith Boyce, Margaret Brown, Melvin Dempsey, Thomas Jaquette, Charles W.

The tenderest romance of our time lives again on the screen when "Seventh Heaven," the Twentieth Century-Fox production of Austin Strong's immortal love story, plays this theatre these two days with Simone Simon and James Stewart in the starring roles.

Adapted from the stage play produced and directed by John Golden, "Seventh Heaven" re-creates for screen audiences that star-crossed pair of Montmartre, Diane and Chico, two lovers who lift your heart to the stars.

Darryl F. Zanuck, vice-president in charge of production at Twentieth Century-Fox, chose Henry King, the Academy prize-winner responsible for "Lloyds of London," to direct "Seventh Heaven."

Prominent featured players are Jean Hersholt, Gregory Ratoff, Gale Sondergaard, J. Edward Bromberg, John Qualen, Victor Kilian, Thomas Beck, Sig Ruman and Mady Christians are in the film.

Three authors in search of a plot solve the mystery in "The Crime Nobody Saw," the screen treatment of the popular play by Ellery Queen and Lowell Brentano.

The three are Lew Ayres, Benny Baker and Eugene Pallette. They are given twenty-four hours to deliver a play for which they had already drawn several large advances, and the day before the play is to go into production finds them still without an idea.

Others in the cast are Ruth Cole.

The success of the small vessels, manned by brave colonists, chief of whom was John Paul Jones, in making raids upon British frigates and merchant ships, resulted in the appointment of a marine committee by Congress.

Value Recognized

"As the war went on and Congress began to realize more and more the value of a navy, not only in regards to the damage inflicted on the enemy, but also as to the prizes captured, more and larger ships were built and near the close of the war, several 76-gun ships of this line were built."

After pointing out the insignificant costs of building ships of that calibre to the money expended for a modern boat, Mr. Eastman revealed that an act of Congress resolved the pay of the commander-in-chief of this fleet to be $125 per month.

"Next Tuesday night we will have a hot dog roast at Brother Brown's plantation at Milford Cross Roads," Mr. Smythe said. "On the following Tuesday, we will visit Middletown Council," he continued.

"Bear these dates in mind and swell the crowd," Mr. Smythe concluded.

News Value

Except for short stretches, I have never tried to live without news. I think I would prefer to live without meat. Yet I know many people who seldom glance at anything in a newspaper except the social notes or some feature that has no news element. They get along perfectly well, too, although conversation with them is often barked. Usually they are frightful gossips, which indicates that they do not totally lack a news-interest.—William Feather.

The Athlete

Except for one fault, E. Victor Armstrong, Newark's popular distributor of newspapers and periodicals, has a perfect make-up. The one fly in the ointment, so to speak, is the smiling gentleman's constant desire to tell of his performances as a star runner at Perkiomen Prep these many, many years passed. While he has never said so, we have it from some of his closer friends that Vic has, on occasion, hinted that his proper name is Virgil. Due to his winning ways on the cinders—events that had residents of the Perkiomen Valley greeting him as "victor"—we have been told that he consented to change his name. Probably he didn't like "Virg" anyway. We realize that it sounds like Major Hoople stuff, but Vic, if you know him, is like that.

Ladies Fainted

Shortly before the date of Phil Corrog's "baby marathon," a movie-bound crowd on Main Street was led to believe that Vic was in serious training for the event. With his shirt tail waving in the breeze and his "beevies" flapping around his shapely limbs, Vic caused women to faint, men to turn, astounded as he sprinted along the main thoroughfare—sans pants.

But Vic was not in training for the "baby marathon" and prospective entrants, who knew of his running boasts, heaved sighs of relief. Victor wasn't running because he wanted to. It was a matter of necessity, brought about by claims of ability as a wrestler—to prove his versatility, no doubt.

Willing to back his wrestling claims, Vic found it necessary to show his sprinting ability, too, when three opponents, goaded by persistent challenges, removed his "britches" and tossed him out of his own store.

To Join League?

Finding it difficult to arrange weekly games with suitable opponents, both away and at home, suggestions are being advanced that the Newark Yellowjackets forego the idea of playing independent baseball and join a league. The idea is sound and, if a berth can be had, we'd suggest that the club become associated with the New Castle County circuit in the second half.

Even with strong independent opponents like Milford and George Winter's Diamond Ice and Coal Company team, the Jackets should have found by this time that games without a pennant race as an attachment are anything but profitable. The mere playing of exhibition tests week after week, regardless of opposing forces, is looked upon as being pointless by the majority of fans. They like and will pay to see a race with something at stake. Individual games mean nothing.

As an example of how returns increase for league baseball over exhibitions, we cite a recent Sunday when Milford, with one of the finest teams on the peninsula, played to a scant crowd that grossed $39 here. On the same afternoon at Yorklyn, a Del-Pen League game with Hockessin netted $49. Yet the latter opponents do not stack up with Newark and Milford when baseball ability is considered.

The entire game was built around leagues and organizations. For Newark to think it can buck that idea is ridiculous.

As workmen rush the finishing touches to the elaborate Delaware Steeplechase and Race Association course at Stanton, prominent breeders and owners are already stabling valuable mounts prior to the start of the 25-day meet on June 26.

Better Stables Listed

The program arranged by Edward Burke, who built the track at Havre de Grace and who has operated it for a quarter of a century, is such that the new course is attracting many of the better stables. Among the outfits already listed to race at Delaware Park are the Foxcatcher Farm, Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords, J. P. Jones, Mrs. Louise Viau, Alfred Vanderbilt, Glen Riddle Farm, including War Admiral, one of the greatest three-year-olds of all times; E. K. Bryson, E. R. Bradley and any number of owners of smaller strings.

Scheduled as the feature of the opening day, the $10,000 Kent handicap, a dash of a mile and a sixteenth for three-year-olds exclusively, will inaugurate the running of many outstanding races as announced by John P. Turner, racing secretary.

High Stakes Offered

Following the Kent handicap, other features will be:

Brandywine handicap, $7,500 added, three-year-olds and over, one mile and a sixteenth, Saturday, July 3.

Christiana stakes, $5,000 added, two-year-olds and over, five furlongs and a half, Monday, July 5.

Diamond States stakes, $7,500 added, three-year-olds, one mile and a furlong, Saturday, July 10.

Sussex handicap, $10,000 added, three-year-olds and over, one mile and a quarter, Saturday, July 17.

New Castle handicap, $10,000 added, three-year-olds and over, one mile and a sixteenth, Saturday, July 24.

Polly Drummond stakes, $5,000 added, two-year-old fillies, five furlongs, Saturday, July 24.

Eight Races Daily

Burke and Turner have been at Delaware Park for weeks, working on the condition book and rushing final preparations for the inauguration of big-time racing in the First State.

According to Turner there will be eight races daily with no purse falling under $1,000. Each day, Saturdays excepted, there will be a $1,200 special. Each Wednesday the program will be marked by a graded handicap, the first at six furlongs and the distances lengthening progressively. Class A horses will compete for $1,200 dollars, class B for $1,100 and class C for $1,000.

The pari mutuel will prevail at Delaware Park with the smallest "take" anywhere in the world and three per cent of it to the State. No profit is looked for or desired by the promoters of racing in Delaware. Entertainment for the public and the improvement of the breed of horses are the objectives as at Saratoga, Belmont Park, Arlington Park and Hialeah.

Buick To Be Host
To Millions For Title Scrap Soon

Buick will be host to the nation at the championship Jim Braddock-Joe Louis fight to be held in Chicago, June 22, according to George M. Haney, of the Wilmington Auto Sales Company, Buick dealers, who announced yesterday that the factory has signed contracts for the broadcast of the event over a nation-wide NBC hookup.

"I received word Tuesday from W. F. Hufstader, our general sales manager, that Buick again will sponsor the major fight broadcast of the year as it sponsored the Baer-Louis and Schmeling-Louis scraps last year and year before," Mr. Haney said. "This is (Continued on Page 9)

Game Sunday

Hoey Morris, president of the Newark Yellowjackets, announced yesterday that a game had been arranged for Sunday at Continental Field between the local combine and the Bridgeton (N. J.) Gems. The visiting crew boasts a good record for the season and will show several players from prominent eastern colleges in the line-up.

The game is scheduled for three o'clock, daylight time.

Oxford Plays At Milford; Team Is Ready For Tests

Following the complete reorganization of the Oxford Maroons, Manager Taylor Biles is ready to lead his team against a pair of strong opponents during forthcoming weeks. Practice sessions have been staged regularly with the result that the outfit is shaping up in smooth style.

The opening game on the new schedule will take place at Cooper Field Sunday afternoon, when the undefeated Chester County League leaders, representing Oxford, clash with Biles' crew for the championship of the Pennsylvania town. A three-game series is planned.

On Sunday, July 4, and the following day, the Maroons tangle with Milford in a three-game series. A single contest is booked for Sunday with morning and afternoon clashes listed for Monday. All of the games will be played at Milford.

Has Strong Combine

With the same line-up that won the Bi-State League championship for Perryville last year, including George (Sadie) Aiken, Toy Jebb and Freddie Balwin, pitchers, and Roscoe (Rock) Ryan, back of the stick, Biles will lead a party of 25 players on the trek to Milford.

Other prominent performers scheduled to make the journey include: Bud Lloyd, Joe Cooney, Marvin Lucas, Larry Preston, Ray Goldey, Cliff Toller, Don Jones, Buddy Hornberger and Stan Bailey.

Aiken, who was Biles' pitching ace in the post-season series against Newark last fall, saw little service with Fordham this spring. The Kennett Square curve-ball artist made an auspicious bow in his return to local circles on Monday night, however, when he turned in a no-hit, no-run game as Fairville handed Mt. Cuba a 9-0 reverse in a Del-Pen League game at Mt. Cuba. The battle was limited to seven innings.

WATCH "PHIL" YOUNGSTERS

Keep your eyes on your sights levelled at five youngsters in the lineup of the "Phillies": Arnovich and Martin in the outfield; Brown, Young and Scharein in the infield. The first two are hitting close to .400 and the latter three are glittering in the field.

MY KINGDOM FOR A HIT

Fred Tauby, recruit outfielder from Texas has not made a hit in the Major Leagues as yet for the "Phillies." He has gone to bat 16 times and drawn the "collar." A few days ago he purchased a package of hairpins and sprinkled them around the batter's box.

Former Advances To Quarter Finals In First Sixteen As Elkton Star Wins

TURNER SHATTERS PAR

G. F. Anderson blasted his way into the quarter finals for the championship of the first sixteen golfers at the Newark Country Club this week when he eliminated Bob Good, 4 and 3. C. H. Jeffers, Jr., of Elkton, took the measure of C. H. Hopkins, 1 up, on Tuesday to step into the quarter finals for the second sixteen title.

Anderson entered the second round by outlasting Bob Lippincott, 1 up, in a match that was close throughout. Good had scored over C. E. (Pat) Ewing, 6 and 5, in a first-round set.

G. C. Stradley defaulted to Jeffers, while Hopkins took the measure of Wayne C. Brewer, 3 and 2, to advance in the lower bracket.

Turner Burns Course

H. A. Turner, Jr., of Wilmington, remained a favorite to retain the club championship by literally burning up the course for a 69 score last Saturday as he trounced P. F. (Bud) Pie, Jr., 7 and 6. Two under par for the course, Turner threatened to equal the sensational 66 scored by B. F. (Sankey) Richards last summer.

Other first round scores in the first sixteen made last Saturday were: Roland Wollaston defeated A. B. Collins, 3 and 2; H. B. McCauley downed T. W. Shenk, 2 and 1; Julian stopped H. F. Richards, 1 up; R. B. Stewart, Jr., mastered J. A. Giamateo, 5 and 4; while B. F. Richards eliminated J. D. Connahan, medalist, 6 and 4.

Second Sixteen Scores

The opening round in the second sixteen saw C. O. Houghton trimming Dr. L. A. Stearns, 5 and 3; J. F. Anderson halting J. Harvey Dickey, 4 and 2; R. L. Burnett stopping William Bradford, Jr., 1 up in 19 holes; E. K. Bispham scoring over G. T. Boli, 5 and 3; F. I. Crow outlasting Dr. G. W. Rhodes, 2 and 1; and H. B. Fisher outgunning H. B. Williamson, 5 and 4.

Pierce Is Idle, Retains

Don Pierce, Newark cue pusher, retained his lead in the summer pocket billiards tournament as he remained idle throughout the week. Pierce sports five wins against one loss.

In the most important match of the week, Vandegriff, Elkton, defeated Eubanks, Newark, 100-64, to climb into a tie for third place. Fossett gained undisputed possession of the second position.

Bridgeport Wins
In Test Against
Newark Fibremen

The Bridgeport, Pa., plant of the Continental Diamond Fibre Company took a 10-to-7 verdict over the Newark plant team at Continental Field in a twilight game limited to six innings on Tuesday night.

Off to a big lead in the first inning, when Paul Whiteman's tosses were banged for five runs, the Pennsylvanians coasted to an easy triumph. Counting a pair of runs in the fourth, and deadlocking the score with a five-run rally in the fifth, after the visitors had checked in with a pair of markers, Manager Cullen's outfit slumped into defeat when Bridgeport came back with the three deciding counters in the sixth.

Dinama, with three hits in four trips to the plate, led the visitors' offense, while Daly poled a pair of blows for the Newark team.

Take League Lead

The Newark Continental team took the lead in the local twilight league last Saturday, when Jackson's forfeited a game postponed from Friday night.

In the only other game played during the week, National Fibre continued to win by stopping the Newark Cards, 6-3. Wright and Clarence Whiteman formed the winning battery, while Beers, Whiteman, Conway and Ewing, with Hawthorne catching, worked for the Cards.

A special league meeting has been called for Friday night in the Continental Diamond offices for the purpose of arranging the second half.

Opening of Delaware Park Original Starting Date Makes Change

GIRLS CROWN IS OPEN

May Arouse Enough Interest In Town To Stage Affair For Women Exclusively

By Ace Seeds

In order to encourage women players, the tournament committee, making plans for the second annual NEWARK POST tennis tourney, has decided to hold a separate contest for girls interested in the sport, at least six entries can be lined up for the opening date.

One Girl Entry In 1936

One girl represented the feminine interest in the affair last year, and is hoped that this tourney, limited to women only, will bring the tennis racket swingers out in swarms to the town. Considering it unfair to the members of the fair sex against crack male players in Newark, the committee decided last week to stage the separate event. At least ten are expected to vie for the gold medal and the honor of being crowned the lady tennis champion of Newark.

Due to the fact that the grand opening of Delaware Park is slated to take place on Saturday, June 20, it was decided to move the tourney start up to Sunday, in order to eliminate the conflict of the two openings.

Entries are starting to pile in to the men's competition, scheduled to take place on the University of Delaware courts. At least 30 are expected to enter into the play for the state trophy which will be awarded to the winner last year, and Fred Davies and doubles championship after a bitter struggle with Dr. Francis H. Spang and Prof. R. W. Jones, are not expected to be around when the fireworks commence.

Although his entry blank has not yet been received, it is expected that Ned McCully, 1935 champ, will be a hand in an effort to regain his laurels in the forthcoming matches. A special invitation is issued to summer school students and university faculty members, in the hope that the list of entries will swell to unprecedented proportions.

It is being planned to schedule matches all day Sunday at several times in order to run the open rounds off in speedy fashion. (Continued on Page 9)

Up to Sunday, June 27

plans provide for the playing off of the semi-final and final rounds on the following Sunday. Should this arrangement be carried out, the tourney will be completed within a week.

Entry Fee Small
An entry fee of fifty cents per person in the singles and fifty cents per team in the doubles will be charged to cover expenses. Tennis balls will be furnished by the sponsors.

All persons wishing to take part in the tourney are asked to sign the official entry blank, and return it with the entry fees, to this paper, care of the Tennis Editor. All entries are subject to the approval of the tournament committee. It is hoped to have umpires appointed to see that matches are run off according to schedule and to remove the burden of close decisions from the shoulders of the players themselves. All participants are urged to send in their entries before Saturday, June 19, in order that players may be properly seeded and final arrangements made for the opening rounds.

Three set matches will comprise the opening settes. Semi-final and final matches in the men's tournament will consist of the best three sets out of five, while the women's contests will be three-set affairs all the way through.

Buick To Be Host To Millions For Fight

the 1937's "battle of the century" and while everybody can't go to the ringside, the ringside will be brought by Buick to millions of radio listeners all over the country.

Interest Running High
"There is a lot of interest in the fight here," Mr. Haney continued, "and it looks as though everyone who has a radio will be sitting in front of it when the bell rings for the first round of the big event. Whether the fight lasts one or fifteen rounds, Buick will broadcast every detail of it, arrangements having been made for radio time to cover every eventuality. There will be a blow-by-blow description of the fight by one announcer and general description of the fighters, the ringside and crowds by another."

Mr. Haney said that the largest radio hookup ever to broadcast a major fight will be employed by Buick. This will consist of 125 stations of the NBC's red and blue networks.

Jones Ranks High As Student And Athlete

Robert Thomas Jones, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Jones, of 122 W. Main Street, attained high scholastic and athletic honors during his first year at Tome School, Port Deposit.

President of the 1936 graduating class at Newark High School, Jones entered Tome last September. At the graduation exercises Monday, he was presented with a Cum Laude certificate for outstanding scholastic work, his marks for the year averaging between 80 and 90; and also received certificates for varsity letters in football, baseball and basketball. He plans to return to Tome in the fall.

WILSON A BUSY MANAGER

In the three years that Jimmy Wilson has managed the "Phillies" he has played first base, second base and caught behind the bat. He also believes he can pitch as well as some of the youngsters he has seen come up from the minor leagues. Wilson, incidentally, is enjoying his best season in five years at the bat, having made 7 hits in 18 times at bat.

CAMILLI'S HEADACHES

After Dolph Camilli signed his contract with the "Phillies" and started east by automobile he ran into nothing except trouble. Going through Wyoming he had two blowouts. In Nebraska he burned out his bearings. In Illinois he broke a piston and finally finished up in Ohio by buying a new car.

Resourceful

The young constable was undergoing the viva voce part of his examination. "Now, assume," said the examiner, "that you are accosted by a charming young lady late one evening, who tells you that a strange man has embraced her and kissed her. What would you do?"

"I should—er—en—savor to reconstruct the crime with the young lady's assistance," he replied.

Scouts—"Ivory Hunters"

Each of the 16 major league baseball teams carry at least six experienced men of the diamond on their rosters. They are the scouts, commonly called "ivory hunters."

Some of the scouts are assigned exclusively to the small towns in search of talent. One or two are designated to cover the college teams and high schools. They all take a turn looking over the minor leagues in hope of picking up another Ruth, Cobb, or Walter Johnson.

A tip comes to a big league club owner or manager that concerns a youthful prospect. Immediately the scout is dispatched to look him over and make a report.

Evans Liked Feller

Many times it results in a wild goose chase on the part of the scout. Then again, as in the case of the sensational pitching find of 1936, Bob Feller, of the Cleveland Indians, the efforts and days of long travel are not always in vain. Billy Evans, former business manager of the Indians, had received a tip from a semi-pro umpire in Iowa about the kid Feller. Evans, very much interested in the boy's strike out record, investigated and learned that young Bob was pitching against first class amateur teams. Evans sent scout Cy Slapnicka westward to watch the youngster. Slapnicka saw the kid work and immediately signed him to a contract. The rest is history, Feller proving to be the best pitching prospect to come into the American League since the debut of Walter Johnson.

Ira Thomas—Ace

The Philadelphia Athletics number among their scouts, one of the aces of the profession. He is Ira Thomas, who as a catcher back in the good old days handled the shoots of Bender, Plank and Coombs for the White Elephants. Thomas was known as a smart receiver in the big show. When his playing days were over, Ira became a scout for Connie Mack. One of his first pick-ups developed into one of the greatest ball players of all time, Al Simmons being the rookie he brought into the fold.

Bill McGowan

Thomas has also scouted and delivered many other well known big league players. Among them were Vern Kennedy, at present a star right hander of the Chicago White Sox, "Mule" Haas, Johnny Marcum, Wally Moses, Doc Cramer, and the popular youth who made a hit with A's followers last season, Catcher Frank Hayes.

During the winter months, Thomas who is becoming nationally known as an after dinner speaker, represents Gulf Refining Company. His duties are confined almost entirely to representing his firm at banquets.

A Lot of Cents

He was looking over an Indian ball player in a far west town. Late in the game, the Indian was called out on strikes by the umpire. The bases were loaded at the time. After the call of "strike three," the Indian hollered and yelled about the decision on the third one.

The umpire stood for the protesting player several minutes, then after warning him, finally ejected him from the game, adding a fine of $10.

League rules prevented any player participating in another game until the fines were paid. The following day, as the tents took the field, and the umpire was about ready to shout "pay ball," the Indian walked up to the umpire and said, "Here's my fine Mister Umpire," as he rolled a thousand and pennies on the home plate.

Thinking Ahead!

"Count 'em," piped the Indian. But the umpire, willing to take his word for the correct amount, started picking up the pennies by the handful.

"No, no, count 'em,—Big Chief wants receipts."

"It's tough enough to pick 'em up, let alone counting 'em and giving you a receipt, get out of here or I'll chase you out of the park," retorted the official.

"Big Chief, he want receipt, some day he die,—face St. Peter, who will ask Big Chief if he was always honest. St. Peter will want to know if fine was paid to umpire. Big Chief have no time go all over hell looking for you Mister Umpire."

Just Fired

Boss: "Oscar, there will be a vacancy here soon and I'm thinking of giving your twin brother the job."

Oscar: "My twin brother?"

Boss: "Yes, the one I saw watching the ball game yesterday while you were at your aunt's funeral"

Oscar: "Oh, yes, I remember; I'll go hunt him up."

Boss: "Good, and don't come back until you find him."

Less Music Bought But More Is Heard

Between the hours of 7:30 and 10 o'clock each evening, it is believed that there are 18,500,000 radio receiving sets in operation in the United States and 50,000,000 people are listening. A few years ago there were 8,000,000 phonographs and a number of new records were bought for each machine every month. Today royalties from the sales of records have dropped to one-fortieth of what they previously were.

Once a popular song sold 1,750,000 copies. Now 100,000 is a heavy sale. At one time 8,000 shops carried sheet music. Now there are hardly 1,200. Yet folks here more music than ever before.

C. M. A. Stine Says Life is Great Career

question of how civilized the man is who drives an automobile through our cities disregarding the safety of others.

Civilization?

"Is the high school student educated and civilized if he barbarous in amusements, coarse in tastes, boorish in home or upon the streets, rude in his or her social contacts? Not our clothing, not our houses, not our automobiles and flying trains and soaring planes and majestic ships, not even our schools and our research institutions determine what manner of men we are, but our thoughts, 'As a man thinketh so is he'."

"It seems to me that in education during the last decades we have steadily and increasingly forgotten that character is the cornerstone of civilization, just as it is of successful living and of individual happiness. We seek to inculcate the languages, the humanities, the sciences; we expect you young people to be good citizens and useful members of society and you, in turn, wish for happiness and healthful occupation and the opportunities which have always been synonymous with American citizenship.

Looking Forward

"I am awaiting with the keenest hope and anticipation the appreciation by the young people of today—by you high school graduates—of patriotism expressed in service to the state, and in unselfishness; of an appreciation of the obligations of citizenship in the American republic, and of loyalty to the ideals of self dependence and patriotism; for these ideals are part of the vital stuff of living."

In conclusion, Dr. Stine stated, "This business of living, this opportunity—actually, this opportunity which is open to everyone of us, is not complex and intricate in its essentials. The very cornerstone and bed rock of the structure is Christian character. To live simply, kindly, humbly, unselfishly, and with a great and all embracing charity—this is to live successfully and happily."

Rev. Andrew W. Mayer, Newark P. E. Church, pronounced invocation. The salutatory and valedictory addresses were given by the Misses Virginia Cooch and Ruth Sinclair, respectively. National Honor Society pins were presented by Dr. H. V. Holloway, state superintendent of public instruction and Robert S. Gallaher, president of the Newark Board of Education, awarded diplomas to the graduates.
