Seek 20 Volunteers For Civil Defense Air Observer Post

Community To Maintain Air
Watch As Part Of East Coast Network

This community has been asked to maintain one of 30 ground observation posts being organized in Delaware as part of the civil defense system of the eastern seaboard.

Twenty volunteers are being sought for the post by Claude Galien, 214 Capitol Trail, who is also seeking a qualified Chief Observer. Mr. Galien is serving under George L. Weber, lieutenant, who is directing the organization of some seven observation posts in New Castle County.

Purpose of the network of ground observation posts is to supplement the nation's defenses in tracking the route of hostile aircraft.

A site for the Newark post has not yet been picked yet, Mr. Galien said, but that areas near Milford Crossroads and Polly Drummond Hill are under consideration.

Newark maintained two observation posts during World War II, one on Chestnut Creek Road northeast of town and the other on Chestnut Hill road about a mile south.

Once the observation post is organized, volunteers will work in shifts. It is likely that a round-the-clock watch will be maintained at first, Mr. Galien said.

Anyone interested in taking part in the work should notify Mr. Galien at 214 Capitol Trail. Particularly needed is an individual to serve as Chief Observer. This should be a man with sufficient leisure to devote time to organizing the post. Volunteers, possibly help build the post.

Field Levelled By Fire Thursday

Three Alarms Sounded Here
Past Week

Three alarms, none for fires in town, were handled by the Aetna volunteers last week, the first coming at mid-afternoon last Thursday when a hay field caught fire in the rear of Head of Christina Cemetery.

The field, owned by Vallie Daughen, was swept bare by the flames. Men, although they were on hand, simply were unable to find a route to the field.

About 10 p.m. the following day, a hay dump caught fire on the Capitol Hill near Maxwell's Garage.

The final call came around 11 a.m. today, when a chimney began to smolder at the home of Robert Jackson, Chestnut Hill Road. The flames were extinguished before serious damage occurred.

Col. Moore Attends Air Command School

Taking 5-Months Training In

Col. William E. Moore, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Moore, 274 Orchard Road, Newark, Delaware, is attending the seventh regular course of the Air University's Air Command and Staff School, which began on July 17 at the Air University, Maxwell AF, Ala.

Col. Moore's last duty assignment was attending school at Maxwell with the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va., as Professor of Mechanical Science and Tactics.

The Air Command and Staff School, the highest educational unit of the Air University, is designed to prepare officers for the command of groups and wings and for comparable staff duties.

The course is open to regular Air Force officers with six to eleven years' commissioned service, reserve officers between the ages of thirty-one and thirty-five, and a quota of Army, Navy and Marine Corps officers all of whom must meet certain eligibility requirements set by the school.

6 More Recruits Join Battery 'C'; Unit Still Not At Full Strength

Six more recruits this week joined Newark's Battery 'C' Delaware National Guard, which goes into Federal service Aug. 29.

Although ceremonies formally "federalizing" the unit will take place on that date, the outfit will probably not leave the local armory for its first assignment at Camp Gordon, Ga., before the first of September.

The new men who joined the ranks this week are: Patrick Abernathy, Newark RD 1; Paul Brierley, East Cleveland Avenue; John McCleary, 12 Park Place; John A. Moore, Oxford; Ford Plummer, West Grove; and David Dunfee, Wilmington.

Drills have been stepped up to three or more a week in preparation for the most induction. Most of the men have been given physicals, and the battery staff is now virtually on full-time duty processing records and readying equipment.

Guest Minister At First Presbyterian

Lower Brandywine Pastor
To Speak Here

The Rev. John Oldham Jr. will be the guest minister at First Presbyterian Church this Sunday morning, August 27. The title of his sermon will be, "The Unrecognized Jesus."

Mr. Oldham is pastor of the Historic Old Lower Brandywine Presbyterian Church in Greenville, Del., which was founded in 1720 and which is now being enlarged and remodeled under his capable leadership. In addition to his pastorate at Lower Brandywine Mr. Oldham is a member of the permanent committee on Christian Education of the Synod of Baltimore, and chairman of the like committee of the Presbytery of New Castle. In this capacity he supervises the conferences for young people held each summer at Hood College and West Nottingham Academy.

This will be the third in a series of special services during the vacation of the pastor, Rev. H. E. Hallman. The fourth and last of the series, on Sept. 3, will be conducted by the Rev. George L. Hunt of Philadelphia.

Plans for the new building program are still highly indefinite, Mr. Ludlow said, but he indicated that the first structure likely to be erected will be a new parish house to provide for the increased social activities of the parish. Later, a new church may be built, if the needs of the parish warrant. However, Mr. Ludlow stressed that the latter is a long-range proposal. The present church, the main section of which was built in 1843, will continue in use for some time, he said.

Parish officials were reluctant to purchase ground so far from the present church site but were forced to do so because they found it impossible to expand at the Elkton Road location.

Three Newark Boys Receive $200 U. of D. Farm Scholarships

Arthur Johnson, William
Redding, Donald Hummel
Get Sears Awards

The awarding of five agricultural scholarships at the University of Delaware has been announced by George L. Schuster, dean of the School of Agriculture at the university. One of the awards, the Thoroughbred Breeders F. F. A. Scholarship, went to George Burnham Simpson, a graduate of Caesar Rodney High School in Camden, Wyoming with a diploma in vocational agriculture. Four of the scholarships were made possible through a grant from the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation, and recipients were Arthur F. Johnson, William M. Redding, Donald R. Hummel, all of Newark, and John D. Pugh, of Newport.

Young Johnson, now a sophomore, also received one of the $200 scholarships last year. Johnson is a dean's list student and was chosen for the second award on the basis of his excellent record at the university.

The other two Newark winners are freshmen and receive $200 awards. Both Hummel and Redding graduated from Newark High School and have indicated that they are interested in general farm management and production.

The Scholarship Fund has been made available to the University of Delaware, the Land-Grant College of this state, by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation to be awarded on the basis of character, academic record, the desire to study agriculture, and demonstrated ability in leadership, according to Dean Schuster. The Foundation supports this program in each of the Land-Grant Colleges in the country. The awards are open only to Delaware residents with a farm background, and were made by the university Committee on Economic Services, upon recommendation of a committee comprising School of Agriculture faculty members.

Long-Time Resident Here Is Interred On Tuesday

Anthony Talucci, 56, an employee for the Pennsylvania Railroad for the past 25 years, died on Saturday at the Veterans Hospital, Brack-Ex.

Services were held Tuesday morning with a requiem mass at St. John's Church. Interment was in St. John's Cemetery. He was a member of the Holy Name Society at the church.

Mr. Talucci, who lived at 100 Kells Avenue, was a drawbridge tender for the railroad at the time of his death. He came to this country from Italy as a boy.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. Talucci was a member of J. Allison O'Daniel Post, American Legion, at Newark. Surviving are his wife, Josephine; two sons, John and Samuel, at home; a daughter, Mrs. Andrew Brothers, Newark; a brother, Dominick, Downingtown, Pa.; a sister, Mrs. Julia Durante, Philadelphia, and two grandchildren.

25 Respond To Call For Blood Donations

Twenty-five residents responded to the call for blood donors last week to aid Howard Murphy, who was ill in Wilmington General Hospital.

Now improved, Mr. Murphy has returned home.

Frank Glenn, manager of the State Restaurant, who handled arrangements for the blood donations, said that more than enough aid was obtained and this week thanked the public for its response and the Newark Post for its part in publicizing the emergency.

St. Thomas Church Buys Lot For Erection Of New Parish House

The surrounding property, Mr. Ludlow said, would have been excessively costly and not particularly practical for the requirements of the parish.

The need for enlarged facilities has long been recognized, according to Ludlow, who pointed out that the present church site, covering less than an acre, contains the church building, a small parish house, and a cemetery. The parish now includes about 300 members.

The new ground was purchased from Joseph Barkley, of Philadelphia, who acquired it some time ago from Herman Wollaston, local real estate developer. The cost was not disclosed.

Approval of the purchase was given through a vote of the parishioners at a general meeting the latter part of June. The church vestry, under Senior Warden J. Fenton Daugherty, then carried out the negotiations. Previously, the Rt. Rev. Arthur J. McKinstry, Bishop of Delaware, had given his approval of the step.

In addition to Mr. Daugherty, vestry members who directed the purchase are: Mr. Ludlow, presiding officer; William C. Kay, junior warden; Charles N. Clark, treasurer; and Dr. R. O. Bausman, property chairman.

Construction of 2 Homes Stopped Here Because Of Zone Ordinance Violation

Two new bungalows nearing completion on East Cleveland Avenue have been found in violation of the zoning ordinance, and construction has been held up pending an investigation by town authorities.

It appears that both buildings have been placed too near adjacent property lines. The law calls for an eight foot clearance between the sides of the dwellings and the property lines. The new buildings are only about five feet from the lines.

Unless some other solution can be found, the buildings, which are situated side by side, will either have to be moved or the owner, G. Wesley Wollaston, will have to acquire additional property on either side. One of the homes is almost completed and the other is well advanced. Both are of cinder block construction and have cellars.

Mr. Wollaston secured a building permit, as required by the zoning law, before starting construction, but apparently misunderstood the clearance regulations in that area.

U. of D. Prepares For Admission of Negro Students This Fall

Applicants Will Be Processed
Exactly As Other Students,
President Says

Plans are being made at the University of Delaware for the admission of colored students to any school of the university following the recent decision of the Chancery Court last week, according to Dr. Allan P. Colburn, acting president of the university.

The university administration has been requested by Judge Hugh M. Morris, chairman of the Board of Trustees, to comply in full with the court decision. Up to the present time, colored students have been unable to enter the School of Engineering, the Graduate School, the summer session, and extension courses, since these courses were not available at the Delaware State College.

"Under the new ruling, colored students will be admitted to all courses, which include, in addition to Engineering, courses in Home Economics, Arts and Sciences, Education, and Agriculture. These students will have to meet the same entrance requirements and will have to maintain the same academic standards required of all other students in order to continue in residence. This ruling, as well as the ruling two years ago which admitted Negroes to the Graduate Division and the School of Engineering, applies only to residents of the state of Delaware."

At a recent meeting of the Committee on Admissions, the machinery for handling new application was developed and it was understood that they would be processed exactly as all other applications to the university.

Although 100 charter members were sought originally for the proposed lodge, Mr. Jones said this week that 75 will be sufficient to charter the unit.

Panel Talks By Local Civic,
Church Leaders To Mark
Pre-Term Session

Mingling business with pleasure, the Newark school faculty will hold its third annual pre-term conference at camp Tockwogh, Sept. 5-6.

Recreational activities interspersed with serious discussions of plans for the coming term will mark the informal atmosphere of the two-day sessions.

The schools will open Thursday, Sept. 7, with half-day sessions Thursday and Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

A highlight of the Tockwogh parley will be panel talks on the part schools should play in providing for the citizenship training of youth. Taking part will be a cross-section of Newark's civic and church leaders, many parents of school age children. Included under the general term "citizenship" will be a discussion not only of the pupil's future responsibilities to the community but also his obligation to earn a living.

Invitations to take part in the talks have been issued to representatives of local churches, industry, Chamber of Commerce, labor, the Town Council, Board of Education, Parent-Teachers Association, and Newark's delegate to the recent White House Conference on youth. The latter is Miss Etta Wilson.

The panel talks will be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 5, the first day of the conference, which will open in the afternoon with a general faculty meeting. New teachers will be introduced at the opening session.

Other features of the conferences will be teacher committee meetings to draft the year's plans in such fields as: the school's United Fund Drive, pupil welfare, public relations, PTA membership, visual and auditory aids, American Education Week, and health and sanitation.

Huntington, pastor of St. Stephen's Lutheran Church, Wilmington.

Dr. Schroyer spoke on "The Forgotten Man" as the one between the ages of 6 and 60 who forgets God in his life. Speaking on "The Home" Dr. Huntington stated that as the church is a place of inspiration so the home is a place for character development. What one sees and hears in one's house determines the kind of a home one has, he pointed out. Failure in home building is to fail in life's greatest occupation. He said "What America Needs Today Is Christian Homes." The choir directed by Mrs. W. Floyd Jackson sang "Now Unto the King Eternal" and "Praise to God, Immortal Praise" with Miss Doris Major as the soloist. The pastor, the Rev. Edwin J. Horney presided over each service. OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

1750—STEPHEN GIRARD—1831
MARINER • MERCHANT • BANKER • PHILANTHROPIST

COMING FROM FRANCE AS A PENNILESS YOUNG SAILOR, STEPHEN GIRARD FOUND OPPORTUNITY IN AMERICA. HE STARTED A SMALL, POORLY STOCKED SHOP ON PHILADELPHIA'S WATER FRONT—AND HIS VISION AND INDUSTRY BROUGHT SUCCESS.

AS HIS FORTUNE GREW, SO DID HIS BELIEF THAT A BUSINESS MAN HAD GREAT RESPONSIBILITY OF SERVICE TO HIS COMMUNITY. HE ONCE RISKED HIS LIFE BY TAKING CHARGE OF THE "PEST HOUSE" DURING THE YELLOW-FEVER EPIDEMIC WHEN MOST ABLE-BODIED CITIZENS HAD FLED THE CITY.

GIRARD'S DREAM WAS TO FURTHER MORALS AND EDUCATION. AT HIS DEATH HE LEFT MOST OF HIS FORTUNE TO ESTABLISH A SCHOOL AND HOME FOR ORPHANED BOYS—TO HELP THEM HELP THEMSELVES—KNOWN AND HONORED TODAY AS GIRARD COLLEGE, IN PHILADELPHIA.

Record Set In July;
4,476 Job HoldersExclude Farmers;
Based On Reports From Employers

A total of 4,476 persons, excluding farmers, were employed in New Castle County in July, the highest number since 1947, according to reports from employers.

The new high is 3.2 per cent above the previous peak which occurred last May. Employment here has been increasing steadily for a year, with the increase becoming sharper in the last six months. The reports from employers are gathered every two months and that reason the previous known high was reported in May rather than June.

The further increase in employment is indicated in the letter. It says: "The estimated requirements of the selected employers reporting indicated a slight increase in the next two months. However, since these reports are compiled, the international tempo has quickened to such a degree that the estimate would be too indefinite of any value. Latest estimated requirements, being revised daily, indicate a very sharp increase in manufacturing employment and a steady continuation work force for the next four months."

As employment increased, the payment of unemployment compensation continued their downward trend. In July, the average weekly load was $2.35. This was 20 per cent below the average of 1,000 checks to jobless veterans and non-veterans. Another sharp decline in jobless benefit is expected this month.

The letter reports that employment activities jumped forward in the first two days of this month. At present the Wilmington Office has orders for 500 jobs. This includes the Pennsylvania Railroad's requirement for 500 jobs which the railroad previously announced. Other local employers are expected to add about 400 persons. Many requests are for non-draftable men.

Device Steps Up
Hammer Mill's Power

Workers can save time by using a hammer take-off hammer mill, says Calvert, extension agricultural agent at the University of Delaware.

Loss due to belt slippage is reduced to a minimum, he says.

Power is transmitted from the tractor by a conventional shaft which is attached to a multiple V-belt drive attached directly to the hammer mill.

The speed of 15,000 revolutions per minute which is necessary to pulverize feed. Because belt slippage and wear are cut to a minimum, the efficiency of the machine is constant. The capacity is increased as much as 100 per cent with the same power.

Calvert points out.

FILLIN' IN

Our government, which five years ago proudly presented us with an A-bomb for our international protection has just issued, without even the apology of a blush, a 456-page book telling us how to protect ourselves in case one of the bombs falls on us. Our gratitude as a citizen for this thoughtfulness is somewhat tempered by the fact that the government, which is using our money to make the bomb and to print the directions for saving ourselves from it, is also peddling the book itself for $1.25 a copy. If ever the phrase "paying through the nose" is applicable to us citizenry, it appears to be here.

To top things off, the volume is, for the most part, highly technical and apparently was written to make the world safe for physicists. This we gleaned from a review of the book in the daily press.

A few passages, however, are intelligible to the layman and offer what literally might be called down-to-earth advice. According to the review, if you are caught in the open when an A-bomb falls, "drop instantly to the ground and curl up." If you are inside a building, do the same, only get under furniture too. You are advised to hold the curled up position for "at least ten seconds." This is to protect you from burns by atomic rays. If you survive the first blast, your chances of survival are said to be good.

As a program for meeting a shower of dived atoms, all this strikes us as a trifle flimsy, not to say makeshift. Our natural tendency would be to drop to the ground and curl up for just a plain, old-fashioned TNT bomb. We would like, out of mere awe, to do a little something more for an A-bomb.

Two pieces of information in the book are reassuring. The first advises you will have no difficulty recognizing an A-bomb. For one thing, it will be 100 times brighter than the sun. As one chortling government official, who apparently forgets he is in this thing too, put it: "If you are not dead already, you will recognize it when it goes off." The other encouraging item says "fears are groundless that atomic explosions will contaminate the whole world with radioactivity."

We're certainly glad to learn that. In fact, we think we can best use our $1.25 for a government brochure on living conditions at the South Pole.

The title of the book, incidentally, is "The Effects of Atomic Weapons" and was prepared by the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory. If you want a copy, write the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. Don't forget to enclose the $1.25.

Parking meter sidetracks:

One Main Street malcontent was heard to remark that the parking meters look like hitching posts and give Newark the air of a cow town.

Officer Mote, the gun totin' meter custodian, who waits with poised pencil for the violation marker to spring up, plays no favorites. He recently issued a ticket to Mrs. Wallace Johnson, whose husband, the Mayor, signed the new parking meter law. She didn't have to pay the fine, though—the Mayor did.

Vickie Chalmers, 3-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George V. Chalmers, thinks the meters are fascinating; in fact, he regards them as his own personal piggybanks. Everytime he's chattered up town in his carriage, he wants to "park" at every meter.

A lot of motorists claim they have been trapped by the Friday night hours. Forgetting that the meters are in operation after 6 p.m. on that night, they find themselves "sitting ducks" for Officer Mote.

An anti-meter underground movement, possibly sparked by the Chamber of Commerce, is reported in operation. Its three-pronged attack is aimed at preventing forgetful shoppers from being fined. In one phase, lookouts are stationed at strategic points along Main Street to watch for the approach of Officer Mote and alert stores along the way, so the proprietors can dash out and insert pennies to protect their customers. In the second and more intensive phase, flying squads of guerrillas, armed with pocketfuls of pennies, range up Main Street ahead of Officer Mote and cancel out all violations before he can write a ticket. According to reliable sources, these tactics have proved so successful that several times what seemed sure victims were snatched practically from under Officer Mote's pencil.

The third phase is a long-range research project aimed at designing a slug which will fit the meters. Once perfected and manufactured in sufficient quantities, the slugs will be given away by underground workers on street corners.

Psychological War

Plans Are Drafted

A National Strategic Board to direct American psychological warfare was set up recently by the State Department.

Headed by Edward P. Barrett, assistant secretary of state for public affairs, the board will include representatives of the Defense and State Departments, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Central Intelligence Agency.

The board will start immediately preparing plans for possible world emergencies.

In the Korean situation, it will coordinate U. S. propaganda activities with the armed forces and the Economic Cooperation Administration. In other projects it will handle problems where more than one of the nation's government agencies is involved.

Yellowjacket Gridders To Open Drills Tomorrow Under Sposato

Newark Faces 9-Game Card Opening With Elkton High, Sept. 23; 12 Lettermen, Including Veteran Backfield, Returning

Newark High's Yellowjacket gridders will get a running start on the 1950 season when they open drills under Coach Fred Sposato and assistant Ray Ciesinski tomorrow on the athletic field.

Chary of statements on the season's outlook, Sposato, who is seeing his second year at Newark's helm, expects some 12 lettermen and 24 holdovers to report for the opening sessions.

Included in this pool of veteran talent is last year's first-string backfield and several varsity linemen.

Spasato is faced with a 9-game card, one more than last year, when the Jackets balanced their season's mark at four and four. The newcomer to the schedule this year is Elkton High, which will play host to the jackets in a matinee tilt on Sept. 23. The first home game will be with Brown on Sept. 30.

Four night games are slated, two at home. The latter will be with Salesianum on Friday, Oct. 6 and with New Castle on Friday, Oct. 20. The other two will be at Mount Pleasant on Nov. 3 and at Claymont on Oct. 29.

For the first day or two, practice sessions will center on calisthenics and limbering-up drills, interspersed with some running and touch tackle. Equipment will be issued on Monday, when the drills will be stepped up.

To liven up the drills, several practice scrimmages are planned for Saturday mornings prior to the season's formal opening.

Assisting Spasato and Ciesinski on the coaching staff this season will be Roland Anderson, a newcomer to the school faculty.

The complete schedule follows:

Saturday, Sept. 23, 2:15 p.m., Elkton, away.

Saturday, Sept. 30, 2:15 p.m., Brown, home.

Friday, Oct. 6, 8:15 p.m., Salesianum, home.

Saturday, Oct. 14, 2:15 p.m., Wilmington High, away.

Friday, Oct. 20, 8:15 p.m., New Castle, home.

Saturday, Oct. 28, 8 p.m., Claymont, away.

Friday, Nov. 3, 8 p.m., Mt. Pleasant, away.

Saturday, Nov. 11, 2:15, A. I. DuPont, away.

Thursday, Nov. 23, 11:00 a.m., Conrad, home.

Newark AA Meets New London Here Sunday In Crucial Game

Victory Will Assure Newark Of Fourth In Penn Mar League Race And Place In Title Play-Off Series

The Newark AA, title defenders in the Penn Mar League, are currently battling for fourth place and a spot in the play-offs as the 1950 loop race nears the finish line.

In their final league game, the Newark nine will meet New London here Sunday. A victory will clinch fourth place for Newark and assure them a play-off berth. A defeat would require a game with Hickory Hill to decide fourth. Either Barney Benson or Fuzzy McCormick will be on the mound for Newark this Sunday on the Continental Field.

Kennett Square, which has suffered only one defeat this season, appears certain to finish at the top of the league, thus taking the Penn Mar pennant from Newark, who won it last year.

Tonight Newark begins the New Castle County League play-offs by meeting Christiana on the home field. Newark took the league championship with a record of 21 wins against only four losses. Christiana finished third.

General Motors and the Pennsylvania RR are the two other teams in the play-offs. GM finished second and the PRR fourth. The preliminary games will be the best of three series. The two winners will meet in a best three out of five series.

In one of the most thrilling if not best played games in a long time, Newark dropped an extra inning game to Oxford, 10-9, last Sunday in 13 innings.

The locals opened the scoring early in the game, getting two runs in the first on three hits, one a triple by Ronnie Bramble. Oxford scored five runs in the fourth on two hits, three errors and a hit batsman.

The victors added another in the seventh to take a commanding five run lead. In the same stanza, Newark slipped across a singleton, cutting the margin to 6-3.

Newark snapped back into the picture in the last of the ninth, putting across three runs to tie the score. Jimmie Knotts opened the inning by flying out to left field. Next up was Ronnie Bramble who reached first when hit by a pitched ball. George Schaefer then went down on strikes to make the second out.

The action picked up when Albie Sparks poled a single to left. Jimmy Ford then smacked a triple to right center and later stole home with the tying run.

In the top of the twelfth, Oxford scored three runs to lead 9-6, but Newark came back in their half. With the bases loaded and two out, Bramble drove a triple to left center, again tying the game.

Oxford pushed over the winning run in the thirteenth, when Duff Bea singled and scored on Bailey's triple to right field. Newark got two men on base in their half but Buff Bea ended the game by striking out Jimmy Knotts.

Bea, the winning hurler in relief of Warren Ewing was the losing pitcher in relief of Barney Benson. Even so, Ewing pitched wonderful ball, allowing only five hits in nine innings, of which three were of the scratch variety.

Nation's Population Is Now Put At 151,376,000

The Census Bureau estimated recently the population of the continental United States was 151,376,000 persons on July 1.

That is an increase of 856,000 persons over the tentative count of 150,520,000 persons on April 1, the date of the official biennial census.

The actual count figure for April 1, which will determine congressional representation for the next 10 years, is subject to revision before it is formally announced by President Truman next January.

Murray Says Hens Faced With Toughest Grid Card In History

50 Candidates Expected To Report Monday For Opening Of Drills; New Single-Wing 'T' Offensive Being Readied

Fifty candidates for the 1950 football squad at the University of Delaware are expected to report in Newark on Monday for the opening of fall drills in the Blue Hen eleven. Faced with what he calls the toughest schedule in Delaware football history, Coach Bill Murray will take up where he left off at the spring session and complete the task of installing a new single-wing 'T' formation. Murray, in seven previous seasons at Delaware, has used the double wing formation.

Twelve of the twenty-two men who manned the two-plateau system last year have graduated, and Murray and his staff are faced with the task of rostering they've had since the previous season.

resumption of football. Nevertheless, they're looking forward to the season of some of the freshmen from the yearling team that went undefeated last year to plug the gaps left by the departed seniors. Murray doesn't expect to match last year's 8-1 record but hopes of seeing his team compile an eighth consecutive winning season.

Sessions will be held daily until Sept. 23rd.

The schedule: Sept. 23, Lehigh, away; Sept. 30, West Chester, home; Oct. 7, P.M.C., home; Oct. 14, open; Oct. 21, Lafayette, home; Oct. 28, Muhlenberg, away; Nov. 4, Temple, away; Nov. 11, Wash. & Lee, home; Nov. 18, Rutgers, home.

News of London-Britain Vicinity

Martha Ness, Correspondent
Phone Kemblesville 2171

A very sad loss of property occurred on the night of August 16, when a barn on the farm of Wiley G. Stewart, near Landis, was totally destroyed by a fire of mysterious origin. Mr. Stewart was away visiting friends at the Yorklyn Fibre Co. and did not return until 10 p.m. when the daughters of the farm observed fire at the doors of the barn on the second story level. The loss was estimated at $1500.

Mr. Stewart is thankful that his truck was parked outside, and that although it was gone to a friends to bring home the tractor the night before, this was not been done, and so the tractor was not lost. Also, the two cows and the heifers were grazing outside.

One thing which puzzles Mr. Stewart is the fact that the fire occurred on the second floor. There is no electricity there. All electricity is on the first floor. No machinery has been in the barn for days, let alone for weeks. And finally, about forty chickens were roosting in the back of the barn on the second floor. They were allowed out at night, and this was no exception. The morning after the fire, however, no remains of the chickens could be found at all. Eight or ten were running around completely unharmed. The Stewart's are trying to figure out how those hens got out without help.

Clarence Loeke, Cliff and Jeff, have returned from Baltimore, where they spent last Wednesday to spend several days with Mrs. Loeke's sister.

Miss Cramer was a devoted mother and was away last Saturday and took Mr. and Mrs. Loeke and Mary up to the city.

We understand that little Sally Cramer got a nasty cut in her chin the other day.

While Rev. Gardiner is on vacation at his parent's home, the New London Presbyterian pulpit will be filled on August 27 by John F. McCleary, a candidate for the ministry who is taking a pre-ministerial course at Lafayette College.

Mrs. Mary Pierson has been spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Burris at a lake in New York.

Miss Hopkins, Cathy Lanning and Miss Chalmers spent several days at the Ness home last week as the guest of Barbara Ness.

The Phillips have been doing something that we think is a very good thing—taking short trips every week-end with the "extra-curricular" education, as well as recreation, of the children in mind. For instance, they went to Safe Harbor and looked over the old hydroelectric plant on the Susquehanna a couple of weeks ago, and made a practice of going to various places in Philadelphia every once in a while.

The Arthur Nesses took a family vacation the other day and visited Conowingo, Hollywood and Safe Harbor hydroelectric plants August 13.

The other weekend brought a visitor who has been in the mid-west to the George Kalb home. George Kalb is attending Faith Seminary in Wilmington and has a church in Cecilton, Maryland.

Mr. Soltan's father Reverend Soltan, was a missionary to Korea some time ago, and the family really has an interesting and most impressive array of information about Korea.

Russ and Ethel Eaton report a very nice vacation in North Carolina where they spent eight days with their little son and Ethel's parents in a mountain cabin at Highlands.

Sept. 7 is definitely the opening date for Northbank and Southbank schools. More later about schedules.

The chicken salad supper to be held at the chicken salad supper to be held at the New London Presbyterian Church.

The Bill Nichols recently entertained Mrs. Nichols' uncle and aunt, the Claude E. Pattersons, and their son, from Roanoke, Virginia.

Young Jimmie Sanborn has accompanied his grandmother back to Florida for a period of recuperation. He is getting along beautifully after his recent drastic experience of being run over by a tractor and then undergoing an exploratory operation and appendectomy.

This last Friday brought a big treat for Johnny and Joanne St. John, Forrest and Sue Lester, Jan and George Kalb, and Bill and Doris Nichol. The party went fishing on the Chesapeake at Rock Hall, Maryland, and a whopping good time was had by all.

The Avon-Grove Community has just completed what is generally considered by people in position to judge, the outstanding rural "Learn to Swim" program in the state of Pennsylvania.

The committee was composed of Martha Klauck, chairwoman, Marianna Alcock, Clarence Loeke, Doris Nichol, Hen McVey, Marg Kraus, and Joan Lang.

To illustrate the fact that this program was appreciated by mothers and children alike, we point out that when the bus has gone its ten scheduled trips, several mothers got together and formed a car pool to take turns taking the children for the rest of the lessons.

At this point, due acknowledgment should be given to the Bicknells, who generously contributed the use of their fine pool for the purpose of these free swimming lessons. The lessons occupy every morning, six days a week.

The swimming program is one of the many all over the country which benefit by the Red Cross Aquatic School.

It is perhaps not generally realized how many people and organizations contribute to making these swimming programs, and similar civic ventures, a success. For instance, "The Recreation Association of Avon-Grove receives a share of the Community Chest, and it is directly due to this Recreation Association that the organization and execution of the swimming program is carried through.

Contributions to the Red Cross and Community Chest are vital to the continuation of such programs as we have been discussing. In some areas, (and our own, sadly, is one of these), the goal has not been met, and the natural sequence is that our share of the gain from these programs has been decreased.

While in a few instances, children who started were unable to attend consistently, it would seem better to list the children of London-Britain as the list came to us, in the way they are at present rated.

DHIA Proved Sire List

For 1950 Is Now Ready

The 1950 DHIA proved sire list is now available from the Bureau of Dairy Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture. This year's list is the 14th one since the nation-wide sire-proving program was begun in 1935. It includes information on 4,356 bulls.

The purpose of the proved-sire program is to "prove" as fully as possible the breeding value of all sires used in dairy-herd-improvement-association herds and to make this information available to all dairy farmers and cattle breeders.

Cup Award Offered By Delaware C. Of C.

The Chamber of Commerce, Delaware, Inc., at Wilmington, has set up the Annual Josiah Marvel Cup Award, available to any Delawarean, irrespective of race, color, creed or sex, who has given outstanding service to the state, the community, society or to his fellow man, which service would be something worthy of being remembered. This beautiful cup originally was presented to Josiah Marvel, the first president of the Chamber of Commerce, Delaware, who served during 1913-1914, in recognition of his service in reorganizing the Chamber of Commerce from the old Board of Trade. It recently was returned to the Chamber by Mr. Marvel's heirs for such use as the Chamber may decide.

The board of directors appointed a committee comprising Trowbridge Marston, chairman, Hon. Hugh M. Morris and William Paton to recommend its disposition, and they unanimously recommended this award.

The plan contemplates the appointment by the president of the Chamber, annually, a state-wide confidential committee of award. Nominations for persons to receive the award would be invited from any resident of Delaware, and would be made to the president of the Chamber in writing. The award would be made at the annual meeting of the Chamber, after notification of the recipient by letter, whose name and the date of the award, would be inscribed on the cup. A scroll describing the type of service and a miniature cup would be given the recipient, the Joseph Marvel Cup being held for safe-keeping in the offices of the Chamber, suitably displayed.

Safety Hints

"You can't shrug off traffic signs," Mr. F. J. Jamison, Assistant Manager of the Delaware Safety Council told Delaware drivers recently as the Delaware Safety Council's August program of traffic safety education moved into its 5th day.

"You can bet your bottom dollar," he said, "that every traffic sign and signal you pass on the highway has a definite reason for being where it is. The hospitals and cemeteries are full of ex-drivers who shrugged off some sign on the mistaken notion that whoever put it there didn't know what he was doing."

A great many intersections having "Stop" signs are deceptively safe-looking, according to the National Safety Council, but a bloody history behind them that necessitated the original installation of these controls, the Delaware Safety Council reports.

In the same way, each speed limit and warning sign is a silent testimonial to days and weeks of investigation and testing by traffic experts in their efforts to determine at what speed, and under what conditions, the road may be safely traveled. Entering into this are studies of the road's surface; what effects various weather conditions have on it; topography of the country through which the road travels; principles of inertia; and other factors that seldom occur to the average driver.

"No traffic sign or signal," Mr. Johnson said, "is thrown up at random simply because it is found lying around in the sign shop."

The Delaware Safety Council, in its efforts, this month, to impress motorists with the importance of obeying signs and signals, is cooperating with the National Safety Council.
