Moose Lodge Being Organized Here; 100 Members Are Sought

Fraternal Order Stations Representative Here; Benefits Are Outlined

A move to organize a local lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose is underway here.

A minimum of 100 charter members is being sought by Kilian C. Albert, a representative of the national headquarters, who expects to be stationed here until the new lodge is formed.

Assisting him in enrolling members are two Newark men, Daniel Harvey, 77 Ave. and James Martin, Academy Apartments.

A fund to finance the project has been provided by the national organization. A headquarters for the lodge will be selected once the membership quota is achieved.

Advantages of joining the Moose were pointed out this week by Mr. Albert, who is Deputy Supreme Governor in Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia. Sick and death benefits are available to all members. Since the order's rehabilitation in 1946, more than 51 million dollars have been distributed to members in such benefits.

In addition, the order operates "moosehalls" in Northern Illinois. Also known as "The Child City", the palatial settlement cares for and educates dependent children of deceased members. Near Jacksonville, Florida, the Moose also operates "Moosehaven", a home for dependent aged and their wives among the members. "Moosehaven" is regarded as a model home of its type.

Locally, all Moose lodges sponsor social and sports programs for their members, and take an active part in civic affairs. Last year Moose lodges contributed more than one and three quarter million dollars for civic and community services, including such activities as playground aid, boy scouts and times.

The order has close to a million members in 1700 lodges in the U. S. and Canada, according to Mr. Albert. In addition, the ladies organization, known as the Ladies of the Moose, has a membership of about 300,000.

There are no secret hand clasps, mystical rituals or political and sectarian aims in the Moose, according to Mr. Albert. It is a "middle class" fraternity, he points out, that has grown and prospered faster than any similar fraternity in the past 50 years.

Further information on membership qualifications may be secured from Mr. Albert or his assistants Mr. Harvey and Mr. Martin.

Mr. Albert, who is deputy supreme governor of the Moose for the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia, plans to address several civic groups here giving details on the benefits of joining the Moose.

Newark Soldier Has Bit Part In 'Big Lift' Here June 15-16

A Newark soldier, S/Sgt. Donald R. Simmons, who saw service in the Berlin Airlift has a role in the Twentieth Century Fox movie, "The Big Lift", which will appear at the State Theatre, June 15 and 16.

The film deals with the dramatic role of the Air Force in keeping supplies flowing to the beleaguered American sector of Berlin during the Russian blockade. S/Sgt. Simmons, has a minor non-speaking part, appearing only three or four times in the film, but it is of interest because, along with 42 other air force men, he plays the real-life role he took during the airlift.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Simmons, Ogletown, will be guests of the State Theatre at the first night showing and will be introduced to the audience, according to Manager Herman Hand-

In letters to his parents, Sgt. Simmons said he was required of the soldiers. They are pictured doing

State Grants Funds For Hiring 5 More Teachers At Schools

Eight New Staff Posts Now Open; Six To Be Filled By September

State funds which will permit the hiring of five additional teachers at the Newark schools next term have just been appropriated, Supt. Wilmer E. Shue announced this week.

This is in addition to an earlier budget increase approved by the state providing for three new teachers. The latest appropriation means that the local schools will be in a position to hire eight additional teachers next term.

Three of the new posts have already been filled, Mr. Shue said, and three more new teachers will be named this summer. The remaining two will be added to the staff as the enrollment dictates following the opening of school in the fall.

The expansion of the local faculty, long sought by Mr. Shue, is aimed not only at taking care of increased enrollment but primarily at reducing the average class size. The object is to organize classes of no more than 30 pupils per teacher, the limit recommended by educational experts. Classes now average well over this number.

Passage Of Parking Meter Ordinance Is Slated For Monday

Election Of New Councilman Also Likely To Mark Town Council Session

Selection of a new Councilman to replace Robert C. Lewis and passage of the proposed parking meter ordinance will probably highlight the June meeting of the Town Council on Monday at 8 p. m.

Mr. Lewis turned in his resignation on Monday last month due to ill-health. His successor will be named by a majority vote of the Council. No candidates for the post have been announced yet.

The parking meter ordinance, which is slated for its third and final reading, calls for the installation of about 200 multi-coin meters, permitting 12 minutes parking for a penny and an hour for a nickel.

Whether or not the Chamber of Commerce will again send a delegation before Council to protest the plan is not known. The businessmen feel that the meters will act as a damper on retail trade.

Don Savitch, president of the Chamber, said this week that about 30 letters have been sent out seeking information on the reaction of business groups in surrounding towns now using meters.

Under terms of the proposed ordinance here, the meters will be installed without cost to the town on a six months trial basis. If they should prove unsatisfactory they will be removed at the expense of the manufacturers. Payments will be made through a percentage of the receipts.

If finally approved, the meters will be installed first on Main Street between Elkton Road to Chapel Street and later on South College Avenue, Academy Street and Haines Street between Delaware Avenue and Main Street.

Appeal Day will also offer non-property owners an opportunity to check the list and have their names entered.

Citizens who are not assessed for either real estate or a capitation tax will not be eligible to vote in next year's town election. The assessment lists of both property and non-property owners also does duty as the voting list. Under the provisions of the town charter, no names can be added to the list after appeal day.

Newark Earns Fifth Place in State Meet

Newark took fifth place in the State meet recently on the U. of D. track at Newark. Newark's place was made possible by their taking a second place in the 100 yard dash, fifth place in the mile run, second place in the 440 yard dash, a third in the 880 yard run, and a third place in the mile relay.

Newark didn't seem to live up to the expectations we held for them. Blaney lost the 100 yard dash in his last step. Although Newark had some bad breaks they accumulated 19 points to take fifth place.

Reynolds, Newark's Ace 880 man, wasn't in good form because he was just getting over an injury received in a previous track meet.

Newark's Junior High team tabulated 33 points to retain its second championship in two years. Their nearest opponent was Howard High School who got 24 points.

Two records were broken by Dann and Palmer of Newark in the 200 and broad jump respectively.

Agent Tests Spray For Garlic Control

New Castle County dairymen are faced with the annual spring problem of garlicky off-flavor in their milk, according to County Agricultural Agent, Edward H. Schabinger. Wild onions in pasture fields may affect the flavor of milk when dairy cattle feed on them from one to six hours before milking.

In an effort to control this prevalent weed, Schabinger has aided the Agronomy Department at the University of Delaware in applying a chemical weed killer on two pastures in this County. They applied 2, 4-D to pastures on the George C. Boyd farm near Marshallton, managed by Woodward Bernard, and the William H. Reynolds farm near Middletown. On each farm satisfactory results seemed to be obtained. Both farmers would be glad to show their neighbors the results of the demonstrations.

When dairymen have to pasture their milking herd in fields where wild onion is rampant, Schabinger suggests that the animals be fed some hay before going out on pasture. If they can be taken off pasture several hours before milking, there is less chance of off-flavors. For dairymen who use night pastures, Schabinger recommends that cows be brought off of pasture before daylight or before they start grazing.

Mrs. E. Norman Worth and son, E. Mrs. Worth submitted to surgery at the Delaware Hospital some weeks ago, and the friends she made in this area during the years she formerly resided here will be glad to know that her convalescing is proceeding nicely.

Mrs. Alma O'Leary was given a "Send-Off" Party by the choir of the New London Methodist Church last Friday evening at the Edwin Guthrie, Jr. home.

Rev. and Mrs. Douglas Stirling have moved in the Landenberg parsonage, and are taking up their duties with a will. Reverend Stirling is a young man of varied experiences. He was born in Ocean Grove, New Jersey, commonly called "the seat of Methodism" because of the huge auditorium, with 10,000 seating capacity, at which big camp meetings are held each summer Sunday, and then there is a concentrated two weeks at the end of the summer during which there are several meetings a day. His experiences in this connection have been most rewarding.

Mrs. Stirling was born in Audobon, N. J., and she attended the Neptune High School, and State Teacher's College in Glassboro, N. J. Reverend Stirling attends Temple University.

Reverend Stirling served for four and one half years in the Third Amphibious Corps of the Marines during the late war. He spent most of this time on Guadalcanal, but was also on numerous other places such as New Caledonia and Okinawa, spending a total of 33 months in the South Pacific. He was converted on Guadalcanal, and as Mrs. Stirling says, "It stuck in his case."

"Following God's Will", Scripture: Mathew, Chapter 21, Verses 23-32, was Reverend Stirling's sermon for this past Sunday.

Reverend and Mrs. J. T. Myers have taken over the Methodist parsonage at New London, and little John Thomas who is ten months instead of the reported 18 months (his parents should know) will join his family shortly. Reverend Stirling will graduate from Westminster Theological Seminary this next June. He spent one year as a minister in Alexandria, Pa., then spent a whole year at the Seminary, and came a period of time as minister at Mount Nebo, Pa., from March through May. Recently Mrs. L. V. The car was near the Glasgow crossing, when they were hit from the rear so violently that the whole car was swung around, and Mrs. Smith, her mother, and her little granddaughter were propelled from the car to the pavement. After thorough check-ups at the hospital in Wilmington, it was ascertained that however numerous the bruises or profound the shock, there were no fractures.

Their friends are breathing big sighs of relief and sympathy, these days.

They certainly seemed most pleasant when we met the other day.

Northbank School was the scene of a most interesting meeting the other evening when the London-Britain called an open meeting to present certain vital information to all persons concerned. ## Old Residents Pass Away

Three members of the older generation in this community, their combined ages totaling 239 years, passed away during the last few days. They were Mrs. Isaac Moody, 80, of Cleveland Avenue; John W. Pennington, 78, Pennington Road; and Mrs. Sarah E. Burkin, 79, near Marshallton.

Chief Pulls Boner

After trying everything from meat on a string to three specialists, Police Chief Lewis finally fell back on an old, worn out cigar stump to get a fishbone out of his throat Monday.

For three days, the Chief suffered with the bone lodged at the base of the throat and stubbornly refusing to move after three doctors had worked on it. Peanut shells, meat on a string, ice cream all failed. Finally, with his condition serious, his eyes red from lack of sleep, he swallowed the old cigar stump. The bone gave up the fight.

A PINCH OF THIS...

A housewife can improvise with a recipe... adding a pinch of this and a pinch of that. But no such leeway is possible in the measuring and mixing of the ingredients that go into prescribed medicine. Quantities must measure exactly with the specifications set down by the physician... with no additions, eliminations, or substitutions. And for that reason, we make all measurements with precision instruments — and double-check quantity... to make accuracy doubly sure.
