P-T. A. PLANS SELECTION OF OFFICERS AT MEET THURS.

Annual Vote To Mark Session; Group To Study Fluorine Tests

The annual election of officers for the coming club year will highlight the May meeting of the Newark Parent-Teacher Association next Thursday at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Another important item will be the health committee's report on the proposed fluorine project here. The group has gathered a wealth of information throughout the country and is expected to ask the general membership to pass a resolution recommending its introduction here.

Candidates for the election have not yet been announced. A nominating committee has been authorized to draw up a slate, but its selections will not be disclosed until the meeting. It is probable that there will be no contest unless additional nominations are made from the floor.

Feasibility of opening a YMCA day camp here will also be considered at the session. The discussion will open with a report by Henry M. Brader, elementary supervisor, on the findings of his day camp committee. A decision will be made whether or not the P-T. A. should undertake such a project may be made at the session.

Following the business portion of the evening, refreshments will be served to the mothers of the first and sixth grade children, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Milton Young.

Force To Seek Pilot Recruits Here On May 18-19

The Air Force officers will be in Newark on May 18 and 19 to interview interested in pilot training and a new officer in the U. S. Air Force. Cpl. Joseph I. Haas, Newark recruiting NCO said today.

They also will interview young men and women seeking non-flying careers in administrative and technical fields with the Air Force, he said.

The two officers will be at the University of Delaware. They will discuss opportunities for Air Force careers with college graduates and other qualified persons as well as university students. Arrangements for an interview will be made through the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting office, located in the Post Office Building, Newark.

Men accepted as aviation cadets, said Cpl. Haas, will be given 12 months of pilot training. They then receive a commission as second lieutenants in the U. S. Air Force. After a 30-day leave, they are assigned to flying duties with the Air Force.

School Census Is Planned In District

Survey Will Aid Authorities In Planning For Fall Term

A census of the school population of the Newark district will be carried out in the near future, according to Principal Frederick B. Kutz.

The door to door survey will be conducted by high school seniors and is aimed at giving school authorities an accurate preview of the record enrollment expected here next term.

Always a matter of guess work to school heads is how to plan for the influx of new pupils every term. It is hoped to eliminate this through the census, which will give authorities a factual basis for planning increased class space and facilities.

The census will seek to count every child in the district from 1 to 16 years. Thus, by including the pre-school population, the survey will help the local administration in planning for subsequent years.

In addition, the project will provide a "life experience" for the students, who will gain a new and more vivid conception of their community and its living conditions through the survey. The students will work both during and after school hours.

Already student committees are making plans, dividing the district into zones and formulating a questionnaire which the census takers will fill out on their rounds.

Outdoor Concert By U. Of D. Band Sunday

Public Invited To Afternoon Program On Campus

The second outdoor band concert arranged by the University of Delaware's concert band will be presented this Sunday. The concert, at 4 p. m. (DST) will be on the campus north of the Memorial Library, and in case of rain it will be held in Mitchell Hall, nearby.

J. Robert King, director of the band, announced a program of 11 selections, including marches, popular songs, Strauss waltzes, and folk songs and dances, as well as compositions of J. S. Bach and Richard Wagner.

The marches will include "National Emblem," by Bagley and Sousa's "Semper Fidelis." Vincent Youmans' "Great Day" and a selection of Jerome Kern songs will be among the popular compositions. Other composers whose works will be heard are Florence Price, Vaughn Williams, Alex. Lithgow, and Haydn Wood.

The season's first campus concert, on May 1, was attended by about 200 persons.

Seven Fires Here In April; None Past Week

The Aetna volunteers got a well earned rest this week. No fire alarms were sounded from May 1 to through yesterday morning.

Fire Recorder Charles E. Moore reports seven calls in town during April for fires which caused about $90 in property loss. The volunteers answered 16 in the district and four outside the district.

The ambulance made 18 runs, covering 582 miles.

The campaign for funds and materials to erect a bungalow for the Enbert family made homeless by a fire recently, is meeting with enthusiastic response, according to Moore. Bad weather prevented the firemen from canvassing several days, but a sizeable amount of lumber has been gathered. Contributions of funds and building materials are being accepted at the firehouse.

Workmen started to lay the foundations this week for the home, which will be of tile and stucco. It is located on Salem Road.

School Club To Study Alcoholism

The Allied Youth Organization which aims at giving youth the full facts about alcoholism, has opened a chapter at the Newark High School.

The club is open to youths 14 or over. J. Grady Hutcheson, a representative of the AYO was here recently, to help organize the local unit, which will be a full-fledged club.

BESWICK IS INSTALLED BY LEGION

New Officers Take Over Duties At Post

William Beswick was installed as commander of the J. A. O'Daniel Post, No. 10, American Legion in ceremonies at the post home on Tuesday night.

Retiring Commander Richard L. Cooch was given a past commander's pin. Mr. Cooch then presented the post with a flag, which will be flown over the post home.

John Hodgson and Ivan Parsons were named to the executive committee, and Mr. Parsons and John Fader were appointed to 3-year terms as trustees.

Accompanying the department commander here for the ceremonies were the following members of his staff: William J. B. Regan, first department vice-commander; Julian A. Todd, adjutant; and William F. Matthews, past department commander.

Partial Returns Total $1,200 In Girl Scout Drive

Incomplete returns total $12,000 in the local phase of the county Girl Scout Drive which seeks $80,000 for a permanent summer camp.

The drive ended here Monday, but Mrs. T. A. Baker, general chairman, reports that a number of zone captains have not yet turned in their collection figures. A full report will be ready next week.

Over 100 volunteer solicitors divided into 20 teams took part in the drive here.

On the county level, the campaign seems assured of going over the top. The Wilmington headquarters reported this week that $78,505 has been secured, with several returns still uncounted.

Weather Man Tells His Troubles To Rotary Club

If you're the kind who jokes about the weather man, the joke is really on you—so says Guy Anderson, official in charge of the U. S. Weather Bureau at the New Castle County Airbase.

Without cracking a smile, Mr. Anderson explained to the Rotary Club here Monday night that his office is correct 80 per cent of the time in its predictions. The trouble is, he moaned, people only remember the days when the weather man is wrong.

In an informative talk, Mr. Anderson sketched facts which govern the weather in this coastal area and said 25 different readings go into making every forecast.

Program chairman was Dr. S. W. Smith.

Dr. T. F. Manns announced that reservations are open for the Rotary International Convention to be held in New York City in June. A large contingent of Rotarians from this area is expected to attend.

Census Of Non-Propertied Begun For Town Vote List

Capitation Tax Survey Is Started By Town Assessor; Printed Forms Being Left

Now is the time for all non-property owners to start thinking about getting on the registration list for next year's town election. A little trouble now will forestall the usual crop of gripes and outcries of foul play from disfranchised citizens next year.

A town census, aimed at assessing all non-property owners directly for a capitation tax, is already underway here, under the direction of F. A. Wheelless, town assessor. Canvassers will make the rounds of all homes and apartment houses between now and June 10.

To correct a major flaw in last year's much disputed census, when many non-propertied were overlooked or simply ignored because they weren't at home, canvassers this year are leaving a printed form at every residence where they are unable to find anyone.

The form stresses the fact that non-property owners must be on the assessment list to be eligible to vote here next year, and urges them to register at the Council Offices on Academy Street. Persons receiving this form may register immediately. Those who fail to receive one by June 1 may sign up any time between then and June 10.

The latter date is the deadline for getting on the registration list. Protests and pleas to Council will be of no avail after that, since the august dictates of the Town Charter will then stand in the way.

This does not mean that non-property owners should descend immediately on the Council Offices. Such residents are advised to wait until they are either canvassed or receive the printed notification. If they do not receive this by June 1, they should register of their own accord.

A special procedure has been worked out for apartment houses where the most flagrant omissions in last year's census were made. In cases where residents aren't at home, the canvasser is instructed to take names from the doorbell in order that a notice may be mailed later to the family.

The text of the printed notice being left by the canvassers when they are unable to reach anyone follows:

Notice To Non-Property Owners

The canvasser making up the assessment list of non-property owners called and was unable to contact anyone.

All non-property owners must be on the assessment books before June 10, 1949. In order to be put on the assessment books you must come to the Town Council office (Monday through Friday, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.; Saturday, 9 a. m. to 12 noon)

Century Club Plans Musical On Monday

On Monday, May 16, at 2, the members of the Newark New Century Club will be entertained at an informal musical tea at the home of Mrs. J. Pearce Cann, on Orchard Road. Mrs. G. Taggart Evans, membership chairman, and Mrs. Robert Jones, president of the corporation board will greet the guests.

Mrs. Cann will be assisted by club officers, committee chairmen and members of the board. Musical entertainment will be provided by a trumpet trio composed of Jay Steiner, Ricky Diehl, and Harlan Tweed, accompanied by Thelma Gray. Mrs. W. S. Martin will present several piano selections, and Miss Lorna Edmondson, of Dover, will sing.

Mrs. Allan P. Colburn has been authorized by the club to present a "Build a Better Community" plan to the service clubs of the community for their approval and to request their cooperation. The "Build a Better Community" contest is sponsored by the Clover Farm Stores through the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

State Grants Council More Borrowing Power; Charter Bill Still In Committee

A bill granting the Town Council the power to borrow up to $50,000 annually to meet current expenses has been passed by the General Assembly at Dover and is awaiting the signature of Gov. Elbert N. Carvel.

This is one of two special bills introduced some months ago as safeguards in case Newark's charter should fail to pass. The new borrowing limit will be an important factor in easing the Council through its financial straits, since its tax revenue is limited by the existing charter.

The second measure, which originally called for raising the tax limit here from $20,000 to $75,000 passed the Senate but ran into an obstacle in the House. The latter attached an amendment to it cutting the tax ceiling to $50,000, then approved it and sent it back to the Senate for the latter's renewed consideration.

Introducing of the two bills, which cover the most critically needed municipal reforms here, has proved a wise step since Newark's proposed charter (Senate Bill no. 275) is still bogged down in the Senate Committee on Municipal Corporations, to which it was referred shortly after it was introduced in the legislature by State Senator George W. Rhodes.

Dr. Rhodes said this week the committee is considering making several changes in the original draft approved by the Town Council, but he said he is not familiar with their exact nature. He also said he was unable to make any prediction as to whether the bill would come up for a vote at this session.

PLAN TO USE FLUORINE IN WATER GETS NEW BACKING

P-T.A. Health Unit Favors Proposal; To Ask Support Of All Members

The proposed Fluorine project took on new life this week when the health committee of the Newark Parent-Teacher Association went on record as favoring its introduction here.

Action on the plan, which proposes treating the town water supply with Sodium Fluoride as a curb on tooth decay in young children, was held up by the Town Council some weeks ago pending a report from the local committee which visited Newburgh, N. Y., recently to study the community fluorine experiment underway there.

The P-T. A. health committee's action this week revives interest in the project which had appeared to be flagging its recommendations, based on facts gathered from a number of sources, will be placed before the general P-T. A. membership at the association's May meeting next Thursday at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium. If the members at large back up the health committee, the latter's findings will be passed on to the Town Council with a request for action.

Dr. Louis Smith, a staff chemist with the Biochemical Research Foundation here and one of those who made the Newburgh trip, was chiefly responsible for arousing the interest of the P-T. A. in the plan. As a member of the health committee, he reported to the local P-T. A. on his study of the Newburgh fluorine system and also gave data (Please Turn to Page 8)

E-52 OPENS NEW PLAY

"The Glass Menagerie," which brought fame to Tennessee Williams during its year and a half on Broadway, will be staged in Mitchell Hall, Newark, today, tomorrow and Saturday nights by the E-52 Players of the University of Delaware.

In a role which capped Laurette Taylor's acting career, Verda Vane will be seen as Amanda Wingfield, the aging mother who lives in memories, and who thinks it's time her daughter is getting married. But there never has been a "gentleman caller" at the Wingfield's little apartment in St. Louis, because the daughter, to be played by Margaret Guenver, is a crippled girl, so shy that she never has been able to finish school. She spends her time collecting glass animals and playing old phonograph records.

Finally, the poetry-writing but bread-winning son Tom, who will be played by Robert Niemeyer, brings home another man from the warehouse. Out comes Amanda's threadbare finery. But even the "gentleman caller," who will be acted by Howard Hitchens, fails them. He is engaged to another girl.

Curtain time for "The Glass Menagerie" will be 8:15 p. m. on Thursday and Friday, and 8:30 on Saturday. Reserved seat tickets are on sale at the Mitchell Hall boxoffice from 3:30 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 8:30 p. m. daily; and at the Newark Department Store and the Greenwood Bookstore, Wilmington.

Freda Ritz Retires As U. Of D. Farm Librarian; Harriet Ferguson Takes Post

Miss Freda Ritz, for 27 years librarian of the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station, was honored on her retirement recently with a tea given by her co-workers in Wolf Hall and was presented with a sterling silver bowl.

Her successor is Miss Harriet Ferguson, formerly employed at the Town Council offices.

Miss Ritz, who came to the University in 1929, has been instrumental in assembling and cataloging the thousands of books and research materials that make up the experiment station library.

In recalling the growth of the university, Miss Ritz is impressed particularly with the expansion of the agricultural departments and personnel. The departments of poultry, agricultural economics and entomology have been added during these years. In 1921, the Agricultural Extension Service consisted of one agricultural agent in each county, plus a home demonstration agent-at-large. Now the extension staff includes 11 county agricultural, home demonstration and 4-H Club agents, plus 13 subject matter specialists.

★ Delaware Power & Light Company's Proposed
Edge Moor Power Station

Proof of our Confidence

The first spade of earth has been turned. Months of planning, engineering and designing have passed, and now—actual construction has begun on Delaware Power & Light Company's new $26,000,000 Edge Moor Power Station.

In 1951 it is scheduled for operation. It is the major project of our present five-year construction program which is estimated will cost over $50,000,000. This program calls for not only increasing our generating capacity but the extension and improvement of distribution and transmission lines and expanded sub-stations throughout the entire

This program is a big one. The area we serve is a big one, too... growing... expanding. Its future needs and demands for an adequate supply of electricity we must anticipate. We must have power available before the need arises to turn the wheels of industry... to help farmers produce more... to provide better, easier, more enjoyable living in the home.

Edge Moor Power Station is our pledge that this power will be available from our system to meet your needs of the future.

Teachers Make Trip to New York

Wednesday morning, May 4, at 9:45 a group of sixty-six seniors left on a train station for a three-day trip to New York.

The group arrived at the Hotel Taft at 12:50 p. m. and were shown to their rooms.

After unpacking and going to the hotel which toured around the island of Manhattan for an interesting day.

Among the many ships were the Queen Mary, the ship which took three hours.

The group returned to the hotel about 5:30 p. m. at which time they ate dinner.

Annual Play Festival To Be Given
The Dramatics Department of the Newark High School is planning a play festival to be given on May 18, 1949.

All members of the Dramatics Department will take part.

The Dramatics Club is rehearsing "Spunk," a funny hill-billy play; Jim Jones, Judy Kase, Gunvor Thureson and Ellen Cooper are the principal characters.

The boys of the dramatics class say they are not going to be outdone by the girls. "Four on a Hearth" seems to be a play which would compare with the boys' effort; so the boys will give their interpretation of it.

FILLIN' IN

If the town ever decides to raise a statue to a favorite son, we suggest it be to the anonymous benefactor who first thought of putting those chairs in front of the old Main Street school building.

Like many of history's greats, the man is wrapped in mystery. Little is known of him, except that he is a member of the Lions Club, but we predict his work will live after him.

The dozen or so chairs have transformed what was little more than a vacant lot into a small but popular mid-city park, where weary shoppers stop to restore themselves, businessmen and students sit out the lunch hour, and, in the evening, the town's "elder statesmen" gather to discuss the issues of the day and muse upon the changing scene.

All is not idyllic there, of course. Just the other day we cast our weary form in one of the chairs for a moment's rest, only to find the place suddenly invaded by a gang of small fry, all of whom were under the insane delusion that they were astride pinto ponies and carrying murderous six-guns. Only quick thinking and fast talking on our part saved us from being caught up in a swirl of battle. We argued them into agreeing that they weren't really cowboys at all but actually bank robbers, and we suggested they move on to more fertile fields. The last we saw of them they were tiptoeing grimly into the Newark Trust. We didn't wait to see the outcome but took refuge in a nearby soda fountain.

A little later, though, we passed one of Newark's leading financiers on the street, and we thought he had a shaken air, as if he had just gone through a nightmarish experience.

Generally, though, the Lion's Club park is an ideal place to sit and watch the town go by. Life in Newark is not exactly hectic nor tension-ridden, but a few moments in one of the Lion's chairs will convince you that even the pace on Main Street is a little too frantic, and you'll get up vowing to take things a little more easily.

The only improvements we might suggest are a few tables, white-uniformed waiters, a genial "mine host" and a sign hanging from one of the trees, reading "Ye Old New Ark Inn"—and don't forget the beer.

Feeling is running high in the Ashley Road section, we understand, against an unprincipled hockey-pokey man. He styles himself the "Humpty Dumpty" ice cream man and comes around every evening, tinkling his bell in a merry way, all nods and becks and deceptive smiles.

Actually, they say, he is an irresponsible old hypocrite, who is practically a neighborhood plague. He has placed Ashley Road on the tail end of his rounds and never shows up until all the kids are in bed.

No sooner do weary and harassed parents sit down for their "first free moment," than the awful tolling of the Humpty-Dumpty man's bell is heard. Immediately outcries and pleadings are heard from bedrooms up and down the street. Mothers rush to quiet the hubbub, while fathers bound to the front door to make threatening gestures at the Humpty-Dumpty man.

The latter, of course, mistakes these for a signal to stop, and he pulls up to the curb, ringing his bell louder and beaming more graciously than ever.

The upshot is the fathers either have to stomp out, buy an ice cream cone, and cram it as quickly as possible down their youngun's throats, or take a firm stand, wave the Humpty-Dumpty man on, and let their kids sob themselves ice-creamless to sleep.

Things are reaching a critical stage, and the fathers are meeting nightly to map strategy. Reports are this will include street barricades, man traps, and armed bands of vigilantes.

The kids, we hear, are rooting for the Humpty-Dumpty man, who, they insist, is really a noble fellow. They say he will find some way to run this blockade of nicklepinching parents.

HEN NINE TO MEET LEHIGH BEFORE OLD GRADS HERE AT 'HOMECOMING DAY' ON SAT.

Shack Martin's Men Still Top Mid-State Race After 6-0 Triumph Over Swarthmore; Golfers Continue Their Winning Pace With Win Over Temple

The University of Delaware's baseball and golf teams have continued their torrid pace, with both teams leading their groups in Middle Atlantic States competition.

Delaware grads, looking forward to their spring reunion here Saturday, will have the opportunity to see but one of the Blue Hen teams in action—that of Coach Shack Martin's baseball nine, against the Lehigh Engineers. The lacrosse and tennis teams will play away from home that day, the netmen at Philadelphia against Temple and the stickmen at Swarthmore.

Delaware Park Sets Earlier Post Time

2 O'Clock Post Time Will Get Patrons Home Earlier

Continuing its policy of serving "the man in the street" by getting him home earlier, Delaware Park will have a new and earlier post time for the forthcoming meeting beginning May 23 and running 32 continuous racing days. There will be no dark Mondays at Delaware this year.

Following a study of the conditions governing the attendance of Philadelphia patrons, from which city the track receives the bulk of its attendance, the decision was made for a 2 o'clock post time. It also was found more popular among Wilmingtonians, as well as among those from Washington and Baltimore.

In announcing the change, Bryan Field, vice-president and general manager of Delaware Park, said that this will mark the third time in five years that Delaware's post time has been advanced in the interest of the "man in the street" so that he may get home earlier. The first post time advancement was in 1945 when it was moved to 3 o'clock from 3:30. Two years later, in 1947, it was advanced to 2:30 o'clock.

Heretofore, lateness kept away racegoers, or curtailed their stays, since it would be long past the dinner hour upon arrival back home. However, with the new post time, Philadelphians, especially those coming to the track by train, will be back in the Quaker City by 6:30 o'clock at the latest.

Delaware Park is unique in that it serves many cities in addition to Wilmington, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. The races here attract daily "regulars" via the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad from Plainfield and Elizabeth, N. J., and from Trenton and New Brunswick via the Pennsylvania.

Girls' Softball Team Downs Mt. Pleasant

The remainder of the schedule: May 12—Conrad, away.
May 18—A. I. duPont, away.
May 19—Mt. Pleasant, away.
May 24—New Castle, home.

8-Teams Enter Town Softball Loop Race To Start On June 1

Deadline For Team Entries Is May 24; To Play 3 Nights Weekly On NHS Field

An 8-team community softball league will move into action here on Wednesday, June 1, playing double headers on the high school athletic field three nights weekly throughout the summer.

The league, being organized by the Newark Recreation Association under Harry Rawstrom, director, will be self-supporting this year. Team entries are being accepted until May 24. The circuit is being financed through a $30 entrance fee required of each team. Allan Smith has been elected treasurer.

The Red Men, league title holders the past two years, do not plan to enter a team this season, according to Rawstrom.

Clubs and their managers already lined up for the race are: the Braves under Roland Rich; Korner Ketch, Ralph Keyes; Blue Jays, Preston Fulton; Indians, Walter Jackson; Knights of Pythias, Allan Smith; Newark AA, Angie Cataldi; Spiders, Charles Wollaston; Veterans of Foreign Wars, Kinsey Reynolds.

Teams interested in entering a club should notify Mr. Rawstrom before the May 24 deadline. His headquarters are in the Athletic Department, University of Delaware.

League rules and other details for the season's competition have already been drafted at several meetings of the team managers. The 1949 official softball rules will apply, with a few minor exceptions.

A special league rule forbids players to switch teams. New players may join the league after the race is underway but they must not have played with any competing team.

Two games will be played every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday starting at 7 p. m. As in former years, the race will be divided into two rounds with the play-offs late in August.

Plans are also underway for organizing a hardball league for younger players.

3 Seen As Finalists In NHS Ping-Pong Tourney

James Bueche, Bill Knotts and Cliff Gray loom as the finalists in the ping-pong tournament which is drawing to a close at the Newark High School.

Favorite for the title honors is Gray, who has led the competition from the start.

NEWARK BLASTS HICKORY HILL, 19-3, IN SLUGFEST SUNDAY; 3RD WIN IN ROW

Home Club Pounds Out 17 Hits, 8 For Extra Bases In Routing 3 Visiting Hurlers; Team Still Undefeated In Pen-Mar League

The Newark AA reduced Hickory Hill to a small mound Sunday here, battering the visitor's with 17 hits and driving the hurlers from the box.

The final count was 19-3, which gave Newark its third straight triumph against no losses in Pen-Mar League competition.

It was one of those rare days for the local sluggers, who couldn't seem to keep their bats out of the way of pitched balls. Eight of the club's 17 hits were of the extra base variety.

Next Sunday, Newark travels to Providence for its first counter with that club this season. The Newark entry in the League will meet Glasgow on Saturday and will follow up Sunday with a contest on the Newark Field at 1 p. m. with Newport.

Against Hickory Hill, Newark's growing following saw the home team get down to business in the opening inning. Gene Schaen started things with a single. Spider Challenger singled, scoring Schaen. Donovan singled, scoring another single. Two more runs scored on Bayle's double to right center.

Action continued full tilt in the second inning, when Harvey Gregg singled, scoring Schaen. Donovan singled, scoring another single. Two more runs scored on Bayle's double to right center.

In an effort to stem the tide Hickory Hill substituted Red Barrett for Donovan on the mound at the start of the third inning. Barrett managed to retire Lynch fly to center, then the fireworks broke loose again, with singles in rapid succession by Harvey Gregg, Gene Schaen and Hook. Then with bases loaded, Bobby Gregg stepped to pole one over the left center line for four more runs.

For the home team, Harvey Gregg had four hits in five times at bat; the being doubles, George Schaen had two for five, with two doubles.

The scores:

Philosopher, Author To Talk Here May 19

Irwin Edman To Speak At Honors Day Program

Irwin Edman, professor of philosophy at Columbia University and author of numerous books in his field, will be the speaker when the annual Honors Day is held May 19 at the University of Delaware.

The program, at 1 p. m. in Mitchell Hall, will recognize students' outstanding achievements in scholarship. Several prizes and awards will be presented, and membership in honorary organizations will be announced.

At this meeting, Professor Edman will discuss a life governed by reason in an era of disorganization. He also will meet in the evening with members of the various honorary societies.

Dr. Herbert E. Newman, chairman of the committee on student honors, said that all members of the faculty and the students listed on the "Deans List" had been especially invited, but that the program would be open to all persons.

Evans' Estate Gifts To Memorial Library

For the first time since the old Pestalozzi Literary Society of Delaware College expired with the end of the college's early coeducation period 64 years ago, books from the society's library have passed into the possession of a "successor," the Memorial Library of the University of Delaware.

William D. Lewis, librarian for the university, said that two books which once were in the Pestalozzi library, had been received from the estate of Miss Lena Evans, Miss Evans, a life-long resident of Newark who died Jan. 1, was a member of the society during her own Delaware College student days.

The books are "Men and Manners in America One Hundred Years Ago," edited by H. E. Scudder, published by Scribner's in 1876, and "A Compendium of Grecian Antiquities," by C. D. Cleveland, published by Hiliard in 1838.

The Pestalozzi Society, named to honor Johann Heinrich Pestalozzi, Swiss educational reformer, was a young women's literary group which for about a decade paralleled the Delta Phi and Athenaeum societies, the better-known organizations of men students. Pestalozzi existed from approximately 1876 to 1885, when the coeducation experiment was abandoned, according to Mr. Lewis.

In addition, the Memorial Library received a manuscript catalog of all the approximately 100 books which constituted the Pestalozzi library, together with the names of all students who borrowed volumes. There also is the manuscript copy of the society's constitution. The various books and papers apparently were left with Miss Evans when the society disbanded, to the vain hope that she, as a Newark resident, might be able to help it reorganize if coeducation ever returned.

Other material received from Miss Evans' estate included 34 small manuscript volumes of notations made by her father, George G. Evans, in account books and other business records as long as a century ago.

Records of a brickyard operated in the 1840's by Mr. Evans on a site where The Knoll now is situated, show that bricks were made there for St. Thomas' Episcopal Church and for old Presbyterian Church which was on East Main Street where St. John's Catholic Church now stands. They indicate too, that other buildings in Newark made with bricks from the Evans yard include the present College Inn structure. The library also acquired a dozen account books of the Evans general store which was in that building, where the Poffenberger photographic studio now is located.

Fluorine

gleaned from reports from other communities, as well as material published by the U. S. Health Department. Dr. Francis Cramer, another Biochemical chemist who went to Newburgh, investigated types of equipment in use in some 12 towns throughout the United States. His findings were also made available to the P-T. A. health committee.

In addition to Dr. Smith, members of the P-T. A. health group, who have approved the plan, are: Walter J. Wassmer, chairman, Colonel L. A. Zimmer, P-T. A. president; Frederic Stiegler, P-T. A. publicity chief and a chemical engineer; C. M. Olsen, chemist; Leighton Jackson, vice-president of both the local and New Castle County P-T. A. and also a chemist; and Mrs. W. O. Skold, P-T. A. mother.

Dr. P. K. Musselman, local dentist, who first proposed the project here, and Dr. Cramer, were also present as consultants when the health committee approved the plan. The fact that the group includes a number of chemists qualified to make a responsible judgement of their data on fluorine indicates the plan may be received with favor by the P-T. A. at large next Thursday.

During its investigations, the health committee uncovered a number of interesting facts on the use of fluorine throughout the U. S. The group found that no less than 23 towns are now introducing or making a close study of the plan. They are: Grand Rapids, Mich.; Madison, Wis.; Elkorn, Wis.; Evanston, Ill.; Salisbury, Conn.; Ottowa, Kan.; Lewiston, Id.; Marshall, Tex.; Charlotte, N. C.; Shebeyan, Wis.; and Brantford, Ont. Reports from some of these towns are expected in a series of articles soon to be published.

Further findings of the P-T. A. group show that no harmful effects have been detected from the use of fluorine in drinking water. The amount approved is one part fluorine to one million parts water. In more graphic terms, this would be one ounce fluorine to 10,000 gallons of water. Thus its presence is not noticeable and imparts neither taste nor odor to the water.

With this percentage, the reports indicate that some reduction in childhood tooth decay occurs.

Mr. Wassmer, the P-T. A. health chairman, also said that should the system be installed in Newark some assistance could be expected from the U. S. Public Health Service in tabulating results and in comparing the carries rate here with other nearby communities not using fluorine. In this way, a constant check would be kept on the results of the project.

Mr. Wassmer further stated that, when used in the amounts suggested, no harmful effects from fluorine have been detected. He added that "It is known that fluorine has been present in drinking water in various parts of the country since at least 1914 when it was first noticed, and from various articles published, it appears that those who live in these sections have fewer dental cavities than those living in sections where no fluorine is present."

Records of a brickyard operated in the 1840's by Mr. Evans on a site where The Knoll now is situated, show that bricks were made there for St. Thomas' Episcopal Church and for old Presbyterian Church which was on East Main Street where St. John's Catholic Church now stands. They indicate too, that other buildings in Newark made with bricks from the Evans yard include the present College Inn structure. The library also acquired a dozen account books of the Evans general store which was in that building, where the Poffenberger photographic studio now is located.
