Highway Policeman Hurt In Collision With Auto Saturday Night

Alfred Wardle in Delaware Hospital Following Crash on Outskirts of Newark

PROVIDENCE MAN HELD

The condition of Officer Wardle is greatly improved, according to advices from the hospital in Wilmington. He is suffering with a dislocated shoulder, bruises and cuts. When first examined, it was said he was badly hurt internally. It is reported that he will be able to leave the hospital in a few days.

Thrown fifteen feet in the air when his motorcycle was sideswiped by a small touring car driven by Harvey Moore, of Providence, Md., early Saturday evening, Alfred Wardle, State Highway Policeman for this district, was badly hurt and narrowly escaped death a few hundred yards east of the town limits.

Young Moore immediately gave himself up to local police and is being held in jail for a hearing after Wardle recovers. Bail was furnished by Fred Strickland, a close friend of the boy and his family.

Immediately following the accident, Wardle was rushed to the office of Dr. Pearson here, and after preliminary attention, was taken to the Delaware Hospital by J. A. McKelvey. A belief that the young officer was fatally hurt spread among those who carried him from the doctor's office to the car. He was only partly conscious when he left here.

According to young Moore, he was proceeding east following a couple of cars, when, as he turned out to pass them, he saw the motorcycle booming down upon him. Both he and Wardle tried to avoid the collision, but the Moore car struck the rear of the officer's machine, throwing it over, and flinging Wardle through the air. The force of the collision also turned the Moore car completely around, dished one wheel and blew out all four tires.

Francis M. Clough, of Wilmington, who was passing at the time, saw the accident and rushed Wardle to the doctor's here. Moore aided in every way following the accident, and reported at once to Chief Lewis.

Wardle is a son of Captain Wardle, of the Wilmington police department, and was only recently appointed to the Highway Police to aid Officer Jones in patrolling this section. He is said to have been married but a few months.

The date for the hearing rests upon the recovery of the injured officer.

It is understood that the Curtis Mill is still working on a part-time basis, owing to lack of orders.

Spirit of Mark Twain Lives Again; This Time on Old Choate Street

The Great and Awe-Inspiring "Travelin' Carnival" Reveals A Half Dozen Tom Sawyers Here

We are privileged to announce through the columns of The Post that the Great and Wonderful Choate Street Travelin' Carnival came to an end promptly on the stroke of nine Saturday evening last.

It may also be stated with safety that the Carnival was a howling success.

No matter where you were early Saturday evening, you were in the wrong place. If you were on Quality Hill, Milford Cross Roads, or at the Post Office—it makes no difference—there was a better place to have been.

You missed the rarest treat of the summer when you missed that "show" on upper Choate Street, on a vacant lot two doors from Tom Springle's house. You missed something which would have set your blasé old heart to beating a little faster, something which would have swept the wrinkles off your face, and the tired thoughts of a tired life from your brain.

For there on Choate Street was youth triumphant. Memories of those glorious hours with Mark Twain's immortal boys hovered over the little grass-grown lot. Too bad, you folks were so busy; sorry you roared past the little scrawling sign at Choate and Main Streets, calling attention to the big event. Too much to do—in an awful hurry, weren't you? But the wrinkles were still there, and the "old" feeling too. You would have lost them both on Choate Street, folks.

ANOTHER LOCAL BOY SAILS THE DEEP SEA

Henry Townsend Off Saturday For Ports in Spain And England

Newark is well represented upon the high seas this summer; the number now under sail was augmented Saturday last when Henry, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Townsend, Jr., of this place, sailed from Philadelphia aboard the S. S. "Powell," a freighter. He was accompanied on the trip by Paul Wardenburg, a schoolmate from Wilmington.

The two boys are scheduled to make two round trips between America and foreign ports before they leave the boat. The first trip will be to England, and later in the summer, the "Powell" sails for Spanish ports. The boys are working their way back and forth and are set for some rare experiences.

Henry has been waiting notice from the steamship company for some time. On Friday last he received notice to report on the boat Saturday in Philadelphia. Hastily packing a few old clothes and necessities, he was off Saturday morning, and that afternoon, the "Powell" slipped her moorings and dropped down the Delaware, headed for the open sea.

BIG GUERNSEY SHIPMENT

J. K. Johnston and J. I. Dayett Bought 51 Head in Wisconsin Last Week

J. Irvin Dayett, of Cooch's Bridge, and John K. Johnston, of Newark, returned home last Thursday from a trip through the stock country of Wisconsin. While in the western State they bought 51 pure bred and grade Guernsey cows and heifers.

The cattle were unloaded at the Dayett farm Monday afternoon in good shape, and will be pastured there temporarily. Messrs. Dayett and Johnston are offering them for sale to dairymen of the community. The advertisement appears in another column of The Post this week.

TO EXHIBIT POULTRY

Several local poultrymen, including William E. Renshaw and Clyde Robinson, are getting ready to show some choice fowls at the Kent-Sussex Fair at Harrington, early next month. The Newark fanciers usually bring home several prizes wherever they go, and it is hoped that this year will be no exception.

WILL YOU HELP?

Battery "E", Newark's Company of National Guard, needs twenty men to bring it up to the required number before the Battery can go to Camp on August 1st. Will the town authorities—the Chamber of Commerce—And you, Mr. Manufacturer—and Mr. Merchant—and you, Father and you Mother, stand by and see "our Company" miss going to camp and lose our Federal recognition and disband? Newark's Company of National Guard has trained some of the best soldiers that ever followed "The Flag," and some of her men have received the highest decorations that "Uncle Sam" has to offer. But we need your assistance. Will you help?

VOTERS REGISTERED HERE ON SATURDAY

Slightly over 300 persons eligible to vote at the coming November elections were registered and given their authority at the first Registration Day last Saturday. While 300 is considered light, some observers say that it was better than usual and presages a heavy registration on subsequent dates.

The unofficial returns from the three districts of the Ninth Representative District are as follows: first district (Deer Park Hotel), 111; second district (Washington House), 130; third district (Currinder's store), 60.

There are said to be 800 eligible voters in the first and second districts. The women of the town and community were particularly noticeable by their absence from the registration booths.

DRIVER GOES ON AFTER STRIKING COUPE HERE

Accident on Elkton Road Sunday Night Results in Narrow Escapes

Constable Ellison is on the hunt of a Delaware car, the license number of which he is said to have, which figured in a collision with a Ford coupe loaded with four young people, on Elkton Road near Mackenzie and Strickland's garage, last Sunday evening.

According to witnesses of the affair, the coupe was struck a glancing blow by the larger car, enroute north, and overturned on the roadside, throwing the two young men and two ladies out. One of the ladies was injured slightly about the back, and a man was cut and bruised. Otherwise they escaped injury. That they were lucky to escape death in the crash was affirmed by one witness.

A passing motorist, seeing the accident, chased the big car towards Elkton, but was unable to halt it. The license number was taken, however, and action is likely to be brought against the owner or driver for failure to stop after an accident. Constable Ellison is working on the case. The occupants of the Ford coupe refused to give their names.

DEVIL'S GRIPPE HERE

Between thirty and fifty cases of the summer malady, known as "devil's grippie," are being treated in Newark and vicinity, according to reports this morning. It is said that one doctor is treating seventeen cases alone.

The ailment is said to be preceded by intestinal cramp, followed usually by fever. A peculiar phase of the disease is said to be the fact that on the second or third day, the patient feels much better and is ready to get about again, when the symptoms return in a form of relapse.

The malady is not considered a dangerous one, but in most cases drives the victim to bed for a few days.

FIND STOLEN CAR IN WOODS EAST OF TOWN

William Cole Reports Finding To Magistrate; Owner To Claim It

An Overland touring car, model 1923, in good condition, was found on Friday afternoon last in Lum's woods, just off the Lincoln Highway, on the outskirts of Newark. Later developments gave assurance to the fact that it was stolen early last week from a Baltimore man, and was abandoned here.

The discovery was made by William Cole, of this town, while walking through the woods Friday. Later in the afternoon he reported the fact to Magistrate Thompson, and accompanied the latter back to the woods. The car was in good running condition with the keys still in it, and was driven to Fader's garage for storage pending the arrival of the owner from Baltimore. The car had evidently been run down the bank from the highway, carefully concealed and abandoned.

An exchange of telegrams between police and Baltimore authorities revealed that the car was stolen. The owner was expected to arrive here early this week to claim it.

Report Wheat Yields Good Near Newark; Corn Outlook Fair

Threshermen Start Annual Drive This Week—Quality Said to be Off

CORN CROP VERY LATE

With the start this week of the threshing outfits on their annual rounds of farms in this locality, local people are watching with more than ordinary interest the results of the wheat yield in the lower part of the county.

Perhaps the first farm finished this week was that of Samuel Murray, along the Elkton Road west of Newark. According to reports, Mr. Murray's wheat yielded him about 25 bushels to the acre. In one field, the yield jumped to 29 bushels.

The reports of most of the farmers are not yet available, as the threshing has not been completed. Down around Delaware City the wheat is said to be yielding between 25 and 28 bushels.

Another nearby farm busy with threshing this week is that of James F. Lum, just east of Newark. Down in Pencader Hundred, farmers report excellent prospects.

Among the threshing outfits, perhaps the hardest working bunch is that of Frank Palmer, who has several machines on the road now.

From opinions expressed around Buckingham's store, the meeting place of many farmers here, and from John F. Richards, it appears that 1924 wheat is in good shape, fair quality and will run heavy in yield.

Corn Is Late

On the other hand, the corn situation in this section is reported to be pretty bad. Hardly a field, except those on very high ground, has escaped the bad washings caused by the recent heavy rains.

The crop is anywhere from two to four weeks late, according to the luck in planting, and the coming of harvest time has hindered in a large measure the proper cultivation of the fields.

All in all this has been a hard year on the local farmers, and if the reports of the wheat situation are correct, it will mark the first real ray of light in an otherwise gloomy outlook.

SHERIFF GETS WOMAN ON THEFT CHARGE

Margaret Kramer Taken Back To Caroline County Friday Last

Margaret Kramer, aged about 25 years, who has been living with relatives in Deandale for the past week, was arrested here last Friday at noon, charged with the theft of several dresses and other goods from a store in Denton, Md., some time ago.

Sheriff Temple, of Caroline County, Md., accompanied by Chief Lewis, visited the Deandale residence, walked in and found the Kramer woman sitting at the table at dinner. Upon questioning, she denied having possession of any dresses, but later admitted that she had brought them to Newark with her. She then went upstairs and got two gowns. They fitted the samples which Sheriff Temple had with him, and without further investigation, she was loaded into the Sheriff's car and taken back to Denton.

It is said that the prisoner had been visiting a sister in Denton at the time of the alleged theft, and had been traced to Newark. Owing to lack of authority in Delaware, Sheriff Temple had the warrant served by Chief Lewis. It is also said that Mrs. Kramer is separated from her husband, and lived here with relatives.

Other young ladies from this town who will spend several weeks at the camp are: Misses Josephine Hossinger, Agnes Miller, Dorothy Blockson and Lydia Kenning. Miss Nell Edwards, of Macon, Georgia, a guest of Miss Shaw, is also one of the party.

Cecil County Fair Project Doomed; Rudolph Farm To Be Sold Aug. 11

Mortgage Sale Kills Off Race Boom There Before The Turnstiles Click In One Admission

COMES AS CLIMAX TO BITTER CONTROVERSEY

Cecil County still remains free from race tracks.

With the announcement of a mortgage sale of the 377 acre Rudolph Farm, between Glasgow and Elkton, said sale to be held at the court house door in the latter town on August 11th next, the last faint glimmer of hope for the establishment of a racing plant and fair grounds in Old Cecil, flutters and goes out.

The project has ran the gamut of every emotion peculiar to such things. No more talked of topic ever reached Elkton than the Cecil County Fair phantom last Fall.

From a modest beginning, in which the farm was quietly bought by a group of Elkton and Wilmington sportsmen, the project took life and leaped to completion. Buildings were erected, a half mile track was laid out, scores of workmen labored at high speed all through the late summer, and in August, large red and white posters appeared all over the surrounding territory, advertising the big event. Scheduled to run five days, the Fair never had a spectator.

Strong Opposition

Neither the merits of the proposed Fair, nor its demerits, are to be discussed here. Sufficient to say, however, that the course of the project never ran smooth. Old residents in Cecil sensed another Havre de Grace. They not only sensed it but they believed it.

The promoters of the project, headed by Harvey Mackey, J. Wirt Willis, Roy Freck, of Wilmington, J. B. Decker and others, were made the subjects of attacks. The church people, the farmers, the granges, in fact a host of the "conservatives" of the county fought tooth and nail against the Fair. Speeches were delivered at farmers' meetings, women's clubs, town councils; in fact everywhere, the topic was discussed pro and con. No more active and fearless champion of the cause of the anti-racing element could be found in those days than Frank B. Evans, prominent farmer of Elkton. Mr. Evans made speech after speech against the project, and swayed scores of people.

But the signs still stayed up, and visitors flocked to the mysterious farm along the Glasgow road. Pressed for a statement Mr. Mackey, on behalf of the Fair promoters said that the event would be a regular county fair, and that gambling would not be allowed. But even this did not convince the conservatives, and the battle still raged. Indeed, it was reminiscent of the old time political fights which have in the past shaken old Cecil to her very foundations.

Fair Suddenly Stopped

Then came the fall elections to the General Assembly. The expected happened. From reports received from authoritative sources in Elkton, it appears certain that if the delegates sent to Annapolis at that time favored the Fair, there would have been racing there last Spring.

It was the last hope of the promoters. To wield an influence in the Assembly far outweighed any attempt to sway the Racing Commission personally.

But the voters seemed to see through it again, and again went to work with a vengeance. Every candidate for office was grilled on his position on two questions—the Fair and Prohibition. From all reports, a sweating, weary bunch of candidates went down the home stretch into November.

The vote sent Conservatives to Annapolis, and kept those said to be in favor of the fair project, at home tending the furnace.

Sad or Funny?

Far be it from us to take issue with a Bayard. Being originally from Sussex County, we can't understand this, because by nature, environment and training, a Sussex Countian will take issue with anything or anybody, but at the same time he has a reverence for position and history, and so he always hesitates to contradict a Bayard. And then the position of United States Senator causes one from the lower county to show a certain peculiar respect and reverence. But this present generation and Senator, with tie a-flowing leads us to be flippant and humour down seriousness.

Seriously, we just don't know how to take him. If we take him seriously it is sad; if we take him flippantly we just "bust" out laughing. He is against nature herself and no radio fan dares dispute it. First, at the convention he nominated Saulsbury as the choice of a "United and Unanimous Democracy from Delaware"—something, of course, unheard of even in Delaware. There were those of the delegates "who snickered up their sleeve" when casting their vote, and Mr. Bayard knew it when he spoke. Had he used the word "instructed" it would have been well and true, but the words he did use are either false or funny; seriously, we don't know which. Then, last week he addressed a meeting of Democrats in Wilmington and said that the convention in New York was not the "helter-skelter affair as some would have you believe, but a calm, deliberate convention which was not dominated by cliques." Although a Bayard—and we remember the Bayard of history—we must either laugh or take issue with him. Every reporter, every observer, every visitor, every delegate to the convention challenges Mr. Bayard's statement. The most prejudiced, partisan, rabid, radical, hide-bound, Democratic paper in the United States has said that it was a meeting in which the dominant words were hate, religious oppression, race prejudice, sectional bitterness and selfish ambitions, as were unseen and unheard of even in the stress and strife of the Civil War days.

The convention was serious, funny, ridiculous—and critical. It passed through all these stages and reached a point where hundreds of plain clothes men tramped the while to suppress any outbreak of inflated passion that was there. At one time there was a real, genuine fear for life and property, and we believe that Mr. Bayard himself had that fear and was one of the few cool-headed and sane men present, yet he will return and thus express himself that it was no helter-skelter affair, when they hissed the peerless, fearless and perennial leader, three times a candidate for the highest office in these United States, off the platform.

Senator Bayard tells us that the convention was calm and deliberate when time and again a broken gavel flew from the platform, one time sending a victim to the hospital. Is it sad or funny? Will not Delaware excuse Sussex in taking issue with a Bayard? Accept not our words alone, but those of any editor, any candidate, any delegate—or take nature herself, with those mysterious waves, known in electricity, sent out over the radio.

Is Bayard sad or funny? It is a serious question—really serious.

A Motto for Future Conventions

Suggested by Lawrence F. Abbott after attending the Democratic Exhibit in New York.

"Whatsoever politician hath sincerity, to him shall be given the votes and he shall have delegates in abundance; but whosoever hath not sincerity, from him shall be taken away even the delegates that he hath."

The La Follette Convention

The motives and grievances of the Cleveland Convention, and therefore its platform were originally outlined in the First Book of Samuel, chapter xxii, verse 2, as follows:

"And everyone that was in distress, and everyone that was discontented gathered themselves unto him; and he became captain over them; and there were with him four hundred men."

Chas. for Vice

Frankly, as perhaps too usual, we had begun to think there was no fun left in the world, as maybe we had intimidated somewhat furtively to you discerning readers of this public journal.

Well, we were wrong; there is fun and, praise be, there may be more; goodness knows we need it. But it is not of the future that we would speak; it is of the present, in confident realization that, so to remark, one illegally captured Potomac bass is worth two unshot quail in the bush.

Not because we wish to do so and not because it appeals to us as seemly, we laugh; we cannot help it. Kindly give attention for one moment and think of John W. Davis agreeing to bribe William Jennings Bryan with a silly nomination of Brother Chas. for Vice-President. It must have been the heat or the excitement—or with dark suspicion, may we suggest, the deliberate intention—of certain so-called interests to make both the calling and the defeat of the ticket sure.

We neither know nor care. What does fascinate us is that William Jennings accepted the bribe. Not that we blame him for doing so. Not at all. It is axiomatic that all men and a few women have their price. But William Jennings! Tut, tut! It seems incredible. And yet, immediately following the nomination of Mr. Davis, Mr. Bryan said to a reporter for Mr. Ogden Reid's excellent paper:

"A colored preacher said to his congregation: 'Bred-dern, we have two courses openin' up before us; one leading to death and the other to destruction. I think, bred-dern, we'll have to take to de woods.' The progressive Democrats of the country are in that predicament with Mr. Davis and Mr. Coolidge. They will have to take to the woods."

Then they nominated Brother Chas. and William Jennings summoned the Hearst reporters and, looking as solemn as the portrait published with apologies in Wednesday's Washington Post, said:

"I shall support the ticket." He would say no more. He actually shut his mouth in emulation of the traditional clam. He might "amplify" later at the expense of Mr. Hearst and the joy of Mr. Brisbane, but he wasn't sure; he would have to think about it.

Now there is nothing particularly amusing about that. It is

IDA M. TARBELL TALKS TO LOCAL AUDIENCE

Greatest Biographer of Lincoln Reveals Many New Thoughts

Introduced as "bearing the distinction of having talked to more people who knew Lincoln than any person living today," Miss Ida M. Tarbell spoke last night to a capacity audience in Wolf Hall.

Miss Tarbell analyzed the sources of Lincoln's political development, beginning with the Bible. "There is little doubt," she said, "that from his life-long study of the Bible he got the idea, which we find throughout all his spoken and written words, that a democracy, if it is to succeed, must be a great brotherhood. From the Bible he got tolerance for his enemies, practical charity, things which must be applied in the development of a brotherhood of man."

Again, Lincoln grew because he had a great faculty of self-correction. Lincoln's fight against slavery from 1856-60 provides for the world a marvelous technique for the citizen to fight the things that he believes to be wrong. "Too often we are unable to change when the scenes shift. Lincoln never failed. After having learned new things and gained new light to admit that he was wrong. Starting out to fight slavery, as soon as it became evident to him that the great thing was to save the Union, he hesitatingly and fearlessly stated his position."

Miss Tarbell analyzed the sources of "A study and knowledge of Lincoln today and a practice of that knowledge in citizenship is our greatest need," said Miss Tarbell.

nation. And yet there isn't one phase of our life at the present time that can continue without idealism."

"The idealist," Dr. Dewart said, "is one who listens to one voice above all other voices, and perhaps against all other voices of the universe—the still small voice within—the voice of the living God that lives in every soul."

The concert which preceded the regular services, given by Miss Vera Curtis, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York City, and soloist of the Brick Presbyterian Church, New York, proved the greatest musical event of the entire Summer School series. Particularly the number, "Trees," by Kilmer, was enjoyed by everyone.

Confidence in the genuineness of the reductions—the savings! The tags are marked with regular prices NOW. In a few days the August tags will be on and it's an easy matter to make comparisons. YEAST IS SALVATION OF GROWING CHICKS

"The baby chicks may be smart little fellows from strong parent stock," reads a government bulletin on poultry raising, "and they may have been brooded carefully for the first two or three weeks, but unless they receive proper care and management during their later growing period they will not develop properly, and many of them will be lost by sickness or disease."

Realization of this fact has led to recent widespread experimentation in the feeding of growing chicks. With the aim of "uniform, continuous

MARYLAND TO MAKE SURVEY OF GAS TANKS

Comptroller Gordy To Thereby Fix Gasoline Tax

A survey to determine the source of supply of gasoline filling stations throughout Maryland, with the purpose of fixing the State gasoline tax on all wholesale dealers doing business in the State, will be started this week by order of William S. Gordy, Jr., State Comptroller.

The survey is pursuant to an act of the last Maryland Legislature authorizing the use of a fund of not more than $2,500 to be taken from the gasoline tax for this purpose.

Mr. Gordy will be assisted by State police, who are acquainted with all filling stations throughout the State. There may be some gasoline dispensers who, through ignorance of the law rather than a desire to evade it are not complying with the tax requirements, the Comptroller explained.

All wholesalers doing a gasoline business in Maryland, Mr. Gordy said, are liable to the State tax of 2 cents. Distributors operating outside the State cannot be held liable but the first man or firm handling the gasoline after it is brought into the State must pay the tax. Only by check of the filling stations can the identity of wholesalers be ascertained, it was pointed out.

The survey will include not only the name of the wholesaler furnishing the filling station, but also the amount purchased and sold by the stations. This will allow a double check when sales of the wholesalers are examined.

growth from hatching time to maturity," as a popular authority puts it, investigators have successfully worked out very effective feeding programs.

In these new formulas, yeast, a relatively new element in poultry rations, has an important place. And the benefits achieved by adding it to the feed for baby chicks have been so remarkable that many poultrymen think it will soon become a regular part of chick mash where careful feeding is carried on.

And yet, they say, there is nothing mysterious about yeast-feeding. There are definite reasons for its amazing effect on growth and health.

First, it supplies, in the most highly concentrated form in all nature, the essential B-Vitamin, the vitamin of growth. Second, it acts on the other food in a way similar to digestion itself, making it easier for the chick to turn its food quickly into energy and flesh and sturdy bone.

There is small wonder, then, that poultrymen who have tried yeast-feeding are so enthusiastic about it. It has solved for them their only real problem. Housing and care are influences on the baby chicks' development which they have always been able to control. But proper feeding, they say, was an insoluble question until they began to add yeast to the feed.

MILFORD BUILDING A NEW FIREHOUSE

Milford, Del.—Bricklayers started work on the new fire house and community building for the Carlisle Fire Company on Wednesday of last week. The foundations for the building have been completed for several weeks, but it was necessary to wait until the masons had completed their work on the power house for the L. D. Caulk Company before active building operations could be started. The building will be of brick and will front on West Front street. The approximate dimensions are 90 by 96 feet. When completed it will be the largest fire house in the state. Room or all the equipment now owned by the company and all that they may purchase in the future has been provided. In addition to this there will be large drying rooms for the hose, ample club room for the members and a large auditorium larger than the Armory Hall floor space for other activities in the town.

The work on the building will be rushed and the firemen hope to have it under roof before cold weather sets in. All heavy loads in the structure will be carried on steel girders and beams. Since the project has been started a number of ways in which the total cost of construction can be lowered have been found. A large saving in the steel used on the building was made when the price made a sudden drop.

NEW OVERLAND COUPE AROUSES ENTHUSIASM

Unusual interest among feminine motorists has greeted Willys-Overland's announcement of its new two-passenger Overland Coupe. Not only is it a light car embodying the manifold advantages of the entire Overland line, but it combines with these a driving comfort and convenience almost incredible in a car of these dimensions.

Nowadays, with the male members of the family requiring the use of the car during the day, there is a definite need for a second car in a good many homes, a car that can be used for shopping and visiting by the women folks of the home.

The new coupe has proved itself to be ideally adapted for this purpose. Ventilating windshield, Dura window regulators, rear window curtains are little touches that appeal to feminine taste.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO BE A PART OF BIG PAGEANT

Event at Kent-Sussex Fair on August 1st Will See Many Pretty Floats

High school students taking agriculture from all over the State will make their annual pilgrimage to the University of Delaware on Farmers' Day, August 5th, at which time an "Identification Contest" with grain, vegetables and fruit crops will be held. This contest has been arranged for their special benefit and promises to be a very interesting and instructive affair. Prizes will be awarded to the three best students in the State who will be able to identify the greatest number of specimens out of the fifty selected.

The preliminary arrangements for the contest have been made by Dean Chas. McCue, Dean of the School of Agriculture; Professor Detjen, Head of the Horticultural Department; Mr. Horace Nunn, Agricultural Instructor of the Newark High School; and Professor R. W. Heim, State Supervisor for Agriculture. Mr. Nunn has been appointed chairman to complete the final arrangements. It is hoped that each boy will bring his father and mother with him to the University on Farmers' Day. An interesting program for adults has also been arranged.

The Smith Hughes activities in Agriculture and Home Economics promoted through the high schools of the State will be represented in the parade and pageant which will be held at the Kent-Sussex Fair at Harrington, Friday, August 1st. The Pageant, which is designed to depict ten years of agricultural progress in Delaware, would not be complete unless the many valuable contributions made by the high schools, are included. Amazing results have been obtained by the boys and girls who have taken the organized courses of instruction along agricultural and home economics lines offered in the high schools. These systematic courses were incorporated into the high school curricula of the State in 1917 when the Smith-Hughes Law was enacted. Since that time 1688 boys and 2400 girls of high school age have taken the courses. Agriculture and home-making practices in the various communities of the State have been affected considerably by the work done by the Agricultural and Home Economics teachers.

The high school students taking agriculture have received instruction in the technical and scientific phases of farming and have successfully demonstrated them in their home project work. The results obtained to date total over $88,000 worth of farm products entirely earned by the agricultural students as a part of their high school work.

The Home Economics students also have shown their ability in a practical way. During the short time that this work has been offered in the high schools of Delaware, 24,703 quarts of fruit and vegetables have been canned; 17,675 glasses of jelly have been made; 6,895 dresses have been made; 5,047 dresses have been renovated and 25,056 meals have been prepared.

In addition to this regular work, 758 garments have been made for the State Home for Feeble-minded girls at Stockley, and over 13,000 grade children in our public schools have been reached through the Nutrition program conducted by the Home Economics teachers.

SPEAKMAN HEAD OF STATE POULTRY SHOW

With the greater interest being taken in poultry raising throughout Delaware, lower Pennsylvania and the eastern shore of Maryland, the poultry exhibit being planned for the Delaware State Fair from September 9 to 13, promises to be the most interesting and attractive display ever seen at any Delaware State Fair. Charles C. Speakman, who has had many years of experience in poultry shows, is enthusiastic over the interest reported in the State Fair show and with his able assistants, S. Hallock du Pont, A. F. Wahl and Raymond M. Heald, all experienced poultrymen, expects to present poultry that will open the eyes of even the veteran amateur.

There will be sixteen classes with premiums for eggs added. Entries will close at 11 a. m. August 23, but all competitors are urged to have their entries in Mr. Speakman's hands long before that time. In varieties where there are 20 or more entries the premiums will be doubled.

The first class will be devoted to American birds under general heads. In the Asiatic classes there will be three general sub-divisions. For Mediterranean there are six general classifications. In English birds there are five general heads. With the Polish there is the one class with diversifications.

Hamburgs have one general class and French birds have four. There is a special division for Games and Game Bantams. Orientals with their usual attractions have three classes. Then there are the Ornamentals with eight divisions. There is also a class for the Silkies.

There are eleven divisions for ducks. Six sections for as many varieties of geese and a general class for turkeys. Then there is a class for non-standard kinds of poultry. Prizes are offered for the heaviest eggs and also for the best exhibit of eggs.

The judges of the exhibit will be Newton Cosh and William Hobbs which insure absolute equity and a square deal to all exhibitors. All entries must be received at the Fair grounds at Elsmere before 6 p. m. on September 8th, Standard Time.

From inquiries made of Mr. Speakman, who is superintendent of the show, the entries this year promises to far exceed those competing at any other Delaware State Fair exhibit.

BOY SCOUTS AT CAMP

The Newark Troop, No. 1, Boy Scouts, under command of Assistant Scout Master Houghton, left on Sunday for their annual trip to Caesar Rodney Camp along the lower Elk River. Scouts from all over this section of the country are encamped on that site and are in charge of expert leaders and instructors. The boys expect to stay about two weeks.

Stuck In The Well-Known "Mud"

(From the New York "Telegram")

The Democratic party is a party of peculiarities rather than a party of principles.

It has immense capabilities for doing the wrong things, or if it inadvertently does the right thing, of doing it the wrong way.

It has recently demonstrated that it can pick a good candidate, but in such a way and under such restrictions as to divorce the support to which the nominee might reasonably think himself entitled.

Nobody who knows John W. Davis, who is acquainted with his career and his record, has any doubt as to his individual capacity for the Presidency of this country.

But John W. Davis the individual and John W. Davis the Democrat are two quite different propositions.

Unfortunately you cannot consider Mr. Davis the individual without considering Mr. Davis the Democrat. You cannot vote for Mr. Davis the individual without voting for Mr. Davis the Democrat.

Mr. Davis as the Democratic nominee is in the position of an expensive, high-powered automobile stuck in the mud. He cannot even get himself out of the mire. He may spin the wheels of oratory and argument, but the mud of party record and of party failures furnishes him no good basis for traction. He's stuck.

BROOM—When purchasing a new broom press it to the floor. If it is a good broom the straw remains firm but if straws spread out and bend do not purchase it.

LOCAL BOYS FIND TRAIL HARD IN THE SOUTH

A young son of Rev. W. R. McElroy, of White Clay Creek Church, Gaylord Tweed, George Tweed and a youngster by the name of Mercer, all of Newark, are on their way home from a jaunt which carried them as far south as Raleigh, N. C., last week. The boys went on the trip for a lark, going in a car belonging to the parents of one of them. Leaving the car with relatives in Washington, they essayed to foot it further down into the southern states.

Not many days later, home folks received word from the pilgrims that they thought Newark wasn't such a bad town after all, and had it all over the South, and further announced their intention of coming right back to dear old Delaware. They are expected home any day now.

Plenty Of Eats And Exciting Sports Make Presbyterian Picnic Big Success

Showers Coming at Opening of Luncheon Last Thursday Fails to Dampen Anything But the Tables

WINNERS HAVE TO STEP TO BEAT OUT THEIR RIVALS

Despite a heavy shower which came just as the boys and girls and older folk were sitting down to lunch, the annual picnic of the Presbyterian Sunday School at Welsh Tract last Thursday refused to be dampened. True, some slight changes in plans were evident, and here and there one could see staid church members down on their hands and knees crawling under tables, or running in anything but a dignified manner for the nearest place of shelter.

But in a few minutes the skies cleared off, the tables were again spread and the party went on, more jolly than ever. A hot sun soon dried off the ground and after the bounteous picnic lunch, all hands took part in the sports and games.

Valuable Prizes Given
A feature of the sports program was the wealth of valuable and ornamental prizes given. Direct from Tiffany's they came to grace the occasion, and never were solid silver bowls fought for any harder than the spark plugs, shaving mugs, jack knives, and picture books at Welsh Tract last Thursday.

The results of the various events, received from Prof. Preston, general chairman of the affair, are as follows:

Quoit Match:

For Men—won by Mr. Cobb (shaving mug); Harry Williamson, second (watermelon).

For Women—Mrs. Malcom, 1st (loving cup); Mrs. Heim, 2nd (spark plug).

Hoop Throwing Contest:

For Men—won by Mr. Cobb (wax pear).

For Women—won by Mrs. Malcom (wax pear).

For Girls—won by Elinor Townsend (bathing cap).

Boys' Track Meet, 10 events:

Won by Harry Williamson (jack knife).

Girls' Track Meet, 6 events:

Won by Ann Chalmers (silver pencil).

"Eat Cracker and Whistle Contest":

Boys only—won by James Reynolds (spark plug).

Peanut Hunt, Beginners:

Boys—Paul Lovett, Jr. (picture book).

Primary:

Boys—Ernest Campbell (baseball mitt).

Girls—Doris Smith (parasol).

Several other events were listed to be held at the picnic, but time did not permit the finishing of all. Suggestions for new games were received by the committee and will be used for next year's plans.

Trucks and cars for the transportation of the kiddies and their chaperones to the picnic grounds were provided by the following local people:

A. F. Fader, Fred Strickland, Raymond Fader, Mrs. J. P. Cann, Daniel Thompson, Mrs. Spooner, Mrs. W. E. Holton, T. A. Baker, R. W. Heim, Mrs. Orville Little, Joseph McVey, A. C. Heiser, C. A. Bryan, Warren A. Singles, George W. Griffin, Mr. Nickerson and Miss Mary Steel.

SPIRIT OF MARK TWAIN LIVES AGAIN

Business was a bit dull as we drove up, but the sight of a customer threw the "grounds" into a bedlam of noise and bustle. The lemonade was given a furious stirring, the wheel spun, and the ballyhoo boys lined the fence. We were a bit flustered, not to say flattered, at the reception.

Director Cole had complete and absolute charge of the Wheel of Fortune. Not such a bad wheel as wheels go, but it did have a terrifying habit of stopping on one number and then dropping back three or four.

Mister Johnson on the left of the booth displayed to the world at large the leading feature of the Carnival—a beautifully wrought and highly polished piece of "alumineeyum" with which one might boil a couple of eggs, heat the baby's milk or perchance hang up at the pump as a dipper. No more gorgeous piece, we were informed, could be bought in the whole of Newark.

"And it's only five cents a chance," said Mr. Johnson. He stated that the thigmajig would be bestowed to somebody at the stroke of nine p. m. So that was that. But as Bert Williams would say, "It must have been somebody else, not me."

Ranged along one side of the packing-box booth were the novelty prizes, rapidly being depleted by turns of the wheel. Among other things we noticed three old golf balls, showing signs of terrible punishment, an Easter basket, with a little cotton chick in it, a few trays of home made fudge, writin' crayons and—oh, lots of things. It appeared that the clerical force had been picking at one of the fudge dishes, and when we protested, Mister Taylor promptly sold the rest to a small boy for three cents, meanwhile fixing a stare of unmitigated disdain upon our unfortunate countenance.

In Which the Black Cat Refused to Be Hit

But the Booth of Fortune wasn't the only attraction. Not by a long shot.

Over to one side was the "Hit the Cat If You Can" booth, presided over alternately by Mister Widdoes and Mister Johnson. We say alternately, for while Mister Widdoes was haranguing the thrower, Mister Johnson was usually on his knees under the fence, retrieving balls.

We tried ever so hard to hit the cat, but we didn't even flick its ear. All of which delighted the promoters. We were solemnly informed that if by any trick of Fate we were able to knock the pussy off her perch, we would get our money back, thus making it an endless chain. If our aim had been good, we could have thrown baseballs all night for five cents.

However, it was better so. For the poor stuffed cat, probably dragged from Sister's playhouse, deserved a better fate. We very nearly hit Mr. Widdoes on our last shot while he was tangled up in the wire fence, but, fortunately, we couldn't even hit him.

WEEKLY WEATHER OUTLOOK

Showers about middle and at end of week. Moderate temperature.

Tired and thirsty from the vain bombardment, we turned back to the stand, wondering—

"Have a glass of our best home-made lemonade. Three cents only. The best lemonade in two counties. Made in the shade, but not by an old maid. How many, please, how many?"

Just the thing! Three cents smacked the counter, and an instant later the lemonade was going down a dusty throat.

"Cold enough for you," ventured Mister Taylor, the Lemonade King.

"Plenty, sir; in fact, it's very cooling."

"Well, it orter be," opined our host, "it was made fresh this afternoon."

We choked suddenly, but assured him that it was only a seed in our throat.

In Which Is Told the Dreams of the Boys

We had done the whole works—even had some dandy fudge in our pocket. We should go to another appointment, but folks, you can't leave a place like that. It's so darned different. You feel your boyhood days coming back. Thoughts of other worlds tumble over each other in your mind.

So we hung over the old wire fence and chatted a few minutes longer with Mister Ringling Cole and his go-getters.

This, we were advised, was the first of what is hoped to be a series of annual Carnivals. (That's where the word "travelin'" comes in on the advertisements.) Maybe next year it will be Chapel Street, maybe over on Cleveland Avenue. But there's goin' to be one, they say, sure as shootin'.

We were proud to have been in on the ground floor of the institution, one of the early investors, so to speak.

Between sentences, their eyes wandered down Choate Street again and again. Yes, business was a bit dull. Not many folks around tonight. But that didn't keep the smiles back, nor the voices still. The Carnival at that very moment, sir, was an assured financial success. To be exact, the total receipts were $7.50 for three nights, including matinees.

What are they going to do with the money, you ask?

Well that's a bit of a secret, but we'll let it out this time. Mister Cole (with his associates, gravely nodding their approval) stated that the money was going towards a big tent, and with the tent will come a campin' party up the creek. And they're goin' to play Cowboy and Injun, go swimmin', fish for suckers and climb trees to their hearts content.

We hung over the fence and listened. We were in another world—the world which Mark Twain knew, and Booth Tarkington knew. And it's a world a thousand men in this community would like to know again. It's the World of Play.

But we're all too busy. We can't stop for foolishness like this. We'll keep our wrinkles, and our high speed bodies must go driving on.

But who among us would not give a year of his life to go "up the creek" with the Choate Street Travelling Carnival next month and play Cowboy and Injun?—T. R. D.

NEW CHEMIST NAMED TO SUCCEED L. W. TARR

Philip Myers, of Hudson, O., Will Take Up Work In September

Philip Myers, at present chief chemist in the laboratories of the Graselli Chemical Company in Cleveland, Ohio, will succeed Lester W. Tarr as chemist of the State Experiment Station here, it became known late last week.

Mr. Tarr has resigned his post, effective September 1st, and will take up his duties as the head of a newly formed department of chemistry at the Continental Fibre Co., of this place.

His successor, Mr. Myers, was a visitor in Newark the latter part of last week, and spent some time going over preliminary work with officials in Wolf Hall. Early in the Fall he will move with his wife and two children to Newark.

Mr. Myers is a graduate of the Case School of Applied Science in Ohio and has had remarkable success in his chosen profession. For some time he was employed in the laboratories of the du Pont Company, where Mr. Tarr became acquainted with him. He has done chemical work in several companies, now being in charge of the inorganic analytical laboratories of the Graselli Company.

While in Wilmington, some years ago, Mr. Myers was interested in all sports, and play a season or two with the champion Grace Church team of that city. Some months ago he suffered a fractured jaw when struck by a ball during a game at his home.

PARENT-TEACHER DAY BIG EVENT TOMORROW

Workers From All Over State to Gather Both Morning and Afternoon

Thursday, July 24, will be Parent-Teacher Day at the University of Delaware. Although the fact that the occasion falls in the midst of harvest, when the great mass of Parent-Teacher workers in rural Delaware are busy with the farm crops, it is certain that a representative group of field workers will be present to join hands with the teachers of Delaware.

The program includes an Executive Committee meeting in the morning in Wolf Hall at 10:30; a luncheon conference, planned by students in the classes in Rural Community Organization, under Mrs. E. C. Beverley, at which the subject for consideration will be, "Our University and Rural Delaware"; and an inspirational meeting in Wolf Hall at 2:30, featured by an address by Dr. McBrien, of the Department of Education, Indiana Teachers' College.

Dr. Walter H. Hulihan, president of the University, will preside at the luncheon, and there will be three minute speeches by faculty members and workers in the field of rural education.

Elkton Soundly Laced By Perryville 18-0

Railroaders Have Field Day
at Expense of Arrants and Reynolds

A bad accident marred the ball game between Perryville and Elkton last Saturday, when Nelson Jackson, substituted on the former team, suffered a fractured leg sliding into third base.

Jackson ran for Robinson, the Perryville pitcher late in the game, and on a hit to the outfield, tried to make third. The play was close and Jackson slid for the bag. His cleats caught and turned his angle, snapping a bone in his leg. He was immediately removed from the field and given medical aid.

Elkton took the worst beating of the season in the Susquehanna League last Saturday, when Perryville overwhelmed them under an 18-0 score. Hits of all sizes and kinds flew off the bats of the Railroaders, and fans became dizzy watching them race round and round the bases. Heart-rending as the spectacle was to the Elkton fandom present, some comfort was realized from the fact that Elkton did not have her full strength in the lineup, and that they just naturally had a bad day all round.

Three pitchers, "Old Man" Finn, Arrants, and later Reynolds, regularly third base, undertook to stem the tide of Perryville runs. But somehow all they could do was to throw the ball in there, and watch it sail back to some ungarded portion of the field.

The dodging tactics were prevalent in the very first inning, when the Railroaders batted in eight runs, and fans were pretty near ready to call out the firemen, when happily, the last man was put out. Then came four in the seventh and three more in the eighth just to rub it in.

Gill and Robinson were the siege guns for Perryville. The clean up hitter banged out five safeties, and would probably have been hitting them yet, had not the regulation nine innings been completed. Robinson, beside holding Elkton to a measly five hits, behaved like anything but a good pitcher. He got four hits.

The rest were scattered thither and yon among the other players. On the other glove, Elkton lost heart after that terrible first inning, and the game became a test of the run getting capacity of the winners. The score:

Elk Mills Again

Elk Mills, not to be outdone by their bitter rivals, Perryville, also had a field day at the expense of Aberdeen Saturday, trimming the boys from Soldier Town, 10-1.

Foster and Spence were the Elk Mills' battery and were right there all the time. The Weavers' bats spoke sharp and often and spoke well for their fracas for the championship or something this evening. The score by innings:

FOOD ECONOMY

The two ladies were comparing notes.

"I find it pays to serve breakfast piping hot," said one. "Except on Sundays. Then I serve it cold."

"Well, on weekdays my boarders have to eat breakfast in a hurry and, if it is hot, they don't have time to wait for it to cool off; so they eat very little. On Sundays they eat less because it is cold. I assure you, Mrs. Jones, but for this discovery I should have lost money this season."—Pittsburgh Post.

High School Mentor Already Busy On Plans For The Football Season

Advance Dope Indicates That Newark, Dover, and Laurel
Are Three Strongest Teams Entered in D. I. A. A.
Title Race

BY HORACE A. NUNN

Athletic Director, Newark High School

Football season will soon be here.

The Newark High School boys have already begun to take stock of themselves and of the other athletes in High Schools. After winning the D. I. A. A. State championship for five consecutive years, the local boys are starting this season with a determination to make it a straight half-dozen.

The prospects for a winning Newark team seem good. The entire line from last year's team, with the exception of the center, will be back in school and eligible to play. The heaviest loss had been in the backfield. Hopkins, fullback and captain of last year's team; Townsend, halfback; Rupp, halfback, and Johnson were all graduated in June; leaving Patchell, fullback, and Steel, halfback, the only veterans in the backfield. The places of these men are, however, likely to be strongly contended for by the dozen or so fellows who have already signified their intention of coming out for the team. In fact there are so many new candidates that even the letter men of last year will have to get busy if they expect to keep their positions.

The schedule has not yet been arranged, but Manager Strahorn is negotiating for games with about six nearby High School teams. The indications at present are that Dover and Newark will be the only teams in the northern section of the State in the D. I. A. A. The "dope" then would make it appear that Newark will have to fight it out for the championship of the northern half of the State with Dover. Laurel is at present the favorite for the southern championship and will likely put in a strong bid for the State title. Consequently, the Newark boys realize that the road to the State championship is far from clear.

A big obstacle at present is the great lack of equipment. The High School Athletic Association owns about 12 pairs of stockings, 12 sweat shirts and about 6 jerseys, which are usable for the coming year. A few of the boys own their own equipment, but many have been prevented from taking part in football in past years because of their inability to buy the necessary equipment. Newark's championship teams deserve all the help that the school and community is able to give them. Accordingly, let's get behind the boys and help them in their immediate aim, the State championship, and their ultimate aim, the development of clean sports, sportsmanship and healthy bodies.

Newark Out Of A Game On Saturday

Marshallton Team Disbands
Suddenly Leaving Locals
Flat; Krebs Wins

Local fandom received a rude jolt Saturday morning, when it was announced that the Newark-Marshallton County League game, scheduled here that afternoon, had been cancelled.

It appears from reports that the Marshallton management has given up the ghost for the season and that all the players have been released. The salaries of the players had eaten into the treasury to such an extent that the gate receipts failed to assuage the suffering. Therefore there will be one team idle in the League each Saturday on, unless they play exhibition games with independent teams.

Newark could have had a game with Delaware Hard Fibre Saturday had they known of the Marshallton club's decision in time, and with local players on both sides, the game would have attracted many fans.

Krebs Wins Again

Krebs, with Joe Rothrock on the hill again, took the measure of Johnny Naylor's Five Points athletes Saturday in a hard hitting fracas, score 9-8.

Baldwin, Galloway and Rothrock were the star hitters for the winning team, while Wolfe and Boyle scintillated at the bat for the Pointers.

A desperate ninth inning rally by the Newporters shoved three runs across, and saved the game for Rothrock. The former Delaware pitching ace was hit pretty hard during the early portion of the game, but clever work afield by his teammates saved him further damage.

7c A MILE TO RUN AUTO

Uncle Sam has just made his estimate as to the cost of operation of an automobile on a mileage basis. In preparing the annual budget the government experts have figured original cost, depreciation, gasoline, tires, etc., and report that the cost on mile for motorcars is 7 cents and for motorcycles 3 cents. Allowance is made for certain conditions, such as mountainous regions and poor roads, but while the figures may be high in some localities and low in others, the experts state that the 7-cent figure is adequate and fair and that it has been accepted by the budget committee in figuring estimates.

National Safety Council May Protest Diplomatic Traffic Immunity

Delaware Branch Writes National Head Urging Probe Into Status of Ambassadors Speeding on Highways

GROWS OUT OF TWO RECENT CASES HERE

Organized efforts are being made by the Delaware Safety Council, of which Walter Dent Smith is manager, to enlist the aid of the National Council at Washington, in probing into the question of traffic immunity for the diplomatic corps at Washington.

Since the dismissal of the case of Princess Bibesco, wife of the Roumanian minister, who was arrested near Newark last week, considerable comment has been forthcoming from the citizens of the community. Protest both verbal and written have come to THE POST since that time.

Asks For Action

The following is a letter from Mr. Smith to Lewis A. DeBlois, president of the National Safety Council, with headquarters in Washington, D. C. July 17, 1924.

Dear Mr. DeBlois:

I am sending herewith a brief report covering the violation of our motor vehicle regulations by the chauffeurs of the Belgian Ambassador, Baron Cartier, and the Roumanian Minister, Prince Bibesco. The facts will indicate that these chauffeurs were driving at an excessive speed endangering not only their own lives, but also the lives of our citizens. Diplomatic immunity where danger to life is involved is wrong in principle, and I am thinking that the National can perhaps present this matter to the State Department more effectively than the local.

Cordially yours,

Delaware Safety Council,
Walter Dent Smith, Manager.

The enclosure, stating the facts of the two cases in question, is also published herewith:

Motor Vehicle Law Violations by Persons With Diplomatic Immunity

Otto Stiegler, chauffeur for Baron Cartier, the Belgian Ambassador, was arrested for speeding outside of Newark, Delaware, on April 14. Stiegler was unaccompanied. The officer stated that Stiegler was driving at the rate of sixty-five miles per hour. Following a hearing before Magistrate Thompson, Stiegler was fined $25.00. Later, on representations from Secretary of State Hughes, the fine was remitted as the State Department has ruled that foreign diplomats are to be exempted from traffic violations unless the violations result in the loss of life, injuries, or the destruction of property.

The colored chauffeur for Prince Bibesco, the Roumanian Minister, was arrested for speeding on the Lincoln Highway feeder just east of Newark, Delaware on July 12. Princess Bibesco and a woman companion were in the car. Officer Wardell, who made the arrest testified that the car was "doing better than 65." Magistrate Thompson dismissed the case.

In the interests of pure safety for life and limb, it is deemed quite probable that Mr. DeBlois will take the matter up with the Secretary of State at Washington, with a view towards pointing out the unfairness of the ruling, particularly at the present time when the highways are so full of pedestrians and autos.

SMALLPOX SPREAD IS CAUSING GRAVE ALARM

Chief of Public Health Service States Situation At This Time

Apprehension over the growing number of smallpox cases throughout the country was expressed recently by Surgeon General Cumming, of the public health service, who said the presence of the disease in thirty-five states threatened serious consequences unless state health officers exercise the greatest vigilance in vaccination and revaccination.

Doctor Cumming is particularly alarmed that the disease has spread so widely in the spring and summer months. If it is not checked, he fears a more serious situation next winter, during the season when it usually is most prevalent.

"There is grave danger of outbreaks all over the country," Doctor Cumming said, "unless people are vaccinated."

The disease apparently is most prevalent in the midwest, with Cincinnati reporting 25 cases, Toledo 22, Indianapolis 45 and Detroit 56 for the week ended June 14. Baltimore reported 16 cases for the week, and Hope well, Ewing and Trenton, N. J., showed 18 cases, seven of which were in Trenton.

Although the health service has not received recent figures from Pittsburgh, Doctor Cumming said the epidemic in that city was serious.

The rapid spread of the disease is believed by Doctor Cumming to be traceable to lack of care in mild cases, which frequently develop into a more virulent form, and to indifference to warning by health officials.

GIVING MORE TO GET MORE

This Store makes no pretense of being a charitable institution—we are in the clothing business to make a living.

To be entitled to make a living we must render you service. By service we mean selecting good merchandise for you, and selling it to you at the lowest possible price.

This "lowest possible price" must cover the cost of the goods and the cost of selling.

The cost of the goods we can control only indirectly. We keep it down by buying from firms who, because of their immense volume of business, can, and do, produce fine clothes more cheaply than any manufacturers we know of.

Keeping down the cost of selling is our job. That includes rent, salaries, heat, light, insurance, taxes and all the other expenses of operating a store.

All these go on whether the store is busy or not, and the cost must come out of what we sell, whether the articles are many or few.

The only way to keep the cost down is to sell more goods.

And the way to sell more goods is to give greater values.

Most merchants want to give greater values; intend to do so when they can sell enough goods to justify it.

This store has the courage to give you the values first and depend on your appreciation for the greater business.

We are now determined to increase our business very greatly this season and are lowering our prices on the assumption that we are going to do it. You'll get the values anyhow, whether we get the business or not.

Come in and let us show you how much more we are giving you now—in the hope that by so doing we may get more later on.

THE WHEAT SITUATION IN A NUTSHELL

Wheat growing has been a subject of much controversy ever since the war and, in fact, still continues to dominate the agricultural situation. But, regardless of what may happen to cooperative marketing enterprises or to the movement for price stabilization or anything else that may affect the finances of the wheat grower, wheat will still be grown on a large scale.

There is no denying the fact that much wheat is grown at an actual loss and that many wheat producers are in great financial difficulty. Neither can it be denied that the yields obtained on thousands of farms are far too low, that much inferior wheat is produced, that much of the seed sown is of poor quality, and that too many varieties are grown. It is also true that important factors in production, such as proper preparation of the land and the use of fertilizers, receive far too little consideration.

In the eastern winter wheat belt, from Missouri and Iowa to Pennsylvania and Maryland, wheat occupies an important place in the rotation with corn, oats, and clover. It is the only cash crop grown on thousands of farms; it aids in the seasonal distribution of labor and is an excellent "nurse" crop for clover. Wheat producers in this territory have an excellent opportunity to increase yields and reduce production costs by putting land that is poorly adapted to wheat to other uses, by using only seed of high yielding varieties, and treating it to prevent disease, and by a more generous use of the right sort of fertilizer. In this way, from 20 to 30 bushels per acre can be grown instead of the 10 to 20 bushels that are grown at present.

LEGATES SELLS HOME

Smyrna—James A. Legates, retired railroad man, and for many years conductor on the Smyrna Branch Railway, has sold his home corner of Delaware and Mt. Vernon streets, to Mrs. Blanch C. Lockerman, of near Blackbird, for $2,500. The deal was made through the real estate agency of F. Charles LeCompt. Mrs. Lockerman is the widow of James C. Lockerman who was killed in an auto accident at Armstrong's Corner over a year ago. She expects to take possession of her new home August 1st. This property is one long owned by Mrs. John H. Hoffecker and is a modernized, cozy home.

TIPS FOR THE HOME

CAKES—Before icing your cakes, sprinkle a little flour over them. This will prevent the icing from running off.

No Withdrawals

"When I opened my account," said a depositor, "I resolved to make no withdrawals until I had accumulated at least $1000. My balance passed that mark last New Year's Day. This first withdrawal is to make a payment on a home."

The no-withdrawal-short-of-$1000 system is a good one for everyone who would save for something really worth while.

Test Case On Carnival "Wheels" Opens In Middletown Tonight

Presbyterian Minister Has Two Fire Company Officials
Arrested on Gambling Charges—Feeling
Runs High in the Town

No more important and interesting hearing has come up in the county for several years than the one scheduled tonight before Magistrate "Danny" Stevens, in Middletown.

Two Middletown Fire Co. leaders, Norman W. Kumble, Chief, and Harris Berkman, assistant chief, will face charges of gambling in connection with the operation of the various "wheels," at the carnival which ended last Saturday night. The charges were preferred early in carnival week by the Rev. John Townley, pastor of the Middletown Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Townley charges that the "wheels" are in strict discord with the State laws, and says he considers them outright gambling devices.

The hearing was originally scheduled for Monday night of last week, but was postponed until tonight.

Members of the Middletown Fire Company are said to be incensed over the matter and the town itself is rapidly dividing itself into two camps—for and against the "wheels."

Will Be Test Case

Of nearly as great interest as the local flavor attached to it, the case will be carefully watched by communities all over the State. The decision rendered, either at the hearing, or at a court trial, will thereby set a precedent in law, for which future regulations of carnivals and fairs will be prepared.

For several years past, in fact since the benefit carnivals grew into popularity, the presence of "wheels" have always been mooted questions in each town. Recently, however, there has been no direct action taken to test out the legal opinion of the practice, and the "wheels" have been spinning right along.

Rev. Townley stated late last week that he had no personal feeling toward the two men arrested on his warrant. He said he merely chose them because they were chairman and assistant chairman respectively of the carnival.

A similar situation arose in Oxford, Pa., during the carnival last year, and the Pennsylvania town was a hotbed of dissension for several days. State troopers closed the wheels for two nights but the matter was patched up before the carnival there ended, and since then the hatchet has evidently been buried.

Philip L. Garrett, of Wilmington, has been engaged by the Fire Company at Middletown to argue their case. Rev. Townley has not announced his legal advisers.

COLLEGE IMPROVEMENTS

Lowering Steam Line 11 Feet Near Main Street; New Sidewalks

Considerable activity in the way of improvements are being made under the supervision of Herman McKay, engineer, these days.

On the site formerly occupied by the Heiser house, on Main Street, the steam lines running under Main Street are being lowered eleven feet to a level with the lines feeding the dormitories. Deep trenches are already dug to the required level, and the change will be made this week.

A new pavement is being laid to replace the brick walk along Main Street from the Elliot Building to Dr. Rhodes' store, fronting the college property.

A new walk and steam lines are being laid along the lower campus from Wolf Hall to the new Library, in preparation for the opening of the latter building in the Fall.

Workmen are greatly improving the walks about the campus by the placing and grading of fresh dirt along side of the paving. This system makes an attractive setting against the deep green of the lawns.

Speakers Secured For Farmers' Day Here

August 5th Set for Occasion
—Short Course Opens
on Same Date

WORKERS ARE BUSY

A. D. Cobb, State boys' and girls' club leader; M. O. Pence, Extension Head, and other officials of Wolf Hall, under the direction of Dean C. A. McCue, are busy as bees preparing for their part at both the Kent-Sussex and the Delaware State Fair. Exhibits of an elaborate nature will be taken to both fairs, and Mr. Cobb, in addition, plays a major part in the getting together of entrants from all parts of the State into the Agricultural Pageant at Harrington on August 1st.

The annual "Farmers' Day" at the University Farm at Newark will be held on Tuesday, August 5th.

As usual the gathering will be a basket picnic. Dean McCue has secured for speakers Mr. C. R. Titlow, President of the Federal Farm Loan Bank at Baltimore, and Mr. George Farrell of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Mr. Titlow spoke at the Farmer-Banker Conference held in Newark in June and created a very favorable impression. Mr. Farrell was for some years National Leader of Boys' and Girls' Club work in the United States, and is at present Federal Agent in Charge of Agricultural Extension work for a group of States in the Central West.

The annual Junior Short Course for boys and girls also begins on Tuesday and the date selected for Farmers' Day will permit many parents to bring with them their children who are to attend the Junior Short Course.

Overheard on Main Street, Newark--- Mrs. Smith said

"I'm going to get three or four of those wonderful HUBER APRONS, just for myself. They're fine—pretty cretonné facing and rubber lining to match, which makes them water-proof. It's the best apron I've ever had for kitchen work."

And then there's no better bread baked than

An added feature is that the day will be the officially recognized trip for High School boys taking vocational agriculture in the High Schools of the State. Director Heim is working out a program for these boys at the University Farm during the "Farmers' Day."

Orchard men will be interested in some of the fruit spraying tests, the peach nitrogen fertilizer blocks, and the variety orchards. Grape growers should be interested in the variety vineyard, while the fertility rotation plots will be of interest to general farmers. Fifteen years results on these plots have just been completed and published, and the results will be explained by the Agronomy Department.

Stock raisers and others will be interested in the swine and cattle herds. The swine plant has been replanned since last year, and the system of management should appeal to hog raisers.

The poultry plant will be open to inspection and the Superintendent, Mr. Mumford, will be on hand to answer questions.

The speaking program will begin at 1.30 p. m. and the general inspection of the farm will take place from 10 a. m. until lunch time.
