In the face of present-day uncertainties and tears, the minds of most young people seem turned to the nuture and what it may hold. A feeling of the future and what it may hold. A feeling of the future and what it may hold. A feeling of the future and what it may hold. A feeling of the future and what it may hold. A feeling of the future and what it may hold. A feeling of the future of the next above college campuses all opprehension hovers above college campuses and investment of the country as students wonder just how lives.

The future of the next day may affect their own lives of the next day may affect their own lives. But even with the seriousness and uncertainty of the grant future looming so near, there is always a strong future looming so near, there is always of the past tendency to turn back to recall the activities of the past.

UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE NEWARK, DELAWARE

DEAN FRANCIS H. SQUIRE came to the University of Delaware as an instructor in history in 1927. From 1930 to 1932 he was with the Department of History at Yale, after which he returned to Delaware as associate professor of history. In 1942, he was made chairman of the Department of History. From 1942-45 Dean Squire served in the Navy, and upon his release as a lieutenant-commander, he was appointed Dean of the University, Dean of the School of Arts and Science, and Professor of History.

We of the yearbook staff, dedicate the 1951 Blue Hen to Dean Squire in tribute to him for his service to the University, not only as a professor, but also as a friend and counselor. By his friendly attitude he has endeared himself to the student body.

It is fitting that the Staff of the 1951 BLUE HEN express its appreciation to those people without whose help our book would not have been possible. To them we can say that we, the Staff, will be ever grateful. For their aid and guidance we wish to thank Mr. William Bohning, Registrar; Mrs. Marjorie R. Ritchie, Secretary in charge of Stenographic Services Center; Mr. Milton R. Roberts, Coordinator of Student Affairs; Dr. Lawrence G. Starkey, Chairman of Faculty Committee on Student Publications; Mr. Lloyd A. Teitsworth, University Research Photographer; The Staff of Printers; the Committee and the Interfraternity Council whose cooperation made the BLUE HEN Dance a success; and Mr. Daniel E. Button, the BLUE HEN Advisor.
