

Visitation Right Secured By Dorms

By LINDA BOCKRATH

For the first time in university history, dormitory residents have secured the right to exclusively determine their own unlimited visitation hours.

Seven dormitories were permitted by the Judicial Policy Board to implement the new visitation policy last weekend.

According to Nancy Hawthorne, chairman of the board, the Judicial Policy Board approved the judicial by-laws submitted by Gilbert A and C, Sharp, Harter, Rodney C, Sypherd, and Russell A at their 10 a.m. meeting last Friday.

Amendments to the approved judicial by-laws were also recommended by Dean Sharkey, director of residence, and the Judicial Policy Board.

A motion was passed proposing that all resident halls receive copies of three approved judicial by-laws and a copy of the student judicial system document which outlines the proper procedure for drawing up the by-laws.

Six other dormitories' judicial by-laws were not approved by the board, since the structure of their judicial enforcement of the visitation policy could not be feasibly workable under the "ideal conditions" set up by the Gilbert C by-law model.

The Judicial Policy Board hopes that the copies will be particularly helpful to those dormitories who have not had their judicial by-laws or, in the case of all coed dormitories, have not yet submitted their judicial by-laws.

Miss Hawthorne also stressed the importance of the Judicial Policy Board's approval of the Faculty Senate Bill 33.

According to the provisions of the bill, judicial by-laws for the new dormitory visitation policy must be submitted for approval within a one month period. Pending the Judicial Policy Board's approval, a dormitory may establish its own particular regulations.

During this one month period, a dormitory may operate visitation under the old policy. However, if a new policy has not been approved within this time, the dormitory may not even exercise their visitation privileges under the old policy.

The visitation hours set up by the approved dormitory by-laws are 24 hours, seven days a week, excepting Sypherd Hall, whose ground floor is scheduled for 12 noon until 9 p.m. during the weekdays and 24 hours a day during the weekend.

Dormitories united under coed government, as well as all women's dormitories, have not yet received the approval of their by-laws by the Judicial Policy Board.

These dormitories are under the jurisdiction of the Association of Women Students' Central Board and require their review for recommendation and approval also. However, the Central Board is scheduled to meet today.

Ivy Hall Not Leased; Students Still Sign Up

The university has not leased buildings in the Ivy Hall Apartments complex, according to Wallace Nagle, Director of Investments and real estate.

Nagle said Friday that the university is continuing to discuss the lease of six buildings with the New York law firm that represents the Wollaston Ave., Newark Apartments.

In an interview, he said that the university sent to New York the proposed lease with suggested changes on March 31. Nagle said that the lawyer had called him late that week to say that they were in agreement with the changes.

However, Nagle said this was the last contact between the university and New York as of Friday afternoon.

Even though the lease is not signed, students are continuing to register for apartments. Nagle said that there was no problem here since the apartment leasing is advantageous to both parties involved.

Stuart Sharkey, director of residence, said Friday that reservations for women were filled, but that there still are apartments open for men. His office plans to house rising upperclassmen women in three buildings, and rising upperclassmen men in three buildings.

The apartments are considered "university-related housing," according to Sharkey, and residents would therefore not be subject to dormitory rules. Women's hours and other such regulations would not be in effect.

However, the university and/or the apartment management may terminate the lease if the resident is found "undesirable," Sharkey said. The $420 room rental fee for the academic year would not be refunded if the student's lease was terminated.

Over 200 students that are to reside in the apartments will be given the option of purchasing a university meal ticket. The apartments will also be furnished by the university.

Nagle said that the owners of the apartments approached the university a number of times in the recent past about leasing buildings in the complex. It was this contact that led Delta Upsilon fraternity to lease one building last fall. Now, since the university is facing a housing shortage next fall, they, too, have become interested in leasing buildings.

Teach-In Probes Problems

The University of Michigan last month held the prototype teach-in for the Environmental Teach-In to be held here April 22. The following story, the second of two parts, is the impressions of that program by a UM senior. The Editor.

By MARK HOY

Special to the Review

The next three days of the Teach-In featured numerous workshops on population control, air pollution, urban planning, etc., all of which were no doubt academically stimulating, but definitely lacking the theatrical value of the kick-off rally. What emerged from the Teach-In as a whole was a profound disagreement over how to solve the problems.

Three possibilities for a solution emerged: (1) The radical position holds that the corporate structure of our capitalist society is to blame for pollution and should be made to bear the brunt of the financial sacrifices needed to save the earth. Since this solution does not appear to be imminent under capitalism, the only way to really solve the problem is to make a revolution.

(2) The liberal position, as presented by Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) at the kick-off rally, is that a pure environment can only be achieved by redirecting our national priorities away from such enterprises as the Vietnam war and the ABM system. The way to achieve this solution is to elect liberal politicians, of course. Unfortunately for the libs, many students still remember that liberals like Kennedy and Johnson embroiled us in Vietnam and find it hard to believe that they will ever be able to move big business on the pollution issue.

(3) The masochistic approach, which was driven home at Michigan by a local state representative, claims that taxes and the cost of living will have to rise by at least 10 per cent in order to pay for degarbagging the earth.

Demo Platform Hearing Set

Three Young Democrats from the university were named to the platform committee of the Democratic party early this month.

L. Vincent Ramunno, chairman-platform committee, named Stanley Glowiak, AS0, Debe O'Donnell, AS3, and Dennis Siebold, AS1, all members of the university Young Democrats, to sit on the committee.

Ramunno stated that other appointees include housewives, business and working men as well as politicians, in an effort to reflect in the platform the needs and desires of the people.

The committee has been constructed so that "youth with their impatience and aspirations and the older Democrats with their wisdom and experience are also represented."

The "opportunity to participate in formulating party policies" will be expanded further with the implementation of a series of regional open hearings.

All interested are urged to attend and voice their views, and submit written statements to the committee. The first platform meeting will be tomorrow at 8:30 in Wolf Hall.

TRY AGAIN—Two Delt brothers start to built their bridge which was stolen over semester break.

Delts Lose Bridge During Vacation

How do you build a bridge across the creek and have it stolen?

Ask any one of the 15 brothers of Delta Tau Delta who managed just that.

The idea of the bridge originated with Jeff Parkinson, EX, who wanted to expand the creeking area to avoid over crowdedness and add new grounds for the Delt Easter Keg Hunt.

Armed with plans, concrete, steel, wood and 15 brothers, Parkinson went to work in March.

The bridge was not quite completed at spring break when work was halted for a week. Upon return to the site after vacation, Parkinson summed it up simply. "It's been stolen."

Parkinson has several ideas about what happened to the bridge, but is not certain of its actual outcome. He thinks the Department of Interior, with the beginning of trout season, may have had it removed.

Parkinson's hopes are not dashed. He and his crew plan to begin again to build their bridge, hopefully before the belated Easter Keg Hunt.

Decision Made On Attendance At Graduation

Attendance at commencement exercises for graduating seniors and graduate students will be optional this year, due to a new policy adopted by the university.

According to Dr. Frank Dilley, Associate Provost, since degree candidates are no longer required to attend graduation exercises, it is no longer necessary for those students not attending to apply for the degree in absentia.

Students who do not choose to attend commencement may pick up their diplomas and diploma cases in the University Records Office, 011 Hullihen Hall, between June 8 and July 6. The diplomas must be picked up in person or by a member of the graduate's family bearing a written authorization from the graduate.

Diplomas which have not been picked up by July 6 will be mailed to the degree recipients.

New Parking Lot Reservation To Provide Space Schedule Set For Fall '70

The old Hollingsworth lumberyard on the corner of N. College and Cleveland Ave. is the site of a new university parking lot. Near completion, the lot will provide parking space for 340 vehicles.

According to H. Eugene Pierce, Director of Plant Operations and Chairman of the Parking Committee, no decision has yet been reached concerning restrictions on parking. He added, however, that use of the space will probably be equally divided among students, faculty and staff.

Construction was begun by W.E. Walls, Inc. on Oct. 15, 1969, and is expected to be completed in the next few weeks. Problems concerning a catch pond for water drainage and tie-in to city lines has delayed the official opening of the lot. During the winter the lot was used by students and faculty.

Cost for the lot is $62,000 or $182 per parking space.

Michigan Teach-In...

The prospects of the public accepting this last solution are probably even less than the chances of an immediate socialist revolution or the appearance of a liberal who keeps his promises.

BUT WHAT TO DO?

All of which is to say that everyone seems to have a position on the pollution issue, but nobody knows what to do about it. It certainly isn't the kind of issue that is liable to attract hundreds of thousands of marchers to Washington to hear Pete Seeger do his thing.

The only positive action to come out of the Michigan Teach-In has been a rather half-hearted attempt by some people to get the University to sign over its voting proxy on its GM stock to a group of radical professors. This is a nice idea, but hardly earth-shaking, and it is very doubtful that a large university which depends on corporate investment for much of its funding is likely to do anything to displease firms like GM.

The crisis in the environment is certainly worse than anybody thought, but it's not likely to replace power to the people as an issue until the tactical counter-part to a building take-over is found. Until then, it looks like Walter Cronkite may just have to fight this one out by himself.

Applications for room assignments for Fall 1970 must be submitted to the appropriate hall director according to the following schedule.

Students wishing to retain their present room must so indicate by Apr. 21 on the application card which has been distributed to them.

Students desiring a room change within their present hall must submit applications by Apr. 22 if they are rising seniors, Apr. 23 if they are rising juniors and Apr. 24 if they are rising sophomores.

Students wishing to change residence halls should submit their requests by Apr. 27 if they are presently juniors, Apr. 28 if they are sophomores and Apr. 29 if they are freshmen.

Commuters desiring a room should obtain an application from the Director of Residence Office in 313 Hullihen Hall. Applications for Ivy Hall Apartments may be obtained at the same office.

Applications from presently enrolled upperclassmen submitted after Apr. 30 will receive lowest priority.

SPEAKERS

On Wednesday Dave Mixner, a member of the National Viet Nam Moratorium Committee, Chris Smith, Democratic peace candidate for U.S. Senate from Delaware, Larry Cudlow, East coast director of the New Mobe for Ending the War in Viet Nam, and Dr. Robert Bresler, former assistant professor of political science at the university will speak at 7:30 p.m. in Wolf Hall.

Wednesday afternoon seminars will be held at various places on campus from 1-2:30 p.m. and 3-4:30 p.m.

WILLARD SCORES--Hen catcher Dave Willard scores one of Delaware's ten runs in Saturday's romp over Lehigh. The Hens took over first place in the West with their two victories over the Engineers.

Leib's Frosh Nine Come From Behind

by LARRY HERZBERG

A barrage of seven hits accounted for five runs in the seventh inning and brought the freshman Hens (2-0) from behind in a 10-8 victory over Lehigh.

Ed Deptula, started the uprising when he got on due to a dropped third strike. Jim Tibbett walked. With one out, an infield hit by Jim Brown scored Deptula from second. A double by Joe Jackson registered the second run of the inning as Tibbett checked in.

Kline's Booters Prep For Fall

Delaware soccer coach Loren Kline expected approximately 30 players to report for spring soccer practice last Monday.

"We should have a good turnout," the Hen coach says. "There are a number of positions up for grabs and we expect to have good competition for all of the starting jobs."

Delaware's soccer fortunes have improved greatly under Kline's direction. The former Penn State standout has had five consecutive winning seasons for a seven-year record of 44 wins, 39 losses and seven ties.

The Hens were 8-5 last year in what was supposed to be a re-building year. Kline will have 10 lettermen returning in the fall, including co-captains Mike Biggs and Walt Cleaver.

Biggs and Cleaver are both graduates of Brandywine High School and products of Brandywine's fine soccer program.

Biggs has broken all of the Delaware scoring records in the last two years. The lanky junior center forward scored 14 goals last season and 7 as a sophomore.

Cleaver was an All-Middle Atlantic Conference University Division (Western Section) selection as a fullback.

Pitcher Paul Dunbar, who pitched five tough innings, rifled a shot to rightfield which scored the tying and winning runs. Don Drake added some insurance, as he drove in the last run with a basehit.

Lehigh began the game with four runs and added two in the third and two in the fourth. Delaware stayed in the game by scoring five runs in that period. In the first inning, Drake reached base on an error and was plated by Deptula, who singled. In the second, the bit hit was by Kevin Neary as he tripled to knock in Brown who had doubled. Dale Kleppinger, who was pitching at the time, helped his own cause by singling in Neary. Tibbett tripled for a counter in the third and Delaware scored again in the fourth to bring the score to 8-5.

Kleppinger, after a superb relief job in the first game (5-2 over Rutgers), had a rocky time. Dunbar, however, provided the relief as he hurled five scoreless innings, striking out seven.

Gettysburg And Rider Fall

by DENNY CROWLEY

Unbeaten Delaware defeated Gettysburg and host Rider by identical scores of 4-3 Friday in a triangular match at Sharon Country Club.

Senior Kevin Scanlon, shooting number one, was the day's medalist, carding a six-over par 78, defeating both of his opponents to give the Hens a 1-0 lead over both schools.

Playing in the second position, Hen captain John Stinson scored a 79, beating his two opponents to give Delaware a 2-0 advantage. Ken Helfand, competing in the third slot, dropped both of his matches, but Delaware maintained the upper hand, 2-1.

Delaware Gains First Place

by STU DROWOS

Second baseman Dave Yates, with five hits and four RBI's, led Delaware to a weekend sweep of Lehigh, 2-1 and 10-4.

The two victories pushed the Hens to the top of the Western Division in the MAC. Yates scored the winning run on Bruce Fad's eighth inning sacrifice fly in Friday's contest at Bethlehem, Pa. Returning to the friendly confines of Delaware Field Saturday, the senior infielder matched the entire run output of Lehigh. Yates had three hits and two stolen bases along with four RBI's. Fad knocked in two runs with a triple.

Sharing the spotlight with the hitters were pitchers Ted Zink and Doug Hopper. Zink fired a six-hitter and struck out 13, including six in the last two innings, while going the route in Friday's game. On Saturday, Hopper gave up nine hits while striking out eight Engineers in also gaining his second win of the season.

KLEIN SCORES

Delaware took the lead for good in the first inning Saturday when shortstop Ron Klein, who had doubled, scored on Yate's single. Klein also walked three times and scored four runs. Three run outbursts in both the third and fifth iced the game for the Hens, now 6-2 on the season.

Friday's win especially gladdened coach Bob Hannah. "Whenever you win away, you're doing all right. And it's a big help to win your league opener. I'm proud of the way the boys came back; it was a real tough game. But our hitters did the job on Saturday; it sure is nice to score for a change."

Another factor that pleased Hannah were the performances turned in by Zink and Hopper last week. "We got three complete and very strong games out of those two. This is encouraging; we'll need more such performances throughout this season if we are to be contenders."

Delaware faces the Rams of West Chester in their next outing on Wednesday. The home contest starts at three p.m.

Netmen Beat Lehigh; Take Seven Matches

by WAYNE DEAN

Delaware's tennis team (2-1) defeated the Lehigh Engineers 7-2 Saturday in their first MAC contest on the Delaware fieldhouse courts.

Playing in the number one singles match, Mike Masoncup beat Dave King 6-3, 6-2 for his first victory. Then captain Fred Scerni was defeated by Lehigh's Rick Selfin 6-4, 7-5 in the second singles match.

The Hens then swept the next three matches. Jack Henriksen beat Ross Kane 6-3, 8-6; Norman Riddell, fighting a hard match, finally overcame Bill Dethloff 6-1, 5-7, 8-6 and Bob Bender swamped Bruce Carl 6-1, 6-0.

In the final singles match Dave Verner lost to Lehigh's John Weiss 1-6, 6-3, 9-7.

The Hens then took all the doubles matches. Masoncup-Riddell beat Selfin-Dessloff 6-2, 6-2; Scerni-Henriksen defeated King-Carl 6-2, 6-4; and Bender and Jack Ellsworth outlasted Kane-Weiss 1-6, 6-3 9-7.

Commenting on the match, Coach Roy Rylander said, "The boys played well today. They really used their heads and their rackets."

Tomorrow the Hens face a tough match against American University in Washington D.C. at two p.m.

In Beating Engineers

Thinclads Win Big

by TOM MEES

"I really thought we'd lose, the victory came as a surprise to me."

This doesn't sound like the attitude of a winning track coach after his team had just won a meet, but those were the words of coach Jimmy Flynn after the Blue Hens downed Lehigh 89-56 in a dual meet Saturday at the South Campus sports area.

The Hens notched their second straight MAC victory with the help of "some outstanding performances," according to coach Flynn.

Dave Fosbenner, although finishing second in the 440 intermediate hurdles ran his best time ever to help the Hens pick up some unexpected points. Bob Stowe won that key event in a fine time of 57.1 seconds.

Another Hen that didn't win but helped defeat the Engineers was John Burke who ran second in the mile to help avoid a Lehigh sweep.

Dave Smith turned in a school record 9.8 in the 100 yd. dash leading a Delaware sweep in that event.

The Hens won a total of 10 events. Bruce Regenthal was the only double winner for Delaware as he took the triple jump with a jump of 43'10" and also won the long jump with a leap of 20'10 1/2". Pat Walker again won the 120 high hurdles in a time of 14.6.

The freshman team also defeated Lehigh 73-71.

The next action for the thinclads is Wednesday at West Chester. Only one home dual meet remains, that against Bucknell on April 25.

Male Cheerleaders

There will be a meeting for all freshman, sophomore and junior MEN (yes, red-blooded males) interested in varsity cheerleading this Wednesday in Thompson Hall Lounge. If there are any questions contact Dale Deering, 737-9781.

HOME MATCH

Delaware plays Rutgers today in a home match at Louviers Country Club at 12:30. The Hens will face Swarthmore and PMC tomorrow in Chester, Pa.
