Record Enrollment Reported For U. D. Summer Session

The record enrollment for the 1963 University of Delaware summer session puts the university above a national average. Of 3600 students expected to be enrolled in the fall undergraduate program at Delaware, some 1800, or 50 per cent of the undergraduate student body, are taking summer courses at the university. The national average for regular-program students enrolled in public-institution summer sessions is 25 per cent.

The 50 per cent figure also tops the average of students attending all public institutions of higher learning in the Southern Regional Education Board area, of which Delaware is a part.

After the June 17 registration for the first, or six-week summer session at Delaware, a record 1,729 students had enrolled for 2,688 courses. Late registrations were expected to raise the total to 1,900. This figure includes University of Delaware undergraduate and graduate students, as well as in-service teachers.

Registration for the 1962 summer session totaled 1,551 students enrolled for 2,728 courses.

Industry Aids Christiana High Principal In Planning Course For "Salable" Skill

In planning the physical science course for the new Christiana High School, Principal Gilmore B. Ott is getting help from local scientific industry to help design a program to give students background for laboratory work.

NHA Rejects Right Of Condemnation For Church Land

Presbytery Refuses Option For Purchase Of Low-Cost Housing Site In Newark

The Newark Housing Authority will not condemn church land on which it was refused an option by the New Castle Presbytery. The authority had sought to purchase for low-rent housing, about 34 acres out of a larger parcel owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Newark.

Avery Goddin, chairman of the housing authority, reported "we have said before we could not move in condemnation against the church. Influence of the church is a moral one, and we would probably be defeating our own purposes to do anything to prevent the church from growing. We have the power to condemn but will not use it against the church," Goddin declared.

The Rev. John F. McCleary, stated clerk of the presbytery, said the presbytery felt the church should hold onto the land until its expansion needs are clarified.

"It was the unanimous feeling of the trustees," McCleary said, "that the church should not dispose of any part of its land until such time as the relocation is completed and the church knows from experience just what it needs and doesn't need up there."

"It has been our experience so many times that a church acquires property, sells part of it off and then later regrets it."

A second factor influencing the trustees, the Rev. McCleary said, was the offering price of $2,500 an acre, "which we felt was not commensurate with land values in the area."

The Rev. Charles H. Davis, pastor of the Newark church, said the church hopes to break ground next spring for a new sanctuary on the site. He said plans call for a Christian education building and a fellowship hall.

The present church at 17 West Main Street will continue to be used after the new church is built, according to Mr. Davis.

Industry Aids Christiana High Principal In Planning Course For "Salable" Skill

In planning the physical science course for the new Christiana High School, Principal Gilmore B. Ott is getting help from local scientific industry to help design a program to give students background for laboratory work.

Ott pointed out that he wants the course to give students a "salable" skill upon graduation. "This is going to be a technical course in every sense of the word," the principal said.

Representing industry at the meeting were Dr. John C. Robinson, Jr., Hercules Powder Research Center, and Eugene C. Robinson, Du Pont Chestnut Run Laboratory, Wilmington.

Principal Ott asked if there were a market for laboratory technicians and assistants among high school graduates, and industry's answer was "yes."

Other members of the group were Wilmer E. Shue, Newark superintendent of schools; Dr. Ramon C. Cobbs, director of curriculum for the Newark school district; Dr. Robert Uffelman, University of Delaware; and Edward Stowell, physical science teacher at Christiana High School.

Bob Taylor Becomes Seventh Eagle Scout With Troop 56 Over Past 2-1/2-Yr. Span

With parents as special guests, Boy Scout Troop 56 of Newark held a Court of Honor on the grounds of the Parish House of the sponsoring First Presbyterian Church last Thursday, and Bob Taylor became the seventh member of the troop to receive Eagle Scout rank in the past two-and-a-half years.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew G. Taylor of Christine Manor, he entered Scouting as a Cub seven years ago in New Castle. In 1960, he became a Tenderfoot in Troop 56 and advanced through the ranks. At Rodney, he attended the senior patrol leaders' camp and earned the mile swim award.

Troop Committee Chairman Bruce Warren was in charge of the Eagle ceremony. Troop Committee members who considered Bob's right to wear the Eagle badge are George Fillington, James Cox, and George Murray.

Others who assisted in the ceremony are Robert Cronin, George and Ken Shuster and Thomas Davies — all Eagle Scouts.

The award was presented by Donald McIntosh to Bob's mother, who pinned it on her son. Mrs. Taylor received a miniature Eagle badge. Senior Patrol Leader Bill McIntosh conducted a Tenderfoot ceremony for Charles Steel, Peter Davidson, David Copley, Jim Pocalyko and David Davis.

Assistant Scoutmaster Ronald McLain presented Tenderfoot badges to the mothers who pinned them upside down on the boy's uniforms. McLain asked the Scouts not to turn them over until they had performed their first good deed.

Second Class badges were awarded by Vernon Steele and Assistant Scoutmaster Charles Eastman to Kip Nelson, Robin Whitlock, Tom Snow, Gary Pyle and Steve Kutz.

A First Class badge was presented to David Widdows by Paul Bolgiano of the troop committee, and Mr. Bolgiano awarded a Star badge to David Murray.

Merit badges were presented by William Bower to Bob Taylor for hiking, citizenship in the community, soil and water conservation and public speaking; and to David Murray for personal fitness, rabbit raising and citizenship in the home.

Scoutmaster Thomas Davies awarded a den chief's cord to Robin Whitlock, and the troop's bugler badge to Kip Nelson.

Patrol Leader McIntosh presented a point contest award to the Vampires patrol led by Bob Bower. The contest was held over a six-month period and the ward is a camping trip to Trappe Pond near Laurel.

It was announced that 36 boys from Troop 56 will attend Camp Rodney from July 29 through Aug. 4, with three leaders.

Judith K. Davenport Heads New Program In Monday Debut For Children's Theatre

Final arrangements are being made for the debut of the newly organized Children's Theatre of Delaware, which will hold its first classes in Creative Dramatics and Creative Acting at the Newark YWCA next Monday.

A few registrations in Creative Dramatics classes for children 6-8 and 9-11 are available. Classes will be held Monday and Thursday afternoons for five weeks, the 6-8 group meeting from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Instructors will be Marion Mayne and Mrs. Renee O'Leary, both experienced elementary school teachers.

Mrs. Judith K. Davenport, who has conducted similar programs in Cleveland, Denver, and Knoxville, will supervise the program.

A special class in Creative Acting to provide advanced study for teenagers will be conducted by Dr. C. Robert Kase, head of the department of dramatic arts and speech at the University of Delaware. This class is scheduled to meet Mondays and Thursdays from 4 to 5 p. m.

According to Mrs. Davenport, Creative Dramatics has been developed throughout the United States as one of the few art forms utilized exclusively for children between the ages of 6 and 11.

"Based upon the elementary acting technique of improvisation," she explains, "children in classes dramatize a classic or original story by making up both action and dialogue. All of the action and words spoken in these plays are invented by the young actors on the spot."

"After acting out each scene, the group discusses its merits and immediately re-acts the scene to improve it."

"Children's Theatre," Mrs. Davenport continues, "provides a creative outlet for emotions within a specific art form — a meaningful experience in expressing one's ideas with clarity and without fear, and provides an opportunity to experience the free exchange of ideas within an organized group."

"Through this study of creative dramatization," Mrs. Davenport concludes, "the child develops a sense of the 'dramatic' which will enrich his life by more direct participation as an actor in play, or as a theatergoer of tomorrow."

Further information may be obtained by writing to the Children's Theatre of Delaware, 239 Cheltenham Drive, Newark.

Postmaster Cooch Announces ZIP Code To Expedite Mails

Newark ZIP Code 19711 To Be Used In Return Address For Outgoing Mail With Inauguration Of National P.O. System On July 1; Time Saving Of 24 Hours Predicted

"Our five-digit ZIP code is 19711," Newark Postmaster F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., announced today. "Everyone in Newark should use this ZIP code on all their correspondence to speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of missent mail," Cooch said.

ZIP code, the Post Office Department's revolutionary new system for improved mail dispatch and delivery, goes into effect nationally on July 1.

Postmaster Cooch stressed the importance for all residents of the Newark mail delivery area to learn this ZIP code and use it as return address on all correspondence. In answering mail, he said, ZIP codes taken from return addresses on incoming mail should be used.

"Last Word" "The ZIP code is literally the last word in mail addresses," Cooch said. "It should follow the city and state in addresses."

He cited this example of the proper use of ZIP code: F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., Postmaster, U. S. Post Office, Newark, Del. 19711.

The new ZIP code plan, the postmaster said, will for the first time permit the Post Office Department to short-cut repeated address reading.

"The address on mail must often be read as many as eight or 10 times by postal employees, to get it to the proper destination," Cooch said. "Each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to opportunity for human error."

"With ZIP code, a clerk need only glance at the code to know immediately to what national, state and post office the letter is destined, and to speed it on its way, cutting up to 24 hours of the time between deposit and delivery."

Postmaster Cooch said that when ZIP code is in full swing, the United States will have "the most modern system of mail distribution and delivery."

Speaking of Money...

The Heavyweight Boxing Champ and Automation

Speaking for the Wilmington Savings Fund Society

Hello. This is John Buchanan Speaking of Money, and speaking of money... we all view the accelerating automation of industry with a squinty eye. What will it do to our incomes?

In my opinion, we would do well to take a look at the heavyweight world championship boxing match for some guidance on this subject.

Now, you might well laugh and say... automation is the newest thing in industry. Why demonstrate it with the oldest business in the history of the world... fighting? Well... I chose boxing precisely because it is the oldest business in the world. I guess when the first Neanderthal man looked at the second one across a tasty T-bone, his first words probably were the equivalent of, "get out, or put up your dukes."

Now the point is this... we in the older businesses are especially concerned about what automation may do to our businesses... hence to our jobs. If you are over 35, you may remember that when TV first tried to televise the world championship heavyweight boxing match, the promoters screamed that it would kill their business. Fewer and fewer people would attend the boxing match. They were absolutely right.

At the Patterson-Liston match, the seating capacity of Chicago's Comiskey Park was 60,000. But only 18,894 people showed up for the match. Yet... this match grossed about five million dollars... which was a record box office for a single show.

How did this happen... when the people who walked into the match only paid $65.400?

Television. The customers for the match were not drawn from just one city and state, but from 250 theaters in the United States and 13 in Canada, with a total seating capacity of 1,030,000.

Countries around the world paid fees to see the fight via Telstar. For example, British Broadcasting paid $70,000; Sweden, $20,000; Rhodesia, $1,000.

So, from the boxers' point of view, and from the customers' point of view... the automation of boxing via TV and Telstar... was a big step ahead. Now, in the same way... automation works to the advantage of all of us... whatever our business.

BUT... only... if we take a certain attitude: The attitude that we are willing to take a new and broader view of our business.

We'll have to be mobile in our willingness to change to another department of the company... or even to another company. We'll have to be mobile enough to learn a new and broader phase of the business we're in. And it will help if we're willing to be mobile enough at times to change our geographical location if necessary.

Now there are all kinds of techniques we as people or as individuals can use to plan, to oppose and resist the arrival of automation. But what we preserve gets lost.

But the cold fact is... that's the surest way to unemployment. Because ultimately we are competing among ourselves. We are competing against Europe and the Orient for customers who shop on price.

And, if we use old methods, they will undoubtedly every time, and we'll have to get satisfaction of autos and other goods that we as a nation produce.

At the Savings Fund our business is to help people save regularly. Why not make a savings program with us and make it pay? Savings Fund, too. Your money will earn interest at the current rate of 4 1/2% in a Special Purpose account. You can open an account with as little as one dollar, with full passbook privileges at any office regardless of the one at which you opened your account. You can even open comfortably at home and bank by mail. The Savings Fund pays the principal both ways.

IMPERFECT BUT STILL GOOD RECORD

Because of the decency and good common sense of its citizens, the City of Newark has experienced progress and improvement in the move for equal civil rights. The city's record is imperfect, but it can be improved upon — and it can be improved upon.

Integration of public school children and teachers was a major step in the move for equal civil rights. A Negro was elected captain of the Newark High School football team last year.

Some few years later, his father was reelected for a second term as a councilman for the City of Newark.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Which way is Newark heading? When will City Council meet the basic needs of this community? When will they stop wasting precious time in fruitless debate over luxury items and government?

When will management be permitted to do the job with the present adequate tools of government without delays and harassment by reformers? Why are people living outside the city permitted to determine policy and dictate to the local government?

The city has a five-year program for water distribution. To date, they do not have a way to finance this.

We are in a court battle to serve water outside the city. Should we succeed in this case, how will we pay for the pipes required? That's trivial to some. We should buy parks — parks and more parks.

Parks rate a higher priority? Some think so. There is a move underway in the state to purchase parklands. Before long, unless the people of Newark act, they will be financing two park systems.

Newark citizens cry out for relief from air pollution. They endure soot and smoke day in and day out. Nothing is done. Let an individual come in from outside the city and ask for help about a quarry three miles from the limits of the city, and they vote to spend a few thousand to help in a court case on this.

Many do not know that the City of Newark does not even own a public building suitable for municipal purposes. The leased Academy of Newark Building now serving this purpose is inadequate.

Instead of using the present adequate City Charter and tools of government to get something done, there is a group silently and persistently gnawing away at your City Charter.

Will someone in this city help stop this waste of time and help get something done?

WILLIAM M. COVERDALE
1st Dist. Councilman

Two Of UD Staff Conduct Projects To Aid Teaching

Two University of Delaware faculty members are working on a project of curriculum development and teacher training which may affect teaching of science and mathematics throughout the state.

Dr. John A. Brown, professor of education and mathematics and Dr. Robert L. Uffelman, associate professor of education, are directing the work on mathematics and science teaching, respectively.

Uffelman and two local teachers — Mrs. Beatrice Derickson and Joseph Michalewicz of the Jennie E. Smith and Silverside elementary schools — will spend eight weeks beginning June 24 in the laboratories of Educational Services, Inc., Watertown, Mass., to develop elementary science materials which will be used in local schools next September.

Educational Services, Inc. is one of several National Science Foundation-sponsored curriculum centers in the nation, and the University of Delaware has been designated one of its field development centers in science.

Closed Circuit TV Scheduled At U. D. In Lab Basement

Albert E. Lussier, Jr.
Commercial manager for the Diamond State Telephone Company.

The University of Delaware has accepted the proposal of the Radio Corporation of America, Camden, N. J., to supply basic equipment for a closed circuit television system.

Two live studio cameras, electronic and lighting equipment for a control room and studio, and 1000-ft. of coaxial cable are included in the $29,000 "package" to be delivered in two weeks.

Acceptance of the RCA proposal was recommended by Louis L. Lewis, educational television consultant to the university.

"The exact nature of the university's future TV equipment needs cannot be determined until the State decides what it wants in educational television," Lewis said.

"In any case, the equipment just purchased will form the heart of whatever larger system eventually may be required to enable the university to be in with a state system," he concluded.

The university expects to begin limited operation of the closed circuit system to give faculty members experience in using the new instructional medium.

A temporary installation will be made in the basement of H. Rodney Sharp Laboratory.

Laundrying Blankets Not Chore Of Yore But Expert Offers Advice To Ease Job

Albert E. Lussier, Jr.
Commercial manager for the Diamond State Telephone Company.

Laundrying blankets used to be quite a chore for the housewife, but today nearly all blankets can be laundered in the washing machine, according to Janet Reed, extension clothing and textiles specialist at the University of Delaware.

Some special precautions are necessary, of course, but blankets of wool or man-made fibers can retain their fluffy, "new" look through quite a few washings, she says.

Before washing blankets, use a sponge and liquid detergent to spot-clean noticeable stains and soil, especially along the bindings.

Fill the washer with warm water and add detergent. When the detergent is dissolved, put in one large or two small blankets and soak for five to 15 minutes, either by stopping agitation or by using a "soak" cycle. Then agitate slowly for a minute and spin water from the washer on the normal spin cycle, about three minutes.

Rinse for a minute in clear water, and then rinse again for one minute with a fabric softener rinse added to the water. Spin again for three minutes.

For line drying, hang blanket over two parallel clotheslines, pulling gently to shape the blanket.

Blankets of acrylic fibers can be dried in an automatic dryer at the regular wash and wool setting.

Wool or rayon blankets may be dried with care in the automatic dryer. Be sure to place three or four terry cloth towels in the dryer with the blanket to serve as buffers and help prevent shrinking, Miss Reed says.

Electric blankets may be washed in the same manner, but should always be dried over clotheslines. Electric blankets should never be drycleaned, Miss Reed points out.

Babe Ruth League Faces Curtailed Card With Lack Of Funds For 90 Boy Players

The Newark Babe Ruth League schedule of 15 games for each of six teams with 15 players each, may have to be curtailed for lack of financial support, President Gene Christmann said yesterday. The cost of umpires, insurance, uniforms and equipment for a season is $1800.

Sources of funds for the Newark Babe Ruth League program include $100 from each of the team sponsors; the sale of membership tickets; auto bumper stickers; and refreshments by the Ladies Auxiliary; and donations from fans during the baseball games.

"And a lot of praying," Christmann added.

The six team sponsors are the Bank of Delaware; the Budd Company; Curtis Paper, Newark Lumber; the Newark Optimist Club; and J. Allison O'Daniel Post 475, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

BASEBALL BACKBONE

Thanks to the efforts of some self-sacrificing, dedicated adults, baseball is offered to almost every boy in the Newark area with age-group leagues—from the GNRA Pony League to a new New-Rec League to National Little League, Babe Ruth, and Connie Mack League baseball.

Newark has a splendid program — boys are learning to play baseball, and with this learning are being taught good sportsmanship and all that this important quality entails.

Thanks and congratulations to the men who make this possible!

McGlinchey's Vets Win 2-0 Opener For Mack League

Newark Shopping Center, VFW Rosters Announced For Connie Mack Teams

Three men were thrown out at home by rifle-armed Alan Ely and Sam Yarrington, and by Gene Garrit of the Newark Shopping Center and VFW teams, as Manager Joe McGlinchey's Vets defeated Manager Joe Glattner's Center nine 2-0 in the local Connie Mack Baseball League opener last Thursday evening on the Stine Lab diamond.

Bob Buchanan hurled four-hit ball for the winners, and Tom Palmer gave up but five safeties in a stellar but losing role.

Players on the VFW squad are Alan Whitman, Mike McGlinchey, Walt Jones, Gene Garrit, Bob Roselle, Matt Cray, Dan Suppe, Ken Wilson, Bob Buchanan, Earl Attkisson, Earl Schoen, Vic Chalmers, Pete Heuberg, Dean Shelly, and John Hassman.

The Newark Shopping Center squad includes Ken Eggleston, Mickey Huff, John Collins, Dave Beattie, Fred McCullough, Ron Hart, Alan Ely, Reggie Watson, Dave Taylor, Mike Givens, Sam Yarrington, Tom Palmer, Steve Childress, and Reid.

Last Tuesday night, Alan Ely pitched a two-hitter and aided his own cause by hitting a double as the Newark Shopping Center stopped Mill Creek 4-0.

John Collins tripled; Sam Yarrington hit a two-run homer, and the Center nine came up with three double plays.

Tommy Palmer fired a two-hitter at the Christiana Lions last Monday, striking out six as the Newark Shopping Center won 4-0. Collins collected a single and two doubles.

The Vets have a 3-1 record after losing 5-4 in eight innings to Swanton, and the Shopping Center squad is 2-1 after Tuesday's loss.

Playing away, McGlinchey's Vets defeated Christiana 6-4 behind the steady pitching of Alan Whitman, and with Bob Buchanan pitching, the VFW wallowed Elsmere 22-2 with home runs by Walt Jones, Bob Roselle, and Whitman.

In next Monday and Tuesday tests, the Vets play at home with Mill Creek and Christiana, and the Shopping Center faces Elsmere and Swanton.

All games are scheduled to begin at 6 p.m., with all home stands played on the Stine Lab field off Elkton Road.

Charlie Pinto Cards 70 To Beat Jim Monkman, Jr.

Charlie Pinto fired a sub-par 70 to defeat Jim Monkman, Jr. in happy to settle for a rock, just over junior golf play for the Newark minimum legal length, and the Country Club last Monday.

Monkman, 14-year-old, presented a problem. "A friend of Berry's caught 32 trout in the Delaware State pond's inlet," Savitch said. "Savitch said Amateure Golf Championship, as yesterday after returning from a veteran Ellis Taylor copied the title, weekend in New Jersey."

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day Equine "Couch" Cases

If horses could talk, there would be a much closer relation between past performance and racing consistency. Horses too have phobias, "Monday morning blues" and other mental quirks which in many cases account for apparent form reversals. The late, great Calumet Farm trainer, Ben Jones, once had a filly who was "off her feed". Fretting in her stall, and not running to expectation, Jones pondered, determined she was lonesome and had a window cut in her stall so that she could see her neighbor. She calmed down and proved a winner. At Sunland Park last winter, a horse named Deep Velvet suddenly popped down with a 7-length victory. It developed that his

The late Ray Eschmeyer, director of the American Sports Fishing Institute, maintained that the Chesapeake Bay was the home of the striped bass and that 90 per cent of the world's population of strippers still resides in the Chesapeake, while the other 10 per cent are migrants to the Atlantic and Gulf coastal waters or transports to the Pacific in the area of San Francisco's Golden Gate.

However, the rock taken from the ocean by hook and line fishermen, are far more impressive than those caught by sportmen in the Land of Pleasant Living.

In the R. J. Schaefer Salt Water Fishing Contest—and the Benjamin reference to the Land of Pleasant Living is somewhat out of place in discussing the Schaefer competition—John F. Ryan beached a 67-lb. striper while surfcasting on Block Island's Sandy Point Beach on May 31, with a Hopkins No. 4 jig.

And that same day, Thomas E. Karthaus boated a 61-lb. striper in the waters of Long Beach, N. Y., trolling with a bunker spoon.

In the Chesapeake, we have been to defeat Jim Monkman, Jr. in happy to settle for a rock, just over junior golf play for the Newark minimum legal length, and the Country Club last Monday.

Monkman, 14-year-old, presented a problem. "A friend of Berry's caught 32 trout in the Delaware State pond's inlet," Savitch said. "Savitch said Amateure Golf Championship, as yesterday after returning from a veteran Ellis Taylor copied the title, weekend in New Jersey."

McKenna, Bauer To Play Off Tie For Senior Title

Defending champion Tom McKenna, and Dick Bauer have tied for first place in the Newark Country Club Senior Golf Championship Tournament and will meet in a playoff for the title next weekend.

Bauer and McKenna each fired 153½ in the 36-hole tourney last weekend.

McKenna played in Class B (56-60 age group) and Bauer in Class C (50-55).

Dr. William Gasper won honors in Class A (61 and over) with 161. John Bradley was second with 171. Trailing McKenna in Class B were Frank Uhl, 161 and Bill Lee-Fashion, 163.

Art Matthews, 155, and Steve Macaigh 156, trailed Bauer in Class C.

Denny Hill Registers Ace At Woodridge Golf Club

Denny Hill of 807 Lehigh Road, Newark, scored a hole-in-one at the Woodridge Golf Club, Lisle, Ill., on June 7.

Playing in a foursome with Dean Steel, George Grimes, and Frank Miskell—all of Illinois—Steel scored his ace with a nine iron on the 148-yd. No. 10 hole. Woodridge Golf Pro Cliff VanPoucke reports.

Hill carded an 81 for the 18-hole round at Woodridge.

Trotters, Pacers Attain Stardom At Brandywine

The first 30-night session off Brandywine Raceway's 80-night split harness meet, which wound up on June 6, proved a shining starway to early-season stardom for 12 trotters and pacers who won berths on the national season's champions roster.

Brandywine's chance to help further enhance the National record table will come this summer when it conducts a 30-night session beginning Aug. 5.

Just one week ago, and two of these same five baby coons had been scratching at the door of R. T. Jones on Newark's West Main Street the night before.

Ladies Share Delaware Park Limelight With Distaff Big Three, Exercise

You just can't keep the ladies out of the picture at Delaware Park, whether they be horses or humans.

The Stanton truck is known as the home of the quarter-mile dollar Distaff Big Three races, consisting of the estimated $80,000 Ocala the climactic $165,000 Delaware Handicap, world's richest race for fillies and mares. And the idea for this unmatched series was conceived by a woman—Helen Stairwalt, secretary of the Delaware Steeplechase and Race Association, which operates Delaware Park, who also came up with the plan for the golden triad.

It long since became common knowledge for many of the nation's outstanding lady owners, breeders and trainers to participate in Delaware Park racing, but this season a unique new race track record has been established in connection with the so-called weaker sex.

No fewer than 11 female exercisers are galloping horses in the daily morning workouts!

Best known gal galloper is Doris Riley, a pretty young brunette mother of two children—Brandy Kay, six, and Patricia Ann, four. Doris, who puts thoroughbred through their paces for trainer Angelo Bertrando, married a one-time steeplechase jockey, trainer and former Delaware Park outsider.

The other day at Delaware Park, Helen Stairwalt presented Sports Illustrated's Award of Merit to Doris, a sterling silver bowl for her.

by Dean Belt
4-H Club Agent

New Castle County sent 56 to the 4-H Conference at the University of Delaware, and along with fun and fellowship opportunities provided, 4-Hers heard outstanding speakers.

Barnard Walker spoke about "People in Other Lands," Andy

Eure, associate director of the National 4-H Foundation, spoke on "World Challenges in Citizenship." Dr. William McDaniel, college of agriculture, spoke on "Career Opportunities," the Rev. Paul McCoy, Newark Methodist Church, gave everyone an education in "Values for Teens," and Polly Hanst, homemaker and instructor from Maryland, was most interesting with a program on "Getting Along with Others."

Beverly Wiebe of Brandywine Hundred, and Bill Taylor of Chestnut Hill Estates were New Castle County's contestants in the Public Speaking Contest.

In the State Talent Contest two acts from the Meads-Larks 4-H Club represented New Castle County. Karen Snyder and Barbara Eshelman, both from Meadowood, played a marimba and piano duet and a fellow club member, Donna Klingner, played a piano solo. Donna is from Eastburn Acres.

I'll soon be leaving for vacation, and will try and keep you posted on my trip as I did last year. I plan to go to Kentucky, and if all goes well, I'll visit a couple of 4-H clubs there.
