R. W. Heim Speaks To Parent-Teacher Body

Many Attended Interesting Meeting in High School Last Evening—Others Make Short Addresses

EXHIBITS A FEATURE

One of the best Parent-Teacher meetings of the year was held in the High School last evening. A large attendance marked the occasion, and they were amply rewarded. Prof. Heim, speaker of the evening, was followed by several other members of the Association, who carried on the discussion.

President George L. Medill presided at the meeting.

Miss Wilcox, of the Women's College, demonstrated the methods used in ear-training with the use of a gramophone. Pupils from the first and fifth grades, led by Miss Wilcox, sang many charming little songs.

Prof. Heim, of the University, gave the address of the evening. His subject was "Vocational Education." He spoke of the various phases of his work, and of the importance of such subjects in the public schools. The responsibility of the State, he declared, is to arrange for the pupil a course of study that gives him culture, makes him a better citizen and teaches him to work with his hands. The vocational subjects give a purpose in high school work to those students who otherwise might be injured or compelled to drop out of school before graduation.

One School's Example

Prof. Heim told of one rural high school from which no boy had been graduated in eleven years; after a course in agriculture had been included in the curriculum, eleven boys were graduated the first year. Moreover, the course had been so practical that these eleven boys had seven thousand dollars to their credit in the bank, the result of work while learning.

The speaker pointed out clearly that the inclusion of vocational subjects in the high school course makes the school more democratic, because it takes into consideration the likes and dislikes of every child. When it is realized that from every one hundred pupils who enter the elementary schools, only eight are graduated and only five go on to college, it becomes apparent that these vocational subjects should come as early as possible in the child's school life.

In the discussion which followed Prof. Heim's talk, Prof. Owens explained how well this work has been provided for in room and equipment in the new school which we are to have in Newark. Mr. Shaw spoke of the approval of men in business of those schools which graduated boys and girls who not only know text and facts, but who know how to use their hands. Prof. Merrill made a plea to include a study of business in the vocational course.

Home Economics Show

An interesting exhibit of the work of girls in the home-making course and of the boys in agriculture in the school included examples of stenciling, embroidery, plain sewing, and canning; of seed-testing, cold-frame planting and poultry feeding. An interesting model of cold-frame and of a self-feeder for poultry attracted much attention.

The April meeting will be addressed by Prof. Shilling, who is familiar with school finances in the State and district. Members of the local school board will also be present and parents who attend will have an opportunity to receive an explanation of the advantages of our new school building and of the increase in taxes.

BIG TREE BEING REMOVED

Workmen have been busy all week moving a large tree from the sidewalk in front of the hardware store. Walter Geist, on East Main Street, a tree has protruded dangerously to the right of way along the street, and is one of several others which are proving to be menaces to the public. A similar work is going on at the residence of Daniel Stoll, on East Main Street.

WANT TOWN SEWAGE FOR FARM IRRIGATION

Government Engineer Asks For Right to Use Waste From Disposal Plant

COUNCIL APPROVES

A letter was read before the meeting of Council Monday night from George A. Mitchell, an engineer attached to the Department of Agriculture, in which he offered to take the burden of sewage disposal from the town and by a new process, convert it into fertilizer and convey it to nearby farms for use on the fields.

The plan, as outlined by Mr. Mitchell, who is working in collaboration with William C. Bernard of East Newark, calls for no expense whatever to the town, and asks merely for the right to use the waste material.

Coming as it does at a time when new disposal tanks and other equipment are extremely necessary to the local plant, the offer met with instant approval on the part of the Council. According to the letter, Mr. Mitchell wants the rights for a long term of years. He assures the Council that there will be no objectionable features to the removal of the sewage.

A fuller explanation of details was requested by Council.

Other matters of business disposed of at the regular meeting were:

Granting of the use of the room above the Council chamber to the use of the Minnehaha Band for practice on stated evenings at a nominal rental.

Completion of payments to F. W. Lovett for street work accomplished during 1923.

Annual appropriation of $500 to the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, approved on motion of Mr. Brier.

Report of $112 collected in fines for the months of February by Alderman Thompson.

MRS. G. W. DAWSON DIES AT HOME OF SON HERE

Mrs. Georgeanna W. Dawson, aged 66 years, died about 1 o'clock this morning at the home of her son, Earl Dawson, on West Main Street.

Mrs. Dawson was well-known to many people in the community, and while her health has not been very good for a number of years, she had taken quite an interest in the affairs of the community.

For the past few months her health had been failing rapidly. She was a sufferer from bronchial asthma.

Short services will be held at her late residence on West Main Street tomorrow evening at seven o'clock. Rev. Frank Herson will conduct the service.

Interment will be made on Friday, at the family burying lot in Easton, Md., where most of Mrs. Dawson's relatives are living. The deceased is survived by one son, Earl, and three sisters.

DRUG-CRAZED NEGRO ALARMS RESIDENTS—GIVES CHIEF LEWIS MIGHTY BATTLE IN JAIL

A strange Negro, named Brown, aged about 26 years, alarmed residents of West Delaware Avenue and Elkton Road late Monday night, when, under the influence of drugs, he ran amuck, shouting at the top of his voice and hammering on doors of houses as he passed by. Residents, hearing the blood-curdling shouts, locked and bolted doors, fearing bodily harm. It appears that Brown's drug-soaked mind had become temporarily unbalanced.

A telephone call from William E. Hayes, of Delaware Avenue, brought Chief Lewis running to the scene. Upon the chief's arrival at Elkton Avenue, Brown retreated across the B. and O. tracks and ran up an alley behind the Thompson property. A few minutes later he was captured by the Chief, handcuffed and, still moaning and praying in turn, was taken to the jail.

When arrested, the Negro was clad only in underclothing, and had evidently been stopping at the B. and O. workmen's camp south of the station here. Prior to his mad flight through town, he almost wrecked the interior of the camp, according to reports. It appears that there was no fight, but that the man had suddenly lost his mind, and after breaking up several pieces of furniture, leaped through an open window and escaped.

P. S. duPont Invites Entire College Group as His Guests on March 17th

An announcement made in the dining hall of Delaware College yesterday at noon which created prolonged applause was to the effect that a personal invitation had been extended by Pierre S. duPont to the members of the student body, the Faculty and their wives of the University to be his guests at the performance of "Romeo and Juliet" to be given at the Playhouse on the evening of March 17th next. The announcement was made by A. G. Wilkinson, business administrator, in whose hands arrangements for the huge theatre party rests.

Mr. Wilkinson when asked about his plans, following the announcement, stated that there will be over 650 seats reserved for the Delaware contingent.

When the announcement was made to the students of Delaware College, the old Commons resounded with cheers for Mr. duPont.

The performance of "The Night Cap," by the Footlights Club of the University, was originally scheduled for the evening of the 17th in Wolf Hall, but it was postponed until the 19th at a meeting several days ago.

As far as could be learned practically every student on the upper Campus will avail himself of the royal invitation extended by Mr. duPont.

Over 500 Enroll In County Farm Bureau

Members Still Coming In—Potato and Soy Bean Pools Get Response

The Farm Bureau members who signed during the recent campaign now exceed 500, according to a report made by J. D. Reynolds, campaign manager, at the monthly meeting of the New Castle Farm Bureau held in Wilmington last Saturday. The drive has not been completed and it is expected that it will be materially increased during the month of March.

President Frank F. Yearsley stated that the certified seed potato pool now exceeds one car load and that due to the fact that some farmers have not yet placed their orders, the pool will be held over until Saturday, (Continued on Page 4.)

COMMUNITY BAZAR ON MARCH 22, IS PLANNED

Farmers To Have Opportunity To Dispose of Goods and Buy Needed Articles

It was announced Monday by O. K. Moore of the Farmers' Trust Company here, that the first community bazaar will be held at the Washington House on Saturday, March 22nd, starting at 12:30 sharp.

Interest in the proposed series of sales has been growing each week, and the Farmers' Trust Company, under whose auspices they are being held, have already received assurance of many articles, including several head of live stock, which will be placed under the hammer. Goods will be sold for the high dollar, no bidding in being allowed.

It is the opinion of Mr. Moore that the sales will be a boon to the farmers and householders of the community, providing as it does a common meeting ground where useful and valuable articles may be bought and sold in a convenient manner.

Those deciding to list articles for the sale must get their "entries" in several days before the date of the sale in order that they may be advertised.

Newark High Still In Running For Title

Sensational One-Point Victory Over New Castle Witnessed by Hundreds Last Night

In one of the most sensational High School basketball games ever played in Newark, the local High School five squeezed out a one-point victory over their bitter rivals, New Castle, in the Armory last night before a crowd of over 400 people. The score at the end of the game was 18-17.

The last few minutes of the titanic struggle had the big crowd of rooters from both towns on their feet, shouting madly. With but two minutes to play, the score was tied at 15, following a desperate spurt by the visitors.

Then followed a pretty shot on a rebound by Hopkins and a technical foul by Rupp, giving Newark a three-point lead. With less than a minute to go, two fouls were called by New Castle and an instant before the whistle blew, another free throw was given them.

With everything at stake for his team, Wilson, the flashy little New Castle guard, stepped to the foul mark amid a sudden hush. He missed the basket, and the game was won for Newark. Had Wilson made the goal, the game would have gone into extra periods where anything might have happened. No more sensational finish to a cage game has ever been witnessed here.

Blind Student Ranks High In France

Word was received here Sunday of the remarkable success of Francis Cummings, University of Delaware Junior, who is totally blind, ranked fourth among the seventy-one successful candidates for the diploma of French civilization at the Sorbonne, in Paris. The honor of being among the candidates is greatly treasured by students in Paris, and the fact that the blind Delaware boy was right up with the leaders is all the more remarkable. It is reported that he went to classes with the assistance of his companions but took no notes. His examination paper, written on a typewriter, was a revelation to the French professors.

J. Russell Turner, a Delaware Foreign Study student, was also among the fourteen successful American candidates for diplomas.

Planning Series Of Summer Concerts Here

Music Society, Council, and Chamber of Commerce Cooperating in Promoting Move

BANDS OFFER SERVICES

What is believed to be the beginning of a new revival in community interest for the residents of Newark and vicinity is involved in the announcement of plans this week for the promotion of summer musical festivals, in which everyone in the community is invited, and which will be nightly features during the period from May to September.

Taking the cue from other municipalities which hold such affairs to be features of their community life, Newark is about to take the step forward, and thus provide for her citizens the privilege of closer relationship and to promote a higher type of community pride than has in the past been the rule.

While no authoritative plans have as yet been publicly announced, the outline of the proposed movement is as follows:

Under the auspices of the Newark Music Society, and through the patronage of Town Council, the Chamber of Commerce, and other public and private aid, it is proposed to hold band concerts on the Academy lawn either every evening during the summer, or at least three times per week.

The problem of providing the entertainment at a nominal cost has been solved by the generous offers of both the Continental Band and the Minnehaha Band, through which both organizations have offered their services free. It is believed that the bands will alternate, each playing for one week.

Furthermore, officials of the Music Society, working with members of Council and the Chamber of Commerce, are endeavoring to place the proposed summer concert idea on a permanent basis. Plans are being laid for the erection of a band stand on the Academy lawn near the Washington House side. The size of the stand will be about twenty-five feet square, and will likely be built of concrete, with frame pillars running up to support the roof.

All of these plans must not, in the opinion of the active workers, be taken literally. Many problems must be met before the concerts can be considered as settled upon. Chief among these is the matter of financing the series.

Both the Chamber of Commerce and Town Council have been asked to appropriate funds to start action. At the Directors' monthly meeting of the former organization last Wednesday, the sum of $50.00 was set aside. Recently, however, it has been suggested that both the Chamber and Town Council appropriate $100 each to further the movement.

Mayor Frazer, an active worker for the Music Society, brought up the matter at Council meeting Monday evening last. That body seemed quite in favor of the summer concert idea, but tabled the motion pending a further investigation into the cost of erecting the bandstand. It is believed, however, that both appropriations will be made within a month.

General opinion throughout the town appears to be in favor of the proposed concert series. In successfully carrying on the program through the summer, the Music Society will have one of the great works for the town. With the hearty cooperation of the bands, and the probable importation of assisting artists at stated intervals, it is believed that Newark will be a Mecca for music-lovers from the entire outlying community.

P. O. EMPLOYEES EXAMINED

Chief Inspector Dunlap of the Railway Post Office Department, was in Newark yesterday and examined the employees of the local Post Office in the annual "case examination," combining and sorting and proper routing of mail with speed and accuracy.

As far as could be learned, every member of the staff here passed the examination. A mark of 95 per cent must be made to pass the test.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYERS IN "DADDY LONG LEGS" DELIGHT LARGE AUDIENCE HERE

CLEAR $475 FOR WASHINGTON TRIP

It was officially announced Saturday last that the High School play given the previous night in the Opera House, had netted the Senior Class the sum of $475.00. Such a remarkable response on the part of Newark patrons of the school boys and girls has seldom been reached.

The money will be used to finance a trip for the entire class to Washington, D. C., during the late Spring. They will spend three or four days viewing the sights of the Nation's capital.

After weeks and months of intensive training under the watchful eyes of Miss Mary Houston and her corps of assistants, the annual High School Senior play, "Daddy Long Legs," was placed before a local audience which crowded the Opera House last Friday evening. To say the audience treated the effort kindly would not be exactly true. In fact, they seemed quite wrapped up in the delightful play as it unfolded itself. It was a decidedly fine performance and one which brought great credit to the members of the cast and the coaches.

The tickets were all gone before the curtain rose for the first act, save a few in the unreserved section.

A Splendid Vehicle

The authorities at the High School could not have decided upon a more appropriate vehicle upon which to mount the young Newark players. "Daddy Long Legs" is a play which at once grips an audience wherever it is given. No doubt many people present Friday evening had seen the play done professionally, perchance with Ruth Chatterton (a great good fortune for anyone). Surely it must have appealed also to the members of cast, for the masterful adaptation of Jean Webster's book is far better material to work with than the average run of High School plays. And so the first pleasure which we believe the audience felt, was that they were seeing a real play.

Furthermore, the High School Seniors very creditably upheld the standard of a "Daddy Long Legs" performance. Recognizing the fact that every member of the cast is a strictly amateur performer and that many of them made their first appearance before the footlights Friday evening and were so bravely trying to forget those hundreds of eyes which were fastened upon them, there can be nothing but praise for them.

There is a very real gap between amateur acting and professional acting—and there always will be. We must take this fact into consideration always when judging a home talent effort. At all events, we folks out in the audience enjoyed it hugely, were glad we came, and hope the High School can give us another treat next year.

Well Selected Cast

Miss Vola Eubanks made a delightful little "Judy." Ranging as the character does from mood to mood, from hot-headed rebellion to quiet brooding, with periods of clever humor liberally sprinkled along the way, it is not an easy one to carry. Hers was, indeed, the key role of the play, and its success largely depended upon the way she bore up under the load. She was a great success all the way through. A wiser selection for the part could hardly have been made. For type, temperament, and fitness, none could quite have filled the role better.

But there were others in the cast which must command attention.

Marion Hopkins made a very dignified figure as "Jarvis Pendleton." His was another difficult role. His lines were a trifle weak at first, but as the play progressed, he improved noticeably. Quite his best work, it appears, was in the last scene, in which the medicine, Walters, a well-rounded "grouch," and Judy all played important parts.

"Jimmie McBride," better known in High School circles as George L. ("Baggy") Townsend, provided the necessary amount of humor in exactly the right places, and in the last two scenes, carefully concealed behind an artistic mustache, he was very good indeed.

Gladys Clark and Elizabeth Worrall, as two carefree college girls, who love to serve tea to guests without sugar, lemons, spoons, cream, and have to call it all off because they haven't any tea, were very well received by the audience, as were Laura Perkins and Marie Gregg, two from the "first families."

And then come Walters, the elongated butler; Griggs, who carefully proceeds to write at a desk through a scene, and Cyrus Wyckoff, the spluttering trustee of the John Grier Home. Played respectively by Nelson Bryson, Harvey Boyce and Charles Boyd, they also drew lots of applause.

Two real character parts were taken by Anna Little and Eleanor Brooks, both elderly, both talkative and both quite harmless as Mesdames Semple and Lippert, the latter having the misfortune to be head of the John Grier Home for Orphans, from which Judy graduated, thanks to a high temper and "Daddy Long Legs."

And we mustn't forget the maids and orphans who were present at times in the show. The tiniest, little Miss Virginia Morris, carried back to her seat late in the evening a great big bouquet of red roses. She made a pretty little picture coming up the aisle.

The others were:

Maids—Mary Otley, Catharine Holton, Evelyn Worrall.

Orphans in John Grier Home—Sadie Kate, Catharine Holton; Gladiola, Evelyn Worrall; Loretta, Mary Stroud; Marie, Gladys Barry; Freddie Perkins, Marion Roberts.

Other Orphans, nameless—Agnes Davis and Dorothy Twosend.

To Miss Mary Houston and her aides, Miss Gallaher and Miss Hobbs, of the teaching staff at the High School, go a large share of the credit for the able performance Friday evening. Their efforts surely were amply rewarded when they saw the big audience, and heard their charges go through the entire play without a noticeable break.

It was a very, very pleasing little show, and with the standard now thoroughly set, it will be with pleasure that we anticipate the next dramatic offering.

James Gorrell Injured at Radnor Pulp Mill Sunday Night; Sight Impaired

James Gorrell, of North East, Md., employed as a water tender at the Radnor Mill of the Jessup and Moore Paper Company at Elkton, was seriously injured late Sunday evening while working in the boiler room of the plant.

According to reports, Gorrell was working along the side of the boiler, and in some manner a jet of steam caught him full in the face.

He was accorded first aid immediately by fellow employees of the plant, but when the extent of his injuries became apparent he was taken to Union Hospital, where he is now confined.

It is believed that Gorrell will lose the sight of one eye as a result of the accident, but every effort is being made by hospital physicians to overcome that danger.

The injured man stated that he could not see from one eye but that he could detect light and shade with the other. This is taken as a good sign, and it is thought his sight may be restored. In addition he is suffering from scalds about the face and head.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Dickey and Miss Lora Little attended the meeting held at Marshallton on Monday evening, in the interest of consolidation of certain school districts. No action was taken at this meeting. The consensus of opinion was that Marshallton has a problem of her own.

Christiana Fire Co. Auxiliary in Election

Mrs. James Appleby Named President—Prompt Action by Firemen Save Sharp Farm House

OTHER NEWS HAPPENINGS

The yearly election of officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Christiana Fire Co. No. 1, took place Tuesday evening, February 26th. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. James Appleby; vice-president, Mrs. Lewis Bullen; secretary, Mrs. A. B. Currinder; treasurer, Mrs. Lewis Wingate. After the business meeting the members were entertained with music and enjoyed a feast of very good cake and cocoa. The hostess was Mrs. Lewis Thorp.

Prompt action on the part of the Christiana Fire Co., Monday morning, saved the farm house belonging to Mr. John Sharp, and occupied by Mr. Ed. Burris. The chimney caught fire and was not discovered until fire had broken out in second floor. Considerable damage was done to interior of two rooms.

George Cleaver, son of Mr. Olden Cleaver, broke his arm while sledding recently.

Mrs. Mary Belmont spent the week-end with Mrs. Lewis Bullen.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Butler have moved to the old Beale property.

Many of the Christiana children are suffering from an epidemic of whooping cough.

Mr. Richard Catlen has started work on his new bungalow, on the Hare's Corner Road.

Mrs. William Falkenberg is visiting Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Currinder.

Miss Ona Singles, of Newark, was a week-end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moody, of near Christiana.

Miss Florence Straskiewicz, of Baltimore, is having a delightful visit with her aunt, Mrs. A. T. Abernathy.

While Frank Foote, Jr., of near Lewisville, and a party of young friends were going to Elkton Saturday evening, they got off the concrete road at Lutton's Corner and came in contact with a concrete abutment. The results were nobody hurt, but a demolished front end of a Ford.

Mrs. A. T. Abernathy, who suffered an attack of indigestion, is improving slowly.

Mrs. John Aument and sons, Willard and Arnold, spent the week-end at Elk Mills with her father, George Stewart.

Lynn Jones, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jones, had a narrow escape from death last Friday by being struck by an automobile driven by William Oliver, of Perryville. The little fellow was playing behind a wagon and ran out directly in front of the car. Mr. Oliver was driving very slow or otherwise the results would have been fatal. The child escaped with no injury whatever. This should be a warning to others. The children seem to delight to play on the new road. Autos have been seen passing through her running fifty mile per hour.

The play entitled "Home Acres," given here last Wednesday night by home talent, was a wonderful success. The hall was packed and many could not be admitted. There have been numerous requests to repeat it, and it will no doubt be given again in the near future. All those taking part did exceptionally well. The Elkton orchestra, led by Mr. Currier, rendered delightful and pleasing music. The stage settings were beautiful and the large floor lamp which added so much to the second scene was loaned by John Minster, and was very much appreciated by the ladies. The play was given under the auspices of the D. of P. here.

KLANSMEN VISIT ELKTON CHURCH

Over twenty members of the Ku Klux Klan, dressed in their robes and hoods, surprised the congregation of the Elkton M. E. Church last Sunday evening by entering the church at the beginning of the service, marching up the aisle to the pulpit and handing the minister, Rev. W. G. Harris, two envelopes.

Without a word they turned and filed out of the church. The services continued as usual, and no mention was made of the visit.

It is reported that the envelopes contained money for destitute families residing in or near Elkton, but this could not be confirmed.

Men

God give us men! A time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true
faith and willing hands;
Men whom the lust of office
does not kill;
Men whom the spoils of office
can not buy;
Men who have honor; men who
will not lie;
Men who can stand before a demagogue
And damn his treacherous flat-
teries without winking.
Tall men, sun crowned, who
live above the fog
In public duty and in private thinking.

—J. G. Holland.

STRONG MEN

Neither let us be slandered
from our duty by false accusations against us, nor frightened
from it by menaces of destruction to the government, nor of dungeons to ourselves. Let us have faith that right makes
might; and in that faith, let us,
to the end, dare to do our duty
as we understand it.—Abraham Lincoln.

ACTIVE MEN

The prime thing that every man who takes an interest in politics should remember is that he must act, and not merely
criticise the actions of others.
It is not the man who sits by his
fireside reading his evening paper and saying how bad our politics and politicians are, who will ever do anything to save us; it is the man who goes out into the
rough hurly-burly of the caucus,
the primary and the political
meeting and there faces his fellows on equal terms. The real service is rendered, not by the critic, who stands aloof from the contest, but by the man who enters into it and bears his part as a man should, undeterred by the blood and sweat.—Theodore Roosevelt.

If

"If," says Frank Kent of the Baltimore Sun, "the Democrats
don't make darn fools of themselves, they have a chance to win."

If—if is a big word in History.
"If the nose of Cleopatra had been a bit longer the history of civilization would have been changed," says Pascal. If the peasant boy at Waterloo had not made a mistake in directing Grouchy, certain it is that Napoleon would have defeated Wellington resulting in unreckoned
circumstances. When the Athenian General sent his "Ultimatum If" to the enemy, the reply
was the laconic—If.

So If has played a big part in World events in the past—and
does today in our lives and events. And nowhere has the word such potential power as in political life. Not only in the Nation but right here in Delaware. Mr. Kent's observation is both ridiculously trite and seriously true. As our local campaign approaches we can see
this little word, If, looming up with fearful significance. It does not apply solely to the Democratic Party, though it has,
as Mr. Kent observes, been responsible for many a defeat.

If—faces the Republicans, too,
this year. Unless those directing party affairs recognise its significance may face us that History
so dramatically records. Independent citizenship will rally
some day under the slogan, If.
And If may mean Success or Defeat, Service or Personal Gain. IF FOLLOWERS favor

Reckless Speech

After Senators Pepper of Pennsylvania and Bruce of Maryland had spoken in the Senate, urging in simple fairness that every citizen of the United States has the constitutional right to defend himself,
Senator Robinson of Arkansas,
asserted with a sneer—

"This is not the time to waste the time of the Senate talking about the Magna Charta and the Constitution."

Senator Robinson is an attorney
at law and took his oath in his admission to practice, to support and defend that document. Ordinarily, we expect much from a lawyer when the Magna Charta is mentioned.

As a lawyer under oath, as a member of the United States Senate, such words shock even this day of reckless speech. And to our way of thinking, of serious consequences. Such words
as these uttered by a soapbox
orator would strike fear in most of us. This is the language
used by those men and organizations that are trying to batter
down law and its observance.
They breed disrespect—and worse.

If those who are in high places of position and power so
forget themselves, what must
we expect from those ignorant
of the responsibility of Liberty
under law and unacquainted
with its conditions. There are far too many Philip Nolans
abroad.

What You Don't Know Does Hurt You

What you don't know, won't hurt you, is a phrase too frequently used by those in authority. Scarcely a week goes by that we are not asked to adopt that "copy-book epigram"
policy relative to some action of public interest. Men, representing the public in State and Institution, want the Press to keep quiet. They accuse the Press of searching for sensation and strife and by such action often cow reporters into Silence. As final argument, when faced with the truth, they explain with withering finality—What you
don't know won't hurt you.

As a reply we ask a perusal of the following from Editor and Publisher:

Of all deceitful copy-book
epigrams which plague and mislead humanity, the most pernicious is: "What you
don't know won't hurt you."
What you do not know, of course, is exactly what will hurt you. Ignorance has never helped anyone and the little knowledge we manage to store up in our minds is
our only safe treasure.

Poverty, disease, hate, injustice, prejudice—all
stumbling human misery
traces back to lack of knowledge. This is as trite and simple as any fact in life,
yet the cynical saw is one of
the best accepted pieces of nonsense of the popular parlance of the day, doubtless originated by some sly Machiavelli of a past age, who
slipped it into the craniums
of his serfs, the easier to exploit them.

American newspapers,
more than all other agencies, are effectively advising, in every issue: Young man, young woman, get knowledge! Read and think! Search the world
for bright treasures for the mind! Build wealth of intelligence, easy to obtain in your day, and better by far
than stored up gold and silver. Do not waste too much time on opinions! Usually,
they are cheap and mistaken. Seek fact and build
your own opinion on it!

Every worth-while fact in life is being published.

"Good Roads, Flowers, Parks, Better Schools, Trees, Pure Water, Fresh Air, Sunshine and Work for Everybody."

somewhere and somehow in this country. Only the mentally lazy, the illiterate
or the slavishly worked are denied the pleasure and
profit of drinking at the sparkling fountain. Thus a powerful aristocracy is rapidly rising, a society of common understanding of the vital forces of life. Many are newspaper educated. To create popular appetite for sound knowledge and serve

it is our chief pride and cause.

The Situation

Recently the Commercial referred to the breakdown of the legislative branch of our Government. Every passing day but emphasizes that collapse.

Nothing of a constructive character is being done in Congress.
The efforts of various groups of politicians, each striving to get into a position which will give it an advantage over all other groups, fill the pages of the daily press. Many a citizen who has perhaps thought that the business of the Government is carried on at the Capitol, some time ago arrived at the conclusion that nothing of a really constructive character and of importance to the country is given serious consideration.

The oil lease investigation has degenerated into something that approaches the purely farcical. Nothing concrete has as yet developed from it.

Under the procedure that has become chronic with the alleged investigators, it would actually be possible to blast the reputation of any citizen who has bought ten gallons of gas for his car or who uses various brands of lubricating oil made from crude petroleum.

That first place should be given, week after week, to a nasty mess in which the wrongdoing of one official only has been made reasonably certain, proves, not the rottenness of that official half
so much as it certifies to the idocy and utter incapacity of men who have been sent to Congress, not to devote the major portion of their time to comparatively trifling things, but to carry on the business of the land in a way to make for the good of everybody—
themselves included.

But the politicians in Congress are mostly crazy with the notion that what they conceive to be some political advantage for themselves, or the party to which they belong, comes first
and that Government business is a mere passing trifle.

The plan to reduce taxes, which was carefully worked out
by an astute and thoroughly competent Secretary of the Treasury,
is being messed up by scatter-brained demagogues and radicals
who offer as a substitute something that they hope will—not produce a workable and scientific reduction of the tax burden—but operate to confuse the voters to such an extent that from that confusion will come political advantages for the tinkers
who never even thought of tax reduction until after Secretary Mellon had shown how the cut could be made and still not create a deficit in the Treasury at the end of the year.

The Democratic minority is working hand in hand with a radical group of reds who sit as accredited Republicans but who will not co-operate with the regular Republicans. The reds would rather see public business go to hell than that they should not have their way.

The Democrats do not believe in La Folletteism but, for partisan ends, they cheerfully co-operate with the "Wisconsin Group"
of destructionists, thus proving the truth of our contention that what is deemed political advantage is considered by the lawmakers at Washington as of vastly more importance than the welfare of the United States.

It is needless to outline further the deplorable situation in the national Capitol. Each passing day but adds to the evidence that goes to prove that a minority of radicals-labeled Republicans
and Farmer-Laborites, co-operating with a minority of Democrats constitute a majority in the present Congress that effectually keeps from all the people the good and desirable things that otherwise they might have.

Those things are tax reduction and forward-looking statutes of a kind that would restore business confidence and make for the prosperity and upward progress of every one of our necessary
and worthy institutions.

What we have written gives but a mere hint of the situation as it exists in Congress at the present time. Many good citizens are concerned deeply over what is taking place. They have come suddenly to a realization that their indifference in years past to the character and purpose of the men they have helped or permitted to get office has been crystallized into a dangerous and critical situation.

Radicalism is in the ascendancy and demagogues under the spotlight occupy the centre of the stage; groups who hammer to get at the public treasury are heartened to increase their efforts to raid the public purse; every last thing that is subversive of the best interests of the land is on parade; all the foes of the Constitution are making ready to attack it; the enemies of business, armed and led by people who envy the thrifty and the industrious, are getting ready for a mighty assault upon our industrial and economic life and the voice of sanity is drowned in the madhouse chorus arising from those who have been made hysterical by the paranoiacs, in Congress obsessed by the notion that when they strive for partisan advantage they are blessed of God.
The country may go to hell before they will do the right thing, lest their political opponents prosper from such action. And in saying all this the writer speaks in cold blood!

It is Not Generally Known That

the federal government spends annually between 40 and 50 million dollars for the benefit of the several states, all direct appropriations by Congress. Among these subsidies or aids are:
$29,000,000 for good roads;
$2,550,000 for land-grant colleges; $2,009,000 for education
in agriculture; $2,019,000 for education in industries; $1,090,-

000 for education of teachers;
$1,034,000 for rehabilitation of persons injured in industry;
$4,580,000 for agriculture extensions; and $1,750,000 for agricultural experiment stations.
In addition are the large sums periodically expended for rivers
and harbors and public buildings. Most of the states receive
far more from the federal government than they pay into the federal government by way of income or other taxes.

OVER 500 ENROLLED IN COUNTY FARM BUREAU

March 8. All orders must be in by that time.

Negotiations are under way to secure quotations on the soy bean pool.
Even before a price has been announced the pool totals over 300
bushels. The Farm Bureau is insisting on the highest quality beans at a reasonable price.

County Agent R. O. Bausman discussed the status of the dairy farmer,

stating that due to the fact that the price of milk has gone down and the cost of feed had increased the dairy farmer is experiencing a difficult situation. Mr. Bausman outlined two propositions, either of which should have an important effect in solving the dairy farmer's problem. The first is to strengthen the Inter-State Milk Producers' Association through a strong membership, especially in the northern part of the county. The Inter-State Association is one already established and through its mem-ber-

teams battled furiously up and down
the floor. Both were trained to the minute, and both fought for every advantage. In addition, the intense excitement prevailed in the crowd,
and at one point in the second half,
a near riot was averted when loyal
rooters from both sides of the hall
met in the middle of the floor, bent
on annihilating each other. Cooler heads prevailed and the game went on.

Hopkins dribbled the length of the floor to cage the first goal of the evening, and was quickly followed by Patchell with an even prettier shot.
Shorty Chalmers caged a foul, and Newark led 5-0. Berry scored first for New Castle on a hard attempt,
and a few minutes later, Leach
scored on a long shot from the middle of the floor. For the next ten minutes the two fives struggled without a score. A few minutes before half time, Hopkins and Patchell each scored, and then Rupp dropped in a two pointer.

The first half ended 14-6 in Newark's favor.

Second Half Exciting

That Newark's early lead was their salvation was evident in the second half, when New Castle came back into the fray with a rush. Foul goals were caged by both teams early in the half and then the visitors cut loose with a sensational rally which brought the crowd to its feet.

Leach, King, and Leach again
scored beautifully from the field and the score read Newark 15, New Castle 14. Time out was called, amid the greatest confusion.

It was the case of a beaten team
which wouldn't admit defeat, and in desperation, rose to great heights.
Led by Leach and Wilson, they played Newark off their feet for several minutes and things looked dark for the home team.

Coach Elder's team braced at this point and fought the tide of defeat
with everything they had. From the moment the score was tied at 15 until the end of the game, the wildest excitement prevailed in the big Army.
The stirring finish has been told above.

Patchell, Newark's brilliant young
center, was the star of the game.
Some of his shots were uncanny, and
his floorwork and cool generalship
marks him as one of the best players
in the State. He was close followed for honors by Hopkins, Doyle and Rupp. Shorty Chalmers was watched closely all evening, and could not seem to get going. Never did the Newark team work together better than last night.

For New Castle, Little Buddy
Leach, Captain Wilson and King
were the bright particular stars.

The efficient work of Referee Ashton, coach of the Wilmington High five, was commented upon by all who saw the game.

Girls Team Wins

The Newark Girls team made short
work of the New Castle girls in the preliminary game, winning handily
by a 35-9 score. The rapid fire shooting of Misses Frazer and Blockson,
the clever guarding of Miss Robinson
and the general teamwork of the sister set far outshone the work of the New Castle girls. At no point was Newark in danger of losing the bit
lead they piled up in the first quarter of the game.

Gish Film Opens New Era

Never in the history of motion pictures was a film made under such rare conditions as "The White Sister," now being seen at the Playhouse, Wilmington. When Henry King, the director, and Lillian Gish, the star, headed a troupe of adventurous Americans who journeyed to Italy to create "The White Sister" in the locale in which the story was written, they opened up a new era on the screen. As a result, the film based on the F. Marion Crawford novel has backgrounds of surpassing beauty.

Our French Friends

Being a Series of Articles on the true every-day French Life—of which we have heard so much, and know so little.

(Written especially for The Post)

I. CONVERSATION

One of our diplomats who went to France long ago to confer with Benjamin Franklin, humorously reported upon his return home that he found that great man at a reception "where he was completely surrounded by the most charming French women and that Franklin appeared to take the utmost delight in their conversation."

I am here to say, my friends, that anyone who has had any experience of the sort which Franklin enjoyed can testify to the snap and vigor of the conversation of French ladies. Oh boy, they are certainly there! They never let a subject get dead, never pursue it to extinction, but kept the conversational ball a joyous thing to be tossed from one to another about the room.

"Gay," "gai" as the French would say.

Full of light laughter, and clever repartee.

A bit of spicy gossip coming straight from Gay Paree;

A bit of reckless daring with an innocence profound,

Oh, they understand the art of Conversation."

A French lady who is beyond doubt deeply devoted, as all French mothers are, to their husbands and families, is none the less never too old to flirt. She may delicately hint to a gentleman of a reachable mien that it is, ah, sad indeed that he did not come into her life before she married her present husband. At the same time that she makes this delicious statement she will give him a pash look out of the corner of her eye that will make him want to go out and lick a Sunday School superintendent.

This type of flirtation is pure nonsense and is taken as such, as a matter of course. However, as a brightener of conversation these remarks are not to be sneezed at. When a beautiful woman, superbly gowned and full of vivacity, hints such a possibility, the recipient must be a "dead one" indeed if he can't hand back a little original chin music. Flattering isn't it? I'd just like to bet that Franklin had his ears tickled by some such remark. How about it Benjamin, Old Horse?

The French have made a study of the effect of various wines on conversation and have discovered that a light Bordeaux has the best effect; champagne destroys the logic of remarks, while whiskey, kirsch cognac or eau de vie are the heaviest and worst of all. Consequently for afternoon parties or receptions a light Bordeaux or tea spiked with a little rum is served.

With regard to the conversation of French men, just as soon as a Frenchman knows you and you have gained his confidence he will speak with the greatest frankness about his own faults, the failings of his race or the errors of his government. He almost invariably adds something of intellectual value to a conversation—something worth thinking about. He will arouse an interest and be enthusiastic over abstruse subjects in which an average American would find no interest. For instance an historical discussion of the attitude of Louis XI towards Charles the Rash would leave one of us quite cold; but to a Frenchman that question of the fifteenth century would be replete with interest. New doctrines, particularly of a philosophical type arouse his interest deeply.

That fondness for candor, for discovering the basic truth in the frankest manner, as well as a desire to inject life into conversation, explains the freedom with which certain intimacies are talked about. A Frenchman believes that it is folly to cloak any of the processes of life with mystery. Although boys and girls up until eighteen years of age are strictly supervised as to what they hear and say, after that age there is apparently no limit, other than of tact, placed on their conversation. If a gentleman accidentally sees an actress picking strawberries while she is dressed in her pajamas, the circumstance is not one to be concealed and meditated on in private—but it is something to be rejoiced in. "To make one glad one is alive, Monsieur, to see the beautiful things of life, Oh yes indeed, oh la, la!"

On the other hand, a Frenchman is extremely thoughtful; he will never say anything that might shock the ears of the puritanical, provided he knows that the person addressed is easily shocked. No matter how circumspect an American may be in his home town when he gets to France he thinks he has to frisk around a bit. In consequence all the toughest shows are crowded with Americans longing to see wicked Paris. In a comparatively short time the conversation of the American undergoes a change—speeds up, as it were,—and there is mighty little of the risqué that can shock an American. To a casual observer it looks a little hypocritical to see pillars of the home church coming out of the Folies Bergere—but oh shucks, Paris is Paris, and that's that.

It is this freedom in French speech, as well as the rough element in Paris that gives the French an undeserved reputation for immorality. It may seem to be a paradox: the average French family carries on conversation of the most spicy variety and will attend theaters showing scenes "loose" beyond words, and yet that same family will maintain a standard of private conduct that our Puritan fathers would have approved thoroughly. It is as though the Frenchman has two compartments to his life: in one are kept sacredly the fine, pure things of home life, while in the other compartment are the risqué things, to be laughed over, to be understood—and kept at a safe distance. They are a race that has through centuries weighed the essential values of life; they know what fruit may be sampled with impunity and what must be left alone. I tell you our French friends are a mighty decent crowd even if they are a bit loose in their conversation.

The second of the series of articles about "Our French Friends" will appear in next week's issue of The Post.)

50th ANNIVERSARY OF DIAMOND STATE GRANGE IS CELEBRATED

Despite the unfavorable weather the members of Diamond State Grange, No. 2, P. of H., both old and young, numbering nearly one hundred, met in the Odd Fellows Hall at Stanton recently in celebration of their fiftieth anniversary. The Hall was tastefully arranged and an elaborate banquet was served. R. Earle Dickey acted as Toastmaster. During the banquet the following program was rendered.

Address of Welcome by Benjamin A. Groves

Brother Groves impressed his hearers and made all see how the hand of time has dealt with the Grange. Many members have been called to the great Grange above and while we wonder why, he showed by an appropriate poem of Kipling's that if we could draw back the curtain that surrounds each other's lives we would understand much that to us is mystery.

Bessie M. Edwards favored with a recitation entitled "Fifty Years Ago," and as an encore, "Missus Rastus at the Wedding." R. Earle Dickey gave a brief history of the Grange, as follows:

"I want you to go back with me tonight to February 27, 1874, fifty years ago. We will take a ride over to Marshallton, not in a Ford, but in an old 'One Hoss Shay.' We'll drive up to the old school house and go in for the meeting. Among those whom we will meet will be Herbert Catlin, Edwin Cranston, Howard Jordan, William Brackin, Edward Woodward, R. C. Justis, Alex. Irons, William B. Cranston, James M. Brackin, John W. Kilgore, Francis W. Cranston, John Jordan, James Porter, Carrie C. Catlin, Georgianna Grubb, Lizzie Catlin, Lizzie Justis, Lizzie Sowersby, Ella F. Cranston, Emma S. Porter, Samuel Cranston, Joseph Derrickson and Vincent G. Flinn. These were the original charter members. James M. Brackin acted as temporary chairman and Alex. Irons as temporary secretary. J. M. Barr from Enterprise Grange, No. 2, of Maryland, was present as the organizer. He was paid $15 for the charter from the National Grange and $19.50 for the dues to State Grange.

"An election of officers was then held and the following were elected: 'Master—James M. Brackin.

"Lecturer—Alex. Irons.

"Assistant Steward—Edward Woodward.

"Treasurer—William B. Cranston.

"Gatekeeper—J. W. R. Kilgore.

"Pomona—Lizzie C. Justis.

"Lady Assistant Steward—Georgianna Grubb.

"Overseer—Joseph Derrickson.

"Steward—Heber Catlin.

"Chaplain—Vincent Flinn.

"Secretary—R. C. Justis.

"Ceres—Lizzie Catlin.

"Flora—Ella F. Cranston.

The following is a list of the Masters of Diamond State Grange for the past fifty years:

1874—James N. Brackin
1876—R. C. Justis
1890—Edward Woodward
1892—Samuel McCoy
1895—James Brown
1897—Leroy Brian
1898—Arnold Naudain, Jr.
1899—Samuel McCoy
1901—Edward Woodward
1907—R. P. Robinson
1918—Chas. P. Dickey
1920—Jacob Maclary
1921—J. T. Eastburn
1922—John W. Banks
1923—Chas. P. Dickey
1924—L. A. Othoson

"At this meeting it was decided to meet in Newport and a committee was appointed to secure a place to meet. It was also decided that the name of this Grange should be 'Diamond State Grange,' and as it was the second grange organized in the State the number was 2.

"At a special meeting held March 13, 1874, the committee reported securing a hall from John A. Cranston, at Newport. At this meeting it was also decided to meet on the Friday on or before full moon and every fortnight thereafter.

"At the regular meeting on March 20, 1874, a resolution was passed asking the National Grange at Washington that no grange be instituted within four miles of this grange. On April 10, 1874, the first application, that of Benjamin F. Duncan, was received.

"The Grange then, as now, stood for co-operative buying and the first co-operative buying was that of salt purchased from William F. Buck, Wilmington, at $1.20 per sack. The size of the sacks was not mentioned. "The first discussion noted on the minutes was 'The best mode of planting, raising, manuring and harvesting corn.' At another meeting the 'Potato Bug' was discussed and we note this record by the secretary. The potato bug was discussed, cussed, and he still lives.

"The Grange continued to hold regular meetings until September 25, 1876, when the records cease and we find no account until January 30, 1889, when interest was revived and the Grange was reorganized by Deputy O. W. Eastburn of Union Grange. Seven of the original charter members were present at this time. At this meeting it was decided to meet on Wednesday evening. They rented the Hall in Stanton and another resolution of note was that the Sisters pay no dues. One of the questions up at that time for discussion was the much discussed question of taxation. Another discussion led by Arnold Naudain was 'Three ways of approaching a vicious cow.'

"For five years, from 1900 to 1905, the Grange was again inactive and the few remaining members were discouraged. A meeting was called with the idea of surrendering the charter. At this meeting the spirit was revived and on January 23, 1905, a reopening meeting was held in Stanton Hall and a large class was initiated. The Grange now seemed to thrive and prosper until when in January 1909, a split was made and an offspring known as Delaware Grange No. 16, was formed with meeting place at Newport, Delaware. The Grange has continued to grow until the present time when they have over one hundred members. They have now taken up a very important phase of grange work, having been the sponsors for the first Juvenile Grange in the State, which was organized on October 26, 1923, with a charter membership of twenty. May we continue for another fifty years to take our place in the life of the community."

Recitation, "Her Sister's Beau," by Margaret Cunningham. Encore, "The Moving Pictures."

Solo, Miss Elizabeth Johnson.

Remarks by Worthy State Master R. P. Robinson, Mrs. Robinson, Worthy Pomona Master, F. F. Yearsley, Secretary of State Grange, Wesley Webb, and by the oldest member present, John A. Cranston.

The following Past Master also spoke: R. P. Robinson, B. A. Groves, Charles P. Dickey, J. T. Eastburn, John W. Banks, and the present Master, L. A. Othoson.

The program was interspersed with community singing led by George L. Denney, with Miss Edith Lacey at the piano.

Every one went home expressing themselves as having a good time. The success of this meeting was due to the able and efficient work of the committee in charge under the able leadership of Mrs. Florence L. Dickey and her assistants, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Othoson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Dickey, Mrs. H. Mary Dickey, Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, and Mrs. J. Harold Mitchell.

The following original charter members are still living: Edwin Cranston, Samuel Cranston, William B. Cranston, Howard Jordan, and Ella F. Cranston.

PAY YOURSELF

It's great to "spend" money when you pay it over to yourself. There's a thrill about it—a peculiar satisfaction—a feeling of security.

Hundreds of our depositors enjoy this sense of security as they make regular deposits in their accounts. They know they are just taking it from themselves now, in small sums, to be used later for a home, a farm or a business or for investment. To what they save we add compound interest and this makes their balances grow.

Let us help you "pay yourself."

Let Me Do Your Interior Painting and Varnishing Now

I can give it closer personal attention and save you money.

"Save the surface and you save all."—Paint & Varnish

NEXT Spring I'll be up to my ears in outside work. So will every other Master Painter. This is my slack season—now and for the next three months. There's no good reason why it should be.

If people would have their interior painting and varnishing done in the winter, they'd get first class work done by the best men in the business—instead of rush work done by the best men in the day.

It's a good proposition from my standpoint, too. I wouldn't have to lay off my good men. I could cut down my overhead. I could spend my week over a whole year, instead of crowding a few weeks in eight months. This would save me money and it would save you money, too.

I can take on your inside work now and give a close personal attention. I don't forget that. Give me a ring today.

Paul P. Steel Sailed Sunday for Three Years' Service in Hawaii

Paul P. Steel, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walt H. Steel, of this place, sailed from New York on Sunday last for Honolulu, T. H., where he will serve a three-year enlistment period in the United States Army. Since leaving Newark, a few weeks ago, Paul has been helping drill recruits in a New York Army post, and sailed from the United States as an acting corporal. The sailing was made on the U. S. S. "Chaumont," an army transport. Several hundred khaki clad boys made the trip to the Pacific possessions.

Paul's military experience and varied accomplishments have made him a royal favorite with his outfit, and he reports to Newark people that he likes the Army life. It is understood that the post in the Hawaiian Islands is one of the very best maintained by the War Department.

CENTURY CLUB HOST TO CLAYMONT GROUP

Visitors Present Good Program Here on Tuesday

A group of twelve members of the Woman's Club of Claymont were guests of the Newark New Century Club at the regular meeting of the club yesterday afternoon.

The program was given by the visiting club women, with Miss Mullins as chairman. A piano solo was played by Mrs. Sheppard. Mrs. Jackson, executive head of the Girls' Industrial School at Claymont, spoke most interestingly of the work that is being done there. She pointed out the fact that the school is really a responsibility still of the clubs that urged the need of such an institution in 1903. Miss Jackson has been at the head of the Ferris Industrial School for twenty-four years and in her appeal for the interest of club women, she gave evidence of her own absorbing interest.

A very comprehensive paper on "Current Events" was read by Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Howard Wood sketched the life of Rudyard Kipling, with short readings from his poems.

Mrs. Blake, club hostess, assisted by members of her committee, served delicious refreshments.

Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson, chairman of the Education Committee, announced that her committee will serve luncheon and dinner for the Girl Reserves on the last Saturday in March when the Girl Reserve Conference of the State will be in session in Newark.

An invitation has been accepted by the Newark Club to hold the next meeting, on March 18th, in the English Room, Science Hall, Women's College, as guests of Dean Robinson, who will give an illustrated talk on "Northern Italy."

MISSIONARY PLAYLET

Several Local People Take Part in Enjoyable Performance

The Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church here gave a very enjoyable playlet in the Lecture Room last evening. A large audience was present.

The piece was entitled, "How the Ladies Earn Their Dollars," and was given under the management of Mrs. Ernest Frazer, who also took part in the performance.

The other members of the cast were as follows: Mrs. C. A. Bryan, Mrs. Harold Herdman, Miss Helen Gregg, Mrs. Herbert Reynolds, Mrs. Charles Steel, Mrs. Annie Moore, Mrs. George Wood, Mrs. George Potts, Miss Stella Yearley, and Mrs. Harold Tiffany.

Following the playlet, a short musical program was rendered by Prof. George H. Ryden and little Miss Dorothy Townsend.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my dear daughter, Stella T. Vogt, who departed this life March 9, 1920.

Cherish the memory of her so dear, Ofttimes recalled by silent tears; It is only those who have loved and lost,

Can realize the bitter cost.

There is a link death cannot sever.

Love and remembrance live forever.

Sadly missed by mother, husband and children.

PLAYHOUSE

Lovers of musical comedy have another treat in store, the uproariously funny review, "I'll Say She Is" being booked for presentation at the Playhouse, Wilmington, for three days and Saturday matinee, beginning Thursday, March 13. The play has to do with a lovely maiden in search of thrills. She has never experienced the thrill of love, so eight species of the masculine gender endeavor to introduce her to thrills of various kinds. They are aided by thirty pretty girls and the four Marx Brothers, comedians. In the end the thrill of love that every young girl seeks is meted out to the heroine.

"I'll Say She Is" comes to Wilmington after long runs in all the large cities.

DELAWARE'S BASKETBALL SEASON ENDS DISASTROUSLY WITH TWO DEFEATS HERE

Swarthmore and Drexel Take Scalps Of Local Collegians
in Hardfought Games—Failure to Sustain Attack Costs Games

JACK WILLIAMS ONLY MAN LOST TO TEAM

Delaware's hopes for a successful basketball season this year were rudely blasted during the past week, when two decided rivals, Drexel Institute of Philadelphia and Swarthmore College, created the home team to two stinging defeats. Drexel nosed out Delaware on Thursday night by one point, 24-23, while on Saturday night, Swarthmore took McAvoy's team into camp 29-24.

Both games were of the close, hard-fought variety, which provided plenty of excitement for the cash customers, but on the other hand, both decidedly proved that the Delaware team lacked a consistent brand of teamwork. They have played better basketball on several occasions against much stronger teams this season, but could not get going during last week for some reason.

The two defeats place the record of the Newark collegians for the season at six victories and eight defeats in all.

The Swarthmore Game

Failure to score when the ball had been repeatedly rushed within fifteen feet of the enemy basket, cost Delaware a victory over their ancient rivals, Swarthmore, last Saturday evening, in the college gymnasium. Time and again, particularly in the second half, Williams, Jackson and Gibson attacked Swarthmore goal, but wild shots at the basket became a habit and not an exception.

For the first ten minutes of the game, it looked like a walkover for the Blue and Gold. They completely outplayed the Pennsylvania Quakers in every department. But as the game went along, Swarthmore improved noticeably and gradually cut down a ten point lead and tied the score before half time. The score at the close of the first half was Delaware 12, Swarthmore 14.

From then on until the end of the game, the two teams battled with but a few points separating them. Delaware players usually lost the ball. On the other hand, the little Quakers made a large percentage of their shots at the basket, the work of Grove and Swope being particularly effective.

With but two minutes to play, the visitors took to "freezing the ball," and were successful in stalling the game until time was up. McKelvie and France were both removed from the game in the second half for personal fouls. No doubt the loss of the two regulars was hard on the team as a whole, but at all events, they were from the form which they have displayed at other times during the past season.

Gibson, Williams and Jackson played strong games for Delaware while Swope, Grove and Kean looked mighty good for the visitors. One of the largest crowds of the season crowded the gym to see the windup. The score:

In a preliminary game, the Baltimore Polytechnic School team, coached by "Bill" Lilly, formerly of Delaware, and well known in Newark, trounced the Delaware Freshman team in sound fashion by a 30 to 10 score. The game was merely a workout for the Baltimore boys, as the Freshmen showed a woeful lack of teamwork and ability to shoot. At no stage of the game was the result ever in doubt, and little excitement prevailed.

The Drexel Game

What was confidently expected among students to be a Delaware victory suddenly turned the campus into gloom Thursday evening, when the Drexel five from Philadelphia, nosed out McAvoy's team by one point, in a hectic battle, score 24-23. Without the slightest doubt, Delaware should have won the game handily. They had the better team in all departments, but they lacked the fighting spirit and will to win that characterized the play of the visitors.

Throughout the game, Gibson, Jackson and Williams missed several easy chances. They tried hard, and seemed to be working together, but they could not consistently keep up the attack. Drexel showed a far better team than was expected, and closely guarded the Delaware high scorers.

With the score tie and less than five minutes to go, the play became fast and furious, and the crowd was on its feet shouting madly for a Delaware victory. And towards the last the Blue and Gold team had but one point to make to win, and could not muster up the attack to make it. Drexel, in the opinion of many at the game, deserved to win, because they made good nearly every opportunity. "Sook" Jackson played a remarkable game Thursday night, his floorwork and uncanny shooting largely keeping his team in the running.

STANTON COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION MEETS

Bright Prospects Ahead For
This Live Organization

The Stanton Community Association, at their regular monthly meeting just passed, heard a very enthusiastic report of the meeting held at the new Commodore McDonough School. They are trying in every way to work for the better education of the youth, although only a little over a year since they decided they needed more school room and this plan was made possible through the courtesy of the Friends. They now have two rooms and enrollment of 73 pupils, with the prospects of even a larger number. The consensus of opinion was that it would not be long before they would need a new building.

With the new road through the town and the curb gutter started and which will be finished as soon as the weather permits, the next work will be for a new school and for consolidation. The group hopes some day to see Delaware on record for a consolidation which reports show have been so successfully carried out in Randolph

CHURCHES BENEFIT FROM IMPROVED ROADS

Ministers Find Smooth Highway Necessary for Parish Work

"What is the matter with the church?" is the favorite demand of those who find something the matter with it. The country minister knows what is the matter with his church; nine times out of ten it is mud that is the matter with it; ruts and holes in roads which are the matter with it; inability of parishioners to get to it which is the matter with it, only equalled by his inability to go to his parishioners.

The United States is a God-fearing, church-going Nation. Churches grow; new churches are constantly

The school children gave a very fine demonstration of the program as sent out by the State P.-T. A. These programs were also successfully used in November and January.

being built. People want and need churches. But in the rural districts, miles from a good road, but a handful can gather at the church a few miles from home unless the Sabbath happens to have been preceded by a long spell of dry weather.

Th farmer must be merciful to his horses. Time is a great factor in rural life. Where roads forbid the extra work, and a long trip means most o Sunday gone in travel, church attendance inevitably suffers. Where roads are good, the country church makes no complaint of lack of attendance. Where highways are smooth, a parish may be five times as large and still not too large. Good highways are an asset to the church, as vital to the rural House of God as they are to rural schools and rural social intercourse.

Don't Pay $1,000 or More for a car, without knowing what the leader offers in the fine-car field

WE made a canvass of many who bought rivals of Studebakers. We said, "Tell us why you liked your car the better." The majority said, "We did not even look at the Studebaker." Most of them bought new models of the car they owned before.

Yet Studebaker is a leader in the fine-car field today. Studebaker builds more quality cars than any other plant in the world.

Studebaker is the sensation of modern Motordom. Its amazing growth signifies a new situation in this field.

Last year, 145,167 fine-car buyers paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars. Nearly three times as many as in 1920.

Is it fair to yourself—or fair to us—not to learn the reasons for this trend?

Facts to consider

Studebaker assets are $90,000,000—all stacked on satisfying, better than others, buyers of high-grade cars.

Over 23,000 men have their future at stake on giving you maximum values.

$50,000,000 in modern plants and equipment, of which $32,000,000 has been added during the past five years.

$10,000,000 in body plants to give you superlative beauty. To give that final touch for which Studebakers have been famous for decades.

125 experts who devote their whole time to studying betterments. Who make 500,000 tests per year to maintain our supremacy.

Consider Studebaker history. For 72 years this concern has stood for high principles and policies.

For two generations, against all the world, it held first place in horse-drawn vehicles.

Now for years its name and fame have been committed to like attainments in fine motor cars.

If you only knew

There is no room here for details and comparisons. You will find them all in Studebaker showrooms. But let us cite some significant facts.

That lack of vibration, so conspicuous in Studebakers, costs us $600,000 yearly in extra machining of crank shafts.

That matchless strength in vital

See the Studebakers

Studebaker builds more fine cars than any other plant in the world.

Last year 145,167 wise motor car buyers paid $201,000,000 for Studebakers.

The demand has almost trebled in the past three years. Studebaker now holds a leading place in the high-grade field.

Our modern plants and their equipment cost $50,000,000. All to give you the maximum value at the minimum of cost.

It is folly to buy a car in this class without knowing what we give.

parts comes from the costliest steels. For some we add 15% to the quoted price to get exactness in them.

That Chase Mohair, used in our closed cars, is made from the soft fleece of Angora goats. Cotton or ordinary wool, or a combination of both, could reduce our price $100 to $150 per car, but it would sacrifice Studebaker quality.

Note the bumpers, the steel trunk, the extra cord tires, the motometer, the courtesy light on some models. Figure what they would cost as extras.

The infinite care

We use 35 formulas for steel, each

worked out to exactness for supreme service in its place.

We employ 1,200 inspectors to make 30,000 inspections of the material and workmanship in each Studebaker car—before it leaves the factory.

Consider how Studebaker has always led in the building of high-grade cars. We were first to use cord tires as standard equipment. We were the first quantity manufacturers to build bodies of the highest grade.

If you want beauty, fine upholstery, rich finish and equipment, consider that Studebaker has had more experience in fine coach building than any other motor car maker.

Our place no accident

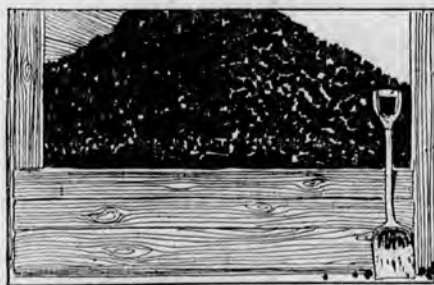

The pedestal place which Studebaker holds in the fine-car field is not the result of accident. It comes from principles as old as this business—the ceaseless and determined ambition to excel.

Learn the result of these efforts. Compare detail by detail, part by part, with any car you wish. When you foot the advantages, you will find that they number scores.

These are facts you should know. They are inducing 150,000 per year to choose Studebaker cars.

Some sell at $1,045. Some meet with every requirement in size and power and luxury. But the chassis are all alike, save in size. The same steels, the same standards throughout. Every important Studebaker part represents the best we know.

People have learned these facts—hundreds of thousands of them. The demand for Studebakers has almost trebled in three years. It has become overwhelming, even for our facilities. Investigate the reasons. You will find them by the scores. Then, if you choose a rival car, we shall have nothing more to say.

HON. STORK PAYS MANY VISITS DURING WEEK

Five Newark Families Gladdened by Advent of New Citizens Recently

His majesty, the stork, was a busy visitor to Newark and vicinity during the past week, according to a canvass made on Monday of this week. The important bird tarried here long enough to visit five local families from Wednesday until Monday.

So far as could be learned, the stork carefully avoided leaving Leap Year babies here on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Tarr, of lower Depot Road, are receiving congratulations upon the birth, on last Wednesday evening, of a baby son. He has been named John Jefferson. Mother and child are reported to be doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vought, of near Fairview School, a few miles from Newark, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a sturdy 10 pound boy on Wednesday last.

Two births were recorded in Newark on Thursday last. A baby came to grace the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nehemiah David of this place, and the Hon. Stork also paid a visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dean, of Chapel Street. Both babies are robust and doing nicely, according to the doctors' reports.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Richards, of Main Street, was gladdened Saturday last by the arrival of a baby girl. Both mother and child are doing well.

In all, nine births have been reported to THE POST during the two weeks ending Monday last.

SOCIAL WORKERS TO MEET IN WILMINGTON

Delaware Conference Has Grown Noticeably During Last Few Years

Governor William D. Denney and Mayor Forrest, of Wilmington, are scheduled to speak to the assembled workers at the Friday evening session. A luncheon will be held in the grill room of the Hotel at noon on Friday.

On Saturday afternoon the officers, guests and members of the Conference will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre duPont at their country home near Longwood, on the Kennett Pike. They will be escorted through the mammoth conservatory there and will have light refreshments served on the grounds.

The officers of the Professional Workers Club of Delaware are as follows: Miss B. Ethelda Mullen, President; Miss Amy E. Wood, First Vice-President; Mrs. Helen Megaw, Second Vice-President; Miss Marjorie E. Earps, Secretary-Treasurer.

Hastings Named Head Of Local Veterans' Post

Annual Meeting Held Last Thursday—Active Membership Now Numbers 25

Following in the wake of renewed interest taken by many men in town affiliated with the organization, the annual meeting of the J. Allison O'Daniel Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was held here last Thursday evening, at which time officers were elected and a partial reorganization of the Post was effected.

James C. Hastings, an active worker for the welfare of the ex-service men, was elected Post Commander for the year. Mr. Hastings served overseas with the Delaware boys, and since his entrance into business in Newark has worked with them on many occasions.

Other officers elected for the year were the following: Adjutant, Alfred Beecher; Senior Vice-Commander, Ben McCormack; Junior Vice-Commander, F. J. Strickland; Post Historian, Frederick Brown; Quartermaster, Fred W. Gehrhold; Officer of the Day, Ray Edmondson; Patriotic Instructor, George E. Michael; Guard, M. Pilnick; Sentinel, M. Tweed.

Other members making up the roster of the Post are Arthur Christian, J. Earl Dougherty, Medford L. Everett, Anthony F. Grande, Orville Little, Frank Mackey, Harry Mercer, William F. Rupp, Patrick J. Shovlin and Clarence Wilson.

In commenting on the plans of the Post for the coming year, Mr. Hastings stated that the organization has been made on a solid footing and that the Post will continue as a permanent unit here.

It was believed that with the gradual departure of members of the Rehabilitation Unit here, that interest in the Veterans of Foreign Wars would wane and die out, but judging from the enthusiastic meeting Thursday evening last, this is not the case. A motion was made to elect Col. Smith of Newark, national chaplain, an honorary member of the local Post.

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS OF THE PAST WEEK

Brandywine Springs P.-T. A. held their February meeting on the evening of February 26th, with fifteen new members reported to add to their number. A committee on the serving of hot lunches is to buy an oil stove and they are asking the patrons of the school to give cocoa and sugar for making hot cocoa, and to sell this and make a little profit from it.

Centre Grove Community Club met on February 28th, at 2 p. m., to hear a patriotic program given by the pupils. There were recitations about Washington and Lincoln, an exercise by three boys, "February Heroes," and several songs and plays. There was also a discussion of the schools of Randolph County, Indiana, given by Mrs. McLane, the President of the Club. It was decided to hold a musicale on March 20th, the proceeds to go towards repairs for the school, or to help pay for the piano. The next regular meeting will be on March 27th in the evening, so that more of the people of the community may be able to attend.

On February 26th, there was a meeting held at Union School, district No. 31, by the Parent-Teacher Association. The delegate who attended the meeting at St. Georges when the new school was dedicated, gave a very interesting account of the exercises, and several others who had been present at the same meeting, added their opinions about the fine consolidated school.

The Home and School Association met near the end of February in their new school building. Professor Clair gave a discussion of the topic for the month. The library which was presented to the school is being offered for the use of the people of the community, Prof. Clair acting as Librarian, and opening the library every Wednesday evening, from 7 to 8 o'clock. The pupils have it open to them at frequent periods during the sessions of the school.

Christiana Colored P.-T. A. met on February 22nd for a patriotic program, and they heard as one of the features, "Uncle Sam's Country Store," a demonstration geography lesson. Among the things accomplished: two lamps, given by Miss Moody; scrim for curtains, and 45 books for the school library.

PENDLETON INDICTED FOR JAMISON ROBBERY

Failure to Recover $900 Cash Nettles Local People; Police Silent

Among the true bills found by the New Castle County Grand Jury, and announced yesterday, were two indictments against Dainey Pendleton. The first one read "for larceny of money and other valuables from Ernest C. Jamison" and the second "for breaking and entering dwelling house of Ernest C. Jamison."

Both these indictments came as the result of a robbery on January 25th last of the Jamison home, near McClellandville. Volunteer posse aided by county detectives and Wilmington police scoured the nearby community for several hours, before arresting Pendleton in a barn near Milltown.

Repeated efforts made by the Jamison family to learn whether the $900 in cash, reported to have been stolen, had been found, have proven fruitless. Police officials in Wilmington gave no statement other than that they were "running down several clues." On one occasion, it is understood, Ernest Jamison called the District Attorney's office in Wilmington and inquired as to the progress of the investigation. The man at the other end of the wire is reported to have said, "We are not in the collecting business."

The uncommunicating attitude of the county and city police has nettled several people in and near Newark.

They believe that quick and effective action in forcing a confession from Pendleton would have cleared up the mystery of the missing $900 long ago. As it stands now, repeated rumors are being circulated, some of them reflecting anything but credit on the police.

Pendleton will be placed on trial at the March term of the Court of General Sessions in Wilmington. He has been out on bail for several weeks. Reports have it that he partially confessed to breaking and entering the Jamison home, but has steadfastly refused to divulge any information concerning the whereabouts of the money.

M. E. CHURCH BUDGET PREPARED FOR YEAR

$1600 Building Fund Raised During 1923; Benevolences Reach High Mark

The yearly budget of the Methodist Episcopal Church here has been prepared and was made public yesterday. That the finances of the church are in good shape is shown by several items included in the report.

Of particular interest is the fact that during the past year the sum of $1600 has been raised for the Church Building Fund. An additional $1650 was set aside for benevolences.

The budget is divided into three parts: Salaries, $3740.00; Conference, $687.00, and General Expenses, $775. The total estimated expenses for the year is $5202.00.

Fertilize—but Economize!

Eastern States No-Filler Fertilizers have done away with the old custom of adding to a mixture sand, or other inert material as "filler" to preserve good mechanical condition. The Eastern States mixtures are kept in perfect drillable shape by the liberal use of tankage and fish. Moreover, these high grade organics give the mixture a better balance than can be obtained by the exclusive use of quickly-available inorganic ammoniates like Nitrate of Soda and Sulphate of Ammonia. Eastern States No-Filler Mixtures feed a plant from germination to maturity—not just at the start alone.

Through last year's Fertilizer Pool, a ton of 3-12-3 No-Filler cost $7.63 less than the equivalent ton-and-a-half of 2-8-2. Doesn't such a saving make it worth your while to set your drill to drop the lesser amount of better-balanced No-Filler required for a given crop?
