Firemen Win First Prize In Havre de Grace Parade Last Evening

Aetna Co.'s Fine Display Has Been Feature of Firemen's Parades All Summer—68 in Line Last Night

The red shirts of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, of Newark, again flashed to the front at the Firemen's Parade in Havre de Grace last evening.

The Newark laddies were awarded the first cash prize of $25.00 for the best-looking outfit in line. Firemen from a dozen nearby towns competed in the parade, which was held in conjunction with the Havre de Grace Firemen's Carnival.

Sixty-eight men were in line as Newark swung into the procession. Twenty-four members of the Continental Band helped swell the total. Many Newarkers "followed the firemen" to Havre de Grace, and they regret that the local boys made a great impression upon the hundreds of spectators.

Have Had Brilliant Season

Taken all in all, the Aetna boys may well be proud of their parade prizes this season. Everywhere they went, they were applauded, and in nearly every case came home with a prize.

Their greatest single feat was the winning of both first and second prizes at Kennett Square, Pa., about two weeks ago. Seldom has this success been equalled in Delaware firemen's circles.

It is also pointed out that Newark always turns out in a practical way. They are firemen first, last and always, and carry no novelty effect along to sway the judges. When they swung down the streets of Havre de Grace last night, they looked the part of well trained, practical firemen. The big ladder truck, piloted by Ira Shellenor, followed the long line of red-shirted Aetna boys.

The Newark Company has won prizes at Middletown, North East, Elkton, Oxford, Kennett Square and Havre de Grace. It has been a most successful season and has brought the local company into real prominence.

CARS COLLIDE IN RAIN

Rear Wheel of Miller's Auto Goes Under Monday Night

Two Ford cars, driven by Bayard Miller of this town and Hibbard Caulk of Elsmere, respectively, collided at the corner of Delaware Avenue and Elkton Road about 6.30 Monday evening.

No one was hurt in the crash. The left rear wheel of Miller's sedan was ditched and collapsed under the strain. Miller had the right of way, it is claimed, but the fog and rain, according to Caulk, made the visibility so low that he did not see the approaching car until too late. The parties concerned are believed to have settled the damages.

TOT STRUCK BY CAR

Allen, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Myers, of East Delaware Avenue, was struck and painfully hurt by a car owned by Robert Tweed, of this town, last Friday, while playing in front of his home.

The youngster was picked up and taken into the house, where he was found to be suffering with severe abrasions of the face and neck. He was about the house again next day.

REGULAR POND WITH REAL LIVE DUCKS TO FEATURE BIG POULTRY SHOW HERE

That Newark is doing everything possible to make its first State Poultry Show a success was revealed in a conversation with one of the leading poultrymen of the vicinity on Saturday last.

One of the features of the week's festivities in January next will be a large pond with running water in it, to be placed in the center of the spacious Armory.

Ducks of many different types will be placed in the pond, and the whole surrounded with ferns, flowers, moss, rocks and anything else which goes with a properly organized duck pond. Wild ducks, tame ducks and in-between ducks will be on display every day in the week. This will not only be an extremely original idea but will be an attractive part of the show.

HOW'S THE MARKET TODAY

The Post this week begins a regular feature for the convenience of its readers.

On page 6 will be regularly found a complete Newark Retail Market Report, including prices on Grain, Meal, Meats and Produce.

Farmers, Housewives, Merchants and Out of Town shoppers are invited to take advantage of The Post's Market column.

Savage Gets 10 Years For Attack On Girl

30 Lashes and $200 Fine Also Imposed on Hockessin Negro in Court

Swift and speedy justice was meted out by Judges Richards and Rodney in the Court of General Sessions Monday afternoon in the case of the State vs. Lee Savage, 30 years old Negro of near Hockessin.

Savage pleaded guilty earlier in the day to an attempted serious assault upon 15-year old Mary Hannum, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Crossan of near Korner Ketch, on the night of August 8th last. Brief arguments by counsel reviewed the case, and the judges decided upon the sentence while still on the bench.

Judge Richards then sentenced Savage to pay the costs of the case, to pay a fine of $200, to be whipped with 30 lashes next Saturday, September 27th at the New Castle County Workhouse, and to then begin serving a sentence of 10 years. It was considered by court attaches one of the severest penalties handed down in years.

In delivering sentence, Judge Richards said, "It is inconceivable that a full grown man, with the apparent intelligence which you have shown, would leave his own wife and home and attempt such a vicious attack on a little girl. In imposing this sentence, I want it to stand as an example in order that it will deter any others from attempting a like crime."

On the night of August 8th, last, Savage crossed over the field from the Eugene Robinson farm where he worked to the Crossan place, entered the house and started to drag the girl from her bedroom. The grandparents hearing the commotion, rushed to hallway and grappled with the negro. Mr. Crossan was painfully bruised and battered in the struggle. The girl broke away from Savage just outside the door and ran to a neighbor's house for protection. The culprit was captured by Highway Officer Jones the next day and confessed, it is alleged.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

West Farm At Kemblesville Sold This Week To Newark Man

The Real Estate Department of the Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Company reports the following local property transfers:

The Charles R. Holton house and adjoining lot on Depot Road below Kells Avenue has been sold to Mrs. Hester A. Morris, of Newark.

Harry J. Wagner, also of Newark, has purchased the farm near Kemblesville, formerly owned by Dr. J. B. West, for many years a doctor in that village.

Norman H. Collison, University Student, Killed By Train

Death of Popular Junior Sunday Night Casts Gloom Over Campus Here

Norman Harold Collison, aged 20 years, of Bridgeville, Del., and a Junior in the University of Delaware, was fatally injured shortly after midnight, Monday morning, when the car he was driving was struck by a freight train on the Delaware Road at the crossing in Bridgeville.

Young Collison was thrown out of the car against a telegraph pole and suffered a fractured skull. He died about fifteen minutes later.

From reports of the tragedy, it was learned that the young man was returning to his home in Bridgeville, and had stopped his coupe to talk to some acquaintances near the crossing. Evidently he did not see the approaching train, moving at a moderate rate of speed, for it is reported he drove on the crossing directly in front of the engine. The force of the crash wrecked the car, and threw Collison against a nearby pole.

Was On Varsity Squad

The unfortunate young man was in Newark the latter part of last week, coming up from Delaware Beach with the football squad, where he had joined them in preliminary practice. He left here Saturday afternoon for his home in Bridgeville to spend the week-end with his parents, and had intended returning to Newark Monday in order to register for the coming term.

Young Collison showed to good advantage in the early football practices this year, and was expected to land a guard on the Varsity. This would have been his third year on the squad. His willingness to learn and rugged physique greatly impressed Coach McAvoy and the other members of the team.

FORMER RESIDENT RETURNS AFTER 20 YEARS

Charles W. Davis, Now Head of Memphis City Parks, Here For Visit

Charles Davis, of Memphis, Tenn., is paying a visit to his father, Mr. Wesley Davis, Elkton Road, near Newark. Mr. Davis is superintendent of parks in Memphis. He was an employee of D. C. Rose at the P. R. R. gardens, Newark, for many years. Mr. Davis is making a stay of about ten days and wishes his many friends to call and see him before he returns to the South. His wife, Mrs. Fanny Davis, is also widely known in Newark.

Mr. Davis and John Shivelor left Newark about twenty years ago.

"TOBY" GOES TO HEAVEN

"Toby" the valuable and sweet dispositioned foxhound belonging to William C. Chalmers, of this town, joined his good and faithful brethren in Dog Heaven a few days ago. "Toby" took sick and died with his sorrowing owner by his side. He was a splendid, well bred hound, a little over a year old.

Bronze Tablet Ready

For Memorial Marker

There is now on display at the Millard Davis store in Wilmington a beautiful bronze tablet, which will be soon placed on the boulder on the upper campus of the University, marking the spot where the selective service men of Rural New Castle County were inducted into the service of their country in 1918. The inscription on the tablet reads as follows:

"1917-1918: In honor of the men of Rural New Castle County who entered the military service of their country on this spot during the World War this tablet is erected by the University of Delaware and the community of Newark."

The fund for the tablet was raised by voluntary offerings made at the patriotic exercises held here on the Fourth of July, this year.

CONVOCATION OPENS COLLEGES TODAY

Men's "Frosh" Enrollment Reaches 110; 107 New Girls Enter Women's College

Total of University Student Body Will Reach Well Over 500, According to Late Figures—5 Newark Boys, 14 Girls, Enter

MANY ENTER HIS COURSE

College totalled 105 and at the Women's College, 107.

It was the largest Freshman enrollment in the history of the latter institution.

The class of 1922 is believed to hold the record at the Men's College. When that class entered in 1918, over 120 men were enrolled.

Newark Youngsters Enter

Newark sent fourteen of her daughters to the Women's College this year, most of whom are graduates from the Newark High School. The town never sent a larger number to the college.

The Men's College drew five young Newark men into the fold, with a promise of at least two more being registered before the week closes.

The girls who enrolled from Newark as Freshmen were:

Eleanor C. Brooks, Emilie P. Carpenter, Catherine Holton, Marjorie L. Johnson, Lora H. Little, Hazel I. Malcolm, Sarah E. Potts, Bonnie A. Walker and Hester P. Widdoes.

The Newark boys so far entered at the Men's College are:

Amos B. Collins, Samuel Handloff, Marion Hopkins, Robert T. Jaquette, and George L. Townsend.

Neighboring communities also sent students to Delaware this year:

Christiana—Alice E. Phelps. Chesapeake City—Elizabeth C. Smithers.

Marshallton—Roberta Foard, Elkton—S. P. Fisher, Jr., and W. R. Pierson.

Childs, Md.—H. W. Mackie. Hockessin—J. H. Roser.

The following is the list of Freshmen of both colleges up until noon on Tuesday:

Officers, Bent On Raid, Find Great Open Spaces

Alleged Exponents of the Great African Game Elude Battalion of Police Sunday

Eleven seemed a most unlucky number for the members of the police posse, which raided a supposed crap game along White Clay Creek, north of Newark, last Sunday. Eleven is said to be lucky in this particular form of athletics, but bore down hard on the officers and spoiled a fine day's work.

Somewhere along the liason line a leak cropped up, for when the eleven minions of the Law arrived, they were greeted by great open spaces, a few trees and the rushing waters of the creek.

There is little doubt but that the regular Sunday tournament was going on prior to the visit. Emblems of the contest were everywhere; and, it is furtively reported, some young men came home that afternoon with their clothes all wet. They slipped and fell into the creek, of course!

Officers Jones and Wardle, of the County Highway Police, led the assault upon the virgin soil of the White Clay's banks. Detectives, constables, officers from Wilmington, insurance agents and official interpreters were carried along in the punitive expedition. All to no effect. The goose had flown. Residents out that way say, however, that he will be back again next Sunday and the next. Perhaps some day they will be caught.

AT SHRINE CONVENTION

Newark People Attend Big Affair In Atlantic City

Among the Newark people who visited Atlantic City last Saturday during the annual convention of Shriners, held in that resort, were Mr. and Mrs. David C. Rose, Mr. and Mrs. George Griffin, Warren A. Singles and Irving Crow.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffin remained over at the shore for a few days vacation.

Dr. Stearns Addresses Convocation Audience

Degrees Conferred on Members of 1923 Class—Two New Professors

(3.15 P. M.)

The University of Delaware was officially opened for another term this afternoon shortly after three o'clock, when the annual Convocation exercises were held under the trees on the upper campus.

The speaker of the day was Dr. Alfred Ernest Stearns, head master of Phillips-Andover Academy, in Massachusetts, one of the leading preparatory schools in the country.

President Hullihen's announcements at Convocation today were as follows:

Before making any announcements I want to express my pleasure in seeing back again so many of the faculty and students of last year, ready on opening day for the work of another session. I also want to extend a very hearty greeting to the Freshmen and all other new students on behalf of the Trustees, Faculty and upper classes. We are glad to have you here and to receive you into our academic fellowship. We are glad to accept you as our partners in a great and worthy enterprise and we count upon your best endeavors to assist us in holding always high the standard of this University's educational aims and undertakings. We want each one of you to feel that you are now a full co-operating member of this purely mutual corporation; that your interests are, and your purposes should be, from the very first identical with those of the larger whole. We bid you welcome and wish each of you, personally, high success in your college course.

313 REGISTERED IN TOWN DISTRICTS SAT.

Increase In Number of Women By Observers; Upper District Totals 614

Three hundred and thirteen men and women qualified to vote at the next to the last Registration Day last Saturday in the two Newark districts of White Clay Creek Hundred, it was announced yesterday.

Of this number, 178 registered in the First District and 135 placed their names on the books in the middle district.

Authoritative reports from the Third district are lacking, but it is reported that the registration lists there showed about 100 new names Saturday.

A noticeable increase in the number of women registering Saturday became apparent. Political leaders are anxious to get the women to the polls this year, and an extra effort will be made along this line, locally, at the last day for registering.

LONDON BRITAIN FARMERS NEED $1800 FOR PART OF NEWARK ROAD

One thousand, eight hundred and fifteen dollars and some odd cents are all that stands between the groups of farmers in the southern end of London, Britain township, over in Chester County, and the successful completion of their hard fight for a good road.

William S. Kennedy, a prominent farmer of the township and one of the early pioneers in the fight for a good road from Kemblesville to Newark, stated to The Post last week that this sum was needed to complete a few hundred feet of road by the Lincoln Highway Construction Company.

Appeals to the State of Pennsylvania for aid have failed as their budget for roads has been exhausted to the last penny this year. Mr. Kennedy and his associates are busy rounding up the money, and hope to get it for the completion of the road this year.

It has been learned that a letter will be written shortly to Dr. George W. Rhodes, president of the Newark Chamber of Commerce, in which an appeal will be made by London Britain farmers to that organization for aid. They point to the fact that the completion of the last link will open up a new source of trade to Newark and will be of benefit to the community and merchants therein. Upon receipt of the letter Dr. Rhodes said he would take the matter up with the Chamber.

The great trouble experienced by Mr. Kennedy and his fellow workers is the fact that the new road crosses but a small part of the township and the farmers in the northern end have shown only a lukewarm interest in the drive for funds.

THE WEDNESDAY REVIEW

BY

WHAT HO! THE JOLLY TARS!

Them swashbuckling student sailors of the good ship "Delaware" deposited their duffle bags and swung their hammocks Monday.

Now that ain't exaggerating it one bit, either. Of course, the effect would have been changed somewhat if it hadn't rained so hard. But when I druv to town Monday night with Sally Ann, and trotted the mare down Main street, I got that old salty smell in my nose soon as I saw the Oilskin Hussars decoratin' the campus.

It seems everybody except Prexy Hulihan and my good friend Arthur, the business maggot (I mean magnate) of the college has yaller oilskins. Up the street, down the street as far as you can see, there's a bobbin' yaller coat up against the horizon.

Now to anyone except an old Alumnus like me, you might think they was a River Pilots' Convention goin' on, or maybe a monthly meeting of the Delaware Bay Mackerel Snatchers' Union.

I asked Looey Handloff why in the name of the Pink Toed Prophet they couldn't be satisfied with ordinary rain-coats, and Looey answered back and said:

"You can see 'em further, Joe."

Which wasn't such a bad answer, at that.

Seems to me nowadays that a college student stands out against the sky like a barber pole—but, I guess he's just as good a boy as I was onct. Grandpap had worse things to say to me than this when he saw my first pair of yaller shoes back in '96. Clarence Short and me went to a football game with 'em on one day, and both teams forgot their signals.

So, as Don Quixote—or was it Babe Ruth—would say, "It's all in the point of view."

I CALLS IT A SIN!

According to the figger experts, there was something like 27,000,000 qualified voters in 1920 who went duck shootin or some place on Election Day.

Add to this the infants who has reached 21 since then and then think of what it would cost at the present Vote exchange rates, to get 'em to the Polls this year. I doubt if there's enough people in Cooch's Bridge to finance even the First District of White Clay Hundred.

EXTRA!!

We noticed Hizzoner The Mayor slip quietly into Nathan Motherall's store the other day. I'll bet them two is a-plannin' some slick political scheme.

LATER: Oh my gracious, I'm glad the above didn't get on the press. Hizzoner has been "slipping quietly" into Motherall's every clear day for nigh onto 30 years. I am informed he goes in to borrow matches.

ORPHEUS CLUB READY FOR AMBITIOUS SEASON

Expect to Sing at Wolf Hall
Here Sometime In January

The Wilmington Orpheus Club, composed of prominent business and professional men of the city united for the purpose of singing their way into the hearts of the people of the city and state, have started their rehearsals for the coming season. Dr. H. Alexander Matthews, of Philadelphia, director of the club, has again assumed the reins of leadership this year, and if anything, the program so far outlined is far more strenuous than ever before attempted.

The opening concert of the Orpheus season will be given in the Playhouse on the evening of December 4. Miss Elizabeth Bonner, for a number of years soloist at St. Paul's R. C. Church, who has won laurels as a contralto singer in grand opera and on the concert stage throughout the country, will be the assisting artist. On December 9 this concert will be repeated at West Chester.

In January, the exact date to be announced, the Orpheus Club will sing in Wolf Hall, University of Delaware. The organization has already gained much favor in Newark and its appearances here now regarded as among the red-letter events of the winter.

On February 25, in the Playhouse, Wilmington, the Orpheus Club will have the unusual honor of singing in joint concert with the Glee Club of the University of Pennsylvania, of which Dr. Matthews also is director. The latter organization has advanced to high rank among glee clubs of the country under Dr. Matthews and has won several notable prizes.

WHY RIGHT HAND TIRES
WEAR OUT FIRST

Motorists Should Change Rear
Tires to Front When Wear Shows

The fact that tires on the right hand side of a car wear out faster in proportion than those on the left hand side, often puzzles motorists. The popular supposition that this wear is caused by turning many corners to the right is incorrect. The fact is that the increased wear is, actually caused by the pitch of the road, which throws more of the car on the right side than on the left.

The round of the road from curb to curb is far more important in determining the sequence in which tires normally wear out—right rear, left rear, left front—than are gutter wear and abrasions from grinding off and on pavements.

To secure uniform wear from a set of tires, change them around about once a month. Particularly is it important to reverse the rear tires. After the rear tires are worn down, reverse them with the front.

BIG LEAGUERS IN ACTION

Herb Penneck and Other Yankees
May Play For Kennett Square

Plans are now being made by a group of Kennett Square, Pa., sports-games between Kennett and nearby men for a series of local baseball teams, in which the fans will see some famous big league ball players in action.

"Herb" Penneck, of the Yankees, who is native of Kennett, is expected to pitch for his home town again. Wally Schang, Gaston, Bush and perhaps Ruth may be in the lineup.

Last year the Embreville team were opponents and the game drew an enormous crowd. It is expected that both teams this year will be strongly re-enforced for the battle. Many Newark fans attended the game at Kennett last fall.

Grange Well Financed

One of the big assets of the Grange movement of the country is the fact that it is substantially financed, which enables it to carry out many projects of rural benefit in legislative lines and other wise on an extensive scale. The National Grange has a treasury of nearly $150,000 and many of the State Granges are equally well financed; Michigan being a noteworthy example, with a treasury surplus of more than $50,000. In the case of all these Grange funds a large portion is invested in Liberty Bonds, purchased during the stress of the war emergency.

Stockholders Meeting of the U. S. A., November 4 ATTEND AND VOTE

Twenty-seven million people stayed away from the Polls in 1920.

Twenty-six million people—A minority of all the voters—elected a President in 1920.

Were you one of the twenty-seven million who failed to perform their full duty as citizens; or one of the twenty-six million who properly fulfilled their obligations?

Whatever the answer, register a promise now that you will go to the polls on Election Day and swell the ranks of the twenty-six million so they will cast a vote truly representative of the will of all the eligible voters of the country.

Vote as you please—but—VOTE!

The Fathers of our Constitution, by Divine inspiration, gave you equality before all men; made you a participating stockholder in the greatest corporation in the world—the United States of America—and gave you the privilege of personal representation in the conduct of its affairs.

More than this: to insure your full patriotic performance in behalf of your fellow-citizens, they placed upon you an obligation to serve, to take an active part in governing this great organization.

That obligation is the obligation to vote.

Within the last decade there has been a retrogression of civic consciousness; a failure on the part of a large number of otherwise good citizens to perform their duty to their country; to fulfill their obligation to vote.

Give serious thought to the following figures:

In 1896, 80 per cent of the eligible voters of the county went to the polls and voted.

In 1900, 73 per cent cast their ballots.

In 1908, 66 per cent.

In 1912, 62 per cent.

In 1920, less than 50 per cent of those eligible to vote, went to the polls!

Study the following Presidential voting table and the record in your own State. Note the army of ballot slackers.

No more eloquent indictment for civic indifference is needed than these statistics. It is an indictment against all of us, from the lowest to the highest—laborers, skilled workers, executives, employers, professional men and clergy.

The figures clearly demonstrate that the great danger to the Nation is not the attacks of radicals and bolsheviks from without, but the dwindling of civic performance within. It is a menace to our institutions and our government.

The situation is one that should arouse every thinking person to the necessity of performing his obligation.

You can help to remedy this situation and it is your duty to do so. Go to the polls yourself, talk to your friends, associates and neighbors and line up a great army of voters on November 4.

Vote as you please, but VOTE!

A. Teachers College, Columbia University, who succeeds Miss Clark as Professor of Home Economics. Miss Parker's former connections as a teacher have been with the Winona Teachers College, of Minnesota, Kansas State Agricultural College, and Indiana State Normal School.

Miss Lulu M. Richardson, B. A. Goucher, M. A. Johns Hopkins, formerly an instructor at Tome Institute and later at Irving College, succeeds Miss Weiss, Assistant Professor in the Modern Language Department.

Miss Rean Allen, B. A. Teachers College, Columbia University, recently connected with the Horace Mann School and the Demonstration School at Columbia University, succeeds Miss Eckman, Assistant Professor in the School of Education.

Mr. Roy T. Whitney, B. S., M. S. Middlebury College, who last year held a teaching fellowship in Pennsylvania State College, Instructor in Chemistry, succeeds Professor Harold K. Tiffany.

Mr. H. Clay Reed, B. A. Bucknell, graduate student, Pennsylvania State College, recently instructor in the Clairton, Pa., High School, Instructor in History and English, succeeding Mr. Mosher.

Miss Mildred Congdon, B. A. Holyoke, Assistant in Chemistry, Women's College.

Miss Leota Colpitts, B. A. Wellesley, Assistant in Biology, Women's College.

Miss Mary Harding, from the Pratt Institute of Fine Arts, Assistant in the Department of Fine Arts.

On the Experiment Station Staff, Mr. Philip Meyer, B.S., Case School of Applied Science, formerly of the du Pont Research Department, recently with the Gracell Chemical Company, succeeds Professor Tarr, who has resigned to enter work in the industrial field.

It is also a pleasure to announce the return of Professor Saleski, of the Department of Modern Languages, who has been on leave of absence for fifteen months studying in Germany, during which time he has completed the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Freiburg.

New Library

It is not necessary to announce to those who have eyes to see that the new Memorial Library is nearing completion. It may, however, be of interest to know that the architects and contractors expect to have the building ready for occupancy by December.

New Physics Building

It may also be of interest to know that we are to have a new Physics Building at Delaware College this year, though it is new only for Physics. The removal of the State Board of Health Laboratory to Dover has left the building occupied by it available for University purposes and the building has been assigned to the Department of Physics. It is being renovated and changed to suit the needs of the Department and will be ready for the Department to move in within a few weeks time.

Public Lectures

Announcement can also be made at this time that an unusual number of lectures will be given this year at the University by lecturers of distinction. Certain of the Alumni, among whom Judge Hugh Morris has been especially active, have arranged for a most interesting group of lectures in connection with the Department of History and Political Science.

Among those whom they have secured for lectures here are Dean Roscoe Pound, of the Harvard Law School, Hon. Louis Coolidge, of Massachusetts, Judge Woolley, of the Federal Court of this district, Mr. Henry Ridgely, of Dover, and Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, and others.

Last year's course of lectures on government will be published shortly by Kells, the contribution of Mr. Everett C. Johnson, of the class of '09, who, together with Judge Morris, co-operated with the Department of History and Political Science in arranging for these lectures. This volume will be of especial interest to those who heard the lectures and many of whom will doubtless desire to have them in permanent form.

College Hour

For College Hour, through the generosity of a friend of the University, we shall be able to provide what will probably be the best course of lectures we have ever had. Among those who will be invited to lecture at College Hour are General Henry Allen, of the American Army of Occupation, Mr. Lewis Anspacher, writer and dramatist, Dr. Henry VanDyke, of Princeton, Dr. Vernon Kellogg, of the American Research Council, Countess Karolyi, of Hungary, and others. The following members of the class of 1924, upon completion of their work, were awarded diplomas. They are: Kenneth Mendenhall, Vincent Tempene and Howard L. Corkran.

The exercises were preceded by an Academic procession from Wolf Hall to the upper campus. Members of the Board of Trustees, both faculties and both student bodies took part. Dr. F. M. K. Foster was marshal of the procession.

America's Purpose

Are we not realizing a noble destiny? The great Admiral who discovered America bore the significant name of Christopher. It has been pointed out that this name means Christ-bearer. Were not the men who stood at Bunker Hill bearing light to the world by their sacrifices? Are not the men of today, the entire Nation of today, living in accordance with the significance of that name, and by their service and sacrifice redeeming mankind from the forces that make for everlasting destruction? We seek no territory and no rewards. We give but do not take. We seek for a victory of our ideas.—Calvin Coolidge in Address at Bunker Hill, June 17, 1918.

He was enrolled in the four-year Agriculture course and stood well in his studies, according to instructors. He was a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity, having joined that organization last Spring. He was very popular with his classmates and with the student body in general, and his sudden death, when reported Monday morning caused a pall of gloom to descend over the campus here.

Deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Collison of near Bridgeville. His father is chairman of Sussex County Democratic Committee, and a prominent farmer. The boy's mother is almost prostrated with grief.

Messages of condolence and sympathy have been sent by University officials and students to the stricken parents.

The football practice scheduled for Monday was called off by Coach McAvoy, because of young Collison's death.

The funeral services will be held from his late home at Bridgeville tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock standard time. Interment will be made in Bridgeville cemetery.

The pall bearers will be selected from his college classmates and chums and his friends in Bridgeville. Members of the Sigma Nu Fraternity will attend the funeral in a body, and will be joined by representatives from the other fraternities on the campus, and by officials of the University.

LEGAL NOTICE

RE IT ENACTED by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Delaware in General Assembly Met: (two-thirds of all the members elected to each House agreeing thereto):

SECTION 1. That Article V of the Constitution of the State of Delaware be amended by striking out all Section 4 of said Article, and by inserting in lieu thereof a new Section 4, in the following language, to-wit:

"SECTION 4. The General Assembly shall enact uniform laws for the registration of voters in this State entitled to vote under this Article, which registration shall be conclusive evidence to the election officers of the right of every person so registered to vote at any General Election while his or her name shall remain on the list of registered voters, and who is not at the time disqualified under the provisions of Section 3 of this Article; and no person shall vote at such General Election whose name does not at that time appear in said list of registered voters."

"There shall be at least two registration days in a period commencing not more than one hundred and twenty days, nor less than sixty days before, and ending not more than twenty days, nor less than ten days before, each General Election, on which registration days persons whose names are not on the list of registered voters established by law for such election, may apply for registration, and on which registration days applications may be made to strike from the said registration list names of persons on said list who are not eligible to vote at such election; provided, however, that such registration may be made as hereinafter provided at any time prior to the day of holding the election."

"From the decision of the registration officers granting or refusing registration, or striking or refusing to strike a name or names from the registration list, any person interested, or any registration officer, may appeal to the resident Associate Judge of the County, or in case of his disability or absence from the County, to any Judge entitled to sit in the Supreme Court, whose determination shall be final; and he shall have power to order any name improperly omitted from the said registry to be placed thereon, and any name improperly appearing on the said registry to be stricken therefrom, and any name appearing on the said registry, in any manner incorrect, to be corrected, and to make and enforce all necessary orders in the premises for the correction of the said registry. Registration shall be a prerequisite for voting only at general elections, at which Representatives to the General Assembly shall be chosen, under the General Assembly shall otherwise provide by law."

"The existing laws in reference to the registration of voters so far as consistent with the provisions of this Article, shall continue in force until the General Assembly shall otherwise provide."

The Granges in California are widely discussing the water and power act, which is a live pending issue, and in all cases are demanding the strict conservation of the state's natural resources, instead of permitting them to fall into the hands of big corporations under long-term leases.

One of the youngest Granges in Oregon staged a mammoth Fourth of July celebration this year and carried out the most successful event of the sort ever held in its part of the state. People came from a wide radius, and an active program of interest was kept in progress throughout the day.

Heavy Sentences Mark Short Term

Held Last Week

After examining 74 witnesses, making 34 presentments and indictments, and ignoring thirteen other cases, the September term of Circuit Court for Cecil County adjourned Saturday last.

Sentences pronounced upon Alexander Carr, of near Conwigo, self-confessed assailant of Constable Leland Ott and upon Charles Kassing, convicted by a jury of complicity in the murders of Joseph Dorrance, of near Barksdale, were among the heaviest imposed in recent years by the court. Carr received six years in the penitentiary and Kassing ten years. Mrs. Dora Vaughn, also alleged to have been connected with the plot to murder Dorrance, was freed after the Court decided that insufficient evidence had been brought in to convict her.

Be Careful in Silos;

Gases Are Dangerous

That poisonous gases formed in silos overnight while in process of being filled are deadly, is the seasonal warning of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Freshly cut silage in a partially filled silo produces a poisonous gas. If there is no circulation of air this gas remains in considerable volume. Death may result from entering a silo containing this gas.

A precaution recommended by Government specialists will avert the danger of entering a gas-filled silo. They advise running the blower of the ensilage cutter for a few minutes before anyone enters the silo.

Air currents stirred up by the blower will dilute the gases sufficiently or drive them from the silo. It is then safe to enter.

Dedicate Farm Homes

The National Grange provides a ritual ceremony for the dedication of farm homes, which is widely used in many sections of the United States. Such an occasion never fails to bring together a cheery neighborhood gathering, the ceremony is very impressive and the whole idea promotes good fellowship and harmonious action in rural communities.

A Grange milling and supply company operated near Oakland, Maryland, has been running successfully for a number of years and proves of great value to the farmers of that locality, handling feeds, fertilizer, binder twine, coal, spraying material and farm machinery on a large scale and at a great saving to the farmer buyers. Co-operative selling also disposes of large quantities of the farmers' products at the highest cash prices.

NEW CASTLE ALARMED BY MAD DOG SCARE

State Laboratory Finds Canine Suffering With Rabies Last Week

Friday afternoon a mad dog was shot and killed by Chief of Police William Palmer, after the animal had bitten J. Harry King, a New Castle ice merchant and resident of Strand and Harmony street, and an Italian girl named Mary Garneski, who resides in the western section of New Castle. The dog, it is claimed, had been running at large during Thursday and Friday, and it is understood several animals were bitten. After the dog had been killed the head was sent to Dr. Middlebrook, State bacteriologist of Newark, and it was found that the animal was suffering from rabies. Howard L. Wilhelm, president of the Board of Health, and Dr. Lewis Booker, New Castle city physician, have issued notices that all dogs in that town must be confined for two weeks and that all dogs found running at large will be shot immediately.

COL. SMITH RE-ELECTED NAT. CHAPLAIN V. F. W.

Newark Resident Signally
Honored at Atlantic City
Encampment

By unanimous choice of the hundreds of delegates present, Colonel Samuel J. Smith, U. S. A., retired, of Newark, was again chosen National Chaplain of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, during the annual encampment held in Atlantic City, during the week of the 13th of this month.

Colonel Smith, who moved to Newark with his late wife last year, has been prominently affiliated with the organization since its inception.

He has also shown a great interest in the veterans who live in Newark and has spoken several times at their meetings.

He held the office of National Chaplain for fourteen consecutive years, but in 1921 insisted upon yielding to a young World War veteran. In 1923, at Norfolk, Va., he was persuaded to run again and was chosen to fill his old post.

At the recent encampment at Atlantic City he was the most popular candidate and his re-election was made unanimous, the adjutant general of the order casting the ballot for the encampment. Colonel Smith is now entering upon his sixteenth year of service in that office.

CHAMPIONSHIP STARTS

First Match Play Round Saturday At Country Club

Play for the Club Championship at the Newark Country Club here started last Saturday, when the qualifying round was played off. Most of the strongest players in the ranks survived this test and will be ready for the first round of the semifinals next Saturday afternoon.

Handicaps have little or no bearing on the scores in this tournament, and it is the best allround golfer who carries off the cup. In other tournaments, handicaps are allowed, and many of the best players have been thus eliminated early in the play.

Some stirring matches are promised for the next two Saturdays "up on the hill."

DEMENTED MAN IN TOWN

Thought To Have Escaped From Hospital At Perryville. Goes
Unmolested

Considerable excitement was caused residents of Delaware Avenue and those living on North Chapel Streets yesterday morning when a man, apparently demented, was discovered wandering about the streets.

Although he refused to give his name, the stranger said he had escaped from the Veterans Bureau Hospital at Perryville, Md. He was about 25 years of age, according to those who talked with him. He entered the store of Stephen Cornog on East Main Street, while in that part of town. Mr. Cornog, seeing the ragged condition of his clothes, gave the man a pair of trousers. In a few minutes he was gone, reported to be making for Wilmington.

FRESHIES VICTORS IN FIRST NIGHT BATTLE

Upper Classmen Wait Until
Wee Small Hours To See
Ruckus Tuesday Morning

After spending most of the night waiting for each other to make the first move, the Freshmen and Sophomores of the Men's College staged their annual "first night" performance near Harter Hall about three o'clock Tuesday morning.

From reports of those hardy enough to do without the sleep it appears that the first year men had all the better of the first clash and drove the Sophs to cover after fifteen minutes of pulling and tugging.

The two classes gathered for battle early in the evening, clad in the oldest clothes they had. From then until almost daybreak, they studiously avoided each other, despite efforts of the upper classmen to get some action started. Several carloads of visitors waited patiently along Main street until past midnight, but were not rewarded.

No one was reported injured, and everybody was in a good humor yesterday. The Fresh far outnumber the Sophs this year. Freshman rules will go into effect in a day or two.

Thurston, the famous magician, will appear at The Playhouse, Wilmington, for one week, beginning Monday evening, September 29.

FIRST CALL FOR FINAL REGISTRATION

October 18 will be the last registration day in Delaware this year. Every one who is not registered and desires to vote at the November election, must appear in person and register at that time. The registration offices will be open from 8 to 12 in the morning and 1 to 7 in the afternoon.

There are three road shows of "Barney Google," but they are not voted one above the other.

Thurston Entertainer Of Unusual Skill

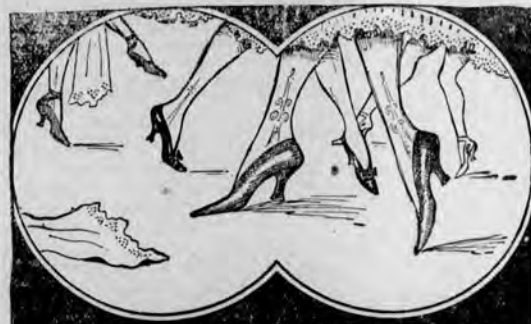

Not only in pure legerdemain does Thurston, the famous magician, who will appear at The Playhouse, Wilmington, next week, show his subtlety, but in the larger fields of illusion he displays a master mind which has given birth to many mystifying productions which he now presents without an equal in the realm of magic.

Thurston seems to be endowed with a magic power with which he discloses the secrets of the supernatural sphere. Digital dexterity, together with mechanical and electrical effects lend their help in the invention and completion of his many marvelous creations.

The famous magician will begin his annual engagement Monday evening, September 29, and will also play two matinee performances, Wednesday and Saturday. For his forthcoming engagement, Thurston promises a new production which is abundant in gorgeous scenes of the richest of silks and metal fabrics, many beautiful girls lend enchantment to the performance by their charms.

College Campuses in Splendid Shape as Term Begins

The two illustrations above show the main buildings of the Men's and Women's Colleges of the University, the central parts of their respective groups. As the 1924-25 term opens, it is the opinion of all who have inspected the two campuses, that they are in the finest condition. Superintendent of Grounds D. Lee Rose, Engineer Herman McKay, and Business Administrator A. G. Wilkinson have, with the limited resources at hand, brought the buildings and their surroundings up to a standard on a par with any small college in the East.

Visitors to Newark repeatedly stated that Old College Hall is one of the finest examples of southern Colonial architecture to be seen anywhere.

The Freshman enrollment at the Women's College jumped to a new high mark this year, and practically equals that of the Men's College. It is believed that about 110 new students have entered in each institution up to this morning.

Bobbed Hair Doomed?

"Absolutely," says Expert

National Bathing Beach Prizes Awarded Only to Girls With Tresses Unmutilated — Style Specialists Predict Return of Transformations and Banishment of Scissors.

WRITTEN EXPRESSLY FOR THE POST

Is bobbed hair doomed? Beauty specialists, theatrical managers and style authorities in New York agree that the post-war epidemic of shorn tresses has reached its peak, and women who seek to dress "differently" are turning to "transformations," the Parisienne bandeau and other means of disguising their snipped locks, according to late reports from the east.

Newspaper women, in attendance at the Long Island social activities in honor of the Prince of Wales, were impressed with the spreading habit of letting the hair grow long again. Society women, they found, are pensioning the barber's shears, because "every shop girl now has a boyish shingle, my dear."

Bobbed Hair Too Expensive
"I cut my hair three years ago," said a young business woman in a downtown office recently. "I thought I'd save a dreadful lot of time. But, gracious, my 'King Tut' cut means oodles of bother and hair-dressing expenses — far more than my old coiffure cost."

"And bobbing does destroy a girl's personality," chimed in her companion. "You look like every other girl, at dances, the theatre, parties. We all look like orphan asylum inmates. No individuality. Yes, I'm letting mine grow again."

Anyway — You may be as beautiful as Helen of Troy or as shapely as Venus — but you'll probably never win a national bathing beauty contest if you have bobbed hair.

To judge from the recent happenings at Atlantic City, where the fairest of the fair from more than ninety American cities assembled to compete for the honor of being named "Miss America," the girls with the shingle or boyish bob didn't have a chance. True: There were a number of girls at the contest whose locks were attractively clipped — but they disappeared in the first elimination and were never heard of again.

Beauties Are Curl Adorned
On the other hand, Miss Ruth Malcomson, whose dark, luxurious curls fall far over her shapely shoulders, was chosen Beach Queen of America. She comes from Philadelphia. Her curls have never been scissored, she said. And now she has a secretary — working ten hours a day, 'tis said, answering offers of contracts from movie producers, toothbrush concerns and hair tonic manufacturers.

And there was Miss Catherine M. Campbell of Columbus, O., who won the Atlantic City beauty crown for the last two years. She was "runner-up" this year. And she's never heard the barber's cru-u-uel clippers. Another fascinating beauty, whose long, flowing tresses attracted the judges to such a degree that she was awarded numerous cups and a place in the select few called for final consideration was Miss Faye Lamphier, pride of Santa Cruz, Calif. Her long hair frames a charming, intellectual countenance.

The same applies to Miss Margaret Leigh, "Miss Chicago," who finished among the final five. Her dark curls stream gracefully down her shoulders.

Bobs Destroy Personality
And when you asked one of the Atlantic City beauty judges "Why?" he replied —

That beauty of face and figure and personality are the main requisites of the judges, but girls with bobs lack that essential individuality which was needed to make them stand out from the crowd — and the girls with long locks immediately

The Standard-Six, new six in the Studebaker line, of its three six-cylinder cars, has features which make it unlike any other automobile seen on American thoroughfares, automotive engineers have declared.

The two Standard Six Duplex models are a revolutionary step in automotive design. There is a Duplex Phaeton, seating 5 passengers, and the 3-passenger Duplex Roadster. They are cars of the most original

The American Flag

By Calvin Coolidge

When the people of the Colonies were defending their liberties against the might of kings, they chose their banner from the design set in the firmament through all eternity. The flags of the great empires of that day are gone, but the Stars and Stripes remains.

It pictures the vision of a people whose eyes were turned to the rising dawn. It represents the hope of a father for his posterity. It was never flaunted for the glory of royalty, but to be born under it is to be the child of a king, and to establish a home under it is to be the founder of a royal house.

Alone of all flags it expresses the sovereignty of the people which endures when all else passes away. Speaking with their voice it has the sanctity of revelation. He who lives under it and is loyal to it is loyal to truth and justice everywhere. He who lives under it and is disloyal to it is a traitor to the human race everywhere.

What could be saved if the flag of the American Nation were to perish?

and striking beauty.

These new Duplex models—which are also offered on the newly designed Special and Big Sixes—solve the open-closed car problem it is widely agreed by motorists and engineers. For they combine, it is pointed out, the advantages of old-type open cars with the comfort and snug protection of the closed car.

This new principle in design is an upperstructure of steel—light but very strong, which is an integral unit of the body. This upper structure has three plate glass windows, and side enclosing curtains that operate on powerful spring rollers, all concealed inside the upper section. By this novel side-enclosure, wind-tight, rain-proof protection is instantly provided when need arises.

Captain John Ramsay, who has been at Fort Benning, Georgia, for some months is a visitor at the home of his parents here for a few days.

Eyelets: To make a clear, even perforation in linen or any stiff material, first place a small cake of white soap under the cloth and run the stiletto through the material and the soap. The material will be softened and the needle will easily pass through it.

Cut Cost of Living

Grange housewives in Oregon are uniting in what may prove quite a far-reaching attempt to get at the bottom of the high cost of living, by appointing committees in local Granges to make a survey of the places at which their ordinary food-stuffs are manufactured, collect all possible data relative to the production and transportation of same, with comparative costs, figures on purchases in small and large quantities, and other data which all housewives should know. The information gained in the various localities will be compiled in a general summary and made available throughout the state.

HOW CANADA HAS SOLVED THE LIQUOR PROBLEM

(Dr. Frank Bohn in The New York Times)

The following is a clear and adequate survey of how our British neighbor has handled the strenuous Liquor Problem. The average reader, believing that the Dominion is a place where the wine flows freely and consistently, will be interested to read of the new order of things which followed the people's referendum last July.

The Canadian solution of the drink problem may be seen at its best in British Columbia and Quebec. Saskatchewan adopted it by a referendum vote in July last. It is more than likely that all the Provinces of Canada will soon come to it in one form or another. To an American who travels widely in both the United States and Canada the results are so evident that they can leave no room for doubt in the mind.

The Canadian system, where seen at its best, functions entirely through a chain of Government warehouses and sale-rooms. Where a majority in the community desires a shop, one is established. Local option means that the local community majority cannot be overridden. There are no local private interests seeking to open a highly profitable business. The result is striking.

Only the larger cities and towns in British Columbia have requested the establishment of public liquor stores. A large city like Montreal, in Quebec, has several. Of the two Provinces mentioned above, British Columbia has worked out its system with the greatest care and success in operation. Saskatchewan, which will institute Government sale on January 1 next, will probably follow the British Columbia precedent throughout. Quebec, whose system is as yet a bit lax and untrimmed, might well study the perfection of the British Columbia method. I shall describe the latter as the best which has been worked out, and then draw a comparison with Alberta, its neighbor Province. For Alberta has made the great mistake of combining Government distribution with private sale for profit.

One enters the Government liquor store in a British Columbia town of 3,000 inhabitants. This town is the commercial centre of a great mining and lumbering district in that enormously rich Province. The writer recalls only too well that sort of Western environment twenty years ago. At that time the drinking and gambling resorts in these small commercial centres of the Far West were as evil, as disgusting as anything the English-speaking world has ever given us. Thousands of lumbermen, miners and cowboys would come into one of these towns and waste their season's savings during a single idle week. The results for both the town and the men can never be forgotten. One who never saw Bisbee and Butte, Nelson and Tonopah, in the old days cannot quite imagine the uttermost evils of the old-time drink traffic.

Very well. On a Saturday morning in June, 1924, the writer entered the Government liquor store in such a town in British Columbia. There was no sound but the humming of a bee in the lilac bush at the back door. The Government agent sat at his desk from 9 till 12, casting his accounts. During that time only one person, a woman, entered. She was well-dressed and soft-spoken. She purchased one bottle of wine in the same manner that she would ask for a yard of ribbon in a neighboring shop. When 12 o'clock struck the door was locked until 9 o'clock Monday morning.

This Government agent is one of the most respected men of the community. When the old saloon system was in operation he was an ardent temperance reformer. He took his present position at a personal sacrifice. He wishes, as an honest and intelligent citizen and temperance reformer, to see the system given a fair trial. He is the sort of man one would like to see appointed postmaster or county sheriff in that community. He laid down his pen and related the following bit of history:

"Recently a mining prospector came down from the mountains after a long period of loneliness on the job. He had not heard about the new system. For several years British Columbia had tried out a prohibition law. The prospector was ecstatic with delight. He rushed wildly into the store and asked whether it was really true that he could buy a bottle of liquor in broad daylight.

"Yes," I said, 'you will find the price list hanging there on the wall.'

"For several minutes he scrutinized the list, which then included about fifty varieties.

"Ain't it glorious?" he said, 'you've got all of them right there in that list. I can't decide which I want. I'll be back this afternoon. You sure you got plenty of everything?'

"We've got a carload in the store room," I said. 'Don't worry.'

"He went out, but he never returned. He went up to his lonely job in the mountains, satisfied to drink out of the running brooks. But for ten minutes he had been quite intoxicated with the idea that he could buy liquor when he wished to. That was all he really wanted. I could have sold to him had I wished to do so. But my job is to sell as little as possible."

During the month of traveling in British Columbia in May and June last the writer saw no intoxicated person. The difference between British Columbia and Quebec in this matter is due not only to the system, but to other factors as well. Undoubtedly British Columbia exercise greater care, and there are comparatively few American tourists there. To purchase at the Government store in British Columbia one must take out a permit, paying two dollars as a registry fee. Of course it is also more difficult to control the business in Montreal, a city of 750,000 inhabitants, than in a rural community. But the point made by the British Columbia agent, that it was his duty to sell as little as he could persuade people to buy, is vastly important. And British Columbia has very wisely introduced a careful accounting system. Every sale is registered on a personal list. If an individual returns to the store too often, questions may be asked. Presently his case may be investigated by the police and the ultimate disposal of his purchases may be looked into.

NEW SMYRNA BANK NOW BEING ERRECTED

Will Be One of Finest in the State, According to Reports

Work has been started on the new bank building for the National Bank of Smyrna, Delaware. The structure will have a steel frame, and will be of fire-proof construction. Aside from the attractiveness of the exterior of the new building, the directors saw to it that only enduring materials, such as bronze, marble, metal counters, etc., will be used in construction of the new building. Particular attention was given to the vaults, and the bank will not depend, alone, on massiveness nor reinforced construction for security—they are having installed all those approved devices which will more than serve as a challenge to the most experienced and adept bank robbers. When completed, the vaults will offer protection such as is not to be found outside the larger cities.

The new building will prove a valuable addition to the business center of Smyrna and will be one of the very finest bank buildings, outside of Wilmington, in the State of Delaware. A large water color rendering of the new building will be on display in the front window of the temporary quarters which the National Bank of Smyrna will use during building operations, which is in the W. L. David building, next to the post office.

A Farmers' Spokesman

In Oregon the Granges of Columbia county have called together the various other farm organizations and have initiated a movement to finance and send to the state legislature at its next session an active man to represent all the farm organizations and to work for whatever projects will benefit the rural interests, as well as to oppose those which are adverse to the farmer's welfare. The undertaking has been enthusiastically received by the farmers, whose response is very general.

Some Speed Record

A Grange in Saratoga county, New York, holds the record for rapid action. Organized with less than 50 charter members in a small rural hamlet, a building project was immediately gotten under way, and when the Grange was 84 days old it laid the cornerstone of a substantial hall of its own, which is now rapidly nearing completion and is already being occupied for Grange purposes.

Have you seen this new car?
—It is a closed-open car!

A WEEK ago the new Studebaker Special Six DUPLEX-PHAETON was first announced.

Today, countless thousands of people are talking about this entirely new type of car.

One moment it is a closed car—in five seconds it can be transformed into a delightful, airy, open car. But it is always the closed car in deep soft cushions, beautiful fittings and finish and luxurious riding comforts.

When you see it and ride in it you will know why it has made so profound a sensation—you will realize then that it gives you more than the finest open car can ever give you, plus the comfort and protection of the closed car.

And all at the price of an open car! And this is the new DUPLEX BODY on the famous Special Six Chassis.

Hundreds of thousands of owners all over this country and abroad have given the Studebaker Special Six a name for value, dependability and performance second to no other automobile.

The new Studebaker Special Six retains all the qualities which make great reputation—to these have been added every real improvement which science and owner-service could suggest.

Even aside from the sensational new DUPLEX BODY—the Studebaker Special Six has no superior in value in any car yet built. It was the conscientious intention of Studebaker in planning and designing the new Special Six to make it just such a leader—to that end every resource of the great Studebaker organization has been concentrated.

Even if we had the space we could not begin to tell you of the very many new and unusual features which indicate its superiority.

Certainly no words could do justice to its distinctive beauty.

In appearance it is unlike any other American car—yet its long, low, broad, sweeping lines are conservative, crisply stylish and in beautifully good taste.

Think of the new Studebaker Special Six Duplex-Phaeton as the ultimate in value and performance in a five-passenger car—think of it as a car matchless in practical convenience and desirability.

But to appreciate the sparkling beauty of its totally new lines you must see it. To know its perfection of operation and performance you must ride in it and drive it.

If you have not seen this NEW type car—come today!

VALUE POINTS—

New Special Six:

The New Duplex-Phaeton Body—it solves the closed-open car problem.

Genuine Balloon Tires—20 x 6.20 inches.

New Satin-Lacquer Finish.

Spanish chrome tanned leather upholstery.

New idea in ease of operation and control.

Vibrationless Engine; force-feed oiling system with new idea in oil supply.

Four-Wheel Hydraulic Brakes optional—totally unlike any other system on American cars. Automatic braking pressure.

Easy
Living

HOW easy it is to live today—to live, to be healthy, to grow strong. So different from the time of our grandfathers, when, to just live, was a struggle. Today any of us can live on Easy street, if we want to.

The mere turn of a tap, and there is water—hot or cold. That's one of the things the plumber has done to make life easy to live.

A house that does not have modern plumbing is not a home. It's just a house. If you doubt this, try to sell a house to a man who wants a home.

A home is a place where it is easy to live. And there can't be easy living unless there is good plumbing and heating.

Plumbing is convenience; heating is comfort. And convenience and comfort are the first items in the making of a home.

We shall all be on Easy street by and by. Of course we shall. Just as soon as every house is turned into a home with plumbing and heating.

What Constitutes Citizenship

BUSINESS and TAXES make a Town grow. Citizenship is not mere legal residence—Citizenship is interest in the town from a business, tax-paying standpoint. The History and Growth of Newark is written from the businessman's desk, the cash register, the tax receipts, and gross sales for the week. Every improvement we have come from the cash contribution of our business men. Their money put the Idea over the top and without their money, Newark would not be Newark as we know it.

Admitting that, it is only business, only square, only fair, that we buy from them, or order through them. The best-dressed man in Newark buys on Chestnut Street, but it isn't necessary. Nor is it fair, when Main Street Business Men gave him the improved surroundings of his home.

LET'S BE FAIR AND BUY AT HOME.

Delaware State Fair Goes To The Wall; Receivers Asked By Stockholders

Deficit of $14,000 This Year, Added To Large Past Debts, Cause Decision To Be Made Saturday

Application for a receivership for the Delaware State Fair, Inc., was filed last week by Marvel, Marvel, Layton and Hughes, attorneys for Cornelius D. Garretson, a stockholder. A receiver will probably be appointed by Chancellor Wolcott this week.

The board of directors of the Fair, in a special session called to consider the matter, decided that they were not in position to resist the appointment of a receiver at the present time, and thereupon adopted a resolution authorizing the officers to file an answer to the bill, admitting that the Fair was unable to pay its current debts as they matured.

Lewis P. Randall, secretary, read his report at the meeting, showing that the attendance at the last Fair was less than in 1923, in spite of more than double the amount of publicity and the enthusiasm which had been aroused by the stockholder sale campaign in the spring and the introduction of new managers from the ranks of the merchants and manufacturers of Wilmington.

The report showed that the gate receipts were less, but that the grandstand receipts had been increased nearly 50 per cent, indicating that the show and races were entirely worthy. The comment of the directors indicated that the Fair in all departments was superior to anything heretofore offered in Delaware.

Deficit of $14,000

The report showed that there would be a deficit for the year of something over $14,000 and that the deficit last year had been more than that and for the year 1922 even greater.

CHEVROLET ANNOUNCES NEW COACH MODEL

The Chevrolet Motor Company announces a new model to its line, the Chevrolet Coach, which will be the lowest priced coach on the market.

This Chevrolet Coach, however, differs from most of the coaches on the market in that the rear panels are steel clear to the top, like the other Chevrolet closed models, and is finished in black with gold stripe—the same as the Chevrolet Sedan.

The door on each side is exceptionally large allowing for easy entrance and exit, while the wide windows, two on each side, afford an extreme range of vision during all seasons and refreshing ventilation in warm weather. The rear quarter windows are the same width as the door windows.

The interior of the coach is large and roomy, with the driver's seat stationary and a folding seat to the right of the driver. The rear seat across the back has ample room for three.

The seats and cushions are upholstered in striped taupe wool cloth, while the sides, doors and headlining are in a mottled taupe of the same material. There is a floor carpet to match.

Door windows, as well as side windows are raised and lowered by Ternerstedt window regulators. There is a dome light in the car. The rear window in the car is wide and deep and is equipped with a satin curtain. A metal sun visor comes as standard equipment.

Dr. Bevan Returns

Dr. W. L. Bevan, professor of History at the University here, arrived Saturday last in New York, aboard the S. S. Zealand, from Southampton and Antwerp. Dr. Bevan spent the entire summer on the continent, part of the time being consumed in an extended stay in Italy. He will resume his duties here this week.

REHOBOTH'S GOOD SEASON

Crowds Bigger Than Ever Before At Delaware's Ocean Resort

Rehoboth has had about the most successful season that it has ever experienced. People are beginning to realize that bathing is better here than at any other resort on the coast and the food is better and cheaper than elsewhere. Weather conditions were excellent this year—not too hot or too cool, and but few accidents have occurred.

The large hotels have closed for the season but almost all the cottages are rented for a longer season. Many of the large boarding houses stay open until late in December.

WHERE CANDIDATES SHINE

Candidates for office on the Republican ticket will be the guests of the Young Men's Republican Club of Wilmington at their quarters, 810 King street, tomorrow evening.

In addition to the national candidates, the state and county campaigners have been invited to attend and it is expected that a general "getting acquainted" party with an hour or so taken to outline the campaign, will be the chief items of business.

Dr. Victor D. Washburn, chairman, George F. Lang and Ralph E. White constitute the committee in charge of arrangements.

HERE'S A GOOD ONE ON "JIM"

Colonel James C. Wickes, who owns the Delaware State News, has a peculiar history that runs in cycles of 21, says the Reporters' Nosegay in the Philadelphia Record. He became owner and editor of the News in fact as well as in name after 21 years spent in paying off all obligations, so that he is now an absolutely free lance, hurling invective at political rottenness wherever he meets up with it and it doesn't sink out of his path. He secured a valuable franchise for his paper after being turned down 21 times. He was recently the life of the party at a fishing seance on the Delaware Bay, given by Governor Denney, and participated in by 21 persons who were all over 21 in age. At the fishing party Colonel Wickes made a few sarcastic remarks about "poor fish," as the real fish did not bite with sufficient regularity, and he came near being thrown into the bay for bait, but he has a steadfast friend in the Governor, who shielded him as host. Not ready to recognize "21" as a jinx, Colonel Wickes is thinking out a scheme whereby the alphabet can be reduced to 21 letters instead of 26. Although he would never think of running for so much as dog catcher of Kent County without expecting to be defeated 21 times.—Philadelphia Record.

Output of Cement at Record Mark In Contrast with Other Materials

No Cut In Production Shown By Data Of Government

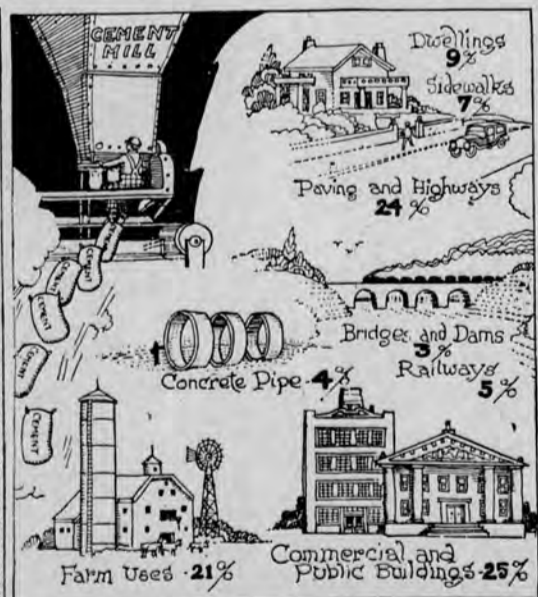

RECENT government reports of business activity which in a national election year are regarded with more than ordinary interest show that one of the determining commodity factors generally considered in gauging the future, is establishing new high records. That factor is Portland cement, which, according to the latest figures, presents a rather sharp contrast with other basic materials used in the building industry, such as steel, lumber and copper.

Geological survey statistics for the first six months of this year show a production for the period in excess of even last year which established the highest output up to that time, and for the month of June, shipments greater than in any previous month.

One of the interesting features of the situation is that this extraordinary volume of production and shipments has still left, month by month, comparatively larger stocks of cement at the mills than existed for the same months last year. These facts are regarded by economists as showing that no control or curtailment of production exists in this industry.

The relation of cement to the employment of common labor in road building and of both common and skilled labor in other construction sheds considerable light on activities in other fields. It is estimated that Portland cement is used in about the following proportions:

Public and commercial	Percent
Buildings	25
Dwellings	9
Sidewalks, private drives	7
Various farm uses	21

Water pipe	4
Paving and highways	24
Railways	5
Bridges, dams, reservoirs, etc.	3
Miscellaneous	2

The Department of Commerce gives the index number of cement shipments in June as 203 (numbering the shipments of 1913 as 100 for comparison). This compares with a production index of 79 for pig iron, 81 for steel ingots, 124 for copper, and 131 for lumber (basis 1919 equal to 100). The Department's index shows an increase for Portland cement from 70 in January to 203 in June as against declines for iron, steel, copper and a small increase for lumber.

Complete statistics for 1923 show that the rate of cement production last year reached 80 per cent above normal yet production this year exceeded it. Although production and shipments have reached these high proportions the wholesale price of cement has not advanced as might have been expected.

"The Grand Old Lady of the Bay"

Remember the Old "Louise," and the Tolchester Excursions? They've Just Stabled Her for the Season After Sixty Years' Service

Under a simple, unadorned news article appearing in a daily paper this week lies a really wonderful little story. It's about the old "Louise," which has been running to Tolchester and Baltimore from points along the upper Chesapeake Bay since grandfather was a boy, almost.

The article, observing that the boat was in dock now for the season, measured about two inches. The stories back of that article would fill a book. Who of you did not thrill as you stood at the gnarled rail of the old "Louise," with the breeze whipping your brand new straw hat brim, watching the low green shores of the bay slip past?

Who of you have not felt that old deck jerk and shiver as the big "rider" drive shaft, high up on the third deck, dipped and recovered with a "hish-err-hish-h-h" have not felt your eardrums rattle at the blare of the shiny whistle?

For nearly sixty years, from the first day she proudly nosed her way through the blue waters of the Bay in '64 until a few weeks ago, when she labored into Baltimore, old and bent and sluggish, she has carried young and old to fairy lands of pleasure. She's lost rudders and propellers, passengers have fallen overboard; and deck chairs by the thousands have collapsed, lunch and all in these long years.

Still she plies her beloved bay; still she holds her funnels aloft, bearing burdens of bright eyed, laughing humanity from the cities and hot inland towns, for a day along the water. She's resting now, is the old

"Louise." But it's back in the harness again next spring.

That First Glorious Trip
Last year she carried over 100,000 excursionists. Multiply that in proportion by sixty years—why nearly everyone in northern Maryland, southern Pennsylvania and half of Baltimore has ridden the "Louise."

Can't you still see the long wooden train pulling down the siding at Perryville; hear the wailing strains of the three-piece orchestra and the scrape of dancing feet over the old knotholes on the "dance hall" floor; can't you hear the babies squealing, and the laughter of the kids?

And the fried chicken? Remember it? Why, if all the chicken bones thrown over the side of the "Louise" in these sixty years could be put together again, eggs would be given away this winter.

Then the warm, mellow evening ride homeward—the snatch of a song up forward; the plaintive cry of that everlasting violin downstairs. Couples secluded around the pilot house; worn out sleeping kiddies still grasping the remains of the last box of popcorn. And always the "hish-err-hish-h-h" of the throbbing engines, and the soft purr of the black water as it splashed back from the old paddle wheels.

It was Life itself to many a kid, that first ride to Tolchester.

Year after year, through one generation and into the next, the "Louise" has brought joy to young hearts. No pension comes her way; no star or medal for her funnel. Nothing but a rest when the ice gets thick, a fresh coat of paint, and then a prayer that she'll stay afloat another season. But the "Grand Old Lady of the Bay" has the thanks of thousands ringing in her ears if she could but hear them.

And that's a little bit of Reward.—T. R. D.

NEWARK RURAL ROUTES SERVE 424

GRANGE A GOOD FIGHTER

Has Vigorous Program Ahead In Behalf of the American Farmer

Ample evidence is furnished that the Grange fighting days are by no means over, notwithstanding the fact that some of the big projects on which it has exerted its energies have been fully achieved, such as rural mail delivery, parcels post, good roads, direct election of United States senators, pure food laws, equal suffrage for women and national prohibition. In fact, the Grange as a whole is engaged in a sharper fighting program at the present time than ever before in its history, and the "militant side" of this nation-wide fraternity of farmers is well evidenced by the projects for which the Grange is fighting in a number of states.

In Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey Grange energies are mobilized to abolish "daylight-saving" time; in California, opposing more government expenditures for irrigation, reclamation or colonization schemes; in Washington, fighting butter substitutes and in behalf of pure dairy products of every sort; in Michigan, initiating an income tax fight; and in Oregon, massing all its forces to prevent the repeal of the income tax already enacted; in Pennsylvania, enlisting all Grange energies to stop trespass damage by nifty motorists; in Maine and Idaho, seeking to save the water power and

Liberty and Law

It should not be forgotten, however, that liberty does not mean lawlessness. Liberty to make our own laws does not give us license to break them. Liberty to make our own laws commands a duty to observe them ourselves and enforce obedience among all others within their jurisdiction. Liberty, my fellow-citizens, is responsibility, and responsibility is duty, and that duty is to preserve the exceptional liberty we enjoy within the law and for the law and by the law.—William McKinley.

forest resources from monopoly's grasp; in Ohio demanding a debt limitation law and forbidding the issuance of any more bonds; in New York, opposing an unjust inspection of public buildings and in behalf of a better school system.

All the above state projects are in addition to the national legislative program of the Grange, to whose accomplishment State Granges are lending their undivided efforts. The Grange fighting spirit is well illustrated in Michigan, where it was necessary to secure 58,000 signers to initiate the income tax measure. The Grange effort quickly secured over 100,000 names.
