Work On Armory Progressing

Considerable showing has been made during the last two weeks on the new armory building being erected at the corner of Delaware avenue and Academy street. The building promises to be ready for occupancy in the near future. Since the work has been taken over by the new contractor steel girders have been substituted for the original beams, the arch over the doorway rebuilt upon better lines, and the appearance of the building improved generally. Workmen are busy this week painting the ceiling of the large 60 by 80 drill hall. All the heating apparatus and plumbing equipment is complete and it would seem the building might be occupied by Company E upon their return from the annual encampment to be held at the State Rifle Range from July 24 to July 31. The basement, which is splendidly ventilated and the size of the drill room above, is equipped with individual lockers and shower baths.

Child Hurt In Auto Accident

While on the way from Yorklyn to Newark Saturday afternoon, William Marsey, captain of the Newark baseball club of the Delaware-Maryland League, went over an embankment with his Ford machine, seriously injuring his two-year-old son, James W. Marsey. Mr. Marsey was unable to account for his sudden loss of control of the car.

With Mr. Marsey at the time were his wife and son, Scott Gregg, first baseman of the Newark Club, and Harvey Gregg. While all of the party were bruised and shaken up the infant was the only one seriously injured. He was sitting on his mother's lap and was thrown through the windshield and cut about the face.

Mr. Samuel Cooper came to the rescue of the party and took them back to their home at Yorklyn.

WEDDING

Mitchell-Wollaston

One of the most beautiful home weddings held in this community in recent years was that of Miss Ellen Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mitchell, near Hockessin, and Mr. Howard Wollaston, of New Garden, Pa., held at the home of the bride's parents last Saturday at two o'clock. The sweet and simple Friends' Ceremony was used. The house was profusely decorated with Dorothy Perkins roses, the entire decorative scheme conforming to the pink and green of the beautiful blossoms.

Promptly at two o'clock, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Hazel Ash, the bridal party entered the parlor, and grouped themselves around the fireplace and mantle which had been transformed into a veritable rose bower. The bride was gown in white crepe de chine, trimmed with beautiful lace. The veil was held in graceful folds by sprays of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids, Emilie and Ella Mitchell, wore white frocks, embroidered in pink and yellow roses, each carrying roses to match her dress. Herman Cooper acted as best man, and Joseph Mitchell, as usher.

The impressive silence which followed the assemblage of the wedding party was broken by Mary Heald Way, who made a beautiful prayer. Following a second silence the certificate was signed by the bride and groom. Another brief silence followed, before the reading of the marriage certificate by Horace Dilworth, after which one of the overseers "broke meeting." Thomas C. Mitchell, Sarah J. Mitchell, Horace L. Dilworth and Sara F. Dilworth, acted as overseers.

Following the ceremony, Hanna, caterer of Wilmington, took charge. About one hundred guests were present. The bride and groom received many handsome gifts. About four o'clock they left amid a shower of confetti, for a wedding trip in Virginia.

THE SPIRIT BEHIND GREAT BRITAIN

What A Town Like Newark Is Doing

An interesting letter has been received by friends in Newark, from William K. Esling, formerly a resident of this community. Mr. Esling's brother was for several years editor of the Delaware Ledger. Mr. Esling is living at Roseland, British Columbia, and in his letter gives the following interesting description of the war spirit that prevails in that locality. "Everything is war here. Men are drilling, and new contingents are being sent to the concentration camps as fast as they enlist. Of our first batch of 35 boys from this town, not one has been killed, wounded or taken prisoner. They were in the thick of the fight and did nobly. People are raising money for the Patriotic and Red Cross funds, and you may imagine the generous response when I tell you that the little town of Trail, with 2100 people, has pledged itself to contribute $2500 each month, from now until the end of the war. Each man contributes a day's pay from the general manager to the office boy. The amount is deducted from their checks, and turned over to the treasurer of the fund, in a lump each month. The merchants make up the other $400. Every German and Austrian, who shows the least sign of feeling, or gives utterance to anything pro German, is interned, and made to work on the roads. Every conceivable end, whether dances, raffles, sales or otherwise, is resorted to to raise funds for the soldiers."

Newark Trust Company Declares Extra Dividend

The Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Company, now approaching its 10th year, sprung a surprise in local financial circles when at their last meeting, the Directors declared an extra dividend of 3 per cent over the usual semi-annual dividend. The new company will be 10 years old on July 1st when it is probable some interesting figures will be announced.

Women's Committees To Be Named

The Chairmen of the Women's Committees for the Firemen's Carnival to be held August 2-7 inclusive, will meet at the home of Mrs. E. C. Wilson on Thursday evening July 1. The complete committees will be announced next week.

Camp Fire Girls Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. Willis, Miss Carmichael and Miss Bonner entertained the camp fire girls yesterday along the Elk River. Most of the day was spent at Town Point, where they all enjoyed the bathing and picnic lunch. Among the party were Miss Ritz, Anna Ritz, Mary Mitchell, Marion Gallaher, May Pearson, Gertrude Hill, Gertrude Willis, and Gladys McCallister. The trip was made in the boat called Warble the Second.

Mr. Ennis Comes To New Castle

Mr. Howard T. Ennis, at a meeting of the Board of Education of New Castle, held on Tuesday, was elected supervising principal of the New Castle public schools. Mr. Ennis is a graduate of Delaware College. He was for one year assistant principal of the Dover High School and for the last two years has been principal of the Lewes Public School. Mr. Ennis was recently elected president of the Delaware Branch of the American School Peace League.

Becomes Mayor's Secretary

Ralph Saltzman, formerly of Jacob Thomas Company, recently with Miller Bros. of Wilmington, has been appointed private secretary to Mayor Price of Wilmington.

Supper Date Announced

The Newark W. C. T. U. will hold their annual supper in Banquet Hall, Newark Opera House, on Thursday evening, October seventh.

SUMMER SCHOOL IN FULL SWAY

LARGE BODY OF EARNEST STUDENTS IN ATTENDANCE

The third annual session of the Summer School at Delaware College opened auspiciously on Monday, June 28, with an enrollment of 145 students, from Delaware, Maryland, and Pennsylvania. It is probable that by the end of this week the number will exceed that of last year when 190 were in attendance. Those who have entered this year are, for the most part, better prepared to do good work than were those of either of the two preceding sessions. This is partly due to the fact that the Faculty has refused admission to the school to immature pupils, some of whom were admitted last year and who, it was felt, took time which should have been given to the teachers who were in attendance. Twenty-two pupils belonging in this class were refused admission. Dr. Wagner, state commissioner of education, and Superintendents Cross, Carroll, and Hardesty, were in attendance on Tuesday to advise their teachers in regard to what work they should take; Superintendent McVey, of Cecil county, Maryland, was present on Monday for the same purpose. There is a greater proportion of Maryland teachers present this year than last year or the year before. This is probably to be accounted for by the fact that State Superintendent of Education Stephens and the School Board of Maryland have announced that all teachers who attend the Delaware College Summer School will be given a credit on their teacher's certificates for all work passed in the school, that they will also be exempt from attendance at teachers' institutes, and that each teacher will be paid $25 toward the expenses which she incurs in the six weeks during which she attends the school. The enrollment according to residence is as follows: Wilmington, 5; New Castle county, 38; Kent county, 23; Sussex county, 46; Maryland, 31; Pennsylvania, 2.

At the chapel exercises on Tuesday Dr. Mitchell formally turned the school over into the hands of Dr. Wagner, State Commissioner of Education, and Dean of the Summer School. Among courses which promise to be especially popular is the one on International Relations by Mr. Raymond Moley; the one offered by Professor Yoder, in music.

The enrollment to date follows: Misses Alma B. Appleby, Christiana; Annie G. Arrants, North East, Md.; Arta Baker, Harrington; Clara S. Cencoff, Viola; Nettie Benson, Laurel; Anna W. Bird, Wilmington; Sarah W. Boyce, Stanton; Adaline Bradley, Rowlandville, Md.; Winifred Brinsfield, Seaford; Mr. Herman Bringham, Millsboro; Misses Marion C. Brown, Newark; Marian D. Bullen, Christiana; Emma D. Bush, Wilmington; Ethel M. Callaway, Laurel; Ethel D. Campbell, Marion S. Campbell, Newark; Anna L. Cannon, Bertha B. Cannon, Dagsboro; Sadie E. Cavanaugh, Elkton, Md.; Edna A. Chambers, Christiana.

Martha G. Chipman, Laurel; Rebecca P. Churchman, Newport; Clara Clark, Denton, Md.; Blanche M. Cleaver, Mt. Pleasant; Edna M. Cleaves, Elkton, Md.; Helen B. Clifton, Farmington; Alice B. Collins, Townsend; Alice E. Cote, Cheswold; Caroline Crew, Wilmington; Ruth M. Crothers, Nottingham, Md.; Beulah Deakne, Townsend; Maud H. Deakne, Middletown; Delema Dickerson, Bridgeville; Richard E. Dickey, Stanton; Dorothy Diggs, North East, Md.; Ada A. Dukes, Frankford; Delema W. Eliot, Georgetown; S. Martin Elliott, Bridgeville; Julia W. Ellison, Porter.

Misses Gertrude Ferguson, Port Deposit, Md.; Viola Finn, Elkton, Md.; Anna P. Franklin, Harrington; Mildred M. Garey, North East, Md.; Anna B. Gehr, Perryville, Md.; Mr. Carroll J. Giles, Laurel; Mr. Harvey G. Ferguson, Newark; Misses Martha M. Godwin, Felton; Edna M. Grace, Magnolia; Lillian Grubb, Conowingo, Md.; Jeanette J. Heisler, Charles town, Md.; Mr. William E. Hemphill, Delaware City; Misses Myrtle Hill, Seaford; Mary C. Hoey, Frederica; Margaret A. Hoey, Dover; Mary S. Hofferker, Newark; Margaret A. Holt, Elkton, Md.; Mabel E. Hope, Delaware City; Ethel Hopkins, Elkton, Md.; Kate Houseman, Greenwood; Helen Jacobs, Felton.

Misses Helen S. Jaquette, Newark; Irma B. Jaquette, Newark; Mr. Otis P. Jefferson, Milford; Misses Sara E. Jefferson, Milton; Helen Johnson, Smyrna; Alice I. Jones, Frederica; Mr. John W. Jones, Wyoming; Misses Mary James, Frederica; Sara B. Jones, Harrington; Anna E. Kelley, Elendale; Elsie King, Milton; Mr. Leroy A. King, Millsboro; Misses Mary C. Knotts, Cheswold; Hazel Lord, Porter; Clara P. Long, Selbyville; Letta P. Long, Selbyville; Edith M. Lynch, Lincoln; Ella G. Lynch, Elkton, Md.; Charlotte McAllister, Elkton, Md.; R. Elizabeth Mackey, Childs; Alma McKnett, Felton; Mabel B. McMullen, Glasgow; Mary E. Maguire, Wilmington; Anna E. Mahoney, Childs, Md.

Misses Mary S. Malone, Wilmington; Florence Marvel, Dagsboro; Mr. John Marvel, Dagsboro; Mr. John R. Marvel, Harbeson; Theodore B. Marvel, Lewes; Misses Virginia C. Maxwell, Port Deposit, Md.; Misses Mary S. Maloney, Wilmington; Florence Marvel, Dagsboro; Mr. John Marvel, Dagsboro; Mr. John R. Marvel, Harbeson; Theodore B. Marvel, Lewes; Misses Virginia C. Maxwell, Port Deposit, Md.

Orchards
The only permanent plantings made during the year were those that were necessary to fill vacancies. The majority of these vacancies occurred in the variety peach orchard. In the northwest corner of the orchard we have experienced a bad epidemic of peach yellows and little peach. Notwithstanding the fact that diseased trees have been removed as soon as discovered, only a few of the original trees planted in 1908 remain. The vacancies resulting from these removals have always been replanted as quickly as possible. Otherwise this peach orchard is in fine condition and bore a full crop in 1914. Records of yields from each tree were taken. "The commercial peach orchard is now in fine condition, except for the loss of three Elberta trees from 'little peach,' during the past season, and the loss of five trees of Belle of Georgia, from the same cause, and a loss of three trees of Belle from yellows. It is particularly gratifying to note that in the past seven years only one tree in the commercial orchard of Elberta (continued on page 6)

DEVELOPING HOME GARDEN WORK

Plan Tried In Newark Urged Upon Cities

Dr. P. P. Claxton, Commissioner of Education, at Washington, thinks every backyard in every large city in the country should produce fruit and garden vegetables for the home.

"Experiments already made by the Bureau of Education show that with proper direction an average child between the ages of six and twenty can produce on an eighth of an acre from $50 to $100 worth of vegetables," says Dr. Claxton.

"A third of the children in the city schools might easily produce $300,000,000 a year."

In order to get the co-operation of school authorities, he has organized C. D. Jarvis, John N. Randall and Miss Ethel Gowans as a board of specialists to visit those interested in home garden work. It is the purpose of the bureau to help the cities, help the home owners and convert unsightly backyards into truck gardens. The members of the board are now touring various sections of the country to gather data upon which to base a campaign to carry out the program of home gardening for town children. There is every indication that State and city authorities will co-operate. (continued on page 8)

Motor Trip Through The Southland

Dr. Dunlevy and party who left early in June for a motor trip through the south returned to their home in Newark last week. The party covered, during the time they were away, twenty-two hundred miles, making the trip through the beautiful Shenandoah Valley, and over the Blue Ridge mountains is four days. The party visited relatives at Columbia, S. C., and at Winstboro, thirty-five miles distant, for several days. Through the mountainous regions they had many novel experiences and much excitement in making the relays planned on their itinerary in time to share the meals of the rural inhabitants of the section. In one day the party crossed thirty streams, the majority of which were bridgeless. At Roanoke in the Shenandoah, they drank from the famous "Willow Spring" which runs by means of a pipe through the heart of a tree planted in 1850. The spring was made famous by the soldiers who participated in Stonewall Jackson's campaign in the Valley. Mrs. Dunlevy in speaking of the trip today commented on the scarcity of cattle and chickens in the Carolinas. She was especially impressed she declared, by the many beautiful monuments to the Confederate soldiers, bearing the simple inscriptions, "To the Men who fought for what they believed right"; by the bronze statue erected at Columbia to the women of the Confederacy; and by the simple granite shaft, seventeen feet in height, at Fredericksburg, Va., erected by the "Mays" of the United States, to "Mary, the Mother of Washington." The visitors were delighted with the southern hospitality which met them everywhere, and pronounce the trip a delightful one.

Repairs Being Made

About three weeks ago the plaster fell from the outside wall of the home of Mrs. Louisa Morrison north of town. Workmen are busily engaged replacing it.

Value Of Aluminum Demonstrated

An interesting demonstration was given last evening in the lecture room of the Presbyterian Church by Messrs. Walls and Wilson, representatives of the Wear-Ever Aluminum Company of Philadelphia. Several tests were made with acids showing the enduring qualities of the ware. Various mixtures were cooked and allowed to burn in both triple agate and aluminum pans, illustrating the advantage in the aluminum pan, in a clearing test. Souvenir pans were sold for twenty-five cents.

Street Improvements Begun

A force of twenty men under the direction of Forrest W. Lovett, is at work on the new roadway being built from the town limits to Main street, along Elkton avenue. The road is to be a water-bound macadam which in the early fall will be swept and coated with Tarvia. The street, which is a part of the main road from Elkton to Wilmington, will not be closed to traffic. All vehicles may use a temporary road, to the right of the main one, along which town council has run a string of electric lights. It is hoped the work will be completed in three weeks.

Proceeds From Carnival

The annual carnival held by the ladies of St. John's R. C. Church, on the lawn adjoining the church, for three evenings last week was the usual success. About six hundred and fifty dollars was cleared in the three evenings during which the carnival was held. The fancy booth under the direction of Mrs. Jacob Thomas cleared $200; the candy, Mrs. Victor Willis, chairman, $185; the cake, $9; and the coffee, $50. Some of the various articles chance off were won by the following:

Mr. McAvoy—bamboo table; Mr. Cohen, rocking chair; Helen O'Rourke, pillow; Victor Willis, Jr., doll; William Singles, table; Mrs. John Doyle, statue; Mr. Sullivan, cheese dish; Mr. Jacob Thomas, pillow and cake;

Father Dougherty, manicure set and plant; Mr. J. F. Moore, swing; Miss Rose Lafferty, lemonade tray.

Council Forbids Dodgers

Dover Town Council has adopted an ordinance prohibiting the throwing of circulars and dodgers into the streets, lanes and alleys of the town, by providing a fine of not less than $1 and more than $10 or five days in the county jail, at the discretion of the alderman. The ordinance is take effect July 1.

New Course In The Summer School

One of the most attractive courses offered at the Summer School which opened at the State College on Monday of this week, is that on "International Relations," given by Mr. Raymond Moley. Owing to the popular nature of the subject Mr. Moley has arranged to repeat each lecture at three daily periods: at 9.35, in Room 13, at 10.30 in Room 3, and at 2.30 in Room 12. This plan has been adopted in order that everyone may have an opportunity to attend the lectures. Mr. Moley has also announced that each lecture is complete in itself, not necessarily depending on the other lectures in the series. The course promises to be a luminous and suggestive treatment of the present crisis in world affairs, growing out of the great war. Mr. Moley is peculiarly fitted by his study and experience to make such a course informing and inspirational. He is a graduate of Columbia University. He has studied largely with Professor John Bassett Moore, that distinguished Delawarean who has a world reputation in this field of activity. The course should make a strong appeal, not only to the students in the Summer School but also to the citizens of Newark and members of the faculty. There will be five lectures a week. The first two weeks will be devoted to the elements of nineteenth century history, with special stress on the structural relation of events; the third week to a brief review of diplomatic history. The remaining lectures will deal with the recognized rules of war; the case for war; the place of force in modern civilization; ethical, economic and biological aspects of war and peace; Internationalism touching upon International Law and the beginning of World Legislation and World Courts; and the famous treaties of the world. The morning lectures today were attended by thirty, a number of whom were townspeople in no way connected with the Summer School.

DAMAGE DONE BY CICADA AND PARTIAL REMEDIES

Ordinary repellent substances, such as kerosene emulsion or carbolic acid solutions, seem to have very little effect in preventing the oviposition of the seventeen-year locusts scheduled to arrive this season. Some recent experiences, however, indicate that trees thoroughly sprayed with Bordeaux mixture or a lime wash are apt to be avoided by the cicada, especially if there are other trees or woods in the neighborhood on which they can oviposit. The most reliable means of protecting nurseries and young orchards is by collecting the insects in bags or umbrellas from the trees in early morning or late evening, when they are somewhat torpid. Such collections should be undertaken at the first appearance of the cicada and repeated each day.

Vigorous young trees often recover in three or four years from the effects of a loss of, or injury to, a considerable percentage of their branches. However, it is difficult to overcome the unsymmetrical appearance which will commonly result from the indiscriminate pruning often necessary as a result of the female insects' work.

The worst affected branches should be removed. The less injured limbs may be coated on the wounded parts with grafting wax or moderately hard soap. These protective coverings should be renewed at least once a year, preferably in the spring, until the wounds are entirely healed over. It may be expedient, in the case of a badly wounded recently budded or grafted tree, to cut it back nearly to the bud or graft, so that an entirely new top may be made. In the case of older trees, the main object of treatment is to secure the rapid healing of the wounds and prevent their being used as points of secondary infection by other insects. The worst injured limbs in such trees should also be cut out, so that all the vigor of the plant may be directed to the remaining wood. The healing process may be accelerated by thorough cultivation and the use of fertilizers on the land about the trees attacked.

The scientists of the Bureau of Entomology are keeping close watch of the territory where the locusts are due to appear, with a view to minimizing the damage. The Bureau will be glad to receive reports of any occurrences of this brood. Such reports should be made about June 10, because shortly after that date the common annual cicadas will begin to make their appearances and there will be likelihood of confusing the latter with the periodical species. Whenever the observer is in doubt it would be well to send specimens for determination. The report should be filled out with the name of the locality, including State, county and town, and the name of the observer. The information given should include the date of first appearance or emergence of the cicada, the date of its general disappearance, and the numbers, in other words, whether very numerous or scattering. The periodical cicadas may be expected to emerge from the middle to the end of May and scattering individuals may be found up to the middle of June.

A small brood of the thirteen-year race of the periodical cicada was reported in May, 1902, by Mr. George H. Kent of Suffolk, Franklin county, Miss. This brood is again reported by Mr. Kent as having reappeared this year. This isolated record is the only one we have of the thirteen-year brood of this year.

An Educated Man

Of course, a man who has been educated is by no means necessarily an educated man. What is it necessary to be, or perhaps to have, in order to qualify as one? The question seems easy enough to answer at first sight. An educated man must be able to read and write and spell, but then there are numerous people both educated and uneducated who write and spell atrociously. As a matter of fact, there is no more convenient, useful and misused expression in the English language than an educated man. It is not possible to buy an education or to be given one, for in order to get an education it is necessary to be educable. A knowledge of Shakespeare, for example, can be purchased, but is it possible to purchase an appreciation of him? Education is not so much the quantity of your knowledge as its quality. If the quality is good, then an educated man may be defined as a man whose attitude toward life is based on knowledge.—Ex.

New Citizens' Day In Wilmington

Wilmington is planning to have an Americanization Day, on July. That the idea is an appropriate one is illustrated by the figures given below:

In 1910, there were 27,519 males over 21 years of age in Wilmington, of whom 7,754 or 28.5 per cent were foreign born whites. Only 2,872 of these were naturalized while 520 additional ones had taken out their first papers; of the remainder 2,771 or 39.5 per cent had taken no action looking toward naturalization and the original citizenship of 691 was not reported.

During the nine years intervening since 1906, when the present naturalization law went into effect, a total of 1,633 declarations of intention to become citizens, and a total of 698 petitions for naturalization were filed, while about 650 received their citizenship papers during the same time.

The need for increased educational facilities for the foreign born residents of Wilmington is shown when, according to the 1910 census, out of a total of 13,678 foreign born whites, 4,265 ten years of age and over were unable to speak English, and 2,905 ten years and over were illiterate. Only 41, or four per cent of the 1,049 foreign born whites between the ages of 15 and 20, and only 19 of the large number of those over 21 years of age attended school.

The purpose of Americanization Day is to get all Americans and future Americans together and have them get the idea and later the habit of thinking and acting together, in terms of one language and with common understanding of American ideals and institutions.

Delaware Men At Guilford Court House

At the unveiling of the monument to General Nathaniel Green, of Revolutionary fame, at Guilford Court House, N. C., on Saturday next, Delaware will be represented by Judge Henry C. Conrad for the governor. The monument was erected by the Guilford Battlefield Commission.

In connection therewith, the North Carolina legislature passed a resolution inviting the governors of Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, to become special guests at the unveiling. Governor Miller could not make the trip. He requested Judge Conrad to represent him because of the celebrity of the jurist as a historian.

When the battlefield was plowed recently, a number of buttons inscribed "Delaware" were found. They were from the uniforms of heroes in the "Blue Hen" ranks and proved that many soldiers from this state were buried where they fell.

A Makeup Man's Mixup

In handling the slugs which make up the lines in a newspaper, and in separating the various items, the make-up man sometimes gets the lines mixed up and they naturally read rather queer. As an illustration of what can happen, we cite the mixup of the Bangor (Pa.) News a few days ago when the printer got a wedding and an auction sale mixed up with the following results:

"William Smith, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Smith, and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east, in the presence of 70 guests, including two mules and 12 head of cattle.

"Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot for the parties, average 1,250 pounds on hoof. The beautiful home of the bride was decorated with one sulky rake, one feed grinder and two sets of harness, nearly new, and just before the ceremony was pronounced the Mendel and Sons wedding march was rendered by one milch cow, five years old, one Jersey cow, and one sheep, who carrying a bunch of bride's roses in her hand was very beautiful. She wore one light spring wagon, two crates of apples, three racks of hay, one grindstone of mouseline de sole and trimmings with about one hundred bushels of spuds. The bridal couple left yesterday on an extended trip. Terms, spot cash."

Wilmington Free Library Issues Report

The 58th annual report of the Wilmington Institute for the year ending February 28, has been issued, together with the 21st annual report of the Free Library. The library has many patrons throughout rural Delaware.

The report of the treasurer Frederick H. Robinson, shows receipts during the year of $27,938.40; disbursements, $25,697.57; balance $2,240.83. The Librarian, Arthur L. Bailey, reports the action of Wilmington City Council in agreeing to appropriate 5 per cent annually on any sum raised for building purposes not exceeding $200,000, and in September such a contract was signed.

On March 1, 1914, there were 79,237 volumes in the library; 5,023 volumes were added during the year, 1,536 were worn out and discarded, making a net increase of 1,031. The net registration of borrowers at the end of the year was 16,400, an increase of 659 during the year. The total circulation of the year was 262,004, an increase of 12,826.

The juvenile department reports an increase in the circulation of 6,928 over the preceding year. The playgrounds were kept supplied with books from this department.

At the Rockford Branch the circulation for the year was 15,350, an increase of 986. The number borrowers registered at the end of the year was 575.

An Appeal For The Children Of France

Although Americans have shown a ready generosity toward the stricken and needy people of Europe since the beginning of the present great war, a relief plan just organized in New York, is believed to hold a stronger and straighter appeal to this nation than any previous one of a kindred nature. This plan was inaugurated by Mrs. Whitney Warren, Treasurer of the Secours National which has been sending food and clothing to the destitute aged people, women and children in France. The object of this new work is to send kits containing necessary articles of wear to the babies and little children of the destitute and devastated sections of France.

There is a double appeal to this work. First, it does not seek in any way to furnish aid to the belligerent or fighting branch of the French nation. Second, it does aim to give greatly needed aid to children—to little children who are in need and helpless. There are thousands of these little ones in France today, homeless orphans who are in rags or completely destitute of clothing. These are the children the Secours National proposes to help.

It is no reflection upon the French Government that this distressing condition exists today. That peaceful cultured nation was precipitated into a war of defense and, against odds, has worked wonders in sustaining its army and caring for non-combatants.

But France cannot accomplish miracles and it is from America that help for these children must come, children whose great grandfathers a hundred years ago fought to make America free.

It is now the time of year when Americans—blessed with the liberty France helped to win for her—are enjoying the benefits and pleasures of vacation. These little children of France are suffering for the necessities of life. Would it not be beautifully appropriate for Americans to give a part—only a small part—of their vacation funds for this worthy cause?

Will you help these children? Arrangements have been made whereby the cost of each kit is held to the small amount of two dollars ($2). Free transportation is furnished by the French Government while safe and advantageous distribution of the kits is guaranteed by the American War Relief Clearing House in Paris. All subscriptions should be sent to Mrs. Whitney Warren, Treasurer, Secours National, 16 East 47th street, New York City.

Found Long Lost Ring

Paul Weber, a baker of Middle-town, while gunning on Charles Fineaur's farm, near Blackbird, in 1901 lost a plain gold ring used at his wedding which he wore as it had ceased to fit any of his wife's fingers. Search was made for the ring without result. One day last week while picking strawberries the ring was found lying on the ground. The field in which it was found had been repeatedly plowed and cultivated in the past fourteen years.

Wedding At Delaware City

Miss Anna E. Hemphill and Mr. George Sauerwein, Jr., were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evans Hemphill, in Delaware City on Wednesday, June 23 by Rev. O. B. Rice, pastor of the M. E. Church, in the presence of relatives and friends. Mrs. Laura Adkins was matron of honor and Albert Hemphill was best man. After a wedding supper the bride and groom left for New York where they sailed for Panama, where the latter is foreman of an engineering corps employed on the canal. They received many gifts, including cut glass and silver.

You Can Now Buy Original Luther Burbank Seeds in Newark

WE have secured the exclusive selling rights of Luther Burbank's original seeds for Newark, having been appointed the special representative of the Luther Burbank Company, San Francisco, Sole Distributor of Luther Burbank's Original Productions.

To tell you of the seeming miracles wrought by the hand and brain of Luther Burbank and their history would require many large sized books.

You now have the opportunity of diverting the great Burbank genius right into your own garden. It has always been his desire to share with the world the results of his years of creative effort and the opportunity is now offered you to enjoy the fruits of labor—to grow the extraordinary flowers and vegetables that he has been years in creating—to have a garden that will be unique, beautiful and profitable.

No other store in Newark can sell you original Burbank seeds. The prices are moderate—no more than you would have to pay for average seeds of good quality.

The securing of this exclusive right to sell Luther Burbank original seeds is but another indication of the progressive policies of this store to give the unusual at all times. Look for the Burbank seal upon every package of seeds you buy. It is the "Sterling" mark of quality and genuineness, and for your protection.

With every $1.00 purchase of seeds we will present you with an interesting and instructive book in which Luther Burbank himself gives valuable directions on "The Culture of Flowers, Fruits, and Vegetables."

Academic Freedom

Written for The Post

The question of academic freedom has at last been raised to an issue in the East by the action of the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania in dismissing without warning an assistant professor. And the tumult of discussion, pro and con, and in "letters to the Provost and Trustees" the note of protest has sounded firm and long. Summary action of this kind without a complete explanation of the attendant conditions will not be accepted calmly by faculties, alumni, or even by the general educated public, whose opinion, for practical or other reasons, cannot be disregarded by boards of control. The status of the professor will have to be definitely determined at least by the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania.

The average man in these parts—in the part of our country east of the Mississippi—had probably not realized until he was attracted by the publicity attached to the Pennsylvania-Nearing case that there was anything wrong with the present status of the American professor. Relations between professors and presidents or between professors and governing boards seemed to be generally harmonious. The organization of an association of university professors might have indicated that the waters below the surface were not wholly tranquil. But few cases of drastic action on the part of governing boards had come before the eye of the average outsider. He was justified in thinking—if he thought about the article at all—that aside from the low salaries which were paid, the university professor held a pretty independent, dignified position. Out in the far West, however, conditions seemed to demand an investigation. From two universities, notably, the University of Oklahoma and the University of Utah, came disturbing reports. Independence of thought and speech and certainty in the tenure of office—two factors which are essential to the very existence of the profession of teaching—seemed to be entirely destroyed in these institutions. The main facts in these cases were made public and the conditions in the University of Utah are now being investigated. That like conditions could prevail in an Eastern university was hardly thought possible before the publication of the significant facts in the Pennsylvania-Nearing case.

It is unsafe, of course, for an individual to pass complete judgment in this case before all the inside facts have been published. So far, the public mind is in a state of confusion. Many questions have occurred doubtless to worry one. What is meant by "academic freedom"? To what extent should a professor be independent in thought and speech? Is the chief business of a teacher to present facts or to stimulate thought? On what grounds should a professor be subject to dismissal? How long a period should elapse between the notification of dismissal and the expiration of his service? On some of these questions, it may be well to await conclusive statements from authoritative sources—for there is no doubt that such statements will be made. On the soundness of the decisions in so far as they affect the freedom of a professor to apply the results of his own intellectual processes to know facts or theories, will depend possibly for years to come, for a single university, or it may be for university education generally the greatest usefulness of university teachers. There can be no growth where thought is stifled. On one question, however, there can be but one opinion. No professor can be dismissed arbitrarily, without warning, unless for gross misconduct. In the case of Nearing, "intemperate utterances" are said by one trustee to be the cause of his dismissal. The one utterance which this trustee gave was that Nearing had said that he "would rather send his son to hell than to a certain preparatory school." Such a statement if made in public should have called for a reprimand, possibly, from the Provost; it afforded the flimsiest excuse for dismissal. There seemed to have been, as the reports come from the press, not the slightest excuse for Nearing's peremptory dismissal. And until a satisfactory explanation is presented the Provost and the Board of Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania will hold under the heaviest odium. To rest or regain the loyal support of alumni and friends, the Provost as the representative of the Faculty will have to explain away or apologize for his letter of dismissal to Nearing; and the Trustees will have to present stronger reasons than have so far been given to the public or withdraw from their present position.

SEEDS AND DOLLARS

Seed that is not planted does not grow. Dollars that are not banked do not increase. No farmer is so foolish as to think that a paper bag of watermelon seeds, hanging from the rafters, will ever grow until he planted it. Yet are you not expecting those dollars in that bureau drawer will grow without banking them? Dead seeds and dead dollars bring no returns.

Ebenezer Notes

The Rev. Mr. Quigg of Ebenezer church, has returned after a call to the bedside of his mother in Brooklyn, N. Y. Mrs. Quigg, who was seriously ill, is greatly improved.

District Superintendent E. L. Hofferker will preach at Ebenezer next Sunday morning. On Sunday evening the pastor will discuss, "Is it right for Christians to go to the theatre?"

Cottage prayer meetings will be held among the congregation this week—one at the home of J. K. Chambers near Milford Cross Roads, this evening, and one at the home of John B. Eastburn near Union, on Thursday evening.

The date for the annual harvest home under the auspices of Ebenezer church has been announced. The big meeting will be held in Whiteman's Grove on August nineteenth. Wm. Berry, candidate for governor of Pennsylvania on the Prohibition ticket, and ex-state treasurer of Pennsylvania, will be one of a number of prominent speakers.

On next Tuesday evening the Alpha Athletic Club, comprised of young men of the Ebenezer congregation, will meet at the home of Alvin Buckingham.

Interesting Program At Harmony Grange

Harmony Grange met last Monday evening, June 21, with a very large attendance. An unusual amount of business was transacted after which it was decided for the good of the order to take a vacation until the second Monday in August.

Miss Edna Brackin, who is Flora of the grange, then took charge of the lecture hour and entertained with the following fine program. The first number was an exercise by five young ladies forming the word Flora. A musical selection by the Grange entitled "Bud and Bloom," followed. A reading, "Spring Beauty," was given by Sister Lena Naudain. Amusing recitation, "Filling the Wood Box," by Brother Wallace Cook. Reading, "Pansies," by Sister Emile Mitchell, followed. Singing duet, "Beauty Everywhere," by Sisters Mary Walker and Clara Eastburn pleased everyone. Other numbers were an exercise by five children called "Flower Queen"; an amusing recitation, "Favorite Flowers," by Sister Nellie Vannant, who responded to the applause with an amusing encore; a trio of male voices singing Juanita; reading, "Parade of Flowers" by Sister Ethel Brakin; reading, "Thoughts of Spring," Sister Laura Walker; a musical dialogue entitled "Timothy Clove Seed in the City"; music by the Grange after which Mrs. Lillian Dennison gave a very amusing voluntary on "The difference between sparking behind the old horse and in the automobile." A vote of thanks was extended to worthy Flora for her splendid program and all adjourned to partake of her feast.

Pierre duPont to Marry

Announcement was made last Friday by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Belin of Scranton, Pa., of the engagement of their only daughter, Miss Alice Belin, to Pierre S. du Pont, president of the DuPont Powder Co., of Wilmington. The date of the marriage was not announced in the engagement.

Miss Belin is a leading figure in Scranton social circles. Her father is the northeastern Pennsylvania representative of the E. I. duPont de Nemours Powder Company. Her mother is a duPont, and the coming union will make the marriage of second cousins.

The Evolution Of
Visions And Ideals

In the June American Magazine David Grayson, writing his story, "Hempfield," comments as follows on what a man must do with his visions and ideals: "No vision and no idea is worth a copper cent unless it is brought down to earth, patiently harnessed painfully trained and set to work. There is a beautiful analogy that comes to my mind. We conceive an idea, as a child is conceived, in a transport of joy; but after that there are long months of growth in the close dark warmth of the soul, to which every part of one's personality must contribute, and then there is the painful hour of travail when at last the idea is given to the world. It is a process that cannot be hurried nor borne without suffering. And the punishment of those who stop with the joy of conception, thinking they can skim the delight of life and avoid its pain, is the same in the intellectual and spiritual spheres as it is in the physical—barrenness, and finally a terrible sense of failure and loneliness."

Cows And Milkers Stunned

Lightning last Tuesday struck a large tree in the barnyard of George Chandler near Yorklyn, where his son Edward and Isaiah McGonigal were milking cows. The milkers and the cows were stunned for a time. A horse standing nearby was also stunned. The cows were bewildered and were long recovering from the shock.

Raise In County Tax Rate

The New Castle Levy Court find in git necessary to raise upwards of $700,000 during the coming year on Thursday fixed the county tax rate at 80 cents on the $100, an increase of 20 cents. The rate for county purposes is 73 cents and for care of the poor 7 cents. The total county assessment is about $79,000,000.

River Victim Identified

The body of a white man found on a mud bank of the Christiana River on Wednesday was identified on Thursday as that of Henry W. Maier, of 1201 Forrest street, Wilmington, who was last seen on Tuesday talking to a friend on Fourth street wharf. It is thought that he had an attack of vertigo and fell into the river.

Practical Ideals

George Otis Smith, director of the United States Geological Survey, in a recent address discussing "Practical Ideals," says: "The trouble with too many of the business men of the day, and especially with those who come to Washington to oppose new legislation, is their nearsightedness. They can not see country-wide public opinion and do not appreciate the obvious fact that the financial centers are not also the centers of national thought. The result of this, as I expressed it in conversation last winter with a New York gentleman who was largely interested in water-power development, is that the business interests oppose something at one Congress which two years later they would accept; but the next Congress is already considering a more advanced legislative proposition. We are all more or less progressive, I told him, but the opposition has been just one lap behind. "The bright light of publicity is coming to shine more and more upon the inner workings of all private business which has anything of the public service character. Only about three years ago, at a conference on water-power policy, I heard the representative of the banking houses interested in the hydroelectric business tell the Secretary of the Interior with considerable warmth of spirit that one thing the men who make possible the development of our country by their contribution of capital would not stand for was any legal requirement of inspection of their accounts by the government. A heritage from our fathers and our fathers' fathers. "The scientist who simply seeks truth for truth's sake will surely lose the larger part of life, for truth that serves man, science that benefits humanity, is the only kind whose request is worth making a life-work for a man with red blood.

"The most philosophic of American geologists, Professor Chamberlain, after studying exhaustively climatic conditions in the long geologic past and after weighing carefully the possibilities of disaster to our earth from collision with some star, has shown that we have good reason to measure the future habitability of the earth at millions or tens of millions, if not, indeed, hundreds of millions of years. Sharing Professor Chamberlain's inspiring belief in the probability of racial longevity, do we not gain a real incentive to scientific research into the great utilization of the forces of nature, an added argument for the application of the truths of science to civic progress, and a larger faith that the Golden Age is in the future—that the highest development of our country and of the world is to be witnessed by those who are to follow us? Are not our ideals practical and is not such a vision a call to larger service?

Plenty of Small Tracts
Home Gardening done by the children under the direction of the schools seems to offer what is needed. In all the manufacturing villages, suburban communities and smaller towns, and in the outskirts of the larger towns and cities there is much valuable land in backyards, vacant lots and elsewhere which might be used for this purpose.

"In every school community of this kind there should be at least one teacher who knows gardening both theoretically and practically. This teacher, who should, of course, be employed twelve months in the year, should teach the elementary sciences in the schools during school hours, and, out of school hours, direct the home gardening of the children between the ages of six and fourteen or fifteen.

"If possible, the teacher should have the assistance of an expert gardener. Teacher and the gardener should help the children work, aid them by some co-operative method in having the lots ploughed for cultivation, help them select seeds, and show them how to plant, cultivate and harvest so as to obtain the best results.

"Vegetables, berries and fruits grown should be used first as food for the children and their families then the surplus should be marketed to the best advantage. Ten or fifteen cents' worth of vegetables each day from the gardens of 200 children would amount to $20 or $30. For the children this plan will mean health, strength, joy in work, habits of industry and understanding of the value of money as measured in the terms of labor."

Among The Crops

Cutting wheat—prospects for normal crop. Straw short.

Oats looking fine—a big yield expected.

Hay better than last year but cold weather has held it back.

Corn to date not up to normal

due to cold weather and excessive rains.

The few local plots of alfalfa are very encouraging. Several farmers expect to make plantings this season.

Silos have struck this community. Quite an epidemic.

Pastures short. Wet season but too cold.

Potatoes looking pretty well. Fewer late plantings being made.

Tomatoes—early canning varieties looking fine. Late plantings injured by recent storms.

Uniform High School Courses

The State Board of Education has adopted a High School course of study which is to be followed by every High School in the State. It is so arranged that students having completed one or more years of work in one school are ready to enter the next higher class in any high school in the State.

The examinations of pupils of rural districts to enter town high schools will be given in August at several places in each county, and will be directed by the county superintendents. Students who have already attended a town school will not be affected, but all pupils entering such for the first time must pass an examination to show they have completed at least the work of the sixth grade as specified in the last State course of study. Times and places of examinations will be duly announced and rules governing the examinations published.

State School Notes

A vote on a consolidation plan will be taken in districts surrounding Lowes Cross Roads, Sussex county, on July 6, from 2 to 4 o'clock p. m. at the school houses.

Supt. E. J. Hardesty observed the work of the Summer School at the State College at Dover on July 18th, and lectured to the school in the evening on "School Work in a Democracy."

Supt. Carroll oversees the work of the Summer School at the State College at Dover. He visits it frequently. He has made several addresses at the opening exercises, and delivered an evening lecture on "Mason and Dixon's Line."

The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States

Assets $536,376,840

is issuing a new Convertible policy which provides an absolute reduction of FORTY PER CENT in the premium rate beginning at the end of the fifth year.

If the insured is totally and permanently disabled from any cause whatever, all premiums cease and he is given one-tenth of the face amount of the policy, every year, as long as he lives.

This policy, the last word in life insurance, bears annual dividends starting with the first year, as do all new Equitable contracts. The original cost is low. In lieu of a reduction of forty per cent in premium, the insured has three other options.

Write or telephone for a specimen policy. You will be under no obligation.

SPEAKING of Country Newspapers, do you recall when THE POST ever failed to print any news which reflected credit on the town? Isn't it true, if you ever were forced to admit the whole truth, that the news columns of THE POST reflect the best there is in the Community? The weekly edition of THE POST tells pretty fully what you as citizens are accomplishing. Every act of yours designed and executed for the benefit of the public is given the fullest publicity. And we always try to so present it that your neighbors will see and award to you that credit due any worthy act.

Admitting, as you must, that your work is being faithfully recorded—are you satisfied?

So you see, its really up to you to make THE POST a better newspaper.

As it is, its worth the price. Come, pay your Dollar.

WRIGHT'S Boys' and Children's Clothing

Extra Trouser Suits

By buying an extra pair of Trousers with the Boy's Suit, you can get double the wear out of it—for Trousers always go first. Every Mother knows this to be a fact!

We have had extra Trousers made to go with several of our best styles in Boys' Suits—and they certainly are a splendid investment!

Shortly the boy lays aside his coat on warm days, goes only with blouse and trousers. With these Two-Trouser Suits he has a new, fresh pair to don in the Early Fall, when again he begins to wear the coat.

Four Special Price Lots

All new, and offered for the first time.

1.—Five styles of all-wool Cassimeres. Neat figure, hair line and a blue grey check, dark grey and brown mixtures; 2 pairs trousers, lined throughout, full peg; Norfolk coat with patch pockets. THREE NINETY-FIVE$3.95
