Built on the idea of reliability, the antique restoring and repairing stressed by William J. Simpson, 1707 Chestnut Street, Wilmington, is a credit to him for it has won the acclaim of astute householders whose precious bits of antiquity have become broken or marred.

The confidence placed in Mr. Simpson and his methods by families whose names are prominent socially is a testimonial to the manner in which he handles all work entrusted to his shop.

Through personal initiative and a keen interest in maintaining the highest standards he has succeeded in making his firm an accepted element in serving antique furniture look and make like new again.

There is something about antiques that folks prize more highly with the passing years than their intrinsic value.

Probably it is because they represent the past and stand for an ideal in the American way of life—the ideal for which we are fighting.

But no matter what the thought may be regarding their value to the home, antiques soon go to pieces if they are not kept in repair. Nothing in general maintenance and restoration has been omitted from the complete scope of service of Mr. Simpson's shop.

He is always ready to help anyone by giving advice on problems relative to antique repairing.

Joseph T. Ward General Excavating Work Serves 3 States To Meet Current Need

When a firm keeps up with the requirements of its customers over a span of 19 years it is evident that the management has a keen personal interest in fulfilling the demands of those who call on the enterprise.

But the scope of services of Joseph T. Ward goes beyond this. The excavating firm has continued to meet the general requirements of its customers for 19 years but has not omitted the importance of specializing. As a result, it is one of the foremost firms in its field doing rock excavating.

This most difficult of all forms of excavating is handled expertly by Mr. Ward who has a wealth of acquired knowledge to his credit gained from his personal application of getting down to the task at hand and seeing it through to satisfactory completion.

Throughout Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania the service offered by Mr. Ward is known as standard and his policy of giving advice, making suggestions and helping customers in every way has been appreciated during the entire career of the enterprise located at 1901 West 11th St., Wilmington.

Braddock Bros. Rigging And Hauling Has Completed Many Difficult Tasks

Sometimes the job must look all but impossible even to the enterprising and experienced directing head of the firm, but Braddock Brothers has never failed to accomplish any task undertaken in heavy hauling or rigging.

This impressive record goes back to 1922 when the business was established. Through the years its reputation has grown in size and consequence with the result that the firm at 2602 Market Street, Wilmington, has a clientele including many of the larger firms in the area.

In the city and county area its services are accepted as standard and this recognition has been won solely on the strength of the firm's ability to do each job well.

For the last 23 years, Harvey Braddock has been identified with his present line of work and has become thoroughly familiar with every phase of it. He accepts contracts to move machinery and other heavy objects knowing he can handle any situation that may arise. The same circumstance prevails in the rigging department of the firm's endeavor.

Elsmere Coal Co. Has Made Impressive Record In War Era Despite Shortages

Few lines of endeavor have been called on to do so much with so little as the coal business, but its record in the face of wartime difficulties has been impressive.

During the 13 years Elsmere Coal Company has been established it has run through the gamut of depression, boom years and war to win a legion of customers who know its products and service are superior.

The firm had its beginning under the ownership of Theodore Homiak and the policies he put into force have stood the test of time.

Since his death in 1940 his widow, Mrs. Margaret Homiak, has directed the coal company at 2307 West 2nd Street, Wilmington, and the methods she has instituted to meet wartime requirements have added to the prestige of the concern.

City and suburban delivery of anthracite is provided by Elsmere Coal Company to provide ample for customers in the metropolitan area.

Elsmere Coal Company, valued highly by its customers, is appreciated, too, as a stabilizing influence on the business life of the entire region.

Davis Studios Known For Distinctive Portraits; Ample Proofs Are Submitted

The portrait made at Davis Studios is distinctive. This all-inclusive and often over-worked word, "distinctive" can be applied to the finished photographs of the studio in Wilmington without reservation.

Since 1929 it has provided the personalized and unique in portrait photography. One of the major specialties of the enterprise is wedding groups which capture forever the spirit of supreme happiness for the bride, bridegroom and their retinue. Many proofs are provided.

Marvin Brainer has been manager of the studios since 1934. His experience in the work spans 21 years.

Another Davis location is maintained in the Norristown-Penn Trust Building, Norristown, Pa.

Founded in Yonkers, N. Y. in 1926, the headquarters of the firm moved to Wilmington in that memorable year of 1929 and its studios in suites 300 to 309, North American Building, 10th and Market Streets, have stood high in public esteem ever since.

Summer hours are daily until 6 and Saturdays to 3 p. m.

Service Keeps Up With Demands Well At Jack H. Goldstein's Purol Station

The standards established many years ago by Pure Oil Company are combined with some modern individualized activities for the benefit of customers at Jack H. Goldstein's Pure Oil Service Station, 24th and Market Streets, Wilmington.

"Jack", as the proprietor is known to his friends and customers, took charge of the station a year ago. And some changes were made. Mr. Goldstein stepped up service to war workers and widened the scope of activity as much as possible for the general public. His efforts were appreciated from the start.

Looking ahead to post-war years, Mr. Goldstein has made a host of friends among car owners in the area. Purol gasoline and Pure Oil are featured, while tires and batteries are sold by the station under the Pure brand name.

Automobile and truck repairing helps keep 'em rolling and Mr. Goldstein is happy to have had a part in this program on victory's home front. His lubrication service is a real car saver.

Tire recapping is handled expertly and all "hoops" are returned promptly to their owners.

Jeannette's 24-Hour Food Service Valued

Chief attraction at Jeannette's Luncheonette is food, of course, but many little niceties and considerations that win customers on a permanent basis are included, too.

The popular Wilmington location at 1909 Market Street has six years of success to its credit and looks ahead to further opportunities for providing well for the patrons. Due to the many shortages and unusual situations brought on by the war the business has made changes in its roster accordingly, but steak and submarine sandwiches, platters and diners are still offered.

Open every hour of the day and night except between 4 a. m. and 11 a. m. Sundays. Jeannette's Luncheonette is a credit to George Ahlen, with 30 years experience in the restaurant business.

Filing Of Solid Fuel Requirements Urged

Charles W. Hardesty, Delaware OPA director, yesterday advised consumers of solid fuel to file consumer declaration of their requirements with coal dealers immediately if they have not done so already.

Consumers are limited to 80 per cent of normal requirements, and are urged to accept any available solid fuel and not insist on anthracite alone. Rigid conservation is essential, Mr. Hardesty said.

On Friday at 4 p. m., the Blue and Gold will cross bats with the big University of California nine on Frazier Field. This team comes to Newark with a long list of victories to its credit, being beaten only by the University of Nebraska and Fordham. It is of interest to note that all of California's games are being won by decisive scores, while on the other hand their defeats were by close scores. The California team is on an eastern trip, playing all of the larger colleges of the west and middle west while enroute. Some of the teams which have fallen before the onslaught of the westerners are Syracuse, Dartmouth, Columbia, Harvard, Detroit, and several other large colleges. Miss Melissa Baker, of Newark, Miss Helen Cuthbertson, of Cynwyd, Pa., and Miss Ethel Storm, of Narberth, Pennsylvania. ### Soap Rationing Unlikely Says Agriculture Dept.

Housewives may be having difficulty buying soap, but the government has no immediate plans for rationing, the Agriculture Department said today. The reason, according to William A. McConlogue, a soap official, is that no one yet has devised a successful ration scheme. Surveys conducted by the department and the Office of Price Administration show, that the industry is distributing supplies as fairly as possible through a voluntary program. The government doesn't think it can do any better. American soap supplies for 1945 are estimated at about 15 per cent less than last year and 26 per cent below pre-war. The armed forces buy 85 per cent of all yellow laundry soap produced.

ST. SWITHIN PREDICTION

Prognostication Being Upheld

It rained on St. Swithin's Day, which fell on Sunday, July 15, and now we're in for more rain than most of us care to have. The doggerel about St. Swithin's Day, on July 15, reads: St. Swithin's Day, if thou dost rain, For forty days it will remain; St. Swithin's Day, if thou be fair, For forty days it will rain nae mair."

Weather men declare that it has rarely happened in the course of centuries that the good earth has had either forty days straight of rain, or forty days of sunshine. The legend is a very old one, researchers noting that mention of it occurs in Ben Johnson back in 1599. St. Swithin died over 1,000 years ago, on July 2, 862, to be exact. He was bishop of Winchester, England, and asked to be buried outside the cathedral instead of in the chancel, because he wanted to be "where the feet of passersby might tread and the rain of Heaven fall."

He had his wish at the time, but on July 15, 971, when the weather was pleasant, the body was removed and buried within the cathedral. Tradition grew quickly that it rained on that day and for forty days thereafter, which caused the postponement of the removal. The body was later removed, in 1094, to the new cathedral, where it now lies.

Butter Ration Points Expected To Drop To 20

The government will make about 12 per cent more butter available for civilians in August—which will permit a slight reduction in the ration point value, effective July 29.

This was announced by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Price Administrator Bowles.

The new point value, to be announced later is expected to be 20 points a pound compared with 24 at present. The civilian supply for August will be 90,000,000 pounds compared with about 80,000,000 pounds in each of the past few months. This increase results, Anderson said, from a revision in War requirements.

LESSON — SERMON

Subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday, July 23 is "Life", in the Wilmington First Church of Christ, Scientist, at 1210 Van Buren Street; Morning Service 11 A. M., Sunday School 11 A. M., Wednesday evening service 8 P. M.

White Clay Creek Church Regular Sunday Services

The regular service of worship of the White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church will be held on Sunday, July 22nd at 11 a. m. Preparation for the celebration of the Lord's Supper the following Sunday will provide the theme for the service. Hendrick A. Van Dyke, stated supply, will preach on the topic, "Approaching the Lord's Table." The Choir will provide music.

Sunday school meets at 10 a. m. and continues its study in the book of Genesis. The subject for this week's lesson will be "Abraham's Practice of Brotherhood."

A cordial invitation is extended to members and friends of White Clay Creek Community to attend these services.

Mr. Van Dyke is this week attending the Princeton Institute of Theology in Princeton, New Jersey. This year's main speaker of the Institute is Dr. John Baillie of the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

TOKYO KNEW ABOUT THE B-29 BEFORE YOU DID

Captured evidence reveals that the Japs knew the story six months before most Americans knew it existed

In far-away Burma, early in 1944—long before the B-29 became front-page news at home—long before our own forces in China and in India were notified to expect this great superbomber—came news of its existence—uncomfortably accurate technical description—positive facts as to proposed bases... from the JAPS. It was all in an official bulletin of the Japanese Army found among the papers captured in a Jap stronghold in Burma.

This was not information obtained by the enemy through air reconnaissance or the capture of prisoners or official documents in combat—it was a leak of supersecret information right out of this country, transmitted directly to the High Command in Tokyo.

What did Tokyo do with this information? What action did they take?

What did it mean to our Chinese allies and our own troops? It is significant that shortly after they obtained this information the Japs mounted a new offensive in China and set out to capture the specially constructed air fields built by hand by the Chinese people for the heavy B-29s. Months of laborious, back-breaking labor of thousands of Chinese workers were sacrificed by demolition in a heart-breaking few hours in the retreat before the onslaught of the attacking Japanese. Stores of precious gasoline—parts—and other scarce hard-to-get stores flown at great risk over the famous "Hump" were put to the torch. A terrific set-back—an almost unendurable discouragement.

We must keep our secrets. The best way is to keep quiet.

AS WE CLOSE IN FOR THE KNOCKOUT—
