TOWN COUNCIL LOWERS TAXES

SECEDERS TO PUT UP FIGHT FOR PROPERTY

Head of Christiana Church To Force Battle; Resignation of Rev. Welbon Refused
PENCADER ALSO JOINS
Congregations Defy Power of Presbytery; Case May Be Taken To Court

Following the repudiation of the authority of the Presbytery of New Castle by the Pencader Church, Glasgow, and Forest Church, Middletown, the Head of Christiana Church joined the group of seceders on Monday night by refusing to accept the resignation of its pastor, the Rev. Henry G. Welbon, who has joined the newly formed Presbyterian Church of America, and adopting by a 29-16 vote the resolution to operate independently. The resolution will be sent to the Presbytery by mail.

According to Rev. Welbon, who has conferred with James R. Morford, Wilmington attorney, there is a great legal possibility of the churches' secession and still keeping possession of church property. Presbytery, at its special meeting in Dover, June 30, is expected to take steps to meet the entire secessionist movement in its boundaries.

Congregation To Fight

In the meantime, Rev. Welbon announced that the congregation of his church was ready to fight to the last for the retention of church property. The group stands 2 to 1 for secession. Accusation that the Presbytery has relinquished beliefs and ideals of the church, is the principal reason for the action taken by the departing churches according to Rev. Welbon, who stated that the suspension of men considered to be true upholders of the gospel was considered contrary to church standards.

May Go To Court

Should the resistance of the dissenters prove strong enough against the relinquishing of church property, the case will, in all probability, go into the civil courts in which the question of Presbyterian Church property will be taken up. This case has not been settled in the Delaware courts, although there are cases in other states that support Presbytery's claim to the church properties.

The Rev. John Herrick Darling, pastor of Hanover Presbyterian Church, and moderator of the Presbytery of New Castle, and the Rev. Dr. Donald C. MacLeod, pastor of Lower Brandywine Presbyterian Church, attended the congregational meeting held Monday night.

To the request that visiting pastor be permitted to speak, Rev. Welbon replied that he did not think the congregation needed any outside help.

Negress Resists Arrest In Her Barricaded Home

Constable Wilbur Bush encountered trouble Tuesday morning when he attempted to serve a disorderly conduct warrant on Aoleon Wood, colored. The middle-aged Negress barred herself in her home on New London Avenue and resisted all efforts at dislodging her.

Perplexed, Constable Bush called Chief William Cunningham into consultation. Together they gave her a few minutes to decide whether to come out or have her door broken in and be taken out, through a search warrant which Chief Cunningham threatened to get. The threat was effective. The negress came out and was taken peacefully to court.

Before Magistrate Daniel Thompson she was fined ten dollars and costs for disorderly conduct and five dollars and costs for resisting arrest. The fine was paid and the negress released.

The warrant was sworn out by Alice Wilson, New London Avenue.

Confident of Victory in November

Topeka, Kan.—"Win with Landon and Knox!" is the G. O. P. battle cry today, and from the appearance of the two Republican nominees, pictured on the steps of the Kansas capitol, it is easy to see that it is just what they intend to do. Gov. Alf M. Landon (left), presidential nominee, and Col. Frank Knox, nominated for vice president, are shown as they exchanged pleasantries and ideas preparatory to beginning their campaign.

WORK STARTED ON OVER-HEAD BRIDGE WED.

Begin Digging Foundations For Span on Land Given By University

TO BUILD IN 2 WEEKS

Work was started this week on the overhead bridge which will span the Pennsylvania Railroad at the South College Avenue crossing but a full force of men is not expected to go to work for two or three weeks.

Brush has been cleared away from the land given by the University of Delaware, and a steam shovel has begun excavating for the foundation of the bridge.

Funds for the construction, which will eliminate a recognized local hazard, are supplied jointly by the federal government and the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Approximately 100 men will be employed for a period of about six months in order to complete the project which is one of the many crossing elimination jobs being done under the federal government. Men will be employed through the employment office, Sixth and King Street. Minimum pay will be 35 cents an hour for unskilled labor and 50 cents an hour for intermediate grade labor. Lions Split Meeting For Ill Member of Club

Half of the meeting of the Newark Lions Club was held at the home of Wayne Brewer on Tuesday evening because he was ill and unable to be present at the usual meeting place, the Deer Park Hotel. Mr. Brewer has not missed a meeting since the club was formed in Newark.

Weldon Waples, who celebrated his birthday Tuesday, had charge of the meeting and entertained the members with a guessing contest. Those present were invited to guess the number of stones in a bottle which Mr. Waples had. First prize was won by Alex D. Cobb while second honors went to Frank Fader.

An account of his trip to the Louis-Schmeling fight was then given by George Haney after which the meeting was adjourned to the home of Mr. Brewer.

174 RECEIVE ADVANCEMENT IN SWIMMING

Annual Visit of Red Cross Instructors Nets Good Results

COURSE LASTS 5 DAYS

174 Receive Advancement

Summer's approach brought the Red Cross swimming instructors on their annual visits to Newark with efficacious results. Tyros were instructed in the preliminary requirements of the science of swimming with such excellent care that 48 boys and 57 girls passed the Beginners Test. Thirty-three more boys and 14 more girls became qualified swimmers and a total of 23 passed the Life Saving Tests. They were divided as follows: 8 boys and 8 girls passed the Junior requirements and five boys and two girls were awarded Senior badges.

Classes for boys' were under the supervision of Harry Massey, Red Cross Examiner, who was assisted by Hymen Schwartz. Harold J. Bant was instructor in charge of the girls. Instructions were held over a period of five days, from the 8th of June until the 12th. The University of Delaware pool was the scene of the activities.

Figures Present Contrast

The facts and figures present a rather strange contrast. Twenty per cent more girls than boys became Beginners while more than twice as many boys as girls passed Swimming rank. The number of Junior life savers was the same on both sides and two and a half times as many boys as girls gained the last and most difficult emblem, that of Senior Life Saver.

Instruction Period Prolific

In the five days the instructors spent in Newark they managed to make the sport of swimming, one of the most enjoyable of all means of exercise, safe for more than 80 boys and 70 girls. Furthermore they qualified 13 more boys and 10 more girls as a direct protection to that group and anyone else who might meet with an unfortunate accident.

FAMOUS VAIL MEDAL GIVEN FOR SERVICE

Employees of Diamond State Telephone Company Get Exceptional Award
PRESENTED AT DINNER

The Theodore N. Vail medal—the Bell System's award for outstanding public service—was presented last Thursday to all employees of the Diamond State Telephone Company.

Issued in duplicate so that the medal and accompanying citation may be permanently placed on the walls of the telephone business offices in Wilmington and Dover, the awards shall hang as enduring tributes to the conspicuous devotion to duty and the extraordinary service performed by men and women of the organization during and immediately following the blizzard of January, 1935.

Staples Delivers Address

The award was presented at Dover by Philip C. Staples, president of the Diamond State Company, to Carl T. Kyles, Marion F. Johns and Anne M. Cunningham, who represented the more than 400 employees and accepted it on their behalf. Among those at the presentation were Walter Dent Smith, secretary of state; the mayors of many towns, and prominent citizens from various points in Delaware.

In a talk preceding the presentation of the medal, Mr. Staples explained that Vail awards are made in recognition of outstanding acts or services by telephone employees which illustrate the high ideals of public service held by the late Theodore N. Vail, former president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Reviews History of Award

He pointed out that this was the third Vail medal to be awarded in Delaware. The first award was made in 1925 to Phebe L. Mousley, operator-in-charge of the Holly Oak central office, for conspicuous initiative and good judgment during a serious fire. The second medal was presented in 1934 to Margaret B. Grant, night operator-in-charge of the Dover office, in recognition of her good judgment and resourcefulness in connection with a serious train wreck.

"Hardly a day has passed since the organization of the Bell Telephone System that did not record somewhere in the System some act that strikingly illustrated the loyalty and devotion

Aged Man Seriously Burned At High School

William J. Morrison, seventy-one year old custodian of the Newark High School was seriously burned about the face and neck, Saturday evening, when floor scrapings, which he was burning in the incinerator, exploded as he opened the door of the furnace.

When he opened the door, gas which had evidently collected from the floor scrapings, exploded in his face, burning his nose and cheeks severely and scorching his hair. A thick pair of glasses was all that saved the aged man's eyes for these were covered with a quarter-inch of blackened particles. It is said that residents of Newark on Academy street saw two huge balls of flame leap into the air at the time of the explosion.

Morrison, who is being treated by Dr. Arthur A. Mencher, is well on the way to recovery.

The floor scrapings are the result of an effort of school officials to clean up and varnish all floors in the high school. The walls of the interior of the Delaware avenue building are also being painted.

Local Police Issue Fireworks Warning

Chief of Police William Cunningham stated emphatically this week that the town ordinance relative to the sale and use of fireworks in Newark will be rigidly enforced this year.

The ordinance, adopted May 2, 1923, reads as follows: An ordinance declaring the making, storing, selling, disposing of, firing and exploding fire crackers, fireworks and pistols within the Town of Newark, to be a public nuisance, except of July 3 and 4 of any year.

Violators are subject to a minimum fine of $25 and a maximum penalty of $100.

Five hundred are expected to participate in the parade which will proceed along Academy Street to Delaware Avenue, turning right to Chapel Street, along Chapel Street to Main Street and proceeding up Main Street to the B. and O. station to Delaware Avenue to Academy Street to the carnival grounds.

W. N. Heavellow, grand marshal of the procession, and Frank H. Balling, who has been assisting in arrangements for the affair, have announced the following order of march: Police escort, followed by the members of the Town Council in automobiles; Ochlockneex Tribe, Red Men of Oxford, Pa.; the ladies' auxiliary of the Perryville Fire Company, followed by the Perryville Fire Company; Mococonaca Tribe of Red Men from Chester, Pa.; Newark Troop No. 55, Boy Scouts of America; Little Elk Tribe of Red Men, Cherry Hill; Continental Diamond Fibre Company Band; Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company with apparatus; Manitoo Tribe of Red Men, Wilmington; Wissahickon Tribe of Red Men from Selbyville; Wawa Tribe of Red Men, Corner Ketch, accompanied by Leola Council, Degree of Pocahontas, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

According to Mr. Balling, vice-chairman, there will be cash ground prizes given at 10 and 11 o'clock, and it was also stated that the parade would take place, rain or shine.

Wife of Local Merchant Receives Injury to Hip

Mrs. Louis Hoffman is a patient in the Cooper Hospital, Camden, N. J., with a fractured hip. She sustained the injury while attending a reception at the Hotel Stephen Girard, in Philadelphia, Sunday night, following the wedding of her son, Sydney Hoffman, attorney and member of the University of Delaware faculty.

While dancing the Paul Jones with many others, Mrs. Hoffman fell and an X-ray disclosed a fracture of the hip. She is reported improved but will remain in the hospital for six weeks.

LOWERING OF COSTS HELPS HOME OWNERS

Newark Rate Reduced To 40 Cents While County Figure Drops To 35

ECONOMIES EFFECTED

Town Assessment Lower Than County By $70,000 One Appeal Granted

Effecting rigid economy by reducing operating expenses and shaving future expenditures to a minimum, the Council of Newark at a special session last Monday night reduced the local tax rate for 1936 from 45 cents to 40 cents on the hundred. The action took place following a revision of the town assessment. It is the fourth reduction made by the Council since 1932, when the rate was slashed from $1.10 to 55 cents on the hundred.

In keeping with the general trend for reduced taxation in Delaware, the New Castle County Levy Court announced a ten-cent decrease in the county rate for the fiscal year starting July 1, lowering the figure from 45 cents to 35 cents. A budget calling for $40,000 less than the budget of the year now ending was approved by the court at the meeting on Tuesday.

Among Country's Lowest

The cuts, which give both the town and county rates a place among the lowest in the country, adhere to the recent request of Governor C. Douglass Buck for a lowering of all taxes.

Starting with the revised code in 1932, the rate in Newark has shown a steady decrease. In 1933 it was lowered to 50 cents and last year another cut brought it down to 45 cents.

While some hopes had been held for reducing the county rate to 30 cents, the Levy Court found it impractical for proper and efficient operation of the county government.

Contributing to both reductions is the steady pruning of operating expenses the past few years, taking over of the county roads by the state, and extensive building activities which are steadily producing a material increase in assessable property both here and in the county in general.

Council Hears Appeals

Those present at the meeting here Monday were: Mayor Frank Collins and Councilmen Herman Wollaston, Charles C. Hubert, George Ramsey and George F. Ferguson.

During the afternoon, the Council sat as a board of appeals for the purpose of entertaining pleas from property owners concerning assessed values. Five complaints were received and one slight adjustment in assessment was granted.

The Council's property assessment for 1936 is placed at $5,264,782, which is more than $70,000 under the assessment. (Continued on Page 4)

Aetna Firemen Capture Prize At Marcus Hook

Marching in the lengthy procession that climaxed the 30th annual convention of the Delaware County Firemen's Association at Marcus Hook, Pa., last Saturday, the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder delegation, headed by Chief E. J. Ellison and accompanied by the Continental Diamond Fibre Company Band, was judged the best-appearing visiting outfit. A prize of $25 went to the local group.

The parade was more than two and one-half miles long and marchers covered a distance of eight miles in completing the lengthy circuit.

Brandywine Hundred Fire Company, Bellefonte, and the Claymont Fire Company were other Delaware units in line.

REVIEW: JESUS MEETING HUMAN NEEDS

GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus of Nazareth... went about doing good.—Acts 10:38.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Our Best Friend.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Because He Lives.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Meeting My Needs.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Meeting the World's Needs.

The lessons of the quarter center in one supreme person and have one transcendent theme, Jesus Christ the world's Savior. The best method of review for senior and adult classes will be to refresh the mind with the principal facts and leading teachings of each lesson. The following suggestions are offered:

Lesson for April 5.

The great supper represents God's gracious provision of salvation for mankind. The urgent invitation is extended to all to accept Jesus Christ as Savior. The making of excuses illustrates the sin and folly of men in rejecting God's free grace.

Lesson for April 12.

The resurrection of Jesus Christ is the supreme proof of the deity of Jesus Christ. The empty tomb is the divine guarantee that Christ was what he claimed to be, and that his offering on Calvary's cross was accepted by God.

Lesson for April 19.

The center of interest in this parable is not the prodigal son or his brother, but a certain man who had two sons. He who fails to see the heart of the parable. The whole of revelation as it pertains to a sinning race and a pardoning God is swept before us in this narrative.

Lesson for April 26.

The story of the rich man and Lazarus gives us a look into two worlds. In this world the rich man lived in luxury while Lazarus begged at his door. In the other world, their positions are reversed. Death is coming to rich and poor. Worldly condition is not a test of man's relationship to God. The rich man did not go to hell because he was rich, neither did Lazarus go to heaven because he was poor.

Lesson for May 3.

Forgiveness is a Christian obligation. Humility is a Christian quality. Gratitude is an uncommon grace. The nine lepers who were healed failed to express gratitude to the healer.

Lesson for May 10.

Prayer is an obligation on the part of the believer. Spiritual growth is absolutely impossible without it. Men should pray under all circumstances.

Lesson for May 17.

Zacchaeus brushed aside all difficulties in order to see Jesus. He proved the reality of his conversion by making restitution. He was saved instantly upon receiving Jesus Christ. Salvation is a present reality to those who believe on Jesus Christ.

Lesson for May 24.

Jesus warned against the scribes. They claimed to be loyal to the Word of God yet showed their lack of the saving grace of God. In connection with his teaching in the temple, Jesus prophesied of his return and warned against unpreparedness as to his coming.

Lesson for May 31.

The last meal that Jesus ate with his disciples was the passover, the memorial of the national deliverance which pointed to the supreme deliverance to be effected by Christ on the cross of Calvary. In connection with the passover, the feast of the new covenant was instituted. This feast has a double import, looking backward to the great deliverance wrought through Christ's atoning death and forward to the even greater deliverance which he shall accomplish at his second coming.

Lesson for June 7.

Jesus' indescribable agony in the garden shows what it cost the sinless Son of God to identify himself with the sinning race, when in anguish he sweat as it were great drops of blood.

Lesson for June 14.

The crucifixion of Jesus Christ was the greatest tragedy of all history. May the fact of the sinless Son of God suffering for a sinning race, move all sinners to accept salvation at his hand.

Lesson for June 21.

Jesus, having given the disciples the parting message to evangelize the world, ascended into heaven. May these last words of our Lord be received by us as our supreme obligation to take the gospel to every creature.

The lessons of the entire quarter have been rich in teaching material. A faithful presentation of the Bible messages given should mean conversion for some and growth in grace for many.

Pray Continually

Accustom yourself gradually to carry prayer into all your daily occupations. Speak, move, work, in peace, as if you were in prayer, as indeed you ought to be. Do everything without excitement, by the spirit of grace.—Fenelon.

Great Designs

Great designs are not accomplished without enthusiasm of some sort. It is the inspiration of everything great. Without it no man is to be feared, and with it none despised.—Bovee.

PREPARING THE SMALL CHILD TO WELCOME THE NEW BABY

DONNA DARE

Mr. Trenton's business took him to all parts of the world, usually his young wife and their little daughter, Cecile, accompanied him. Cecile's parents realized that a life spent largely in hotels was not the best for their little girl, but they wanted to be together as much as possible and to have their child with them. They knew, too, that before long there would be education to consider, which meant that the mother and daughter must remain at home, or else the child must be left to the care of relatives or placed in a boarding school. They had definitely decided against the latter suggestions and were therefore making the most of their time together.

Consequently, Cecile had very little opportunity for mixing with other children and very little experience in sharing her parents, even with older people. Now that a little brother or sister was expected, Mother and Daddy were troubled over the effect this change, along with all the changes of living conditions incident thereto, would have on their child.

On the way home to New York, Mrs. Trenton had a happy thought. In a small suburban town outside the metropolis lived a very dear sister, happily married, with three small children, one of them a six-months-old baby. Grandmother had written glowing accounts of the older children's devotion to each other and to their tiny sister. Mrs. Trenton did so want Cecile's first glimpse of home life to be a happy one, and this seemed to offer a wonderful opportunity, so that night the Trentons telegraphed: MAY WE COME FOR A BRIEF VISIT. The reply came back: AS SOON AS YOU CAN.

Now for the first time Cecile found herself among other little ones, but in a well ordered home where everyone was kind, so that the adjustments were in most instances a pleasure to her. Her mother had asked that she be given no more privileges than the other children. At the end of a week of work and play, give and take, with her little cousins, and happy hours spent in admiring and caring for the growing baby, Cecile was loathe to leave.

On the way back to New York, Mrs. Trenton said to her small daughter, "Cecile, how would you like to have a baby brother or sister like little cousin Patsy?"

Cecile's eyes glistened with excitement for a moment, only to fill with tears.

"Well," enquired Daddy anxiously, "how would you feel about it, little Daughter?"

"I would like it very much, answered the child in her old-fashioned manner, "but a little baby like Patsy needs very great care, so we couldn't have one because it would not be comfortable on the boats and trains and buses."

"You are a most observing young lady," said Daddy, musingly, "but perhaps I may be able to do something towards solving this problem."

The next day Mr. Trenton had a long talk with the manager of his firm and soon received word that a place was being found for him in the home office. Then Mother, Daddy and Cecile were very happy indeed and soon they were very busy establishing a home and getting-ready for the new baby.

"It has been clearly established in the training of young animals of every type, children included, that the earlier they are taken in hand and scientifically guided, the easier the process of education becomes and good habits of behavior are readily established."—Frank P. Spear, President, Northeastern University, Massachusetts.

THE LUCK OF THE ROAD

By Mary Landell Roberts

No use growling 'bout the weather
No use grousing as to whether
Roads are stony, hilly, heather—
Covered, bare!

Skies may be bright or may be dull
Gloomy, rainy, no need to mull
Over incidents, why not cull
Beauties, rare!

If we're lonely, sad, neglected—
Let us prove the unexpected
Snubs are easily deflected
By a stare.

Gain your end, hold fast to that
Do your best, but do stand pat
If on fire is the fat—
Have a care!

Square your shoulders, face the world
Show by banners, gay, unfurled
Whether traffic's smoothed or swirled
You are there!

Former Newark Teacher Advances In Profession

Miss M. Pauline Rutledge, Perryville, Md., who taught in local elementary grades from 1920 to 1923, was named principal of the Ethical Culture School, a private institution of advanced education in Brooklyn, N. Y., this week.

Following her sojourn here, Miss Rutledge, who did some summer school teaching at the University of Delaware a few years back, became affiliated with the public school system in Baltimore. In 1929 she joined the faculty at State Teachers College, Towson, Md., where she filled the dual role of practice supervisor and director of elementary education.

Miss Rutledge obtained her Master of Arts degree from Columbia University two years ago and is now working on a Doctor of Philosophy award. She is a graduate of the Jacob Tome Institute, Port Deposit, Md., and has studied at Baltimore Teachers Training School, University of Delaware, Johns Hopkins University and the Peabody Conservatory of Music, Baltimore.

Local Miss Captures Prizes At Horse Shows

Jean L. Lewis, twelve year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lewis of Newark, has established quite a record for an equestrienne her age. For three successive Saturdays, riding her own pony, Spot-light, Jean has won three blue ribbons in the three-gaited pony class at the local horse shows.

The shows were held by the St. Georges, Pine Tree, and Elmsmere hunt clubs.

KITCHEN PLANNING SAVES STEPS

BY intelligent planning of the modern all-electric kitchen, housewives are saved hundreds of unnecessary extra steps every day. In the kitchen above, the modern electric range at the left is adjacent to the sink and dishwashing unit, and the smooth, unbroken work surface upon which the housewife is making an apple pie. When the pie is ready for the oven, only one or two steps will be necessary to reach the range. Likewise, by the modern miracle of electricity, the timer-clock shown on the range may be "set" after the pie is placed in the oven, and this unique "chef's brain" will turn off the oven automatically when it is done. This modern method of "absent" cookery, as it is called, enables the housewife to perform other household duties or even to leave the house entirely, with perfect confidence that her desert or oven-meal will be safe under the watchful eye of the timer-clock. Convenient arrangement of refrigerator and cupboards are other attractive features of this modern kitchen.

American Legion Head Praises Local Scouts

Newark Troop No. 55, Boy Scouts of America, was extolled for the many accomplishments shown on the annual report of activities by Edward A. Mulrooney, State Commander of the American Legion, Department of Delaware, this week.

In a letter to Scoutmaster C. Vernon Steele, Commander Mulrooney stated: "I will say without fear of contradiction that Troop No. 55 has been of invaluable service to not only those of your own community but to others outside of the State, and particularly the splendid work to aid the sufferers of the peril in Pennsylvania."

"During the flood I personally visited Sunbury, Pa. You and the members of your troop would have felt doubly repaid had you been able to witness this disaster, and to have heard the flood sufferers express their sincere appreciation for the efforts put forth and assistance given by the various organizations sending them aid."

Junior Officers Have Demonstrated Ability

Chaplain A. Neal Smythe of the American Flag Council No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M., Newark, inducted several new members at the Monday night meeting of the lodge. Unless re-elected this will be one of the last duties Chaplain Smythe, in common with the other officers of the lodge will have to perform for their present term will expire next week, when new elections are scheduled.

The group now holding office has been extremely successful. The lodge membership has increased in size and much has been accomplished of a general nature. The pro tem officials may be re-elected at the next session, July 13.

Last week 25 members enjoyed a fraternal visit to Diligent Council. So successful have these group meetings with various councils been that next month four will be held in which the American Flag Council will participate. The councils who will share meetings with the Newark chapter are Wilmington, Townsend, Middleton, and Delaware City councils.

Councilor nominee Davis will give an address before the elections at the next meeting stating his platform. A five dollar award to some lucky member will also feature the gathering.

Tercentenary Coins May Be Had Upon Application

George R. Dougherty, Equitable Trust Company, Wilmington, has been appointed subscription manager for the distribution of Delaware Swedish Tercentenary Commemorative Half Dollars.

Designed appropriately for the purpose, the United States Government is issuing 25,000 coins in commemoration of the tercentenary of the first permanent settlement in Delaware by the Swedes in 1638. These coins will be sold at $1.75 each, the premium over the face value being intended to provide a fund for the proper celebration of the event in 1938.

Coins will not be ready for distribution until the Fall of this year, but as experience has shown that such commemorative issues are likely to be over-subscribed, the Delaware Swedish Tercentenary Commission is anxious to give all Delawareans an opportunity to secure one or more, as may be desired.

Collectors may apply to Mr. Dougherty for the coins, the design of which has not been definitely determined, but is being considered in connection with the authorities in Washington. When the point is decided, there will be a competition open to artist designers, a prize of $500 being offered for the accepted design.

Enemies of the Beetle

Recent studies of disease organisms that attack the Japanese beetle show that several groups cause disease in the larvae in the soil. Entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture, encouraged by these findings, hope further work will develop new methods for using these organisms in control of the beetle.

Disease, as well as parasites and predators, may have been one of the natural means of keeping the beetle from becoming a major pest in the Orient. When a few beetles reached the United States, in 1916, they brought along no disease or natural enemies and apparently found none to stop their rapid increase in several Eastern States.

Larvae Are Susceptible

The entomologists have found that larvae of the beetle are susceptible to four groups of soil-borne micro-organisms—(1) the "white" group, which give larvae a milky color and turn the dead ones brown; (2) the "black" group, which color sick larvae brown or black; (3) the fungus group; (4) the nematode group.

In the "white" group there are at least three similar yet different organisms—possibly bacteria or protozoa—each imparting the characteristics milky appearance to the grub it enters. These organisms present throughout the year, reach their peak in June, just before the larvae change into pupae, from which the adult beetles later emerge.

Diseases Are Infectious

These milky diseases are infectious. Organisms left in the soil by dead larvae attack healthy larvae. These die, leaving more disease germs to infect still other larvae. These organisms have been found in nearly all the places longest infested by the beetle in this country but not in those recently infested.

Studies are now under way to find if it is practical to spread the milky diseases among beetles. It is probable that the soil in which diseased beetles have died, when treated and dried, but still containing live organisms, may be used to distribute the disease.

Loan Rehabilitation

Rehabilitation loans will enable many farmers who are already overburdened with debt to make necessary additions to their equipment before harvest time, according to Ralph S. Obier, State Director of Rural Rehabilitation with offices in Newark.

"Because the farm season is already well advanced, farmers are urged to investigate the rural rehabilitation plan of reducing their indebtedness before they are too busy," Obier said. "Since October, 1935, nine Delaware farmers reduced their debts from $41,893 to $33,414 and were able to keep their farm equipment in condition for the 1936 crop year through rehabilitation loans."

Illustrates Plan

"Debt adjustment, under the rehabilitation plan is best illustrated by an example," he said. "For instance, a farmer who is already overburdened with debt needs a team of horses in order to continue his work. He cannot obtain a loan at any of the regular agencies, so he makes application for a rehabilitation loan. A supervisor calls on the farmer and examines his debts.

"The farmer's creditors are then called together and some workable program of reducing the total debt is planned and agreed to by the creditors. This plan provides for a loan which will allow the farmer to pay off the total reduced debt and buy the team of horses that he needs to remain in business."

Concentrating Debts

"Such a plan allows the farmer to gradually pay off his debt under one note while following efficient farm practices," Obier said.

In every case, the supervisors, of which there are two in Delaware, work closely with the county agricultural agents and the agricultural extension specialists in making recommendations for farmers applying for loans.

Further information regarding rehabilitation debt adjustment plans may be obtained by writing to Ralph S. Obier, State Director of Rural Rehabilitation, Box 417, Newark, while direct application for loans may be made with the Rural Rehabilitation Agents: B. C. Deputy, Dover, and J. Frank Short, Seaford.

Importations Augur the Return of Horse-Trading

The old days of horse trading are coming back with lusty vigor judging from the number of horses imported into the United States during the first quarter of 1936. The figures for the first three months is 6,886 as compared with 6,572 for all of 1935. During the first quarter of 1935 imports of horses totaled 1,210 and only 647 for the same period in 1934.

Among the latest sellers of horses is Thomas H. Vansant of Newark, who has just sold the purebred Percheron filly Fayette, to George F. Snyder of Brandywine Summit, Pa.

Fayette is sired by Carat Initio 197560, a grandson of the $40,000 Carnot, winner of the Get of Sire class at every International Live Stock Exposition between 1912 and 1921 inclusive, and is out of the mare Kay 214355, a descendant of the well-known Dreballigon, a son of Dragon and LaBelle, animals which have helped to make Percheron history.

V—Space and Block

MAKE a foundation chain of 3 inches, make one double crochet in eighth chain from hook. This will complete the first space made after the foundation chain. Then make 2 chain stitches, skip 2 chain stitches of foundation chain, make a double crochet in next chain. This will complete another space. Continue making spaces the same as the second space for the length of the chain, then chain 5 stitches and turn work. Skip first space (first double crochet and 2 chain stitches), make a double crochet in next double crochet. This will complete the first space in the second row. Make 2 chain stitches, skip 2 chain stitches of previous row, make a double crochet in next double crochet. This will complete a second space. Continue to end of row. Practice making spaces.

Continue with your practice piece for spaces. Make 3 chain stitches to turn work. These 3 chain stitches will count as 1 double crochet in the next row. Therefore, skip the first stitch of previous row, make 1 double crochet in each of the next 3 stitches. This will complete 1 block at beginning of a row. Make 2 chain stitches, skip 2 stitches of previous row, make 1 double crochet in each of the next 4 stitches (a space and another block completed). Practice making blocks and spaces.

JUNE 25, 1936

ANY DAY WILL DO FOR A START—TODAY

It is hard to realize that the long days of summer are at hand, and that from this month on the hours of daylight begin to recede, until in six months we come again to the year's shortest day.

There are so many plans in our hearts for our own development, for the growth of our business, and the improvement of Newark that we are sometimes prone to think that time flies too fast. We should remember, however, that the only way to accomplish anything is by making a start.

Today, long or short, is the day to begin. And that notion applies especially to several procrastinating property holders who have promised, but have neglected to clean up unsightly and unhealthy vacant lots that spoil an otherwise attractive picture of Newark.

Last spring Mayor Frank Collins signed a proclamation for a Clean Up Week. He recalled the act, however, in stating shortly after that Newark people did not need that kind of urging. It was the Mayor's belief that local residents had too much pride in their own and in Newark to let unsightliness exist.

When the Mayor's idealistic theory began to quaver, the Council offered aid by cooperating with property holders for the purpose of cleaning up unhealthy and unsightly vacant lots. Public-owned equipment and town labor at cost rates was proffered.

Owners of the lots seemed enthusiastic about the idea and promised to take immediate action. As yet, however, little or no action has been taken.

Today's another day and Newark, despite its generally attractive appearance, needs cleaning up in spots. How about it, brothers? There's no time like the present.

DRAG WHITE CLAY CREEK

The death last week of a little Philadelphia girl, from what physicians diagnosed rabies, has caused an even greater tightening-up of the machinery of prevention and protection in Delaware. Three State Departments—the Game and Fish Commission, the Board of Agriculture, and the State Board of Health—have been quietly carrying on the work of preventing the spread of rabies into Delaware, since the disease attained widespread seriousness among the dogs in southeastern Pennsylvania, and have continued persistently despite the fact that Pennsylvania authorities lifted their 100-day quarantine April 18.

The Philadelphia victim of rabies, ten year old Elsie Breyer, who succumbed to the disease in Municipal Hospital, was found by the coroner to have been bitten by a mongrel dog in Fairmount Park, April 6. She was taken to the Women's Homoeopathic Hospital, given the Pasteur anti-rabies treatment and, according to hospital authorities, appeared in health when discharged April 27. A month later she suddenly became ill and shortly died in the Municipal Hospital. A man and three other children in the Philadelphia area died of rabies this year, it is reported.

While the presence of warmer weather is known not to cause rabies, as many persons erroneously believe, it is feared that the increased freedom allowed dogs, and the greater number of tourists carrying their pets along with them, may lead to a spread of the disease into Delaware.

In an effort to prevent the spread of the disease into this state, the Game and Fish Commission, which conducts the field work, is gathering stray dogs and confining them in the respective county pounds where they are held for five days to await claiming by their owners. If the animal carries a license, the owner is notified. If not claimed within five days, it is destroyed. During the month of May, 87 such dogs were gassed in Sussex County and 30 in Kent; the figures for New Castle were not available.—State Board of Health Release.

State officials, if they really are looking for figures for New Castle County, might try dragging White Clay Creek. And they shouldn't overlook a dead dog's mound caused, but not raised, by a State Officer near the dairy barn on the Misses Wilson's "Oaklands."

Stolen Auto Racket

Reaches Into Newark

The stolen car racket again reached its grimy hands into the environs of Newark on Tuesday when an automobile belonging to Ralph M. Aiken was stolen from in front of his home on Kells Avenue. The crime took place sometime between 12 and 5 a. m.

Aiken had neglected to put the car in the garage since he had planned an early start Tuesday morning. Upon arising and finding it gone he notified the police who, to date, have been unable to unearth any evidence.

This machine is the third to be stolen in Newark in the last five weeks, which may mean that a group of auto racketeers have included the town on their visiting list. One car has been recovered. That was discovered in North Carolina through the efforts of the Newark police working with the Delaware and North Carolina authorities.

How Life Began For Some Male Screen Celebrities

Many of the famous screen players of today had no thought of stage or screen acting when they shaped their early careers. Lionel Barrymore, for instance, went to Paris to study to be a painter after his years on the stage. Painting was to be his life, but fate ruled otherwise. Clark Gable had no idea of being an actor when he got a job in a tire factory in Akron. There, by accident, he met two actors, visited them backstage and thus started towards stardom. Paul Muni studied violin and hoped to be a concert musician. Nelson Eddy was a Philadelphia newspaperman covering baseball and other sports, hoping that someday he would become managing editor; Charles Butterworth, too, was a newspaperman for years with no idea of becoming one of the screen's leading comedians. Charles Laughton intended to follow his father's career as a hotel manager. Jean Hersholt, with a Master of Arts degree, was a portrait painter of considerable renown before he became an actor. Lewis Stone studied to be an army officer and served as such in the Spanish-American and World Wars. He still holds a Major's commission in the U. S. A. Officers' Reserve Corps. Frank Morgan started as a salesman. His brother, Ralph, began as an attorney and became a successful one before his client, Warner Oland, persuaded him to try acting.

At present he is a detective with a quick trigger finger in "Bullets or Ballots" the First National production which plays this theatre Monday and Tuesday. The film was made from the true story by Martin Mooney, the newspaper man who was sent to jail for not telling in court what he knew about the underworld.

"The Man on the Flying Trapeze" has a new rival. He's none other than Robert Montgomery, better known as the tight-rope walker! The M-G-M star displays his skill during a scene in "Trouble for Two" when he walks a distance of 18 feet on a tight wire, 9 feet above the floor. Montgomery is co-starred with Rosalind Russell in this film which plays here Wednesday and Thursday.

An Out of Date WILL can do Curious Things

It can make bequests to persons no longer alive. It may name an executor—or several executors—who have not survived, or have moved to other cities, or become incapable of acting.

It can call for the distribution of property that no longer exists, or has passed to other ownership.

It can fail to provide for relatives who did not need financial assistance when the will was made.

It can, because time changes so many things, prove unfair to those whom it was most intended to protect.

In view of these facts, we suggest that you review your will to see if it needs revision at this time.

One might assume that the future health and happiness of every local resident are endangered by the disastrous outcome of the recent two-game series between the Perryville Pandours and Newark's own Yellow-jackets. That is the impression, at least, to be gained by listening to the moans and chortlings of the Unhappiness Boys—the same group that yells for rain on clear days and seeks sunshine when it's pouring.

Newark lost, yes, and in losing, the local outfit, with rare exceptions, looked inglorious in defeat. A chance at the first-half bunting in the Bi-State loop did over the weekend, but that is no reason for bemoaning the might-have-beens. What's done is done. There's a big second half coming and it is in that direction that constructive thoughts should be mobilized.

"THE ROAMER"

Despite the fact that it took a flock of Newark errors to hand Saturday's game to Perryville, the Pandours have a ball club worthy of any team's fire in this class competition. Otherwise the winners would not have come here with a two-game margin. It was an uphill battle for the Jackets from the start as far as last week-end was concerned. The best that could have been gained would have been a dead-lock.

The big letdown on the part of the Newarkers took place not against Perryville, as the Unhappiness Unit insists, but it came against Aberdeen and Havre de Grace.

While the new champs were taking five games in six starts against the Cannons and Rivermen, the Jackets, on the other hand, made an equal split of eight tilts in facing the same foes. The difference in defeats spells the real difference between the Pandours and the local array.

It's a tough pill to swallow, but if the Jackets possess half the sting the Unhappiness Boys insisted they hand at the start of the race, then the second half will bring an entirely different tale. Anybody can win, but a true champion establishes himself by shaking the mire of defeat from his loins to battle all the harder. He doesn't moan. And a team is no different from an individual.

Formulating Plans
Extensive changes, except possibly at Perryville where some needed pitching additions will likely be made, can be looked for all along the Bi-State front as the trailing teams make ready for the second half.

A session of Newark's board of directors will take place tonight. Efforts will be made to obtain additional playing strength to bolster numerous weak spots that developed in the Jacket outfit.

Havre de Grace will convene tomorrow night when a new controlling body is likely to be appointed to take charge of the Rivermen. Larry Preston has definitely stated that he will not manage the team any longer. A successor will be appointed.

New material is being picked up in wholesale fashion at Providence, Elkton and Aberdeen so that fans around the entire circuit will get a glimpse at strange faces during the close of the campaign if nothing else.

Louis' Legion
One of the saddest but funniest stories bearing on Joe Louis' surprise lacing at the hands of Max Schmeling has to do with a local Negro who paid an overdue electric bill of $20 to have his discontinued service renewed so that he could hear the fight!

Staid spectators at Longwood Gardens, there for the pageant, "Ramona," last Friday night, lifted cheer after cheer at the announcement of the outcome of the scrap.

What happened to the parade planned by citizens of "The Row?" "Snap" Fisher and a delegation of Dutchmen reversed the order. They would!

STARS ADVANCE IN TOURNEY

Pandours Win First-Half Title By Downing Jackets

SEEDED FAVORITES MOVE INTO QUARTER-FINALS; WIN EASILY

Ned McCully, Davies, Day, and Sinclair Cop; Marshall Manns Upset By Chris Laskaris; Doubles Progress Slowly; McCully-Thompson Reach Semi-Finals

By "Ace" Seeds

Seeded favorites advanced to the quarter-final round of the First Annual NEWARK POST Tennis Tournament with little trouble as they swept aside opposition with ease to move within striking distance of the statuette trophy which will be awarded to the champion.

Defending Champ Wins

Ned McCully, top-seeded defending champion, following a bye in the first round, experienced little competition in his initial match, as he downed "Doc" Nichols, 6-3, 6-0 moving into the quarter finals to meet the winner of the Tom Laskaris-Garrett Hume match. Laskaris out-stroked Dave Cronhardt, chopstroke artist, in three sets; 6-2, 4-6, 6-2. Hume was given a bye to the second round.

Jack Sinclair, seeded number four, also found an easy mark in Marshall McCully as he swept through two sets with ease, dropping only one game of the thirteen played. He will meet Roy Donoho in an effort to move into the semi-finals, via his 6-1, 6-0 victory over McCully.

Another seeded star, Dr. C. L. Day, rated number three in the tournament ranking, downed Leo Laskaris who had previously squelched Jim Hutchinson in easy fashion; 6-1, 6-1. Dr. Day's 6-2, 6-3 victory over Laskaris placed him in the quarter-finals to meet Jim Thompson, who previously removed Bill Fletcher from the battle by means of an 8-6, 7-5 victory. Fletcher's display of shot-making justified his removal in the first round which he managed to hurdle by eking out a 6-3, 6-2 win over Bob Hancock.

Laskaris Upsets Manns

One mild upset occurred in the early rounds as Chris Laskaris spilled the dope by upsetting Marshall Manns, red-headed star, who was expected to give the seeded entries plenty of trouble. Chris easily defeated the hard driving crimson-top, 6-1, 6-1, and will next meet Fred Davies, seeded number two behind McCully. Davies displaying a variety of shots, which justified his ranking, easily downed Len Fossett, 6-1, 6-0, who advanced to the second round by shaving George Laskaris; 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Following an over-time set, which was captured by Harry Williamson, Mary Lou Gaffney, the tournament's lone girl entry weakened in the second frame to drop the match; 7-5, 6-1. Williamson, in turn, was defeated in a well-played match, by Roy Donoho; 6-3, 6-3. Donoho also moved into the quarter-finals by virtue of this victory. He will meet Sinclair in what is expected to be one of the best matches of the tourney.

Doubles Move Slowly

Little progress was made in the doubles with only two matches being played off. Leo Laskaris teamed with Len Fossett to down his brothers, (Continued on Page 7)

CARDS DOWN LEGION TIGHTENING PENNANT CHASE IN TWILIGHT

Falling on the offerings of Bob Ewing for seven runs in the first two innings, the Cardinals climbed to within one-half a game of the Newark Twilight League lead Monday night at Continental Field when the Junior Legion was trounced 8-3. Hill, who relieved Ewing, kept the victors well in hand but the damage had been done when he ascended the hillcock.

Mills caught for the Legion. K. Whitman and Cook formed the Cards' battery.

Secretary and Treasurer Ellis Cullen has called a meeting of the league directors for Monday evening at Continental Field when plans for the second half will be discussed.

Fans Thrilled By Fielding Features

Baseball followers who select the Bi-State League as their favorite loop for performances received a ample reward last week-end when three outstanding fielding features were recorded at Aberdeen, Providence and Oxford.

Although defeated by the Papermakers, Alex McDaniel's Elkton hirelings turned in a triple play, the first one ever completed in the Bi-State loop.

Providence had runner on second and third with none out in the fourth inning when Jim Allen lined to Deenie Herstine at short. Herstine whipped a throw to Dennison, picking McMullen off third. Dennison's peg to Paul Crouch nailed Wilson off second to retire the side. Providence won the ball game, however, 4-3, by breaking a deadlock in the ninth.

Facing Havre de Grace on Saturday Aberdeen recorded four double plays for a new league record. Bell, Trust and Brown; Trust and Bell; Trust and Brown; and Bell and Brown completed the killings.

Perryville's infield spent a busy afternoon at Oxford as the Pandours clinched the first-half bunting by defeating Newark, 9-2. Four double plays were turned in by the winning inner-garden. Joe Cooney and Buddy Hornberger figured in all four of the twin-killings which equalled the league mark established by Aberdeen on Saturday.

Bud Lloyd, Cooney and Hornberger; Jefferies, Cooney and Hornberger twice; and Cooney and Hornberger formed the record-breaking combinations.

"Louis Not Finished," Says Local Sportsman

"Joe Louis will come back," said George Haney, manager of the Newark Branch, Wilmington Auto Sales Company, in a positive tone as he reviewed the Negro-German fight which he attended Friday night. He was equally as certain that the blow most effective in slowing up the heretofore unbeaten Louis was delivered in the second round and not the fourth as the majority of sports writers seemed to think. "From then on," he continued, "Louis was like a child who didn't know what it was all about. It was only instinct that carried him through the next ten rounds."

"The German," Mr. Haney said, "also had much the better of the infighting and pounded the Negro's body unmercifully in the clinches, while Louis was forced to protect himself from the barrage of blows and had little chance to retaliate."

"The experience gained by the Negro," continued Mr. Haney, "will do him more good than harm and I wouldn't be surprised to see him beat Schmeling in a return bout.

SPEED KINGS IN TESTS AT FAIR GROUNDS

Reading Track To Be Scene of 50-Mile Event on Sunday, July 12

CERTIFIED A A A EVENT

Reading, Pa., June 24—Renowned knights of the roaring road will gather at the Berks County half-mile dirt track on Sunday, July 12, when Ralph Hankinson will offer his second AAA auto racing of the season, in which 100 laps of sensational speed will be in the offing.

April 26 was the date of the Reading opener, won by Vernon Orenduff, the Florida fury. For years Hankinson Speedways made the seasonal debut at the popular Keystone track, and always with surprising results.

To Bear on Championship

This year, in order to keep the eastern sector buzzing with auto racing and to give the loyal fans of the Reading territory another taste of certified AAA racing, the July date was selected. The cream of talent from various July Fourth dates in the east will be assembled, and the Reading race will have an important bearing on the eastern AAA championship for 1936.

Auto race drivers from all parts of the United States agree that Reading has one of the best half-mile tracks of the nation. The soil texture is just right for auto racing and the constant application of calcium chloride has done much to make the race track noted in the speed fraternity.

Sectional Champs in Test

The fact that Reading has produced a great driver like Tommy Hinnershitz, who has been in the lead of the AAA eastern title race several times this year and has consistently been a winner at many tracks, speaks well for the "pretzel section."

High class auto racing was first introduced to Reading by Ralph Hankinson in 1924 and since then the Hankinson name as applied to races compares to "Sterling" on silver.

It is the plan to match Indianapolis Speedway talent, Pacific coast and midwest stars with the best of eastern speed aces.

GEORGE LASKARIS SETTING PACE IN BILLIARD TOURNAY

Methodical George Laskaris, emulating a brother Greek, Jimmy Caras, is setting the pace in the Newark Amateur Pocket Billiards tournament being conducted at the State Academy by Jack Fossett and Jimmy Martin.

Winner in four straight matches, Laskaris holds a slight edge over Don Pierce and Barney (I'm A Bridegroom) Renshaw, each of whom has taken three victories. None of the leaders have met defeat.

Other undefeated participants are Don Hill and Ernie Cornog with a pair of triumphs each. Cornog holds the high-run mark of the series at 15 balls.

Other entries stand: C. Woods 3-1, Murphy 2-1; Lloyd, Brooks, Hopkins, and Taylor 1-1; Crine, Heath, Durnall, Rose, Riley, Davis and Doordan 0-1.

Newark Woman Golfer Is First Round Upset Victim

Kathryn Strikol, 15-year-old Newark golfer and member of the Wilmington Country Club, was upset in the first round of match play in the Philadelphia Junior Girls' Golf Championship at Old York Road on Tuesday.

Following brilliant play on Monday, on which day she was co-medalist, Miss Strikol bowed to Patsy Goodall, Philadelphia Cricket Club, 1 up.

JACKSON CHUCKS WELL

Papermakers and Barristers Divide; Aberdeen Wins Double Bill

By "The Roamer"

A ninth-inning home run by Buddy Hornberger, his first of the year and Perryville's lone extra-base wallop of the game, following nine Newark errors, proved to be the deciding blow in a sloppy exhibition last Saturday afternoon at Continental Field as the Pandours advanced to within breathing distance of the 1936 Bi-State League gonfalon. The final count was 9-8.

Definite assurance that Taylor Biles' well balanced aggregation of tossers would be present at the final reckoning for the pennant at the end of the season was given at Oxford on Sunday when Perryville crushed the Jackets 9-2.

Thus ended Newark's last mathematical chance at the first-half rag as the Pandours, runners-up to Havre de Grace in 1935, stretched their first-place margin to four full games.

Errors Hurt Jackson

Boney Jackson, perennial jinx to the Pandours, was Newark's starting hurler and he earned a far better fate than that afforded him by the slovenly fielding support of his mates. While eight Perryville runs were charged against him, only four of the markers were earned as he limited the Marylanders to eight blows.

Two passed balls, a pair of fielding errors and an error of omission by the usually reliable Dick Roberts gave him the questionable distinction of being the chief offender to the Newark cause. Perryville's first run, and an earned one in the book, was made possible when Roberts threw to second with Marv Lucas, one of the fastest men in the league on third base. Lucas scored with ease to receive credit for a stolen base, stretching his mark to 15 for the half.

Roberts Has Company

Jackie Bridgewater, Bill Barrow and Jack Daly, who accounted for a collective total of seven boots, shared the blame with Roberts for Jackson's downfall. Unfortunately for the Jackets every error contributed to an opposing run.

In the fifth session the Pandours registered four markers with Bud Lloyd's single being the only ball to leave the infield. Lucas was credited with a blow in the same round when Bridgewater's attempt to face Cooney at second was late. Errors gave the winners a veritable merry-go-round in that hectic session.

Newark came right back with four runs, but five hits were necessary to chase the number across the pentagon.

Cain Leads Hitters

Paced by Cain, who had a collection of two doubles, a triple and a single in four official trips to the plate, the Jackets fell on the combined offerings (Continued on Page 7)

FLASHES

By BILL FLETCHER

IT IS INTERESTING TO NOTE that the four seeded stars for The Newark Post Tennis Tournament dropped only ten games in reaching the quarter-finals. Leo Laskaris managed to make the best showing against a tourney favorite by taking five games from C. L. Day. Sinclair and Davies dropped

"BILL" FLETCHER only one game each, while Ned McCully yielded only three games to "Doc" Nichols in the first set and then shut him out in the second.

The outstanding play of the picked-four is especially gratifying to the tournament committee, which is very pleased that its judgment is being as justified by the fine showing of the selected favorites.

ONE UPSET OCCURRED last week when Chris, youngest of the Laskaris family, proceeded to out-stroke Marshall Manns. The result itself is not upsetting, due to the fact that the burly red-head has played very little this year, but the score was the surprise. Chris copped the match, permitting Marshall to take only two games. His next opponent, Fred Davies, will be a plenty tough article for the baby Laskaris.

WE VENTURE A PREDICTION at this point, and wish to go on record as attempting to pick the winner of this racquet contest.

In our opinion, the champion is a toss-up between Jack Sinclair and Roy Donoho, with Donoho holding a slight edge due to a more even temperament and steadiness of play.

Should Sinclair happen to be at his best for the remainder of the matches, he will, we think, move into the finals and cop the trophy.

Donoho is the best bet, however, due to his steadiness and the ability to keep cool throughout a match.

Considering the fine playing of Donoho, Davies, Day and the defending champion Ned McCully, we'll play a long shot and pick Sinclair.

A VOTE OF THANKS TO those who are cooperating with us in putting this tourney across. We wish to extend special ballots to Miss Betty Johnson, Dr. A. S. Eastman, and Ned McCully for use of nets during the matches. To Miss Johnson, especially, goes a vote trimmed with red ribbon and purple lace for what we think is the most cooperative spirit we have encountered thus far. She has placed her net at our disposal any time it is needed in the tourney.

A note of appreciation is also due Dr. G. W. Rhodes and his staff for the use of their show window, and the Deluxe Candy Shop for displaying the tournament posters.

ALTHOUGH BEATEN in her first round match, Miss Mary Lou Gaffney, flaming topped girl entry, showed fine form, even in defeat. She stroked with finesse and precision, and although her shots lacked the necessary powers to turn back Harry Williamson, nevertheless, she illustrated that she would be a threat in a women's tournament.

Here's another vote to a good sport and a swell gal.

IN ALL PROBABILITY, the finals of the matches will not be played off this week-end, as planned. The doubles division is moving exceedingly slow with one match yet remaining to be played in the first round. It will probably be the middle of next week (Continued on Page 7)

Turner Squeezes Through In Second Round With 71
To Triumph 2 Up

GINTHER NOTCHES 72

As predicted in this column last week, H. A. Turner had a difficult fight on his hands before he finally downed the hard-driving "Mike" Craig 2 up. In the finals Turner is very likely to meet B. F. Richards, who was low man for the Newark club in their match against the DuPont aggregation last Saturday. During that contest Richards shot a 76, which is good golf in any company. Richards encountered little trouble conquering H. B. McCauley, his second round opponent, 6 and 5.

In the first group the Bud Pie-Joe Julian match and Morris-Agiatame match remain to be played. Inclement weather has forced the postponement of these matches to next week. The winners of these two duels will meet Turner and Richards.

Should Turner and Richards come together in the finals the play will be worth going a long way to see. Turner knocked off a 71 in beating Craig, who forced him to the limit with a 73. Richards, who did not have to complete his eighteen holes to win, was even with par for the distance he went while trouncing McCauley.

Second Sixteen

The lower sixteen saw some fine golf as the two favorites picked to meet in the finals here last issue, A. Collins and W. C. Brewer, forced their way past their second round opponents to come closer to a final battle.

Summaries

J. D. Counahan defeated C. O. Houghton, 4 and 3.
W. C. Brewer beat J. H. Dickey, 4 and 3.
E. J. Kraemer subdued H. Williamson, 6 and 5.
W. O. Sypher lost to A. B. Collins, 7 and 6.

Gintner Low In Team Match

Eddie Gintner, professional from the Newark Country Club, shot a fine 72 to lead the entire field of sixty-two participants in the Newark-DuPont C. C. event. Mike Craig had the hard luck to meet R. L. Strebb of the DuPont Club on one Strebb's best days with the result that he went down to defeat. Frank Richards was low for the Newark amateur linkmen with a 76. The contest was more closely fought than the score of 46-32 indicates. Thirteen Newark golfers came off victorious as against fifteen individual wins for the DuPonters, with three matches ending in ties.

Collins, Richards, Julian and Anderson played particularly good golf for the Newark Club.

The winning team held a slight advantage with the play being held on their course.

Chris and Tom; 7-5, 6-3. The victors will meet Davies and Day in an effort to secure a semi-final position.

In another loosely played match, Thompson and Ned McCully eliminated Sinclair and Fletcher in three sets; 6-2, 4-6, 6-1. The latter team's play bordered on sloppiness as it displayed shot making of the worst variety, and a pair of services that could have been equalled at its best by a deaf, dumb and blind man with a pair of wooden legs. Sinclair vindicated himself, however, with his afternoon singles performance by sweeping through Marshall McCully to justify his fourth ranking position.

Hancock and Cronhardt will meet George Laskaris and "Doc" Nichols in the remaining first round match, while second round matches will pit Fossett-Leo Laskaris against Davies-Day; and Williamson-Manns against Dr. Francis H. Squire-Prof. Ralph W. Jones. The winner of the Laskaris-Nichols, Cronhardt-Hancock match will meet Hume and Donoho.

It is hoped to hold the finals of both the doubles and singles matches on Sunday, when the trophy and gold medals will be presented to the winners.

Art Weiss, former Chicago Cub outfielder and Texas League batting king in 1924 and 1935, played in 150 consecutive games with Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League in 1926 without committing an error. In 157 contests, he handled 321 chances cleanly and his lone error was the result of a wild throw. He did not drop a single fly.

of Jebb, Jeffries and Bailey for 17 safe wallop. Seven of the belts were good for extra bases.

Atoning somewhat for his fielding misdeeds, Roberts did a good offensive job by gathering three singles and a pass in five chances. To further mark the day as one of ill-fortune for him, however, the only time he was retired was on an attempted squeeze early in the game that resulted in a twin killing. Perryville led by a lone run at the time and Newark had the bags jammed with one away when Roberts' popfly bunt was snared by Hornberger.

Jebb Driven to Cover

In gaining his eighth triumph of the season against one defeat, Toy Jebb, the league's leading hurler, was hit hard before being relieved by Jeffries in the eighth. The successor failed to last out the inning as the Jackets registered twice before Bailey was called in to quench the uprising.

Spotting Perryville to a 6-0 lead in the first five stanzas, the local crew made an heroic comeback, but never quite made the grade of knotting the score.

Figuring prominently in the uphill fight was the timely stickwork of Willis and Barrow, both of whom were two-hit batsmen. Cooney, Lucas and Lloyd led Perryville's attack with two hits each.

Rube Argo who took up Newark's hurling problem in the ninth, after Jackson had been lifted for a pinch hitter, stopped the Pandours with wto hit. One of the blows, however, was Hornberger's drive that barely cleared the leftfield barrier near the two-base hit marker.

Jeffries Stops Jackets

Although hit hard on Saturday here Hen Jeffries, former Pacific Coast League hurler, toyed with the Jackets on Sunday. He limited them to five hits, two of which were credited to Willis. Perryville's meanwhile, found the combined offerings of Argo and Whiteman for 11 belts as Hornberger slammed a pair of doubles. Cooney, Ryan and Stan Bailey also had two hits apiece.

One of the features of the contest was provided by Perryville's infield which aided Jeffries with four rapid-fire double killings. Cooney and Hornberger had a hand in each of the plays.

Perryville built up a 6-1 margin off Argo in three and two-thirds innings and stretched the advantage at Whiteman's expense. The redhead turned six opponents back on strikes, however, during his sojourn on the mound.

JUNE WEDDINGS

Press-Dean

William H. Dean, of the Newark Hardware Company, and Miss Maybelle M. Press, of Wilmington, were married at the home of the bride last Saturday, by Rev. William Homewood, an uncle of the groom. Only members of the immediate family and a few intimate friends were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean are residing at Deandale.

Lafferty-Ford

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's Roman Catholic Church, Newark, on Saturday, June 17th, at high noon, when Mr. Charles Lafferty, of Philadelphia, gave his daughter, Elizabeth, in marriage to Mr. Martin A. Ford, of Bala, Pa. The bride was becomingly gowned in an imported gown of handkerchief linen, trimmed in rare old lace from the wedding gown of her grandmother. She carried a white ivory prayerbook. The maid of honor was Miss Jane Madeline, the youngest sister of the bride, who was beautifully attired in an imported gown of batiste, trimmed with real Duchess lace, sash and trimmings of pink. She carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas. Mr. John Fitzpatrick, of Philadelphia, was best man.

A wedding breakfast was served at the summer home of the bride's father, Maplehurst. Covers were laid for seventy guests. Amid showers of rice and confetti Mr. and Mrs. Ford left on the 4.36 train for an extended honeymoon. The bride received many handsome and beautiful gifts.

DELAWARE CLARK DIES SUDDENLY

Delaware Clark, aged 54 years, was seized with an attack of vertigo from which he never recovered early Friday morning. The deceased had been subject to these attacks, which were similar to paralytic strokes, for several years.

As he was one his way to the post-office Mr. Clark was seen to stagger and fall. Friends rushed to his assistance, physicians were summoned, but the stricken man never regained consciousness.

Mr. Clark had always called this community his home and was one of the most widely known men in rural New Castle county.

He was appointed postmaster of Newark about three years ago. He was a Republican and had taken an active interest in politics for some time. He was elected and served one term from 1890 to 1903 as recorder of deeds in New Castle county.

Mr. Clark nearly all his life lived on a farm between Cooch's Bridge and Glasgow, but discontinued farming about seven years ago at the time his residence, Clarksdale, was burned to the ground, when he moved to Newark.

He was a son of the late Cantwell Clark, who was one of the largest landowners in the State, as he owned from 1,000 to 1,200 acres of valuable land between Cooch's Bridge and Glasgow. Mrs. Clark, who before her marriage was Miss Harriet Curtis, was in Philadelphia at the time of her husband's death.

Besides his wife the deceased is survived by seven children, as follows: Elizabeth, Frederick, Cantwell, Julian, Catherine, Frances, and Winslow Clark.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services were held in the St. Thomas P. E. Church. Interment in Glasgow Presbyterian Cemetery. The pallbearers were J. Wilkins Cooch, Chas. B. Evans, Eben Fraser, S. J. Wright, J. W. Brown and Daniel Thomson.

At the Vail Medal Presentation

"FOR CONSPICUOUS DEVOTION TO DUTY"

Philip C. Staples, president of the Diamond State Telephone Company, shown with Anne M. Cunningham, Carl T. Kylen and Marion F. Johns, representing the employees of the company, to whom he presented the Theodore N. Vail award at exercises held in Dover. The medal and citation, which were issued in duplicate, were awarded to all of the employees of the company "for conspicuous devotion to duty and for extraordinary labors" during the blizzard of 1935. In the oval is Secretary of State Walter Dent Smith, who congratulated the telephone men and women of Delaware for the honor "they have brought upon themselves and the state as a whole."

of Bell telephone employees," he said. "This thought of 'service first' is more than devotion to an organization, inspiring as that might be. It comes from a sense of individual responsibility in the public service. It is devotion to the highest ideals of duty and obligation in that service."

Citation Reflects Service

Mr. Staples read the citation, which recalled vivid memories of the severe blizzard.

"Before the height of the blizzard was reached, the Diamond State organization was bucking the blocked road toward its center," he said. "As patrols brought word to Dover of the extent of the damage, it was clear that the emergency was beyond the resources of the Diamond State organization, and men and trucks from Pennsylvania were called for and emergency materials ordered in wholesale."

"Traffic women stayed at their switchboards, many sleeping in the rest rooms at night, to help with the disrupted traffic. Commercial employees got quick word, by whatever means available, to all subscribers, advising as to the extent of the damage and the measures being taken to correct it, and undertook also to find living accommodations for the several hundred plant and engineering men spreading out over the affected area in which accommodations were few."

Workers Battle Elements

"The plant men, as fast as their trucks could get through, on foot when the trucks were blocked, fought the wreckage in low temperatures and high winds, regardless of hours and great discomforts, and, when emergency service was back, at once tackled the restoration of permanent plant."

"On the Diamond State organization fell the brunt of the job. It had fine help, without which it could not have won through so quickly and brilliantly; but on the men and women of the Delaware organization lay the principal responsibility, and they shouldered it with a spirit and performance that measured up to the finest traditions of the Bell System."

William H. Harrison, vice president in charge of operations for the company, paid high tribute to the telephone forces for the speed and efficiency which characterized their handling of the emergency and reconstruction job. He said that the storm, which crippled 1,600 poles, tore down 4,000 miles of wire, and put some 6,000 telephones out of service, cost the company approximately $600,000. This included the construction of 60 miles of storm-resisting cable, which completed a back-bone cable plant extending the full length of the state.

"This reconstructed telephone plant," he declared, "stands as a monument to a trying job well done."

Smith Represents State

Warm appreciation for the service provided by the telephone forces and the manner in which they cleared up the storm wreckage was expressed by Secretary of State Smith, in a brief talk. In referring to the presentation of the award, he commended the employees for "the distinction they have brought upon themselves and the state as a whole."

J. A. Bader and Company, Inc. has received the contract with low bids of $115,497 for job mix and $123,685 for central mix for the job.

The bridge was designed by the State Highway Department, under the direction of Arthur Livingston, bridge engineer for the department. It will have 80-foot girdles over the railroad tracks; will be 400 feet wide, and approximately 600 feet long, counting the approaches.

It is not expected to be necessary to annex front yard properties of homes on South College Avenue. The approaches will start 300 feet back of each side of the tracks. They will not follow the road bed of College Avenue, but will be built east of them. The approach for the north side will be built on Pennsylvania Railroad property, 300 feet back from the tracks. Land on the south side of the crossing was donated by the University of Delaware.

The state, through the State Highway Department, secured the right of way, prepared the plans, and will superintend the construction of the bridge.

Linden Hall, the only property on the south side, will not be disturbed. Neither will buildings on the west side of College Avenue, north of the tracks.

John Barrow Named To Perryville Postoffice

John Barrow, formerly of Newark, was named postmaster at Perryville, Md., this week to succeed Elmer H. Owens. Barrow is a former justice of the peace in the same town and has conducted a barbering business there for several years.

Recommended by a majority of the Democratic State Central Committee of Cecil County, Barrow won the appointment after a stiff fight between three candidates—Miss Nina Calvert, a graduate of the University of Delaware, George Smith and the appointee.

Through an error of the Civil Service Commission, Barrow's name was not listed as an eligible applicant. Later, when the error was discovered, a revised list was issued which included his name.

Negro Has Fine Time— Lack of Fine Times Him

Wilbert Lane, 24 and colored, of New London Avenue, had a fine time annoying members of the local Negro Baptist Church, but his inability to pay a fine helped place him in the County workhouse for forty days.

Lane was arrested by Chief of Police William Cunningham on a warrant sworn out by David Boyles. Magistrate Daniel Thompson gave him thirty days for disturbing the peace and the remainder in lieu of the unpaid fine.

Though the action took place on Sunday the culprit was not apprehended until Monday.
