9-Year-Old Is Hit By Car On Friday

Suffers Bruised Hip When Knocked From Bike

Thomas Ferguson, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ferguson, 54 Thomson Circle, suffered a bruised hip when he was knocked from his bicycle by a car at the corner of Main and Academy Streets, last Friday around 9 p. m.

The driver, Antoine Desercey, Kennett Square, Pa., was held on the technical charge of assault and battery with a motor vehicle pending the outcome of the boy's injuries.

Desercey said he was making a left turn into Academy Street from East Main when the Ferguson boy on an unlighted bicycle appeared suddenly before him. He said he did not have time to apply the brakes before hitting the youth.

Probably the only two cars operating at the time in Newark managed to collide around 1 a. m. last Sunday morning, when Donald Vansant, a University of Delaware student, backed out of a driveway near the university barracks on Academy Street, directly into a car operated by Thomas E. Davis, 18 East Cleveland Avenue.

The Davis car suffered minor damage to the rear fender and door.

New Ordinance Drafts May Be Ready For Council On Monday

Drafts of a number of proposed new ordinances and a progress report on the fluorine experiment will probably highlight the first March meeting of the Town Council at 8 p. m. on Monday.

A complete outline of the questions likely to come before the lawmakers was issued this week by Mayor Ford H. McBerly.

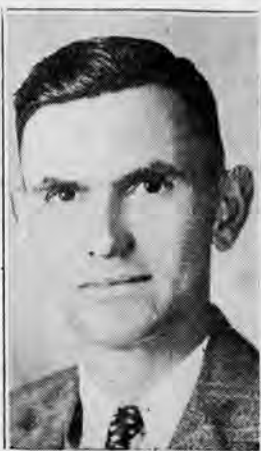

The ordinance drafts, if ready, will cover such problems as paid holidays and vacations for town employees, regulations on sidewalks and road widths in Read Village, regulations on qualifications for temporary town employees, and a zoning law amendment permitting the erection of garages in the Read Village area.

Also expected is a ruling from the Town Solicitor, John P. Sinclair, on whether or not applicants for positions on the Newark Police Force must be residents of the town.

Election officers for the annual town vote in April will be appointed, voting hours fixed and the polling site selected.

The Mayor's agenda follows:
"Assistants for the Town elections in April will need to be appointed by the Council to conform with Sect. 29 of the Town Charter.

Final Rites Today For C. E. Rittenhouse, Newark Postmaster, Businessman

Cyrus E. Rittenhouse

Funeral services for C. E. Rittenhouse, Newark postmaster, businessman and civic leader, who died suddenly last Friday, will be held this afternoon at 2 p. m., from the Jones Funeral Home. Interment will be in Welsh Tract Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were held up the early part of the week while efforts were made to reach Mr. Rittenhouse's wife, Mrs. Miriam Boys Rittenhouse, who at the time of her husband's death was returning from a trip (Continued on Page 10)

Plan Town Canvass In Iron Lung Drive

A house-to-house canvass will be the next phase of the Veterans' of Foreign Wars' campaign seeking funds for the purchase of a portable iron lung for emergency community use.

Boy Scouts will deliver coin cards door to door this Saturday and return to collect them Saturday, March 11, according to Curtis Morrison, general chairman.

A small donation by every family will easily provide the remaining funds needed for the $1,200 artificial respirator. The committee also plans a canvass of Newark industrial firms.

The iron lung, a chest type respirator used by the army and navy, was on display here two weeks ago. Useful not only for polio, but also for suffocation, smoke poisoning, drowning and other such cases, the device, once purchased, would be centrally located and readily available in an emergency.

All members of the fire and police departments would be instructed in its use, and the device would be available to doctor's at no charge to their patients.

Welding Demonstration Tomorrow Nite At School

A farm welding demonstration and clinic will be held this Friday evening, March 3, in the vocational agriculture shop at the Main Street school building.

The program, which will begin at 7:30, will be sponsored by the vocational agriculture department of the school. The purpose is to show the uses of welding as applied to farm work. Farmers are invited to see the many farm applications of arc-welding and to have their welding questions answered.

Volunteers Set For One-Day Red Cross "Blitz" Here Sunday

34 Zone Captains Will Direct
Solicitors In Door To Door
Canvass

A large corps of door to door solicitors under 34 zone captains is set to stage Newark's one-day Red Cross fund "blitz" here Sunday afternoon.

In a statement this week, Dr. Charles N. Lanier, Jr., general chairman, expressed the hope that "the people of the community will cooperate with the solicitors in order that the task may be completed as soon as possible."

Stressing the need for generous contributions, Dr. Lanier said, "Perhaps the most important service rendered by the Red Cross is emergency aid in times of disaster. In 1949, more than 300 major disasters, accidents, fire and flood, required the aid of Red Cross workers and Red Cross funds. In addition, the Red Cross is continuing to serve the military forces at home and abroad, as well as to assisting veterans to solve many personal problems. Secretary of Defense Johnson has referred to the Red Cross as the good right arm of the military establishment. General George Marshall, in accepting the presidency of the American Red Cross for 1950, testified to the many valuable services rendered by it."

The following are zone chairmen for the local canvass to be made on Sunday: Dr. F. E. Reinhart, Mr. Pilny Stewart, Mr. Wayne Pollari, Mrs. Steven Barczewski, Jr., Mrs. Robert F. Reed, Mrs. G. T. Evans, Mr. C. M. Lindgren, Dr. T. A. Baker, Dr. John A. Munroe, Mr. Leon Gilmore, Mrs. Paul K. Musselman, Mr. A. H. Goddin, Mrs. J. P. Diehl, Mr. C. W. Young, Mr. Stanley Gibbs, Miss Lorna Wells, Mr. George M. Haney, Mrs. Howard Greene, Mr. Ralph L. Hawthorne, Mrs. Herbert E. King, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson.

The cast also includes Richard Tyler, Turner Edge, Vivian Woodrow, Harold Owen, Jane Singer, Jane Good, Leslie Riggs, Richard Lindsay, George Nagy, Mary Conover, and Jo Anne Garber.

Dancing and singing choruses also appear in the show with a ballet featured, for which the dancers will be Nancy Kussman, Polly Goller and John Sedwick.

"Party Line," a political satire, is under the direction of Dr. C. Robert Kase, with Frank Buck, Jr., as assistant director, Harry R. Bidlake as technical director, Spofford Biddle as musical director, assisted by Francis Green as student director, and Helen Achenbach and Elaine Stein, as dance directors.

Writer of the book, lyrics and music for the show is Bruce Laird, of Wilmington, a graduate student in English.

Tickets are available at the Mitchell Hall boxoffice from 3:30 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 8:30 p. m., daily, and at the Greenwood Book Store. The dates for the show are March 7-11.

Among the leading parts will be those of Alan Stewart, Elbert Chance, Catherine Lindsay, Parke Perine and Betty Jean Kinder.

Rotary Minstrel Show Tickets Now On Sale

Tickets are now on sale for the Rotary Club Minstrel, "Blackbirds of 1950," to be given in the Newark High School auditorium, March 28-29.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the club and are exchangeable without additional charge for reserved seat tickets for either evening. The latter tickets are available at the Newark Department Store.

Each evening the performance will start at 8:15 o'clock. This unusual time has been selected because it marks the eleventh year that the Newark Rotary Club has been in existence.

Mayor's Post, 3 Council Seats Open In Town Vote, April 14

Heated Campaign May Develop; First Candidate Files This Week; Record Number of Voters
Registered

An indication that Newark may again be in for a heated political campaign in this year's town election on April 14, came this week when the first candidate filed for Town Council.

He is Ernest L. Nachod, Jr., 215 Dailam Road, who is entering the race in the Western District, seeking the post currently occupied by F. A. Wheelless, whose term is expiring. Mr. Wheelless has not indicated his intentions as yet regarding running again.

With the Mayor's office and three Council posts open, and contests likely to develop for each position, the turnout at the polls is expected to exceed even last year's record high of 1714 valid votes.

Well over 3,000 registered voters are now on the town list, the greatest number in local history. Last June's census of non-property owners was the major factor in swelling the rolls to their unusual total.

Highlight of the campaign will probably be the race for Mayor. Ford H. McBerly, the incumbent, has not tipped his hand as yet. The same is true of Councilmen Wallace Johnson in the Eastern District and Frank Durnall in the Middle, both of whose terms are running out. Dr. Johnson, who has seen only a month's service on Council, is winding up the term of John S. Hopkins, who resigned.

The voting hours and polling site are expected to be fixed by the Council at its March session on Monday night. Election officers will also probably be named at that time.

Mr. Nachod, the first entry, is now employed as assistant director of research of the Hercules Powder Company. In announcing his candidacy, he withheld comment, at least temporarily, on such current local issues as the proposal for a tax supported recreation program, the proposed fluorine experiment and the assessment question.

Active in numerous civic projects here, he is a former secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the War Memorial Committee. He is currently a director of the Newark Civic Association and is an active member of St. Thomas Episcopal Church.

Born in Glenside, Pa., in 1915, he graduated from Pennsylvania State College as a chemical engineer in 1936 with additional study at the University of California and the Colorado School of Mines. His entire professional career has been spent in the Newark-Wilmington area except for a few years during the war when he was given special assignments at various war plants.

He married Miss Marguerite Billings, of Harrington, Delaware, and has two sons, Jay and Norman.

He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity, and Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Lambda Upsilon, and Pi Mu Epsilon honorary fraternities. His professional affiliations include American Institute of Chemical Engineers, American Chemical Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the American Instrument Society. He is included in the 1949 listing of American Men of Science.

In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Nachod said "I offer to Newark a fundamentally sound background for business management which can prove invaluable in town government. In addition, I have visited many countries throughout the world as well as many parts of the United States.

Postmaster Appointment
Not Expected Here Soon;
May Name Acting Head

Newark's postmaster, left vacant by the death last Friday of C. E. Rittenhouse, is not expected to be filled in the immediate future, local sources indicated this week.

The first step will probably be the appointment of an acting postmaster who will serve until a permanent appointment is made. Meanwhile, Corbi Crompton, veteran assistant postmaster, is in charge of the local office.

The usual procedure for the permanent appointment calls for holding civil service examinations. The three highest rated candidates are referred to Delaware's majority party Senator, in this case J. Allen Frear, who recommends an appointment to the Postmaster General. The latter makes the appointment subject to confirmation by the U. S. Senate.

Book Reviewer To Talk
At Century Club Meet

Mrs. George Barnes, prominent clubwoman and book reviewer, will discuss books of current interest at a meeting of the New Century Club on Monday at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Barnes, who now resides at Merion, Pa., studied at Olivet College and in Germany. She is a past president of the Philadelphia New Century Club and the Overbrook Needlework Guild. She is a member of the executive board of the Philadelphia Council of Churches.

Chrysler Workers Prepared For Long Strike, Union Says

Picket Line Fully Manned Here;
Groceries, Fuel Given Strikers' Families

Strikers at the Chrysler parts depot here have settled down to a lengthy period on the picket lines, according to Thomas E. Staats, president of the Newark Local 404, United Automobile Workers, CIO.

Negotiations on the national level are not likely to be concluded until after the current coal strike is settled, he said. The full force of the Chrysler strike will not be felt, he indicated, as long as the coal shortage continues.

Meanwhile, the local strikers are maintaining a solid front. About 150 Newark workers joined with some 65,000 other Chrysler employees in the walkout a little over a month ago.

Despite freezing temperatures, picket lines are fully manned at the local plant, Staats said. Strikers are working in shifts, keeping warm over open fires. A union operated soup kitchen has also been set up.

The union welfare service has gone into action, providing weekly grocery supplies for striking families, along with fuel and medical attention. The strikers are also provided with gasoline for transportation to and from the picket lines.

Lawrence Carroll, a member of the Newark local, expects to go to Detroit soon to serve on the union's national negotiating committee. He will seek to tie in local demands with the national contract.

The major demands of the Newark local are:
Equal pay rates with Chrysler plants in Detroit and Kansas City; guaranteed pension plan; prepared life, health and medical insurance; a fair national agreement, including a union shop, seniority protection and better vacations.

Eighteen business firms plan to stage exhibits at the forthcoming merchandising show to be sponsored here by the Chamber of Commerce.

The event, slated for April 13, 14 and 15 at the armory, will give the public a graphic picture of the advantages of shopping in Newark.

Several special events are being planned for the 3-day display. Valuable prizes will also be offered visitors.

Almost all the available booth space at the Armory has been rented, according to Don Savitch, chamber president, who is chairman of the show committee.

The eighteen firms planning exhibits are: M. S. Dale, Newark Electric Company, Eagle Furniture Company, Jackson's Hardware, National Vulcanized Fibre Company, Theo. S. Jones, Martin and Murray Sinclair Station, Harvey Refrigerator Company, Poets Hardware, Richard's Market, Sheaffer's Bing's Bakery, Continental-Diamond Fibre Company, Frank Smith's Atlantic Station, Newark Department Store, Curtis Paper Company, Suburban Gas Company of Glasgow, Automatic Equipment Company of Wilmington.

Exhibit To Promote Recreation Campaign

A poster exhibit, stressing the theme "Recreation is for Everybody," opened this week in the window of the former Sileo Store on East Main Street.

The exhibit, under direction of Jack Culver, is being held in connection with the fund drive to aid Newark's summer recreation program.

AAUW Advises Referendum On
Issue Of Recreation Program

A referendum on the question of organizing a full-time recreation program here to be supported wholly or in part by public funds was suggested this week by the Newark Branch, American Association of University Women.

The proposal was contained in a progress report on the AAUW's efforts to encourage formation of a year-round program here.

The report, drafted by the AAUW's joint legislative, education and social studies group, disclosed that the Newark Recreation Association has joined in the movement by appointing four committees to approach the problem.

The first, under D. Kenneth Steers, will study details for a long-term program plus plans for an enlarged temporary project this summer. The second, headed by Paul Dolan, will revise and liberalize the constitution of the Recreation Association.

The third, under J. O. Ely, will study possibilities for lining up adequate finances, including public support, for a permanent program. The fourth will organize a fund drive to finance the forthcoming summer program. The campaign will be under the direction of Mrs. Hugh Gibb, physical education instructor at the Newark High School.

Regarding the AAUW referendum, the report said: "As a number of service clubs and community organizations have expressed themselves as favoring an extension of the recreation program, we feel safe in concluding that there is sufficient public interest in the matter to warrant a referendum on the question of public support."

The report concluded by saying the AAUW now regards its mission as accomplished. This was to stimulate public interest here in a recreation program. The AAUW members were advised to cooperate individually with other organizations in carrying on the work.

A partial text of the report follows:
"With the cooperation of Norman Ford of the Wilmington Y. M. C. A., George Sargisson of Recreation Promotion and Service, Inc., Maurice Field of the County Extension Service, and many interested private individuals, we have come to the following conclusions:

1. Public recreation is a function of government and as fundamental to the mental and physical well-being of

Four Newark High Students Selected To Attend N. Y. Herald Tribune Forum
For the first time Newark High students have the opportunity to attend the annual N. Y. Herald Tribune Forum to be held in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on March 4. This is the fifth annual forum sponsored by the Herald Tribune for high school students from the three consecutive years the foreign and international flavor will definitely be prevalent.

The forum will afford an opportunity for young people to air their views and discuss "The World We Want." This subject was selected expressly to find out what the youth of the world think about the possibility of world peace and how they can help to obtain it.

As special guests of the Herald Tribune will be twenty-three students representatives from the Middle East and South East Asia. These foreign students arrived at the end of December for a ten-week visit to this country. They are guests of American high school students and their families. Free transportation to and from America was the gift of the Transworld Airlines and Pan American World Airways to the delegates. As a final high-point of their trip the foreign students will speak to the assembly group at The Forum on March 4.

Gunvor Thuresson, Dallis Rash, Margery Brown, and Edwin Leid have been chosen by the Junior and Senior teachers for the honor of attending the forum. These students were chosen on the basis of scholarship and interest in world affairs. Their trip is possible through the courtesy of the local AAUW, PTA, New Century Club, Lions, Rotary, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and the Soroptimists. Miss A. J. Thoroughgood, Newark faculty member, will accompany the group to New York.

Allied Youth

Allied Youth has worked in the high schools of America since 1936 helping young people face social pressure for drinking. Through clubs, all over the United States, it carries on a program of alcohol education, recreation and personality and character guidance.

Newark High School is trying to re-organize such a club. The students will need the help of the citizens of Newark to aid them in making such a club successful. If Newark can establish this club it will need help or donations from the public. The money will go toward providing recreation for the members and public.

Members of the Civil Air Patrol under the direction of Mr. Gilmore Ott are studying several different projects on navigation.

Several boys are studying the Morse Code for which they have their own equipment. Boys and girls both operate the link trainer, the most important equipment of the club. There is a radio which operates from the trainer to the desk where several boys give instructions on how to fly this machine. David Kirk has a model airplane motor which he has explained to the members of the group. Some members are building model airplanes while others are studying practical navigation problems. This club meets on Tuesdays and Thursdays every week.

Activities in the Boys' Cooking Club
One of the newest creations in NHS is the "Boys' Cooking Club." If you girls think you're good you should see the boys. (They even eat it.)

The "Boys' Cooking Club" under the direction of Mrs. Burmuller is experiencing unnoted achievements. The only trouble they have had is that the cup cakes were burned in the process or should we say "uneatable." During last week's class the boys made hot cakes and this week they plan to make pies, the seven minute kind.

Chrysler Workers!

The UAW-CIO Will Pay Your Hospitalization Premiums

Because members of the UAW-CIO all over the country are lending financial support to the Chrysler Workers' strike, the UAW-CIO is able to meet Hospitalization Insurance payments for all Chrysler workers who carry the insurance coverage.

The only alternative was to let thousands of policies lapse, since the Chrysler Corporation flatly refused a request by Blue Cross for assurances that Chrysler would make a deferred collection after the strike was over, even though such an agreement would NOT HAVE COST THE CHRYSLER CORPORATION ONE CENT!

The UAW-CIO will pay the hospital and surgical insurance premiums for the month of March of all Chrysler strikers who carry this insurance coverage.

The Union has already notified the Blue Cross of Michigan that it will pay the premiums and is taking steps to notify Blue Cross, Blue Shield and other carriers to the same effect in all other states where there are Chrysler plants. Aetna Insurance Co. is the carrier for the Newark Chrysler plant.

The decision by the Union to take this action, which has been approved by the UAW-CIO Policy Committee, was made after the Chrysler Corporation had rejected a request by the Blue Cross of Michigan that the Corporation give assurances that it would make deferred collection of the premiums from Chrysler workers after the strike was settled. If the Corporation had agreed to make belated collections, Blue Cross would have continued the insurance in effect so that all Chrysler workers covered and their families would have been protected against hospital and surgical expenses during the strike.

Despite the fact that the Blue Cross proposal would have cost Chrysler nothing, the Corporation flatly rejected the Blue Cross appeal. Chrysler workers already pay the total cost of their hospital and medical insurance. The Corporation contributes nothing to it. All Blue Cross asked of the Corporation was assurance that when the strike was settled the Company would deduct the back premiums from the paychecks of the Chrysler workers covered. The Corporation was not asked to pay any money or even advance any money.

The UAW-CIO will pay the premiums out of the International Union strike fund. It is estimated that the total cost to the Union will be approximately $200,000. The Chrysler workers will not be required to pay the money back to the Union. Chrysler strikers who may already have made direct payment of their March premium to the Blue Cross will have their money refunded by mail.

The attitude of the Chrysler Corporation in this instance is typical of its attitude specifically in the current controversy and generally toward its employees and their problems. In a strike situation nearly all corporations have been willing to make the necessary arrangements to continue the hospital and surgical insurance coverage of their employees, since it does not cost the corporation anything anyway. But the Chrysler Corporation sees here an opportunity to attempt to force the Chrysler workers to their knees by wilfully and deliberately placing in jeopardy the health of their wives and children. The Chrysler Corporation does not hesitate to use such a weapon in an attempt to force the Chrysler workers to accept its unfair, inadequate and unsound proposals.

The Union insists on a funded pension plan, which is the only way that pension payments can be fully guaranteed, while the Corporation offers a plan based on company "generosity." Measuring by this example of Company "generosity," can anyone question the wisdom of Chrysler workers in insisting that a pension plan be guaranteed by a trust fund?

The Chrysler workers will not sacrifice their future security nor the well-being of their families because of this kind of pressure or any other kind of pressure the Chrysler Corporation might attempt to develop.

The demands of the Chrysler workers are just and reasonable and the Chrysler workers will stand together in their determination to win a fuller measure of economic security and social justice and better working conditions and job protection through contract improvements, despite the callous indifference of the Chrysler Corporation.

The UAW-CIO is happy that in this instance it is able to defeat the Corporation's purposes by paying the premiums out of the Union's strike fund and to assure Chrysler workers and their families of a continuance of hospital and surgical protection.

The Chrysler workers demand a fully guaranteed, funded pension plan. They demand a sound and adequate medical-hospital program. They demand contract improvements to provide better working conditions and more job security. UAW-CIO representatives are ready and willing to negotiate any and all hours of the night and day to reach an equitable settlement on these issues. No amount of company pressure, including the kind described above, will force the Chrysler workers to yield to the Chrysler Corporation's inadequate, unfair, unsound and unjust proposals.

Meet Newark's School Teachers

Miss Mary L. Keppler's home is located in a small town named Bally, in Pennsylvania. She attended a country school and then went to Boyertown High School, which was seven miles away. She received her Bachelor of Science degree in Education at Kutztown State Teachers College.

Her first real teaching experience was in the Newark School System, where she is now one of the Third Grade teachers. Miss Keppler says of her experience in Newark, "I found that the community is very friendly and co-operative with the school."

Miss Keppler's interests lie in art and crafts, knitting, sewing, biographies, visiting historical places, children's literature and visual aids. While in Newark she has attended the Methodist Church. She is interested in PTA work and is on the Visual Aids Committee at the school.

AAUW National Head Addresses Delaware Division On Monday

America should educate its citizens to contribute to a free society in a free world, Dr. Althea K. Hottel, national president of the American Association of University Women, said in an address to the Delaware Division at the Century Club here Monday night. Her topic was "Education for What?"

The traditional concepts of this country are, however, a barrier to the accomplishments of these educational aims, Dr. Hottel added. She cited as an example the survey on higher education, the findings of which were published in The Fortune Magazine for September 1949. "Americans wanted their children first to be given the wherewithal for getting ahead. But at a time when the United States has armies in the far corners of the world, has expressed great interest in the types of government developing in various countries, is concerned about Communism and world trade, when its currency is needed in global relationship to keep a world financially sound, only 31 per cent of the American people, according to the Fortune survey, felt it was important for their sons to learn how to get along with all sorts of people. Twenty-six per cent thought they should be taught to be more useful citizens and only 23 per cent considered a broader knowledge of the world and world problems was important. For their daughters, learning how to get along with people was one per cent higher, but to be useful citizens was only 17 per cent and a broader knowledge of the world 16 per cent."

Dean Hottel emphasized the need for understanding among the peoples of the world, the need for America, through education, to practise democracy in the true sense of the word—as an example for the many countries who are striving to follow and practice democratic principles.

Touching on her experiences in her Round-the-World Forum of the Air trip last summer, Dr. Hottel stated that the intellectuals of the countries the group visited knew more about the United States than the Americans knew about them. This contributes to a sense of distrust and apprehension—despite their respect and gratitude—of the United States, because they are so aware of our power to influence their destinies.

Mrs. Bessie Grant, of Capitol Trail, has just learned of the death of a "Pen Pal", with whom she has corresponded for about 42 years. This friendship was started in a most unique way. On July 4th, 1908, a friend placed Mrs. Grant's name on a balloon, and it fell on the farm of a Miss Quell. When Mrs. Grant received a letter from Miss Quell, she learned for the first time that her name had been placed on the balloon. Thus started a friendship by mail. Miss Quell in time, became Mrs. Frank J. Smith and the mother of three daughters. In all these years, and despite the fact that Mrs. Smith lived no further away than Philadelphia, the two women met only once. But they wrote all their joys and sorrows in letters. On learning last week that her Pal passed away on February 1st, Mrs. Grant was greatly saddened, and we feel others will be interested in this friendship, which was carried on for so many years, with only one hand clasp.

The Roseville Park Cubs attended the Parents' Banquet in the Presbyterian Church at Newark, last week. Cairns. After the dinner Jerry Foraker received his bear badge, and Dale Mathews his wolf badge. All enjoyed the magician with his bag of tricks.

Newark Club Joins In Observing 45th Rotary Anniversary

Newark was linked with 7,000 other cities and towns in 82 countries of the world as the Rotary Club of Newark celebrated the 45th anniversary of the founding of the international Rotary organization at its meeting Monday evening.

Highlights of the program were a talk by "The Past 25 Years of Rotary," by Hugh Gibb, program chairman, and the fitting of offices by the original president and secretary of the Newark Club, Dr. Thomas Mann, the first president of the Newark Rotary Club when it received its charter in 1905, and William S. Hamilton, who served as secretary as he did at the inception of the club. A large birthday cake made for the occasion graced the head table, and slices were served to the members.

Dr. Mann welcomed George Axinn, agricultural editor at the University of Delaware, as a new member of the Newark organization.

Tracing the growth of Rotary, Hugh Gibb said:

"The first Rotary Club was organized in Chicago, Illinois, on Feb. 23, 1905, by Paul P. Harris, a young lawyer, who suggested the idea to a group of his friends. It was called the Rotary Club, because the first meetings were held in rotation in the offices of the members. From this modest beginning Rotary has expanded in 45 years to include 234,000 members in more than 7,000 Rotary Clubs located in 82 countries."

As Mr. Gibb traced the development of Rotary during its early period, he interspersed his talk with recordings of music which was popular during each stage. Three years after the first club was started, Club No. 2 was organized in San Francisco, and a year later, in 1909, clubs were started in Seattle, Los Angeles and the two Eastern cities of New York and Boston.

"Rotary became international," said Mr. Gibb, "when Club No. 17 opened in Winnipeg, Canada, in 1910. The following year the Rotary idea spread to Dublin, London and Belfast." In 1914 Club No. 100 was organized and the total number of clubs doubled in 1915.

Recreation Report

the community as sanitation and public education.

2. A system of parks, playgrounds and group activities can be planned to meet the needs of all age and interest groups and can be adapted to any community of any size. Cooperation with existing programs conducted by churches, schools and other local institutions is essential.

3. Newark is conspicuously lacking in parks, public playgrounds, and organized activities except for persons of public school age and adults belonging to certain special interest groups.

4. Lands exist which can be acquired by the town for recreational purposes. Others have been offered on a voluntary basis by public-spirited citizens.

5. No recreation program can function efficiently without the services of a full-time qualified director.

6. Values to be gained would include physical and mental benefit to every family in the community, reduction in delinquency, and elimination of the waste involved in the maintenance of many small, overlapping programs.

7. Newark's experience in attempting to carry on a program supported by private contributions proves conclusively that if we are to have public recreation at all it must be supported wholly or in part by public funds. This has been found true in other communities such as Kennett Square and New Castle.

8. As a number of service clubs and community organizations have expressed themselves as favoring an extension of the recreation program, we feel safe in concluding that there is sufficient public interest in the matter to warrant a referendum on the question of public support.

Action grew out of discussion. The Board of Directors of the Recreation Association has met and appointed the following committees: a program committee under D. Kenneth Steers, to plan a long-term program plus an emergency program for the coming summer; a re-organization committee under Paul Dolan to revise and liberalize the constitution of the Recreation Association; an emergency fund drive committee to finance the summer program, the committee to be headed by Mrs. Hugh Gibb, director of physical education for girls in the Newark School District; and a long-term finance committee under Dr. J. O. Ely to study the means of public support for a permanent program.
