Alumni Association To Hold Annual Banquet

Affair to be held in Old College

Attendance Expected to be Largest in History of Association

The social committee of the Newark High School Alumni Association has completed plans for the annual banquet which will be held at Old College Hall on next Saturday evening, March 19, at 6.30. Dean Winifred J. Robinson of Women's College will be the speaker. Miss Katherine Graybill will sing, and William P. White of Wilmington with his justly famous harmonica will assist with the entertainment.

Nearly 75 "old grads" have signified their intention of attending. The banquet will be followed by a dance which non-alumni friends may attend upon payment of a nominal sum.

The social committee consists of Mrs. H. N. Reed, chairman; Mrs. Hugh Morris, Misses Naomi Street and Marian Gallaher; Warren A. Singles.

No business meeting will be held until the annual meeting in June when a reception will probably be given, according to custom, to the graduates of Newark High School.

BARKING DOGS CAUSE RUNAWAY ON MAIN ST.

Driver Thrown from Carriage Sustains Painful Injuries

Barking dogs frightened a horse driven by Mrs. Cora Johnson, of Milford Cross Roads, last Friday afternoon and caused a runaway which resulted in painful injuries to the driver.

Mrs. Johnson accompanied by her daughter, Alma, was driving on Main Street when the dogs ran into the street in front of Sherwood's store. The horse became unmanageable and dashing toward the sidewalk brought the carriage into collision with Mr. Sherwood's machine which stood in front of the store. Mrs. Johnson and her daughter were both thrown from the carriage, the former sustaining painful cuts on the face and the latter escaping without injury other than a severe shock. Walter Powell, Ferd Stiltz and other men in the vicinity gave assistance to the injured woman and took her to the office of Dr. H. G. M. Kollock where the wounds were dressed.

A wheel of the carriage was demolished by the collision and the fender of the automobile was bent. The horse was caught near Newark Center.

GLASGOW COMMUNITY CLUB HOLDS ENTERTAINMENT

The monthly meeting of the Community Club of Glasgow was held Thursday evening, March 10th, in the public school building. A short but entertaining program was rendered by the pupils which was followed by a business meeting, and later by refreshments and amusing games. A number of persons attended the meeting in spite of bad weather.

LOCAL MERCHANTS IMPROVE PROPERTY

General Richard G. Buckingham who recently purchased the store property of Thomas J. Green on Main Street, is adding two display windows and installing additional lights, which add much to the appearance of the place.

The display window recently added to the cleaning establishment of Sam Bell, on Academy Street, has been painted an attractive shade of gray.

E. C. Wilson has under construction six garages on his property here.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY PRESENTS FINE PROGRAM

Music and Drama Features of Entertainment at Presbyterian Church

Before an appreciative audience in the lecture room of the Presbyterian Church last night, the members of the Woman's Home Missionary Society presented an exceptionally fine program of music, reading, and drama. The high standard of excellence maintained by the society in previous years is such as always to draw a large audience. The lecture room of the church was filled to capacity last night with churchfolk and friends who enjoyed a rare treat.

Charles W. Strahorn acted as master of ceremonies and announced the numbers.

Little Miss Helen Gregg gave a piano solo and responded graciously to an eager encore. A duet by Mrs. J. Peance Cann and R. W. Kirkbride sung to accompaniment by Miss Nellie Wilson, was followed by a reading by Miss M. E. Rohr, who chose one of O. Henry's stories.

A character sketch with vocal solo by Miss Helen Gregg proved a popular number.

The farce, "Seeking a Servant," presented by the famous all-star cast composed of Missionary Society members, scored a decisive hit.

Miss Yearsley, as Madame Grosbinet whose modest establishment having lost the faithful and loyal Marie through desire to return to her native France, depicted cleverly the harassed and bewildered seeker after a servant. Mrs. Edna Wood took well the part of the daughter, Anastasia, whose skill with the powder puff was far superior to her skill in handling a domestic crisis. Mrs. Charles P. Steel made a charming and very appealing Marie.

The army of applicants secured through the medium of an "ad" in the Newark Post, presented a variety which left no doubt as to the efficacy of advertising. From "the wild New England shore" to the mysterious Orient, extended the lure of the modest "ad." From England came the first applicant, Mary Ann Eliza Smith with a penchant for red and for rocking chairs. Mrs. George Potts interpreted well the part of the arrogant, aggressive English servant. The next applicant, a portly negress, in bright array, Cleopatra Victoria Beatrice Johnson, "a first class cook who cooks 'em all up brown and serves it to 'em hot," created much merriment. This part was cleverly taken by Mrs. Ernest Frazer. Hop Sing, a Chinaman who is overly sensitive and explains things with a knife when his feelings are hurt, was well portrayed by Miss Margaret Anderson.

Mrs. Charles W. Strahorn scored a hit as Bridget Flanagan who had catered "to ginals and presidents." Amanda Fishhook from Maine, deaf but obliging, interpreted by Mrs. Annie Moore; Rat-in-the-Hole, an Indian squaw by Mrs. Robert Potts; Carmenella, a Spanish dancer, Mrs. H. E. Tiffany; and Armina Benibouffe, a Turkish woman, Mrs. Charles W. Dunlevy, were all cleverly portrayed.

The sensational return of Marie in time to rescue the harassed mother and daughter brought about a happy solution to the perplexing problem and a happy ending to the amusing sketch.

Following the farce a duet was sung by Mrs. Cann and Miss Rohr. Two humorous readings, "Little Ah Sid" and "The Serenade" were given by Mrs. A. B. Harris. This proved a very popular number and Mrs. Harris responded to an enthusiastic encore by reading "The Catechist." A duet by Mrs. Cann and Miss Rohr concluded the program.

NEW STANDPIPE TESTED

The new standpipe was filled and tested during the past week and having proved satisfactory, was emptied and is now receiving a coat of paint inside and out.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE SCHOOL BILL DEFEATED BY THE HOUSE

ANOTHER ATTEMPT PROPOSED

WILMINGTON GETS PAID FIRE DEPARTMENT

Special from Dover:

After weeks of discussion, the House of Representatives by a vote of 23 to 11, killed the so-called Citizens Committee School Bill prepared and championed by Dr. Richard R. Cooper of Newark, Director of Educational Bureau of the Service Citizens, James H. Hughes, Dover attorney, and Robert G. Houston, attorney and Editor of Georgetown. These men were selected by the Committee of Thirty-five called by the hold-over Senators to draft a new school law. The vote follows:

For the bill—Buckingham, Clark, F. H. Davis, Gray, Kinder, Marr, Megginson, Othwell, Philip, Virden, Warrington.

Against the bill—Brown, Corbit, B. F. Davis, Medill, Glendaniel, Harrington, Hudson, Kraemer, Lee, Lord, Miller, Noble, E. J. Turner, T. W. Turner, White, H. Wilson, J. E. Wilson, Dill, Crompton, Speaker Paskey, Schneider, Smith, Staats.

Corridor and lobby rumors at 2 o'clock say the Senate will pass a bill practically the same as the one defeated. The scheme being discussed is that the House will then call for a Commission of 6 attorneys, 3 Democrats and 3 Republicans, to redraft the tax provisions for consideration.

Legislative observers of years of experience fail to agree on what the final outcome will be.

Paid Fire Department Bill Signed

Governor Denney today at 12.30 signed the bill providing for a Paid Fire Department for the City of Wilmington.

JEROME BELL DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

INVENTOR, PUBLISHER AND AUTHOR, PROMINENT IN DELAWARE AFFAIRS, BURIED TODAY

Jerome B. Bell, well-known newspaper man and former citizen of Wilmington, founder of the Sunday Star and for many years the editor of that paper, died Sunday morning in a sanitarium in Milwaukee, Wis., after an illness of several months. He retained Wilmington as his home and was still a member of the Park Commission and State Tuberculosis Commission.

Sketch of Mr. Bell

Jerome Bonaparte Bell was born in Camden County House Township, Camden county, North Carolina, on Poplar Stand Farm, January 10, 1852. Adoniram Judson Cobb was his first teacher, at the Lake School House, then recently built, about a mile from his home. His Every Evening, he eventually became its managing editor. With Merris Taylor, in 1882, he bought from Caleb P. Johnson the Daily Gazette. Meanwhile, March 8, 1881, he had started publication of the Sunday Star. The Star Publishing Co. was organized in 1883, and thereafter it conducted a very successful publication of the Star until Mr. Bell, late in his life, disposed of his interests in the paper. After severing his connection with the Star, Mr. Bell devoted much of his time to public service in various directions. For many years before his decease, he served as a Wilmington Park Commissioner.

Besides becoming a successful business manager of his news-

STATE EXTENSION WORKERS HOLD CON- FERENCE FRIDAY

Hear Government Expert and Discuss Field Problems

A conference of all Extension workers in the State was held last Friday afternoon at Wolf Hall. M. C. Wilson, a representative from the Washington office, made the opening address of the afternoon when he discussed "The Value of Analysis of Extension Work in a County."

This was followed by a round table discussion upon the program of the County Agricultural and Home Demonstration Agents. Dean Charles A. McCue, director of the work in Delaware, discussed the insect survey and led the general round table discussions concerning the developing and carrying out of the community program of work; also the availability of assistance from experts.

The County Farm Bureau, its relation to buying and selling organizations; its relation to the State Federation of Farm Bureaus was also ably discussed by M. O. Pence.

How the publicity given extension work can be improved and what use can be made of the Extension Service News were subjects discussed by Mr. Cobb and by the assembled workers.

The recounting of individual experiences and the general outlook for the year were also features of the program.

HIGH SCHOOL CLOSED-FUMI- GATED AS PRECAUTION

Due to the development of a case of scarlet fever, Dr. Walt H. Steel ordered the closing of the High School yesterday afternoon and the building fumigated. This was done today and school will open as usual tomorrow. The order was given as a "Safety First" measure when it was learned that a pupil who was at school on Monday had been taken ill that evening with the fever.

RED CROSS REPRESENTATIVE HERE NEXT WEEK

A representative of the Red Cross will address the New Century Club next week, to explain the drive for nurses and to arouse interest in the campaign.

Mrs. Robert B. Raynor, of Wilmington, a member of the executive board of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, addressed the club yesterday with an inspirational talk on the purposes and aims of club work.

Miss Helen Gregg delighted the audience with one of her clever recitations; Miss Gladys Pratt, librarian at the Women's College, gave two instrumental solos from Grieg, and Mrs. Emma Wilson read a very interesting and very well prepared paper on "The Dutch Influence in America."

An informal reception to the guest of the afternoon was followed by a social hour during which tea was served.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TO GIVE PADDY'S DAY PARTY

Committee Busy With Plans for Big Affair

The Presbyterian Sunday School is making plans for a St. Patrick's Day party which will be held in the lecture room of the church next Friday evening. The committee on arrangements consists of G. V. C. Houghland, chairman, Mrs. Leila Richardson, Misses Anna Smith, Edith Chambers, Edith Lewis and Miss Yearsley; Messrs Ira Steele, Daniel Krapf, H. K. Preston.

A similar affair given last year was a great success. The personnel and the activities of the committee augur well for the success of this year's affair.

The Young Ladies' Mission Circle met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. N. Reed. Miss Jennie Smith presided. The regular topic for the month was discussed, routine business transacted, and a social hour with refreshments enjoyed after the program.

"Safety First" Demonstrated in Practical Gift

Citizen Shows Civic Interest

"Silent Policeman" Placed by Town Authorities at Dangerous Point

A good looking "traffic cop" was placed by the town authorities yesterday afternoon at the junction of Main Street and Elkton Road. Standing firm on a concrete base this silent policeman not only directs traffic at this dangerous junction, but also points out the way to bewildered travelers, and forms a pleasing ornamental addition to the town improvements.

This attractive device was presented to the town through the generosity of Mr. Frank Collins. Of sturdy metal bar construction, it is surmounted by a powerful light illuminating the plate which points out with aluminum painted directions the roads to Baltimore and Wilmington.

The simplicity and dignity of design as well as the altruistic motive which prompted the gift has elicited much grateful comment from townsfolk and travelers who have passed that way.

COMMUNITY LEADER- SHIP DISCUSSED AT MISSIONARY MEETING

Methodist Organization Hears Interesting Discussion on Friday

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Elmer Thompson on Friday afternoon, with a large number of members in attendance.

The president, Mrs. H. Warner McNeal, opened the meeting. The singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" was followed by the Lord's prayer. Mrs. R. W. Cooper, who led the devotions, gave an inspiring talk on "Leadership."

Mrs. A. R. Carlisle who was leader for the meeting, discussed the subject, "Community Leadership." She brought out many phases of neighborliness and gave numerous well thought out suggestions for community helpfulness and for real citizenship.

The discussion was followed by a pleasant social hour during which the hostess served refreshments.

My Coming Guest

By JEROME B. BELL

The Day is fixed when there shall come to me
A strange, mysterious guest.

The time I do not know—he keeps the date;
So all I have to do is work and wait,
And strive my very best
To do my daily duties patiently.

I often wonder if that Day will break
Brighter than other days:—
If I shall know, or if, immersed in gloom,
I shall be waiting for him in my room,
Or busy with life's ways,
With restless hands and weary eyes that ache.

For many years I've known that he would come;
And so I've watched for him,
And sometimes even said: "His time is soon."
Let pass the morn, the noon and afternoon
And twilight, weird and dim,
And silent night-times when the world is dumb.

But he will come and find me here or there;
It does not matter when,
Nor where, for I am sure that he will take Me in his care. No more my eyes will ache;
They will be placid then,
And closed, yet maybe seeing visions fair.

Yes, he whom I expect has been called Death;
And when he is my guest
I'll know him truly as he really is:—
Will leave the world's loud company for his,
As that which seemeth best,
And I shall rest at last beneath his breath.

And out we'll pass, my royal guest and I,
As noiseless as he came;
For naught will do but I must go with him,
And leave this clay, which I have kept so trim,
An empty, darkened frame,
In which no other mortal soul may lie.

And so, I sleep and wake; I toil and rest,
Not knowing when he'll come;
But when he does I'll be prepared to go,
For he will guide me safely home, I know;
And this shall be the sum
Of all my pleading: "I have done my best."

then toward another to keep the corners and edges even. They sometimes may be gently pulled into shape so as to make them alike.

If the ends of the pastry become very uneven, they should be trimmed off and the pieces of pastry used for cheese straws or for something in which it is not absolutely necessary for the layers, to be even.

Speaking of Trimmings—After shapes have been cut from puff paste, trimmings should be carefully laid on top of each other and patted with rolling pin, and then rolled out in order that the layers may all rise in the same direction.

To Bake Pastry—An oven that registers 550 degrees is not too hot for puff paste. In such an oven patties will bake in twenty minutes, in an oven that registers from 400 to 500 degrees, it will take twenty-five minutes, and results are not quite so satisfactory. Watch baking very carefully, and turn pastry frequently, that it may not burn. Reduce heat after pastry has risen.

Patty Shells I

Roll out puff paste one-fourth inch thick, shape with round fluted cutter which has been dipped in flour, remove centers from one-half the rounds with a smaller cutter, brush the whole piece with cold water, lay on the rim, press edges together lightly, and chill between pans of crushed ice until pastry is stiff; or, if the weather is cold, chill out of doors. Bake twenty to twenty-five minutes. Centers may be baked and used for patty covers. Remove any soft pastry from center of patty before putting in filling.

Patty Shells II

Roll puff paste one-half inch thick, shape with a round fluted cutter. Make a cut half way through in the center of the circle with a small cutter, and chill and bake as suggested above.

Filling for Patty Shells

Patty shells should be reheated in the oven before being served. They may be filled with a delicate meat or fish heated in a sauce. White sauce, Bechamel sauce, mushroom sauce, sauce a la King, and many others may be used. Chicken, sweetbreads, oysters, and lobsters are especially popular.

Tarts

Tarts are made like patty shells, but may be shaped with a smaller cutter. They are filled, after baking, with jam, jelly or marmalade.

The Kells Shop at is distinctive enough to be called an institution.

It is different. There are Printing Plants in Delaware larger, but as a home for Printing Art, where Master Craftsmen study and work at the Art of Printing, there is nothing like it.

Here, out in the open, boys and girls work and play at the Crafts. Say what you will, there is an atmosphere (whatever that may be) at Kells not found in the ordinary print shop.

A man came in the other day—looked around and commented—"A Delight—what is it, a hobby?"

No, a plain, hard, everyday business proposition. The light air, laughter and good cheer are merely a part of our equipment not found in the usual shop. They are cut-cost devices, if you will.

Here, our presses run as fast as in the sweat shop. Here, cleanliness keeps down overhead. No waiting—every thing is set every time, ready to do.

So all this space, all this building, actually reduces costs. And, certainly, the environment inspires every one to do his best work.

Yes, this is an Ad—but it's all true. If you have a friend who buys Printing, introduce him to Kells. He will thank you, so will

VALUE OF VISUAL EDUCATION TO BE TESTED

The educational and scientific world will watch with interest the results of a series of experiments being made by Prof. J. W. Shepherd, director of visual education for the University of Oklahoma. The tests are being conducted in the Oklahoma schools to determine the actual efficiency of visual methods of teaching as compared with the present day oral methods. Motion pictures are used, and the tests are being made on the study of geography, with certain phases of reading, spelling, composition and literature being taught also. Several hundred high school pupils in Oklahoma City and Norman, Oklahoma, are being subjected to tests with more advanced subjects.

An unofficial tryout of the plan was made several weeks ago, in the following manner: Three groups of fourteen students, carefully matched as to mental alertness were chosen; one group was instructed by a rapid fire lecturer from the University staff; another one was taught by a public school teacher in the orthodox manner, and the third group by motion pictures only. Professor Shepherd stated that the groups taught by the lecturer and the motion picture method were tied for efficiency, both showing a twenty per cent advancement over the other group of students. This, he explained, could not be taken as a conclusive test, so the more elaborate ones are now being conducted.

It is not to be expected that the children of the future can be taught entirely by motion pictures, but it is believed that many subjects which hitherto have been considered "dry" by students may be made interesting by the aid of the motion picture camera.

Jones was talking to some friends of a fishing trip he was contemplating on his holiday.

"Are there any trout up there?" questioned one of the friends.

"Trout! Thousands of 'em," replied the other enthusiastically.

"Will they bite easily?"

"Will they?" reiterated Jones. "Why they're absolutely vicious! A man has to hide behind a tree to bait his hook."—Detroit Free Press.

PHYSICAL DEFECTS OF DELAWARE SCHOOL CHILDREN

Ninety Per Cent Need Medical Attention According to Recent Survey

A report of the medical inspection of pupils in the public schools of Delaware has just been made to the State Board of Education of Delaware by Dr. Gilbert S. Osineup, medical director for the Board, whose service in Delaware was made possible through the courtesy of the United States Public Health Service.

The report shows that of the 8000 school children examined up to date, over 90% have been found to be suffering from some physical defect.

About 75 per cent are suffering from dental defects, and about 23 per cent have some defect in vision. Approximately 20 per cent are suffering from diseased tonsils and from adenoids, the latter being the commonest defect found.

The conclusion drawn by Dr. Osineup in his report is that a permanent State aid organization to carry out physical examinations of school children and follow-up work in the homes is necessary for the future welfare of the State.

Nutrition classes in the schools are also recommended. The examiner said that 30 per cent of those examined were found to be suffering from malnutrition. A hot dish for the children to eat with the lunch they carry from home to school is also recommended. The Red Cross has appropriated $1,000 for equipment for this purpose in 20 schools. These 20 schools will be selected from among those where the teachers have manifested a disposition to cooperate in the work, and where conditions are such as to make the work necessary. The pupils will be supplied with the necessary equipment and instructed in the preparation of hot dishes, which for the present will consist of cocoa, cream soups, vegetable soups, etc. The parents of children who are able to do so, are expected to pay something toward meeting this expense.

More nurses are needed for the organization to carry out the state system of school examinations, Dr. Osineup says. At least eleven will be needed to cover the state once a year. Dr. Osineup's report is in part as follows:

"Inasmuch as the visual defects constitute a large percentage of all defects found, it would be advisable to undertake some method of correcting these in the schools. The following plan would solve this problem:

"A unit would be organized of an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist and a nurse. They should be supplied with easily portable equipment for testing eyes. They would visit every school in the State and examine the eyes of every child. Those found to be in need of glasses would be advised of this fact and their parents consulted. If the parents were willing to obtain glasses for their child at their own expense, this could be done. If they were not willing to incur any expense, glasses could be prescribed and furnished at cost. Arrangements could be made with some local firm to supply glasses at a very low figure and they would be willing to send a man with the Unit to fit such glasses to the individual child. If such a Unit were established we would then have the means of correcting two of the commonest defects with which we have to deal, namely, the teeth and the eyes.

"The third commonest defect, tonsils and adenoids, can be easily corrected with the cooperation of the child health centers, provided, of course, their existence is continued.

"By these means we would be able to correct approximately 90 per cent of all the defects. It is a program which, if carried out, would be the most complete so far attempted in this country and would show results whose beneficence would be astounding."

Got Their Money Back

The baby started crying at the theatre and an usher warned its parents that if they couldn't stop it they must get their money back and leave. The baby was silenced, but towards the end of the act the mother began to be bored. "Don't think much of this play after all," she said. "Wish we'd gone some where else."

"All right, Maria," whispered her husband. "Pinch the kid."—Boston Transcript.

BIG MUSICAL SHOW COMING

Famous Marcus Show of 1920 En Route from Pacific Coast to New York City

The biggest musical attraction that has invaded this section since pre-war days is now en route from San Francisco and Los Angeles to New York. Theatre-goers in this section will have an opportunity to see this attraction, the Marcus Show of 1920, during its engagement in Wilmington at The Playhouse three nights commencing March 17th.

There are nearly one hundred persons engaged. Many of these are the famous Marcus Peaches. There is a special orchestra and it requires a special train of three baggage cars and an equal number of Pullmans to transport the big organization.

Not in years has an attraction made such an unqualified hit on the Coast as that enjoyed by the Marcus Show. But few cities are being visited between the Coast and New York where the Marcus Show inaugurates its metropolitan engagement early next month.

In commenting on the attraction a leading Middle Western paper said recently:

"A Musical Revue with a sort of indoor circus tone and liveliness of action the Marcus Show of 1920, won the approval of an audience that last night filled the Columbia."

"Girls, gorgeous costumes and agreeable comedy are the features, and though it seems to have been the intention of the producers to give an advance impression that the show might engage the attention of the censor, if such an official still be among us, there was nothing to seriously warrant objection."

"It must have cost the managers a lot of money to bring this big organization of girls out from the East with the higher railroad rates now in force. Considerable has been saved by doing away with tight, but this item alone cannot offset the increased transportation charges. There must be sixty or seventy people in the company being Klaw & Erlangered over the West."

"Really, it is an astonishing show—that of Marcus, 1920."

"After all, the girls and costumes, with the vivid and artistic lighting effects and stage pictures, such as The Birth of Venice, are what lend importance to the show. The costumes certainly are daring, and the girls have to be to wear them."

Want a Pet Buffalo?

The Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture has more than 20 male buffalo of varying size and age, which it desires to give away or loan to park or zoological associations, or responsible individuals who will take good care of them and use them for breeding or exhibition purposes.

The buffalo herd, established on the Wichita National Forest and Game Preserve, Oklahoma, some 15 years ago with a nucleus of 15 animals, has prospered mightily. It now numbers nearly 150 head, including the 28-year-old "gray gander" of the herd as well as the smallest and friskiest bull calf born last spring. As the herd has grown the number of bulls has increased more rapidly than the cows, until now there are too many of the former.

Under the regulations the Forest Service can give or lend only one male buffalo to an individual or institution. Several applications have already been received and approved and plans are on foot to cut out from the herd the animals selected, and crate and haul them to the railroad.

Although Uncle Sam is willing to make a present of these animals, the recipient must pay all expenses incident to the gift, including the cost of crating, hauling, and freight charges from Cache, Okla., to the point of delivery.

Here is an excellent opportunity to get a real, live buffalo—not as gentle, perhaps, as a kitten, but, nevertheless, a nice pet if you have plenty of room to keep him, surrounded by a 12-foot doubly-placed, woven-wire fence, and the price of 2 tons of hay a year.

Famous Oak Tree Cut Down

A large oak tree which for at least two hundred years has stood near the Brick Meeting House, Cecil county, Md., was cut down this week, because of dangerous condition due to decay. Tradition states that General Lafayette rested under the tree, on his way to Yorktown.

JEROME BELL

Jerome Bell was a many sided character. Inventor, business-man, editor, poet, artist, at times, and citizen, always. In all of these, he was a success. By nature and inclination, he was an artist, a dreamer. But events placed him in the active work-a-day world. His life was one of action—and effective, too. As always, when the Dreamer goes into action, let enemies of Right beware. Every partner of intrigue, every enemy of Right, every plotter against civic development, feared his pen. Kind even to tenderness to his friends and to those who served, he was ruthless and merciless to those opposed to his ideals. He had a fearless audacity as editor of a Delaware newspaper that we do not know today. To read the files of the Star would be training for us all. As a citizen, he was interested in everything that promised advance. Not only interested, he gave unselfishly of time, wealth and energy. Early in the war, he offered his services to our Governor and begged for work to do.

As a friend, he was loved. He gave his all to his friends. A charming personality, wit, sentiment, sarcasm, poetry—he was a wonderful friend.

At Kells, he was a welcome guest. His last collection of poems was printed here under his supervision—a "Delaware product," he was wont to say. Interested in our work here, Poetry, Printing, Atmosphere of Kells, and Jerome Bell were all congenial friends. "The Rest is Silence," Jerome Bell! The world, and we, are richer for your life with its words and works. Your prayer can well be our creed—

"My prayer each day shall be my honest work;

My creed to do my best; the sacred task

I worship in God's all enfolding dome,
And Nature's voice my ministerial clerk."

ARBOR DAY

PROCLAMATION

Governor William D. Denney has designated Friday, April 1, as Arbor Day. His proclamation follows:

State of Delaware, Executive Department, Dover, Del.

I deem it my duty at this time to remind the people of the State, and especially our young people, of a law passed in 1901 which authorizes the Governor to set apart each year one day to be designated as Arbor and Bird Day, and to request its observance by all public schools, private schools, colleges and other institutions, by the planting of trees and the adornment of the school and public grounds and by suitable exercises, having for their object the advancement of the study of arbor culture and promotion of the spirit of protection to birds and trees and the cultivation of an appreciative sentiment concerning them.

The purpose of the law is so clearly expressed and the need of its observance so generally recognized that I consider it unnecessary to do more than call public attention to its provisions, and express the hope that the intent of the Act may be fully carried out.

I urgently request its general observance throughout the State and to that end I hereby designate Friday, April 1, 1921, as Arbor and Bird Day.

WM. D. DENNEY,
Governor of Delaware,

not met the requirements in certain subjects. The class will be used as a practice class for the members of the teachers' training course of the Women's College.

The school is of the latest design of the portable building which is finding its place in many communities throughout the country to care for the overflow in the congested schools. It is one story in height, the size of the usual class-room, sanitary and well ventilated. There are separate cloak rooms for the boys and girls. The building is equipped with the latest word in adjustable desks. These desks can be so arranged that the pupils are able to sit in healthy, normal positions. Each pupil sits by himself.

The building is painted gray on the outside and brown to the height of the pupils desks and a creamy white above on the inside. The light in the room is gained from a number of windows on the Academy Street side that reach from close to the floor to the ceiling.

The new school is of attractive design. It is well equipped and a credit to Newark.

'TIS TRULY A SACRIFICE--BEGINNING TOMORROW MORNING!

We cannot pay a higher rent that is demanded from us after June 25th, simply because we sell on a "close" margin. We cannot pay this and yet maintain our business on a strictly cut price basis. We cannot run the risk of being caught with a task of moving our large stock. We must unload, regardless of loss or profit. We must start this at once, that we may move just as soon as the first reasonably priced store comes to our attention.

To do this we have been busily engaged for the past few weeks in a task that will mean your benefit, and our relief.

WE HAVE CUT AND RE-PRICED EVERY ARTICLE IN OUR STORE

It makes no difference whether you are interested in any of our goods just now or not,—just come in when in town — FOLLOW THE GREEN AND YELLOW TAGS and just see for yourself whether ever in your life you have seen such goods "knocked down" at such prices!

HANGING WALL OR CEILING FIXTURES, TABLE AND BOUDOIR LAMPS, ELECTRIC IRONS, HEATERS, STOVES, HEATING PADS, MEDICAL BATTERIES, FLASHLIGHTS, in fact every conceivable item in the "Electric Shop," which of course we try to keep as complete as is possible, is at your disposal beginning with the first thing in the morning.

No discounts to be bothered about, as we have figured it all down to "rock bottom!" It's the last word we can say, as far as the price goes, and is the best stock you'd go after, which has characterized the "Grossman Electric Service" as house of honest dealing since 1908.

were other manifestations of the same forces of his personality. This artistic bent, however, formed its chief expression in his poetry. In his later years it constituted his chief mental diversion. His poems give expression to his thoughts upon social, personal and religious themes. They were partially compiled by him in three volumes, entitled "Sprigs of Holly and Cypress," "The Harvest of Years" and "Moods and Other Poems." This last volume was printed at Kells. Mr. Bell read much of the proof in our office and took keen delight in our plant. The longest of the poems in the last mentioned volume, and is called "Moods of a Modern Rubaiyat." It consists of 138 quadruplets, modeled in style after the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. In it the writer's conception of the relations of man with God and of man with mankind are fearlessly dealt with. The modes of expression are sometimes startling, sometimes satiric, often contradictory, as befits the poem's title, but usually polished and artistic. No one can doubt that these verses embody sincere expressions of his spiritual and mental moods from time to time. As he himself says, consistency is no part of his intent:

"I pen the thought that meets my present need,
Nor give consistency a moment's heed;
For if today give yesterday the lie,
Then yesterday is but a broken reed."

Like all thinking agnostics, and like all instinctive rebels against creeds, his was essentially a religious nature. That he could not escape the contemplation of religious themes is indicated by the frequency with which his poems deal with man's relations with God, and his veneration of the character of Christ. The two poems which may illustrate most intimately his religious conceptions are, "To the Man of Sorrows," and "My Prayer."

"FOREST OF STATES"Ingenious Plan for Exposition Park Suggested

A "forest of the states" is being planned by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce for Exposition Park, Los Angeles.

It is hoped to obtain from every state in the Union, as well as from Hawaii, Porto Rico, Guam, Philippines and Alaska, a tree representative of the district from which it comes.

The trees will be planted and cared for by the Los Angeles municipal park commission. The governor of each state is to be asked to send a tree typical of his state. In some cases the requests already have been forwarded, and in the cases of Idaho and Louisiana favorable responses have been received. Idaho will be represented by a white pine and Louisiana by a magnolia.

Every state in the Union is represented in Los Angeles by a society of its former residents, who, because of the plan for a "forest of states," look forward to the time when they may hold their annual outings in Los Angeles in the shade of a tree "from their own home state."

THE WILSON PRIZE

A nation-wide tribute to Woodrow Wilson, proposed and planned by a number of his admirers, both men and women, will take the form of a $500,000 fund, to be contributed in small amounts.

The interest from this fund, which at 5 per cent would yield $25,000 a year, will be awarded by a jury to the man or woman who, during the year, has done the greatest service to humanity. Mr. Wilson, it has been announced, will define the nature of the service for which the award will be made.

The proposed prize will compare favorably with the Nobel Peace Prize which usually amounts to $40,000 a year.

May Appeal Todd'sCut Closing

Speculation is rife as to where the Pennsylvania Railroad will make repairs to locomotives and cars as they become unfit for service with the closing down of the Wilmington shops at Todd's Cut next Friday. It is persistently rumored that most of the work will be turned over to private concerns, which union men interpret as a move against the federated railroad crafts. No definite action was decided upon Monday night at a meeting of the advisory board of the federation in Irish-American Hall, Wilmington, but it was intimated that an appeal to the authorities may be made by the various crafts, similar to the action recently taken by the members of Pullman Lodge, composed of employees in the various crafts in the employ of the Pullman Company.

The closing of the Wilmington shops necessitated the laying off of 588 men. Approximately all men have been laid off in other departments of the railroad in and around Wilmington. The total number of men laid off in all departments and including all forces on the Southern division was 998 employees. Since January 1 there have been 4671 men laid off out of 18,660, including those dismissed yesterday.

According to railroad officials there is likelihood of still further reductions in man-power and indications that other roads are planning to follow the lead of the Southern, Jersey Central and Pennsylvania in curtailing train schedules to the lowest point commensurate with transportation requirements.—Morning News.

WIT AND HUMOR

Both wit and humor, like art, poetry and love, are quite indefinable. But humor is the more elusive of the two. There are national types of wit, an Irish wit, a French wit, a German wit, an English wit, and—yes—a Scotch wit.

But humor is something universal, the curious and blessed gift that man has, all the world over, of discerning the incongruous in most things. Wit is related to the superficial, but humor dwells deep down in the inmost heart of us. Wit may be caustic; humor is kindly. Wit is the accompaniment of comedy and draws forth the loud guffaw of the top gallery of the music halls. But humor is not divorced from tragedy, and its laughter may be very close to tears.

"There are so many bald men now that they have started a story that a man with a good head of hair has no sense."—E. W. Howe, editor of E. W. Howe's Monthly.

OUR EDITOR-PUBLISHER PRESIDENT

Warren Gamaliel Harding, for many years editor and publisher of the Daily and Weekly Star at Marion, Ohio, today is President of the United States.

Mr. Harding is the first newspaper man to hold the office.

George Washington was a farmer, planter and surveyor; John Adams was a lawyer; Thomas Jefferson was a lawyer; James Madison was of planter stock, but studied law after his graduation at Princeton; James Monroe was a soldier and studied law with Thomas Jefferson; John Quincy Adams was a lawyer and college professor; Andrew Jackson was a lawyer; Martin Van Buren was a lawyer; William Henry Harrison was a soldier and territorial governor; John Tyler was a lawyer; James K. Polk was a lawyer; Zachary Taylor was a soldier; Millard Fillmore was a weaver, school teacher and lawyer; Franklin Pierce was a soldier and lawyer; James Buchanan was a lawyer and soldier; Abraham Lincoln was a lawyer; Andrew Johnson was a tailor; Ulysses S. Grant was a tanner and soldier; Rutherford B. Hayes was a lawyer; James A. Garfield was a lawyer; Chester A. Arthur was a school teacher and lawyer; Grover Cleveland was a lawyer; Benjamin Harrison was a lawyer; William McKinley was a school teacher, soldier and lawyer; Theodore Roosevelt was a law graduate and politician; William H. Taft was a lawyer; Woodrow Wilson was a publicist, educator and historian.

And now the greatest public office in all the world has for its incumbent a representative from the field of journalism—what might be called country journalism. Mr. Harding's career is much like that of many other members of his profession, in which experience is gained that must prove valuable and equal to all of the ordinary and most of the extraordinary demands of private business and public life.

The country newspaper man in most cases must be a financier. His business must be conducted upon a sound basis, and if correct principles be adopted, the extent of the transactions need not matter. He must develop his resources, acuteness, alertness, strength, education and strategy to meet the necessities of a whirlwind business. He must lay a heavy hand upon those who would abuse and impose upon his people, and yet protect the innocent and weak.

He must be intelligently progressive, that idealistic schemes do not run away from the materialistic and substantial foundations upon which progress rests.

He must be able to select his assistants for their technical knowledge, their willingness and their loyalty.

He must be diplomatic to unite all interests in endeavors for the common good.

He must maintain a clear vision and enlarge its scope to include every object of benefit or detriment to those who trust his judgment.

He must be clean and honest to secure an abiding respect of his townsmen, without which no business can become successful.

In addition to these qualifications, should he also be possessed of at least an average intelligence, he would make good in almost any position in which he might be placed.

We know that Mr. Harding possesses the qualifications of a successful country newspaper man.

We believe that such a successful country newspaper man, with the added experience in public life that Mr. Harding has had as United States senator from his state, will make a good President.

And here's our hand on it, Mr. Harding!

Godspeed to our new President!—Publishers' Auxiliary.

INSTRUCTOR APPOINTED FOR DELAWARE GUARD

Major Harry W. Stark, Coast Artillery Corps, was detailed inspector-instructor of the Delaware National Guard, with headquarters in Wilmington, according to orders issued by the War Department.

Major Stark was relieved from duty at Fort Thomas, Ky. Upon his arrival in Wilmington, he will report to Governor Denney, advising him of his station.

Local officers expressed surprise at the announcement that a field officer had been appointed to the post. Major Stark is the highest ranking officer that has ever been sent to the State, they said, the post being held on other occasions by first lieutenants. They pointed to the fact that in Pennsylvania, which has a complete division, the inspector ranks only a lieutenant, but expressed the opinion that the Delaware regiment, an anti-aircraft unit, with its expensive equipment, is considered by the department as demanding a man of more experience and responsibility.

SPEED LAWS VIOLATED

Auto drivers are reminded that the Speed Laws are the same on Delaware Avenue as on Main Street. Complaints are being registered of violation of this ordinance. Ott Widdoes of the Street and Sewer Department, says the criticisms are well merited and approves of this note of warning. The violation of the speed laws on Welsh Lane (Depot Road) point to serious accident and loss of life. Good fortune will not always attend this reckless driving.

Looking Both Ways

Five years ago, Grant's launched their business at the present site in a store just one-half the size that now houses it.

Its foundation was the resolve that it would handle only the character of merchandise that would always be typical of the best fashions and to feature it AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Today in 1921, we believe that policy has been justified and appreciated by our public and to its continuance we pledge our reputation, resources and ability.

Stylish Stouts

in
Coats--Skirts--Waists

The larger sized women have welcomed these special departments at Grant's because they furnish what is so difficult to find—REAL ASSORTMENT.

Leadership in FURS

has long been Grant's. And Grant's thirty odd years' experience in furs is the knowledge which enables Grant's to guarantee every piece, while the assortment of all kinds of furs is the greatest in Delaware.

PRICES THAT WILL PROVE A REVELATION TO ALL LOVERS OF SMART ATTIRE AND SEEKERS AFTER THE BEST VALUES

Grant's has always been a specialty shop, differing from a department store in that it handles only certain definite lines—coats, wraps, skirts, furs and waists.

This always means for our patrons—better assortment, quicker turn-over of merchandise, latest fashions and lower prices; and for our Fifth Anniversary Days, we promise a series of wonderful surprises.

COATS, WRAPS AND CAPES ARE MOST APPEALING

All are fashionable and in good taste. The tailored sport coat vies with the elaborate dolman. Materials are polo, velvet, evora, marvella, duvetyn, etc., in all the favored shades.

Price: $10.98 to $75.00

THE BEST SHOWING OF SKIRTS IN DELAWARE

An assortment that rivals any in the largest cities. Fascinating plaids and serges, prunella, imported flannel, etc., provide a wealth of choosing in tailored, pleated, and the new circular skirts.

Glorious new spring shades with many ideas that are new. Dressy blouses and blouses for business, of voile, georgette, crepe de chine, wash satin, and pongee—some plain, others overblouse effects—are delightfully new.
