Ogden Nash To Talk Here Next Thursday

Ogden Nash

Ogden Nash, famous writer of light verse, will speak at Mitchell Hall, University of Delaware, on Thursday night, July 28. His talk, which will include recitation of a number of his classic verses and comment on the events in his life that caused their creation, will be open to the public without charge, according to J. Robert King, recreation director of the university's Summer School.

Mr. Nash's verse appears in various national magazines, as well as in about 10 books of poetry. He attributes to doodling the beginning of a career based on "the sudden and subconscious idea of writing bad verse deliberately." His book, "Hard Lines," established him in 1931 as a master of humorous verse, and he has followed this with such collections as "I'm a Stranger Here Myself," "Good Intentions," "Many Long Years Ago," and "The Face is Familiar." He wrote the lyrics, and was co-author with S. J. Perelman, of the musical hit "One Touch of Venus."

Mr. Nash's talk will be at 8:15 p. m.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS
There will be no issue of the Newark Post next Thursday.
The office will be closed the week of July 24 to 30.
The Post will resume publication as usual on Thursday, August 4.

Six Learn To Swim After Only 4 Weeks' Instruction

Six youngsters have already learned to swim after only four weeks of instruction in the beginner's class at the university pool, Harry Rawstrom, recreation director, said this week.

The six who completed the course's final test are: Franklin Fuller, John Kleinback, Margery Folk, Delsie Gooden, Virginia Lee Poffenberger and Glinor Thuresson. The test consisted of jumping in eight feet of water, swimming 45 yards out and back, floating briefly on the back on the return trip.

About 50 more boys and girls are enrolled in the class and are showing considerable progress.

Young Pianist To Give Recital Here

Miss Lile Miki, a young concert pianist, will present a public recital at Mitchell Hall on Thursday, August 4, at 8:15 p. m. There will be no charge.

Miss Miki studied at the Juillard School of Music, has been a piano soloist with the Chauuqua Symphony, made a European tour, and has played in more than 100 concerts in the country. On August 15 she will be piano soloist with the Minneapolis Symphony.

One section of her program here will be devoted to the works of classic composers and the other to the Romantic and Impressionistic Schools.

CREEKS ARE UNSAFE FOR SWIMMERS

Survey Shows
Local Streams
Contaminated

None of the streams in this immediate area is safe for swimming, according to officials of the Newark Civic Association, which recently completed a survey of nearby bathing spots.

The waters of both White Clay and Christiana Creeks were tested at places near here and found contaminated, according to Mrs. T. D. Myrea, president of the association. This means that swimming in these streams is a risky business, since the water may be disease infected.

The association secured its data both through direct tests and from authorities of the State Board of Health. The latter revealed that an extensive survey by state experts last year showed the waters of White Clay Creek were "grossly contaminated" for half a mile above Newark and were unfit for swimming purposes.

The association's tests, which were conducted by a staff member of the Biochemical Foundation here, showed the same conditions prevailing in White Clay this year. The association's representative sampled the water at points just above and below the entrance of Ray Run into White Clay and in both cases it proved contaminated.

The water of Christiana Creek between the general area of West Main Street and Elton Road was also tested by the Biochemical representative and was found contaminated. Another spot on the same creek near Welch Tract Church was also sampled and proved contaminated.

Council Snarled Up By New Zoning Law; Calls Off Hearing

Red-Faced Lawmakers Almost Violate Own Ordinance; Reset Appeal Date

At one point in Town Council's special meeting on Tuesday, it looked as if Police Chief Cunningham would have to be summoned to arrest the lawmakers and throw them in their own boosegown.

They almost violated their new zoning law but were saved in the nick of time by Town Solicitor John P. Sinclair.

The whole incident was charged with chagrin, especially since it was the first time Council ever tried to operate formally under the new ordinance.

The Council gathered in solemn conclave to hear the appeal of Harold Sheaffer for rezoning his property which fronts for 281 feet on the south side of East Main Street adjacent to the Pomeroy Branch.

Mr. Sheaffer, who wants his property changed from residential to commercial, presented his arguments. Others argued earnestly for and against. Everything seemed quite orderly, and Council, after a bit of confusion as to just what section of the law it was operating under, prepared to give a decision. Then Mr. Sinclair removed his pipe long enough to remark that the ordinance required 15 days notice for a public hearing of this sort. Someone remembered that the notice in last week's Post was only five days previous to the meeting and did not meet the regulations.

There was a moment of embarrassed silence as the Councilmen realized they were on the verge of violating their own law, then they blushing called off the hearing, apologized to Mr. Sheaffer and the other citizens present, and reset the appeal for August 9 at 8 p. m. The notice elsewhere in this week's Post is a bit shamefaced but legal.

Mr. Sinclair, who did not know the meeting had not been given sufficient public notice, pointed out that it was wise to adhere strictly to the new zoning ordinance, especially in these early stages. He added that technical difficulties were to be expected until officials gradually became familiar with the application of the law.

The evening was not entirely wasted, however. The Council went on to discuss the long delayed Apartment house project planned for Elton Road. Final plans were submitted recently by the architects and were found to be considerably different from those for which the original building permit was granted after much dispute about two years ago. It was also pointed out that the legal status of this permit was in doubt as a result of the new zoning law. Mr. Sinclair was directed to meet with the attorneys of the apartment house promoters to discuss the matter.

Plan 'Newark Day' Aug. 12 At State Guard Camp

Public Invited For Tour
Of Fort Miles, Dinner At
Officers' Mess, Concert,
Visit With Newark Unit

Friday, August 12, has been designated as "Newark Day" at the Delaware National Guard camp at Fort Miles, Lewes, where the state guardsmen will gather for their annual two-weeks of field training from July 30 to August 13.

General invitation to Newark residents to visit the camp on that day has been issued by Brig.-Gen. Paul R. Rinear, adjutant general of the guard. The invitation was received in a letter to Mayor Ford H. McBerly this week.

A tour of the camp, dinner at the Officers' Mess, and a band concert will be the highlights of the day. Visitors are asked to arrive at the camp around 4 p. m. and report to Col. Moore's headquarters. From there they will be conducted on a tour of the camp, entertained at the Officers' Club, and later served dinner at the Officers' Mess. Following this, there will be a band concert, and an opportunity to meet the enlisted men and officers, particularly those from Newark.

The purpose of the day is to acquaint the people of Newark with their national guard and thus to secure their help in recruiting and supporting the organization.

Tickets must be secured by those who wish to visit the camp. These may be obtained by entering one's name at the Town Council Offices, Academy Street, before Wednesday, August 3.

Transportation will also be available by bus at $2.25 per person, round-trip, providing at least 20 people indicate they want accommodations. Those who wish transportation should make their known at the Council Offices when they apply for tickets.

Officials of Newark's Battery "C," also announced plans this week for the Fort Miles encampment. About 50 members of the Battery will leave by truck convoy on the morning of July 30 for the two-weeks of training with other guard units from throughout the state.

The local battery's main armament, two 90 mm. anti-aircraft guns, will be transported to the camp site. The train-

Newark Woman Auto Crash Victim; Final Rites Held Monday

Miss Helen Fader Killed When Car Leaves Road And Strikes Tree

Funeral services were held Monday for Miss Helen E. Fader, a life-long resident of this community and a member of a well-known Newark family. Her death in an automobile accident last Thursday afternoon south of Mount Pleasant came as a shock to her many friends. The services were held from her home at 55 Main Street, and interment was in Head of Christiana Cemetery, the Rev. H. E. Haiman officiating.

Miss Fader, who was driving alone, was killed when her car left the Middletown-Mt. Pleasant Road and collided with a tree. Since she suffered few external injuries and there were no skid marks on the road, it was thought at first that she had been stricken with a heart attack which had forced her to lose control of the car. After an examination, however, Coroner William Smith, Jr., said death was due to extensive internal injuries and that her heart had not been affected.

Miss Fader had been on her way to Middletown. Her car, which was severely damaged, overran one small tree and was stopped by another. The victim was taken to Delaware Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

She was a sister to John R. Fader, former superintendent of the Delaware State Police and manager of the Delaware Safety Council, and A. Frank Fader, former member of the State Highway Commission. They are now associated with the Fader Motor Company here. She is also survived by another brother, W. Lewis Fader.

Waples Elected As Head of State Board of Welfare

Asks Support In Placing Children in Foster Homes

Weldon C. Waples, president of the Newark Lumber Company, was elected chairman of the State Board of Welfare at a meeting of the group in Legislative Hall, Dover, on Monday.

In a statement following his election, Mr. Waples urged all persons interested in taking a foster child to notify the nearest office of the Board of Welfare. Offices are located in Wilmington, Dover and Georgetown.

Mr. Waples emphasized the need for more foster homes in the state for the placing of children. He pointed out that when the state places a child in a foster home, it pays for board, clothing and medical care.

Mr. Waples, who has been active in welfare work here for many years, was first appointed to the state board in 1947 for a 3-year term.

Mr. Waples is a native of Milton. Following graduation from Baltimore College, he joined his father, Charles G. Waples, in the lumber industry there.

In 1920, Mr. Waples assumed the management of the Waples Lumber Company, which he still serves as president, and in 1929 moved to Newark to take over the management of the Newark Lumber Company.

He is a director of the Newark Trust Company and the Delaware, Maryland and Virginia Railroad. Mr. Waples is active in several Masonic organizations, and is a past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Delaware. He is married and the father of two daughters.

Others elected at the meeting, which was the first attended by four recent appointees of Governor Carvel, all Democrats, were: John J. Hartnett, of Wilmington, vice-chairman for New Castle County; Mrs. Levi Everett, of Kenton, vice-chairman for Kent County; Malloy C. Vaughan, of Lewes, vice-chairman for Sussex County, and Mrs. Robert H. Richards, Jr., of 1108 North Broom Street, reelected treasurer.

Three of the new officers, Mr. Hartnett, Mr. Vaughan, and Mrs. Everett, are appointees of Governor Carvel, and the two men were attending their first board meeting.

U. OF D. FARM EXHIBIT FOR SUSSEX FAIR

An array of colorful exhibits will greet visitors who enter the Agricultural Extension Building this year at the Kent-Sussex Fair, the week of July 26-30.

As in previous years, the building will be filled with educational exhibits in the home demonstration, agricultural and 4-H fields. Daily demonstrations, broadcasts and movies are being scheduled to tie in with these phases of agricultural extension work.

The 4-H section of the building will feature competitive exhibits of boys and girls entered in various club projects such as clothing, canning, cooking, home improvement, gardening and field crops. Activities for 4-H'ers which will take place in this building during Fair Week include Dairy Foods Demonstration Contests, July 27, at 1:30 p. m.; Dairy Production Demonstration Contests, July 28, 1:30 p. m., and judging contests for club members entered in poultry, dairy, vegetable, clothing, baking, food preservation and swine projects. The judging contests will take place July 29, with the three highest scoring persons in each contest from each county receiving a free scholarship to the 4-H Short Course at the University of Delaware.

Upon the stage of the extension building will be a model "L-shaped" kitchen, designed to stress convenience and attractiveness through proper arrangement of equipment. The kitchen will also be used for demonstrations. Other homemaking exhibits will depict the uses of milk in the diet, and new lighting fixtures plus ways of improving old lighting fixtures.

The agricultural exhibit will show how the millions of dollars annual loss to Delaware agriculture can be reduced by using better management practices and reducing diseases in the fields of poultry, dairy, grains and fruits and vegetables.

U. of D. Psychological Center Opens Office Here; Aide Appointed

The appointment of a new psychologist at the University of Delaware's Psychological Services Center, coincident with opening of new offices for the center at Newark, has been announced by Dr. Henry Weitz, director. I. Hammond Cabbage, of Newark, a Delaware graduate who is to receive his master's degree in psychology there in September, was named psychologist on the staff, replacing Miss Margaret H. Black, who resigned to become social director for the Salisbury (Md.) Teachers College.

Miss Black, who held the position of counselor at the center, helped organize it in April, 1946. She left last Friday.

Mr. Cabbage, who will hold the rank of instructor on the university's faculty, was graduated as a psychology major, with an A. B. degree in 1948. He entered the university before the war, but his studies were interrupted by Army service.

Dr. Weitz said the center now is accepting interviewees for educational and vocational advisement, in the center's new headquarters, the former Home Management House of the university, on South College Avenue. Since its origin in 1946, the center had been located in Wilmington, most recently in the Dravo Building. The general public, as well as university students, is eligible for advisement.

Just what you need FOR FASTER, EASIER HAY MAKING

Every farmer likes to get his hay in while the weather is right . . . here is the mower to help you do it. This mower can be attached to the Ford Tractor in eight minutes and a lot of hay mowed by dinner time. Can be detached just as quickly for switching to other equipment.

The speed of the new Ford Tractor and the improved, short-turning brakes, make a big mowing job nothing to worry about. And this mower is built to stand the gaff . . . has a steel pitman and roller bearings.

With Ford Hydraulic Touch Control the cutter bar is easily lifted over stumps, stones or other obstructions . . . no pulling on mower levers or ropes. If an obstruction is hit, the bar swings backward and the sickle stops automatically, preventing damage . . . Backing slightly and then going forward resets the bar for use. Ask us for a demonstration.

Ayrshire Calf Prize In New Farm Contest

4-H Club Members Under 18 May Compete In National Test

Delaware 4-H Club members and all other rural boys and girls under 18 years of age have an opportunity to enter a nation-wide contest in which two pure-bred Ayrshire calves will be awarded, one to a boy, another to a girl. The two prize calves will be given by the Ayrshire Breeders' Association for the two best letters on the subject, "Why I Want An Ayrshire Calf."

The contest closes on August 1, and entries should be mailed the Contest Committee, Ayrshire Breeders' Association, Brandon, Vermont. After receipt of all entries, the breeders group will send entries from each state to the respective state heads of the agricultural colleges. The best four letters from each state will be selected by the college heads and forwarded to the Ayrshire Breeders' Association in Brandon. From these letters a special committee of judges will select the final two winners.

The winners will be selected on the basis of the best and most clearly stated reasons for a youngster wanting an Ayrshire calf. Entries must be more than 100 words and not more than 250 words. The contest is open to all boys and girls under 18 years of age whether or not they already own any Ayrshire cattle. Final awards will be made at the First International Dairy Cattle Exposition in Indianapolis, Ind., on October 7, 1949.

Asks Employers To Release Guardsmen

A plea to employers of the state to release National Guardsmen in their firms for the two week summer guard encampment was issued this week by Maj. Warren E. Perry, public relations officer of the 198th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Group.

In a statement this week Maj. Perry said: "Your Delaware National Guard will be undergoing summer field training during July 30-August 13, 1949.

"That two weeks is the climax of a whole year of two-hour, once-a-week drills back home. In their armories, the troops have done their classroom and drill floor work. But that is only the first step, comparable to the football team's "skull sessions." It is only in field training that they can run through their various plays and learn to function—and to fight, if it ever becomes necessary again, as a team.

"You—the boss—have problems galore. Each one of your workers has specific duties to perform, or you wouldn't have hired him. And when he's on vacation, someone else has to take up the slack. And if, on top of that, he's going to be let off for 15 days of field training, it's that much more of a problem.

"The Delaware National Guard is asking that you exert that extra effort, to make that additional adjustment. One man, more or less, does make a difference to a squad or a gun crew—at least as important a difference as it makes to the operation of your business.

FILLIN' IN

The annual summer rash of tall fish stories has begun to break out in the newspapers, and one and all the items point to a decline in the moral fibre of the fishermen of this country. Though we have hesitated to speak of it openly, we have long been convinced that the seeds of decay are at work in this once noble sport.

The latest illustration is contained in a news dispatch from the remote wilds of Wisconsin, where a Dr. Ole C. Nelson, of Egg Harbor, reports that he dosed a soft-shelled crab with benzadrine as bait in order to pep up the fishing. The experiment proved a complete success, the doc claims without a quiver of remorse. The crab had such a jag on, he says, that when it hit the water it dived down like fury and grappled a bass by the snout.

Mull over this a moment, and you can see, not without a shudder, where the U. S. angler is headed. Certainly this is a far cry from the days when fishermen weren't supposed to catch fish. A genuine fisherman, and you could recognize one at a glance, was supposed to be above such crass motives. The thing that indelibly stamped him as a true lover of the sport was his ability to sit absolutely motionless for hours and never remove his line from the water. How are fishermen nowadays ever going to achieve this pinnacle of the sport if they allow themselves to be interrupted constantly by nibbling fish.

True, the old-time, weather-beaten, pipe-smoking fisherman never caught any fish, but this only added to his stature. The thing that impressed you about him and which set him apart from lesser men was the fact that he knew why he never caught any. He possessed vast knowledge, or what was more commonly known as "inexhaustible lore," in this respect. He could glance at the shade of the water in a stream and tell you instantly that no fish would be caught there for weeks, if ever. He could hold a moist finger to the wind and predict with unfailing accuracy that every fish within a fifty mile radius was sick of worms and sulking at the bottom. He could squint heavenward, point out an obscure cloud that lesser anglers would never have noticed, and tell you why fish would never bite as long as it was in the sky. He was familiar with every aspect of a fish's sensitive temperament, knew why they did not bite on sunny days and why they ignored the hook on rainy ones. He could tell you, moreover, of remote fishing holes, unknown to amateurs, where the fish fought to get on a hook, places which he never visited because the fish were too plentiful for "real sport."

There was a period in our life when we aspired to be like these gentlemen. We eagerly embraced their trials and sufferings. We gladly tramped the edge of streams until near exhaustion. We felt grateful when a bank crumpled under us and toppled us into the water. We were flattered when Nature took the trouble to persecute us with a rainstorm. We were secretly ashamed when we grew restless after sitting motionless for only little over an hour without getting a bite.

We went home empty-handed but with our head held high, for we were convinced we had spent a wonderful day of pure sport. When friends taunted us because we had no fish, we smiled in a haughty and mysterious way and said: "It's not the fish, you know, it's the fishing."

We realize now that we were living in a fool's world, and we are convinced that the fishermen we admired so much were outright frauds. Looking back, we can see that they were all morose, bitter men, who probably were living on the hope of catching just one fish to brighten their declining years. When they saw even this possibility fading from them, they pretended not to care and slyly built a reputation on their ability not to catch fish. In this way, they could at least bask in the admiration of poor dupes like ourself.

What finally opened our eyes to their hypocrisy was the way they stood silently by when the fish and game authorities first began to stock streams. By their failure to protest, fishermen admitted, at last, that they were willing to fling away self-respect and stack the cards against nature if only they could catch a fish. Since then things have gone steadily downhill, the low point being this report of the benzadrine dosed crab.

The next step, we are sure, will be the invention of an atomic bait, which when thrown on the water will instantly cause all fish in the area to leap, with fond gurgles, into the nearest angler's arms.

NEWARK ACES SINK TO 2ND IN TOWN SOFTBALL LOOP AS 3-WAY TIE ARISES FOR LEAD

Indians, Pythians, Blue Jays Crowd Top Of League As Aces, Former Leaders, Go Down Two Times; Indians Move Up Fast

A sudden upheaval took place in the community softball league the past week, and, when the dust settled, three teams were tied for first, while the erstwhile league leaders, the Newark Aces, had skidded to a poor second.

The first surprise came last Wednesday, when the Indians handed the Aces a 5-3 defeat. The latter continued on the decline Thursday when they bowed to the Pythians, 8-7, but they managed to salvage a little prestige in a second game that same evening by trouncing the VFW, 12-0. The Andy Murphy was again out in front in the 50-yard backstroke, with Glen Skinner second, Bob Townsend took top honors in the 50-yard breaststroke and Paul Foland was second.

Results in the younger division follow: 75-yard medley relay—first, Dukes; (Paul Shaw, Bob McAlpine, Dick Shultz); second, Knights; (Douglas David, Gene Porter, Bob Moore); third, Barons; (Earl Unruh, George Teague, Harry Carswell). POOL TO BE WARMER

Starting Monday the temperature of the water in the university women's pool will be maintained at a comfortable 78 to 80 degrees, Harry Rawstrom, recreation director, said yesterday.

Attendance has been falling off, he said, because the water has been too cold. Arrangements have been made to keep the temperature at a constant level, which will be comfortable for swimming.

DO YOU KNOW—how to test your brakes easily and quickly?

Operate your car at about twenty miles an hour on dry, smooth, hard-surfaced, level pavement away from traffic. Then apply the brakes until the tires slide on the pavement. If the car stops in a straight line with no swerving left or right and you still have ample pedal reserve, your brakes have a margin of operating safety.

If your brakes do not meet the above requirements, have them adjusted before they get you into trouble.

Knights Maintain Sway In Hardball League; Nip Dukes

Aces Lose To Dukes But Win Later To Retain Hold On Second

The Knights defeated the Dukes, 13-9, on Friday night to continue at the helm of the junior hardball league.

In other games, the Dukes topped the Aces, 6-2, on Wednesday night, and the Aces recaptured this loss on Friday with a 9-4 win over the Barons to remain in second place.

The Knights' triumph over the Dukes came in easy fashion. The victors amassed six runs in the first three innings before the Dukes managed to break into the scoring column. They added seven more in the fourth, when the Dukes finally came through with four tallies. Although they were held scoreless in the two final innings, the Knights had more than enough to win.

Bill Shue poled three hits to top the Knight's batting order. Moore and E. Rattl got two. Edmanson was the slugging standout for the Dukes with three hits.

The postponed meeting between the Newark AA and Landenburg, still deadlocked in the top spot of the Pen Mar League, scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. on the Continental Field.

Newark, fresh from a 7-2 victory over Toughkenamon last Sunday, will be set to go all-out in its bid for undisputed possession of the circuit lead before what promises to be one of the largest home crowds of the season. The game, rained out two Sundays ago, still finds the teams tied for first after two straight weeks.

Track Meet Set For Thursday For Youth In Recreation Plan

Two Age Groups To Compete In Event On High School Field

A track meet for Newark youths in two age groups will be the second special event to be sponsored here this summer by the Recreation Association.

The event is scheduled for next Thursday at 7:30 p. m. on the high school athletic field and will be organized on the same lines as the swimming meet held last week, according to Harry Rawstrom, recreation director. Results of the latter are listed elsewhere in this issue.

The track meet will be divided into two sections, the first for boys between 14 and 16 and the second for those 13 and under.

The older division will be open only to individual contenders, but the younger group will compete in teams as in the swimming meet. Boys in the latter age classification who do not belong to any of the recreation program teams may either join one for the meet or enter on an individual basis. In the older group, youth may enter only three events, one a relay.

The events for older division will be: 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 880 yard dash, 880 yard relay, high jump, baseball throw, running broad jump.

METHODIST GIRL CAMP

Seventy-five girls attended the School of Missions for Girls conducted by the Methodist Society of Christian Service at the Peninsula Conference of the Methodist Church at the church camp near Centerville, Maryland, the week of July 4 to 9. "You and Your World" was the theme of the session. Mrs. Marguerite Snapp, Conference Secretary of Youth, of Perryville, Maryland, acted as Dean.

Special courses on Japan and on "The Scripture" were offered. All but four girls in the camp received credit for these courses. Other activities such as swimming, boating, arts and crafts, drama, chorus, and World Friendship were offered the girls. Every evening the girls participated in planned fun that included council fire, a scavenger hunt, date night, and stunt night. A special camp song, "The Snapp," was prepared for the girls.

Religious services consisted of Morning Watch, Vespers, and Evening Services. Special speakers such as Dr. O. A. Bartley, President of Wesleyan College, Lillian Shieh, Chinese student at Wesleyan, and Mrs. Benton Shufelt, Promotional Secretary of the Conference, and Dr. J. H. Pike addressed the girls at these sessions. On the last night a Galilean service, conducted by Rev. Jervis Cook of Centerville, Maryland. Ten girls responded to the call for full time Christian Service. Five to the first call for camp, and all the campers to the re-orientation call.

The school, accredited this year, gave diplomas to five girls for their attendance at the camp during the past two years and for one year's attendance at Camp Annabach.

Camp Awards were given to the girls who showed qualities of leadership, sportsmanship, and all-around camping abilities. They were awarded to Jean Durgin, Mary Terrell, and Rogers, Allison Almy, Barbara Humphreys, Naomi Rookard, Janet Lee Hayes, Lois Humme and Barbara Schuler. Awards were made also to the members of the Camp Council for their contributions of leadership to the camp. They were awarded to Carolyn Leister, Anne Twilley, Dorothy Bohannon, Campbell, Janet Bardo, Marjorie Ellis, Billie Dempsey, and Reba Smith.

AAA Auto Races Set For Kent-Sussex Fair

Six Events Dated For "Race Day," July 30

Major AAA auto racing will again be a highlight of the colorful Kent and Sussex County Fair which runs for six days and nights here beginning Monday, July 25.

Mrs. Earnest Raughley, secretary, announced that Saturday, July 30, would be "race day" at the fair, with six events listed under the direction of Sam Nunis Speedways.

Director Sam Nunis has named a thrilling 20-lap feature race to cap the fair speedfest. He already has many of the nation's great drivers, including Tommy Hinnershitz, of Reading, Pa., eastern leader, on the contract list.

The lightning fast Harrington track is currently being made ready for another assault on the standing records. The half mile raceway's 20-lap mark of 9 minutes 41.31 seconds, set by the late Ted Horn in 1947, is among the records to be threatened on July 30.

Three 10-lap qualifying heat events, a 10-lap semifinale and qualifying time trials will precede the 20-lap main race, Nunis stated. The time trials begin at 1 p. m. and the first race starts at 2:30 p. m.

ONE MORE 'FRESH AIR' INVITED

One more invitation for a "Fresh Air" was received by the local committee before the deadline, making four New York children who have been offered vacations in Newark homes this summer. The final invitation was received from Mrs. Josephine Jackson, 33 West Cleveland Avenue.

One of the four, Joanne Kelly, of Brooklyn, has already spent her two-weeks here. She stayed with Mrs. Rodney Eastburn earlier this month. It was her second summer visit to the Eastburn home.

Another, Frankie Vaccarino, also of Brooklyn, has arrived at the home of Mrs. Wilma Foland, Thompson Circle. Frankie, who has spent several summers with Mrs. Foland, regards Newark as practically a second "home-town." He is well-known in the Foland neighborhood, and the children there turned out to greet him on his arrival recently. He will stay here for the remainder of the summer.

The only other invitation was received from Mrs. Paul O. Shirk, of near Newark. Both Mrs. Shirk and Mrs. Jackson are entertaining their first "Fresh Air." The children are expected to arrive sometime this month or early in August.

Kase In New York To Map Plans For Theatre Assembly

Dr. C. Robert Kase, director of dramatics at the University of Delaware, will meet in New York City next Thursday (July 28) with seven other members of a committee which will arrange for a National Theatre Assembly to be held in Washington in January, 1950.

Dr. Kase was appointed to the committee by Col. C. Lawton Campbell, chairman of the board of directors of the American National Theatre and Academy, of which Dr. Kase is a director. Other committee members are Blevins Davis, producer; Hubert Heffner, president of the American Education Theatre Association; Mary Stewart French, producer; Sawyer Falk, president of the National Theatre Conference; George Sommes, producer; Lawrence Langner, of the Theatre Guild; and Louis Simon, former head of entertainment for the Veterans Administration.

According to Colonel Campbell, the American National Theatre and Academy (ANTA) has called the first National Theatre Assembly to arouse "the civic consciousness of the nation on the needs for the best of the living theatre in every state." Another aim is to "create a nationwide demand on the part of those who will attend the assembly, and those they represent, to adopt a program to fulfill those needs." The committee on arrangements is charged with "setting up the mechanism to insure that the assembly will accomplish the initial steps toward the accomplishment of this great task," said Colonel Campbell.

U. of D. Sees Record Enrollment For 2nd Summer Term Mon.

Several Hundred More Than 1100 Here For First Session Are Expected

The possibility of another record enrollment in the second term of the University of Delaware's Summer Session beginning on Monday, was seen today by Dr. Allan P. Colburn, director of the session.

The current student body for the first term is more than 1,100, and Dr. Colburn forecast that several hundred more students will be on hand for Monday's registration. A number of new registrations are being received. For the fourth consecutive year the Summer Session is being held in two terms of six weeks each. First-term classes will end tomorrow.

Nearly 100 courses in 20 fields of study will be offered, with several visiting professors from other institutions supplementing a large number of Delaware faculty members. Dr. Colburn said these will include Dr. Calvin B. Coulter, Jr., of the College of Puget Sound, as associate professor of history; George M. Dusenberry, of Pennsylvania State College, professor of mechanical engineering; Francis X. Gallagher, program director of Station WILM, instructor in speech; Catesby Thomas Jones, of the University of Maryland, assistant professor of geography; W. John Layton, of Wesley Junior College, instructor in physics; Dr. Samuel C. McCulloch, of Rutgers University, assistant professor of history; Leroy S. Olsen, of Newark, (N. J.) College of Engineering, associate professor of mechanical engineering; and Dr. Robert P. Sechler, of Marshall College, professor of English.

Among this group, Mr. Gallagher, Mr. Dusenberry, Mr. Layton, and Dr. Sechler all are former members of the Delaware faculty.

Mr. Jones will offer two geography courses, one of them, "The Caribbean Area" constituting a field never taught before at Delaware, and representing a continuation of the first-term course taught in the new inter-American study plan at the university.

Dr. Colburn also announced that all major science departments will be offering complete graduate programs in the second term, causing a large enrollment of graduate students. Among these courses are several in mechanical engineering, to be taught by Mr. Dusenberry, Mr. Olsen and others, which will lead to the degree of Master of Mechanical Engineering. A special summer program leading to that degree is available at Delaware, designed for instructors in the field who wish to earn the master's degree during summer terms.

The recreation program, which has reached a considerable degree of activity during the first term will be continued in the second term under the direction of J. Robert King, with musical programs, trips to various points, lectures, athletics, movies, and other events.
