Delegation Urging Extension Heard At Dover

Argue Case Before House Committee; Opposition To Be Heard Friday

MEETING TONIGHT

Yesterday afternoon, a large delegation of representative citizens of Newark, headed by former Representative Frank Collins as spokesman, appeared before the House Committee on Municipal Corporations, of the State Legislature, at Dover, to advocate the passage of three bills now before the House; providing for the extension of the town limits of Newark, extending the sewer system into the new area, and authorizing a bond issue of $100,000 to improve streets and provide light and water for the proposed new area. Representative Evans, chairman of the Committee, presided at the hearing, which was held in the Supreme Court Room.

Urgent need for protection of the water supply was the primary reason stressed by the delegation, for the passage of the bills. Mr. Collins argued that the only way the town can control conditions surrounding its water supply is by having that portion of the land within the corporate limits of the town. This is not the case at present. The proposed extension would take in the wells from which the town gets its water supply.

Mr. Collins stated that a present there are 125 cesspools within menacing proximity of the town wells. He said a sewer system was the only means of removing this menace to the community health, and pointed out that when the present town sewer system was installed 13 years ago, it had worked no permanent hardship on property owners in the area served by the sewer.

Mr. Collins concluded his appeal by stating that every section of the State was interested in the matter because the University of Delaware gets its water supply from the town wells of Newark, and that while the University is exempt from taxes, it had expressed willingness to pay its share of the costs to safeguard the water.

Dr. C. C. Palmer, bacteriologist at the University of Delaware, told of making tests of the town water supply, and that these tests showed some seepage at present, not enough to be serious at this time, but that it was increasing to such an extent that within a year it would constitute a serious menace. He demonstrated how he had made the tests.

Those who are opposed to the extension of the town limits will have a hearing before the Committee on Friday afternoon of this week. Yesterday at the hearing, Representative (Continued on Page 8.)

Medill-Hopkins Store Changes Name

The firm of Medill-Hopkins Company, Inc., at approximately the end of its first year, has changed to Hopkins-Hancock Company, Inc.; Mr. G. E. Hancock taking the place of David L. Medill, who is leaving this vicinity on account of his health.

The firm, composed of C. H. Hopkins and D. L. Medill, opened a store next to that of T. J. Green a year ago, and through their pleasing personalities and merchandising ability made a success from the start. They carried men's, women's and children's footwear and stockings, and men's and boys' clothing and furnishings. There will be no change in lines of merchandise carried by the new company.

Mr. Hancock, who has taken Mr. Medill's interest, was at one time professor of physics at the University of Delaware, leaving there to take a position with the Continental Fibre Company.

The seedlings will be from eighteen (18) to twenty-four (24) inches in height. Requests will be listed as received, and filled in that order. ## Packing Company To Continue Operation

Vote To Contract Acreage; Board Re-elected, Mayor Frazer, Chairman

The annual meeting of the United Packing Company, a cooperative organization composed of tomato and corn growers, with a packing plant in Newark, was held Monday afternoon, in Wolfe Hall. The most important point of the meeting was the decision to continue operation for the coming season.

Mr. J. L. Scotton, who manages the packing plant, leased from The United Canneries Corporation, distributed, in printed form, a report covering the operations of the company for the season 1926 to date. This report revealed that $18,211.17 of canned goods had been sold in the period, and that bills receivable and amounts due the company from growers accounts totaled $4,908.51. The total receipts of corn were reported to be 704.98 tons, and of tomatoes, 567.56 tons; making a total of 1272.55 tons for which the growers are to be paid.

It was decided that the sale of canned goods now on hand was to be left in the hands of the directors, and that contracts should be opened for acreage; anyone wishing to contract for acreage to take the matter up with Mr. Scotton at the plant.

The board of directors was re-elected and an additional director, Mr. Morris A. Schuster, chosen. The old board was as follows: H. C. Milliken, Herman Cook, Dr. T. F. Manns and James H. George.

At a meeting of the board of directors, directly after the general meeting, the following officers were chosen: Thomas B. Miller, Elkton, president; W. T. Boyce, Stanton, vice-president; J. E. Dougherty, Newark, treasurer; J. L. Scotton, Newark, secretary; and Mayor Eben B. Frazer, chairman of the board.

New Castle 4-H Clubs Drive For Members

Ed Willim Reorganizing Work; Purpose And Results Of Work Explained

Ed Willim, Jr., County Club Agent, in charge of the 4 H agricultural and home making boys' and girls' clubs of New Castle County, is organizing and reorganizing the agricultural clubs of the county this month. He is trying to make this year the best for club work, and will endeavor to have the largest enrollment for 1927 that he has ever had in the county.

"In making this drive for 4 H club members this spring," says Mr. Willim, "we think it advisable to inform the parents of the boys and girls of the county just what the purpose and aim of 4 H club work is." The name 4 H clubs comes from the 4 H's that are inscribed on the 4-leaf clover, the symbol of the clubs of the country.

Each H has a particular meaning and it is the purpose of the junior extension these in their daily club life. The first H stands for Head, the second for Heart, the third for Hands, and the last for Health. In doing this among the farm boys and girls agricultural and home making clubs have been established with a distinct project or demonstration of an improved practice in agriculture or home making as a basis. The demonstration or project, as a poultry project for example, is conducted by a boy or girl on the home farm. They learn the best and approved and new methods of handling this demonstration through the medium of club meetings at which each individual's problems are taken up and methods of solving that problem are discussed. And also from personal visits by the club agent or local leader. The development of the 4 H's mentioned above comes through the initiative of the individual club member and by means of the club group in meetings and other things of interest in the junior extension activities.

Club work provides an opportunity for a boy or girl to carry out some definite phase of farm or home work under practical supervision and instruction, under home conditions. It is not school work. There are no classes, but proper methods are shown through printed instructions and personal visits. Club members are required to keep account of all costs and receipts from their club project so that they can learn the chance for profit or loss in farm operations and home practice. To award club members for their achievement in completing their work, we have been able to offer them free trips to fairs, the Junior Short Course, and the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass. Other prizes are often given by public spirited citizens and institutions.

Boys and girls from 10 to 21 years of age can enter in the following lines of club work this year: Corn, pig, poultry, white potato and dairy. Whenever 5 or more enroll in one project in a community a standard club group is formed with a local leader and regular meetings are held.

Here are the projects, clubs or demonstrations in which a boy or girl of the county may enroll. The corn club project requires a member to raise, (Continued on Page 8.)

Causes Of Red Clover Crop Failure Traced

Seed Source Found To Be Chief Factor In Failures; How To Grow Sweet Clover

Numerous red clover failures have been reported in recent years in Delaware, the exact cause of which has not been known. Two years' study made at the Delaware Experimental Station under the direction of Prof. G. L. Schuster indicates that the source of seed has considerable to do with failure or success of the crop. Most failures in the past have been attributed to winter killing, but upon close examination it has been found that anthracnose is also a contributing factor in red clover failure. Investigations made at the Delaware Experiment Station indicate that foreign seed except Canadian is heavily infested with anthracnose. Seed from Italy and France have not been found to be adapted to our conditions. The Delaware tests show that seed from Minnesota, Michigan and Ohio and adjacent territory are more adapted to prevailing conditions than foreign seed. Seed from England, Chile and Italy show a loss of 20 per cent or more of winter killing and a heavy infection of anthracnose while seed from Ohio, Michigan and Minnesota show a loss of less than 5 per cent from winter killing and is almost free from anthracnose.

Seed from the Ohio territory produces the greatest hay yields while seed from Michigan ranks second in hay production, and seed from France and Italy very low.

The Federal Seed Act requires that at least 10 per cent of the seed imported from Italy must be stained red and at least 1 per cent of the seed from France must be stained green, while that coming from Canada is stained an iridescent violet. Anyone buying red clover seed can therefore tell something about the origin of the seed by examination.

It may be impossible to secure enough seed from the Ohio-Michigan section for Delaware needs at a reasonable price and some foreign seed may be necessary. If so, seed from (Continued on Page 2.)

It unfolds the predicaments of a girl who advertised for a fiance to fill the requirements of a bequest, and then found the selected applicant unsuitable, even for the pseudo relationship. The intricate situation is finally untangled and things end pleasantly and happily for everyone concerned.

Fire Destroys Home of John Anderson

A fire discovered about 4 o'clock on Tuesday morning completely destroyed the home of John Anderson, situated on the Ogletown road on the John Richards farm. The fire had gained considerable headway before it was discovered, and while the family escaped without danger, very little in the way of clothing or furniture was saved. A pet bulldog was lost in the blaze.

The fire, apparently starting from a defective flue, had burst through the roof before the Aetna Fire Company could be notified, and when they arrived at the scene, with no water supply, there was little they could do but save the outbuildings. The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and a son, Raymond, with his wife. The loss, estimated at $4,000, was not covered by insurance.

The improvements in the course started last fall, have been completed and will add considerably to the sportiness of the outlay. Holes number 3 and 5 have been lengthened, and holes 7 and 8 shortened. These changes in 7 and 8 will lower par for the course 2 strokes, reducing it from 37 to 35, or taking 4 strokes off 18 hole competition. Eddie Ginther, professional, will open his shop and be available for lessons on April 1.

Dr. Sypherd announces that 30 new members have enrolled in the last two weeks.

Furniture, Old and New

So great has become the interest in anything that savors of antiques that a Cape Codder once said he believed he could get a good price for toothpicks and shaving mugs if he sold them from his dilapidated barn, which he had converted into a storehouse for old lanterns, pewter candlesticks, ornaments from the bowsprits of ships, tables, chairs, and pictures. No doubt he exaggerated the lack of discernment of the buying public, but his exaggeration gave point to the fact that there appears to be an insatiable desire for anything that approaches the antique.

Those who are fortunate enough to possess antique furniture never cease to marvel at its substantial character and construction. The furniture of a few generations ago was made to last. How different from the present day! The solid wood has given way to veneer, and strong wooden pegs to glue, so thin that it often will not stand up against the atmosphere of the steam-heated flat. The contrast is striking. And how is the change to be accounted for? Is it because timber, in its rich varieties, has risen to fabulous prices? That may partly explain the substitution of veneers for the solid wood. But there is another and equally important consideration—the public desire for something novel, a desire that never seems to be fully satisfied. Fashions in furniture change as they do in clothes.

Yet though it is pleasant to recline on the couch which the ingenuity of the upholsterer has made the last word in comfort, or in the chair which the pressing of a button moves to any desired angle, there is in a piece of old furniture a joy which can hardly find expression in words. It carries an association with some period of interest. It serves as a link with days when snow drifted down the chimney onto the hearthstone, where hearts were ever warm and hospitality was abundant.

At sight of it, one's thought drifts back perhaps a hundred years. "We ha' na pictures nor gowden treasures," says Ian Maclaren, "but there's an auld chair at oor fireside, and a saw man grandfather in it when a wes a laddie at the schule, an' a mind him tellin' me that his grandfather had sat in it lang afore. It's no worth muckle, an' it's been often mended, but, a' all no like tae see it carried oot frae Burnbrae." It may be only a kitchen chair turned by hand that one possesses, but it will probably give him as much pleasure as any rich collector can derive from the costly imported tapestry or silverware of, say, the Elizabethan period.—Christian Science Monitor.

Beauty

"It is the best of anything. It is the noblest word or deed. It is the highest aim or dream. It is something which all of us, subconsciously or otherwise, are striving to acquire. In love, we like to think the beloved has something of beauty, whether it be in face or character. In friendship, we like to see the blended beauty that affection, loyalty, trust and truth create.

"Beauty, like truth and justice, is one of the strong and abiding treasures of life! It does not always come unsought; but man, if he tries earnestly enough, may find it down in the valleys of the world, even where the shadows of ugliness fall across his path."

Those Who Serve

We wish to call attention to the report of the visiting nurse, printed on the front page of this issue of The Post. It is not pleasant reading, to know that there is so much need for the services of a visiting nurse in our town; but we cannot shut our eyes to facts. Therefore, let us be thankful that we have the nurse, and the hospital, and such excellent physicians. We might even boost them a little as we go along.

Delegation Urging Extension Heard

Evans read a letter from George L. Medill, president of the Delaware Trust Company, Wilmington, and a resident of a section of Newark that comes under the proposed extension. In his letter, Mr. Medill, opposing the extension, argued that it would mean a heavy burden on unimproved property.

The opposition agrees heartily with a statement made yesterday by Mr. Collins that, in his opinion, the opposition was honest, but not sufficiently informed. They, as a group, are not opposing the extension of the town or of the sewer, but over one hundred property owners have signed a petition which opposes House bill No. 165, on the ground that they have had no explanation as to the plans of the Town Council and have been given no hearing in the matter. A referendum will be asked for, in order that there shall be a plain statement which shall answer the questions foremost in the minds of the property owners, who contend that they should know all the details of the plan of assessment, taxation, including unimproved lands, the bonded indebtedness of the town, and what added bonds will be required properly to sewer, light and improve the newly acquired districts. The proposed limits would enlarge the town three and one-half times its present area, including about 800 acres of farm land and undeveloped lots.

A meeting of those opposed to the extension bill will be held this evening, at 7:30, at the home of Dr. T. F. Manns, on Park Place.

"THREE A" OUTFIT NAMES SERVICE GARAGES

In announcing the list of official services garages in the State of Delaware which have been appointed by the Delaware Motor Club—A. A. A., the President, Walter J. Reardon, expressed the keenest satisfaction for the manner in which Delaware motorists have already welcomed the new "Three A" outfit to the Diamond State.

"With 654 Delaware motorists having applied for membership signifying their desire to become a part of the great National family of motorists," says Mr. Reardon, "we feel that we have just cause to feel proud of the far-sightedness of Delaware motorists in helping to bring to our State an affiliation which cannot but help to react favorably when the rush of Spring tourists to the Del-Mar-Va trail commences within a few weeks."

The schedule of service garages which have been appointed embraced about twenty points in Delaware and assures a most complete service for members of the Delaware Motor Club as well as for other "Three A" motorists enjoining in our State.

The list of service stations and garages is as follows: in Wilmington, Wilmington Auto Co.; in Holly Oak, Holly Oak Auto Co.; Newark, George R. Leak; St. Georges, Lister's Garage; Odessa, Ennis Bros.; Smyrna, William T. Doughton; Dover, Cecil A. Moore; Feltton, People's Service Station; Harrington, People's Service Station; Milford, Kent Garage; Lewes, Westcott Auto Co.; Bridgeville, Hoch Bros.; Georgetown, Blakely's Garage; Seaford, J. T. Bryan; Laurel, Mitchell's Garage; Delmar, Brewington's Garage; Seelyville, George C. Godwin; Blackbird, Blackbird Garage; State Road, State Road Garage; Millsboro, Millsboro Auto Repair Shop.

The official auto radiator emblems have been received and will be sent to members sometime during the next few days together with the first issue of the garage service bulletin and membership card.

CARE OF FERNS

Improper watering is one explanation of withering of many table ferns. Another cause of its dying is that the fern dish is too shallow. You should have it growing in the deepest dish possible, as ferns root deeply. Cover the bottom of such a dish with broken crockery before putting in earth and plant, to provide good drainage. Do not water it from the top; instead, set fern dish in water deep enough to come within one-half inch of the top and let stand until enough water has been absorbed to moisten the surface of the soil. Drain well and do not water again till the surface is dry. Spray foliage once a week with tepid water, from a plant syringe.

Newark Beats Dover In Careless Game

Boys Play Sloppy Second Half; Win 28 To 25; Girls Win 50 To 22

In order to give the spectators their money's worth, or something of that sort, the Newark High School boys' basketball team provided a hair-raising finish to their battle with Dover, last Thursday evening. The game was played in the Newark Armory, and was preceded by a preliminary contest in which the Newark girls disposed of Dover, perfunctorily. Newark led at the half, 22 to 10, and then proceeded to let Dover build themselves up to 25 tallies, while Newark only accumulated 3. The game ended happily, however, 28 to 25. Morris was the statistical hero with 6 field goals and 3 fouls for a total of 15. Sipple, for Dover, accounted for 10 on their side of the ledger. From Newark's standpoint, the game was sloppy as they outclassed Dover, but let down and allowed the downstarts to out play them in the second half.

The girls, however, were afflicted with neither indolence nor mercy and handed Dover a 50 to 22 drubbing. Ann Chalmers nonchalantly tossed in 18 field goals and 2 fouls for 38 points. The scores:

Delaware J. V.'s Lose Tank Meet to "Y"

Taking only one first and one second, the University of Delaware Junior Varsity swimming team was badly defeated by the senior team of the Wilmington Y. M. C. A., in a dual meet held last Thursday evening. The meet held in the "Y" tank ended with a score of 41 to 12.

Delaware Bows To Haverford, 38 To 28

Jaquette, Back In Game, Stars; Junior Varsity Wins, 34 To 29

The University of Delaware basketball team displayed their best losing form in their game with Haverford, last Saturday night. While they have shown ability amounting to genius in dropping basketball games, in some of them it has seemed they would break their record and win, but Saturday night, in the Haverford gym, they started to lose with the opening whistle and were never headed. The score was 38 to 28. In a preliminary game the Delaware Junior Varsity, having no losing tradition to hamper them, beat the Haverford scrubs, 34 to 29.

Jaquette, who has been out of uniform since the first of the second term for academic reasons, came back Saturday and shot 7 fouls besides caging 2 from the field. Harris also did his best to upset the dope by dropping 4 from the field and caging a foul. Downward and Melchior, Haverford forwards, did the heavy scoring for the enemy. The scores:

Vic Malin Wins In First At Elk Mills

Three Knockouts And Battle Royal Add Zest To Program; Luke Goodyear Entertains

The main bout of the Elk Mills card of last Friday night ended a few seconds after the going in the first round when Vic Malin, clever and hard hitting Wilmington welter, felled Jack Denley, of New York, into protecting his jaw and then sunk one under his heart. Jack didn't get his wind back until he was past North Philadelphia. Denley bore the marks of a long career in the ring—too long, apparently.

In the semi-final, Jack Akers, Rising Sun welter, pounded his way to a six round decision over Mike Holenick, of Chester.

The first four round preliminary furnished the only draw of the evening. Buck McClintock, Elkton, and Fred Benard, Havre de Grace, lightweights, divided the honors. Jim Charsa, Perryville lightweight, knocked out Martin Foley, Havre de Grace, in the second round. Scotty Wilson and Tom Holland, Elkton lightweights of color, made merry with each other for a minute of the first round and then Scotty connected solidly with Tom's jaw and it was curtains.

Newark was represented in the preliminaries when Phil Cornog and Dick Sheaffer, welterweights, squared off. After two and one half rounds of savage battling, of which Cornog had a shade the better, Sheaffer dropped Cornog with a blow to the body. As Cornog was on his knees and holding the ropes, Sheaffer lost his head and swung a blow to Phil's head. The bout went to Cornog on a foul.

Besides the regular bouts, there were two features added to the evening. Luke Goodyear, heralded as the Cecil county nightingale, entertained between bouts with ballads and recitations. One of his selections, "The Face on the Bar Room Floor," had the boys clutching their collars with its feeling and gestures. It is rumored that this week, Luke will render, for the first time in any ring, that dramatic masterpiece, "The Cremation of Sam McGee."

The other additional feature of the occasion was the Battle Royal, when six Ethiopians were tossed into the ring for three rounds of carnage, the last man up to take the money. The smallest of the lot won the award—he was too small to hit when bigger targets offered.

The main bout this week will be between Manuel Flores, Philippine featherweight, who learned his trade as a gob, and Willy Parrish, of Baltimore. Jack Akers and Jack Berry, of Rising Sun and Perry Point, respectively, hardhitting welterweights, will go on in the semi-final. The preliminaries will include: Willy Peterson and Johnny Williams, of Elkton; Charley "Kid" Simmons, Elkton, vs. "Kid" James, Newark; and another bout not yet scheduled. Besides this array of assaulters and batterers, there will be another Battle Royal.

CALL FOR BALL PLAYERS

A call has been issued by Coach Doherty of the University, for baseball candidates to report for the first practice on Friday, weather permitting. With five letter men and some likely prospects among the "frosh," the outlook for the season is optimistic. The only department where there is a lack of material is the pitching, and moundsmen will have to be developed.

M. D.: Your system is poisoned, you must get rid of your teeth! Patient (very): All right, Doc. Thow 'em away, you'll find them under the pillow.

Nobis Places 2nd In A. U. Championship

Bernard Nobis, captain and coach of the University swimming team, stepped above intercollegiate competition Saturday night when he carried off second place in the Middle Atlantic A. A. U. 100 yard free style championship. The championships were held in the pool of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde. Nobis was representing both the University and the Wilmington Y. M. C. A.

The winner was Harry Glancy, Olympic star and Penn A. C. crack swimmer. In swimming he set up a new district record of 55.2, breaking by three full seconds the old mark of 58.2 held by Al Turner, Atlantic City swimmer.

Preliminary tests were staged with the five fastest men qualifying for the finals. Nobis was in the first heat with Charlie Speer, former national interscholastic 50- and 100-yard champion, and Joe McQuillan, Turngemeinde star. Speer won in 57.2, breaking the old record, with McQuillan and Nobis second and third in 58.1 and 59.1 respectively. In the second heat, Glancy won in 58.2 with Charley Crownover, former Girard College sprint champion, second, and making the slowest of the qualifying times, 63 seconds.

In the finals, Glancy took the lead at the start with a good dive. At the end of the first lap, all five men were bunched well, but at the forty yard mark Glancy, Speer and Nobis drew away slightly. The pace was a terrific one and at the end of the fourth lap Speer cracked under the strain while Glancy and Nobis sprinted down the finish well ahead of Crownover, McQuillan and Speer, who were third, fourth and fifth respectively. Nobis' time was 56.3, about four feet behind Glancy. Crownover did 57.2.

Delaware 5 Loses To Western Md., 34-26

Blue And Gold Trail Throughout; LeCarpentier And Harris Star

The University of Delaware basketball team yielded again to graceful defeat last night when they allowed Western Maryland College to trample 34 to 26 in a game played at Westminster. Now and then, the work of LeCarpentier and Harris threatened to put Delaware on a competitive basis, these spurts were not supported.

Machamer and Ellis were the big guns for Western Maryland, while Harris and LeCarpentier played basketball for Delaware. The score:

Newark Beats Goldey In Tight Game

Strong Defense Of Both Teams Keeps Score To 15-10

While the Newark High School boys' basketball team is out of the D. I. A. A. running, it proved itself still potent, when it conquered the strong Goldey College five in a game in the Armory here last night. Both teams were so strong in defensive power that the score was kept down to 15 to 10.

In the second half, Goldey threatened from the field, but accurate work from the penalty kept Newark in the lead. Morris was the only player to figure largely on the score sheet, with 6 points. The score:

Newark Girls To Play Deciding Game Tonight

Tonight the Newark High School girls' basketball team plays the Caesar Rodney girls at Smyrna for the Northern Championship, D. I. A. A. The two teams are tied for first place, each having lost one game, and to each other. The games must be played on neutral courts.

The Newark team is favored strongly to win, as in the last game with Caesar Rodney, played here, the local girls won easily. The first game, played on the Caesar Rodney floor, resulting in victory for Caesar Rodney, gave little indication of the strength of the Newark team as the Caesar Rodney gym is of such unconventional construction that visiting teams are invariably defeated.

The winner of the game tonight will play the winner of the Lewes-Laurel game for the State D. I. A. A. championship.

P-T. A. NEWS

With the start of the month, Edgemoor P-T. A. had its regular meeting on the evening of Tuesday, March 1, while Howell's P-T. A. was to have met on the 2nd.

This week a number of Parent-Teacher meetings are scheduled, among them, North Star, near Hockessin, which was held on Tuesday, March 8, when both the February and March topics were discussed. On Thursday, the 10th, there will be meetings at McClellandville and at Welsh Tract, both near Newark; and at Odessa, when the Home and School will hold its regular meeting, with a bake planned for March 25. On the next night, March 11th, Taylor's Bridge Community Association is to meet; and on Saturday evening, Harmony P-T. A., near Hockessin, is to have a play given by some of its members.

On the week of March 14, New Castle Home and School Association will have its regular meeting on Monday; Milford Cross Roads, near Newark, will meet on Wednesday, the 16th; Hillside and Ogletown, both near Newark, on Thursday, the 17th; and Centre Grove Community Club, at Henry Clay, just outside Wilmington, will meet on Friday evening, March 18.

KREISLER CONCERT TUESDAY

Fritz Kreisler, a violin virtuoso whose fame is world wide, will appear in concert at the Shubert Playhouse, Wilmington, under the local management of Mrs. William N. Bannard, on Tuesday evening, March 15. This announcement has been received with every appearance of enthusiasm in Wilmington, where Mr. Kreisler has not been heard for several years. He is a genuine favorite and his concert promises to be an outstanding success in a musical season that has been marked by the visits of several paramount attractions.

"I've just heard your son was an undertaker. I thought you said he was a physician."

Not and own one acre of corn, raising all records of cost and receipts. In this project last year Eugene Thornton, Jr., of Middletown, raised 74 bushels of corn on his acre. The potato club project requires a member to raise, harvest and own one-quarter acre of potatoes, keeping all records of cost and receipts. In the pig project the club member must own and raise a pig, keeping records for 120 days on cost and receipts.

Another livestock project that has proved interesting to club members is the poultry demonstration. A boy or girl enrolling in the poultry club must incubate 45 high quality, one breed, eggs or buy 35 baby chicks, raise and keep records on chicks for one year and on laying flock the second year. Last year 101 boys and girls of the county were enrolled in this project. A member enrolling in the dairy club project must have a pure bred or good grade heifer on which a record of the cost of feed must be kept for the year.

A local leader to direct the local activities of the organized club in the community is needed. This person should be interested in boys and girls, be able to attend meetings, visit and encourage club members whenever possible.

Workmen to Celebrate

Anchor Lodge to Entertain on Saturday Evening

Anchor Lodge, No. 4, Ancient Order of United Workmen, will hold a meeting on Saturday night in Odd Fellows Hall, at which time a class will be initiated, including several young women, the first ladies to join the local lodge, which is now over 30 years old. To celebrate this event, the Grand Lodge officers have been invited to be present and have accepted. Several Wilmington Lodges and New Castle Lodge have also been invited.

After the business meeting, the lodge room will be opened to friends of the members and a program will be given, including music, recitations, old-time dances, and ending with refreshments.

Among the visitors expected are Grand Master Workman Lawton; Grand Recorder C. B. Prettyman; Grand Organizer Joseph Smith, Past Grand Master Workman, Lewis Sasse, several of the Grand Trustees and others.

Mr. George Ferguson is Master Workman of Anchor Lodge, and Robert J. Crow is Recorder and Financier.

"VARIETY"

"Variety," one of the last two pictures of Emil Jannings, the great German star made before coming to this country, will be shown at the Newark Opera House, Monday and Tuesday of next week. This picture aroused a storm of comment at its first showing in this country. It gives a series of incidents in the lives of itinerant French acrobats who finally find themselves on "big time" in Paris. It gave Jannings a new type to create which he does with a powerful and abrupt mastery. Lya de Putti, the new Austrian star, made her debut in this production and her sensuous and voluptuous performance won her a Hollywood contract. The action is intense and gripping throughout.

"FAUST"

"Faust," Jannings' picture interpretation of Gounod's famous opera, and his last European picture, will be presented at the Newark Opera House, next Wednesday.

This production is a departure from conventional photoplay directing. It is bold, sweeping and powerful in spots and subtle and elusive in others. The unusual photographic effects add much to the weirdness and strength of the picture. It bears about the same relation to the current motion picture program as the production of "Peer Gynt," with Schildkraut, bore to the legitimate drama.

"Goodness consists in choosing the good when you could choose the evil." —Charles F. Potter.

Mrs. Sarah Lumb Holston, widow of Isaac Holston, died at her home here on Monday. Mrs. Holston has been ill for three years and has been bedfast for ten weeks. She lived until recently with her nephew, J. S. Lumb, near town. The deceased was a member of the M. E. Church for sixty-three years and for twenty-five years was a teacher in the primary department of the public school of this town. She was known affectionately to many here as Miss Sally Lumb.

A former pupil, William E. Haines, now a Wilmington undertaker, will have charge of the funeral arrangements. The services will be held in the Methodist Church at 2:30 tomorrow, Thursday, afternoon. Interment will be made in Newark M. E. Cemetery. The pall-bearers will be Newark men, who were at one time Mrs. Holston's pupils. They are: Stephen Cornog, Frank Lutton, Roger Lovett, Thomas Potts, Walter Powell, and Charles P. Steele.

Mrs. Holston is survived by one brother, Thomas Lumb, of Campbell, California, and the following nieces and nephews: James S. Lumb, of Lumbrook; Charles B. Lumb, of Cecil County, Maryland; Calvin T. Lumb, of New York City; Mrs. Bessie C. Churchman, of Wilmington; Miss Inez Lumb, of New York City; Miss Laura Grewell, of Caroline County, Maryland; and Miss Kate W. Lumb, of Newark.

GEORGE F. PORTER

George Frederick Porter, 52 years old, died last Wednesday at the Maryland General Hospital, in Baltimore, following a lingering illness, and was buried on Friday afternoon in Head of Christiana Cemetery, near here. Mr. Porter had many friends in this community, and was a cousin of Francis A. Cooch and Edward W. Cooch, of this town. His mother was Miss Helen Cooch before her marriage to Reverend George Porter, who was for several years pastor of the Newark First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Porter died in October, 1918. Mr. Porter is survived by one brother, Gilbert Porter, of Baltimore.

DON'T LET THE SUMMER SUN SURPRISE YOU!

A porch that's hot and uncomfortable and that will have to be deserted on pleasant summer days—

Sunny, glary rooms that afford no cool, inviting comfort the long summer months—

That's what a delayed—put-off awning order means!

Our awnings are all "custom made" to fit your home and your ideas—they're made of the best of stripes—woven, painted or plain—the hardware—the workmanship—the fittings are the best.

We'll measure and estimate on your awnings now and they can be cut and made ready for hanging and with a few hours notice we'll have your awnings in place.

And they won't be charged, of course, 'till after we hang them.

But when the sun gets hot and our workrooms are rushed to capacity and our drapery 'phones are ringing and every one wants their awnings at once, some one is going to be disappointed! And a few weeks delay now may mean an uncomfortable summer!

RIGHT NOW, call Wilmington 302, or drop us a postal and avoid that disappointment!

Of course we make slip covers!

Of fine Belgium linens, in plain color or the newest stripes, or in colorful, summery cretonnes, or in the new glazed chintz or cretonnes.

And they're made by folks who are experienced and know how good slip covers should be made and fitted.

We'll be glad to estimate if you wish.
