PRICE TEN CENTS

THANKSGIVING DINNER SET FOR NOVEMBER 28

Reduced Price Promised Students For Annual "Turkey And Fixin's" Celebration

The annual Thanksgiving Dinner at Delaware College will be held at 7 o'clock on Tuesday evening, November 28, in the Commons dining hall of Old College.

The Student Council, sponsors of the Dinner, are planning a program of unusual proportions. Among the prominent men expected to make speeches at the banquet are Mayor Speer, of Wilmington; Pop Lawson, president of the Alumni Association of Delaware College; and Lieutenant Colonel Ashbridge, of the military department of this college. These men are all noted as being very interesting speakers and assure everyone who will attend the banquet a very enjoyable evening.

In addition, plans are being made to have a torch singer and other entertainers present that evening. The entire program promises to be one that will be popular with the entire student body.

The price of admission to the Thanksgiving Dinner will be lower than it has been for many years. The admission fee has been lowered from $1.00 to 85 cents, which sum may be taken out of the student's account.

DEL. PREXY SPEAKS AT CHICAGO MEETING

Dr. Hullihen Addresses State University Group Which He Heads This Year

President Hullihen has been in Chicago Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week attending the convention of the Association of State Universities of which he is president this year. Other representatives from the University of Delaware are Professors Shuster, Dean McCue and Miss Amy Rextrew, of the Women's College.

President Hullihen in his address to the convention, stressed the duty of the institutions of higher learning in the present crisis. The exact sciences have brought us now into a grave situation.

President Hullihen feels it is up to the social science to lead us to a better order of society. The universities and colleges must encourage and devote themselves to further research among the social sciences.

DR. JESSE HOLMES AT WOMEN'S FORUM

Famous Swarthmore Socialist to Speak on "Philosophy of the New Deal"

The Women's College Forum will have as its speaker, Thursday, Dr. Jesse Holmes, Swarthmore professor, who has come into prominence as a result of a speech he made at the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Convention at Johns Hopkins University last year. Dr. Holmes spoke for the Socialist party, along with representatives of the Republican, Democratic and Communist parties. His was by far the outstanding exposition of party principles.

His subject tomorrow will be "The Philosophy of the New Deal." The meeting will begin at 4:30 in the Hilarium and Men's College students are cordially urged to attend the session.

Heads Centenary Committee

DR. W. O. SYPBERD

DEL. UNION TO PICK CONFERENCE DELEGATES

First Meeting, Next Tuesday Eve., To Consist Of Discussion Of Current Problems

The first meeting of the Delaware College Union, formerly the Economics Club, will be held next Tuesday evening, November 21, 1933, at 7:30 P. M. Refreshments in the form of cider and cake will be served.

At this meeting two representatives will be chosen to attend the Middle Atlantic International Relations Clubs' Conference to be held at the George Washington University, Washington, D. C., on December 8 and 9. There will be outstanding speeches and round table discussions on international affairs.

There will also be an important meeting with the Executive Secretary of the International Relations Clubs for the discussion of club work at this conference. The chairman in charge of the conference is Professor William C. Johnstone, Jr., Faculty Adviser of the International Relations Club, of the George Washington University.

For the first meeting, the Delaware College Union has arranged a definite program about the outstanding economic affairs confronting the world today. Every member of the Delaware student body is invited to attend.

C. L. ANTHONY'S "AUTUMN CROCUS" NEXT CAMPUS DRAMATIC VEHICLE

TO HOLD 'PEERADE' FOR 'FROSH' FRIDAY

Annual Celebration Will Be Held In Preparation For St. Joe Game Saturday

The Annual Freshman Peerade will be held in Wolf Hall at 8 o'clock, Friday night. There, as usual, the Freshmen will cavort in masquerade and attempt to enliven the evening with well chosen quips. The fundamental purpose of the meeting will be a revival of that good old Delaware victory spirit that seems to have been lost somewhere between the Gymnasium and Frazer Field the day of the Lebanon Valley Game.

The entire student body is urged to attend the mammoth pep-fest and a good evening of merriment and entertainment. The festivities will be in honor of the game with St. Joseph's College Saturday, where the Freshmen will hold the pajama parade and shoe-fight.

Jack Hartman and the committee of fifteen outstanding Sophomores will be in charge of the meeting. He has announced that prizes will be awarded to the participants wearing the most novel, funniest, and other special costumes. Awards will also be made for the best skits, and probably for the best new song about the University of Delaware.

The Peerade is one of the oldest of Delaware traditions and is usually the only pep-fest to which the entire student body responds wholeheartedly. A large attendance of alumni, faculty members and friends of the University are expected as well as members of the student body.

'FOOTLIGHTERS' SAVE OLD FAMILY HOMESTEAD

Alice Gerstenberg's "Pot Boilers" Given At College Hour; Howling Success

The presentation of the "Pot Boilers," a short farce by Alice Gerstenberg, given by the Footlights Club, the dramatic organization of the Men's College, provided great merriment for the students north of the Library last Tuesday at the first College Hour meeting of the month.

The play was a humorous diversion from the ordinary comedy. Thomas Lascares acting as Mrs. Pencil, was the center of the attraction. Thomas Cooch, also playing the part of a woman, caused a great deal of commotion in the audience throughout the entire play. The scene depicted a dress rehearsal of an unfinished play. It was based upon the well-known story of the "Old Homestead" or "Your Daughter" plot with Thomas Hanaway as the villain with the "handle-bar" mustache, Thomas Cooch as the innocent daughter, and T. Willey Keithley as the bankrupt father.

The humor was well balanced throughout the skit, and we believe that this type of entertainment is approved by the student body.

Seventy Try Out For Play Set In Tyrolean Alps; Success On Broadway Last Year

Seventy students turned out last Monday and Tuesday afternoons in response to the notice of tryout for "Autumn Crocus," the next production of the E 52 Players. This unprecedented interest in the announcement of a play bodes well both for the excellence of the cast and for the production itself on December 14.

"Autumn Crocus," by C. S. Anthony, offers many entertainment possibilities. There are three different scenes, in itself a considerable change from the one-set plays of the past two years, portraying the romantic region of the Tyrolean Alps. The costumes of that section are the most colorful in Europe. A love affair, music, and robust comedy completes the ingredients which promise to make a good evening's entertainment. In fact, the humor unquestionably equals if not surpasses that of the rollicking "Bird in Hand" which was such a notable success on the campus two years ago.

"Autumn Crocus" had a successful run in Broadway last season, and the preceding year had been the talk of London.

The E 52 Players need no introduction to the University community. Their past successes include "Outward Bound," "Liliom," "Bird in Hand," and "A Doll's House." From the standpoint of entertainment at least, this production promises to be outstanding among the plays presented by this efficient Little Theatre group.

DANCE TUNES ENLIVEN LIBRARY

Those who were studying in the Periodical Room of the Library Sunday were treated to the rare luxury of a dance tune by which to study, when a young gentleman and lady, whose names, as a special favor to those concerned, are being withheld, drove into the parking space just outside the window and increased the volume of their auto radio.

Silence was showering upon the busy hubbub of the periodical room. The young men were thinking(?) the ladies studying (? ?), and the noiseless typewriter was silent. To be perfect, the scene needed but the protecting presence of Lord Vosseller, Rat Slayer and scribe.

Slowly the sound of a purring motor became audible, more audible and then came the hiss of new tires on cinders. The anchor was lowered and the boat swung to (and fro). Silence for a second while they . . . (you guess), and then a merry burst of syncopated rhythm flooded the Library. The spell of gloom which had hitherto enshrouded the chambre fell away as the bud of a rose unfolds, leaving bright happiness everywhere.

'True Virtue Rewarded,' Or How Crocker Got Five Bucks

Crocker, the boy wonder, crashed into the limelight again. Our hero has just received a check for five dollars from one of his unseen admirers, who read the article concerning his expedition to West Point. The check came from a worthy gentleman in Michigan, who appreciated the spirit of a man who will undergo discomforts to see his team play, although it be 200 miles from home.

Professor Heim received a letter enclosing the check from J. H. Dennis, a personal friend, who is the Assistant Superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction in Lansing, Mich., asking him to investigate and award the money if the boy were worthy.

Our friend Crocker now proudly sports the paper showing him to be the possessor of $5.

The following quotation is from Mr. Dennis' letter.

"Dear Mr. Heim:

"I am enclosing an interesting newspaper clipping which recalled to my mind the evidences which I have often noted of the fine spirit at the University of Delaware. The clipping may have come to your attention, but even so I thought you might be interested in knowing that we folks out here in Michigan had read the article and were admiring the spirit of Delaware's football team. The spirit of the football player depicted in this article is a mighty valuable spirit and should not be passed unnoticed. It is a spirit such as this that makes for fine sportsmanship."

THANKSGIVING BANQUET

With Thanksgiving rolling around much more rapidly than most of us suspect, many conscientious individuals are beginning to compile a list of things for which they are thankful. No Delaware College student should fail to include in his list the annual Thanksgiving Dinner. This event has had a prominent place on the social calendar of the College for many years and is actually one of our most cherished traditions. It is the one meal of the year where "good fellows can get together" and have one whale of a good time. How can one better give thanks for being alive than to engage in light-hearted conversation with his best friends, around a table heaped with succulent slices of turkey, browned candied sweet potatoes, delicious mince pie, and clear red cranberry sauce. With an unusually attractive program in conjunction with the dinner, we do not see how anyone who enjoys a good time can afford to miss it. The Student Council who are sponsoring this affair, ask that every student help make this the most successful Thanksgiving Banquet in the history of the college.

WOULD MAKE RADICAL CHANGES

Bethlehem, Pa.—Radical changes in school and college examination methods would come about if Dean Max McConn, of Lehigh University had his way.

A plan to "end the strain and fear of professionalized school and college examinations and to make them an important amateur sport," was presented by Dean McConn at recent sessions of the joint educational conference sponsored by the Educational Records Bureau in New York.

Objecting to a testing program which "inevitably becomes itself the goal of instruction and hence dominates, standardizes, stifles and devitalizes the whole of the teaching process subjected to it," Dean McConn said in part:

"We all know what the Regents' examinations have done to the high schools of the State of New York and what the college board examinations have done to the whole group of eastern preparatory schools. And all of us, working either in school or college, have watched general departmental examinations operate in the same way, becoming goals and standardizers for all the teachers and students in the department.

"Up to the immediate present we have been accustomed to use examinations exclusively on crucial occasions, to be followed by immediate and drastic results for the examinee, based upon one spasmodic deliverance on his part under conditions of special stress and strain. . . .

"The fact is that we humans, old and young, enjoy tests, providing we are not going to be hung if we do badly. Please recall the vogue of the 'Ask Me Another' books. And every cross-word puzzle is a test. So is every game of bridge or chess or billiards or golf—a competitive test of some kind of ability or achievement, and a test yielding comparable results.

"The trouble is we educators have professionalized this sport of being tested. What we need to do is give it the amateur status and keep it strictly amateur."

Haverford, Pa.—Speaking at the Haverford College centennial celebration last week, Dr. James Rowland Angell, president of Yale University, warned that the threatened taxation of the nations educational institutions as a means of increasing government revenue would be a "public calamity which would crush the main-spring of knowledge and research."

The Oxford undergraduates voted by a large majority for pacifism. If we could get some educational group at work on Oxford it might do a great deal of good—Lord Middleton, educator.

SENIORGRAPHIES

LEONARD C. BARKER

Trickling here from the inevitable institute, Skilch is pulling hair over B. T. U.'s. While at high school, being bounced was an art (semi-weekly). Concert fiddler (could he sway hearts), glider pusher and builder, and brush twiddler were the nation sounding feats. Art Editor of their best and last Blue Chick.

As before, he still majors in "Ye Olde Humour" and lieutenants in R. O. T. C.

Changing overnight from a free-styler to a brest stoker, Skilch now holds the record in 200-yd. breast stroke and captains a coming undefeatable bunch of ducks. Camels soothe his nerves—not paid for).

Did he spend a year flying in Chicago and traveling over mid-west and north for nothing—no it cost plenty! Nice places, nice people.

E N for ever n' ever! !
The above cartoon is his fault—Do you mind?

Not only is he expected to command the United States Army Air Corps some day, but also to design their ships. Is he a designer—ask him?

Besides being a pilot and all the above Skilch rings in the R. O. T. C. ears as the Pine Camp Hero and Paul Revere Shadow. Also the campus lalahoogian is rated as a tray and towel juggler, lover, crooner, whistler, dancer and hell raiser, de luxe.

ALVIN (JOLLY) HANDLOFF
(Arts and Science)

Jolly is a local product and was graduated from Newark High School. Aside from the routine studies he found time to manage the baseball team, serve on the Student Council and act as chairman of that body.

Since coming to the University, Jolly hasn't found much time for extra-curricular activities. In fact all he has done has been to serve as Editor of the Freshman Handbook, Business Manager of the Review, Manager of Baseball and Soccer Manager. His spare time was spent in acting as Treasurer of the Junior Class, Junior Prom Committee and Student Council member (1932-33). And we almost forgot to mention that he is a Blue Key. It is understood that in spite of these few minor diversions Jolly attended enough classes to be considered a student.

You, no doubt, have already guessed from the nick name the type of personality Jolly possesses and the name is not far from right. We might even be tempted to say: "Jolly, The Laughing Boy."

We can never expect that the destinies of nations and peoples can be disposed of by compromise or arbitration. America, like Alexander, is looking for new worlds to conquer—Patrick H. O'Brien.

PEPYS IN COLLEGE

Up and about and returning to my room to find Vos and Pert writing a feature about the former's experience with a rat in the New Castle Hall.

And so the Bible class taking a bit of a "ride," and wondering why, but finding out when the test papers were returned.

Then to the library for the day's last class, noticing how welcome was the warmth of the class room after the biting chill of the autumn air.

To the periodical room, after class, and reading O. O. M.'s Modern Pepys find that he dined with R. O. Blumenfeld who was to have spoken here on the thirty-first of October and who was supposed to have returned to England.

On the books in the evening, then to the Legion Show, and Helen Layton, Peg Parry, Kitty McSorley, Alice Palmer, and Jane Yost there. Much of a good time watching the tap dancers, but not enjoying the rest of it much.

And so to bed, wondering if Vos is out on another 12 o'clock date and listening to the insistent whistle of the B. & O.

Tuesday

A dreary day, suggesting rain, and Phys Ed., which I don't seem to be able to pass, laid me low.

To work on the Review after lunch and not doing much there after, with the exception of a yelling match with Bob Marvel.

Then to dinner, and the Library afterward, finding there a good representation of both colleges, both strange to say, more bent on work than play.

Returning to the dorms to find the Potts and Brown combination busy with the shovel and line.

A short chess game with Elliott and a lunch afterward and then to bed, with some wonderment about the amount of work accomplished in the midst of so much foolery.

Wednesday

At work in the afternoon on assignments for Thursday in order that I may attend parts of the Teachers' Convention.

Up to the Review room and reading the Drexel Triangle, and much taken by the column called "Missing Links," liking it much.

To the mail after dinner and the Review out, finding that "Stretch" had gone high hat by starting his column with a poem. Thinking then of the place in the Rubyat where the inebriated Omar walks into the pottery shop and listens to the song of a jog which he put to his ear, and then comments:

"And strange to tell, among this earthen lot

Some could articulate, while others not:

And one more impatient cried, 'Who is the Potter, pray, and who the Pot?'

But afraid to begin this scribble with it.

A talk with Lambert later, who is a member of the Batchelor Six, a group consisting of Don Christie, Bill (William D.) Moore, Ralph Cavallie, Fran Lambert, and Chuck Sigler, who pledged that the first of the lot to marry should be host at a formal dinner for the other five. Bill married last year (a Philadelphia girl) and he is IT.

Thursday

Most of the day spent at the Teachers' Convention at Newark High. Went over about one-third with Walt Kelk, who is teaching the ninth grade and likes his job very much.

To the Auditorium first to hear Dr. Cooper speak on the "New Subjects and New Ways of Teaching the Old." Very much interested and "thrilled" (to be used in an old maid tone of voice) to hear the Dr. Cooper, about whom I happened to be studying.

Noticed that the teachers were restless and kept order about equal to that at Wolf Hall during Freshman Week, and was awed by the beautiful spaciousness of the auditorium.

Then to the Gym which is in back of it and again heard Dr. Cooper, this time on the "Changing Curricula." Very interested all the time though not all the time in Dr. Cooper. Noticed three teachers probably 21 or 22 years of age (no more) who were reverting to the days when they used to trace the name of the date of the night before on the margin of their lecture books.

Later they pooled their cosmetic assets, mixing shades of lip rouge and each sampling the perfume owned by the one with very black, very impish, very sparkling eyes.

Back to the everyday life of the University loafing three quarters of an hour before dinner and going to the Library at seven, where I read Prometheus Bound at one sitting.

Back to the dorms and learning of the dance at Old College. Was persuaded forcibly by Doc, Potts, and Larry Brown, and there meeting Madeline Brown (no relation to Larry), who is a teacher, with whom I suffered in Economics class in Summer School, and who enjoys football games and conversation as much as I. Talking of old times and the P. M. C. game until she left with Mr. and Mrs. — who brought her.

Then to dorms remembering that I had heard Edwin Franko Goldman direct "On the Mall," the tune to which Frank Lynch introduced "Delaware's Fighting."

Sunday

Late abed as a result of the P. M. C. game, and arose to find the walks swarmed with a parade of fur coats.

Talking with some of the gang about quartets and barbershop harmony, and of the seeming return of the popularity and enthusiasm of singing.

To the Library and Jane Yost there in a new fur coat, which is a master-piece of color, and noticed the transition in gentle steps from the black of her hair to the shadowy grey of the collar and then to the tawny mixture of yellow, white and black. Thinking that the animals should have died happily, had they been able to see the work of art they had helped create—or don't they make fur coats from fur any more?

A course which interprets the NRA program of the Roosevelt administration has been added to the curriculum of Fordham University.

Three girls, all under 12, were suspended this fall from the Fall-sington, Pa., school because they wore socks. Socks, their principal told their parents, are all right in the sixth grade, but disgraceful in the seventh.

DELAWARE DEFEATED BY
P. M. C. CADETS AT SHORE"Reds" Pollock Rans Wild Against Blue Hens*THIRD LOSS IN ROW FOR LOCAL GRIDMEN

Using a deceptive and bewildering attack, the Big Red team from Chester, Pennsylvania Military College, handed the Delaware their third straight defeat last Saturday night in the Convention Hall at Atlantic City, 25-0. "Reds" Pollock, triple-threat back of the Limm coached squad, proved to be a thorn in Rogers' squad throughout the game.

Spinners, reverses, and double reverses were only a few of the offensive maneuvers used by the Timm coached squad. Very few passes were completed, but the two successful heaves by the Big Red team were fruitful. The Delaware team threw eight passes but none were completed.

P. M. C. scored its first touchdown on a sustained 45-yd. drive, featured by a pass from Malinski to Stevens which was good for 20-yds. Line plunges put the ball in the 2-yd. line and Stevens took it over their goal line with little difficulty.

The second pass completed by the P. M. C. passer resulted in a second touchdown. Pollock tossed a long high pass to Weaver in the end zone and he grabbed it as two Delaware men tried in vain to knock the pass down. Pollock missed the try for extra point for the second time. Score, Delaware 0, P. M. C., 12.

The third touchdown of the game for the Cadets was tallied near the end of the second quarter. A Delaware fumble on the 20-yd. line gave the ball to the Cadets. Stevens galloped through the center of the line to make the score 18-0, at the intermission.

The final score of the game was tallied in the third quarter when Pollock and Malinski carried the pigskin deep into Delaware territory. On a spinner play, Sobek ran through the middle of the line to bring the score to 24-0. Pollock was successful in his try for the extra point which brought the score to 25-0.

Several scoring marches by the P. M. C. gridgers were stopped by the officials as they penalized the Cadet team on numerous occasions in the last period.

During the intermission Mayor Harry Bacharach welcomed the audience. Then came taps for the dead soldiers and this was followed by an exhibition guard mount by the P. M. C. Cadets.

PROGRAM ORGANIZED*BY P. E. DEPARTMENT*Frosh To Oppose Sophs In Football And Soccer

Under the direction of the Physical Education Department an elaborate intra-mural sport program will be staged between the present freshman and sophomore classes. Each class will have a coach for each sport.

The program will get started the latter part of next week when the Frosh will oppose the Sophs in soccer. The soccer coaches for the two teams are Tawes and Potts, members of the varsity team.

Johnny Russo will coach the Freshman football team while "Irish" O'Connell will organize the Sophomore team. The grid game is definitely set for Tuesday, November 28. Russo wishes all aspirants for positions on the Frosh team to report Thursday, November 16, at the Gym at 1 o'clock. Thirty minutes of varsity competition makes members of the varsity teams ineligible for the intra-mural program.

R. C. M.

Everything occurred according to form last Saturday night in Atlantic City—P. M. C. 25, Delaware 0. There is no doubt in my mind who had the better team. The Cadet team's offensive was so baffling that in most instances the Blue Hen gridmen were standing flatfooted as the ball carrier passed them. "Reds" Pollock did everything that a star back should do. His passing was not up to par but his kicking and ball carrying proved to be the downfall of the Blue and Gold team. The P. M. C. line cannot be overlooked in the Cadet victory. They repeatedly opened holes in the Delaware forward wall that left the backs with nothing to do but run through them. Somebody has to lose but who likes to????

Ralph C. McMullen

Next week the Roger coached squad will face another strong team, St. Joseph. The Hawks defeated Washington College last week by a 7-0 score. As Delaware only defeated the same team by a 8-0 score you can easily see that these teams are evenly matched. I remember the game last year against this same team, when Delaware, top-heavy favorite, was barely able to win out by a one touchdown margin and this as a result of a 65-yard run by the elusive Joe Crowe. What will happen when St. Joseph comes here on even terms with a Delaware grid team? They are always a fighting team and the present squad is probably no exception.

We learn from the papers that Lebanon Valley defeated Juniata last Saturday by a 27-6 margin. If comparative scores meant anything this would mean a certain Delaware victory—but everyone knows that comparative scores mean absolutely nothing—We need these last two games badly!

With the football season rapidly drawing to a close our interest is naturally turning to the winter sports, basketball and swimming. Ed Bardo's swimmers will begin practice this week. Lindstrand and Murray are the only men who will be lost by graduation. Captain Barker, Wilson, Croes, Lattomus and Lawrence are the letter men who will perform on the Blue Hen tank team this season. Croes was ineligible last year due to the freshman regulation, but he earned his letter by breaking a Delaware poor record. Croes should add to the scoring power of the Blue and Gold squad. Palmer, Kadel, and Carey should also give a good account of themselves this season. Palmer and Kadel are veterans of the swim team but Carey like Croes was ineligible for most of the meets last year.

"Doc" Doherty's cage squad will begin practice this week. There will not be any basketball games scheduled before the holidays this season. This is due to the short time that the cage squad has to prepare for their pre-holiday games. "Doc" has lost only two men from last year's squad, co-captains Haggerty and Kaufman. The lettermen remaining are Kemske, O'Connell, Thompson, Greer, and Leahy. Several other cagers who will add to the strength of the squad are Pie, Hudson, Minner, Jefferis, Warner, and Hurley. There is a wealth of material in the freshman class. Ferguson, Greenwood, McCarl, Manista, Smith, and Pennock are a few of the frosh who have good high school and prep school records.

If the injured players in the grid team do not recover by Saturday we will see a mixedup team facing St. Joe. . . . Kemske's lamp went out. . . . Carey handled his job well. . . . only practiced there a week, what would he have done if he had been playing there all season. . . . Delaware fans started to drown their sorrows before the game. . . . the players waited until it was over. . . . "Joe" Green was uninjured (P. M. C. error, I'm sure). . . . Delaware receivers grow butterflyfingers. . . . Pollock did not score. . . . strange? . . . Is Charley and Gus ever going to stop arguing? . . . it doesn't help the team any. . . . Cadets vs. Cadets when Army plays P. M. C. . . . At least two Delaware men know how to tackle, Mayer and Hodgson. . . . Palmer goes out for first time. . . . All good teams have bad seasons. . . . notice the condition of Notre Dame. . . . Fencers to get started soon. . . . so will shooters. . . . will have winter sport schedules for you next week. . . . maybe!

DELAWARE SOCCER TEAM MAKES NEW RECORD

A 3 to 1 victory over the fast Franklin and Marshall combine brought the standing of Coach Bardo's Booters to the .500 mark and enabled them to surpass all previous records of Delaware soccer teams.

In the first few minutes of the play Dorsey Lynam scored for Delaware. The remainder of the first half was spent in exchanging the ball, with a strong wind making passes inaccurate. In the third quarter, Alfe tied the score for the visitors. When goals were switched in the fourth quarter, however, Captain Del Minner and Crompton clinched the game for Delaware with two goals in rapid succession. On the defensive, too, Delaware played well her back-

What Do You Know About Physical Education?

By John M. Russo

There are few people in this University who realize the value the course in Physical Education has to offer. Last week at the State Teachers' Convention in Newark one of America's foremost educators, Dr. John W. Cooper, made a statement to the effect that within the last 10 years the subjects of Physical Education and Health have taken an integral part in the curriculum of our elementary and secondary schools. In addition to this, one of the paramount issues which he stressed in his lecture was the fact that a thorough training in physical education is vitally important in the sterilization and betterment of society.

There is no doubt in my mind, but what Physical Education and Health possess invaluable qualities through which one of the most complicated problems of society may be solved. By that I mean that this age of rapid development has presented us with the intelligent solution and methods for the utilization of the available leisure time. It is obvious that there is no better means of analyzing this problem than through the education of people on how they should use their spare time to an advantage. One of the many channels by which this complex situation may be solved is to teach the hundreds of thousands of men and boys who are unemployed to play the kind of sports that do not require any great amount of organization. Such athletics in which these individuals could participate and ones which our department advocates are handball, swimming, volley ball, tennis and golf.

The Physical Education Department not only urges everyone to know how to play these games, but in addition it attempts to make its teachings as stringent as any other department in the college. The primary object of this requirement is to send out in the field of education men who will be well adapted to the teachings of health and physical education. It has been indelibly impressed on our minds that the standards maintained by this department are comparable to those conformed to by the University of Illinois. A recent survey by one of our instructors has given us conclusive proof of this statement.

Although this work is in its infancy at the University of Delaware, there is no question but that it will attain high recognition providing the students, alumni, and members of the faculty will continue to give us their support.

THIRTY-FIVE CENTS
Isn't Much!

Most college allowances go only so far. But even at that you can probably spare 35 cents once a week.

It isn't much—35 cents—hardly the price of a movie or hair cut. Yet for 35 cents, if you know the ropes, you can telephone as far as 100 miles.

That probably means you can telephone home! Can 35 cents buy more pleasure than that? You can pick up a budget of family news . . . talk over your problems . . . share your interests. There's nothing like a "voice visit" with the folks back home to brighten your whole week—and theirs.

TO TAKE ADVANTAGE of the LOW NIGHT RATES...

Call after 8:30 P.M., and be sure to make a Station to Station call.

That means, ask the Operator for your home telephone, but not for any specific person.

If you've fixed a date in advance, the family will be sure to be there.

35 cents at night will pay for a 3-minute Station to Station call to anywhere within 100 miles.

Loves a Good Joke

Huntington, W. Va.—Love for a good joke led Dr. A. R. Halley to point to the portrait of a hoary, bespectacled gentleman hanging above his desk in his classroom, with the admonition that each member of his literature class write the name of the gentleman on a slip of paper and hand it in. The Marshall College students obeyed.

The results fully justified the purpose of the trick. One student admitted he didn't know who the man was. The others all gave answers, and none guessed the right one.

One, to be sure, wrote "Santa Claus" on his slip of paper, another said, "It looks like you," but these insinuations were more than

OPEN HOUSE AT W. C. D.

This Saturday evening, at 8.30 o'clock in the Hilarium of Residence Hall, of W. C. D., will mark the first of a series of overtures on the part of the women to entice the men of Delaware College to invade their sacred precincts.

This yearly social function is known as Open House and means just that. All male students of the University of Delaware are cordially invited to come down and look 'em over. There'll be eats, too.

offset by the slip which stated that the picture was that of John Keats, who died, clean-shaven, in his 26th year. There was less seriousness in one report that it was Mae West.

Some of the answers which did not particularly surprise the professor were that the picture was that of Longfellow, Whittier, Browning, James Russell Lowell and George Bernard Shaw. Ten votes went to Chief Justice John Marshall, godfather of Marshall College.

Others thought it was Noah Webster, Flo Ziegfeld, General Grant, Stephen B. Elkins, Louis Pasteur.

The Parthenon, student newspaper, asked Dr. Halley whose the picture was.

"I don't know," said Dr. Halley.

There are 6 types of home-grown tobaccos that are best for cigarettes

BRIGHT TOBACCO

U. S. Types 11, 12, 13, 14.

BURLEY TOBACCO

U. S. Type 31.

SOUTHERN MARYLAND TOBACCO

U. S. Type 32.

U. S. Type 11 is produced in the Piedmont Belt of Virginia and part of North Carolina.

U. S. Type 12 is produced in eastern North Carolina.

U. S. Type 13 grows in South Carolina.

U. S. Type 14 is produced mostly in southern Georgia—a few million pounds in northern Florida and Alabama.

U. S. Type 31 includes what is called White Burley tobacco. It was first produced by George Webb in 1864. It is light in color and body, and is milder than the Burley used for pipes.

U. S. Type 32, Maryland tobacco, is noted for its "burn". In this respect Maryland excels most other tobaccos.

These are the kinds of home-grown tobaccos used for making Chesterfield Cigarettes.

Then Chesterfield adds aromatic Turkish tobacco to give just the right seasoning or spice.

Chesterfield ages these tobaccos for 30 months—2½ years—to make sure that they are milder and taste better.

Washington — Jobless school teachers and university professors in the United States are to be given employment under work relief systems set up in the local communities but supported by the Federal Relief Administration, Harry L. Hopkins, relief director, has announced.

The plan is to use the teachers as instructors in rural schools which would otherwise close for lack of teachers, and others in the cities teaching night school classes.

body. The play was very well directed under the able management of Mr. Thomas Hannaway.

The cast was as follows: Thomas Pinkles Sund, the author, William Lawrence; Harold Wouldby, the novice, John Veit; Mr. Ivory, the father, Willey Keithley; Mr. Ruler, the hero, Alison Manns; Miss Ivory, the heroine, Thomas Cooch; Mr. Inkwell, the villain, Thomas Hannaway; Mrs. Pencil, the vampire, Thomas Lascars.

TRYOUTS SURPASS EXPECTATIONS

If the number of students who turn out for tryouts are any indication, the interest in the forthcoming production of the E 52 Players is exceedingly high. Although tryouts were scheduled for two days this week, Mr. Kase reports that on the first day, Monday, he was kept in Mitchell Hall for three hours giving tryouts to more than thirty students, and that at least ten more were forced to postpone their tryouts until Tuesday. Even more turned out Tuesday, as students always turn out in larger numbers on the last day.

Such enthusiasm for any dramatic production is utterly unprecedented in the history of the E 52

Players, and indeed in the history of either the Puppets or the Footlights within recent years. It bodes well for the character of the performers to be given by the Players on December 14th. With the very best of material from both colleges to pick from, a splendid cast can certainly be selected.

No official announcement concerning the title of the play which has been selected could be secured at this writing, although it was learned that the play is decidedly a fun-provoking comedy which was extremely successful during the last two years both in New York and London.

It has always seemed to me that real people, whether millionaires or coal miners, could meet and have an interesting and profitable time together if a proper atmosphere were created around them.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.
