The onlookers were as costumed as the marchers when Newark's Halloween Parade proceeded down Main Street last Sunday afternoon. Children enjoyed the traditional event before starting their own march from store to store for Trick or Treat Main Street which followed this year's parade. Cutest Costume Awards went to (center): First Place, "Little Bo-Peep and Her Sheep," Leah Handwerk, 6, and brother Jay, 1, of Hockessin; Second Place, "Dumbo," Sierra Plath, 2, of Newark; Third Place, "Sunflower," Victoria Stauffer, 10 months, of Elkton.

Children of all shapes, sizes and disguises crept up and down Main Street Sunday afternoon for Newark's annual Halloween parade and trick-or-treating extravaganza. Princesses, cats, Disney characters and cowboys were among the most recurring sights in a crowded downtown Newark.

Children filled their pillowcases and plastic pumpkin pails with candy from the many businesses that took part in the event. Candy bars, Smarties or Tootsie Rolls were featured treats, as well as Herr's potato chips from Capriotti's sub shop and fortune cookies from No. 1 Chinese restaurant.

Ryan Fad, 2, said he got lots of his favorite candy, lollipops.

Mom, Annette, said he was content with just being able to wear a costume from his favorite movie.

"He's so happy he gets to dress up as Buzz Lightyear," she said. "He's been wearing the costume since this summer."

John Alexander, 8, said the only thing missing from his own fireman costume was water to fill his yellow fire hose. "If there's a fire, I can't put it out - I don't have the equipment," he said. "Good thing there are real firemen around here."

The traditional Halloween events stirred up heavy congestion in the Newark Shopping Center parking lot, the nearest lot for parade participants to park their cars. Parents, along with some unsuspecting drivers, experienced more than 20 minutes of standstill traffic.

Back-to-Back exchange program skipping a year

Lack of parental leadership given as reason by district

By KATY CIAMARICONE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Due to a lack of parental leadership, 17 Christina School District students said Bon Voyage to the Back-to-Back foreign exchange program for the 2000-2001 school year.

The program is designed to educate fifth and sixth graders about French language and culture and usually culminates in a three-week trip to France.

But, in February, parent Tammy Sedat was unable to do so this year due to a hectic schedule. Sedat said she looked for another parent to head Back-to-Back, but nobody volunteered, and the program was put on hiatus for one year.

At the September school board meeting, Kathy Clark said she was upset that her daughter would not be visiting France this summer.

"I just recently learned that the program was disbanded," she said. "My daughter had received a full scholarship to go to France, and the district never advised us that the program would not be continued."

"If my daughter had a scholarship and we were not informed, it makes me wonder, was anyone told that the program was canceled?"

LaVerne Terry, assistant superintendent for the Christina School District, explained to Clark and other concerned parents that Back-to-Back is a parent-run program.

She said the program is not affiliated with the district. It is part of the American-French Association, which is headquartered in both Chicago and Paris.

"The district supports the program with buses and some other activities, but parents are expected to pay for most of the expenses for the trip," Terry said.

The scholarship money that her daughter did not receive was from the Christina Endowment Fund, which is also not directly affiliated with the Christina District. "(That) is a non-profit private foundation that provides money for extracurricular activities for students in the district," Terry said.

Margaret Catts, a member of the Christina Endowment Fund, said if the Back-to-Back program resumes next year, the scholarship will go to Clark's daughter, who did not receive her complimentary trip last year.

According to Sedat, there are about 50 Back-to-Back programs in the United States.

The program is unique because participants do not reside in a hotel or a tourist housing facility during their stay in France. Instead, each stays with his or her own French "host" family.

Burned Newark firefighter remains in critical condition

Townhome totally destroyed by Sunday evening blaze

By KATY CIAMARICONE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A firefighter for the Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Company remained in critical condition in the Burn Unit at the Crozer-Chester Medical Center on Wednesday.

Kevin Eichinger, a 26-year-old assistant fire chief who has been with Aetna for six years, was put on a ventilator Tuesday as a precautionary measure, said Aetna spokesman John Farrell IV.

Eichinger, who lives in Newark and is engaged to be married, was burned while fighting a townhome blaze on Sunday evening. He and two of his fellow Aetna firefighters were injured after they became trapped on the second floor of the Drummond Ridge townhome in Pike Creek.

The two other men, Ray Johnson Jr., 21, and Abel Schall, 24, were treated for burns and released from Christiana Hospital late Sunday night, Farrell said.

"When the fire erupted from the level below where the three men were standing, the stairway acted as a chimney," he said. "A tremendous blast of heat and smoke came up from the stairway."

"I'm estimating that they may have been trapped (in the house) for as long as two-and-a-half to three minutes, but that is just an estimate," said Farrell who also responded to the fire alarm. "Time usually gets fogged when things go to heck like that."

Health care officials transported Eichinger to Christiana Hospital, and he was later flown to Crozer-Chester Medical Center in Chester, Pa., by helicopter.

Approximately 55 firefighters from Aetna and Mill Creek Fire companies combined arrived on the scene at 7:10 p.m. to fight the blaze, which was finally under control at 8:58 p.m., Farrell said.

New Castle County Emergency Medical Services also responded to the call. Several crew members rushed inside to aid their fellow firefighters as soon as they noticed trouble brewing inside the house.

"As soon as the situation deteriorated to the point where it became evident that the firefighters were in peril, there was a tremendous rush of forces to get them out," Farrell said.

The house, which dates back to about 1980, was totally destroyed in the fire, Farrell said. None of the occupants of the home were injured. Damage is estimated at $150,000.

State Fire Marshal Willard Preston said the fire was the result of a faulty chimney. "The chimney was running up in a concealed space and ignition built up inside of it," he said. "It was boxed out, if you will."

He said this led to heavy buildup inside the chimney chute. "This is why it is very important to

National, state, local election campaigns come to an intense conclusion on Tuesday, Nov. 7

Delaware seats for Congress and Governor are hotly pursued

Election signs like those seen here should all be gone by this time next week.

On Tuesday, Nov. 7, voters throughout Delaware and the rest of the nation go to the polls to elect a new U.S. president and vice-president, numerous members of Congress and state legislators, as well as thousands of local officeholders.

In Delaware, current Gov.

Thomas Carper is hotly challenging longtime U.S. Senator William Roth for a seat in Congress while U.S. Congressman Michael Castle is running a more sedate race against challenger Micheal Miller.

The soon-to-be vacated governor's seat is being sought by current Lt. Gov. Ruth Ann Minner, businessman John Burris and civic activist Floyd McDowell Sr.

New Castle County voters are being asked to choose a new County Council president from either Christopher Coons or Michael Ramone, neither of whom has served on county council previously.

County Executive Thomas is being challenged by Green Gordon, seeking a second term, Party candidate Craig Shumaker.

Fifty-four legislators in the Delaware General Assembly are also up for re-election, although not all have challengers. The Newark Post surveyed those running in some local districts and presents their responses on Pages 10-11 of this edition.

The election polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on election day.

For information about individual polling locations, call the Department of Elections at 577-3464.

Persons wishing to vote must bring photo identification with them to the polling place.

Two arrested for convenience store robbery

Two men wearing masks entered the 7-11 convenience store on Red Mill Road in Newark at approximately 11:55 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 30. One of the suspects allegedly showed a gun and demanded cash from the store clerk.

The clerk handed money over and the suspects fled with an undisclosed amount of cash.

A witness saw the suspects get in a 1996 Toyota SUV. Just after midnight, police stopped the suspect vehicle and took Newark resident Donald Anderson into custody.

At approximately 9 a.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 31, the second suspect, Richard A. Newcomb of Newark was taken into custody at his home. Both suspects were charged with robbery, using a disguise during a felony and conspiracy.

Man threatens sister and dog with handgun

On Oct. 31, New Castle County Police arrested Jeffrey Ellsworth, a resident of Coventry off Route 273, for threatening to kill his sister and her dog during a domestic dispute.

Officers responded to the suspect's house around 4:30 p.m. for a report of a domestic dispute in progress involving a weapon. Arriving officers arrested the suspect at the scene and seized two handguns from the home.

The investigation revealed that Ellsworth arrived home from work and found his sister had a large dog inside the home. He became angry and threatened to shoot the dog if his sister did not remove the dog from the home.

She refused and he went to get his gun. He fired one round into the floor as the sister and her 5-year-old daughter attempted to call police. He wrestled the phone away from his sister and threatened to kill her and the dog if she called the police.

She fled to a nearby McDonalds and called 911.

Ellsworth has been charged with aggravated menacing, possession of a deadly weapon during the commission of a felony, endangering the welfare of a child, terroristic threatening, offensive touching, and intimidation of a victim.

Pedestrian killed in I-95 collision

Newark resident Ricardo Torres was killed when he tried to walk across Interstate 95 around 9 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 29.

Police reported Torres was driving a Toyota Celica on I-95 when his car became disabled just south of Route 141. He pulled onto the left shoulder of the road and got out.

He tried to walk across the northbound lanes and apparently slipped and fell. He was struck by a 1998 Chevrolet pick-up driven by Baltimore, Md. resident James E. Purkey. Rachel Gross of Philadelphia, Pa., was driving a 1990 Nissan 240SX directly behind the pick-up and Melissa Zebley of New Castle was driving a 1985 Lincoln Town Car directly behind the Nissan.

As Purkey swerved and braked to avoid a collision with the victim, Gross braked suddenly and was struck in the rear by Zebley.

Gross was taken to Christiana Hospital and treated for a neck strain. Torres was pronounced dead at the scene. There is an ongoing investigation by the Fatal Accident Reconstruction Team. No alcohol was involved.

Women arrested for convenience store robbery

According to Delaware State Police, Christine L. Ridgon entered the Country Farms convenience store located on Kirkwood Highway in Elsmere on Saturday, Oct. 28 at approximately 7 a.m. and demanded cash from the clerk. She implied that she had a weapon.

The clerk handed the money over and Ridgon fled in a maroon 1995 Pontiac Grand Am.

Police arrested Ridgon in her Heritage Court apartment on Sunday, Oct. 29 and charged her with robbery and possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony.

Student arrested for threats

Delaware State Police arrested a seventh grader for threatening a female student at Skyline Middle School in Pike Creek.

According to police, on Oct.

24 just before 8 a.m., the male student became involved in a dispute over gun.

After the argument, the student threatened to shoot the girl who reported the threat to the school administration.

Police arrested the student and searched the school and his home for weapons but none were located. He was charged with terroristic threatening.

Drugs and Cocaine seized

New Castle County Police arrested Francis Green for weapon and drug offenses while they were assisting Probation and Parole on an administrative search of Green's residence.

On Thursday, Oct. 26 at 8:30 p.m., police responded to a home in Newkirk Estates near Newark to assist Probation and Parole at a home of a subject who was on probation.

As a result of the search, officers seized five firearms and nearly two grams of cocaine. Green is listed as a person who is prohibited from possession of a firearm or ammunition. One of the firearms collected by officers was reported as being stolen from Maryland.

He was charged with possession of a firearm by a person prohibited, possession of ammunition by a person prohibited, possession of cocaine, and receiving stolen property.

Armed man robs restaurant

New Castle County Police are looking for a suspect who robbed the Hong Kong Restaurant on Carpenter Station Road on Wednesday, Oct. 25 around 10:20 p.m.

Police reported a suspect described as a white male in his late teens or early 20's, wearing dark clothing, a dark hat and a gray bandana covering his face, entered the restaurant and displayed a handgun. The suspect demanded money and attempted to open the cash register.

He then pointed the handgun at an employee and forced her to open it for him. He took money and ran out of the restaurant towards the Pennsylvania State Line.

A New Castle County Police K-9 tracked from the restaurant towards a nearby parking area where the scent was lost.

Anyone with information regarding this investigation is asked to call police at 573-2800.

Large fight at Newark High

Newark Police responded to Newark High School around 10 a.m. on Oct. 26 after receiving a request for assistance from the School Resource Officer for a large fight that had erupted in a hallway.

School and administrative personnel and the resource officer were able to regain control of the scene and take into custody Wilmington residents, Darius Broadnax, 16, Leon Harrigan, 19, Nina Williams, 16, and Newark residents, Jermaine Francois, 18, Cassidy Hoyt, 19, and Alander Willis, 14.

They were all charged with disorderly conduct and released on scene to a relative.

The police department, at the request of school officials, remained on scene for the remainder of the day, to make sure there were no reoccurrences.

The police department and school officials are conducting an investigation as to why the fight started.

Overtaken tractor-trailer closes I-95

A 1985 International tractor-trailer traveling northbound on the ramp from Route 1 to I-95 overturned on Monday, Oct. 30 at 6:30 a.m.

A 2000 Freightliner was traveling northbound on I-95 approaching the same ramp, in the right lane. The tractor-trailer's flatbed carrying several salvaged vehicles became unstable as it attempted to merge onto I-95 which caused it to fishtail.

The trailer entered the right lane of I-95 and struck the right front of the Freightliner. The trailer overturned causing the cargo of vehicles to spread across all northbound lanes of I-95.

The northbound lanes of I-95 were closed for about an hour while traffic was diverted to alternate routes. At 7:30 a.m., two lanes were re-opened and around 10:45 a.m., all lanes were opened.

The driver of the tractor-trailer, James Lotman was charged with several equipment violations relating to the vehicle trailer.

clean your chimney," he added.

Preston said investigators do not believe that the developers who built the house are at fault for the fire.

The two residents of the townhouse were home when the fire started, Preston said. "One of the occupants saw some sparks in the backyard near the upper two levels of the house, and saw that the fire was lapping down. The inferno went up the chimney chute and entered the house through the chimney."

Preston said the residents are currently staying with relatives.

According to the New Castle County Fire Marshal, the circumstances of how the three firefighters were injured remains under investigation.

"The kids go to parties with their host families, they eat dinner with them - they actually become part of the family," said Sedat.

Last school year, the program helped prepare 12 Christina district students for a visit to France. Students involved with the program participate in fundraisers each year to help pay for extracurricular activities for the group.

"We use the money to get (the students) ready for the trip and acquainted with French culture," Sedat said. "We took them to go see 'Les Miserables' last year, and we go to museums, sometimes we go out to eat French food."

"The kids have to do these things before they go to France together. They have to bond if they're going to be traveling together for weeks at a time."

From Stephanie Ulbrich Your State Representative

Dear Friends,
Over the past six years it has been my honor and privilege to serve as your full-time State Representative. During this time I have enjoyed working with people from throughout our 25th District on issues in Dover and here at home.

The input I have received from you, whether at your doorstep, your civic association meeting or my weekly Tuesday morning meeting with constituents, has been invaluable. Many of your suggestions, especially regarding public education, public safety and government accountability - issues important to all of us - have resulted in new laws being passed.

You deserve a State Representative with experience, commitment, and community involvement. I am proud to have been your full-time State Representative for the past six years and hope you will support my re-election on November 7th. Thank you for allowing me the privilege of serving you.

Sincerely,
Stephanie

Students wonder 'what in the world is that?'

Principal for a Day has show and tell

By KATY CIAMARICONE
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

William J. Wallach, vice president of marketing and sales at ILC Dover Inc., gave kids an out-of-this-world experience when he traveled to Independence School on Paper Mill Road on Oct. 23.

Wallach was part of the Principal-for-a-Day Program, sponsored by the State Chamber of Commerce. The program brings local business moguls, legislators, law enforcers and attorneys to schools around Delaware for one day.

Wallach spent the day visiting classrooms and telling curious kids about ILC Dover Inc., a little-known company located on Moonwalker Road in Frederica. The ILC plants specialize in manufacturing space suits for NASA in Delaware and Texas and are the only two of their kind in the United States.

Wallach said it costs millions of dollars to produce each space suit.

"This is one product that is manufactured that cannot fail - no mistakes are allowed," he told Elaine Miguel sixth grade science class. "If this product fails, then someone is going to lose their life, and that would probably be the end of the space program."

He passed around a glove designed to protect space travelers from harsh temperatures that they endure on the moon. Each glove is custom-made with temperature regulators, he explained.

"It feels so weird!" one student exclaimed when she tried the glove on for size.

"When they walk around on the moon, astronauts are touching things that are 200 degrees and touching other things that are 200 degrees below zero," Wallach said. "With these gloves, they won't feel the temperature changes."

The space suits also include a helmet that ensures its wearer an unobstructed field of vision, as well as an upper torso assembly that facilitates the suit's life support system, a maximum absorbency garment designed to collect and store urine and feces, and a liquid cooling and ventilation garment with a network of fine tubing that keeps the astronauts warm, even on the cold, dark side of the spacecraft.

"We also make gas masks for William J. Wallach of ILC Dover Inc. had something from his company's product line to show to Independence School students.

military personnel, blimps - lots of products that people see every day but never knew where they came from," Wallach said. Wallach, who lives in New Castle County, said this is his first year being a principal for a day. The program attracted only 12 people when it was first introduced in 1992, but this year, 118 people signed up to take part in it, said Melanie Day, vice president at the Chamber of Commerce.

Newark Chrysler Plant to produce first S.U.V. Hybrid vehicle

Special to the Newark Post

U.S. Senator William V. Roth Jr. and U.S. Congressman Michael N. Castle recently announced that the Newark Chrysler Plant has been chosen to produce the first hybrid, environmentally-friendly Sport Utility Vehicle.

The plant will begin producing the hybrid Dodge Durango SUV with patented through-the-road powertrain technology in 2003, with sales in 2004.

"Having been inside the hybrid Durango, I must say that among its many exciting attributes is the opportunity to have greater fuel efficiency without compromising performance," Roth said. "I have long supported using the tax code to spur development of new, energy efficient technologies. That's why I included a tax credit for hybrid vehicles in my Community Renewal and New Markets Act of 2000. I hope the House of Representatives and the President support it."

Roth, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee introduced federal legislation to create up to $3,000 in tax incentives for purchasers of hybrid vehicles. This could make the Durango costs competitive with its traditional gasoline-powered counterpart.

"This automobile is environmentally friendly, has the long distance range of gas-powered cars, gets better gas mileage, reduces our dependence on foreign oil, and will be produced in Delaware by a top-notch plant," Castle said. "The tax incentives will help this car gain widespread acceptance, which will ultimately lower its production costs."

The hybrid Dodge Durango SUV combines a gas-powered V-6 engine to power the rear wheels with an electric motor to drive the front wheels.

This new hybrid powertrain will also yield a 20 percent increase in fuel efficiency, achieving 18.6 miles per gallon combined city/highway, compared with 15.5 miles per gallon for the conventional V-8 engine. This could save 170 gallons of gas a year for the average SUV owner.

Hybrid Vehicles are a descendant of the Partnership for a New Generation of Vehicles (PNGV), which aims to develop an environmentally friendly "Supercar" that would improve fuel efficiency of today's cars without sacrificing performance, affordability and safety.

PNGV is an effort to combine the resources and expertise of federal agencies and laboratories with the private sector to reduce United States dependence on oil and maintaining competitiveness without intervening to alter the market price of fuel.

Employees at the Newark Assembly Plant were on furlough this week because reduced demand for Durangos recently was driving down the prices.

Chrysler chose to reduce inventory rather than further discount the vehicle.

White Clay Creek watershed now protected under law

Legislation to protect the White Clay Creek Watershed was signed into law on Oct. 24 by President Bill Clinton.

In addition, "The White Clay Creek Wild and Scenic Rivers System Act" designates the White Clay Creek as "Wild and Scenic," thereby prohibiting federal funds from being used to interfere with the free-flowing nature of the river.

"It is vitally important we protect the White Clay Creek as it is home to various plant and animal species, historic homes and landmarks...and also serves as a source of drinking water for Delaware and Pennsylvania and is a popular recreation spot for many people," U.S. Representative Michael Castle said.

"The 'Wild and Scenic' designation will ensure the vitality of this region for generations to come and I was pleased to be a part of it."

The Castle-Pitts White Clay Creek Wild and Scenic Rivers

System Act ensures that the river receives permanent protection from water resource projects (dams, diversions, channeling) that would have a direct and adverse affect on its free-flowing condition. It elevates the status of the river in competing for federal preservation grants.

However, existing wastewater treatment plants or potential reservoir sites can be expanded to accommodate carefully planned residential, commercial and industrial growth.

In order to determine if the White Clay Creek could be added to this system, a survey and management plan was put together with recommendations for the protection and management of the Creek, as well as the roles of state and local governments and affected landowners.

In September 1999, the National Parks Service released its final report recommending the size and scope of the wild and scenic designation.

Opinion

EDITORIALS COLUMNS • PAGES FROM THE PAST • LETTERS

Looking for election signs and potents

Although we did not get responses from all surveyed candidates, we have decided to make endorsements based upon the information we did receive.

We support Dori Connor, Timothy Boulden, Stephanie Ulbrich and John Viola for re-election to the General Assembly. We support Chris Coons for president of New Castle County Council.

Connor has been a highly visible and active legislator since her election following the death of her husband who was the state senator from the 12th District before her. She works hard and made a quick and significant contribution to the quality of life in her district by passage of the waste incinerator bill. William McMurray obviously has many important issues in mind, but not all of them are within the current jurisdiction of state legislators. For instance, moratoriums on building permits is a county decision and building schools, while funded from state monies, is a school board decision.

Boulden is still the best candidate despite a strong challenge from Judith Hendricks. He has repeatedly come up with funding for local transportation projects, including a long-stalled bypass, and been a sponsor on bills for education and other grassroots issues important to the community. Hendricks, with little political or government experience, does not have any concrete proposals that differ from Boulden's. In addition, she seems unaware that Newark already has had a traffic committee in place for several years with a coalition of Boulden and other state and local officials as well as residents and businesses in its membership.

Ulbrich has shown a tireless approach to her job as legislator, even for a fulltime one. She sits on, and is chair of, numerous House and Joint committees in the General Assembly. The ability to work with other legislators cannot be underestimated, as was seen when she was appointed to chair the Joint 800 MHz Task Force investigating emergency communications in Delaware. She has also sponsored and helped pass education bills for Charter and Choice in schools, both viewed as highly desirable by the community.

Megahan would likely make a hard-working and sincere legislator with the interests of the district firmly in mind. However, his stated plans differ little from ones already in place. Further, developers and impact fees have more to do, at present, with county government than with the bailiwick of state legislators.

Coons has the edge because, at least in this survey, he put forth a plan for managing overdevelopment in New Castle County. Whether consensus can be reached with state and local officials is debatable, but he has thought about it. In addition, he makes reference to changes to the UDC which would be within his power if he could enlist the support of others on the council. Ramone's ideas, although very similar, do not seem as organized, and merely being a businessman rather than a lawyer is not enough to make him more valuable to a county already in good fiscal shape.

On that particular morning the sound of the alarm was particularly offensive: it seemed too insistent, whining, complaining, relentless, unsparing, shrill, atonal — an abomination to be destroyed!

As I made my vague way through the matinal ablutions, I harbored my grudge against the sound of the alarm and concocted a glorious scheme to create an alarm that would sort of "kiss" a person awake rather than scream at him like some misanthropic stentor.

I understood that we must have alarms, lest we have business as unusual. But must the sound be shrewish and nagging?

Could it not get us up as a gentle friend might?

I was sure I was on to something very useful — perhaps not quite of Nobel stature — but not too far short of that level.

But several days later, I accepted the obvious: for people like me, the sound of the alarm has to be Klaxon-like, even rude and confrontational.

The reason it has to be so adversarial is simple: people like me can not be cosseted awake, lest we make warm grunts and return to bed and sleep.

No, I and my fellow slugabeds must be so annoyed that it will take an entire 16 hours to recover from the negative effects on our dispositions and, possibly, personalities.

Being on time and grouchy is better than being happily late — I hope.

Several days after that mini-epiphany, I had another in the form of a question: could the alarm clock stand as a metaphor for other life experiences?

For instance: the parlous state of American education is generally agreed upon, and lip service is being paid to the words "crisis" and "must" in educational contexts!

But I hear no shrill alarms sounding — insisting, demanding, uncompromising, in-your-face, noisy, loud, rude, untiring — like an Old Testament prophet with a TV station and a major newspaper to help him or her...

Commissions? Statistics? Committees? Panels? Learned articles? They come off as snooze alarms. ZZZZZZZZZZZZ!!!

Do we also need a screaming alarm for the modern business world?

A headline tells us the improbable fact that more cars in the United States this year were recalled than sold!

Plural deaths were involved. And apparently cynical cover ups and barefaced lies were used to afflict the innocent.

And tobacco was loaded with addictive chemicals to assure the customers' staying hooked, thereby denying the sucker an even break!

More commissions. Statistics. Committees. Panels. Lawsuits. ZZZZZZZZZZ!!!

News as it appeared in the Newark Post throughout the years

November 4, 1925

Regulation of auto parking here

The business section of Newark between Newark Center and Elkton avenue will shortly have a regulated system of automobile parking rules.

The ordinance states that parking hours within this section will be strictly enforced. The limit has been tentatively set at two hours.

First stone placed for new College dorm

With hundreds of students, alumnae and friends present, the first stone was formally laid on the walls of New Castle Hall, now Women's College dormitory, last Saturday afternoon.

Using the silver trowel which started the original building on its way back in 1913, Governor Robinson placed the stone in position.

November 6, 1978

Teachers hit the road to Dover

Striking New Castle County teachers formed a caravan enroute to Dover to ask State Senators for their support.

Wearing T-shirts reading "United Mind Workers" and "Teachers Make it Happen" under layers of sweaters, the teachers darted from car to car, tying black crepe paper to antennae.

In the back windows of the few vans that traveled down state were picket signs reading "Equal Pay for Equal Work," and "Teachers Do It With Class."

Creek erosion plan attacked

Residents along the Christina Creek in Newark have watched erosion threaten their property lines, but have opposed a plan by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service to place boulders weighing up to 300 pounds on both sides of the creek's banks.

This plan, called "rip-rapping," was rejected by the state Division of Environmental Control, Wetland section, because of its negative effect on nearby vegetation. Ben Kuntz, president of CREEK, a group of residents living along the Christina argues that placing boulders on both sides of the creek would increase water runoff resulting in flooding.

November 3, 1995

Wet paint good sign at Chrysler

The Chrysler Assembly plant in Newark has no plans to close soon. That's the message between the lines in their recent groundbreaking for a new paint facility.

"It's costing an arm and a leg," said Roger Walker, facilities manager for that time the old paint shop can be switched over and refurbished for a new use — possibly for trim."

Concrete to be poured before winter arrives

Following his successful presentation at the last Newark city council meeting, developer Gibbons Young said he and his partner, Richard Handloft, are moving ahead as quickly as possible with the new Traders Alley complex on Main Street.

The planned complex will include new and existing buildings at the site with commercial and residential uses.

(I hedged my claims in the paragraphs above because my information came from TV news shows and newspapers, and I wonder whether they can be trusted... Should that sound another alarm?)

Millions of Americans are concerned about our national and personal values, ethics and morals, particularly as they affect our children. The churches have been, traditionally, leaders in this field, for at least 4,000 years.

Commissions, Statistics, Committees. Panels. ZZZZZZZZZZZZ!!!

But I hear no alarms sounding — insisting, demanding, unconforming, in-your-face, noisy, loud, rude, dissonant, downright unpleasant.

If I were able to get up without the torture of an alarm, I would not think such disturbing thoughts!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter to the Editor
From Clara Jimenez Cruz
Newark

I'm a student in the sixth grade at NCCL (Newark Center for Creative Learning). I am from Spain and I'm spending a semester here taking my lessons at NCCL. I've seen what the City Manager, City Council and the Mayor have done over the course of the years. The town looks very good, it is very clean and it has sidewalks on almost every street. One of the streets that I use frequently is B Street. We use it to go to Phillips Park and this is the first year that B Street has had a sidewalk.

However, I'm here to inform you that I'm complaining about the new warehouse they want to build next to the school, the park and the recycling center. The reasons I don't like their current plan are:

1. A building that is 30 feet high is going to be impossible to the people that live across the street not to see the building.

2. Putting the parking next to the driveway is very dangerous, because it's also next to a school and kids are walking around looking for the balls, going to the park and going or coming from home all the time.

3. If you cut the trees people are going to be able to see the warehouse perfectly well, and those trees have been there for years, they have lot of history.

My solution is to destroy the old warehouse, and build the new one in it's place.

Then they won't need to cut the trees that will hide the warehouse, and they also will have more space for the parking. I also think they should have asked for the opinion of the neighbors before starting to make plans.

Letter to the Editor
From: Amy Boyd
Newark

The Sept. 15 editorial describing Christina District Superintendent Dr. Fischer's communication and style problems did not go far enough. Parents in unprecedented numbers have brought their concerns to the Board about what's happening in the classrooms throughout the district. From implementing CMP math, to eliminating grouping to help children build on what they already know by being educated at their level, to removing the authority of schools that are doing well to make decisions, Dr. Fischer has already made many changes in the district that are about more than just style.

I took both of our children out of Christina schools last month with an enormous sense of regret. May I say emphatically that parents all around me are not spending thousands of dollars on private school just because the Christina Superintendent hasn't talked nicely. Teachers are not resigning or voting no confidence in the superintendent just because the superintendent hasn't been warm and fuzzy.

It's time for Dr. Fischer and the school board to address the real concerns of the parents and teachers who asked the board for a change in leadership. The Board has the moral and legal responsibility for this school district.

Is it the person...or the personality?

Special to the Newark Post

Do people vote for a presidential candidate whose personality they believe is similar to their own?

Gordon DiRenzo, professor of sociology at the University of Delaware, has been studying that question for 40 years through 10 presidential elections, and he says they do. His ongoing research shows that a personality link between voters and their candidates can play an important role in an election.

DiRenzo is the first to admit there are many factors that influence candidate selection, but he said one of them definitely is the candidate's perceived personality. The key word is "perceived," because people only know a candidate's personality through his or her public persona.

During presidential election years, DiRenzo teaches a course entitled "Personality and Politics" in which he and his students administer a test to a random sampling of registered voters that determines the structure of their personalities. Questions are aimed at determining, whether each person has an open-minded or closed-minded personality structure and who they will vote for or prefer as presidential candidates.

Some characteristics of a closed-minded personality include: having a preference for strongly authoritarian leadership, a tendency to be exclusive to one's own values and lifestyles, a need to conform to social norms and an intolerance for ambiguity and uncertainty. The openminded personality structure is the opposite.

For the class, questionnaires will be administered to between 350 and 500 demographically diverse voters at the end of the October. They ask the voter to agree or disagree with a variety of statement, such as: "It is better to be a dead hero than a live coward." "Even though freedom of speech for all groups is a worthwhile goal, it is unfortunately necessary to restrict the freedom of certain political groups" and "To compromise with our political opponents is dangerous because it usually leads to the betrayal of our own side." Finally, the survey asks a series of questions about for whom they will vote and who would make the best president.

To analyze the personality of the candidates, DiRenzo uses a panel of professional psychologists who examine candidate behavior and speeches and writings. They analyze the words and phrases candidates use, how they use them and even the emphasis they use when speaking.

After the election, DiRenzo and his students will analyze the data and determine the ratio of voters who selected candidates most closely exhibiting their personality structure and type. In 1992, people with closed-minded personalities were twice as likely to vote for George Bush as for Bill Clinton. The correlation between voter and candidate personality structure is even more striking in cross-over voters or those who are registered for one party but vote for the presidential candidate of another party.

DiRenzo has done extensive research on political behavior in the U.S. and Italy. He has published two books on the subject, "Personality and Politics" and "Personality, Power, and Politics."

Rumors and hoaxes – beware

Bananas cause flesh-eating bacterial disease! In the spring rumors circulated about this on the Internet. Cooperative Extension received phone calls from frantic consumers who were convinced that the warnings they had received were valid.

Today we are deluged with information regarding health and nutrition. With the post holiday diet season right around the corner you can be assured that many claims about losing weight and the health benefits of eating certain foods will surely surface. Many times what is presented has no research to back it up. Very often it is just a ploy by overzealous individuals to make a name for themselves. What can the general public do to sort out all the information before them?

By Kathleen Splane

The best thing to do is not to jump to conclusions. By using common sense and following these guidelines an individual can start separating fact from fiction. If an ad or claim about a food does any of the following-living!

-Don't fall for a recommendation that promises a quick fix. It would be tempting to try a product that would help us lose all our cellulite in one week, but realistically that won't happen.

-Claims that sound too good to be true usually are. Remember the diet that said if you ate a grapefruit before each meal you would automatically lose 10 pounds in a week? These days we all want our diet needs met quickly and painlessly.

-Makes recommendations based on a single study. It takes years of research and many studies to validate a claim about a particular food.

-Lists "good" and "bad" foods. No food, even candy, is bad when consumed in moderation. The key is knowing when to stop, and making sure these foods aren't eaten in place of healthy choices.

-Offers a recommendation that is made to help sell a product. Many infomercials promote certain foods or vitamins for the benefits of someone's pocketbook. It is important not to fall for the slick advertisements and beautiful people presented.

Any of these claims should send up a red flag of suspicion. Often stories are sent to you by e-mail and turn out to be urban legends. To check the validity of a questionable story you can log on to a website run by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention: www.cdc.gov. Click on the Hoaxes and Rumors link.

It's great that we have the freedom to make our own decisions. It's important to base decisions that affect our nutritional well being on scientific knowledge. That way hoaxes and rumors can be ruled out.

Newark Outlook is a regular feature, prepared each week by staff members of the University of Delaware's Cooperative Extension Office.

'They're hungry to help others'

Kim Richards (right with cart) and Amy Mayle (right stocking shelves), are among the Key Club members (above) from Newark High School who spend two days a week helping at the Food Bank. The Club was named Volunteer Group of the Year by Food Bank of Delaware in recognition of their efforts.

NHS Key Club honored by Food Bank for cheerful work

By KATY CIAMARICONE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

After spending much of their free time serving the community, some students at Newark High School have finally received something back...recognition.

At a recent Christina District School Board meeting, board members congratulated Newark High School Key Club members for being named Volunteer Group of the Year by the Food Bank of Delaware.

Jeffrey Trnka, program development director at the food bank, said he nominated the club for this award because the members are always "hungry" to lend a helping hand.

"That whole group is always excited to come work with us," Trnka said. "We have a lot of other volunteer groups, but some of them don't seem as thrilled when they come to work."

"These kids come in and laugh and talk and really have fun with it."

Trnka said Key Club members come in and go right to work. "Part of it is a social thing – they like to come in and talk – but at the same time they're working really hard," he said.

Sponsored by the Lions Club, the Key Club is an international organization with members who are dedicated to volunteering their services to the community.

Many of its members visit the Food Bank of Delaware two times per week to sort, categorize and stock salvaged food, which is then donated to more than 300 local organizations.

Homeless shelters, soup kitchens, emergency food closets and low income daycare centers all benefit from the club members' involvement with the food bank.

Last year, the food bank processed approximately 10 million pounds of food, Trnka said.

But the Key Club members are not satisfied with just feeding the hungry. "You name it, we're into it," said Jodie Gwinn, director of the club since 1992 and a Spanish teacher at Newark High School.

On Saturday, Oct. 14, which is also known as "Let's Make a Difference Day," Key Club members helped plant 1600 trees at the Middle Run Nature Area near Polly Drummond Hill Road.

Since the annual event began eight years ago, members of volunteer organizations around Delaware have helped plant 14,000 trees and shrubs in the area.

Key Club members at Newark High devote approximately 5,000 hours each year volunteering for organizations such as the YMCA, the Red Cross, the American Cancer Society and the city of Newark.

In their free time, they collect food for Newark residents who are on welfare, tutor children in local elementary schools, walk for charity and entertain kids at the Delaware Museum of Natural History.

Key Club gatherings are held two times per month during school lunches, Gwinn said, so club members can drop by anytime during lunch and sign up to volunteer for specific activities of interest.

Caitlin Gamel-McCormick, a junior and the club's vice-president, said she has no problem getting her fellow students to volunteer in the community. "People are very, very willing to help," she said.

Gamel-McCormick said she heard about the Key Club by word-of-mouth. "I got into it when I was a freshman," she said. "I'm in band, and some of the upperclassmen said it was a really good organization. "You can't join the club until half-way through your freshman year, so I had lots of time to get information about the activities and events that they do in the community."

Key Club recording secretary Leah Albright said being part of the club is not all work and no play.

"It's really cool doing things to help other people out," Albright said, "but it's also fun because you get to hang out with your friends while you do it."

Inuit artists exhibit in Newark

Drawings by contemporary Inuit artists from the Arctic Circle will be showcased in the exhibition, "The Story Teller's Hand: Inuit Drawings from the Frederick and Lucy S. Herman Collection of Native American Art," at the University Gallery, University of Delaware Newark campus, through Dec. 17.

Special programming related to the exhibition includes "Introducing the Inuit: A Children's Walk and Talk Art Workshop" for ages 8-12, Saturday, Nov. 18, from 1-2:30 p.m. in the Gallery. Pre-registration for this free workshop is required by calling 831-8242, Monday-Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Seating is limited so early registration is encouraged.

At noon on Wednesday, Dec. 6, a Brown Bag Lunchtime Lecture entitled, "Inuit Art in the Herman Collection," will be presented by Dr. Bernard Herman, director of the Center of American Material Culture Studies at the University and professor in the department of art history.

The University of Delaware acquired the Frederick and Lucy

S. Herman Native American Art Collection in Spring 2000. Almost 15 years ago, the Hermans also developed an interest in Inuit art, attracted by drawings which compellingly depicted a society on the verge of transition.

Until recently, the Inuits were a semi-nomadic people who roamed from British Columbia to the Arctic Circle. With the expert guidance of the late Joe Murphy of the Inuit Art Gallery of Vancouver, the Hermans started the process of educating themselves about the lives of these native artists, and began acquiring works by masters like Irene Avaalaaq and Jessie Oonark of Baker Lake, and Pitseolak Ashoona of Cape Dorset.

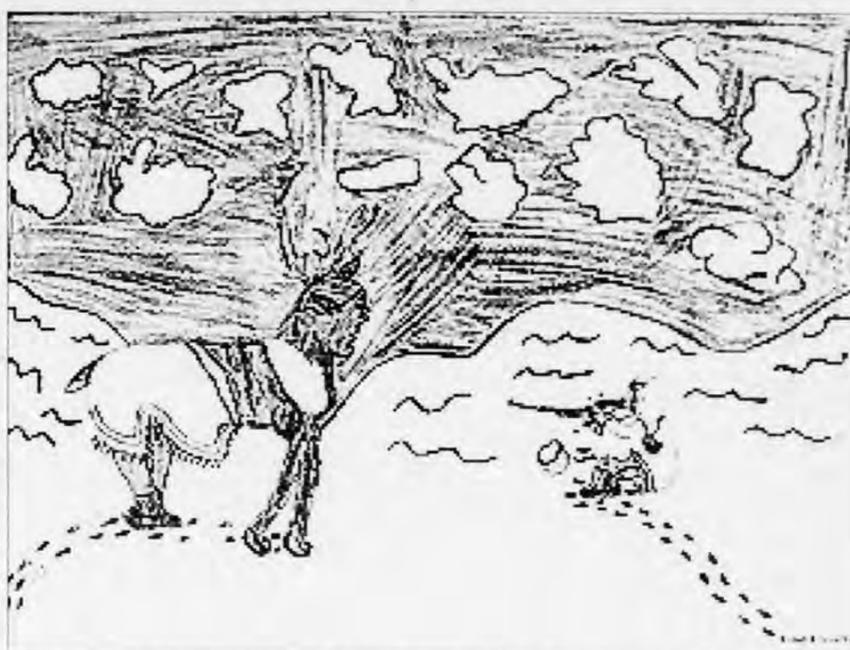

The Herman's Inuit drawings, which now number almost 200 and comprise the majority of works in their Native American art collection, portray the Inuit's everyday lives and traditions over the span of three generations. There are scenes of their hunts, the wildlife in their environment, their rituals, myths, and legends. Increasingly evident in the work collected in the 1990s is the emerging awareness and influence of modern life in the 21st century. These images share an unique artistic perspective, and as importantly, serve as critical anthropological documents which chronicle a quickly vanishing culture.

In seeking a permanent home for their collection, the Herman's were impressed by the recent establishment of the University's Center for American Material Cultural Studies, which builds on the institution's significant tradition of interdisciplinary studies, and the University Gallery's commitment to training students in the standards and practices of the museum profession by utilizing collections in a hands-on way.

A major exhibition of the entire collection is slated for 2003, in observance of the United Nations' "Decade of the World's Indigenous People" and the University Gallery's 25th anniversary.

The University Gallery is located on the second floor of Old College, on the corner of Main Street and North College Avenue in downtown Newark.

Drawings by the Inuit show scenes of their hunts, the wildlife in their environment, their rituals, myths, and legends.

Hours are 11 a.m.-5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, and 1-5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. The Gallery is closed on Mondays, during exhibition production, and all University holidays. All museum events are free to the public unless otherwise noted. For more information, call 831-8242.

Drawings highlight careers of Isadora Duncan and artist

Special to the Newark Post "Line Dance: Abraham Walkowitz's Drawings of Isadora Duncan," runs University Gallery through Dec. 17.

The Gallery's permanent holdings include nearly 1,500 drawings and other objects from the estate of Russian-born artist, Abraham Walkowitz (1878-1965), given by New York art dealer Virginia Zabriskie in 1993. Of these, 400 drawings are of the great modern dancer Isadora Duncan.

The exhibition includes an estimated 100 works on paper — many of which have never before been exhibited. Representing many media, pencil, pastel, watercolor, charcoal, ink, and oil studies, these drawings and studies demonstrate Walkowitz's thoughts on the very foundations of modernism.

He realized that linear and formal expression was not limited to abstraction, but to the ways line could define emotion as well as structure. This emotive nature, this passion of line, is clearly characterized in the Isadora

Duncan studies. Many of the abstractions with musical titles such as "Symphony in Lines" clearly relate to the kineticism of Isadora's dancing as well as to music, which gave her work (and Walkowitz's) an undergirding of structure and passion.

This exhibition will evaluate Walkowitz as an interpreter of the new American modernism.

The Isadora drawings manifest this expression, but in their own right, open a dialogue to viewers about modernism in dance, and the struggles apparent in communicating this movement in the early twentieth century to the mostly puritanical American audiences.

Clearly, Duncan was an obsession of Walkowitz's. The several hundred works of the charismatic dancer held in the University Gallery collection are a fraction of the copious number he produced in his career. Isadora Duncan's dynamism fed Walkowitz's imagination like no other subject, and he captured her spirit on paper in an almost cinematographic way.

In conjunction with the exhibition, numerous interpretive programs have been developed.

Janaea Rose Lyn, of Elkton, MD, a third generation Duncan dancer and historian, will perform on Nov. 19 as Guest Artist with the University Gallery's collaborating partner, the Mid-Atlantic Ballet of Newark, in a program of Duncan repertoire which features the Andante Con Moto from Shubert's Symphony No. 9, and the famous Brahms Waltz Op. 39 #15.

All museum events are free to the public. For more information, call 831-8242.

Holiday tours planned at Judge Morris house

The Judge Morris Estate located on Polly Drummond Hill Road in Newark will be open for a Holiday Season House Tour and Party on Dec. 8, 9, 10, 15, 16 and 17 beginning at 5, 6:30 and 8 p.m. Visitors will be transported from a main parking area to the site and will be "briefed" for their jump back into time, to the year

1939 (when Benny Goodman was the King of Swing!) The visitors assume the role of arriving guests joining Mary Smith Morris, the judge's only daughter, as she shows them several rooms in the house that the judge and his family have lovingly restored in Colonial Revival style. The feeling of finding oneself at a party nearly 60 years in the past is enhanced by period tree decorations, music, and radio broadcasts. Entertainment and refreshments are included, just as visitors would expect from any party hosted by the Morris family. $15 per person. Reservations may be made by calling 368-6900.

Election 2000

The Newark Post asked local candidates to tell us the three most critical political issues facing constituents in their district and what they will do in the first six months in office to improve or directly affect the lives of constituents.

State Senator David Sokola and challenger Paul Welsh in the 8th District, State Representative John Viola in the 26th District, and Goodwin Cobb in the 25h District did not respond by deadline. Here are the positions of those who answered our survey. Additional profiles are on Page 14.

Connor's constituent concerns top list

State Senator Dori Connor (R-Penn Acres) feels the three most critical political issues facing constituents in her district are education concerns, quality of life, including development, infrastructure and environment, and health concerns.

Connor said she developed her priority list from her extensive community involvement. "I represent over 130 communities and most of them meet very regularly," said Connor. "Since my election in 1997, I have attended over 1,000 meetings with my constituents. If re-elected I will continue with my "grass-roots policy" within my district."

Connor said this is the best way to share what is happening on the state level and hear opinions on legislation. "It also affords me the opportunity to offer advice in solving community problems, coordinate meetings with other branches of government, share pertinent information that affects them and to address any personal concerns that the attendees may have," she said.

Connor said she is blessed to have a very active constituency. "Through these meetings, your voices are heard...by your civic leaders" she said. "As a partnership, we have made many changes to improve the quality of life, both within the communities and in surrounding areas."

Connor was a lead sponsor of Senate Bill 280 which prohibits waste incinerators within three miles of any school, park, health facility or church.

She serves on the House and Senate Joint Bond Bill, Administrative Services, Children, Youth and Families, Labor and Industrial Relations, and Natural Resources and Environmental Control committees in the General Assembly.

Connor said she is an activist for all communities and has a proven record of commitment to the 12th Senatorial District. "I will match my record of service with anyone and plan to continue in the same manner when re-elected," she said. "As your full-time legislator, my time is dedicated to you! Thank you for allowing me to have the special opportunity to serve you in the State Senate."

A graduate of West Chester University and a former teacher of music education, Connor is the widow of the late State Senator Robert Connor.

Her community memberships include the 7 and 40 Alliance, Bear/Glasgow Council of Civic Organizations, Delaware Riverkeeper Network, Delaware Sea Grant Advisory Council, 2000-2001, Friends of Bear library, Board member, Friends of Delaware Libraries, Grassroots Citizens of Children, National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL), National Trust for Historic Preservation, New Castle County Civic League, New Castle Historical Society, Preservation Delaware Inc., Route 40 Corridor Study Committee Member and Superstars! in Education Committee

McMurray sees sprawl as critical issue

William McMurray, seeking a seat in the General Assembly for the 12th Senatorial District, said sprawl, education, and quality of life are the top issues.

"Some of you may remember when there were only five stoplights from the Maryland line to the 13/40 split," McMurray said. "Now we have six stoplights within one-and-a-half miles."

Some growth is good but with overdevelopment comes sprawl and congestion, both of which affect the quality of life. "I spend more time at stoplights than I do with my kids," McMurray said.

One of McMurray's main priorities will be to slow sprawl and congestion to tolerable levels. "If we want our property values to continue to rise and not fall, then we need bolder steps," he said. "We need a five-year moratorium on new growth and development on previously undeveloped land."

McMurray said developed land and old, ugly, rundown areas should be rebuilt and modernized. "Why destroy forests and watersheds when a vacant storefront sits empty right next door?" he asked.

12TH DISTRICT

In addition, McMurray said, slowing development will buy time to rebuild the infrastructure. "With a five-year moratorium on development we can build the roads and schools for the future," he said. "Not the ones we needed five years ago, which are now obsolete."

McMurray said a 20-minute commute within New Castle County should be the goal instead of how many stoplights can fit in a 1.5-mile area. "And we need to build schools," he said. "Most corporate studies show that good schools are the number one reason that people move into a neighborhood."

McMurray said he will fight to build 12 new schools. "I want class sizes down to 15-20 students per classroom, for all ages, especially during the problem teen years," he said.

McMurray said Delaware will need more teachers. "I want Delaware to be the first choice of any teacher coming out into the teaching profession," he said. "With the right leadership there is no reason why Delaware's schools cannot rank with the top districts in the country."

McMurray said before voting I ask that people think about the last three years and where we will be if that trend continues another four. "If indeed you want to continue down the same path we are currently on, so be it," he said. "But should you be going my way, I would be honored to walk with you and take us there."

McMurray lists his occupation as manager of the New Castle Inn, Marriott, Pesico Inc., Metromedia and currently with Delaware Dining. A graduate of Carleton College, he is a member of the Bancroft and Leisure elementary school PTAs.

Boulden wants more improvement in education system

State Representative Timothy Boulden (R-Newark) believes the three most critical political issues facing constituents in the 23rd District are education, transportation and health care.

"Although we have passed many bills over the last six years to improve education, we have not to my satisfaction, dealt with four issues I think are critical," said Boulden. "We must continue our efforts and be successful in returning to neighborhood schools."

Boulden also noted the need to have a fair and expedient method for removing disruptive students and in the classroom.

"The Site Based Management Law needs to be improved so that parents and teachers can have a voice that will be heard in each school and have a say in the critical issues like curriculum, discipline, grouping, and uniforms," Boulden said. "We also need to improve the Charter Schools laws so that we have viable education options."

Boulden wants to continue to take "the small steps" to improve transportation and reduce traffic congestion in Newark while keeping the pressure on for a bypass to be built. "I will continue to work on both areas," he said. "Newark has seen an increase in funding for short-term projects since I became chairman of the House Transportation Committee, and I will continue to work to see that the smaller projects like intersection improvements, computerized signalization systems, pedestrian safety, traffic patterns, and Casho Mill

Boulden

23RD DISTRICT

Road underpass pedestrian tunnel (construction of the tunnel will be in the spring of 2001) are completed."

Boulden believes it is important to continue discussions with Cecil and Chester counties in Maryland and Pennsylvania about a by-pass. "Without their cooperation and approval it will not be possible," he said. "Through my position on the Transportation Committee and as an alternate on the Bond Bill Committee I have gotten commitments to fund a disproportionate amount of the cost of a bypass if approval for the project can be obtained."

Boulden said although we have made great strides, we need an increased focus on improving health care for all Delawareans. "There are still a great number of people in the state that are not covered or under covered," he said. "We must take the steps to make health care available for everyone."

"It is also important to me to expand the prescription coverage we put in place last year to include more senior citizens."

Boulden's other General Assembly committee assignments include the Desegregation Committee which he chairs, and Education, Health and Human Development, and Land Use and Infrastructure committees.

Boulden noted he made certain promises when he was first elected in 1994, including to keep the lines of communication open with everyone in the 23rd District through "Breakfast with Tim," regular newsletters and town hall meetings, to represent everyone, regardless of party affiliation, and to be honest and ethical at all times," Boulden said. "I have kept my promises."

He said he works as hard as he possibly can to help keep Newark the best place in our state to live. "If I am re-elected I will continue to do everything in my power to represent Newark to the best of my abilities. It has been an honor serving the 23rd District."

Boulden is vice-president of Boulden Oil & Propane Co. in Newark. He is a graduate of Newark High School and Clemson University. His numerous local affiliations include board of directors of the Newark Charter School, Emmaus House, Newark Senior Center and the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation. He also serves on the Policy Committee for the the Wilmington Area Planning Council.

Ulbrich wants to continue education focus

State Representative Stephanie A. Ulbrich said constituent surveys, more than 200 civic meetings each year, Civic Leaders Advisory Committee meetings, and weekly meetings with residents give her "a very good idea" of the important issues in the 25th District.

"I have determined that the three critical issues are education, public safety/substance abuse, and taxes together with government spending," said Ulbrich.

"If re-elected, as vice chairman of the House Education Committee, I will continue my primary focus on improving the quality of public education," she said. "Specifically, I will work for the passage of my bill to encourage and support parental involvement and accountability."

Ulbrich said she will also increase the focus on the validity of current state standards and testing.

In regard to public safety, Ulbrich wants to continue the work of the 800 MHz Task Force which she chairs. "I will ask our bipartisan committee to review the safety standards and requirements applicable to burn training practice for volunteer fire personnel," Ulbrich said.

Also chairman of the House Substance Abuse Committee, Ulbrich said she will work with the Department of Health and Social Services to examine the accessibility and effectiveness of current substance abuse treatment programs.

Ulbrich was primary sponsor of Choice legislation, Reorganization of the Alcohol Beverage Control Commission and of the Academic Achievement Requirement for Student Driving. She was a joint sponsor of Charter Schools and the Gross Receipts Tax Cut. She also chaired the task force appointed to investigate the Delaware Department of Transportation's real estate and fiscal management operations in 1998. Ulbrich has 12 years experience in retail banking and worked in the family-owned insurance agency. Currently a full-time legislator, she holds a degree in economics and political science from the University of Delaware. "I am proud to serve the 25th District as a full-time State Representative," she said. "I am grateful to the people of our district for their support and look forward to continuing our work on behalf of our community together."

Ulbrich

A member of numerous community organizations, she is vice-president of the West Chestnut Hill Residents' Civic Association, Chapter president of the Newark Jaycees and administrative vice-president and management training vice president for the Delaware Jaycees.

In addition to General Assembly duties already noted, Ulbrich is chair of the House and Senate Joint Sunset Committee, vice-chair of the House Education Committee, and a member of the House Health and Human Development, Business Communications and Commerce, and Clearinghouse committees.

Megahan says good leadership is lacking in 26th district

John Megahan believes the three most critical political problems facing the families of the 26th District are a need for good consistent leadership, improving communication and cooperation, and controlling district development and growth.

"People are tired of being abused over the education crisis," he said. "The people want the schools returned to their neighborhoods and they want them back under local control. They don't want more promises and excuses, they want action."

Megahan said as a pastor he also served as a teacher in public, private and parochial school systems and currently serves as a substitute teacher, and tutor to several students in a variety of subjects. "I have also written classroom curriculum for junior high and high school students, and have taught on the college level as well," he said. "I am well prepared on the student testing and assessment issues and I have graded student's reports and examinations."

To improve communication,

26TH DISTRICT

Megahan suggests important meetings be held in the local communities that are affected by the decisions and scheduled so that the maximum amount of people can attend. "In addition, I will hold four quarterly meetings a year throughout the district for questions and answers from the district families, and attend local and community meetings on a regular basis."

Megahan also suggests a website that will give important information to the district 24 hours a day everyday. "The website can be updated with information on local meetings, contact numbers, and even have a place for interaction and discussion."

The third area of political importance, according to Megahan, is urban sprawl and development. "It seems everyone wants to buy or build here in our district," he said. "Can our roads and intersections handle more traffic? Where will we put the children in our schools? We need to balance our growth and prosperity with common sense development and cooperation among the local, county and state agencies." Megahan said he refused to accept any money from builders, contractors, developers and other special interest groups. "I want to stay independent," he said. "I know a number of the builders and contractors in the area on a professional level, and I know that they are good reputable businessmen who do a good job at what they do. But, I also know that we need a new state representative with independent thinking."

Megahan wants impact fees charged to developers to be used to offset expenses for schools. "We will have to build five to seven new schools in the district," he said. "When we combine the concept of neighborhood schools with this issue, we don't have a day to waste. We need an immediate and comprehensive plan and we also need to start buying the property to build these new schools now while the property is still available. Using impact fees would be a great solution to a critical problem."

Megahan is a former president of his community civic association. He attended the University of Louisville and later transferred to Valley Forge Christian College where he studied pastoral ministry and theology. In 1998, he retired from full-time pastoring to begin a career as a financial consultant.

He coaches soccer and baseball, and is a member of a Parent-Teacher Association, several community organizations, and a number of national groups.

He has been the volunteer chaplain of the Wilmington Blue Rocks baseball team for eight seasons. "I have a unique blend of inspiration, motivation, and perspiration," he said. "I've resigned as the president of my civic association, and all of the board commitments that I have, I have freed up my entire schedule to be the next representative from the district."

Hendricks includes environment in top issues

Judith Hendricks said the most important issues facing Newark are improving the public education system, decreasing truck traffic and congestion on streets, and protecting and cleaning up the water supply and improving the environment.

"I will work to see that site-based management is strengthened in our area public schools," Hendricks said in regard to education.

Hendricks has also pledged to work for increased funding for Head Start staff and after school programs, additional childcare funding and training, and support smaller class sizes and more financial help for local districts.

"We also need to create alternative funding sources for education and increase property tax relief, particularly for senior citizens," Hendricks said.

Hendricks wants to form a Greater Newark Traffic Advisory Committee to address transportation issues. "We need participation of city, university, merchant, resident and state representatives to provide broad input for comprehensive planning," she said.

"We need an effective truck route around our community, improved public transportation with special emphasis on weekend service and an increase in pedestrian and bike traffic routes."

23RD DISTRICT

In regard to health care, Hendricks said she will improve benefits. "I will work hard to expand prescription benefits for middle class seniors," she said. "We also need increased emphasis on education and substance-abuse prevention programs, including expanded school-based wellness centers."

Hendricks would like to use "tobacco-settlement" funds for primary decision-making by health care professionals. "We need more aggressive action by the State Insurance Commissioner's Office to ensure viable health insurance options for consumers," she said.

Hendricks is a graduate of the University of Delaware with a masters degree in nursing. She is currently a nurse practitioner at the Health Care Center at Christiana. She is also an assistant professor in the College of Health and Nursing Sciences at the University of Delaware.

POST GAME

It's been a great football season

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

It has already been quite a football year here and it's just the first week of November.

The University of Delaware and Newark High are both making news, not only locally but, nationally.

It's not really anything new for the Blue Hens to have national recognition.

Nevertheless,

a No. 2

national ranking,

having a chance for an undefeated

regular season

and the possibility of a national championship

have fans fired up.

Similarly, Newark High is undefeated and ranked No. 1 in the state. The Yellowjackets are also used to success, being three-time defending state champions.

So what's different about this season. Well, for the first time ever Newark is getting national recognition.

The Jackets were ranked No.

25 in the Rivals.com

National Top 25 this week.

Rivals.com is a network of high school web sites across the country. There is representation from about every state. The Top 25 is very similar to that of USA

Today's and thus about as reliable.

Very often, we in Delaware feel our teams and our schools are overlooked because of the size of our state.

Sometimes this is true.

Sometimes it's not.

It's probably a little bit of an inferiority complex and we shouldn't feel that way.

Just look at what happens when local teams get the opportunity to compete against the best other states have to offer. Newark

National's trip to the Senior

League World Series this past summer is a recent example.

For local football teams,

however, it's been difficult to get attention outside the state.

There have been many teams in the past that have been worthy of such recognition. It's good to see that

Newark has finally broken through. Maybe this will make future powerhouses

more likely to also be recognized regionally and nationally.

For Blue Hen fans, this recognition is like a trip back in time.

The Hens dominated everybody throughout the 1970s. The school has consistently been good throughout the 80s and 90s as well.

But the way this team

has dominated opponents

has many thinking back to the good old days.

Right now, Delaware is ranked No. 2 in the country behind only Georgia Southern.

There's a good possibility it can get through the remaining three games of

Nationally ranked Jackets win again

Newark rolls past McKean, stays unbeaten

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Week in and week out, the script remains the same for the No. 1 ranked Newark High football team. The Yellowjackets built a huge lead and cruised to a 55-34 victory over McKean in last Friday night's Homecoming game at Hoffman Stadium.

The win improved Newark's record to 7-0 overall and 4-0 in Flight A. It was also the Jackets' 43rd win in its last 44 tries.

Newark led 41-7 at halftime and was able to get playing time for the second and third teams during the much of the third and fourth quarters.

Nelson Drew led Newark's offensive attack with 272 yards rushing and four touchdowns on just 13 carries.

"Nelson Drew certainly had a nice night," said Newark coach Butch Simpson. "He continues to do a great job running the ball."

The Jackets, as they have all season, scored first on an 11-yard pass from quarterback Eric Spiese to Steve Selk. John Brayman added the first of his seven extra points and Newark led 7-0.

McKean responded with an 80-yard run and the first touchdown of the season scored on the Jackets' first-team defense.

"We knew it would happen at some time," Simpson said of the opposition finally scoring against the first unit. "They did a nice job and we over-pursued and they scored. We were interested in seeing how they would respond. I think we did a nice job."

The offense answered with two quick touchdowns to push the lead to 21-7 before the first quarter ended. In the first seven plays following the touchdown, the Newark defense held the Highlanders to negative yards on six of them.

Newark scored three more times in the second quarter - two by Drew on-runs of four and 29 yards. Austin Kisner, who scored once in the first quarter, also caught a 30-yard touchdown pass from a Spiese in the second quarter.

"Eric Spiese had a nice game," Simpson said. "It was his first game with two touchdown passes."

Drew Kisner also had a big night for the Jackets, continually coming up with big punt returns to set the Newark offense up in great field position.

Drew added touchdown runs of 89 and 58 yards in the second half to finish off the Jackets' scoring.

Unlike prior Newark opponents, McKean kept battling with its first team throughout the second half, scoring four more times against Newark reserves to make the score appear closer than the game actually was.

"We knew McKean would probably have more good football players than just about any other team we've played," Simpson said. "They were a tough, physical football team that also has some good athletes."

The Jackets will face another talented team Saturday at Christiana. The Vikings began the year ranked as one of the top three teams in the state and after some early losses have won three of its last four games.

"We thought Christiana would be the team to beat when we started this year," Simpson said of his cross-town rivals. "They have some good football players."

"I also think that the game will mean a lot to them. It's a big rivalry and a chance to show people how good they really are. It should be a great game."

Newark ranked No. 25 in nation

The Newark High football team moved in the Rivals.com National Top 25 Football Ranking this week.

After a month of being an honorable mention, Newark is now the 25th ranked team in the nation.

"It's not something that we were looking for," said Newark coach Butch Simpson. "But what I think it is most of all is good for Delaware high school football in general. I think we play good football here and it's nice to have a team from Delaware recognized."

The top team in the ranking is De La Salle, from Concord, Cal. De La Salle is 9-0 and has won an incredible 108 straight games.

Erie (Pa.) Cathedral Prep is No. 2 in ranking followed by Jenks, Okla., Long Beach (Cal.) Poly and St. Louis Honolulu (Hawaii).

The only other team from the Northeast to make the ranking is No. 10 Central Bucks West, from nearby Doylestown, Pa.

Hens happy on Homecoming

Roll to eighth straight win

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The University of Delaware football program has consistently been one of the top since moving from Division II to Division I-AA. There is, however, been just one thing missing - a national championship.

Now that the No. 2 ranked Blue Hens have rolled to an 8-0 record, many fans have already started dreaming of that lofty goal. There is, though, still work to be done, starting this week with a home game against New Hampshire.

The Wildcats are 5-3 after upsetting preseason conference favorite UMass last Saturday. New Hampshire has the Hens all they could handle last year in a 14-10 game in Durham and have won three of the last six games it has played in Delaware Stadium.

"New Hampshire is always tough," said Delaware coach Tubby Raymond, who notched his 292nd win last week against James Madison. "They're always big too. They may not be the fastest team, but they are very hard. Last year's game was one of the toughest football games we've played in years and I anticipate the same thing again this year."

The Wildcats always seem to have quality tailbacks and this season is no exception. Stephan Lewis, a sophomore from nearby Coatesville, Pa.,

Newark falls in v-ball playoff

Brandywine wins 3-game match

By JOE BACKER

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Brandywine High School volleyball team used good ball movement and a strong hitting attack to defeat Newark High 15-11, 10-15 and 15-8 Tuesday night at A.I. Dupont High School gym.

The game determined which team would represent Flight A in the upcoming Blue Hen Conference Championship match against Concord High School (Thurs. Nov. 2nd). Both teams finished with identical 12-2 records in conference this year.

Brandywine coach Sandy Kupchick said "It was kind of like a roller coaster ride with all the momentum shifts during the game, but the girls hung tough." Kupchick was very gracious about her opponent in the hard fought victory. "Newark didn't stop taking it to us all night, we were fortunate to prevail this time," she said.

Newark coach Lisa Ueltzhoffer said she was pleased with the effort shown by her girls.

"My girls played very tough tonight, they did a nice job," she said. "It was a good night of very good volleyball for everyone," said Ueltzhoffer.

From the outset, the Brandywine girls showed they were ready to play up to the challenge of winning the Conference title game by scoring eight of the first ten points. Senior hitter Megan Ferguson hit some strong serves for the lady Bulldogs, who moved the ball around the court with a crisp passing attack.

But the Yellowjackets came back with six points of their own to keep the first game close. After a time out, Brandywine got back into synch and scored seven of the next ten points to take the lead at 1-0. Brandywine's Junior hitter Alisa Grindel had a few good serves and several strong defense shots.

In the second game, Newark showed good spirit. The lady Jackets took control early, scoring nine of the first eleven points. The middle game was highlighted by many long rallies, with points being hard to tally.

Newark's junior Lauren Nahodil and senior Danielle Pritchett led the attack.

The Brandywine squad kept things interested by scoring an abundance of point, and eventually tied the game at ten apiece. Kupchick said, "call us the 'comeback kids', because we never give up out there, our motto is 'we don't sing until the score is 15.'"

But Game Two went to Newark on the strong serving of freshman Amber Walker, thus setting up a third and final game to determine the conference champion.

Unfortunately for Newark fans, the suspense was taken out of the final game in the first few minutes.

Brandywine took charge by scoring nine of the first ten points, with seniors Ashley Beck and Lisa Vansant leading the team with strong serves and good passing. Newark tried to get back into the game with three points, but Brandywine was able to trade points to win out 15-8 and take the title.

Kupchick said the team did a good job in finding the openings on the floor.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

NELSON DREW - NEWARK

One of the big reasons the Newark High football team has had such a great season so far has been the play of running back Nelson Drew.

That outstanding play was evident last Friday in the Yellowjackets' 55-34 victory over McKean. Drew had 272 yards and four touchdowns on just 13 carries to help lead Newark to the win. In addition, he caught a pass for 30 yards and played his typically strong game at linebacker.

"Nelson Drew had a nice game," said an understated Butch Simpson following Friday night's game. "He continues to run the ball very well for us."

In seven games, Drew has piled up 941 yards on 69 carries (a 13.6 yards per carry average). He has 15 rushing touchdowns and another receiving.

Drew, who transferred from Caravel Academy over the summer, certainly has been a welcome addition to the Jackets.

"Nelson Drew has been a pleasure to coach this season," Simpson said. "He's obviously a very talented football player, but more than that he's a good person and he fits right in with the character of this football team."

Against McKean Drew scored on runs of four, 30, 57 and 89 yards.

What's even more impressive about his total rushing yards is that because of Newark's lopsided victories, Drew hasn't played in many third or fourth quarters.

He has gotten all of his yards when the game has been on the line and when his team has needed them most. He also shares carries with Newark's other outstanding backs (Brandon Snow, Austin Kisner and Drew Kisner).

No. 2 Blue Hens prep for New Hampshire racked up 245 yards and two touchdowns on 35 carries in the win over the Minutemen. For the season, Lewis has compiled 894 rushing yards and is averaging 111.8 yards per game.

► HENS, from 12

In addition to the strong running attack, the New Hampshire attempts to confuse the defense by running a no-huddle offense from multiple formations.

"They have run everything," Raymond said of the Wildcats' offense. "They call all their plays on the ball we'll have to call all our defenses verbally with nicknames. It can be confusing."

New Hampshire is going to have to hope its offense is confusing as the Hens still lead the conference in scoring defense (8.9 points per game) and total defense (237.8 yards per game).

"Delaware is the biggest challenge we have had all year," said New Hampshire coach Sean McDonnell. "We know we have no shot at the Atlantic-10 title, but if we can get to eight wins, we can have a shot at the play-offs. If we could somehow get out Delaware with a win, it would be a big thing."

McDonnell also hopes last week's victory over Massachusetts was one that turns his program around. The three previous weeks, the Wildcats lost to James Madison, Richmond and Villanova - all premier teams in the A-10.

"We've been good enough to hang around some of the best teams in the conference," McDonnell said. "We finally found a way to win against one of those teams."

"This week, though, we're playing the best of the bunch in Delaware."

9-0 would be nice

This is the seventh Delaware team, and first since 1995, to begin a season 8-0. A win over New Hampshire would mark just the fourth time in school history that the Hens have started a season with nine straight wins.

The 1946 team went 10-0 and were named AP Small College National Champions. The 1972 went 10-0 and was named AP and UPI Small College National Champions. The 1995 team finished 11-2 and advanced to the I-AA quarterfinals.

ing in Newark 31-7 in 1998 as quarterback Matt Nagy threw for 244 yards and two touchdowns in his first start of the season. New Hampshire's last win in the series came in 1991 when the Wildcats pulled out a 45-28 victory in Newark.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Basketball League

The City of Newark will be sponsoring basketball leagues for boys and girls ages 8-9, 10-11, 12-14 and 15-18.

Registration fees are $39 for 8-9 year-old Newark residents, $44 for non-residents, $46 for 10-11 year-old residents, $51 for non-residents and $51 for 12-18 year-old residents and $56 for others.

Proof of age is required at time of registration. Registration is on-going.

Practices begin in Nov. with games beginning in early Dec. Call 366-7060 for more information.

Toys for Kids Softball

Get in the holiday spirit early and help in a great cause. Newark Parks & Recreation will be sponsoring the third annual Toys for Kids Softball Tournament with two divisions, Mens and Co-Ed on Nov. 11-12 at Handloff Park. This tournament will provide much needed items for local children.

The format is double elimination, one-pitch with teams hitting off their own pitcher. Entry fee is $25, plus each team member must bring a $10 unwrapped gift. All gifts will be donated to a local charity. For more information, call 366-7074.

NEWARK (7-0) VS. CHRISTIANA (4-3) - Saturday afternoon at Christiana's Coder Field, 1. Newark puts its undefeated season, No. 1 state ranking and No. 25 national ranking on the line against crosstown rival Christiana. The Vikings entered fall practice as one of the teams expected to challenge Newark's reign on the state title. Christiana, however, had tough luck early in the season and now must win out to have any chance of making the state tournament. The Vikings do know that a win over Newark, though, could make their season. The Yellowjackets have met every challenge this year. In fact, they have dominated every team they have played. It should be an emotional game but Newark has too much talent and too much to lose. The Pick: Newark 28, Christiana 6.

GLASGOW (1-6) VS. MCKEAN (2-5) - Friday night at Glasgow, 7. Both of these teams are probably better than their records indicate. Both, however, have run into some tough luck along the way. It should be a hard-hitting game with both teams trying to get a long awaited win. McKean appears to have more weapons at this point of the season and that could be the difference. The Pick: McKean 27, Glasgow 20.

HODGSON (5-3) VS. CONCORD (1-6) - Saturday afternoon at Concord, 2. The Silver Eagles still have an outside shot at making the Division II state tournament. They should not do anything to blow that opportunity this week. Hodgson is simply too strong for the Raiders. The Pick: Hodgson 27, Concord 7.

Coons will work on annexation, sprawl issues in first six months

Chris Coons, running for president of New Castle County Council, believes the county faces threats to quality of life from overdevelopment and sprawl. "We need to resolve difficult issues involving annexation and expansion of the county sewer system south of the canal," he said. "We need to broaden investments in libraries, parkland and open space while ensuring the county government is on a solid financial footing for the long term."

On land use, Coons said he will work with the newly-elected Governor, County Executive and municipal mayors to convene a conference on managing sprawl and overdevelopment. "I will introduce revisions to the Unified Development Code that will promote redevelopment of older, existing commercial and industrial properties as the best way to slow sprawl south of the canal."

COUNTY COUNCIL

Coons said.

Coons also supports passage of ordinances to improve community notification and involvement in the planning process. On annexation and sewer system expansion, Coons said he will work with the communities and state representatives to find a solution that prevents annexation from being merely an end-run around the UDC. "Our current sewer fund surplus should first support modernizing the system north of the canal," Coons said. "I would re-examine and question whether we need a large new sewer system below the canal."

Coons said he is against increasing property taxes. "If the projected county surplus is confirmed, I will work to increase the property tax exemption for seniors, invest in life-saving equipment for paramedics and police, and support increased open space and agricultural land preservation," he said.

Although he has not previously run for office, Coons said he has been a volunteer on local campaigns and a delegate to a 1996 national convention.

Coons, a resident of Wilmington, is currently an attorney for W.L. Gore & Associates Inc. in Newark. He is a graduate of Amherst College with degrees in chemistry and political science, and Yale Law School. He also holds a masters degree in ethics from Yale Divinity School.

Ramone believes County Council needs more balanced representation

Michael Ramone, running for New Castle County Council president, believes more balanced representation on council, open responsible communications with the public and increases in county services are the top priorities.

"Council needs a grass-roots businessperson to obtain balance, not a third lawyer on the seven-seat council," said Ramone. "Council needs an individual who knows how to maintain a fiscally responsible government, and we need to open council, build council unity and maintain high standards of ethical conduct."

Among county services which need more funding, Ramone listed libraries to ensure greater access and increased availability of materials with safe access to the Internet, paramedic funding to replenish staff and ensure continued excellence in response time, and sewer systems north of the C & D canal which need repair, specifically the treatment plant in the city of Wilmington.

"South of the canal we need to re-examine the plans while making an effort to use environmentally friendly technology," Ramone said. "Parks and recreation need additional funds to ensure safe family activities, and we need to increase police staffing to insure quick response time and reduce the potential for crime, as well as upgrade technology and equipment."

Ramone also wants to preserve farms and open space and curb sprawl and over-development and have better planning and coordination of transportation. "Government agencies should work together to revitalize abandoned industrial, commercial and residential sites," he said.

Ramone favors Neighborhood Schools and House Bill #300, which implements them. "I believe in Charter schools and School Choice," Ramone said. "We also need to reduce unfair transfer and property taxes for our seniors."

Ramone is the owner of Ramone's Flower Shop, the Delaware Swim and Fitness Center and Aquatic Management Systems. He is co-owner of Nichols-Gilmore Funeral Home. A graduate of St. Mark's High School and the University of Delaware, he is a member of the New Castle County Republican Committee and the Newark Republican Region Committee.

Elkton, Md., resident John H. Talley was named a recipient of the prestigious George V. Cohee Public Service Award by the Eastern Section of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists (AAPG). Associate Director of the Delaware Geological Survey (DGS) at the University of Delaware.

The NHS Marching band received the Superior rating at the Marple Newtown Band-A-Rama in Newtown Square, Pa. The band was one of 12 bands from Pennsylvania and Delaware that competed. Newark also was awarded best percussion at the festival. Two weeks prior to this success, the percussion section won Best Percussion at the Brandywine Tournament of Bands.

Talley is a registered geologist in Delaware and Pennsylvania, and a Certified Professional Geologist of the American Institute of Professional Geologists.

He has served on dozens of boards, committees and tasks forces for university and government agencies and professional organizations.

A 27-year member of the DGS, Talley has served as the survey's associate director for eight years.

Talley holds a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Delaware and a master's from Franklin and Marshall College, and is current vice president of the Capitol Section of AIPG and is on the editorial board of "Geotimes," a newsmagazine of the earth sciences.

Founded in 1917, the AAPG is the world's largest professional geological society, with over 30,000 members, providing publications, conferences and educational opportunities to members of the geoscientific community.

Maiorano joins McCrery Funeral

Auto Insurance Discounts

Many people wonder how their auto insurance rates are established or what they can do to influence the costs. Auto insurers use extensive statistical evidence enabling them to predict, on average, which drivers represent lower risks and which represent higher risk.

The elderly lady who drives only to church on Sunday would pay less for auto insurance than people who drive more miles in more hazardous traffic conditions. Check with your insurer about reduced premiums for driving less than a specified number of miles annually. If your family has more than one car, ask your insurer if you could save premiums by changing how they are used. Driving an older car to work, for instance, may reduce mileage on the newer car enough to make it worthwhile.

The area in which you live affects both the likelihood of you having an accident, and the cost of repairs. Figures support common logic that more accidents occur in high-density traffic areas and drivers may pay relatively more for auto coverage.

Also check to see if your insurer's policy includes a forgiveness provision for your first at-fault accident, and maintain your safe-driver rates if you have been accident free for a period of years. Finally, take advantage of the one rating factor over which you have the most control - be a safe, defensive driver.

For coverage of your home, car, business and life, call Michael Alpaugh.

Newark Post and Route 40 Flier

Covered porch, bay windows make a charming entrance

With a walk-around covered porch across the front, the Phalia shows characteristics of a large range style home. It has numerous windows across the front providing an open gracious look and extra light on the inside. Bay windows front and back give a balanced look and add special areas for unique rooms.

Located inside the entry bay are closets and a bench on both sides. This provides more than ample coat storage. Facing towards the rear of the home, the ornate stairs to the upper floor and to the unfinished basement decorate the center of the hall.

The covered dining room is on the right and is well lit with extra large windows. Easy access to the kitchen makes the dining area great for use in family gatherings or formal entertaining.

The kitchen is very open with the counters running along one wall in a C-shape. There is a large window over the sink looking out onto the back deck. In an alcove area between the garage and the kitchen is the utility room with a half bath.

Between the kitchen and the utility room is a door that opens onto the back deck, ideal for taking food outside for those lazy days in the sun. Opposite the door to the rear is one opening onto the front covered porch, with a storage closet and linen closet located on each side of a window seat. Between the utility and the storage area is the door to the large two-car garage.

On the other side of the home is a large great room in the rear with a fireplace on the left side. Two doors open off this room, one to the front porch and one to the rear deck. Between the great room and the kitchen is a nook surrounded by windows, great for the early morning breakfasts.

Completing the first floor is an office in the left front, with French doors opening from the hall, easily accessible from the front entry. This room has built-in shelves and a large window seat. This is an ideal location for an office as it is separate from the rest of the home, yet easy to bring clients into if needed.

Upstairs area three bedrooms and the master suite. In the front-bayed dormer is a reading area. Bedrooms 3 and 4 have a full bath with a tub between. Each bedroom has a built-in closet. Bedroom 2 is adjacent to the master suite, which takes up the entire left rear of the upstairs. It has many amenities such as a large walk-in closet, two sinks, a shower, and a spa tub in the rear bay windows. Centrally located for all the bedrooms is a linen closet.

For a study kit of the Phalia (G24-735) send $24.95 to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Road East, Cottage Grove, OR 97424. Specify plan name and number for study plan. For a collection of plan books, send $20.00 or save by ordering the study plan and collection together for $34.95. For faster processing, call 1-800-562-1151.

CITY OF NEWARK DELAWARE BOARD OF ADJUSTMENT PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

NOVEMBER 16, 2000, 7:30 PM

Pursuant to Chapter 32, Article XIX of the Code of the City of Newark, Delaware, notice is hereby given of a public hearing at a regular meeting of the Board of Adjustment on Thursday, November 16, 2000 at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chamber, Newark Municipal Building, 220 Elktion Road, Newark, Delaware, to hear the following appeals:

1. The appeal of Gus Tsionas and Angela Tsionas-Matulas, for the property known as the Korner Diner (formerly Jimmy's Diner), 137 East Main Street, for the following variances:

(a) Chapter 32, Section 32-60(a)(2) requires a minimum setback of five feet for a ground sign. Plan indicates a two-foot setback.

(b) Chapter 32-60(a)(2) prohibits roof signs to extend beyond the end, bottom, or top edges of the roof surface on which they are supported. The previous roof sign fell under a grandfathered exception, but due to the diner being closed since May, 1999, the grandfather exception no longer applied.

2. The Appeal of Mark d. Sisk, esquire, for Marne Ryan, 28 Prospect Avenue, for the following variances:

(a) Chapter 32, Section 32-10(a) allows a one-family, detached dwelling unit or a semi-detached (duplex) dwelling building. Applicant is proposing to have two one-family detached dwelling units.

(b) Chapter 32, Section 32-10(c)(1) requires each dwelling unit to have a minimum lot area of 6,250 square feet. Applicant is proposing lot area of 2,187.5 square feet.

(c) Chapter 32, Section 32-10(c)(3) requires a minimum lot width of 50 feet. Existing lot width is 25 feet.

(d) Chapter 32, Section 32-47(j) requires two off-street parking spaces. Applicant's plan does not indicate any parking spaces.

ZONING CLASSIFICATION: RD
Any questions regarding the above appeals may be directed to the City Secretary's Office at 366-7070 prior to the meeting.

CITY OF NEWARK DELAWARE BOARD OF ADJUSTMENT PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

NOVEMBER 16, 2000, 7:30 PM

Pursuant to Chapter 32, Article XIX of the Code of the City of Newark, Delaware, notice is hereby given of a public hearing at a regular meeting of the Board of Adjustment on Thursday, November 16, 2000 at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chamber, Newark Municipal Building, 220 Elktion Road, Newark, Delaware, to hear the following appeals:

1. The appeal of Gus Tsionas and Angela Tsionas-Matulas, for the property known as the Korner Diner (formerly Jimmy's Diner), 137 East Main Street, for the following variances:

(a) Chapter 32, Section 32-60(a)(2) requires a minimum setback of five feet for a ground sign. Plan indicates a two-foot setback.

(b) Chapter 32-60(a)(2) prohibits roof signs to extend beyond the end, bottom, or top edges of the roof surface on which they are supported. The previous roof sign fell under a grandfathered exception, but due to the diner being closed since May, 1999, the grandfather exception no longer applied.

2. The Appeal of Mark d. Sisk, esquire, for Marne Ryan, 28 Prospect Avenue, for the following variances:

(a) Chapter 32, Section 32-10(a) allows a one-family, detached dwelling unit or a semi-detached (duplex) dwelling building. Applicant is proposing to have two one-family detached dwelling units.

(b) Chapter 32, Section 32-10(c)(1) requires each dwelling unit to have a minimum lot area of 6,250 square feet. Applicant is proposing lot area of 2,187.5 square feet.

(c) Chapter 32, Section 32-10(c)(3) requires a minimum lot width of 50 feet. Existing lot width is 25 feet.

(d) Chapter 32, Section 32-47(j) requires two off-street parking spaces. Applicant's plan does not indicate any parking spaces.

ZONING CLASSIFICATION: RD
Any questions regarding the above appeals may be directed to the City Secretary's Office at 366-7070 prior to the meeting.
