DuPont Engineers Will Build Community Near Korner Ketch

Faced With Commuting To The New Louviers Building, More Than 50 DuPont Engineers Band To Build Own Community

More than 80 engineers of the DuPont Company have joined in the North Star Corporation with the purpose of developing a $2,000,000 community for themselves in the vicinity of Korner Ketch, not far from the new Louviers Building at Milford Cross Roads.

While the organizers are all DuPont employees faced with the necessity of commuting back and forth to the new building at Milford Cross Roads, anyone who is interested in becoming a member of the new community is invited to participate in the plan. The North Star Corporation acquired the North Star and Barnstable Farms at Korner Ketch, about five miles north of Newark on the North Star-Hockessin Road which will be divided into three-quarter acre building lots. The corporation will install streets and other facilities and each corporate member will receive a clear title to his property.

Lots will sell for about $2,500 and the cost of homes is expected to range from $11,000 to $30,000. Everyone in the corporation will have a part in the administration of its affairs through the elected board of directors.

No house with less than 1,200 square feet of floor space may be constructed and houses will be placed at least 50 feet back of the property line from the roads.

Officials of the corporation pointed out that the matter of individual home construction, contracting, and financing is a matter for the individual owner, not the corporation. The corporation will not build homes, but it will develop the area, arrange for the street construction, and for other facilities.

While present plans provide only for home lots, future plans contemplate the establishment of a small residential parking center and spaces for an elementary school and churches. Investigations are now under way as to the possibility of establishing common conveniences such as a water supply.

Australian Official Will Make Keynote Address On Campus

Percy C. Spender Will Open Third Conference On World Economics

Percy C. Spender, Australian ambassador to the United States, will make the keynote speech at the Third Delaware Conference on World Economic Development April 24, Dr. Herbert Dorn announced today.

Primarily dedicated to strengthening the partnership between Eastern and Western members of the anti-Communist world, Spender was a leading figure in the formation of the anti-Communist Defense Alliance of the United States, Australia and New Zealand, and the adoption of the recent Japanese treaty.

But perhaps his greatest blow against the growing menace of communism was his plan in 1950 to boost living standards of Southeast Asian countries.

Known as the Spender or Colombo Plan, this relentless, long-pronged attack to destroy the breeding grounds of discontent and restlessness was unveiled by the 54-year-old statesman at the British Commonwealth's Foreign Minister's Conference at Ceylon.

The plan called for members of the Commonwealth to send food, machinery, technical aid and moral support to impoverished areas. History attests to the plan's success.

Deemed by his associates as one of the really outstanding members of the Australian Government, Spender entered life as a public administrator at the age of 36 when he became Sydney's youngest King's Counsel.

At 40 he entered politics and was elected to the House of Representatives as an Independent. In 1939 he was appointed Commonwealth Treasurer and when war broke out he was named minister of war by Prime Minister Robert Menzies.

After the war—and an interim rule by the Laborites—Menzies was returned to power. With him came Spender, this time as minister for external affairs. Later Spender became chairman.

Newark Girls In Cast

Joy Murray and Judith Kase, local Newark girls, have featured roles in the E 52 Players Fifth Annual Children's Theatre Show—that ever-famous "Pinochio"—to be given on the Mitchell Hall Stage April 23 at 7:30 p.m. and April 24 at 2:30 p.m.

Judy and Joy portray Columbine and Harlequin, respectively. Their latest appearance on the Mitchell boards was in "One Touch of Venus."

In "Pinochio," Harlequin and Columbine provide much of the excitement and fun. They will do special solo dances whose choreography is under the direction of Elizabeth Crook of the Music Department at the University. Their colorful and tricky costumes, as the nure cast's, are designed by Herman Middleton, E 52 Technical adviser.

Designed primarily for pre-school and elementary school age theatre-goers, "Pinochio" is the fifth annual children's show to be presented by the E 52 Players. The play will be directed by Dr. C. Robert Kase, director of the department of dramatic arts and speech.

Welcomed To Newark

Mr. and Mrs. Werner Plischkowsky, displaced persons from Germany, are welcomed to their new home in Newark by the Reverend Theodore L. Ludlow, rector of the St. Thomas' Episcopal Church. Under the sponsorship of the members of this church, and through the facilities of the National Council of the Churches of Christ, this couple will start a new life in our community.

Displaced Persons Happy With Prospect of New Newark Home

Included among the recent arrivals in the city of Newark is a lovable middle-aged couple from Germany who, despite the vexing traffic problem, growing industrialization, and various other things that worry present residents, look upon Newark as the most wonderful place in the world. As far as they are concerned, our city is the most beautiful spot in the world and the residents of Newark are the kindest people to be found anywhere.

Werner and Elli Plischkowsky are displaced persons from Germany and they have been brought to Newark through the facilities of the National Council of the Churches of Christ under the sponsorship of St. Thomas Episcopal Church of Newark.

Members of the church parish, in cooperation with the Department of Immigration, have given this deserving couple an opportunity to begin a new life here, free of the fear, hunger, and uncertainty that have plagued them since the war.

Werner and Elli Plischkowsky are 51 and 49 years old respectively, and cannot speak a word of English. Through the efforts of the members of the sponsoring church, they have been provided with a place to live, the things necessary to set up housekeeping, and Werner has been found employment with the Continental Diamond Fibre Company. This was no easy matter, since the inability to speak English was quite a handicap.

He had worked as a chemical assistant with a firm in Sletting, Germany, for many years prior to the war. He was drafted into the German army and following the war spent some time in a concentration camp.

Elli Plischkowsky is an expert seamstress and both are confident that it will be only a short time before they will have established themselves in their new homeland.

"We had no idea there was so much kindness in the world," was their comment on the welcome that they have received here. In spite of the many problems facing someone who has been picked up and transplanted thousands of miles from all that they have known all their lives, to say that the Plischkowskys are happy is an understatement.

On their first day in Newark they were visited by the Newark Welcome Wagon hostess and presented with a galaxy of useful gifts. German-speaking residents have volunteered to introduce them around the city and explain the many things that are so strange to them. Others have come forward to do all the little things that are necessary to make them feel at home in our community.

Parents Urged To Revise Thinking In Regard To Schools

Prof. Geo. Henry Says School Important Part of Any Community

A revision of our thinking in regard to the functions of the public school in the community was proposed by George Henry, Associate Professor of Education at the University of Delaware, in a talk before a group of Newark parents at Wolf Hall on Monday night.

The school, said Mr. Henry, is at present the only common meeting ground for all groups of divergent interests, and as such is the greatest single force for unity. It is therefore the logical community center and should be designed and its use scheduled with this purpose in mind.

Discussing the readiness of our teachers to take their place as citizens in the community, Mr. Henry reminded his audience that during an earlier period of our history, when the apprenticeship system prevailed in education and families played and worked

Newark Kiwanians Out To Prove Men Still Better Cooks

Bake Sale Saturday At Will Prepare All Items For Jackson's Store

A most unusual bake sale will be held by the members of the Newark Kiwanis Club at 9:00 a.m. on Saturday at Jackson's Hardware Store on East Main Street.

Contrary to the usual procedure followed at most bake sales, all items offered for sale this one will be prepared by Kiwanis Club members with no feminine hands involved.

William Skold, chairman of the arrangements committee, is quick to point out that most famous cooks the world over have always been men, and further contends that Newark has its share of males gifted in the culinary arts. Time will tell.

A wide variety of food items will be offered for sale. Just to make your mouth water here are a few: real Italian spaghetti sauce—anyone can cook the spaghetti; soup—as only a man can make it; baked beans—the kind that would put Boston to shame; cup cakes—beautifully decorated; tall, fluffy coconut cake—muff said; and last but not least, pies that you will want to eat right in the store.

The bake, believed to be unique in its character (note the lack of the plural), is the first of a series to be put on by the local Kiwanis Club.

There will be a male quartet and other features of entertainment.

Election of officers of the Methodist Men's Group will also be held at this time.

Newark police this week reported little if any progress in their bid to apprehend the individual or individuals responsible for the series of breaking and entering here in Newark during the past several weeks.

The latest of five recent victims were Claude Galyen, Capitol Trail and Orchard Avenue, Lumbrook, and Dr. T. A. Baker, 210 Orchard Road.

Both of these homes were entered last Friday evening while the residents were away from home for only a short time. Mr. Galyen and his wife left their homes around 7 p.m. in the evening to visit in Newark and when they returned around 10 p.m. they found that the house had been entered and upon investigating found a sum of about $60 missing. Most of the money stolen was in silver from a change bank kept in the house.

Neighbors, said Newark police reported seeing a light in the house about 7:30 p.m. which is believed to have been the time that the robbery took place.

Mrs. Baker left her home in the afternoon to take her husband who has been ill to the hospital in Wilmington. Upon her return later that night she discovered that a glass in the front door had been broken and the house ransacked. Nothing was reported missing.

During the past several weeks other homes in the Orchard Road area have been entered and small amounts of money stolen. While Dr. C. Emerson Johnson and family were vacationing in Florida recently, someone forced entry into the house and stole money from a change bank. Other homes entered in the area were those of Dr. Edwin C. Byam, 27 Winslow Road, and David Gallo, 208 Orchard Road.

Newark police reported that the individuals responsible appear to be interested only in what money can be found in the homes, since nothing else of value has been reported missing. The fact that nothing else is taken, they say, makes the apprehension difficult since there is nothing that can be traced.

It is urged by the police that if anyone in the Newark area is to be away from home for any length of time and to stop all newspapers and mail from being delivered while away. Newspapers on the lawn and porch, and letters in the mail boxes are a clear signal to all that no one is home.

Social Security To Help Farm Workers

Elderly Workers Covered With 2 Years of Work

"Your new social security may be greater than you think—and that's particularly true if you are employed regularly on a farm or in a private household," says Albert B. Rinaldi, Acting Manager of the Wilmington Social Security office.

"People who work in commerce and industry generally understand how important old-age and survivors insurance is to their families," Mr. Rinaldi says. "But I suppose it will be some time before people who were first covered by Social Security in 1951 will understand what it really means for themselves and their families in old age and for their families in case of death," he adds.

"The other day a farm worker 62 years old told me that he supposed he was too old to build up much of a retirement plan before he was 65. He felt a lot better when I told him that his regular cash wages of $150 a month will mean $57.50 each month for him when he retires, and 28.80 for his wife."

"People who are now approaching retirement age may need less than two years of work covered by social security to qualify for retirement payments. Under the new social security law, the amount of the payment may be figured on average wages after 1950 for people who retire after mid-1952."

"Farm workers and household workers are covered by the Social Security law only if they are 'regularly employed.'"

"A household worker in a private home is covered by the law if she comes to work two days a week or oftener."

"A farm worker is covered by the law if he has been continuously employed by the farm employer for 3 months and then continues to work full time for the same employer on 60 or more different days in each 3-month period," Mr. Rinaldi stated.

The Delaware social security office, Mr. Rinaldi stated, is glad to answer questions and will give a free booklet explaining the new social security law to anyone who calls for it or sends a post card to the Social Security Administration, Old Custom House, 6th and King Streets, Wilmington, Delaware.

Vegetable Garden Can Yield Variety

There isn't any need to have the same vegetables on the dinner table day in and day out. There are fifty different common vegetables than can be grown in home gardens. If you have a home garden you can use it to liven up the family dinner table.

Try planting broccoli, Brussels sprouts, Swiss chard, New Zealand spinach, red cabbage, okra, endive, kohlrabi, or some other vegetable new in your family this year.

Think of vegetables for your home gardens in terms of how good they are for you, too, suggests Miss M. Gertrude Holloway, nutritionist with the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

Some vegetables are important because they supply several nutrients—that is, they give us several of the minerals, vitamins, protein, and carbohydrates needed for good health. Among these versatile vegetables are white potatoes, beans, rutabagas, carrots, and spinach.

Other vegetables are important for one nutrient. Tomatoes, for instance, are one of our best sources of Vitamin C. So are green peppers. Broccoli and sweet potatoes supply a lot of Vitamin A.

Another group are important for giving variety in texture, color, and flavor. Examples are salad greens, corn, cucumbers, cantaloupes, and radishes.

In trying new vegetables, don't go overboard, horticulturists warn. Plant just a little, the first year, and see if the family likes the new food, and if it grows well in your soil.

Speeding Drivers Killed More Than 15,000 Persons Last Year

Increasing the number of people getting away with murder, the nationwide newspaper campaign to reduce the 1952 traffic accident toll today centered its fire mainly on speeding drivers, who alone killed 15,000 women and children and claimed 500,000 injured victims last year.

Public safety specialists throughout the country have branded excessive speed as "Killer No. 1" in traffic accidents and urged that the most intensive law enforcement drives against speeders be undertaken this year in all states. They have also proposed that all official and unofficial groups interested in greater safety on the highways, initiate educational programs during 1952 to help lower the high toll of deaths and injuries attributable to speed by persuading drivers to "slow down for safety's sake."

The key relationship of speed to the upward death curve in highway accidents in recent years has definitely been established, according to Thomas N. Boate, public safety director of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies and acting manager of its accident prevention department. The tendency to higher speeds increased deaths on highways in rural areas by 3200 in 1950, he said, accounting for all but 300 of the 3,500 jump that year in the death toll for the nation as a whole, compared with 1949. Last year, he added, rural deaths due to speed probably increased nearly 5,000 over the 1949 total.

A former captain of Pennsylvania's state police who has often seen dead speeders and their innocent victims in wrecks on the highways, Mr. Boate urged that speeders be made the No. 1 target of enforcement and educational campaigns throughout 1952 "to make a real start towards saving 10,000 lives this year — the goal of more than 8,000 newspapers' intensive highway safety efforts. He recommended that law enforcement authorities be backed up in every possible way in drives to round up and penalize speeders.

In some states, Mr. Boate pointed out, drivers lose their driving privileges for speeding offenses. This has been an effective deterrent, he said, expressing the hope that more states would take similar action to curb "veritable jet-propelled speeds" on the open road and thus help to hold down the growing number of fatalities.

Excessive speed increases the severity of accidents two to three times, compared with mishaps at lower speeds, Mr. Boate emphasized. In one state a survey showed that on a super-highway where speeds of 70 miles per hour were permitted, and often exceeded, 4.5 percent of all accidents were fatal, compared with 1.5 percent in crashes on other highways in the same state.

"Speed is now causing up to half of all motor vehicle deaths in a number of states," said Mr. Boate. "A correspondingly high proportion of those injured and crippled for life in highway accidents are caused by speeding. Speed killed 13,300 men, women and children and its injured victims totaled 475,000 in 1950. Last year these casualties were greatly increased because of the growing tendency to speed. On the highways, speed is Killer No. 1 and its toll will continue to grow year after year unless enforcement officials, the public and millions of drivers themselves take concerted action against needless, heedless speeding."

"There is almost a 50-50 chance that if you have a fatal accident it will be caused by speeding," says Mr. Boate, so why not slow down, keep within sensible limits, and have a better chance of arriving safely at your destination?"

White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church

Members and friends of White Clay Church are very proud of the three new stained-glass windows which add so much to the beauty and worshipful atmosphere of the sanctuary.

These windows, which were dedicated in the Easter morning church service, were presented by the late Louisa M. Walker, the Improvement Society, and the White Clay Fellowship.

Rev. Bishop announces that during Lent $43.75 was contributed to the "One Great Hour of Sharing" and turned over to church world service to help relieve suffering over seas.

An offering of $50 was received at the Union Good Friday Service held at White Clay Church, for the work of the Wilmington Council of Churches. Appreciation is expressed to Mrs. David Eastburn and her Flower Committee for the very beautiful floral decorations in the Sanctuary on Easter Sunday.

All women of the church are urged to attend the Spring Presbyterial Meeting to be held in Smyrna, Delaware on Tuesday, April 22. Miss Woodring, returned missionary from Iran, will speak.

Each will bring a box luncheon. Please notify Mrs. Bishop immediately, if you wish to make reservations for dessert, at $3.50, also if you wish transportation.

The New Castle Presbytery will meet at First and Central Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, on Monday, April 21st and Tuesday April 22. The Monday session will start at 1:30 P.M. The Tuesday session will start at 9:00 A.M.

We regret to announce that word was received last week of the death of Malcolm J. McQueen, who passed away at Guelph, Ontario, on March 18, after a long illness.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McQueen made many friends at White Clay Church where they regularly attended services last summer while visiting their son, Doctor D. M. McQueen of Wilmington.

Besides Dr. McQueen, Mr. McQueen is survived by two sisters and one brother all residing in Canada.

Interesting Women Of Our Community

From time to time there will appear in these pages articles calling the attention of readers to the variety of jobs done in our community by women. Some of them will be familiar to many, while others, along with their various occupations, are known to only a few. The purpose of these articles is to bring the little-known ones to the attention of the community.

The idea comes from a committee of the Newark Branch, American Association of University Women. This committee, called the Status of Women Committee, has interviewed several women who in its opinion are doing interesting jobs. The committee realized that there are probably many more who would qualify in this category, and if you will contact the group, the committee will consider them for inclusion in this series.

While most women are busy looking for nice sharp objects on which to ruin their heads and figures out some way to cut down on usual expenditures in order to afford another pair, Mrs. Helen Sobolewski and her husband Edward are busy at their plant on Elkton Road keeping up with demand for fine hosiery.

To say that Helen Sobolewski is an important official of the Sobol Hosiery Company, is a gross understatement. During the course of a day she can be found performing the duties of seamer, inspector, secretary, advertising manager, personnel director, and saleslady in addition to fulfilling her obligations as mother and cook for her family.

Mrs. Helen Sobolewski

She was born in Philadelphia and started work at the age of 14, stamping designs on children's dresses. At 16, however, she began to display the business sense that has marked her life, and, attracted by the good money being made at hosiery mills, she enrolled at a mill night school and learned the art of seaming stockings.

In 1930, she married Edward Sobolewski, a knitter of hosiery, and in 1939 they moved to Newark to accept employment at the Danita Hosiery Company.

By 1947 Helen and her husband decided that they had worked long enough for someone else and that old business sense asserted itself again. This time in the idea of a hosiery manufacturing business for themselves. This was a momentous decision for them, however, for they now had a family of two boys and a girl to consider in their plans.

With two old seaming machines which were kept in the basement in the summer and in the dining room in the winter, they started their own business. For a while operations were naturally on a small scale and the machines were used to do seaming for other hosiery companies.

By 1948, however, Helen and her husband felt that they were ready for a small mill of their own. There were many problems to be overcome in this undertaking and, according to her husband, Helen Sobolewski was an important factor in making the venture a success.

So that year they built a small mill on Elkton Road, installed the two seaming machines, purchased two old knitting machines, and found themselves in business.

Several of Helen's ideas, have proven

Annual Antiques Show In New Castle Next Weekend

The historic Academy Building On-the-Green in New Castle, Delaware will again become the setting of the annual Antiques Show to be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 23, 24, and 25, from 11 A.M. to 10 P.M. each day.

This show is sponsored by the Presbyterian Church, one of the City's very old buildings to have recently been restored under the New Castle Restoration Plan.

There will be outstanding exhibits by dealers from all sections of the Eastern Seaboard, who will display fine specimens of Eighteenth and Nineteenth Century antiques.

Food will be served in the famous "Secret Garden" in back of the Academy all day.

This is the only show in the Country to be held in a strictly historical setting.

highly successful during the course of the last few years, but probably the most important was the decision to make the stockings in various lengths. Most mills, says Helen, do not make varying length because of the effort and time required. How right she was is indicated by the appreciation her customers have for this individualized service.

Another of her ideas which has proven successful is the mail order department which today finds the Sobolewskis receiving orders from all over the United States.

Helen's newest idea is a plan to set up a hosiery clinic where women with problems of leg shape and size can come for help in finding stockings to fit. Anyone who thinks it won't be successful doesn't know Helen Sobolewski.

This has been a cooperative venture with the Sobolewskis, but her knowledge of the woman's slant on hosiery, her interest and untiring efforts have gone far in making it a great success.

"The Child's First School Is the Family"—Froebel

Issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th Street, New York City. These articles are appearing weekly in our columns.

Elise has such a winning manner that it is hard not to let her have her own way. She likes to play with Roy, the little boy next door, but she doesn't like to share her toys with him. She likes to play with toys, but he does not mind sharing. What shall we do about it? How shall we teach Elise the desirability of sharing?

Susy stamps her foot and says that she "won't go to bed." Father explains to their guests that Susy hasn't been very well and that they hesitate to discipline her until she is stronger. It is a difficult problem, her parents think, and they hope they are handling it the proper way. What shall they do? How firmly shall they insist that Susy do what is right?

The hopefulness regarding both these situations comes from the fact that the parents are questioning their methods of procedure. The child in each case needs to understand that there is a right way of thinking and behaving, and a wrong way, and that happiness comes from understanding and following the right way.

"I love my little boy so much that I hate to say 'No' to him," a young mother remarked.

"Well, if you don't begin to do it before long—when you know you should—" her friend replied, "your boy will have an unhappy life, for you are encouraging him to behave the wrong way. This isn't love; it is weakness on your part."

One who will present the truth as frankly as this was done is a real friend, although, perhaps, the one to whom it is given may not regard it at the time. It takes courage to point out a parent's mistakes, and one can only hope it will help. Close relatives cannot usually speak as bluntly without disastrous consequences, but outsiders are often able to do so without causing offense however, a little more tactfulness generally brings better results. Grandparents and in-laws sometimes learn the hard way that "hand-off" is a very necessary attitude to acquire.

A very great help in the lives of young mothers is a Mothers' Club, where all kinds of home problems in connection with the bringing-up of the family may be discussed. If one or two older mothers are included—mothers who have had the experiences that younger mothers are now meeting—it is an advantage.

Such a club needs a good leader—one who is able to handle not only the program for each meeting but also the discussion periods, at which some parent might, if not controlled, assume too much liberty and cause unpleasant feelings by becoming too personal. The club might be associated with the church, or the school, or might be just a little group of friends who meet together to sew and knit. All sorts of problems will come up; all mothers need help, and obtaining it through the association with other mothers means a great deal.

Take the subject of children's tantrums, for example. Mrs. Blank said to me the other day, "My little two-year-old daughter threw herself down on the floor and kicked and screamed at a great rate because I said, 'Now we'll go upstairs and take a nap.' She went on to say that she was so surprised she didn't know what to do. 'Why did she do it?' she questioned. 'The child had never seen anyone kick and scream!'"

"What did you do?" I asked. "Well, I took her up and washed her face and hands in cool water. I did not say anything about the kicking or screaming. Then I said, 'Now we'll go upstairs and take a nap.' What a wise parent! Can you mothers think of a better way to handle such a situation? Without anger, reproach or pleading that mother had gently applied a little cool water and then diverted the child's thoughts from what she had been doing by asking her to decide how she would like to go upstairs."

Billy, across the street, has tantrums, too; he is eight years old. How do they happen to start? How much longer will they continue? I know the parents are working on this problem; it is not a simple one. Such problems as this can be talked over by a group of mothers, and some of their experiences may be found helpful. The joining of such a group, or if one is not available the forming of one, is really worth considering.

Christopher Columbus became a sailor at the age of fourteen.

Delaware Grid Team Displaying Mid-Fall Form in Spring Drill

Defensive Line Biggest Problem Facing Delaware Coaching Staff As Spring Grid Practice Reaches Halfway Point

At the halfway point in the 20-day spring football practice session the University of Delaware football team appears to be in mid-November form rather than mid-April.

Since the first day of spring practice Coach Dave Nelson and his assistants, Mike Lude and John Cuddeback, have had the Blue Hen gridgers running "live" plays and the coaching staff is well pleased with the efforts being put forth.

The loss of Joe Scarica, whippet-like left halfback on the 1951 club, who has dropped out of school in order to accept a job, has been announced. The little star back was one of the ground gaining leaders on the Delaware club last year and Dave Nelson must have been a sorry man to see him leave.

Don Miller, strong armed quarterback from Prospect Park, Pa., has demonstrated during the first ten days of practice that he has not lost his ability to thread needles at thirty paces. Judging from the emphasis being placed on this item of the Delaware offense, the pass is going to once more be counted on heavily to provide the Blue Hens with offensive yardage. Even when Miller is on the sidelines, Delaware opponents will not be smart to neglect their pass defense. In Tommy Fannon, number two quarterback, the Delaware team has another air-minded signal caller who is improving with age.

Line Coach Mike Lude has his work cut out for him. It will be up to him to find defensive replacements for such stalwart linemen as Cy Kaplowitz, Bill Craver, Joe Lank, Milt Keene, Larry Dalton, Marvin McWilliams, and others lost for various reasons.

Among the returning linemen with which he is working hard during these practice sessions are: Captain Paul Mueller, Frank Heilig, Bill Doppstadt, Tom Redfield, Frank Stevens, Steve Butcher, John Borresson, Jonny Mecariello and John Bodine.

These returning veterans will form the nucleus of the Hen defensive line which at the present time is causing the Delaware coaching staff more concern than the offensive unit.

Fifty Drivers Set For Auto Races At Langhorne Track

20-Lap Inaugural Event Will Feature Opening Program On April 20

The field for the Langhorne opener around the short track and featuring the sportsman stock sedans has already passed the fifty mark. By opening date, Sunday afternoon, April 20th, co-promoters Irv Fried and Al Gerber expect the field to almost double the half century mark.

Red Tomlinson, of Eddington, will lead the delegation of Bucks County speedsters. Tomlinson, a former feature winner should be a real threat in the 20-lap Inaugural. Sweetstakes. Among the other Bucks County entries are: Bud Groner, of Langhorne; Dave Terrell, of Newtown and Don Richmond, of Bristol.

Newt Reinert, 1950 point scoring champion in the popular sport of sportsman stock car racing and Monk Keller, selected by the fans as the most popular driver, will lead a large delegation from the Pottstown and Reading section. This group includes Claude Bittling, of Reading; Mose Moore and Don Smoyer of Reading and Walt Del Camp, of Boyertown.

The Quaker City entries number Bill Gross, Jack Leshner, Bill Williams and Harry Castle. All are seasoned campaigners around the short tracks and should find the fast quarter mile at Langhorne to their liking.

Winner Take All

Dave Douglas

Dave Douglas, Newark's gift to professional golf, pocketed first money of $2,000 with a seven-under-par 277 this week in the $10,000 Greensboro Open golf tournament. It was the first big win for the lanky Newarker since the 1949 Texas Open.

In taking down first money, Dave brought his earnings for the year to $3,898. Last year he was the 28th man on the money list with $5,900 in winnings. Dave compiled his winning 277 on rounds of 73-64-71-69. His sparkling 64 set a record for the par-71, 6,630-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course. Slamming Sam Snead lost a chance to tie for the winning share of the purse when he was assessed a two-stroke penalty for a rules violation. He dropped his ball closer to the hole out of a water hazard on the 17th hole of the final round and ended up in a third place tie with Wilmington's Ed Oliver, and Jim Ferrier at 279.

City Baseball Club Will Hold Practice Session On Sunday

Several Positions Still To Be Filled Prior To Season Opener May 4

Leroy Hill, manager of the Newark baseball club, announced this week that the team will hold another practice session this Sunday at 1:30 p.m. on the Continental Field.

With the season opener in the strong Susquehanna League scheduled for May 4, manager Hill reports that much remains to be done to get the team ready. Several positions on the club are still unfilled and any interested candidates are urged to report for the practice on Sunday.

Returning members of last year's team include George Jenkins, Buddy Cataldi, Spike Bauroth, Bill Woodward, Jimmy Ford, and George Schaen. Several Newark High players will be available to Hill following the close of school in June. They are: Albie Sparks, Bunny Blaney, Ronnie Bramble, Joe Thorpe and Jimmy Seydell.

It was decided this week that the Newark club would not compete in the New Castle County League this season, but will attempt to play at least one game each week with the strongest independent teams in the area.

Mitchell originally was scheduled to ride the filly but he starts a 10-day suspension today.

Jerry Ruth, a 17-year-old apprentice jockey under contract to Glenn Smith, is expected to make his riding debut tomorrow. Ruth hails from the Pimlico section of Baltimore.

Major Goss Stryker, former president of the Laurel track, paid his first visit to the course yesterday. His spring debut was delayed due to an attack of virus.

Motorcycle Races Scheduled April 20 At Reading Track

Nation's Top Riders Entered In Opening AMA Event Of Season

Sports lovers who like their thrills in large doses should set aside Sunday, April 20, for a visit to the Reading Fairgrounds.

On that afternoon, many of the nation's great motorcycle riders will descend on the half mile track for the first AMA cycle races of the 1952 spring season.

The professional handlebar derbyists will participate in a 10-event program of flat track racing under the direction of the national competition committee of the American Motorcycle Association.

Expert, amateur and novice riders will get a chance to show their stuff. Scheduled are two three-mile heat races and a five-mile feature in each rider classification, plus the usual series of qualifying time trials.

Race officials said riders will begin qualifying at 1:30 p.m. The first race is scheduled at 2:30 p.m.

Records show that some of the most exciting races in history have been staged at Reading. One of the closest finishes occurred two years ago when Billy Huber, of Reading, sped across the finish line less than one-fifth of a second ahead of Bobby Hill, of Columbus, Ohio.

Long a hotbed of motorcycle racing, the Reading track has been visited by some of the greatest riders in the business. Among them were Huber, Hill, Dick Klamfoth, Jimmy Chann, Bill Miller, Les Hillbush, Allen Huber and Babe Tancredi.

Laurel Track News

Larry MacPhail, addressing the directors of the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association here yesterday, said that Bowie will have a $10,000 added six furlongs stake this fall for all age Maryland bred. The name and additional details will be announced later.

As their contribution toward the nation's search being done by the nation's breeders in the fight against virus abortion, Ray Bryson and George Brown, Jr., donated fillies for experimental purposes and Clarence Mills, the Laurel van man, is providing free van service to Kentucky.

The Md. breeders also made a small contribution toward a fund for the United States Olympic equestrian team which leaves for Europe next week.

Trainer William Passmore notified Laurel officials yesterday that Bayard Sharp's Hannibal, winner of Jamaica's Experimental Handicap No. 1, will remain in New York to compete in the Experimental No. 2 on Saturday. Passmore said that he felt the long trip here and return and the colt's subsequent start in the Wood Memorial on April 19 would be too much for the colt.

Al Dosh, the horsemen's bookkeeper, was a busy man yesterday. He handled $28,000 in claims with six horses changing hands. This brings the total at the meet to 30.

Samy Boulmetis, who will end a 10-day suspension at the conclusion of Thursday's races, has been engaged to handle Joutet Shouse's Cinda in Saturday's Chesapeake Stakes. Bobby

The Sports Post

by Milt Roberts

What's it like to take a hectic spring trip as a member of a college team when all other students are home on Spring vacation, taking it easy, eating well, seeing old friends, sleeping late, relaxing?

It's like this. You have to travel long distances in a short time. That means you get tired and cramped. The only way you can loosen up when you get to where you're going is to run around for an hour on the host team's pretty green athletic field during the game. That makes you more tired, so you go to sleep early in order to be able to get up early the next day and start traveling to the next school.

The meals you get are good, the host always seems to eat well. If you win; or too weary, if you lose.

The time between games is spent discussing the good plays or poor plays of the previous game, and your strategy or the opponent's strength for the next game.

Then after all the challenges are over, there's the long trip back. Energy at a low ebb, viewing the same scenery you saw going, it could be boring.

But isn't it? None of it is boring. The whole trip raises the morale of the team members. There is a feeling of fellowship developed on that trip that lasts the rest of the year. Laughs are a carload a mile. Many jokes are made at the expense of teammates, but they love it. There's a feeling of independence, but there is also a feeling of loyalty to something; the school you represent. You have a purpose, to gain prestige for the school, to develop good intercollegiate relations with opponents, yet you know you're strictly on your own, and miles away from the school or represent.

Sleeping in a group, eating in a group, traveling in a group, you can't help but to know each other better. You learn a lot more each day about how students live at other schools. New acquaintances are made on other campuses.

When you return to your campus, you feel as if you have accomplished a mission for your school; it is a rewarding feeling. You've sacrificed your spring vacation at home for a mission, and it's a right nice feeling you get when your schoolmates, on their return from vacation offer their congratulations for a job well done.

You see some interesting things on your trip; miles of flat roads, towns jammed full with bicycles, a monstrous stadium rising out of a flat campus, a gorgeous new student union building (out of this world), fifty-two fraternity houses in one neighborhood; you see swollen rivers, high water marks etched in houses and trees, hills and more hills; you see the turnpike; a long white ribbon of smooth concrete, mountain tunnels and toll gate exits.

But it's all worthwhile—if you don't believe it, go out for a sport and take a trip on your spring vacation with the squad.

first winner—a horse named Bases Loaded. Another lad who graduated at the same Delaware meeting last season is the popular Steve Di Mauro, one of the saddle stars of the Florida winter campaign and the current meeting at Jamaica in New York. Di Mauro's first success was astride a horse named Doug Turnesa.

Sired Flat and Jump Winners

Our Boots, the Woodvale Farm's stallion, sired winners of both flat and steeplechase stakes at Delaware Park, which opens May 29. His sons Page Boots and His Boot hold victories in the Leonard Richards and Tom Roby Steeplechase Stakes, respectively, in 1948 and 1949.

The Census Bureau reports that Delaware has 50 places incorporated as cities and towns. These places range in size from Slaughter Beach town with a population of 6 to Wilmington city which has 110,356 inhabitants.

He'll Never Forget Delaware Park

It's a safe bet that Baltimore jockey John Weir will always have a soft spot in his heart for Delaware Park. It was there last June 7 that young Weir experienced the big thrill of riding his

Cracked Eggs Cost Poultrymen Money

Yearly Loss In State Is $168,000

Cracked eggs amount to a $168,000 loss in Delaware each year, says W. T. McAllister, marketing specialist with the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

McAllister applied the results of a year's Ohio study on egg breakage to Delaware conditions. Eggs are broken every time they are handled or moved—when they are graded, at time of grading, at the grading station, and between the grading station and the wholesaler. Breakage is about equal in the first three processes, says McAllister, with the last amount of breakage, percentage-wise, occurring between the grading station and wholesaler.

Egg producers will be interested in the following points evident from the study.

1. There is less breakage when eggs are gathered more than once a day.

2. Fewer eggs are cracked when 20 or more nests are provided for every 100 hens. Feeding oyster shells also helps.

3. More eggs are cracked when washed with water than when cleaned with an emery cloth.

4. Eggs packed in new or good cases with new liners and flats are less apt to be damaged in shipment.

5. Factors such as feeding grit, type of nesting material, and time of hatch had no influence on the amount of breakage.

Kefauver - Eisenhower - Hamblen

Pictured here representing the three candidates for President in the elementary school play entitled "We Elect A President" are: Howard Wallace as Kefauver; Walter Mackey as Eisenhower; Eddie Wallace as Hamblen. During the course of the play the students of the fifth grade selected Eisenhower and MacArthur on the Republican ticket and Kefauver and Kerr on the Democratic slate.

Professor Henry

to achieve common goals, young people were ready to assume the responsibilities of adult life whenever physically mature. Today, we prolong the period of childhood. We have divorced youth from our economy and our culture, forcing young people to adopt a jargon, a mode of dress, and a set of standards of their own. Preparation to assume adult responsibility is now reserved to "character-building" projects, and the principles we expect them to teach are at variance with the actual behavior of the adult group. Yet the behavior of adults—as revealed in the press, the movies, TV, and especially in the family and business life around them—is the most powerful educational force in our civilization. When such behavior is in conflict with the principles taught by the "character-building" institutions such as church, school, and Scouts, there is little wonder that our young people grow confused.

There are limits to what the schools can achieve, said Mr. Henry, and parents must decide exactly what they want their children educated for. Such decisions can be harmoniously worked out by representative parents advisory councils working closely with school authorities and school boards to define policies and plan curriculum revisions.

The subject of youth and its place in the community will be further explored on May 12 in the last of this series of talks which is sponsored by the Newark Branch of A.A.U.W. in cooperation with the School of Education and the Agricultural Extension Service. Varying aspects of the question will be presented by a panel led by Dr. R. O. Bausman and including Mr. Maurice Field, 4-H leader; Mrs. G. T. Borchardt, Girl Scout leader; Dr. John Bunting, representing the churches; and Norman Ford of the Y.M.C.A. Mrs. Allan Colburn, director of the Newark Recreation Association and delegate to the White House Mid-Century Conference will sum up the discussion. The meeting will be held in room 206, Wolf Hall, and all church, service, and community groups interested in youth are urged to attend in a body.
