Playwright Rice To Attend Opening At Mitchell Hall

"The Adding Machine"
Offered By E-52 Group
Tonight, Friday, Saturday

Playwright Elmer Rice will attend the Mitchell Hall opening of his play "The Adding Machine," tonight at the University of Delaware.

Rice, whose writing career began more than 50 years ago, will lecture Thursday and Friday on the campus.

The play, one of the major presentations by the E-52 University Theatre this year, is scheduled at Mitchell Hall Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings, with 8:15 curtain times.

Born in New York in 1892, Rice is considered one of the major contributors to the shaping of American drama. His "Adding Machine" written in 1923, is a prime example of the American expressionist play.

Rice has written 30 plays, four novels, and an autobiography, and has been an important force in American theater. He won a Pulitzer prize in 1929 for "Street Scene," and his 1945 "Dream Girl" provides the basis for "The Skywriter," one of Broadway's recent productions.

"The Adding Machine" is directed by Dr. Brooks McNamara and stars graduate student Timothy Maloney as Mr. Zero.

Authorities Warn Of Book Peddlers In School Survey

Book peddlers in the Newark school district have taken advantage of the fact that this district, in cooperation with the University of Delaware division of urban affairs, is conducting an educational census of pre-school children.

According to school officials, peddlers go from door to door announcing that they are "in the Newark special school district" and are conducting a "survey."

The 10 enumerators conducting the survey for the Newark special school district have positive identification, and this identification should be demanded before any householder answers their questions or admits them into the home.

Peddlers are not guilty of misrepresentation as long as they talk in generalities, since any commercial enterprise may take a survey. It is the hope of school officials, however, that residents of the Newark district will be on the lookout for these salesmen, and will differentiate between the peddler and the official enumerator.

The census which began Dec. 1, is expected to be completed next February.

Trusler To Direct UD Concert Choir In Annual Event

Public Invited To Attend
Annual Christmas Concert
Next Wednesday, Thursday

The University of Delaware Concert Choir will present its annual Christmas Concert in Mitchell Hall next Wednesday and Thursday at 8:15 p.m. Both concerts are open to the public without charge.

The choir with 56 selected voices directed by Dr. Ivan Trusler, will sing Frank P. Tirro's "American Jazz Mass," which is scored for chorus with instrumental ensemble.

Trusler said the composition is a serious attempt by Tirro to present in an unusual idiom the familiar words of the ordinary of the mass.

"In keeping with the particular American Style that jazz suggests," Trusler said, "this setting of the mass is in English rather than the traditional Latin and Greek."

The accompanying instrumental ensemble will be a combo of five Wilmington jazz musicians—Jimmy Cara on trumpet; Lloyd Johnston, alto saxophone; Jack Haas on baritone sax; Ralph Ratz, drums; and Alan Start, string bass.

The choir will present choral music for the Christmas season, with carols and motets from the 16th and 17th centuries written by Dutch, Spanish, English, and French composers.

The performance next Wednesday is intended for the general public, with Thursday night's concert for the campus community. But Trusler said persons unable to attend on their night should plan to attend the other performance.

Following the Thursday evening performance, the University Brass Ensemble will lead the annual campus carol sing.

HB 401 would permit the alderman to refer certain traffic convictions to the State Motor Vehicle Department. HB 404 would permit that department to consider action on drivers' licenses on the alderman's recommendation; and HB 403 would delete the 30-day limit imposed on the prison sentence the alderman may prescribe.

The four bills were introduced Monday by Reps. William E. Alsip, D-Brookside Park, and Ralph D. Edmanson, D-Newark.

Sheila Deeds Wins National English Award

Sheila Deeds, Newark High School senior, has been named by the National Council of Teachers of English as the State of Delaware's outstanding English student and only 1965 national winner in its Achievement Award Contest.

Last spring, a committee of English teachers from Newark High School nominated Miss Deeds to represent her school in competition with 8,500 students for the NCTE citation. Of that number, 837 finalists were chosen representing 420 schools from the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and American Preparatory Schools Abroad.

In announcing the winners, James R. Squire, executive secretary of the National Council of Teachers of English, stated that the names of these winners are sent to every college and university admissions officer in the country. Squire said that in previous years, 99 per cent of the award winners entered the college of their choice, and approximately 80 per cent of those applying for scholarships received financial aid.

The NCTE sends all award winners certificates of recognition, and honors their high school English departments with certificates of merit.

Dr. Jack A. Gerster, a member of the chemical engineering faculty at the University of Delaware since 1966, has been appointed department chairman effective Jan. 1.

Gerster, with an H. Fletcher Brown professorship of chemical engineering, will succeed his friend and long-time colleague Dr. Robert L. Pigford, who asked to be relieved of administrative responsibilities to devote full time to teaching and research.

Comings, dean of engineering said. "Professor Gerster's experience at the university will make the transition of responsibility relatively easy. In fact, he served as acting chairman of the department for a year's leave of absence a few years ago."

Morris Cover Cites Added Opportunities For Students In Farm-Related Careers

In agriculture today the number of farmers is steadily decreasing while the amount they produce is steadily increasing. They must depend more and more on others for marketing, supplies, technology and research, so opportunities for qualified people in farm-related occupations are steadily increasing, according to Dr. Morris Cover, chairman of the department of animal science and agricultural biochemistry at the University of Delaware.

Livestock and poultry specialists, farm managers, feed salesmen, animal nutritionists, store managers and many others are needed to serve today's animal agriculture.

Emphasis in the livestock and dairy science fields has changed in recent years, says Cover. "Although a good technical training is more important than ever for the stockman or dairyman, relatively few of today's animal science students plan to become farmers. They are more likely to go into some phase of agribusiness related to farm production."

Many animal science graduates are employed in the feed industry which supplies farmers with animal feeds needed to increase production of meat, milk and eggs. This industry must keep up with new developments in breeding, consumer demands, and modern farming techniques. To do so, it must employ many technically trained men. The demand for these men exceeds the supply, Cover notes.

Without nutrition research, a feed company would soon go out of business. Thus the animal nutritionist—usually an animal science graduate—is one of the most important people in any feed company, says Cover. The nutritionist must consider new developments in feeding and housing livestock, new consumer demands and new feed additives when he prepares a new ration to do a particular job. A nutritionist must know livestock, how they digest feed, and what their requirements are.

Most feed companies test their feeds under practical conditions on their own farms. Animal science graduates must know agricultural colleges also have their own experimental farms. Since these farms are set up for research, they need a farm manager who understands the importance of research programs and knows how to carry them out. A degree in animal science has proved to be an excellent preparation for a career as a research farm manager, according to Cover.

A recent study shows that more than one-third of the university's graduates in animal science and agricultural biochemistry are employed in sales positions, many in the animal feed industry. These technically trained salesmen help plan feeding programs and help the farmer or correct animal nutritional deficiencies. A good salesman in this field must know nutritional requirements of various animals and understand a farmer's problems.

Today's highly trained students are quite likely to go on to graduate school, says Cover. "A bachelor's degree in animal and poultry science prepares a student for advanced work in veterinary medicine, animal nutrition, animal physiology, genetics, teaching and management."

The college of agricultural sciences at the University of Delaware offers a degree program in animal science. High school students interested in this scientific field may get additional information on the program from Dr. Cover, Agricultural Hall, on the university campus.

Delaware Growth High In National Higher Education

Delaware is among the nation's fastest growing states in higher education, according to figures published this year by the U. S. Office of Education.

The First State ranks no lower than third in each of four criteria of growth. No state is listed ahead of Delaware in more than one of the four criteria.

Delaware's growth of 59.8 per cent in total resident and extension enrollment in four-year and two-year institutions from the fall of 1959 to 1963 was second only to the Canal Zone. The national average was 31.3 per cent.

Delaware's total enrollment for 1963 was 10,841 students, 8,457 of whom were enrolled at the University of Delaware. The remaining 2,384 students were attending Delaware State College and Wesley College in Dover and Goldey Beacom School of Business in Wilmington.

The State of Delaware, with a percentage growth of 59.8, stood in a tie for second position in enrollment increases at four-year institutions. Delaware's growth rate was considerably higher than the national average of 37.4 per cent.

Delaware was one of only three states with a growth of more than 50 per cent in enrollment of resident students—those taking college work on a main or branch campus. The national average was 31.7 per cent.

Soybean "Meats" Featured At Delaware Crop Show

Fried "chicken, sliced ham and cheese"—all made from soybeans—were featured at a snack bar at the recent Delaware State Crop Show. Visitors were invited to sample and comment on the fabricated foods, and most reactions were favorable, according to Janet Coblenz, food specialist at the University of Delaware.

Texture and appearance of the meatless "meats" were obtained primarily from spun soy protein and corn oil. Chemical additives and synthetic flavorings add the special meat-like flavor.

Salted, deep-fat-fried soybeans also were featured at the snack bar. These are a new green vegetable soybean variety developed by Dr. H. W. Crittenden, associate professor of plant pathology at the University of Delaware.

The world of tomorrow may need to rely more on fabricated foods such as these meat substitutes, says Miss Coblenz. Even today they are valuable protein sources for people on special non-meat diets for medical or religious reasons.

Winter Driving Hazards Cited By Safety Council

The Delaware Safety Council states that it is the responsibility of every motorist to know all the facts about the hazards of winter driving and how to drive safely in spite of them.

"Motorists make more driving blunders in winter than any other time of the year, because they fail to adjust to changing conditions," said James T. Ferri, president of the Delaware Safety Council.

"The penalty for such mistakes at best can be delays and property damage—but at worst, injury or death."

Cystic Fibrosis Campaign Expected To Top $170,000

Northern Delaware's support of the 1965 Cystic Fibrosis campaign to the tune of $15,000, and an overall Delaware Valley return of nearly $170,000, is attributed to increased public awareness of the disease.

Richard Cecil, president of the Delaware chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, said that results are gratifying to victims of this disease and their families.

Additional returns from many of the branches are expected to boost the area total over the $170,000 mark.

Handmade Gifts Advised For Christmas With Satisfaction For Donor, Recipient

A Christmas gift should give pleasure to the giver as well as recipient. Often the gifts you make yourself are the most warmly remembered by both, says Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

Handmade gifts should make use of your candies, jam or jelly can be a Christmas treat for the recipient. A homemaker who is an expert cook, seamstress or flower arranger, can give a great deal of enjoyment and save money.

Of course, if you are going to take the time and trouble to make a gift, be sure it is something the recipient will use and appreciate, says Miss Morris. Do not give a delicious but rich fruitcake or high calorie candied nuts to someone seriously trying to diet. Use your ingenuity to make a low calorie treat that will really thrill the recipient.

It is not too early to start. Make your gifts before the frantic last minute rush, while you still have time to do careful work. Of course, fruitcake and some types of cookies should be made now to "age" until Christmas.

Use your imagination when you package your gift, says Miss Morris. Pack cookies or candy or spiced nuts in an apothecary jar, a wooden salad bowl, or in a colorful canister.

Make an attractive centerpiece by putting cookies or candy in a sleigh. Christmas breads or fruitcakes can be packed in woven baskets, or in a decorative casserole dish.

A cheese board or a cutting board makes a useful base for breads. Gifts of home made fruit cakes, steamed pudding, Christmas breads, assorted candies or fruitcakes can be a real treat for even the hard-to-please person on your list, says Janet Coblenz, extension foods and nutrition specialist at the university. Jelly made from home-grown fruit is a particular treat. Unusual or exotic cheeses dips packed in jars can be acceptable gifts also.

Send the recipes along, particularly to please food cooking enthusiasts, says Miss Coblenz.

Homemakers who enjoy sewing, crocheting or knitting can choose from a large number of appropriate gifts. Gifts of clothing are always popular, but be sure you have the correct size, says Janet Reed, university extension clothing and textile specialist. Keep in mind the recipient's color and style preferences.

Trusler, Chorus to Feature Century Club Yule Party

The Newark New Century Club will have its annual Christmas program at the clubhouse next Monday at 7:30 p.m., with the University of Delaware Chorus directed by Dr. Ivan Trusler, presenting Yuletide music.

Mrs. Ernest O. Hausmann is program chairman and hostesses will be Mrs. Donald Dutton and Mrs. Charles Day, assisted by Mrs. Louis Stearns and Mrs. Robert Sheaffer.

Mrs. Franklin Deck and Mrs. James Hastings will preside at the table, and the art corner will be arranged by Mrs. Harold Reeser.

Guests will be officers of the Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs, and club presidents.

50 Little Braves Inducted As YMCA Indian Guides

The whoops and how-hows of Indian Braves were heard on Newark's Main Street on Sunday, Nov. 21, as 50 first through third grade boys and their fathers were inducted into the Western Branch YMCA Indian Guide program.

Chief Richard A. Biddle explained the "Y-Indian" Guide program, and Andrew H. Bettey, chief of the New Castle Federation presented the tribal charter.

The Algonquin Eagles, an Indian dance team from North Arlington, N. J., performed authentic Indian dances as part of the entertainment.

Mr. Orville Little, Mr. Carroll Mumford, Mrs. Conrad Lewis, Mrs. Allyn Cooch, Mr. Robert Davis and Mrs. J. Harvey Dickey assisted at the Christmas Shop at the V. A. hospital, Elmore on Saturday. All are members of the J. A. O'Daniel Post and Unit of the American Legion.

Peninsula Society Of Horticulturists Meets Next Week

The 79th annual meeting of the Peninsula Horticultural Society next Wednesday and Thursday will feature reports of latest research in production and marketing of fruits and vegetables. The meeting will be held at Elk Hall in Salisbury, Md., according to Robert Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware and secretary of the society.

Frank Boys, extension agricultural chemicals specialist at the university, will lead a panel discussion on farmer's responsibility to the Food and Drug Administration.

Robert Rider, Bridgeville, Walter Ace, Clayton, R. D. Varrin, hydrologist in the department of geology; and Dr. D. J. Fieldhouse, associate professor of horticulture at the university, will participate in a discussion of water management.

Dr. Donald Crossan, assistant dean of the college of agricultural sciences; Ed Ralph, associate Sussex county agricultural agent, and Stevens are scheduled to report at the cucumber and strawberry session Tuesday afternoon.

Eugene P. Brasher, chairman of the department of horticulture at the university; E. M. Rahn, associate professor of horticulture; and Donald MacCreary, research professor of entomology, will present reports at the vegetable session. Topics at this session include use of fungicides on tomatoes; new developments in vegetable weed control; and control of potato insects and bean worms.

A separate meeting will consider sweet potato culture.

Sessions on fruit growing include reports on orchard weed and mite control; timing of cover sprays for disease control; and dwarfing apple rootstocks.

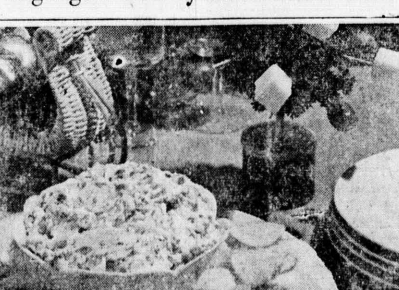

Dr. Vernon J. Fisher, associate professor of horticulture at the university; Dr. Lewis Kelsey, assistant professor of entomology and Dr. J. W. Heuberger, chairman of the department of plant pathology, will present reports at this session.

Society members, including farmers, processors, commercial company representatives and staff members of the University of Delaware, will discuss current problems and suggest possible solutions, according to Joseph Jackiewicz of Magnolia, president of the society.

New Onion Soup Mix Dip Highlights Holiday Refreshment Table

During the holiday season you never know when friends will drop by so it's a good idea to have quick-fix snack foods available. No doubt, one of your stand-bys is the classic onion soup mix-sour cream dip. The next time you prepare this popular treat add toasted almonds, curry, and garlic and link to your guests rave. They'll also explain over the attractive Cheese and Olive Topiary Tree you've made from an empty onion dry soup mix can. To make the tree, cover the can with holiday gift wrap. Fill the can with clay and snap on the plastic lid. Insert a short length of dowel through the "X" firmly into the clay. Spear a 3-inch plastic foam ball onto the dowel. Fasten parsley sprigs to the ball with straight pins. Insert toothpicks topped with cheese cubes and olives into the parsley.

1 can (1 1/2 ounces) onion dry soup mix

1 pint sour cream

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Chill. Serve with chips or crackers. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

Keep Captivating Clam-Parsley Log in the refrigerator to bring out when guests arrive. This time, onion dry soup mix blends the flavors of clams, cream and Cheddar cheeses, lemon, and parsley.

CLAM-PARSLEY LOG

1 can (7 ounces) minced clams

1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened

1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Drain clams; reserve liquid. Gradually blend 1/4 cup clam liquid into cream cheese. Stir in Cheddar cheese, clams, soup mix, and lemon juice. Shape into 10 x 2 1/2" roll; wrap in waxed paper. Chill 3 to 4 hours. Remove waxed paper; roll in parsley, serve on crackers as spread.

Other hand-made gifts that are fun to make and to receive are stuffed animals for children or teen-agers. These can be made from terry cloth, washable velvet or corduroy, gingham, washable acrylic pile or imitation fur fabrics. They should be stuffed with a washable filling, and all trimmings should be firmly attached so a young child cannot pull them off and swallow them.

Housecoats and robes are good choices for hand-made gifts, Miss Reed says. The problem of exact fit is not as critical as with some other items of apparel. Pinaforks for children are also easy to fit. Items for the home are popular and might include toss pillows, hooked rugs, tablecloths and place mats.

Most little girls would be delighted with hand-made clothes to fit their favorite doll. If you decide to make a doll's wardrobe, remember the tiny details can make this a time consuming job.

Many colorful materials printed with Christmas designs are available. These can be used for attractive table runners, place mats, aprons and children's pinaforks.

Christmas decorations are always a welcome gift. Make a centerpiece or a wall hanging featuring dried flowers. Beautiful wreaths can be made from many materials, as can tree ornaments.

Use your time and talents to make thoughtful gifts that will be welcome and long remembered. Christmas will mean so much more to you if you give something truly of yourself.

IT'S GETTING TO BE THAT TIME OF YEAR AGAIN, and before you know it, your holiday gift list will be filled with moppets of all sizes and ages—looking for a present of their very own under the festive Christmas tree. And what could possibly be more fun than this charming hand puppet?

A SPRIG OF HOLLY
Children will love playing with him, and giving rein to their very vivid imaginations! And I suspect that every adult will take a turn or two too! A very modernistic Santa can be made in bright red with contrasting shades of pink—or you might want to try the more traditional colors of red and green. He's topped off with a sprig of holly attached to the top of his hat. Touches of white yarn at the bottom, hands, beard, and cap add the proper finishing touches to this "doll." It's crocheted in the simplest of stitches; just make two identical pieces and then join them up the sides.

You'll find that he develops a personality all his own.

SANTA CLAUS HIMSELF

Part of the beauty of this puppet is that it's such a wonderful gift for almost any age child, and certainly all of the younger members of your family will find him positively fetching! What fun it is to try to sound just like Santa Claus himself. ## IN THE BEST OF HANDS

FOR BETTER LEADERSHIP

All fifty states and three United States territories are combining their talents to improve education at every level, in every city and town, through a "Compact for Education."

Meeting recently in Kansas City, governors, legislators, educators and laymen formed a partnership to cooperate in research, planning and the exchange of information.

This cooperative effort should go a long way toward helping the states regain some of the education leadership they have lost to the federal government.

The commission will have the authority to collect and interpret information concerning educational needs and resources, encourage and foster research in education, develop methods for adequate financing of education and formulate suggested policies and plans for the improvement of education.

The commission will meet annually while the 30-member steering committee, including 10 governors, meets quarterly.

The Interstate Compact for Education is a positive step toward meeting the future educational needs of the nation, and the active participation of all states should be encouraged.

Planners Approve City Annexation Of 7.2-Acre Tract

The Newark Planning Commission approved a proposal to annex a 7.2-acre tract of land for a new town house development at a commission meeting on Wednesday last week.

Hearn Brothers, Inc., owners of the Wilmington-area supermarket chain, petitioned the city to annex 7.2 acres at the intersection of Old and New Chestnut Hill roads, just south of University of Delaware land near Robson Court Manor.

According to a final plat approved by the commission last week, three acres would be used for 33 town houses renting for about $250 a month including utilities.

Seven-tenths of an acre would be used for neighborhood shopping and the remainder would be a site for low-density apartments.

The Hearn firm wants city utilities to serve the development.

The commission recommended the area be annexed and zoned to accommodate the development plan.

Farmers' Tax Guide Cited By McAllister As Aid For Agriculturists With Returns

It is good business to start thinking about your incomes taxes now, and W. T. McAllister, farm management specialist at the University of Delaware, says that any adjustments in tax liability must be made before the end of 1965.

There is very little the taxpayer can do to affect his tax payment after the close of the tax period. However, planning now may enable him to save money on 1965 tax returns.

Many farmers delay the receipt of income or the payment of expenses so that they can be counted in the next year. For instance, farmers may hold grain produced in 1965 and market it in 1966. Money received for the grain will be taxable income in 1966, not 1965. Another common practice is to buy and sell a horse or a car in 1965. Advance payments of interest or insurance may also increase 1965 expenses, McAllister says.

It is possible that this type of management may merely force the farmer to pay a large tax bill in 1966 income. It only pays to reduce taxable income this year if your income is unusually high or if you know your income will be much smaller next year, McAllister warns. The more evenly a farmer can distribute his taxable income from year to year, the less tax he will pay. McAllister suggests using farm records to get an idea of likely taxable income for 1965.

A farmer who has a lower than normal income this year may delay cash purchases until 1966, thereby reducing next year's tax obligation. Planning on such things as repairs, new equipment and selling livestock can determine how receipts and expenditures will affect taxable income.

Wages paid to children when they work around the farm can also be counted as an expense against the farm business. The money must have been actually paid, the work actually performed and the wages must be reasonable. If payment is less than $600 for the year, the child will not pay taxes on his earnings, McAllister says.

If the dependent child received over $600, he will need to file a tax return. He can claim himself as a dependent and his parents can claim him as a dependent also if he is in school five months out of the calendar year. Often parents give their children spending money for work on the farm, a dollar or two at a time in cash, without keeping any.

Group Hospital Service, Inc., the Delaware Blue Cross-Blue Shield organization, is preparing a new program of supplementary benefits to dovetail with the federal Medicare program.

H. V. Maybee, managing director, told trustees the object of the new coverage for senior citizens is to fill two sets of needs—to provide benefits where the Medicare program has "deductibles" to be paid by the individual; and to provide benefits to extend those of the Medicare program.

Christmas Planning Offers Homemaker Freedom To Enjoy Holidays With Family

Take time out now to make your Christmas plans. They will save you time, money and energy, says Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

Write down all the things you want to do before the holidays, she suggests. Many tasks can be completed now, leaving extra time the last week before Christmas for those inevitable last-minute jobs.

Ask your family to help. Children particularly want to feel they are important and helpful members of the family. After all, sharing is an indispensable part of Christmas—share the work as well as gifts, Miss Morris suggests.

Much of the special holiday cooking can be done early in December, says Janet Coblenz, nutrition specialist at the university. Make cranberry sauce or jelly and pour in jelly glazes or fancy molds. Cover with paraffin and store in a cool place.

Make double quantities of mixes for muffins, pancakes and waffles to use during the holidays.

If you have a freezer, candied sweet potatoes, cranberries, rolls, fancy cookies, cookie dough, cake batter and pie crusts can be frozen.

Plan your Christmas week menus well in advance Miss Coblenz suggests. Shop early and do as much in preparation as you can the week before. Make holiday meals simple and easy so the homemaker can be free to enjoy Christmas with the rest of the family.

Do any special cleaning as early as possible, Miss Morris advises. Polish silver and wash any seldom-used chinaware early in December. To avoid the heavy post office rush, it is a good idea to send all packages as soon as possible. Try to have all Christmas cards sent by Dec. 15.

Of course, the sooner you shop, the wider selection you will have, says Miss Morris. Save a lot of time—reduced one of its members to a six-year term, and approved a major change of the university's library book classification system at last Saturday's meeting of the University of Delaware trustees.

Other doctoral programs are offered in applied sciences, behavioral sciences, biological sciences, chemistry, chemical engineering, English, history, physics, and psychology.

Re-elected to his second six-year term as a university trustee is Dr. Henry V. P. Wilson, formerly by Dr. John A. Perkins, university president, as "an enlightened, conscientious and faithful board member."

Wilson will continue to serve on the committee on instruction and student personnel services and welfare. He was first elected to the board in 1959.

Conversion of card catalogs at the Hugh M. Morris Library from the Dewey decimal system to the Library of Congress system was recommended by John M. Dawson, director of libraries.

The Library of Congress system has a greater number of classes and its numbering system is simpler.

Perkins Reports $66-Million Plan In New Buildings

Program For Expansion Of University To 1977 Cited In Annual Report

The University of Delaware with 10,000 students, plans a $66-million program of new buildings by 1977, according to President John A. Perkins' annual report.

Perkins stresses the need for state financial aid in the building program and the high cost of construction.

The university will ask the General Assembly in January to provide $7,495,750 for the building program if the university is to continue to admit all qualified Delaware youth—and neighboring states have not been able to do as much by theirs.

During the last 15 years the university has become primarily a resident-student institution, Perkins reports.

In 1950 only 370 students—40 per cent of the undergraduates—lived in dormitories. Now 3,228 students—62 per cent of the 5,222 undergraduates, live in residence halls valued at more than $14 million.

Next fall a west campus dormitory-dining complex will add room for 785 students at a cost of $6 million.

Perkins states that room for 1,500 students must be added by 1970 "if this desired residential character is to be maintained."

Living on campus provides an enlarging educational opportunity, the President feels.

He salutes the financing of dormitories with self-liquidating revenue bonds as "one of the foremost educational innovations of this century."

Ski Or See Trips Planned By YMCA On Dec. 27 and 29

The Western Branch YMCA is sponsoring two "Ski or See Trips" for high school students on Dec. 27 and 29.

The ski trip will be Monday Dec. 27, to Blair Mountain ski area in Pennsylvania. Cost includes transportation, rentals, towels, 1½ hours of lessons, insurance and evening meal.

The bus will leave the YMCA office in Newark at 7 a.m. and return around 9 p.m.

Blair Mountains with two rope tows and a T-bar is an excellent place to learn to ski or to improve your skills, Bob Mason says.

The "see" trip will be to New York City on Wednesday, Dec. 29.

The groups will visit the United Nations, Radio City Music Hall, St. Patrick's Cathedral and the Guggenheim Museum, with free time for shopping or visiting other sights.

The bus will leave Newark at 6:30 a.m. and return around 11:30 p.m.

Decorations For Christmas To Feature NGC Meeting

The Newark Garden Club will meet next Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Smith on Stage Road at 8 p.m., with a Christmas program planned by Mrs. Smith.

The making of decorations and arrangements for the table, sideboard, windows and doorways to portray the Yuletide season and to greet the new year, will be demonstrated.

To reach Mrs. Smith's home, go out Paper Mill Road 0.4 mile beyond Louvers, turn right on almost hidden Stage Road to a dead end—and turn left to the first house on the left side, A. B. Eastman advises.

Mrs. Grace Symington and Arthur B. Eastman will be hostess and host for the evening.

Del-Mar-Va Scout Council To Move Headquarters

All central services and headquarters staff of the Del-Mar-Va Boy Scout Council will be moved by next Wednesday to temporary offices at 100 East 10th Street, Wilmington.

Marian R. Diaborough, staff executive, announced the 1012 Jefferson Street offices, now for sale, will be vacated for the quarters between King and French streets.

The new service center will be open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., and from 9 to noon Saturdays.

B&O Holly Tree By Tracks To Be Lighted Saturday

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's (and Holly Tree-by-the-Tracks) Jackson, Md., again will be decorated and lighted, perpetuating a Christmas tradition of 18 years' standing.

Lights on the 50-ft. holly tree will be turned on this Saturday, and the tree will remain lighted from dusk to dawn through Jan. 2.

The tree will be trimmed by B&O employees and members of their families who have volunteered for the job.

Delaware Cagers Lose To Rutgers In Final Seconds

Outplaying a favored Rutgers for all but the final minute and four seconds last night in Carpenter Fieldhouse, Coach Irv Wisniewski's Delaware cagers had their seven-point lead suddenly slashed, and lost at 79-78.

Coach Mickey Heineken's Blue Chicks lost 88-76 to the Rutgers in the preliminary test.

With eight seconds remaining it still looked like Delaware all the way. The Blue Hens led 77-77, and had only to bring the ball in play and run out the clock.

But the Hens muffed the throw-in and it was intercepted by Rutgers' Bob Lloyd for an easy lay-up and the winning points with six points left. Those points gave Lloyd a record-shattering total of 51 for the night.

The Hens are at home with Lafayette this Saturday at 8 p.m.; will host Penn at 8:15 next Monday; and Delaware plays at Lehigh next Thursday night.

Local Table Tennis Stars

Attain National Ranking

Gladys Blauer of Rehoboth, and Barbara Bohning of Newark are included in the annual national rankings published this week by the U. S. Table Tennis Association. Both play at the Newark YWCA Table Tennis Club.

Mrs. Blauer in 14th place, is nationally ranked for the first time.

Miss Bohning, on the list for the second year, is No. 18. Her ranking as No. 2 in the junior list was announced last month.

Mrs. Blauer and Miss Bohning are the only two players ever to receive national rankings in Delaware.

And as our companion dozed in the sun, a handsome canvasback drake that had been the center of attention for some while as it tantalized a pair of gunners by changing course when almost within range, swam in among the decoys and up close to the blind.

The sleeper awoke and promptly peered through the reeds and the blind. "Where'd that duck go?" he asked. "He swam in—right under your nose," the other gunner replied.

Standing up, the recently awakened snoozer looked over the blind and down upon the white canvas back of the debonair drake immediately below.

"You're not going to shoot that poor duck on the water?" the more wideawake wildfowler expostulated, although they were no doubt in the air first.

"Chase him into the air first!"

We both shouted to no avail—clapped our hands—whistled—and the canny canvasback continued to paddle about beside the blind, but with a reproachful look.

Then he shot over his head—and then he shot when he gets off the water," a potential bird-watcher added, kicking aside the decoys and with its motor roaring, taxied off across the water while our friend blew two white foaming holes in its wake with the remaining shells in a legal magazine. And that old can—

"We hope he's still around to have become old—it's still laughing at that one."

We lived south of the canvasback and redhead concentrations in the halcyon days experienced by such veteran sportsmen as Yelverton E. Booker and his fellow members of the wonderful old Kent Island Club; with a lot of distant and distant, you're still not sure you believe what you saw.

Some years ago in hunting with Bus Humphreys and Doc Metcalfe in a blind offshore from East Neck Island in the Chesapeake, Gibby Young swung well ahead of the lead duck in a long skin of canvasback, darting down at a stool of decoys—touched off the trigger—and the third duck in line pinwheelled out of the air. Mr. Young had shot many a duck before that—but had had no recent experience with canvasback.

"Getting off at a near 100 mph, a canvasback is a comparatively easy target with the long, splashing, take-off required for the small wings to develop sufficient speed for the heavy bird to become airborne. Teal, black duck, mallard, baldpate or any of the marsh or puddle ducks with their proportionately longer wings, have the ability to rocket almost straight up off the water, and in a hurry.

But the deep divers—cans, redhead, scup, ringnecks, and goldeneyes—must taxi along the watery runway before developing wing speed.

Even at that, they can be missed by a veteran. Gunning on the North East River some years ago on a cold, calm, but sunny day, we observed thousands of scup or blue-bills, or blackheads or broadbills—all scup—with a sprinkling of redheads and canvasback, swimming in great rafts far from shore, with an occasional straggler paddling just out of range beyond the decoy outpost.

Our wetlands—waterfowl habitat—had diminished from some 127 million acres to about 82 million acres by the 1950's—and many, many more have been lost to drainage projects since. And as the waterfowl population has decreased, the number of hunters has increased to a tremendous extent.

First federal regulations enacted in 1918 provided a daily bag limit of 25 ducks and eight geese during a season of some 100 days. And there were probably many complaints then, about the new restrictions.

But thanks to the efforts of provident conservationists for a near half-century, ducks and geese still fly—we can observe their legions tracing their thrilling patterns across the skies in mystic migration with spring and fall—and there is still the legal opportunity to shoot waterfowl—the opportunity that "enables men to shed certain of their social pressures . . . and walk, for however brief a time, as they believe were meant to walk—in the company of other men, in the open, on ancient quests."

Thanks to the U. S. Department of the Interior's splendid book "Waterfowl Tomorrow" for that quotation—and for the department's successful efforts in the preservation of our wild, wonderful waterfowl.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

Versatile Race Track

During the "off" season, race tracks and their facilities are frequently put to a wide variety of community activity, but Pimlico in Baltimore was a pioneer in this department. On April 29, 1898, less than 48 hours after Spain declared war on the United States, Camp Wilmer was set up in the Pimlico infield and the first Maryland Brigade went into training for duty in Cuba.

Harry Jeffra, today the stable manager at the Maryland Jockey Club course, was known throughout his boxing career as "The Pimlico Kid" and with good reason—he trained over the track. Jeffra and Archie McCreedy did their roadwork in company, and in the foot-steps of Man o' War, Citation, Sea Biscuit and other equine greats.

Pimlico was also the course over which a world record for automotive speed was established in 1905. The mile was covered in 51 seconds, which shaved 5-3/5ths seconds from the then world standard, but the feat ended in tragedy when the Italian driver, Emmanuel Cedrino, lost control of his car after completing the mile and was fatally injured.

Wm. Penn placed Ed Bruce Reynolds, 105; Archers, John Tosi, 215 lb. tackle; Dover, Guard Steve Balacco, 200; Conrad, Center Tom Stetina, 190; and St. Andrew's, End Ed Strong, 165.

The backfield includes Fulton; Middletown's Harry Blackston, 162; Clayton's Joe Sexton, 175; and Wilmington's Joe Lotharp, 180.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey C. Fulton of 402 Tamara Circle, Newark, All-State Halfback Dick Fulton set three Blue Hen Conference records in playing for Coach Bob Hoffman's 1965 Yellowjacket conference champs—with most touchdowns, 19; most extra points, 30; and for total points scored.

Fulton also excelled as a defensive halfback—a bulwark against end sweeps at the line of scrimmage. A senior, he is being sought by major colleges, with Georgia, Auburn, and Louisville among the prospects.

Slattery Repeats As Top Opponent For Gettysburg

For the second straight year, Herb Slattery, 234-pound University of Delaware guard, has been voted by the Gettysburg College football squad as the outstanding opponent.

Slattery, who is only a junior, was switched to a defensive line-backer this season and was the main factor in containing the Bullets' ground attack to a minus 15 yards. Delaware copped the decision by a 19-0 count. Slattery received 47 of a possible 57 points in the balloting.

Wright was picked Metropolitan any class schedule and fine performance from Ed Mason and Art Smith, but he broke into the starting lineup in the spring drills and has stayed there.

He led the Hens with 99 yards rushing in the first game against Hofstra and picked up 99 yards in the following week against defending Middle Atlantic Conference Champion Gettysburg. He was the team's leading rusher in five of its nine games, including a 101-yard performance against new MAC Champion Bucknell.

Wright's 634 yards rushing as a sophomore is almost 100 yards better than the best previous first-year performance turned in by Jim Zaiser with 539 yards in 1953.

Newark Foursome Play In Goodwill Bermuda Tourney

Joseph R. Aneda, golf professional at the Newark Country Club, is playing with a team of three amateurs from the local club in the annual International Goodwill Golf Tournament at Hamilton, Bermuda this week.

With Joe the Pro are B. F. "Sank" Richards; Carlton Straughn, and Bob Simeone as the local amateur golfers. In last year's Bermuda Goodwill Tournament, the Newark foursome of Jack McCambridge, Ted Sweeney, and Bill Whitman headed by Aneda failed by but three strokes to qualify for the final round.

The Goodwill in its 13th year, is a 72-hole, best-ball tournament played on three of the seven golf courses on the 21-sq. mi. island. Beginning last Monday, the tournament will be concluded Saturday with the professionals meeting in an 18-hole contest for the Goodwill championship.

"Not many young fellows are trying to set the world on fire. Most of them prefer to burn up the highways," Joe Harrison, Texas Spur.

Mike McGlinchey, 95 To 157 Pounds Scores Hen Win

Mike McGlinchey, former Newark High School 95-lb. mat star, won a 4-0 decision over Pete Taylor at 157-lb. yesterday afternoon as Coach Paul Billy's University of Delaware wrestlers beat Bucknell 27-5 here in the dual meet season opener.

Blue Hen heavyweight Chuck Walz scored the lone pin in varsity competition with a 50-second win over Bucknell's Dick Kaufmann.

Delaware won seven of nine events, and the Blue Chick frosh won 32-2.

Billy's matmen entertain Monmouth this Saturday at 2 p.m., and the Hens are home with the Temple varsity and frosh next Thursday with a 7 p.m. starting time in Carpenter Fieldhouse.

Three Blue Hens Win Mat Titles In Towson Test

Coach Paul Billy's Delaware wrestling team finished second to West Chester State in the Towson State Invitational Tournament last Saturday, but three Blue Hens won individual titles.

West Chester took the team title with 91 points to 84 for Delaware. Other scores were Old Dominion 58, Baltimore U. 34, Western Maryland 32, Washington and Lee and Towson 24, and Loyola of Baltimore 6.

Chuck Walz, Dave Nicholl and Pete Krape are the Blue Hen titlists. Walz pinned Bill King of Western Maryland, in 2:50 of the heavyweight finals; Nicholl took a 7-4 decision from Roger Wolstenholme of West Chester in the 181-pound class and Krape decisively Jack Cleveland of Old Dominion, 9-6 in the 145-pound class.

Two Delaware wrestlers lost in the finals.

Dave Lovelace was pinned by Old Dominion's Reg Ragland in 4:15 of the 137-pound final and Dave Bartholomew was pinned by Joe Biles of West Chester.

Pete Ferrick, Delaware, won the 123-pound consolation title by pinning Bill Hill, Western Maryland, in 4:35.

Pete Heuberger, Delaware, won the 152-pound consolation with a 3-2 win over Ed McLean, Baltimore; and Russ Meredith, decided Joe Castrovova, Baltimore, in the 160-pound consolation final.

Division sales manager for Avon Products, Inc., at Newark, Doug McMinn has been elected to a second successive term as president of the Delaware State Golf Association.

Veteran Newark County Club golfer, and former baseball and basketball star, McMinn came to Newark some 14 years ago from Michigan as a Chrysler Corporation executive.

After winning a 62-33 season opener over Franklin & Marshall at home in Taylor Pool last Saturday, Coach Harry Rawstrom's Blue Hen swimmers were defeated Tuesday at Lafayette by a 53-42 count.

Delaware swims next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Loyola, and the Hens entertain St. Joseph's here at home on Thursday at 4 o'clock.

At Lafayette, the Leopards won six of nine events.

Bob Locke in the 200-yd. freestyle; Roger Suro, 200-yd. breast stroke; and the team of Steve Stockwell, Aubrey Clemons, Gary Henderson and Locke in the 400 freestyle relay won first place points for Rawstrom's merman.

The Delaware frosh lost 55-40 to the yearling Leopards after defeating F&M's freshmen by 61-33.

Nominees are headed by Mrs. Lucien Laurin's Repeating, winner of the $100,000 Monmouth Handicap and of several other Maryland stakes in previous years. In his most recent stakes appearance Repeating was third in Garden State Park's Trenton Handicap.

Rated as one of Repeating's top rivals in the Jennings is the filly Sue Baru, successful last spring in the Black-Eyed Susan Stakes at Pimlico and a division of the First Lady.

Pimlico will have another full week of racing following the running of the Jennings, the meeting coming to a close on Saturday, Dec. 18.

"A discouraging look from his wife has saved many a man from dueling the life of the party," Duane C. Griggs, New London (Ia.) Journal.

Conscience is a still small voice that makes us feel small.

NHS Halfbacks Dick Fulton, Dick Kelley Win State Scoring Title, 5th Place Tie

Halfback Dick Fulton won the state scoring championship as co-captain for Coach Bob Hoffman's Blue Hen Conference champion Yellowjackets, with 19 touchdowns and 30 conversions for a total of 144 points; set three conference records in the doing; and Fulton's halfback running mate — Dickie Kelley — finished in a fifth-place tie for state scoring honors with 13 touchdowns for 78 points, and was No. 2 high scorer in the Blue Hen Conference.

With a one-two scoring punch represented by Fulton and Kelley, Yellowjacket opponents had plenty of trouble throughout the season, and Coach Bob Hoffman was the envy of the opposition management.

The two winged-T formation operatives totaled 222 of the Yellowjackets' Blue Hen Conference record 290 points in leading Newark to a tie with Wilmington for the BHC championship.

Fulton, a 185-pound senior at 5-10, rewrote the conference record book as he set marks in points scored, touchdowns and extra points.

Kelley, a junior, finished in a fifth-place tie in the state with Tannall's Web Jones.

Second place went to Joe Saxton, a John M. Clayton junior, who tallied 20 touchdowns for 120 points.

Fulton and Kelley were a threat from any point on the field. And what's more, Newark added two touchdowns during the season on passes from Kelley to Fulton.

The wonder of having these boys as running mates was revealed Saturday after Saturday as Newark continued to roll over its opponents. When one was stopped, the other took up the slack.

Against Christiansa, in the season finale, for example, Fulton scored one TD.

"I was pressing," he said. "I was thinking about records."

So Kelley scored three touchdowns and Newark roled over its district rivals, 32-0.

Fulton's top game of the season was in the big game against Wilmington.

With Newark's chance for the conference crown at stake, Fulton raced to four touchdowns and rushed for 227 yards in the 39-7 win over the Red Devils.

Alumni, Varsity Basketball Benefit Scheduled At NHS

The annual benefit basketball game between Newark High School alumni and varsity teams will be played in the Newark gym on Tuesday, Dec. 28, at 8 p.m.

Proceeds from the game will be used for the Newark Alumni Association scholarship and high school athletic funds.

An advance ticket sale is planned through the Student Council, Alumni board, and Booster Club.

Alumni President Ronald Mayer and Principal Frederick B. Kutz said, "This is the first year we have held the game between Christmas and New Year's Day."

"Many of our recent graduates have missed the game because college vacations and military furled leave got them home after it had been played, so we want to make the date more convenient."

"We invite our many friends in the community to support the Scholarship and Athletic funds through this game."

Champs, All-Stars To Play Saturday In Junior Football

The VFW defeated the Stanton juniors in a playoff last Sunday for the championship in the Capital Trail Junior Football League, as William Coolidge and Jim Ford scored touchdowns for the junior champions on eight and five-yard runs.

The champions of the senior and junior divisions will play all-star teams this Saturday in a pair of games beginning at 1 p.m. on the Newark High School football field.

The VFW will face the junior all-stars, and the Stanton senior champions will place an all-star squad selected from the league's older boys.

"No opportunity is ever lost. The other person takes those vital misses," Orville Campbell, Chapel Hill (N.C.) Weekly.

ODDS ON MOVING
The odds are about one-in-five that you will move to a different home next year.

If you are 22 to 24, it's even money that you will change your residence during 1966.

The younger people are those most likely to move, according to the insurance organization's study.
