The regular monthly meeting of the Newark Town Council on Monday evening was a very busy session and many matters of business were given consideration.

A report was received showing the amounts spent on the improvement of the various streets during 1929. The report was as follows: Academy street, $1,076.78; Center street, $3,578.36; Chapel street, $15,038.54; Elkton road, $2,002.31; Kells avenue, $4,966.28; Main street, $135.40; Manuel street, $789.38; Margaret street, $4,886.59; Park avenue, $2,850.30.

The Treasurer reported a balance of $18,108.81. Bills ordered paid during the meeting totaled $2,369.04.

Alderman Daniel J. Thompson reported fines collected during the month of January amounting to $31.00.

Council decided to donate $50.00 to the Visiting Nurses Association.

A communication was received from the Lion's Club suggesting that Council try a forty-five degree angle parking on one side of Main street with the parking on the other side parallel to the curb. The letter stated that if this plan was put in practice and proved unsatisfactory that another plan could be adopted.

During the meeting it was announced that the new non-clogging sewer pump which was recently installed is working satisfactorily.

Following a discussion on the erection of new street name plates it was decided to procure some samples and consider further at the March meeting.

Wednesday and Thursday, February 19th and 20th, were selected as the clean-up days.

Council decided to leave the matter of appointing auditors for the Town records in the hands of Mayor Frank Collins.

Councilman Widdoes announced that he had ordered a new Ford truck for the use of the Town and that the old truck would be traded in as part of the purchase price.

Complaints about speeding along New London avenue were received and the matter was referred to the police officers.

Congress

Each member of the Committee on Illiteracy for the State of Delaware appointed by Superintendent of Education Dr. H. V. Holloway, with the advice of Governor C. D. Buck, has received a letter from Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior and chairman of the National Advisory Committee on Illiteracy, asking that he act with and be a part of the national committee in the intensive drive that is being put on for the reduction of illiteracy before the taking of the census which begins in April.

The members of the State committee who are thus welded into the national organization are as follows: George B. Miller, Mrs. James N. Ginn, Miss Grace T. Brewer, Miss Marguerite H. Burnett, James T. Chandler, Sr., William F. Kurtz, Mrs. Robert E. Lewis, H. C. Mahaffy, John S. Saylor, George W. K. Forrest, S. M. Stouffer, George S. Williams, Miss Etta J. Wilson, William C. Corey, and Dr. H. V. The National Advisory Committee on Illiteracy has made a careful study of campaigns against illiteracy waged in many States and makes the lessons learned in those campaigns available to whoever would like to use them. It has, as a result of its studies, prepared and published a manual of 24 lessons, the completing of which will enable the average illiterate to read and write.

POOR TRUSTEES ARE REELECTED

Levy Court Receives Petition For Improvement In Blackbird Hundred

The three members of the trustees of the poor whose terms expire this month were reelected without opposition by the Levy Court Tuesday morning. They are Leo Dugan, A and Heald streets, representing the southeast district of Wilmington, John L. Wiley, 2003 Rockford road, representing the northwest district of Wilmington, and Alvin Satterthwaite, Stanton, representing Mill Creek Hundred.

A petition containing 328 signatures was received by the court asking that the road from the concrete road at Conways Corner toward Eagle's Nest Landing, Blackbird Hundred, be paved. Samuel A. Fortner, heading a delegation that appeared in support of the petition, told of the deplorable condition of the road which is about a mile and a half long.

Mr. Fortner said any kind of a hard-surfaced road would meet with the approval of the users of the road, and he said a nine-foot width would be sufficient. The road is practically impassable, "stuck" vehicles being a common experience. Physicians, mail carriers and others desiring to reach the farms on the road are hampered, and one instance is cited where a funeral last winter was interfered with by the condition of the road.

The matter was referred to County Engineer Charles E. Grubb and the court as a committee of the whole.

Another petition asked improvement of the road from the Port Penn post office, a distance of five or six hundred feet northward. It was referred to Eugene E. Paxson, commissioner of the district. The petition, containing 42 signatures, said that doctors and coal delivermen are impeded in their efforts to reach houses (Continued on Page 4.)

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR BANQUET

The approach of the annual Christian Endeavor Society banquet of the Presbyterian Church finds all members optimistic. The Blue Hen Tea Room, the place selected, is so centrally located as to allow no excuse for distance of travel to reach the banquet.

PAY TRIBUTE TO LIFE OF E. C. JOHNSON

Commencement Speaker
Lauds His Life As Model
For Graduates

Walter D. Smith, executive secretary of the Delaware Safety Council, was the speaker at commencement exercises of the David W. Harlan School held in the school auditorium, last Thursday afternoon.

The interest of all the students was held in the vivid picture word address given by the speaker when he referred to the life of the late Everett C. Johnson. Mr. Smith referred to Mr. Johnson as a product of Delaware public education, and that his life story was rich and full of inspiration to all Delawareans.

Mr. Smith described in detail of the early school life of Mr. Johnson and how his education was obtained before the day of free text books, graded schools, good roads and telephones. In 1895 he entered Delaware College and was graduated there in 1899. Mr. Smith told of Mr. Johnson's ambition, doing extra work in order to assist with his finances. After his course at Delaware, Mr. Johnson went to Johns Hopkins University for graduate work at the same time holding part time teaching jobs.

His later life was described as editor and publisher of the "Newark Post," a weekly paper, and later owner of "Kells." Mr. Johnson was affectionately known as "The Old Man at Kells."

His life as a member of the Legislature also as Secretary of State, was described. Mr. Johnson was also pointed out by the speaker as an author of several books which were recognized all over the country.

In closing Mr. Smith said, "He has gone, yet his character survives, his goodness and his ideals live. He created for all an atmosphere in which the virtues will continue, all consciously, ever to grow. He gave to friendship a new warmth, to life, a fuller meaning, to service a greater love, to patriotism a renewed hope, to death, itself, a beauty and a charm. Everett Johnson's life was distinguished by a love of home and service to this State and Nation. He served, he strove, he studied and he saved and when he was so suddenly stricken and taken from his State those who knew him best did say, 'He plucked a thorn and planted a rose wherever he thought a rose would grow.'"

REFERENDUM FOR THE REPEAL OF THE KLAIR LAW

State Wide Vote Being Taken On Delaware's Enforcement Act

P. S. DU PONT IN CHARGE

A state wide referendum on the repeal of the Klair law is now in progress in Delaware. The referendum is being conducted by P. S. du Pont, of Wilmington, who is interested in learning the sentiment of the people of this State on this issue.

More than a hundred thousand questionnaires are being mailed to the citizens of this State during the present week. Each questionnaire contains a stamped return envelope for the marked ballot of the person who receives it.

The questionnaire contains but one question as follows: "Do you favor the repeal of the Delaware Prohibition Enforcement Law known as the Klair Law?" This question is to be answered either yes or no.

There is a space provided on the card for the voter to indicate whether it is desired to have the voter's name used on a petition to the next session of the Legislature showing the results of this referendum.

Accompanying each questionnaire is a circular letter entitled "Shall the Klair Law be repealed?" The letter reads as follows:

"In order that the members of the State Legislature may be informed more specifically of the sentiments of the people of Delaware, it has been determined to send to every known man and woman in this state, twenty-one years of age or over, (a total of about 112,000) this letter and questionnaire. You are asked to express your own views directly on this question. Do you favor the repeal of the Klair Law?"

News of Neighboring Towns

Elkton

At the regular monthly meeting of the Willing Workers of Elkton Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the Church House last Friday evening, the annual election of officers took place. Mrs. Harry W. Pippin was chosen president; Mrs. Clarence Perkins, vice-president; Mrs. William G. Harris, secretary; Mrs. Joseph H. Lort, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Lewis, chairman of the Women's Committee; Mrs. H. Frank Witworth, Sick Committee; Miss Frances Cleaves, Membership Committee; and Miss Helen B. Pearson, Birthday Committee. After the election a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served.

While two young Elktonians were attempting to resurrect an antiquated sleigh at the livery stable of the late Edward Taylor, they uncovered a cache of silverware, thought to have been stolen, and hidden in the ancient vehicle. The sleigh, a relic of bygone days, was stored in the rear of the building and was almost filled with rubbish and excelsior. The various pieces of silver, believed stolen, were packed beneath a quantity of excelsior and it is supposed the thief being unable to dispose of it, hid it in the sleigh until such a time that it could be turned into cash.

A new auto, owned by Dorie Foster, of Elkton, while parked in front of Davis' Supply Store, Friday, was stolen by two strange young men. The loss was reported to the State authorities.

The Ku Klux Klan Band of Elkton will hold a card and domino party in the Progressive Club Building, Elkton, on Thursday evening, February 13. The public is cordially invited. Refreshments will be served.

Boy Slender Is Killed By Truck

An 11-year-old boy was instantly killed on West High street, Elkton, Saturday, when an automobile, to which he had hitched his sled, swung out to pass an oil truck and in so doing caused the boy's sled to slide directly under the rear wheels of the heavy vehicle.

The boy, Wilmer Deibert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Deibert, was sledding with dozens of his companions who were enjoying a school holiday. He was alone at the time he decided to attach his sled to the automobile and neither the driver of the car nor the truck operator was aware of the accident, until informed by witnesses. The boy was rushed to the Union Hospital but it was said at that institution that he had been instantly killed. The truck driver was not held.

An immediate inquest was ordered by Coroner Green.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin H. Deibert. Interment was in Elkton Cemetery.

MILFORD CROSS ROADS SCHOOL

It is noon—lunch time at Milford Cross Roads School. Take a glimpse inside the school room. Each youngster takes his lunch box upon his desk, making a table as it were. Then what is that we hear—a gentle rattle of dishes and spoons? A minute more, and lunch, hot lunch, is being served to help out with the lunch from home. The menu, you ask? Well, it varies. One day there will be real vegetable soup, another day perhaps we'll find hot cocoa, still other days there will be corn field bean soup, old-fashioned tomato soup with dumplings and so on. The charge? None at all—each child contributes to the family store from time to time, what he is able. There is always plenty for everyone. The food is prepared by the pupils under the supervision of the teacher. This week George Reed, Delaware Reed and Paul Davis are cooks. Ruth Reed and Evelyn Jester are serving as waitresses; whereas, Helen Kwiatkowski and Charles Greer are on the dishwashing committee. The boys are learning homemaking as well as the girls. The cooking is being done on an oil stove furnished by Mrs. Harold Melvin.

4-H Club—The 4-H Club was delighted to have Miss Pearl McDonald, of the University Extension Service, present at its meeting on Friday. Miss McDonald told her interested listeners how food aids in the constant building and repairing that goes on within the body. Attendance.—The following pupils had perfect attendance for the month of January: William Kwiatkowski, Charles Nelson, Marion Kwiatkowski, Mary Kwiatkowski, Carolyn Guthrie, Agnes Kwiatkowski and Helen Kwiatkowski. FEBRUARY 6, 1930

On The Right Path

Never has there been as much talk about world peace as in the last twelve months. The naval conference at London is bringing this peace talk to a focus. The hopes of the world are high again. People are beginning to realize that the slogan of the last war—"the war to end war"—may, after all, be brought to fruition. This is an accomplishment. It has only been within recent years that people have dared to dream of a reign of enduring peace. The last war frightened us—no question about it. It gave us a dark vision of the human race blowing its own head off, and the freight born of that vision is pushing us into naval conferences, anti-war treaties and world court agreements at a rate we never would have thought possible. But the job isn't done yet, and there is no sense in our being too hopeful. H. M. Tomlinson, the British war correspondent and novelist, sounds a timely note of warning. The fear that has brought us this far on the road to peace will not, he says, take us all of the way. "It is no good thinking a wholesome fear of war will prevent war," he says. "That is but a negative virtue. What we want is a positive desire for peace so passionate if it is threatened that statesmen and diplomats will fear the democracy rather more than they fear the wrath of God. 'Let them once realize that war means the march of a populace on its own capital to prevent an iniquity, and war-minded statesmen and officials will go the way of the plague rats and smallpox.' Let us make no mistake about it. Reduction of armaments is not good enough. It is no good talking that way in this age of machines manned by myriads of organized craftsmen with their standardized opinions. Airplanes and submarines to destroy homes and cut off sea-borne supplies can be made like fountain pens when required. 'Let our governors know that we not only do not want war, but desire peace as we do sunlight, and let them understand that if we don't get it Americans will attend drastically to Washington and Londoners to the neighborhood of Whitehall—and peace will then be as natural to us as money is to bankers.' That bit of advice might be taken to heart by every American. It is, after all, the old story once more—we can have anything on earth we want, provided only that we want it badly enough. We can have peace, from now on to the end of time, if we really want it; if we want it, that is enough to insist, in season and out of season, that we are going to have it. The London conference is important, but what happens afterward will be more important. Our statesmen are on the right path. The rest is up to us.

All-Around Bunco Game

Senator Caraway's blast against the tribe of lobbyists is, we believe, largely justified. The Senator isn't complaining so much about the influence the lobbyists have on legislation. In fact, his complaint centers partly on the fact that they don't influence it at all. What he is protesting about is the way these slick gentlemen persuade big industrialists to fee them heavily for exerting a "pull" that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred is wholly imaginary. They represent themselves as able to get special favors in Washington, and are given fat retainers on that basis. They get no favors, however, and the organizations that are paying them might just as well keep their money. That doesn't worry Senator Caraway greatly. What he objects to is the way in which all of this business creates public suspicion. People take the words of the lobbyists at face value and assume that our government is crooked from top to bottom. Business gets gyped, the government gets a black eye—and the only gainer is the lobbyists, pocketing his fee.

We Hope He Is Wrong

Dr. Irving Fisher, professor of economics at Yale University, finds himself unable to join in the optimistic belief that American business is going to continue, during the next few years, at the prosperous rate of the last decade. A period of severe business depression will begin somewhere within the next three years, he declares, brought about by the current decrease in the world's gold supply. "The only thing that will save us," he says, "is a new gold policy or the discovery of a new process or additional gold fields. If the fall is not prevented by accident or design we shall throttle business, wiping out all profits and experiencing all the evils of deflation." Here is a note that we have not heard sounded before. Pending the discovery of new gold deposits somewhere, about all we can do is hope that Dr. Fisher is mistaken.

A Needless Tragedy

It is impossible to take the news of Ohio's newest motor bus tragedy calmly. Nine school children were killed because a bus driver piloted his car out on the main line of the New York Central Railroad, right in the path of a speeding mail train. There can be no real excuse for an accident of this kind. If the windows of a bus are frosted, as seems to have been the case in this instance, so that the driver's view of the crossing is obscured, there is nothing on earth to keep him from stopping his bus, getting out and walking to the tracks to see for himself whether the way is clear. No motorist should ever take a chance at a railroad crossing; and this rule applies with tenfold effect to the man who is driving a bus-full of school children. Let every bus driver in the country pay attention to it.

He Made Life A Bit Easier

There isn't any too much laughter in this world, at any time. It is always hard to see a funster go. We have too few of them to spare any. Irving Knickerbocker, the gifted young artist whose sketches, "Tynmites," "Dizzy Dugan" and "Little Joe," brought smiles into the hearts of many thousands of newspaper readers all over the United States, is gone; killed in an automobile accident just as he was reaching the height of his powers. It is hard to see him go. He was only 32. Yet "Knicker," as he signed himself, did a good deal in his short life. He brought laughter to a great many days that were otherwise dim; slipped smiles into a great many days that were rather gloomy. Doing this, he made life a bit easier for lots of us. We shan't forget him.

LADIES TO SERVE DINNER

The ladies of Ebenezer Church will serve a hot dinner during the public sale next Tuesday at the farm of Herman Cook, on the road from Newark to Milford Cross Roads. Mr. Cook announces that all of his farming implements are in first class condition and that everything will be sold for the high dollar.

on the road because of the muddy condition.

Ellwood S. Leach, senior county highway officer, and Highway Officer Wilbur L. Bush presented their report of arrests and other activities for November, December and January.

Report was made of the receipt by County Treasurer Burris, of $200 fine and costs collected by Magistrate Lister from a defendant arrested by Rural Officer Frank O. Bowen on a charge of driving while drunk. Deputy Sheriff James Campbell, New Castle, reported the collection of $31 in fines.

County taxes collected last week amounted to $6,136.72. County Treasurer Burris reported. Mr. Burris also submitted the following statement of county balances:

To the credit of New Castle County, $792,451.91; miscellaneous road account, $121.62; Appoquinimink, $2,187.62; Blackbird, $2,032.17; Brandywine, $34,494.40; Christiana, third district, $17,906.21; Christiana, fourth district, $23,813.34; Mill Creek, $6,218.83; New Castle, $3,551.45; Pender, $2,734.11; Red Lion, $1,235.21; St. Georges, $3,506.32; White Clay Creek, $1,397.95.

Legislature at its next session. It is proposed that all cards signed 'Yes' will be sent to the Legislature as a petition for the repeal of the Klair law, and those signed 'No' will also be sent as a petition for retention of the Klair law.

"If you agree that the Klair law should be repealed, please mark the enclosed Questionnaire 'Yes,' and on the other hand, if you believe that the Klair law ought to be retained, please mark the enclosed Questionnaire 'No.' All Questionnaires should be signed and postoffice address and, if possible, State Representative District written in the spaces provided. The Questionnaire should be placed in the enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope and returned promptly by mail.

"The name of the individual who signs the Questionnaire will not be published, but the total results of this poll will be published. It is understood that all signed Questionnaires, whether for or against the repeal of the Klair law, may be used as a petition to the General Assembly of 1931, unless the sender objects as mentioned in a previous paragraph.

"The Constitution of Delaware states: 'The citizens have a right in orderly manner to meet together and to apply to persons entrusted with the powers of government for redress of grievances or other proper purposes, by petition, remonstrance or address.' 'You are urged to make use of this constitutional right and to assist in placing before the next General Assembly a petition for or against a repeal of the Klair Law.'

It is the intention of Mr. du Pont and his associates to place the result of this referendum before the next session of the Legislature in an effort to guide them in their deliberations on the prohibition question.

In a conference with Delaware newspaper publishers last week Mr. du Pont stated that if the referendum showed that a majority of the citizens favored the retention of the Klair law, then legislation to strengthen the present situation should be enacted, while on the other hand if a majority of the people voted to repeal the law, legislation looking to that end should be approved.

This is the second prohibition referendum in Delaware. About two years ago Mr. du Pont sponsored the first referendum and at that time there were thirty-eight thousand people who voted. The present referendum differs from the first one in that this time only one question is asked while in the previous referendum six questions were presented.

MONEY NEEDED FOR WELFARE WORK

On Wednesday morning the Welfare Committee met at the home of the chairman, Mrs. W. R. Wilson, for the February meeting. The expenses of the past month were reported and the cases needing help were discussed. The committee has helped 26 families in various ways this winter. Thinking that the community would be interested in the needs of these families, the committee decided to publish the exact amount of money which it has been necessary to use to keep some of the families from extreme physical suffering. It is well known to those who have visited these homes that there has been actual discomfort from cold, hunger and distress from lack of work, and the committee can only alleviate the worst of the suffering by providing a meager ration of fuel and food as they are needed. Several men are without work and would gladly do any work at all, but they cannot find work. If any one knows of work to be had, the committee would be glad to have it reported.

During the fall and winter months the expenditures of the committee have been as follows: Food, $133.74; fuel, $111.30; rent, $32; medical purposes, $12.25; clothing, $53.20; railroad fare, $2.—Total, $344.49.

The Needle Work Guild has provided $45 for shoes and about 300 garments, which have all been distributed. The food and toys which were contributed at Christmas time were told about in an earlier issue of the Post. The American Legion Auxiliary has been providing for one family since that time.

The Welfare Committee has $132.08 left in the treasury, which is all that stands between several families and actual hunger and exposure for the rest of the winter. There are many people in the community who would gladly contribute, or contribute again, to keep the children of these families from being cold and hungry. The committee does not wish to pauperize these people. But work is scarce, and there is always sickness and misfortune. Money is needed now so that the many continued calls for help can be answered. This past week one family was reported to the committee who had actually gone without food over the week-end. The money goes out in small sums and the committee is not extravagant. The $132 remaining is not enough to meet the needs of the coming month or two. May we have a contribution from you now, if you care to give it?

JANUARY GAS TAX
AMOUNTS TO $96,329

The amount of gasoline tax collected by State Treasurer Ward during the month of January, amounted to $96,329.69, as against $50,855.07 paid in during the month of December, 1929. This extra amount for January is accounted for from the fact that some of the returns which should have been made in December were not made till January and as the gasoline tax is totaled from the amount paid in for the month, the State tax not paid in in December was added to January.

The State highway fines collected for violation of the motor vehicle laws during the month of January totaled $4,533.50.

FARMERS ARE NOT INTERESTED IN ASSOCIATIONS

Many Attempts To Organize Groups On Peninsula Have Failed

Writing in the New York Times, a special correspondent for that paper, under date of Dover, Del., says:

Demand for farm relief has never been as vocal in Delaware as in the Corn Belt or Western States. During all the agitation in recent years interest on the part of the agricultural population here seemed to center on whether any of the schemes of relief proposed really could do much for this and near-by seaboard States. Now that the Federal Farm Board has called for a detailed survey of agricultural cooperation in the New England and Middle Atlantic States the whole question has been brought home to farmers of this region.

Except for the industrial territory about Wilmington, Delaware is essentially agricultural. Though a separate political unit, economically her interests are closely allied with those of the Eastern Shore counties of Maryland and Virginia—the entire peninsula lying between the Chesapeake and Delaware Bays.

With the possible exception of the veteran Eastern Shore of Virginia Produce Exchange and a few local strawberry and similar marketing groups, cooperative marketing has made little progress here. A good many failures have followed attempts at organization and not a few growers have had notes to pay following such failures. Their enthusiasm on the subject may, therefore, be placed at approximately zero.

Not Ready For Program

This is no attempt to cover the entire field of agricultural opinion in the twelve States mentioned, where the survey is about to be made, but it is no secret that a large majority of all the farmers in these States have either failed or refused to cooperate in marketing their products.

And yet, speaking at a general meeting of farm organizations in Lincoln, Neb., on January 7, James C. Stone, vice-chairman of the Federal Farm Board, said, in explaining what the farmer must do to profit by the board's program of relief under the agricultural marketing act:

"The first thing the farmer will have to do is to join a local cooperative association and if there is none in his immediate section, he will have to organize one and see that it is organized under the terms of the Capper-Volstead act and the agricultural marketing act."

He further explained that the local cooperative must become a part of a regional organization, which in turn must become a member of a national commodity marketing organization. With this latter national group only could the Federal Farm Board deal, he said.

The West was apparently ready for his program and to a somewhat less perfected degree the South was also. But nobody knows much about the situation in the East. The survey is expected to disclose that comparatively few of the producers, except the dairy farmers supplying whole milk to the large Eastern cities, are organized for marketing. So the situation here in Delaware and the Eastern Shore seems rather typical.

Organization Not Necessary

A common explanation is that it is not necessary here, near the large consuming centers, for our farmers to organize and market cooperatively. A large number of growers on the peninsula, for example, have their own trucks and haul their vegetables, fruit and poultry products to Philadelphia, New York and other nearby markets. Others sell at the farm to buyers who take at some price anything they have to offer. Many grow crops under contract for canners. Still others sell practically everything they produce at roadside markets. Lack of proper grading and a uniform pack seems to be the weakest link in these various local methods of marketing, but that condition is slowly improving in response to market demand. Some seasons this unorganized method of marketing brings very little profit. Then there is much complaining and talk of organizing. But the very next season may see the whole situation changed.

The eastern shore counties of Virginia and Maryland are heavy producers of early white potatoes. In 1928 there was rather extensive overplanting in that end of the peninsula. Weather conditions delayed the harvesting and marketing of the usually earlier crop in Florida and the Carolinas, markets were glutted and prices dropped disastrously. Many acres were never dug. Since that, and a similar experience in 1924, the Interstate Early Potato Commission has been attempting to allocate acreage in the South Atlantic Coastal States. This year, the commission is asking that there be no increase in the 55,000 acres allotted to Virginia and the 14,200 acres allotted to Maryland. However, it is suggesting a 10,000-acre increase in Florida and the Carolinas.

Observing this, some farmers here on the peninsula are asking what may happen to them in the future should they dump all their products into one national pool, to be marketed with the fruit, vegetables and poultry products of California, Oregon, Washington, Texas, Florida and other States where cooperative marketing has been more or less highly developed for years. Others, watching the trend of events, are wondering if the big Eastern markets will ultimately be closed to near-by producers who do not cooperate in marketing.

GUERNSEY BREEDERS HELD MEETING LAST SATURDAY

Suggestions for better marketing of dairy products were made at the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Eastern Guernsey Breeders Association Saturday at the Adelphi Hotel, in Philadelphia.

Robert Scovall, of New York, president of the American Guernsey Cattle Club, was one of the speakers. He outlined a plan for co-operative marketing of Guernsey milk and milk products, which, he said, was functioning with marked success in New York, Ohio and a number of the New England States, where it was adopted some time ago.

Mr. Scovall urged as important the identifying by a distinctive mark, copyright label or by other means the Guernsey milk products so that they might be recognized by the buying public.

Harry Hayward, former dean and director of the department of agriculture, University of Delaware, also offered suggestions for the marketing of the cattle products.

Walter Smedley, of Media, Pa., was elected president of the association; G. H. Hibberd, Brooklanwood, Md., first vice-president; H. G. Haskell, Wilmington, Del., second vice-president; M. E. Leeds, Philadelphia, treasurer, and M. M. Hollingsworth, of Landenberg, Pa., was re-elected secretary, the office which he has held since the association was organized.

The association voted $1,200 for prizes to be awarded to owners of cattle in Guernsey shows at the Maryland State Fair, Timonium, Md., and to promote Guernsey exhibits at the annual Harrisburg State Fair and Farm Products Show.

TO MAIL OUT AUTO DRIVERS' LICENSES

The State Automobile Department is preparing to send out, this week, the automobile operators' license cards so that drivers and owners can secure their operators' cards for 1930 any time this month. The old cards for 1929 are good until the last day of February. Fifteen thousand operators' cards will be mailed out this week.

A FARMER near Ihaca, N. Y., wanted to have his straw baled, provided he could find a place to sell it. He drove here and there in his car, making inquiries. No one wanted to buy. Then he thought of a man some distance away who used straw in considerable quantities. He stepped to the telephone and called him up. He sold him 15 tons, then and there.

EXPLAIN STOCK LOSS CHARGES

State Tax Department Expects Many Deductions On The Returns

Because of the stock market crash of the latter part of 1929, the State Tax Department expects many losses to be charged off on income tax returns for that year which are now being filed. Such losses, known as capital losses in the income tax law, are deductible only to the extent of the capital gains realized from the sale, exchange or other disposition of stocks, bonds, notes and securities, but are not deductible from other items of income from business, dividends, or the like.

This limitation of the amount of deductible losses has caused some confusion in filing of returns in past years which will undoubtedly be increased unless care is taken by the taxpayer, it was stated, to deduct losses on the correct basis upon which to determine whether a gain has been made or a loss sustained is set forth in the pamphlet published by the State Tax Department under the heading "Deduction of amount of gain or loss," Section 7 of the Income Tax Law of 1929.

Certain other losses are not defined as capital losses are deductible from other income. Such losses deductible without limitation are those sustained during the income year 1929 through destruction of property by fire, flood, lightning, storm or collision and losses caused by other casualty, or by theft, provided, that such losses are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

Other losses fully deductible are such as are incurred during the income year 1929 in the operation of farms, or in other agricultural, horticultural, dairy or poultry pursuits, or in the raising or preparation of animals, birds, poultry, vegetables, fruit, fish or seafood for the market. In computing losses of this class, depreciation on buildings or other property used in such operations may be included in the loss incurred, but no personal or household expense of the owner or manager of the farm or other operation or of his family may be included in such loss.

In the class of losses which does not fall within the limitation of capital losses, it was stated, is that which results from endorsement or guaranty of notes or obligations of any kind, or through liability on subscription to stocks, bonds or notes, or through contingent liability. These losses are deductible only to the extent of capital gains.

ST. JOE'S HAND U. OF P. TENTH DEFEAT IN ROW

Displaying their poorest form of the present disastrous basketball season, Coach Joe Rothrock's University of Delaware court team went down to their tenth straight defeat of the current campaign here Tuesday night as St. Joseph's College, of Philadelphia, turned in a 33 to 14 win over the Blue and Gold.

Delaware was outclassed from the opening whistle as the score indicates. St. Joe's jumped to the front at the start and piled up a 17-3 count at the end of the first half, Delaware failing to tally a single goal from the field. The Blue and Gold's play in the second period was little better, although they did manage to score four baskets, three of which came from the center of the floor. St. Joe's swift passing and accurate shooting on the part of Osborne, former Catholic High star, and F. Trainer, gave the visitors a commanding lead.

F. Trainer led St. Joe's in the point column with 13 counters, while John Carpenter's pair of field tosses topped the Blue and Gold.

PAROLE OFFICER SUBMITS REPORT

Had One Hundred And Twenty-eight Applications During The Year

Parole Officer James W. Robertson, of the State Parole Board, has submitted his annual report to the members of the board as well as to Governor Buck. The report in part is as follows:

"During the year there were 128 applications made for parole. This is an increase of 37 over the preceding year. Of this number, 44 were paroled and 84 requests for parole were denied."

"Of the total number under parole during the year, 69, three violated their parole and were returned to the New Castle County Workhouse where they were required to serve out the balance of their sentence with a consequent loss of good time."

"Based on the total number under parole during the year, 95 per cent made good, and based on the actual number 44 paroled by the board during the fiscal year, 93 per cent kept their parole."

"The policy of the board insisting that assurance of employment and a home be requisites to release, has in my opinion worked well and should be continued."

"As to appropriations and expenditures in operating the Board of Parole, the following table shows the appropriation and expenditures of the board for the year ending June 30, 1929:

Salary of board members, budget, $450; expenditures, $340; balance, $110.

Salary of secretary and parole officer, budget, $2,400; expenditures, $2,400; no balance.

Salary and wages budget, $85; expenditures, $70; balance, $15.

Office expenses, budget, $300; expenditures, $17.85; balance, $282.15.

Travel, budget, $500; expenditures, $243.91; balance, $256.09.

Total, budget, $3,735; expenditures, $3,071.76; balance, $663.24.

"The balance of $663.24 reverted to the general fund. I have checked up with the State Auditor of Accounts and find that appropriations and expenditures agree with his records in all particulars."

"The total number of parole days was 10,599, and the total amount saved to the counties was $6,359.40. This, it will be observed, was $3,287.64 over and above the total actual running expenses of the board."

PLAN REPORT ON HISTORIC SIGNS

paring List of Outstanding Places, Persons and Events Governor's Commission is Pre-

The Historic Markers Commission, recently appointed by Governor Buck, is preparing a report to be submitted to the Legislature, listing the outstanding places, events and persons which played an important part in the history of the State. The report will recommend types of markers and give their estimated cost.

The State of Virginia has recently placed nearly 800 iron markers along its highways, and they are already considered among the most valuable investments the State ever made. The State of Pennsylvania is also marking its places of interest.

The commission is considering similar markers for Delaware, also a limited number of a more imposing character to commemorate the more outstanding events. The latter would probably be placed on anniversaries of the occasions and would be given wide publicity. Accurate histories of the events or persons would be read and later printed for distribution.

Many historic persons and subjects have been recommended to the commission. Among them are Captain Robert Kirkwood, said to have taken part in 37 battles of the Revolution; Captain Caldwell, who gave Delaware the name of Blue Hen; Fort Talbot at Christiana, erected in 1682 by Lord Cecil Calvert to repel Penn's claim to Delaware; John Dickinson, the scholar of the Revolution, member of Congress from two States, signer of the Constitution, buried at Friends Meeting House; Washington's encampment and fortification near Stanton; Commodore Thomas Macdonough's home at Macdonough; old meeting place of Legislature at Smyrna; house near Welsh Tract Church, where Washington, Greene, and Lafayette spent the night in August, 1777; home of Gunning Bedford at Lombardy; home of Peter Jaquet, who laid out the town of New Castle; landing place of Penn at New Castle; places and roads occupied by the contending armies at Cooch's Bridge in 1777, and many other places, houses, churches and taverns.

Among the anniversaries which have been suggested are: 1931, 300 years since the Dutch landed near Lewes, and 280 years since they established Fort Casimer at New Castle; 1932, 200 years since Penn landed at New Castle; 1933, 200th anniversary of the birth of George Read, and of Thomas McKean, both signers of the Declaration of Independence, and 100th anniversary of the organization of Newark College, now University of Delaware; 1934, 150 years since the death of Caesar Rodney; 1935, 200th anniversary of the coming of the Quakers to Wilmington; 1938, 300th anniversary of the landing of the Swedes at the Rocks; 1939, 275th anniversary of the incorporation of Wilmington as a borough.

The commission will welcome suggestions and information as to events and persons to be marked. Every effort will be made to separate fact from tradition, and that as facts only such as are capable of exact proof.

Those composing the commission are: Mrs. J. E. Fuller, chairman of the committee on preservation of historic spots of the Daughters of the American Revolution; Judge Hugh M. Morris, president of the Sons of the American Revolution; Mrs. Francis deH. Janvier, president of the Colonial Dames; Christopher L. Ward, member of the Society of Colonial Wars, and of the Historical Society; Mrs. Edmund P. Moody, president of the Daughters of 1812; Dr. George H. Ryden, professor of history at the University of Delaware, and Edward W. Cooch, attorney.

Mrs. William Anderson, vice-president, presided at the meeting of the Blackbird Parent-Teacher Association on January 29. A member presented the subject, Indians of Delaware. The children had arranged an Indian camp with fire, wigwam, etc., which was the setting for their program of Indian songs, dialogues and play. Dressed as Indians they carried on such activities as grinding maize and weaving baskets. A demonstration of dyeing in the old-fashioned way was given by Rachel Hastings. Ice cream and cakes donated by members were sold to raise money for the school.

A letter from some New York Indians concerned about the education of their own children was read by Mrs. Irene Robbins. An Indian program was given entirely by children at the January meeting of the Newport Parent-Teacher Association. William Clark, of the Sixth Grade, read a paper on Delaware Indians. The First Grade boys and the Second Grade girls sang Indian songs in costume. The Fourth grade presented "A Pilot Visits an Indian Village." After a trio by the Sixth Grade, boys from the Sixth and Seventh Grades dressed as Indians explained and demonstrated three Indian dances, accompanied by tom-toms, whistles and rattles which they had made. A new banner was presented to be awarded to the grade having the greatest number of parents present. The Third Grade won the banner in January with the First Grade a close second. The treasurer reported a balance of $81. A committee was appointed for an entertainment to raise additional funds for a curtain for the platform.

terial was read by Mrs. Alice H. Ross. A varied program, including playlets, folk dancing and music was given by the children. The president, Mrs. Hilda Bailey and Mrs. Ross served refreshments.

DELAWARE CAGEMEN RESUME PRACTICE

Basketball practice was resumed at the University of Delaware Friday afternoon following a lay off for the mid-year examinations. Coach "Joe" Rothrock recently announced that it is his intention to give more of the under-grads a chance in the remaining games of the schedule although Captain Barton, forward, and Taylor, guard, of the seniors on the team will probably play in all or at least most of the games.

The swimming team has also resumed practice. This is the one winning team among all the sports at the University for the 1929-1930 college season. So far Delaware swimmers have won three out of four of the dual meets held having defeated Johns Hopkins, Franklin and Marshall and University of Virginia and lost to the Army. On Friday night William and Mary College swimmers will be here for a dual meet.
