Global cyclist visits Newark

The last time Jeff Ebert visited his hometown was for his parents 50th wedding anniversary two years ago. Monday he visited Newark again, but it was just a pit stop on an around-the-world bicycle trip.

Ebert and two other men are taking a year off from the rat race to raise money for World Ride Against Cancer. They've logged 13,400 miles on their bikes so far and plan to peddle to their final destination, Boston, by May 28.

Richard Drorbaugh, a competitive bicyclist from Boston, Peter McIntyre, a Canadian Air Force Captain from Winnipeg, Manitoba, and Ebert, a Medicaid administrator, currently from Tucson, Ariz. embarked on their trek June 19, 1993. Sponsored by the Massachusetts Jaycees, the three men have biked through 32 countries on six continents.

MARKING MEMORIAL DAY

Members of Aetna Hose Hook & Ladder Company showed off their 1926 Seagraves pumper.

Spectators gathered along Newark's Main Street to watch Sunday's colorful procession pass by.

Crowds turn out for parade

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Dark clouds dissipated just in time for about 3,500 people to watch Newark's Memorial Day parade Sunday.

During the state memorial ceremony held before the parade, color guards, military bands, and patriot groups stood at attention, while children fidgeted and onlookers bowed their heads in honor of loved ones lost in battle. Stagnant smoke from the 21-gun salute hovered above those gathered on the University of Delaware's Academy lawn as Delaware's governor Tom Carper inspected the troops.

Meanwhile, curb spots on Main Street were filling up quick and children were getting anxious for a parade.

"Listen mommy, I hear the flutes, they're coming," said a young boy who heard a band warming up close by.

Politicians led the parade. The governor, senators and candidates were driven or walked the length of Main Street. Campaign slogans for political hopefuls were emblazoned on stickers that stretched four and five across the chests of most of the children there.

Bands and color guards followed and a surprise fly over by the State police helicopter enchanted the crowd and baffled the organizers.

"We didn't schedule it," said Linda Burns, parade committee secretary.

"We are still trying to figure out who coordinated that for us," said Bob Mark, parade committee member. "The National Guard usually does it, but it wasn't a drill weekend for them so they couldn't come."

The first place trophy winners are: Division I: William Penn High School Band; Division II: Avon Grove High School; Specialty Band: Karns City Band; Middle School Division: William P. Chipman Middle School and Special Division: Smyrna Fire Department Band.

Christiana High principal to resign

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Christiana High School Principal Kim Kremer plans to resign July 1, because she is getting married and moving to the Baltimore area.

Kremer has been offered a job as principal of Pikesville High School in Pikesville, Md. She plans to accept the position.

Kramer, 35, has been the principal at Christiana since October 1993.

"This is my first year at Christiana and I wasn't engaged at the time I took the job," said Kremer, "but I fell in love."

"I do regret how the timing has worked out," she said.

Kremer said it was a difficult decision to leave. "We could have gotten married and lived in separate states," she said, "but then I applied to the Baltimore County Public Schools and was offered a principal's position." "It's difficult to leave the team here at Christiana," she said. "I like the kids and the work I'm doing here."

Kremer said a wedding date has not been set, but said she will be married during the month of July.

Before being named Christiana Principal, Kremer was assistant principal at Glasgow High School from 1991 to 1993.

Before coming to the Christina School District, she worked as principal of Ferris School in Wilmington and in the Cape Henlopen School District in Lewes from 1985-1990.

The timeline and procedure to be followed in naming a new principal to Christiana High School have not been established, according to Bob Reynolds, spokesperson for the district.

Students, community fight to save building

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

More than 1,000 students have signed petitions to save the back two-thirds of Daugherty Hall on Main Street from being demolished.

University of Delaware officials are planning to tear down part of the former Presbyterian church in September and construct a new student center onto the building.

"They are ruining the aesthetic integrity by putting the student center on the back of the building," said Dave Boulet, a student working to save the building.

Also, plans are to begin construction next month of a four-tier parking garage adjacent to the building.

About 20 students and community members met outside Daugherty Hall May 14. They hung yellow, caution tape around the back part of the hall, which is planned to be demolished.

"It's symbolic of what is to come," said Jean White, a Newarker working to save the building.

"This is dire straits," said Jason Smith, a student working to save Daugherty Hall. "It's definitely very late to save the building. We need to apply pressure now or it's over."

Leaders at the rally challenged each person to collect a few hundred signatures this week before final exams begin at the university.

The group's action also includes a letter writing campaign to University of Delaware Board of Trustee members and University President David Roselle in support of saving the building and using it as a cultural center and non-denominational chapel.

The Newark Post is looking for nominations for a new special section dedicated to "People Who Make A Difference."

Everyone knows a special someone whose actions, words, prayers or very existence is an inspiration. Many of these champions of good are unknown. Others capture constant attention. Some act behind the scenes, behind the wheel or behind the counter, bridging gaps between despair and a fruitful future. They are the people who make Greater Newark great: a community worth cultivating in every sense of the word.

In order to recognize those special someones, the Newark Post will publish a section dedicated to their stories.

We encourage you to think carefully about your nomination(s). Fill out the nomination form on page 11A and return it to the Newark Post promptly.

Deer Park Farm owner seeks demolition permit

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
 NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Although the Old Deer Park farm house and surrounding 2.1 acres of land at 48 West Park Place are still for sale, owner, Ed Sobolewski has applied for a demolition and rezoning permit.

Junie Mayle, director of Newark's building department, said Sobolewski applied for the demolition permit about two weeks ago. However, before he can demolish the building, he must first rezone the property.

The land was successfully rezoned by its previous owner from R2 (single family homes) to RM (multi units) in the early 1980s. However, Roy Lopata, director of planning in Newark, said the rezoning was granted with the understanding that the farm house would be used as part of a multi-unit condominium.

Since the land was rezoned to use the farmhouse, Sobolewski can't demolish it, according to Lopata. If council approves rezoning the land to R2 or another category, which Sobolewski applied for May 5, then Lopata said Sobolewski can get a demolition permit.

Newark's Cleveland Avenue was closed for nearly two hours on the afternoon of May 4 when a New Castle County Library van collides with a pickup from Porter Chevrolet at the corner of McKees Lane. Delaware State police arrested a 63-year-old Bear man May 16 and charged him with three counts of indecent exposure.

Police arrested M. Glenn Stewart, of Caravel Drive in Bear, after an investigation of incidents that occurred from May 1992 to June 1993.

Police said Stewart allegedly exposed himself to young girls at the Canal Little League complex in Glasgow on three different occasions.

He was arrested last month for indecent exposure, after a 12-year-old girl said Stewart exposed himself to her in the little league's announcer's booth.

Stewart was released on bond pending a later court date.

Police said there may be additional victims. To report information to Delaware State Police, call 323-4408.

2 robbery suspects arrested

The FBI is charging two Philadelphia men with committing federal crimes in connection with the May 17 robbery of Mellon Bank in the Chestnut Hill Shopping Center in Newark.

Philadelphia residents Willy Robinson, 25, and Gary McDonald, about 23, are being charged with bank robbery, according to the FBI.

Delaware State police report a bank teller was robbed by a man who demanded money about 12:45 p.m. May 17.

The man fled with an undetermined amount of cash. He was unarmed, but pretended to have a gun, according to Lt. David Citro of the Delaware State police. There were no injuries.

State police broadcast a description of the man's car to surrounding police departments and Newark police stopped the car on Elkton Road a short time later. Police said two men were in the car.

The men were taken to Gander Hill Prison. The FBI investigation is continuing.

Gardner named WILMAPCO chairman

Newark's mayor Ronald Gardner will extend his leadership arm to regional planning as the chairman of the Wilmington Metropolitan Area Planning Coordination Organization (WILMAPCO).

WILMAPCO officials talk about Newark

By NANCY TURNER
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Representatives from Wilmington Metropolitan Area Planning Coordinating Council (WILMAPCO) met with members of the New Castle County Civic League May 17 to discuss the link between land use and transportation planning in New Castle County.

The agency is seeking public exposure for its new, long-range transportation plan, created to implement federal anti-pollution requirements.

Those attending participated in a slide show/opinion survey depicting 200 urban, suburban and developing rural areas, both in and outside the New Castle County area.

The appearance by WILMAPCO advisors at the meeting is the kickoff of a campaign by the agency to obtain public input on its plan to answer transportation and development needs in the future.

Leonard Sophrin, chairman of WILMAPCO's public advisory committee, said he and other representatives are "eager" to address local community and civic meetings or any other meeting where citizens can voice their opinions on planning. He suggested Newark topics for discussion, which include:

- Relief for traffic congestion
- Revitalization of the central business district for transportation purposes
- Reinvestment in rail passenger service to Newark
- The future of bicycle paths
- Efforts to develop a dialog between Cecil County, Md., and Newark for future development relationships.

For more information on future meeting dates and WILMAPCO contacts, call Sophrin at 737-6205.

been either the secretary of transportation, county executive or the mayor of Wilmington," Gardner said. "It's kind of a surprise that I was elected."

Gardner will replace Dennis Greenhouse, New Castle County Executive, for a one-year term as representative of all municipalities in the organization. The chairman is elected by WILMAPCO's nine voting members (six from Delaware and three from Maryland).

Gardner, who has served on the board for four years, said the Christina Bypass—a road that would extend Christina Parkway west into Maryland—tops his list of priorities.

The connector road has been discussed in the community and local government for more than 25 years according to Gardner, and he said: "I'm not sure what we'll get accomplished but I guarantee we'll discuss it."

He added that planning a road that depends on cooperation from another state, in this case Maryland, is more difficult.

Another concern Gardner plans to address is Pennsylvania truck traffic that uses Del. 896 in Newark to avoid tolls.

"Traffic is already not coming to Newark, but going through it," Gardner said.

The new chairman said he expects the role of chairman will expand because WILMAPCO has gone through some strategic changes in the past year.

"Until the past year WILMAPCO included Salem County, N.J., Cecil County and all of New Castle County," Gardner said. "New Jersey is no longer a part of it."

Federal regulations such as Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA), which is effective this year, and the Clean Air Act also alter WILMAPCO's vision.

"ISTEA changes the way transportation planning is done," Gardner said. "It relegates more input to local level."

In relation to Clean Air Act restrictions, Gardner said the University of Delaware concerns him.

"The university has doubled in size and more importantly a greater percentage of students now have cars," Gardner said. "The Clean Air Act does not affect students, it affects university employees."

"It seems there ought to be some sort of appeal process to the federal government," he said. "I know you can't think of everything when you're planning."

"Literally thousands of students" who don't live in dorms, but close to campus still drive to class. According to Gardner, a car's catalytic converter (a toxic emission controlling device) "doesn't begin to function for about four or five blocks."

A public meeting in Newark will be held in the near future, according to Gardner.

"With the changes I can see the job of Chairman will change because of the outreach program that allows interaction with people and proposed plans," he said.

Daugherty Hall demolition valid

By DAVID L. AMES

UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

A number of people in Newark are concerned about the proposed demolition by the University of the rear of Daugherty Hall as part of the new student center planned for West Main Street as evidenced by the article in the Newark Post last Friday and calls that I have been getting. I would like to share my views on the proposal with your readers. Daugherty Hall is, of course, the Old First Presbyterian Church on W. Main Street, a historically significant structure listed on the National Register of Historic Places. The original Gothic Revival church was built in 1868; an addition for the Sunday School, built in a similar Gothic Revival style, was added to the rear of the church in 1927. It is the addition that will be removed under the present plans for the new student center.

Although the addition is an important part of the church and I do not like to see any historic building demolished, I believe that important goals—of preservation, of the community and the University—will be accomplished by this and other projects the University has carried out along Main Street and that these important goals outweigh the loss of the Sunday school addition to the Old Presbyterian Church.

First, the Old Presbyterian Church is being saved; the original 1868 church, historically and architecturally the most significant portion of the building, is a dominant architectural element in the proposed student center. The University will also be restoring the sanctuary by removing the dropped ceiling, restoring the wood and repainting the walls in their original colors.

Furthermore, the historic integrity of the entire block which is the site of the student center—including the 1863 Evans House—has been preserved. About a year ago there was a proposal to straighten out the dogleg in College Avenue where it meets Main Street. This was to be done by demolishing the 1863 Evans House on the corner so that a realigned College Avenue could be run through the site. By resisting that proposal, the University preserved not only the Evans House, but the integrity of the block and the historic street pattern which are critical elements of the historic landscape of the Old College area and the larger campus.

Indeed, in establishing architectural guidelines for the design of the new student center, the University required that it be integrated in to the historic streetscape of West Main Street and that the Old Presbyterian Church and Evans House, with their trees, be maintained as dominant visual elements. With this decision, the renovation and adaptive reuse of Elliot Hall, and continued maintenance of the historic character of Alumni Hall, the University has made a commitment to enhance the streetscape of Newark's historic Main Street within the campus and to view these buildings as community resources as well as University ones.

Historic preservation planners know that the best way to preserve buildings is to maintain them in continued use. The decision to incorporate the Evans House and the Old Presbyterian Church into the site of the student center is not only a commitment to the historic streetscape of West Main Street but a way to integrate these buildings more fully into the activities of the campus. The Evans House has long been shunned by University activities because of its isolation, for example.

From a community development perspective, the decision to put the student center and parking garage at that location has reversed a long-term university practice of ignoring that end of Main Street by placing a major activity anchor there that will benefit the city as well as the University. Indeed, retrieving this block from surface parking brings this part of Newark back into the town as a vital area.

Finally, the plan for the Student Center itself is an outstanding one in my view. Developed by Venturi, Scott, Brown and Associates, one of the leading architectural firms in the country, the design melds the historic landscape and buildings of Newark with a modern student center that will be a candidate for preservation awards in the future.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

University's student center plans reveals short-sightedness of UD leaders

Editor:

Something is going to happen at The University of Delaware—something that will be forever regretted by students, faculty, and members of the Newark community. The University has planned to demolish the rear two-thirds of one of the most architecturally prominent structures in the Newark area.

Daugherty Hall, which was originally The Old First Presbyterian Church, is on the National Register of Historic Places and is the best example of Gothic Revival Victorian architecture in the Newark area. Daugherty Hall, better known as "The Abbey," incorporates a steep-pitched roof patterned with decoratively cut slate shingles—a commodity that could not be replicated today. Its dark granite exterior is in near perfect condition, and most of its deep-toned stained glass windows have been preserved intact.

From the viewpoint looking towards the main facade, the front entrance is located in the base of a picturesque tower which is set to the left of the sanctuary. Unfortunately, this is the only view of the Abbey people will ever be able to see within a year's time—if the University persists with its goal to demolish the rear two-thirds and surround the remainder with the new Student Center. Although a building may be privately owned, its architectural and historical integrity belong to the community. The University is sadly unaware of this.

It is ironic that a campus which so often boasts of its esthetic architectural surroundings can so dramatically violate that philosophy with the wrecking ball and 1990s "mix it together" architectural design trends. If the University goes unswayed in their decision, Newark, and the people who walk its streets and campus, will be reminded every time they pass the new Student Center of the short-sightedness of our University leaders, who value the bureaucratic and political interests of today in place of the people's interests of tomorrow.

Residential development not always the right option

Editor:

Many of us were surprised and concerned by the recent announcement that DuPont will sell 700 acres of their Glasgow site to a residential developer.

This announcement prompts some serious questions: Can the Bear/Glasgow/Newark area handle the traffic generated by 700 acres of additional homes? I think most of us know the answer to this one.

Did DuPont ever consider selling the property to someone in the recreation business, i.e. a new public golf course and thus help preserve the beautiful open space/parkland of this area?

We need to start thinking about options other than just residential development.

When it comes to the airwaves, liberals should reevaluate policies

Editor:

Congress is trying to pass the Fairness in Broadcasting Act to regulate the opinions and commentaries of radio and television broadcasters. But rather than simply having the public's best interest in mind, politicians in Washington are simply trying to quiet the broadcast personalities who have been challenging their political policies.

The Fairness in Broadcasting Act would force stations to give free, equal time to the opposing view of any issue discussed on the air.

It is clear that Congress is trying to keep shows like Rush Limbaugh off the air because of the incredible influence conservative commentators like Rush have had on public opinion and action.

Since Rush's popularity has skyrocketed, so have phone calls and letters to Congress challenging the actions taken by our elected leaders in Washington. Constituents no longer simply need to take a politician's word for something because they are able to hear another side and make judgments for themselves.

In the face of more opposition than they are used to, Congress is trying to take action. If they can't legally keep Rush and other conservatives off the air, they'll regulate them out of business.

The Fairness Doctrine was tried in the 1960s under the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, admittedly for the purpose of keeping their opponents from expressing their views.

While personalities such as Rush Limbaugh are controversial, and many Americans don't agree with his opinions, the vast number of news and entertainment sources available, both liberal and conservative, allow audience members to choose programming that fits their tastes. They are not forced to listen to Rush Limbaugh or any other political commentator. With the many programs available, audience members who do not agree with Rush can easily tune-in to a more liberal station.

If the liberals pushing the Fairness in Broadcasting Act are tired of the opposition conservative commentators like Rush Limbaugh are stirring up, then they should look at and reevaluate their policies rather than simply ignoring America's First Amendment right to a free press.

Thursday a Busy Day in Squire Lovett's Court

Officers of the B. & O. railroad arrested four men on the train arriving here at 9:55 and turned them over to the town authorities on Thursday.

The men were arraigned before Squire L. W. Lovett on the charge of drunkenness using profane language, drinking and tendering drink to others on a railroad train. They were fined $40 each and costs. Upon refusal to pay they were put in the cooler until Thursday afternoon when Officer Apsley escorted them to the workhouse where they paid the fine and costs.

On the same day three other men were arrested at the Pennsylvania station on the charge of drunkenness. They were fined $6 each, which they paid.

Park Place Closed to Traffic

Park Place and its continuation connecting with the Elkton Road has been closed this week owing to repairs being made by supervisor Wilson and a force of men. A road scraper drawn by a traction engine has been on the job for several days. The bridge near the Carr farm is also undergoing repairs. Traffic

High Speed Chase in Brookside

A high speed chase through Brookside which police say reached 80 M.P.H. on Chestnut Hill Road resulted in the arrest of a 19-year-old of Brookside man for a number of charges including unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Brookside Police Officer James Wolf spotted the man at about 7:45 p.m. near Old Newark Road and began giving chase. He was joined by a state police car and two other Brookside Officers, Wolf and Bland. The team stopped the man under the I-95 tumpike at Purgatory Swamp Road.

The man was arrested and taken to Court 10 and charged with failure to stop at the command of a police officer, two charges disregarding a red light, two charges of speeding, four charges of failing to stop at a stop sign and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Task Force Tabled

The appointment of a Citizen's Task Force to study and review plans for the proposed Newark Beltway was forestalled last Tuesday night when Newark City Council met and tabled the idea.

The appointment of the group with Charles J. Schmidt as chairman was suggested to council by Mayor Norma B. Handloff. The motion to table, which came after several rounds of discussion, was passed 6-1, with the mayor being the only dissenter voter.

City To Gulp Down High Water Facility Costs

The proposed water treatment plant for Newark may cost the city $3 million, about three times more than what city officials expected when the plant was proposed nearly eight years ago.

As a result, the city will be seeking about $1 million in additional funding for plant construction.

City officials are not yet sure how that money will be raised.

Newark City Council has give city water officials the go-ahead to seek design of the treatment plant, which will produce 3 million gallons of water a day with the capability to expand to 5 million gallons a day.

One Killed, One Hurt In Rail Mishap

One person was killed and another was hurt in two separate train accidents in Newark this past weekend. A 27-year-old Newark man was killed when he was struck by a train Sunday evening near the intersection of Capitol Trail and Woodlawn Avenue, according to police. He was walking his two rottweiler dogs Sunday near the train overpass when a train started coming. The dogs had wandered onto the tracks and in an apparent attempt to save them, the man was struck and killed by the train. The dogs were also killed in the accident.

Continental Fibre reunion draws abundance of faces, memories

By SHEILA DOUGHERTY
SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

They don't make 'em like they used to.

That was the consensus last Thursday night, when about 145 people gathered at the Aetna Banquet Hall to remember a company that put Newark on the map as the world's leader in vulcanized fiber production.

At the second Continental-Diamond Budd Polychem celebration, former co-workers and their families did some catching up with each other and reminisced about their days with the Continental Fibre Company on South Chapel Street.

"The company played a unique role in people's lives and the lives of their families, unlike companies of today," said Bob Thomas, president of the Newark Historical Society, which sponsored the event. "Employees felt part of it."

Samuel J. Wright founded Continental Fibre in 1905. The company, which occupied the huge structure around the corner from Newark High school, pioneered corporate employee-incentive programs. Continental Fibre offered its employees company picnics and the opportunity to participate in intramural sports like baseball, softball and bowling.

"It was just like a family," said Mildred Armstrong, who worked for 46 years as a secretary in the Continental sales and advertising departments. She was honored at the ceremony as a "profile in fiber's finest."

"I liked all the people," said

Armstrong, 90, of Roselle. "Companies aren't like they used to be - everybody was interested in everybody else."

The Continental Company is part of the city's history, according to Bob Thomas, whose grandfather worked at the mill for 46 years. "The company was the most significant single factor in Newark's development."

Bob Thomas' father, former Newark Councilman Olan Thomas, worked at Continental Fibre from 1941-1970. "When you look back at the plant, you're also looking back at the people who were part of it," Olan Thomas said.

"Most of these people spent many, many years with that company, and it shows that they're still interested when they come back to see their friends," Olan Thomas said.

The Newark plant employed more than 500 workers after the onset of World War II, according to William Pritchett, a 41-year customer service employee and the keynote speaker at the event.

Pritchett came to Continental in 1946. Business was flourishing, and the company had two plants in Delaware, along with others in Pennsylvania and Indiana. Continental fiber products were used by companies like General Motors and RCA.

In the years following the war, business slowed. Pritchett said little money was spent on upgrading materials at the Newark Mill. In 1955, the Budd Company of Philadelphia purchased Continental.

Business continued to dwindle. "By 1970, over half the old plant was empty," Pritchett said. The Budd Company pulled out of Newark the following year.

In 1972, the Chase-Foster division of the Keene Corporation bought the mill. "There were about 39 employees - that wall all that was left of Continental Diamond Budd Polychem in Newark," Pritchett said. "But the show wasn't over." Under new ownership, the plant finished its first year with $1 million sales.

What remains of the Continental company is known as Arlon, located at 11000 Governor Lee Road in Bear. Last year, Arlon split into two divisions: microwave and silicon technologies, according to Bob Thomas, two people who worked for Continental Diamond fibre and the Budd Company are employed by Arlon.

"Sales have grown 20-fold since the dark days of 1971 and 1972," Pritchett said. "So the fat lady hasn't sung yet."

A "real camaraderie" existed among Continental employees, Pritchett said. "To have a situation like this where we can meet these people again... you see a lot of smiling faces."

Bob Thomas said he would like to plan at least one more reunion celebration for former Continental employees and their families.

"If you don't have events like this," Bob Thomas said, "this stuff has a way of getting lost with time."

Newarker sought for assault

New Castle county police are looking for a Newark man after he allegedly attacked his ex-girlfriend and her boyfriend in her Newark home in Scottfield.

Warrants are on file to arrest Timothy Garnett, 18, of Newark, according to police. His brother, Terrance L. Garnett, 17, of Newark, an alleged accomplice, was arrested.

Police report Garnett pushed his way into the house on Woodfield Drive May 13 when the 19-year-old woman answered the front door. He shoved her against the refrigerator and fled.

Police said he returned later with an accomplice and confronted the woman's boyfriend with a knife.

Anyone having information about Timothy Garnett's whereabouts can call police at 571-7930.

UPON MY WORD

You should be able to plan your own demise

By SHIRLEY M. TARRANT
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Tarrant

It is not suicide. It is "medicine". And it makes sense to me. A person of sound mind but, not of sound body, decides to end unbearable pain. He/she has reached a point where life is intolerable and nothing but agonizing pain. The focus is ending the pain.

Some would quickly say that "medicine" is a euphemism for murder. Just as quickly, I would respond that "living" is a euphemism for the condition of a human being who is: a) in a permanent vegetative state (complete unawareness of self and environment); b) brain-dead (no hope for recovery of consciousness); or c) surviving with organs failing to function, and there is no hope for recovery.

among colleagues with expertise. Treatment and prognosis were determined by the medicines and technology available at the time. And, hopefully, the physical condition of the patient and any hope for recovery were considered. If it could be afforded by the patient and family, the doctor could refer the case to another doctor—someone with more experience or knowledge of the particular medical problem.

According to my dictionary, "living" is defined as "in active existence or use; strong; glowing; flowing freely; vigorous". None of the above-described human conditions could qualify under the definition of "living".

Some would argue that physicians are sworn to uphold the Oath of Hippocrates: to preserve life. Today, we have a rapidly developing technology which can forestall natural death almost indefinitely. We ask questions of our doctors. We get second opinions. We even have living wills which direct our doctors in advance to respect our wishes regarding how we want to die. I dare say that if Hippocrates were living and writing that oath today, he would write an entirely different oath—one with compassion.

Too often today, families hold a death watch over a terminally ill patient who is kept alive in needless pain without any hope for recovery. I think that we should help people die in comfort and in control of their final days. Advance directives (living wills) for withholding or withdrawing life-support systems (feeding tubes, respirators) are common practice today. But not common enough! We must begin thinking about, talking about and doing something about the quality of life. As a society, we must recognize that medical care has its limits. As individuals, we can and must take responsibility for the end of our own lives. This responsibility must not be left to the physician at the patient's bedside. How I die is my choice!

There are those who say that Dr. Jack Kevorkian and his supporters are "playing God". Well, physicians have been playing God down through the ages. Doctors, historically, would attend a patient up to death's door, by either prescribing or not prescribing certain medicine or treatment ("doctor's orders"). Then he/she would say, "I have done all I can." And the family would wait.

There are those of us who do not want to die in agonizing pain over a prolonged period and at great financial and emotional cost to our families. I do not want to wait for someone else to decide that I can die. If I become terminally ill, have the mental capacity and the physical ability to self-administer a lethal dose of drugs, I hope that "a Dr. Jack Kevorkian" is at my side to provide this compassion in dying. If and when, with each passing moment, it becomes more difficult for me to breathe or move or swallow or sleep, Please: Release me. . . Let me go.

As judge and jury ("playing God"), the physician has had power in conducting and predicting the outcome of a patient's case, the life and death of a patient. A hundred years ago, the doctor's judgment and actions were based on perhaps a limited knowledge and practice, without extensive training in or knowledge of specialized medicine, and without benefit of consultations

A new face for downtown?

Group forms to discuss Newark's Main Street

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The first step has been taken in forming an umbrella organization to develop the concept of Newark's Main Street.

The goal of this group, which has been referred to as the Downtown Improvement Association or Downtown Visionary Committee, is to include a broad base of people with varying expertise.

The group will include business leaders, city officials, citizens, local economists, University of Delaware officials, landowners and local artists.

Residents interested in playing a role signed up after the Main Street Forum held May 18.

The forum, sponsored by the Old Newark Civic Association and Newark Arts Alliance, was attended by more than 55 residents.

This umbrella organization is being formed partly in response to the National Main Street Program's assessment of Newark. Matt Hussian of the National Main Street Program, said the Newark Business Association is a good foundation but needs to be more comprehensive and include more of a cross-section of the community, not just business leaders.

A University of Delaware economics professor, who has studied Newark's Main Street, Jeff Miller, was the key speaker at the May 18 forum.

He asked audience members, "Should the Newark Business Association be expanded now that it is a viable and well-functioning organization or should a separate broader based group, with varied representation be created?"

Dominick Sicilia, director of the Bob Carpenter Center and a member of the NBA, said the organization has been successful in membership, but could not tackle economic development. "I don't think the NBA can do it alone. It would take landowners, the city, concerned citizens and the university."

Some city council members support forming the group.

"I think it's a good idea to work with the business community, citizens and the government," said Jane Tripp, Newark city councilwoman.

Councilman Harold Godwin said he believes anything that could be done to improve the community and met with the best interests of the town, should be started.

Miller said he sees this time period as a turning point for Main Street.

"There are four major parcels of land on Main street up for sale and what happens there, effects everything on (Main) the street," Miller said.

Historic building's fate fought

► DAUGHERTY, from 1A

They are proposing the student center be built next to Daugherty Hall across from the Deer Park Tavern and suggest the parking garage be constructed a block over on the university owned parking lot located across from the Down Under Restaurant on North College Avenue.

David Hollowell, senior vice-president at the University of Delaware, said it is really too late for the student center and parking garage plans to be changed.

"This isn't something we've gone into without thought," said Hollowell. He said the student center and parking garage plans have been public for over a year and public meetings have been held on the plans.

Hollowell said the $21 million student center is being funded with student center fees—a required $50 per semester, per student fee, dining service and bookstore revenues. He said the $6 million parking garage will be funded with parking fees. He said no federal or state money will be used in either of the projects.

Daugherty Hall is on the National Register of Historic Places, which recognizes the building for its architecture.

Because federal monies will not be used to pay for the projects, a review process is not required as part of a federal law, according to Paul Lusignan, of the National Register of Historic Places.

Lusignan said the honorary program brings recognition to historic and architectural sites which have been identified in the nation as significant sites in American History or architecture worthy of preservation.

He said it would have to be determined by reviewing the building and the new plans, if the building will continue to be on the register if the back part is demolished. "It's possible it would stay on, if the front portion stays intact," he said. "but if the new construction changes the personality of the building, the property would be removed."

For more information about Daugherty Hall, call Jean White at 737-7988.

Cyclist pays a visit to home

► EBERT, from 1A

The cycling fund-raiser was Drorbaugh's brainstorm and the Jaycees backed him.

"My mother, father and grandmother have all died of cancer and I'm scared I will get it," Drorbaugh said. "This project was formulated out of this kind of fear."

The cyclists have raised $20,000 of their $250,000 goal. Drorbaugh said 100 percent of the proceeds will go to help research cancer at the Dana Farber Cancer Institute in Massachusetts.

Although Monday was a beautiful day for bike ride, the cyclists said the trip was mostly "grueling."

"We risk our lives every day on bicycles," Drorbaugh said.

At times their trip was lonely. While in the Baltic States, McIntyre said they would pull off to the side of a road and camp in the woods for the night. They didn't light fires, just set up their tents, kept quiet and went to sleep. "Nobody knew where we were," he said.

They avoided cities as well because they were dangerous.

"We rode through St. Petersburg in a flood," McIntyre said. "Sydney in a fire," they added in unison and "Athens was miserable," Ebert said.

At one point Ebert suffered from a torn ligament, but other than there were no other injuries. However, someone did steal McIntyre's dirty laundry and his camera while they were staying in North Africa.

The cyclists said they ride about five to six hours a day on their bikes and are self-sufficient. They carry tents, stoves, money and their passports on their backs.

Ebert and the others said they didn't do any special training for the journey, rather they got "on the job training" according to Ebert.

"We're ordinary people doing extraordinary things," Ebert said.

The bikers did pick up some things along the way. While in Los Angeles, Chrysler Corporation learned about their fund-raising journey and donated a Chrysler Neon to use as their team car.

Ebert's parents, Jere and Ross are 26-year residents of Newark.

"We've been thrilled," Jere said. "We caught up with Jeff in France and Phoenix...these are three wonderful guys."

Ebert graduated from Christiana High School in 1975 and attended the University of Delaware before moving to Tucson.

To donate to this cause send money to World Wide Against Cancer, c/o President, Main Street Jr. Chamber of Commerce, 150 1/2 East main Street, Newark, De. 19711. For more information, call Al Licata at 738-2472.

May 25, 1954: The night that Main Street glowed

Water streamed above the inferno ignited at Newark Lumber Company four decades ago this week when an Air Force plane crashed into the Main Street business.

1954, as Jim Wood stood talking to fellow firefighters in Aetna Hose Hook & Ladder Co.'s Academy Street station parking lot. From this vantage point, he saw two men jump from their plane which was flying over Newark.

"The plane was north of the fire house and I saw two men jump out," Wood said. "It made a half circle then crashed into the Newark Lumber Co."

Wood spent the rest of the night — until 6 a.m. the next morning — feeding water to a pumper truck from a fire plug across the street from what is now Klondike Kate's.

Although two teenagers helped Wood by hauling buckets of water to him, Wood said they depleted Newark's entire water supply. Firefighters were forced to lay their lines into the White Clay Creek for more water.

Olan Thomas, 2nd assistant fire chief at the time, said he was at his home on Cleveland Avenue when the crash happened. He remembers hearing a loud explosion that he thought came from Newark's power station.

Thomas was already on his way to the car when the fire siren roared.

According to newspaper accounts the day after, a twin-engine C-45 courier ship on its way to New York plowed into the lumber yard behind Newark Lumber Co. at 10:30 p.m.

The Air Force pilots, Capt. LeRoy B. Hansen 32, of Salt Lake City, Utah and Capt. Howard N. Franklyn, also 32, of Medford, Mass., parachuted to safety after they experienced "complete power failure" at about 5,000 feet.

The pilots made several unsuccessful attempts to start the engines but finally had to bail out.

The pilots said they had set the controls to carry the plane toward a dark area northwest of town, but it veered off course immediately after they jumped.

Hansen said he saw the plane crash into the Newark Lumber Co. as he floated to the ground in his parachute. Hansen injured his ankle. Franklyn was uninjured.

Thomas said it seemed like minutes after Aetna responded to the fire that help from other fire companies arrived — 250 men from about 16 New Castle County and Maryland companies helped battle the Main Street blaze.

Newspaper accounts said armed Air Force guards from New Castle County Airport kept about 5,000 curious onlookers (Newark's population was 8,000 at the time) away from the crash scene.

In addition to the White Clay Creek, water to fight the fire was drawn from the reservoir at Continental Diamond Fibre Co. and fire plugs as far away as three blocks.

Thomas believes it is remarkable the fire was contained to the lumber yard.

Five gas stations surrounded the building in 1954, one next door, three on the same block and one directly across the street.

As the plane glided rapidly downward, its lights still blinking, newspaper accounts say it struck 32,000-volt electrical lines, which caused a temporary power outage in Newark. Then the plane was further slowed when it hit the steel beams of the lumber company's garage. "If it hadn't hit the beams, the plane may have skidded across the street into a home," according to Thomas.

Fred Robinson, owner of the Newark Lumber Co. today, said the fire gutted the main building and destroyed the warehouse and its contents.

However, Robinson said smoldering ashes didn't prevent James Thompson, one of the owners in 1954, from setting up new phone lines to conduct business the next day from an undamaged shed.

MORE THAN HALF of Newark's population gathered in the glow of 60-foot flames on Main Street to watch a fire consume the Newark Lumber Co. forty years ago.

It was still dusk on May 25,

Lunacies like these have been inflicted on my poor wife, children and colleagues for years. They have been greeted by both groans and guffaws — the latter, perhaps, to pacify the punster and offset a further barrage. To its victims, punning can be seen as a disease, since any laughter, however sparse, can be contagious. I hope readers will tackle this word-play nonsense with zest, thereby assuring them Eternal Joy and a letter from Ed McMahon.

'Home alone' must be 'safe alone'

NEWARK OUTLOOK

FROM THE STAFF OF THE COOPERATIVE EXTENSION OFFICE AT UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

AS SCHOOL LETS OUT, there may be a time in almost every family when an elementary school child is left home alone. Self-care may be for a half-hour while a parent goes to the store. Perhaps self-care is for several hours every day after camp if both parents work outside the home.

Nobody advocates leaving children alone at home, but child care does pose a problem for many working parents. Self-care is the solution many families select for their older children. For peace of mind, parents need assurance that a child knows basic safety and security rules. Children need to feel confident and competent about being in charge of themselves and their home.

How do you know if your child is old enough? If you can answer YES to the following questions, you can feel more confident about leaving your child at home for awhile. If your answer is NO to any question, be sure you turn it into a YES before leaving your child alone.

Communication with your child can not only reduce stress for both you and your children but also provide a continuity that helps make the transition. Be sure your child read and understand a written message or instructions you might leave for him or her. Also can your child recite his/her name, telephone number, and address readily, even under stress?

The telephone is an important tool. Can your child accurately take a telephone message? Does your child know how to use the telephone to call you or a neighbor? Does your child know the name, telephone number, and home of a friend whom he or she could contact in case of an emergency?

There are some important concepts and skills your child should know. Can your child accurately tell time? Does your child understand the following concepts: stranger, emergency, late, later?

Being able to feed him/herself is an critical skill. Can your child safely manage the tasks involved in preparing a snack, such as opening the refrigerator, opening a can, pouring milk or juice, using a toaster, or getting water from the tap?

How does your child feel about being home alone? Does your child feel confident? Does your child have good judgment about which problems he or she can handle alone and when to ask for adult help?

How do you feel? Do you feel confident that your child will be safe while you are away?

Once you've decided that you and your child can manage self-care, here are some tips for parents of self-care children:

Make your home as burglar-proof as possible.

Be sure your child knows how to handle strangers.

Remove fire hazards and install smoke detectors.

Introduce your child to a neighbor who can be called if difficulties arise.

Post and familiarize children with emergency telephone numbers.

Teach children not to display house keys or let a person at the door or on the phone know they are alone.

Discuss what to do if a child loses a key.

Try to call home daily at specified times.

Encourage your child to discuss feelings about being alone.

Return home at a regular time if possible, but if you are going to be late, call and explain.

Consider a pet for companionship and security.

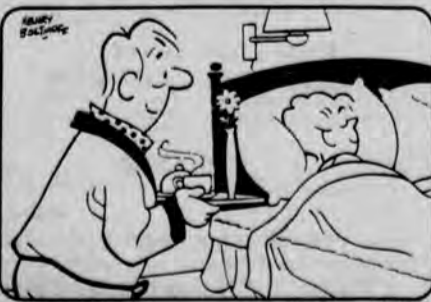

Provide at-home projects and materials for children.

Of course the best thing to do is to arrange for some adult supervised after-camp activities, such as 4-H, scouts, sports or volunteer work. Providing these opportunities will ensure that your child is safe and that you will have peace of mind. But in the absence of these, talking with your child and taking precautions will help you and your child have a happy, healthy summer.

A bit of Scotland invades Fair Hill Saturday

By TRICIA LYNN STRADER
SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

The hills are alive with the sound of music—bagpipe music, that is. It's time for the 32nd Annual Colonial Highland Gathering at Fair Hill, Md., a few miles west of Newark on Rt. 273.

On Saturday, May 21, the sylvan countryside will resound with Scottish music, athletic competitions, and a rainbow of color as Scots show their pride by wearing the tartan of their clan.

The object of the games is to preserve the Highland heritage, drawing competitors and spectators from near and far. This year, approximately ten states and one province from Canada are represented. In that figure are representatives from 19 clans and 3 Scottish societies. Average crowds can be as high as 5,000, depending on the weather.

Beginning at 9 a.m., the day is comprised of various athletic events, sheep-to-shawl demonstrations, dancing competition and instruction, and piping and drumming competitions.

Maclean Macleod, president of the Scottish Games Association of Delaware, believes the contests of ability and brute strength were originated centuries ago between chieftains of clans to determine the fittest men in the land. What has evolved is the "Highland Heptathlon," a precise series of seven authentic events to determine the best and strongest.

One of the most popular is the caber toss. The 100-pound piece of wood, resembling a telephone pole, is carried by the athlete and tossed into the air end over end. The object is to have it land in a direct line ahead of him in a 12 o'clock position. As Mr. Macleod points out, it is not only a contest of strength, but of direction and coordination, considering the pole is 16-18 feet long.

Massed pipe bands will be part of Highland Gathering festivities Saturday.

Other events include two hammer throws for distance (weighing 17 and 22 pounds), two weight throws for distance (weighing 28 and 56 pounds), a 16-pound sheaf toss for height, and a 56-pound weight toss for height. Athletes score points for each event and are judged accordingly by authorities from the U.S. and Canada.

Another morning event is the Highland Dancing competition. Ranging from beginner to advanced, dancers of all ages are judged on timing, technique, and interpretation of the dance. The dancing was once—and to an extent still is—an athletic event. The "Highland Fling" and "Ghillie Callum" are vigorous solo dances of the Highland men, requiring top physical shape. But other dances are performed by children who are serious about maintaining their heritage.

Elsewhere, teams will be spinning yarn, and dogs will be barking. Sheep-to-shawl teams will be going through all the stages of weaving a shawl from fresh wool. Spectators can act as judges, voting in a silent auction with written bids. Sheep dogs will be showing off their training to onlookers at various times throughout the day.

A sure treat is the sound of individuals and groups of pipers. The highland bagpipe, known to players simply as the "pipe," has been played in Scotland since the days of the Roman empire. Today, it is played in nearly every country of the world. The competitions at the Highland Gathering are categorized as Amateur Grades Five to One (one being the top) and Open Class. A Grade Five Amateur starts out perfecting finger movements with only the mouthpiece and the reed, called the chanter.

The most awesome sight is the march of the massed band, scheduled to take place at 1 p.m. Imagine nearly 160 people from 30 bands marching together and performing highland favorites such as "Scotland the Brave."

For those who like to browse, there will be exhibits of clothing and books, clan tents, Scottish country dancing, and all types of Scottish fare. Those wondering if they have Scottish blood running through their veins can check at the clan tents for family names and determine what calachan (clan) to which they belong. The day's activities wrap up with a closing ceremony and presentation of awards.

The event was once held at Delaware Park but had to be moved in the early 1960s due to conflicts with racing schedules. But that's OK with organizers. They believe Fair Hill is an ideal spot. Its rolling landscape can make a person believe he or she is in the bonny hills of Scotland.

Activities will take place rain or shine. Tickets are available at the gate for $10. Children under 12 are free. No pets permitted. For more information on the Gathering or competing call (302) 453-8998.

Patents aid 'crossover' concept

In the world of music, we are all familiar with "crossover artists," singers or instrumentalists who can perform the classics and popular music equally well. There are not a lot of great crossover artists, but that makes those that are great even more appreciated.

Today, I would like to try a new term on my readers, "crossover museums and libraries." That's right, museums and libraries. Here in Post Country, as with so many other places in our land, institutions get put in a category like, "art museum," "industrial museum," "commercial museum" and the like. Generally, it is a case of "...never the twain shall meet." But there are exceptions, and, like crossover artists, there aren't many of them. But, when we find one, it is even more valuable because of its rarity.

The subject of my column today is such a museum and library here in Delaware, less than a half hour drive from where I am seated at this computer. It is the Hagley Museum and Library on the banks of the beautiful and historic Brandywine River, just off Delaware Route 141. Their current exhibit, one of patent models, is a case in point. It is great for the people who come from around the world to study and learn at Hagley, and it is great for an entire family to come from around the area to have fun and learn too — not a bad deal for a museum and library!

Dorothy Lehr, PR coordinator at Hagley, led off her introduction to the new exhibit with some teasers: "Have you ever had a use for a piano that turns into a bed? How about a rocking chair that keeps you cool as you rock?" Immediately I knew the latter invention was by a Delaware native who developed the idea in the sultry summers for which we are famous!

Dorothy explained that the exhibit, "New and Useful Improvements: Nineteenth Century Patent Models," is filled with great, and not so great, ideas on how to make life better in the last century. The photos with my column today are but two out of the 125 models in the show. You will be able to see the show throughout the entire summer, so it would make a great family "field trip" or "outing" for everyone during the months school is out.

I don't want to make it sound as though this is just a show for kids, far from it. Inventors and would-be inventors will have a ball discovering how others who went before them saw the future. Some older visitors may have used some of these inventions. As for the serious researchers, there is plenty for them too. This is truly a "crossover show."

The origin of patent models followed the Patent Act of 1790. That act required a three-dimensional model be submitted by anyone who wished to receive a patent. Of course written specifications were required too, but it is the models that are front and center at Hagley now through the early fall. The law was changed in 1880 and models were no longer required, but many inventors still brought them to the Patent Office.

For some inventors, the only existing background information we have is their name, address and the model, like Goodrich Elizur Risely of Waterville,

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

N. Y., who patented "A Machine for Removing Bugs from Potato Vines." Some models, and their inventors, are a bit more famous. Does the name George Westinghouse, Jr., ring a bell?

Nine of the models are from women inventors including Clarissa Britian's "Improved Potato Boiler," Mary P. Carpenter's "Sewing Machine" and Mary Hayward's "Electric and Vapor Chair." I hasten to assure you, it is not the kind of "Electric Chair" most commonly referred to today.

The fun and the learning don't have to end when you leave Hagley. There's an outstanding tome on sale at the museum store called "Artifacts of Invention: Patent Models at the Hagley Museum and Library." The work contains over 90 full-color photos of models that can be seen at the exhibit. It would even make a great gift for someone who couldn't make the show. It could also serve as a head start on the "What I Did This Summer" assignment so many schools give in September.

When you do go up during the warm months, take plenty of film and let the camera bugs stroll the banks of the Brandywine. Also, be sure to see many of the other exhibits on the grounds of the original E. I. du Pont home, gardens and Black Powder Mills.

From Newark, go east on the Kirkwood Highway to Route 141. Go north on 141 until the traffic light at Route 100, just after St. Joseph's on the Brandywine Church. As soon as you pass the traffic signal, stay in the left lane and start down the hill. You will see the sign for Hagley on your left. Turn left and go to the river where you will turn left again into Hagley.

The hours are daily 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The single admission cost is for the entire 240 acre site, so you really can make a day of it very easily. There is a greatly reduced price if you only want to see the patent models. Plan this trip for the whole family!

You know who they are. But many people don't because they don't crave publicity. They do it because it matters to them. The Greater Newark area is blessed with many unsung heroes... people who volunteer their time and energy to make this a better place to live.

The Newark Post will salute these unsung heroes on June 24.

Caravel softball readies for state title run

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

The Caravel Academy softball team finished its regular season on a positive note and will enter next week's state tournament with momentum.

The Bucs scored three times in the first inning and freshman pitcher Kati Salony gave up just three hits to lead the team to a 4-1 victory over Flight B champion Dickinson last Saturday. That win, combined with Tuesday's win over Archmere, improved Caravel's record to 12-6 entering the tournament.

"I think this secured our spot in the tournament," said Caravel Coach Steve Baker after the win over Dickinson. "This was a game we needed and I don't think they can keep us out [of the tournament] now."

A big first inning was the key to the victory.

Tammy Hanby led the game off by reaching on an error; Angel Asbury followed with a perfect base-hit bunt to put runners on second and third. Chantel Daunno followed with a suicide squeeze bunt to reach base and score Hanby.

Kristen DiFilippo's ground ball out scored Asbury and Christine Beatson's line drive to left field plated Daunno for a 3-0 lead.

Newark girls tennis team prepares for state tourney

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

The traditionally strong Newark girls tennis team has racked up another successful season.

The Yellowjackets fell 4-1 to Concord Tuesday giving the Raiders the Blue Hen Conference title. But Newark has posted an impressive 13-3 record heading into this weekend's start of the state tournament.

"It's been another good year," said Newark Coach Hugh Mitchell. "We've done some nice things. Concord is just too tough this year with two transfers that are national and world class players."

The undefeated first doubles team of seniors Jen Berilla and Meredith McFadden notched Newark's only victory versus Concord. The two have posted a 16-0 record this season and enter the state tournament with a solid chance of advancing deep into the draw.

"They should advance a long way," Mitchell said of his first doubles team. "Realistically, they can win the thing."

Berilla, who teamed with Dawn Crowley the two previous years, already has two state titles to her credit while McFadden is shooting for her first.

"Jen's played well, especially in the latter half of the season," Mitchell said of his experienced state champ. "She deserves a lot of credit. But Meredith also deserves a lot of credit. She's a senior who hasn't won a state title yet and really wants it. I really think that Jen has fed off of Meredith's intensity and enthusiasm."

Cendy Wheeler and Barbara Butler, the second doubles team, lost its first match of the season against Concord but, according to Mitchell, could do well in the tournament.

"They didn't play as well as they're capable of against Concord," Mitchell said. "But they are very capable of advancing a long way."

Glasgow runners shine in county track & field

By JOHN HOLOWKA
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

Local high school track and field stars claimed 13 titles and Glasgow High's boys team produced a pair of quadruple-winners Saturday at the New Castle County Championships at Baynard Stadium.

Shae Devlin and Rob Dixon each won two individual events and both ran on two winning relay teams as the Dragons raced to first place in six of 15 events. Glasgow finished second in team scoring with 78 points behind perennial arch-nemesis Salesianum, which bested the 20-team field with 86 points.

"The key to the meet was Sallies' depth and some of the things we were counting on to happen from other teams didn't happen," said Glasgow Coach Art Madric. "When you're planning for a meet you have to plan the way you think other teams will plan."

"For one thing we were planning on (two runners) from other schools to help us in the mile and neither of them ran. That kind of put a hitch in our program. As far as quality we have a lot of first places, but we're not too deep. It's hard to pick up those seconds and thirds. Plus we didn't get a point in the field."

Dixon this season remained undefeated in the 100-meter hurdles (14.87) and the 300 hurdles (38.94), while Devlin continued his unbeaten streak with victories in the 100-meter dash (10.92) followed by the 200 (21.77).

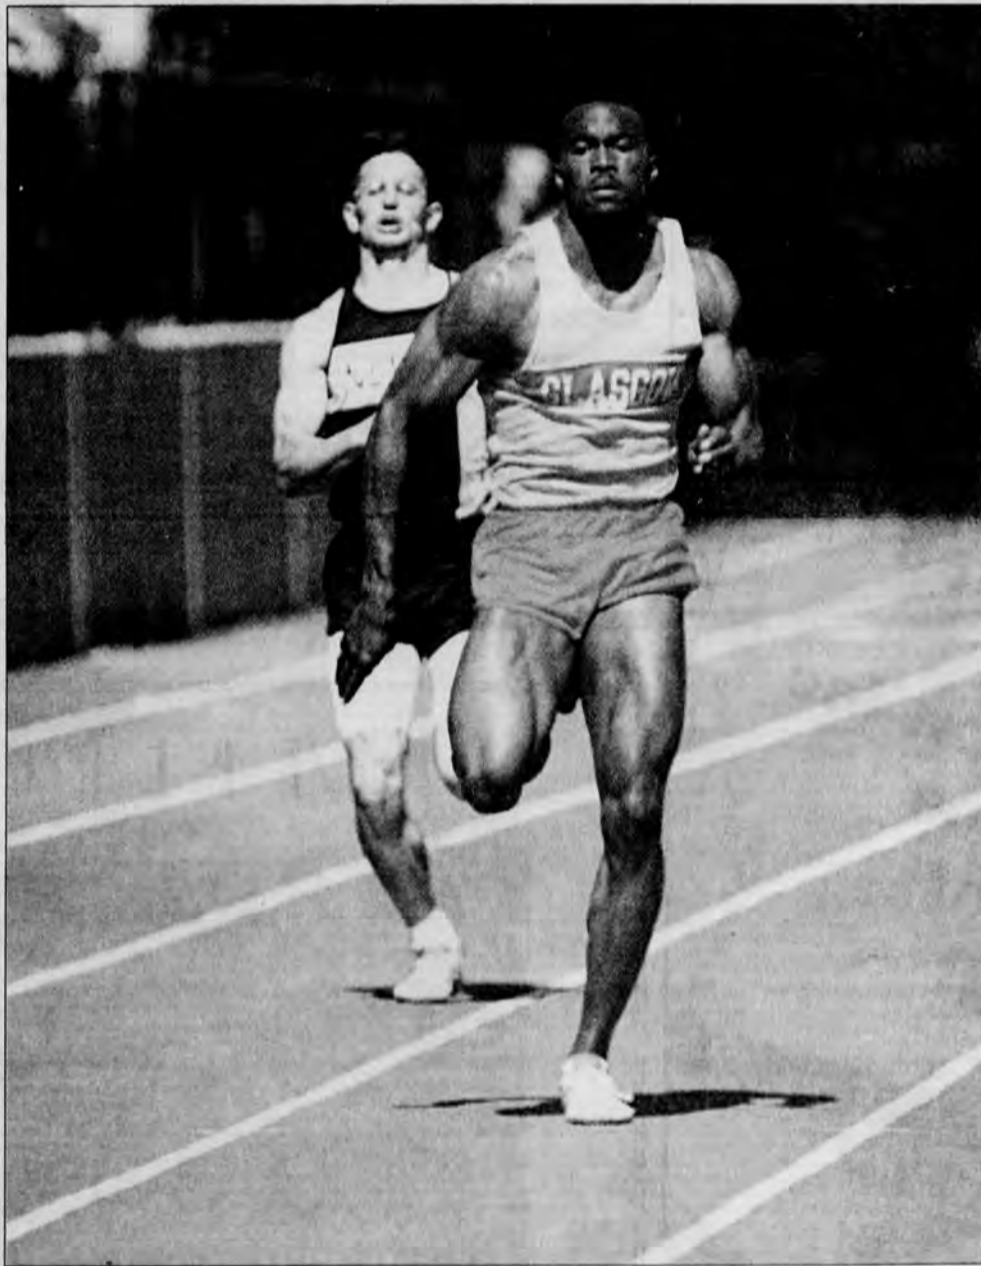

Devlin and Dixon and also ran on the winning 800-meter relay team (1:30.37) along with Damon Drummond and Duane Sequeira and in the 1,600 relay (3:23.43) with Drummond and Derrick Smith.

"We have a lot of kids who are integral parts of the team," said Madric. "Each one of them is important, especially in big meets. We have guys like Sequeira who ran a real spirited 800 relay after; I was concerned a little bit about him after prom night but he came through for us. And Smith was nursing a hamstring. The entire team all went out and gave a nice effort."

Newark had two champions and finished sixth (40) behind fifth-place St. Mark's with 45 points. Delcastle was third (58).

Steve Sinko from St. Mark's won the 1,600 meters with a clocking of 4:23.45 and Newark's Doug Campbell took first in the 400-meter dash (50.56). The Yellowjacket 400-meter relay team of Ernest Patrick, Damon Stewart, DEJA VU.

That's what the Newark High baseball team is experiencing.

The Yellowjackets (9-5 overall, 8-4 Flight A as of Tuesday), as they did last year, have come together nicely in the latter half of the season, winning five straight conference games to put themselves in a good position entering next week's state tournament.

The team started the season looking like one of the state's best. The 'Jackets were hitting the ball a ton and getting good pitching.

However, in the middle of the season, Newark hit a slump where they lost four one-run games. The biggest problem the team had was getting out of the first inning. On several different occasions, Newark gave up four or five first inning runs only to battle back and lose by a run.

Newark downed William Penn, one of the teams that the squad lost to in its down time, 2-0 Tuesday afternoon behind the three-hit pitching of Jeff Parent. Parent also drove in both Newark runs.

The 'Jackets close out their regular season this week and look poised to make a run in the state tournament.

POST GAME

The Newark boys tennis team downed Concord 3-2 Tuesday afternoon to capture the Flight A tennis title.

The 'Jackets, who finished 11-0 in the league, won both doubles matches and got a 6-4, 3-6, 6-2 win from Phil Hall in the second singles match to defeat the Raiders.

"It was unbelievable," said Newark Coach Rick Gwinn of the match. "[The deciding match] went for over three hours. There was a big crowd and it was a long day. But we all went home happy."

The win came just one day after Concord rolled to the championship of the Blue Hen Conference tournament.

St. Mark's girls softball team looks to tourney

By MARTY VALANIA

The St. Mark's High softball dropped its regular season finale 1-0 to Mount Pleasant Saturday; but the Spartans still appear ready to mount a strong challenge in the upcoming state tournament.

Adrienne Maloney, the Spartans' sophomore pitcher, limited the Green Knights to just three hits, but one unearned run in the sixth inning led to the defeat as Mount Pleasant's All-State pitcher Erica Schwanke hurled a four-hit shutout.

Megan Ragan led off the Green Knights' sixth inning with a dribbler down the first base line. Unfortunately for the Spartans, Ragan somehow avoided the tag and stayed in the base line in reaching first base safely.

Ragan would score on the next play as a ground ball to the shortstop was thrown into right field.

Schwanke didn't allow a Spartan runner past first base through the first six innings, but St. Mark's - playing the day after the school's prom - managed to mount an offensive thrust in the seventh that threatened to tie or win the game. With runners on second and third - on the strength of a Leslie King single and Katie Loomis reaching on an error - and two outs Schwanke was able to get the last batter to fly out to leaf field.

"That's a tough one to lose," said St. Mark's Coach Guy Townsend. "Mount Pleasant is tough and Erica Schwanke is a tough pitcher. If you fall behind against them; you're in for a tough time."

Townsend, however, was excited about his team's chances in the state tournament.

The Spartans (12-5 overall, 6-2 Catholic Conference) finished its conference season with three straight shutouts by Maloney. The streak included a 4-0 victory over previously unbeaten and state tournament favorite Padua.

Maloney finished the season with a 6-1 record after taking over the number one pitching duties in the latter part of the season.

"We got our pitching situation ironed out and have been playing real well," Townsend said. "I told the team that the key to winning the state tournament is just getting on a four-game win-

Shae Devlin preps for race during last Saturday's county meet.

SHAE DEVLIN - ROB DIXON GLASGOW HIGH

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

Shae Devlin and Rob Dixon's four feet logged some of Glasgow High's most important miles Saturday at the New Castle County Track and Field Championships at Baynard Stadium.

Devlin and Dixon each won and remained unbeaten in their marquee events and both teamed up to help the 800-meter and 1,600-meter relay teams take first place in the 20-team competition that act as a benchmark for the state tournament Saturday at Dover High.

Devlin, a senior sprinter, won the 100-meter dash with a time of 10.92 by edging McKean's Demetrius Tiller (11.39) and then highlighted that performance with a 21.77 clocking in the 200 dash.

Devlin's best times this year are a 10.78 in the 100, and a running of 21.5 in the 200 earlier this year.

Dixon won the 100-meter high hurdles in 14.87 by beating

Howard's Tyrhon Hale (15.14) and captured the 300 high hurdles in 38.94. Leon Price from Wilmington finished second (40.17). The junior's time in the 300 broke a school record of 39.0 he set earlier this season at the Glasgow Invationals, and Dixon's best time in the 110-yard high hurdles this year is 14.4.

"They are definitely the team leaders," said Glasgow Coach Art Madric. "They are both undefeated (in their individual events) and have been strong participants for us all year long."

"One of the big things for Devlin this year is getting a full scholarship," Madric said. "This last weekend an assistant coach from Seton Hall was at the (county meet), saw Devlin and said that he couldn't make the final decision, but will shoot for a full ride."

"Initially Devlin wanted to go to college in the South. Liberty Baptist (Lynchburg, Va.) offered him a full scholarship and at one time West Virginia was interested; Delaware State offered him one, but I think if Seton Hall offers, he'll take it."

SPARE THOUGHTS

A bowling column contributed by Blue Hen Lanes

The Coors Wars Bowling League at Blue Hen Lanes recently completed its season with a Pins Over Average Tournament to determine the breakdown of winners for the $1,000 prize given to the league by Coors Brewing Company.

The $1,000 was shared on a pro-rated basis determined by the standings of the tournament, with the first place team sharing top prize money of $200 and the last place team splitting $110. The four teams in between received appropriate dollar amounts between the top and bottom teams.

First place in the tournament was captured by the E-Z Goin team of Eric Herring, Ken Walter and Linda Walter, bowling 204 pins over their team average. Coming in second - 160 pins over - was the Doom team, consisting of Aaron Smith, Brandon Giles and Louis Jones. Third place went to Dan Gordon and Anita Preston of the Silver Bullets (who were minus a teammate due to a broken leg), who still managed to bowl 101 pins over their team average. Coming in fourth was the Who Cares trio of Vicki Faulkner, Bob Faulkner and Donald Ferguson. Raoul Zencak, Linda Herring and Carol Quillen of the Strikers team took fifth in the tournament and in sixth place was the Misfits team of Bonnie Slank, Debbie Schaffer and Tim Mowery.

UD baseball team looks for NAC title; trip to NCAA tourney

The University of Delaware baseball team swept Boston University in the quarterfinals of the North Atlantic Conference tournament last weekend.

The Blue Hens, with the series victory, move to this weekend's four-team, double-elimination championship bracket where they will be the top seed.

The Hens, who are second in the nation with a team earned-run-average of just 2.40, set a school record for wins by racking up an impressive 40-11 record so far this season. They finished first during the regular season conference race to earn the top seed.

Friday, the Hens will face fifth-seeded Hartford, who knocked off defending champion Maine in the quarterfinal series last weekend, in the opening game. Drexel and host Northeastern will meet in the other contest.

Winners and losers bracket games will be played Saturday with the championship slated for Sunday.

Seven Hens honored

Delaware had seven players named to the North Atlantic Conference All-Conference team last week.

Five players, including NAC Pitcher of the Year Jeremy Benson, were named to the first team.

Others named to the team were sophomore third baseman Cliff Brumbaugh - from William Penn High - senior shortstop Deron Brown (Elkton High), senior outfielder Tom Lafferty and senior outfielder Keven Blackhurst.

Second team members included junior pitcher Jamie Wilson (Dickinson) and second baseman Dan Hammer (North East).

The lefthanded Benson posted a perfect 11-0 record with a 1.75 earned-run-average while striking out 83 batters in 72 innings.

Brumbaugh led the NAC in batting with a .422 average. He also led the league with 18 doubles and knocked in 42 runs.

Brown hit .314 with 18 stolen bases; Lafferty batted .305 with 45 RBI and Blackhurst hit .382 with 14 stolen bases. Wilson was 8-2 with a 1.32 ERA and Hammer hit .355.

East End Cafe, Time Out Sports take league leads

Deco-Sign got its message across loud and clear last week by winning four games in the Newark Parks and Recreation Mens Softball League.

On Tuesday Deco edged First Advantage Mortgage 5-4 in the opener and then clubbed the same team 23-9 in the nightcap.

"At this point we're really hitting well," said Deco-Sign Manager Gary Husler. "We're scoring an average 17 runs a game and we're giving up six."

Deco continued its onslaught on Thursday with 12-7 and 16-3 victories over Cafe Bellisimo.

In four games for Deco last week Jack McGee hit .600, Bob Green hit .400 and Mike Sarro hit around .500.

Moon Dogs Bar & Grill won three games week, starting with a 13-10 victory over Thirtysomething and wrapping up the week with 11-10, 10-9 wins over Schumacher. Stewart Gunther pitched both games.

"We've had some real timely hitting from top to bottom of the lineup," said Victor Ferzetti. Historically, this hasn't happened, but this year we're much improved throughout the lineup. And we're playing real good defense.

"In the second game against Schumacher, we were down 6-0 but kept chipping away. We got right back into it and ended up taking both of them. That's how it's been this year."

In other Gold League action: Time Out beat K.J.'s Auto Repair 13-7, Schumacher took a pair from APM 15-15, 2-7 and Williams Realtors split with Cafe Bellisimo 5-14, 6-5. Thirtysomething nipped Williams 6-4, FA Mortgage defeated APM 13-7 and Time Out Sports swept K.J.'s 13-13, 7-11.

Defending league champion East End/Bud Light won two last Monday from local tavern rival Crab Trap, beginning with the 14-2 opener and finishing with an 11-6 victory.

In the first game Paul Hale hit 2-of-3 with three RBIs and Lenny Donahue went 3-for-4 with two runs scored and an RBI and Pat Bonk batted 3-for-3 (2 runs scored, double, triple, 3 RBIs) and Brett Nichols went 3-of-3, scored and knocked in one run.

"We had 13 people that got hits and nine had RBIs," said Manager Mike Brogan. "It was a good team effort and we played well defensively. This year we have a good mix; we've never hit this well in the past 10 years."

Mike Clarke and Hale are hitting .700 and East End is batting .545 as a team.

East End suffered its first defeat last Wednesday, falling to Newark Auto Buffs 16-9 in the opener, but then rallied for a 15-1 win in the second game. East End also beat Irish Pub 23-5 in a makeup game.

Against Auto Buffs Hale went 3-of-4 with three runs scored, a homer and 2 RBIs and Clarke hit 3-of-4, scored twice and had an RBI. Against Irish Pub Hale went 4-of-5 with 5 RBIs.

Glasgow girls fall

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

GLASGOW - For five innings the Glasgow High softball team looked as good as anyone in the state. Then came the sixth.

The Dragons (12-5 overall, 10-4 conference) saw Mount Pleasant erupt for seven runs in the sixth inning to erase a five-run deficit and earn an 8-6 victory. The win also enabled the Green Knights to edge Glasgow for second place in the Blue Hen Conference's Flight A race.

The game was decidedly different than the 1-0 pitcher's duel in the first contest between the two squads.

In building a seemingly comfortable 6-1 lead through five innings, the Dragons pounded out seven hits off Mount Pleasant's All-State pitcher Erica Schwanke - who will attend Robert Morris University next fall on a softball scholarship. Glasgow also played errorless defense as the Green Knights managed just three hits.

Seven runs on four walks, two errors and three hits by Mount Pleasant in the sixth, though, put a damper on the regular-season finale.

"I don't totally feel bad about what happened," said Glasgow Coach Larry Walker. "It was just one bad inning. You can't put that many people on base [through walks and errors] and expect them not to score."

"But, up until that point, we played as well as we have all year. I think we can take some real positives from this going into the state tournament."

Two runs in each of the first two innings built the Dragons a 4-1 lead. Laurie Brosnahan scored twice and knocked in a run while Chaz Friant had two hits (3-for-4, two RBI for the game), an RBI and scored a run in the first two innings to lead the barrage. Megan Lloyd also scored.

The lead grew to 6-1 in the fifth as Heather Buchanan beat out an infield hit and scored on Friant's single up the middle. Friant eventually scored as well.

Following Mount Pleasant's big sixth inning, Schwanke shut down the Dragons in the sixth and seventh innings to preserve the victory.

Glasgow now turns its attention to the state tournament, which gets underway Wednesday afternoon. The Dragons are no strangers to the tourney, reaching the championship game each of the last two years before losing to Wilmington Christian and Smyrna.

"Being there each of the last two years, it would be disappointing not to get there and win it this year," Walker said. "But we're a very young team this season. We are capable of playing great and we're capable of doing some goofy things."

Christiana's Clarence Casson won the high jump competition at the New Castle County Track and Field Championships last Saturday.

Local athletes fare well in county track meet

▶ TRACK, from 1B

Jonathan Morton and Campbell won the event in 43.69 and Christiana's Clarence Casson won the high jump with a leap of 6-4.

The county meet was run using the 6-point scoring system, but Saturday's state tournament at Dover High will switch to the 8-point scoring system, which puts added emphasis on team depth instead of individual performances and high times, a strong point to Glasgow's teams.

"I think the (8-point) format is not a bad idea if you combine both Division I and Division II into one meet," said Madric. "The way it's set up now it does nothing good for the individual athlete. One of the problems with recruiting in this area is that we have good quality talent spread out so thin that they're running mediocre times.

"College scouts could care less about state championships; they want to know performances. At some point I have to make a decision. Do I run a good runner to death or do I position him to run decent time? We're planning on going to Dover, running the races and letting the kids do their individual things and running some good times in terms of recruiting.

"The state meet is kind of more difficult for us with eight places and two divisions," Madric said. "We don't get teams to displace points for us. We'll miss Division II teams like Wilmington, Howard and Tower Hill. All those teams are key for us when it comes to matching up with Sallies' depth. But that's the nature of the sport. We're just going down there and put the best team we can on the track and let the chips fall as they may."

Haley stars in girls meet

Zakiya Haley ran to three titles for Glasgow's girls, which tallied 59 points and finished third behind meet winner Ursuline (93) and runner-up William Penn (81). Delcastle was fourth (58) and Newark placed fifth with 45.

Haley, who has accepted a full scholarship with James Madison University, won the 100 dash (12.49), the 200 dash (25.39), and anchored the winning 800 relay team along with Reagan Byrd, Crystal Lambert and Kina Thornton.

Bucs end on high note

▶ CARAVEL, from 1B

tate their tempo to us," Baker said. "We are determined not to let that happen anymore. We worked all week on bunting and the suicide squeeze and it worked out."

Dickinson cut the lead to 3-1 in the fifth inning as back-to-back hits by the bottom of the order broke up Salony's no-hitter and led to a run.

Caravel answered with an insurance run in the sixth inning as Beatson led off with a single and pinch-runner Amanda Pienkos came around to score on a wild pitch.

Salony, meanwhile, dominated the Rams batting order, striking out 11 and walking just two.

"Kati pitched well," Baker said. "She did a nice job."

After three consecutive losses to Padua, Smyrna and Wilmington Christian — considered by some as the top three teams in the state — Caravel closed out the season with five straight wins.

Newark girls aim for tourney

▶ TENNIS, from 1B

has recorded the best singles record on the team at 13-3. Mitchell also thinks she can do well in the state tournament.

Lindsey Garrison (9-6) at first singles and Ingrid Getzer (7-4) at third singles will also be challenging for Newark in the state tournament.

Jessica Phipps also contributed to the Newark success this season posting a perfect 5-0 record in the latter half of the season at the third singles position.

"We're just going for individual honors in the tournament," Mitchell said. "With what Concord has and St. Andrew's and Archmere; it's the first year in a long while that we realistically won't be able to shoot for the team title."

Spartans drop finale

▶ SPARTANS, from 1B

Spartans have been able to do during the year against a similar quality of opponents.

That is something that the

Glasgow runners eye times

▶ POST GAME, from 1B

Coach Art Madric will shoot for the best results from his individuals this weekend. He feels that the depth of the other teams, combined with the eight place scoring system to be used, is too great for his team to overcome.

Because of that he's going to let his team members go for the best possible times in hopes of attracting college recruiters' attention.

TIPS FOR A SPECIAL DIET

Your doctor has prescribed a special diet to help you manage an illness or health condition. However, changing the way you eat may be hard for you to do.

Here are some tips to help you follow your special diet. Check off the ones that you can do, and keep this list in a handy place to remind you of your plan.

WORK WITH YOUR DOCTOR

- Make sure your doctor's instructions are clear and in writing. Let your physician know if your lifestyle or personal tastes will keep you from following the diet. If you have questions about the diet or trouble following it, call your doctor and ask to talk with a registered dietitian or licensed nutritionist. Visit your doctor regularly for early diagnosis and treatment of health problems. Take your medicines exactly as prescribed. Talk to your pharmacist if you have questions.

Tips from the Cecil County Sheriff's Office on how to avoid becoming a crime victim.

- Keep your car and house locked, even while you are at home. Keep ground floor windows secured.
- Park in well lit areas and away from cars, vans or other large vehicles that obscure your view of the vehicle.
- If you return home and find that your home has been entered, do not go inside. Go to someplace safe and telephone the Sheriff's Office or police.
- There are some precautions that can be taken to strengthen your home against break ins. They include:
Install deadbolts on all doors, Install a door viewer (peep-hole) Trim shrubbery around ground floor windows and doors. Burglars will use this for cover when entering a home.
Arrange for mail and newspaper pick-up if you are going to be away from home for any length of time. Install a timer for lights if you are going to be away for any length of time. Ask a neighbor or friend to come and check your home, while you are gone.
When going on vacation or travelling, there are some tips that you can follow to keep you safe and reduce the chance that you will become a crime victim. When staying in a motel, do not discuss dinner or other plans in the lobby. Do not open motel doors if someone knocks and you are not expecting anyone. Do not carry large sums of money or valuables on your person. Check with the motel about security arrangements such as a safe for valuables, etc. When travelling by car, plan your route in advance and leave the itinerary with a family member or friend. Call when you reach your destination. Have your car serviced before travelling to avoid break-down. Do not pick up hitch-hikers. If someone is following you, drive to a shopping center parking lot, service station, police station, fire station or some other well lit, public place. Ask the Sheriff's Office or police to come and do a "Home Security Survey"

Ball and banquet await Glasgow High School seniors

By JEN CULLEN
GHS Class of '94

Glasgow High School's Senior Ball and Banquet will be held June 5 at Schaefer's Canal House in Chesapeake City, Md.

The event will be held from 4 to 9 p.m. for the entire senior class.

It will include a dinner of lemon chicken, potatoes, fruit salad and ice cream topped with berries for dessert.

The evening will include dancing, a slide show of photos brought in by senior class members chronicling high school memories and funny awards given out for things such as most talkative student and the student whose footprints will always be on the ceiling at Glasgow High School.

Graduation, then the beach

By SANDI ROSE
GHS Class of '94

On June 7, 265 Glasgow High seniors in red and white caps and gowns will march in the Bob Carpenter Center on the University of Delaware campus to graduate.

Principal Robert Anderson will preside over the ceremony, which begins at 7 p.m.

Seniors Rodney Burnett, student government association president and Elaine Conway, senior class president, will speak.

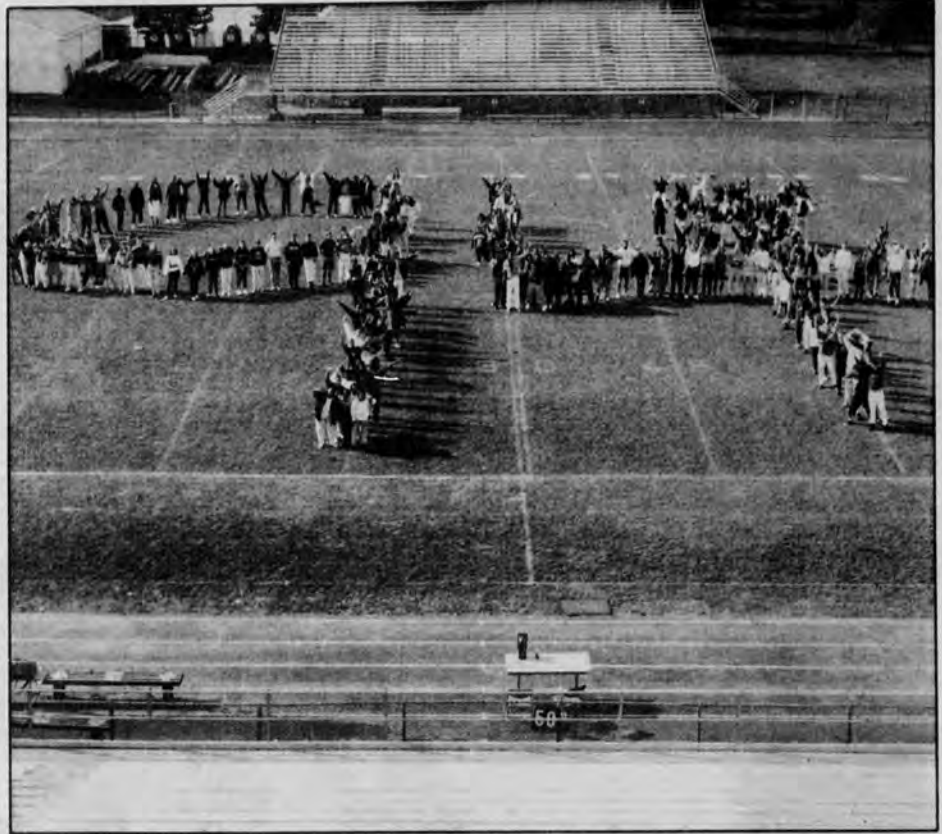

The senior class has requested that Whitney Houston's song "One Moment In Time," be performed. Senior Andrea Haman will be soloist.

Senior Brain Givens will be recognized as valedictorian.

Near the end of the ceremony, the senior class officers will lead the class in the turning of the tassels.

Some of the Glasgow graduates will then meet again a few weeks later, as it is somewhat of a tradition to spend time celebrating at Dewey Beach.

A Big '94'

Seniors at Glasgow High School look to Glasgow stadium to form a human '94', representing the year of their graduation.

Senior prom theme: 'In Your Eyes'

By TINA FIORELLI

GHS Class of '94

Glasgow High School's 1994 prom theme was the song "In Your Eyes" by Peter Gabriel.

Over 400 people attended the junior and senior prom held at Shaefer's Canal House in Chesapeake City, Md. on May 13.

At prom, most of the boys wore tuxedos but the girls dresses varied in length—short, tea length and long—and in styles of sequins, velvet and less formal.

Entertainment included dancing to the music played by a disc jockey inside the restaurant and moving to the beat of a Reggae band outdoors.

Students ate hors d'oeuvres served in a buffet style.

Seniors Craig Vettori and Elaine Conway were crowned Prom King and Queen.

Their court members were Stephanie Spear, Catrina Brison, Heather Buchanan, Candra Sudlar, Jeanine

Simmons, Lanisa Minchella, Denise Basilio, Antoine Haman, Fran Kulas, Ed Hopkins, Rodney Burnett, Piyush Shukla, Matt Mirlowski and Bryan Moore.

Leaving prom, most couples changed into casual clothing and went to the school-sponsored After Prom held at the high school. Activities there included dancing, Kereoke and eating food donated by local restaurants such as chicken, pizza, ice cream and cake.

Senior picnic planned for June 3

By JESSICA BAKER

GHS Class of '94

Following graduation practice, the annual Senior Picnic will be held in the Glasgow stadium on June 3.

At this the approximately 10th annual picnic, hot dogs and hamburgers will be served while a disc jockey plays Top 40 music.

Also games of frisbee and tackle football will be played.

Some seniors on this last official day of high school, will use time during the picnic to get together before graduation and talk about plans for the future.

Looking back: 'Thank you, Mr. Remsburg'...

By STEVE DAVIS

GHS Class of '94

Everyone at Glasgow High School remembers the electrifying voice at the football games.

Some of us remember the concerned voice in the classroom stressing the three most important things to seniors, according to the late Glasgow Teacher Charles Remsburg—grade point average, SAT's and kindness.

Remsburg died January 12, 1994.

Those of us that were close to him called him Remmy.

He wasn't just a teacher to me, he was a friend.

He was a teacher that made sure everyone knew how important it was to graduate.

He had a unique style of teaching. He made it so students wanted to learn and he made you think.

Remmy is greatly missed and for those that never knew him, they missed out on knowing the most interesting man I have ever met.

I went to basketball games with him and did announcements at the football games.

The entire time the only negative remarks were made about the Philadelphia Eagles football team.

I remember him entertaining some of us students with stories about his daughter at the University of Delaware and her stacks of books to study that were six feet high.

Remember some of his words at the games, like "Rockin' Rodney Burnett on that devastating hit," and "Pete the Animal Steil on the tackle."

All in all, Remmy is greatly missed. He is the only reason I'm graduating and did not drop out long ago.

Thank you, Mr. Remsburg.

By TONJA CASTANEDA

She is the daughter of Richard Basilio.

Ferraro is a cheerleader at Glasgow High School. She will be going to the University of Delaware next year to study early childhood education. She is the daughter of Linda Miller and Mark Ferraro.

Buchanan is on the softball team, color guard, National Honor Society and Indoor Garden Club. She plans to attend the University of Delaware and major in elementary education. She is the daughter of William and Patrice Buchanan.

Sulecki plans to attend the University of Delaware and major in criminal justice. He is the son of Steve and Evelyn Sulecki.

Warden was voted class clown. She will attend Delaware Technical and Community College this fall to explore fields to major in and plans to attend the University of Delaware in the spring.

Homecoming offered a glimpse at GHS royalty

By DENISE BASILIO

GHS Class of '94

Glasgow's 1993 Homecoming game and dance were held last October.

The football game was against Mount Pleasant and Glasgow won by over 20 points, with a 35-12 final score.

At halftime two queens were chosen because of a tie. They were Seniors Candra Sudler and Heather Buchanan. Senior Corey Curtis was named Homecoming King.

The royal court consisted of Elaine Conway, Denise Basilio, Nicole Cuomo, Lisa Breece, Anee Gregory, Lanisa Michella, Kelly Ferraro, Jennifer Harmen, Shannon Davis, Katrina Brison, Maggie MacDonald, Julia Bolea, Steve Sulecki, Fran Kulas, Jeff Brohawn, Rodney Burnett, John Fuggitt, Tony Fawcett, Shannon Riley and Ivan Thomas.

About 300 students attended the homecoming dance held October 9. Dress at the dance was semi-formal. The boys wore pants, shirts and ties and the girls wore a range of fashions from skirts and blouses to formal gowns.

Seniors went South of the Border

About 20 Glasgow High School seniors traveled to Cancun, Mexico during the first week of April.

Students spent their spring break in Mexico—shopping, on the beaches, sight seeing and dancing at night clubs.

"From the warm sunny beaches of Cancun to the parties at night, there was never a dull moment," said Senior Elaine Conway. "What we enjoyed most was being together and the worst part was leaving paradise."

Stellar seniors shine at St. Mark's

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS

Newark Post staff writer

Many of St. Mark's seniors won't go away this year empty handed. Senior Hilary Prendergast received the honor of participating in Girls Nation in Washington, D.C. where she met President Bill Clinton.

Ninety-three percent of the class of 1994 is college bound—340 seniors were accepted at 174 different colleges and universities. Nineteen different seniors have been accepted into honors Programs at 10 different colleges and 22 percent of the class has been offered scholarships and grants that total more than $2.3 million.

Two residents of New Castle County each year are chosen as "First State Constitutional Scholars." These students received full scholarships

(tuition, room and board) to the University of Delaware. St. Mark's senior, Patricia Powers was named as one of the "First State Constitutional Scholars."

Senior Mary Yang placed first in the state on the Delaware Chemistry Exam offered by the American Chemical Association.

Out of 3,000 students nation-

More St. Mark's news, Page 11

wide, senior Michelle Magrans has reached the highest level in the nation in the National Hispanic Scholars Program. The program is based on students' performances on the 1992 preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test or SAT.

Three seniors also became 1994 National Merit Finalists this year. Sean Ryan, Mary Yang and Dan Milam were among those who met the requirements for finalist standing. Each placed in the top half percent of all high school students.

Student Council President Cindy Jarom was selected to receive a Tylenol/Happy Harry's leaders Scholarship. The nationwide award program recognizes students who demonstrate leadership in community and school activities. Jarom also received an $8,000 Delaware Engineering Society Scholarship and is in the running for national engineering recognition. She plans to pursue a major in chemical engineering.

Senior Phil Lindell was appointed to the United States Air Force Academy; Elizabeth Brubaker to the Navy ROTC Nursing Scholarship; and Christina Rydzewski to the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy

St. Mark's High School student council officers, Jamie Ludica and Caroline Faulkner, rehearse for graduation on June 5.

Newark High's 101st graduation is June 9

By SCOTT LAWRENCE

Newark Post editor

The one hundred-first graduating class of Newark High School will process June 9.

The event will be an indoor commencement ceremony at the Bob Carpenter Center off South College Avenue, Newark.

It is expected that 288 seniors will receive their diplomas during the ceremony, which gets underway at 7 p.m.

Guest speaker will be television news correspondent Lauren Wilson.

Wilson works at the Wilmington bureau of Philadelphia-based WPVI-TV, Channel 6 as the station's Delaware correspondent.

Also addressing the class and families in attendance will be not one but six valedictorians: Jordan Eric Hegedus, Mandy Renea Jarrell, Richard George McDowell, Korynn Michele Schooley, Mika Lynn Vincent, and Laura Vincent White.

Christina School District Superintendent Iris Metts and members of the Christina Board of Education will assist in administering diplomas.

'Always and Forever' prom theme for Caravel

By NANCY TURNER

Newark Post staff writer

Caravel Academy's prom was held in the Hotel duPont on May 19. The theme, "Always and Forever" by Heatwave, was celebrated with ivory, hunter green and mauve decorations.

The 45 Caravelians and their dates dined on top sirloin and Chicken Kiev.

Dorothy M. Peoples and the Caravel administrative board provided an after-prom breakfast at Cafe Tivoli Restaurant in Peoples Plaza.

On May 26, the senior class will be entertained by Dorothy Peoples and the board with a senior banquet. It is a fun time when awards are announced and gag gifts are exchanged. # Christiana seniors' social calendar continues to be busy

By SCOTT LAWRENCE
Newark Post editor

This year's commencement ceremonies for Christiana High School's Class of 1994 are but one of the many senior spring-time activities involving those about to embark on their post-high school future.

Along with the traditional high school prom, the senior class enjoyed their own ball and banquet May 20 at the Mendenhall Inn, in Mendenhall, Pa.

Another popular event, the Senior Barbeque, will be held

June 6. Sponsored by the school's National Honor Society chapter, the barbeque will begin after graduation practice, around noon, and will feature plenty of grilled food and an abundance of volleyball and baseball.

Christiana High School's commencement ceremonies will be held indoors June 8 at 7 p.m. at the Bob Carpenter Center in Newark, next to the Delawares football stadium.

A guest speaker has not been announced, but class valedictorian Tami Hutchison will address fellow classmates and invited guests.

Hutchison is Christiana valedictorian

Tami Hutchison

Those attending commencement ceremonies for Christiana High School will hear valedictorian Tami Hutchison, a graduating senior who considers the experience of ranking at the top of her class "awesome".

"I've worked six years for it now," she said. Except for a "B" last marking period, Hutchison has managed to pull straight "A's" since third grade.

She will attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in the fall, majoring in Environmental Science. Then she plans a master's degree and a stint in the Peace Corps.

St. Mark's seniors share in 25th

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
Newark Post staff writer

Seniors this year shared their last high school days with St. Mark's Silver Anniversary Campaign. The capital campaign's goal is $3.1 million and at this point $2.2 million has been raised. Funds will go to enhance the campus and facilities.

In honor of the school's 25th anniversary, two student service clubs helped bring about two additions to the school campus.

The Z Club, comprised of high school aged girls and affiliated with Zonta International, managed to raise $14,000 to commission a hand-carved marble statue of Saint Mark. The statue is from Italy and now sits in the school's courtyard. It was officially blessed by Bishop Robert Mulvee in April on the eve of the feast of Saint Mark.

St. Mark's

St. Mark's Key Club, a service club affiliated with the Kiwanis Club, purchased a new entrance sign and landscaping around the sign for the St. Mark's Pike Creek Road entrance. The sign is hand carved and in the school colors of green and gold.

Dewey Beach marks the spot for post-graduation gatherings

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
Newark Post staff writer

The day after graduation, many St. Mark's seniors plan to shed their cap and gown and try swimsuits and a cool pair of shades for awhile.

Although there are no official "school sanctioned" post graduation traditions, many seniors at St. Mark's vacation at Dewey Beach.

Most are planning to leave June 6, the day after commencement, and some even the night of graduation according to Amanda Bradiary, senior class president. For some it won't be a week's vacation, a lot of graduates are planning to spend the summer.

St. Mark's graduation June 5

St. Mark's doesn't have valedictorians, but two speakers who are chosen by St. Mark's faculty as those students who most exemplify Spartan spirit. Hilary Prendergast and Jamie Ludica will lead their peers at its June 5 graduation.

Bishop Robert Mulvee of the Diocese of Wilmington is the keynote speaker.

St. Mark's class officers head here, south to college this fall

She plans to attend James Madison University in Harrisonburg, Va. this fall where she will study biology with a concentration in physical therapy.

India Sutton, class treasurer, plans to major in Business/Administration when she attends Clark Atlanta University in Atlanta, Ga.
