DRAWN GUNS COW CROWD AT KILLER'S TRIAL

Officers Guarding Watkins,
Slayer of Aged Farmer,
Halt Violence

LYNCHING THREATENED

While a crowd of more than six hundred farmers and townspeople milled around and talked of violence, William Watkins, the negro who murdered his employer, James Harward, aged farmer of near Kemblesville, about two weeks ago, was arraigned last Saturday before Justice of the Peace Sheehan, of West Grove, Pa., and held without bail on a charge of murder.

Sentiment and feeling was running high in the crowd of men who filled the street in front of the office of Justice of the Peace Sheehan. The undertone of lynching was marked throughout the crowd, and officials of the law expressed their fear that the crowd would become unruly and finally become violent.

Eighteen officers with drawn pistols, surrounded the prisoner as he was hurried through the crowd and into the office of the Justice of the Peace. As Watkins was being arraigned, the officers guarded the entrances and windows to the building, and ordered the men away from the office. District Attorney Guss, of the Pennsylvania Court of Chester County, addressed the crowd and asked for patience, and assured the men that the trial would be speeded. As Watkins was taken back to the jail from the building, the crowd again became dangerous, but the policemen hurried the prisoner along, and lodged him behind the protection of the jail

Saturday, January 10, Watkins shot his employer with a shotgun, and then threatened Mrs. Ella Johnson, housekeeper for Mr. Harward, with the same death if she resisted his advances. Mrs. Johnson escaped from the house and fled, barefooted and clad only in a nightgown, across a quarter-mile of frozen fields to the safety of a neighboring farmhouse. Watkins fled from the scene of the murder, and was captured later hiding in a barn a few miles from there. His case will come up before the Grand Jury and he will probably be tried in the next term of court.

KOELIG, NEWARK BOY, WINS CORN CONTEST AWARD

Entry Judged Best in Statewide Show Held at Seaford

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT

By winning first prize in the honorary ten ears of corn white and yellow classes, first in the interstate white, and championship ribbon of the State on his ten ears yellow sample of corn, J. Oliver Koelig, Jr., of Newark, again carried off the greatest honors in the Delaware Crop Improvement Association show held last week-end at Seaford. Eight of the ten first prizes and sweetpotato ribbons in the State-wide corn classes were won by New Castle county corn growers.

This is the third year in succession that young Koelig, a former 4-H Club and agriculture student and at present a senior in the Newark High School, has had the distinction of being the champion corn grower in the State by having his ten ear samples win the

MARRIED 50 YEARS, BRIDAL PARTY CELEBRATES OCCASION

Mrs. C. R. E. Lewis Bridesmaid at Ceremony Half-Century
Ago; Bride was Delaware Resident

The Carthage Republican, a weekly newspaper of Carthage, Illinois, in its January 14th issue carried an account of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Washington Kirkpatrick, of that town. An interesting thing concerning this anniversary, aside from the fact that it marks the 50th milestone of the married life of this couple, is that the bridesmaid and groomsmen at the wedding are still living. The bridesmaid is now Mrs. C. R. E. Lewis, of Newark, who is a sister of Mrs. Kirkpatrick. Mrs. Lewis is now 83, and Mrs. Kirkpatrick is 86.

NEW KLAIR LAW REPEAL BILL IS DRASTIC ACT

Move on Part of Drys to Spike Guns of Wets Comes as Big Surprise

FOR MEDICINAL LIQUOR

Wets in the Legislature and others outside the body received a surprise yesterday when Representative Talley, in the House, introduced a bill which repeals the Klair and Loose laws, the State enforcement acts under the Prohibition Amendment. The bill is the most radical which has been offered in Delaware on this subject. It is modeled on the Pennsylvania enforcement law and was presented to Representative Talley for introduction by the Rev. Roscoe W. Vining, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Delaware.

The bill was read twice and referred to the committee on temperance of which Mr. Talley is the chairman. According to Mr. Vining the bill follows the Volstead Act.

"In drafting the bill, which is a 'baby Volstead Act,' we have had but one purpose in view, and that is that we should have in the State of Delaware an enforcement code which conforms with the spirit of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act.

Moore, and was born on March 22, 1843, at Pleasant Hill, Delaware. Two of her uncles moved from Pleasant Hill to Illinois about 1835, and in the late '70's she made the long journey out to Illinois to visit these relatives. The visit lasted for about a year, after which she returned to the East. Another trip to Illinois was made within two years, however, and on the second trip, she was accompanied by her sister Harriet, who is now Mrs. Lewis. The marriage of Miss Moore and Mr. Kirkpatrick took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Moore, the home of her uncle, on January 6, 1881. Townsend Graham, a resident of that section, acted as best man at the wedding. He also is still living, and attended the golden wedding anniversary celebration. The observance of the anniversary was held in the same house in which Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick were married fifty years ago.

Three sisters and a brother of Mrs. Kirkpatrick, besides Mrs. Lewis, are still residents of this section.

On Tuesday, the bowling team from the Bridgeton, N. J., fire company will come here to roll against the Aetna bowlers. Thursday night the local team will go to Wilmington to roll against the Elks Club team.

GLASGOW NEGRO HELD IN KILLING FREE FROM JAIL

Alonzo Alford, Held for Manslaughter, Freed Without Bail

TO BE TRIED LATER

The case of Alonzo Alford, colored, of Glasgow, charged with manslaughter, in connection with the death of John Perry, colored, on September 25, 1930, was continued in Court of Oyer and Terminer, Monday, until the March term of court on application of the State, but the defendant was discharged from the workhouse without bail on application of his attorney, H. Albert Young.

Charles F. Richards, chief deputy attorney general, made a motion for continuance on the grounds that Attorney General Reuben Satterthwaite, Jr., who had investigated the State witnesses in the case, is ill and that several important witnesses could not be in court.

The case was then continued by Chief Justice Pennwell and Judges Rice and Rodney.

Mr. Young, who was appointed by the court last week to defend Alford, made a motion to discharge Alford without bail from the workhouse on the ground that if a defendant is not indicted and tried two successive terms after his arrest, he is entitled to his release on his own recognizance. The defendant was arrested September 25 but no indictment was returned against him at the November term of court because of the absence of State witnesses. He was indicted by the grand jury two weeks ago.

PROF. J. A. BARKLEY SPEAKS TO WILMINGTON W. C. T. U.

Professor James A. Barkley, of the history department of the University of Delaware, speaking Tuesday before members of the Wilmington Union, W. C. T. U., urged the members to stand against the repeal or modification of the Klair Law and expressed himself by saying the law "should be left alone."

Professor Barkley said the need of the hour is the education of the people, and then referred to the mass meeting held in the First and Central Presbyterian Church, in Wilmington, Monday night, as the principle means for this purpose.

OLD ACADEMY BUILDING SAVED BY VOLUNTEER FIREMEN FROM DESTRUCTION IN EARLY BLAZE

Cigarette, Carelessly Dropped in Hallway, Given as Cause of Fire; Building One of Most Historical in Country

RING BELL TO MARK VICTORY OVER FLAMES

A cigarette, casually dropped to the floor, was the cause of a fire early Wednesday morning that threatened to destroy one of the oldest and most historical buildings in the East—the old Academy Building at the corner of Main and Academy streets.

Only by the efficient and speedy work of the volunteer firemen of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company was the fire checked and the building saved. The damage, which will amount to about $2,000, was confined to the hallway and to the rooms on the second floor rear of the building. The cupola, a landmark in this section, was saved.

The fire was discovered at 5:30 o'clock in the morning by Officer James Keeley, who was patrolling the town. He sounded the alarm, and in a short time a corps of fire-fighters had assembled and were hard at work. Four hose lines were laid with which to fight the flames, two of them in the courtyard in the rear of the building, one of them up the east wall of the building and over the roof into the cupola, and one of them inside up the stairwell. Chief Elmer Ellison and John Cunningham fought their way through the smoke of the burning hallway and found a vantage point on the stair landing between the second and third floors, from where they played a hose on the burning hallway and rooms, and prevented the flames from mounting up into the cupola. Had the cupola burned, the opening in the roof would have made a perfect chimney, and the fire, aided by the draft up the stairwell and through the cupola, would undoubtedly have destroyed the entire building.

The Town Library, located in the building, was slightly damaged by water, smoke, and heat, but the books were untouched. The loss to the building is covered by insurance.

The old Academy Building is one of the most historical places in the entire country. The exact date when the building was erected is not known, but historical documents state that "in 1744, the Presbyterian Synod of Philadelphia adopted this building as a seminary of the Synod," and, after a number of years of rather a shaky existence, it was permanently established as the Academy of Newark, in 1769. Three signers of the Declaration of Independence attended school in the old building, Thomas McKean, George Reed, and James Smith. Among other famous personages who attended school there were Charles Thompson, secretary of the first Congress; Captain Robert Kirkwood, famed Revolutionary War hero; and a number of others. During the Revolutionary War, the building was utilized as a shoe factory for the American soldiers, and after the Battle of Cooch's Bridge, when Washington and his soldiers were moving back towards Philadelphia, the building was used for a short time by General Washington and his officers. While the documents concerning the history of the old building give a date of 1744 it is thought that this date refers to an earlier building than the present one, and that the building now standing was erected some time about 1750 or 1760.

An interesting occurrence after the fire Wednesday morning was the ringing of the old bell to mark the victory of the firemen over the flames. The old bell has been rung on several occasions to notify the populace of Newark of some important happening, or of some great victory in time of war. After the fire had been extinguished, and the historical old building saved, two of the firemen climbed up into the belfry and sent the chimes of the old bell pealing out on the early morning air, to let the people of Newark know that the old Academy was saved from destruction.

A touch of humor was added to the excitement of the fire when J. H. Rumer, local photographer, touched off a charge of flashlight powder to get a picture of the burning building. Ellison and Cunningham were inside of the building at the time, and when the brilliant flash and dull boom of the powder occurred, visions of the explosion of some of the cannon shells which were in the building as souvenirs of the World War came to both of the men. A rush for the nearest exit from the building was narrowly averted.

C.O.F.C. LADIES' NIGHT BANQUET THIS EVENING

Annual Dinner and Entertainment to be Given in Old College

F. B. SHORT IS SPEAKER

The Newark Chamber of Commerce will observe Ladies' Night with a banquet and entertainment at Old College, University of Delaware, this evening, starting at 6 o'clock. Officers of the organization are planning to make this the largest and most interesting social observance in the history of the chamber.

The Rev. F. Burgett Short, many years pastor of Epworth M. E. Church, Wilmington, and later pastor of some of the largest Methodist churches on the Pacific coast and now in social work in New York, will be special speaker. The Adelpia quartet, of Philadelphia, will sing and Charles Frink, banjoist, will also provide selections.

Ira S. Brinser, superintendent of schools, will be toastmaster. Weldon C. Waples is president of the organization, and D. A. McClintock is chairman of the social committee in charge of the arrangements for the affair.

WRAP YOUR GARBAGE

Town Council has requested that all people who place garbage for collection should wrap their bundles, and not leave it out for collection in pans or buckets. During the cold weather, the collectors have been having difficulty in emptying some of the pans, on account of the water in the garbage freezing. If garbage is wrapped in newspaper, it will overcome this trouble.

NATIONAL MISSION SUNDAY AT WHITE CLAY CHURCH

Mr. Purnell, who was born and raised in Elkton, was graduated from St. John's College, Annapolis, in 1923, and Harvard Law School in 1926. In 1927 he was an assistant to Judge Coleman, of the United States Court.

Alva Cosner, arrested on the charge of driving a car while intoxicated, also driving a car after a license had been refused, at a hearing before Magistrate Spencer in Harford county, was sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction for a term of six months. Andrew Clark, who was in the machine with Cosner, was fined $100 and costs.

P. T. A. IN DRIVE FOR LARGER MEMBERSHIP

The Delaware Parent-Teacher Association in 1927 and 1930 was awarded a banner by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers for having made the greatest percentage of increase in membership in proportion to the population. This banner, won by Colorado in 1928 and by Hawaii in 1929, will become the property of the Delaware branch if won a third time.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers has set its goal this year at 1,600,000 members, of which Delaware's quota is 13,028. A campaign for increase in membership is urged by Mrs. Robert E. Lewis of Dover, State Chairman of Membership, not for the sake of winning a banner primarily, but because a large membership indicates interest in child welfare, with parents and teachers working together for the benefit of all children. Mrs. Lewis is ready to assist local membership chairmen in planning their campaigns. State dues must be in the hands of the State Treasurer, Mrs. J. M. Cleary, 2518 Jefferson street, Wilmington, by March 15th, so that she can report to the national treasurer.

Clayton and Lincoln Parent-Teacher Associations are tied for first place in the membership race with 136 enrolled in each association. Dover holds third place with 116. Oak Grove (Elsmere) ranks fourth with 105. Ellendale with 47, still holds first place among colored associations.

A. I. du Pont School Parent-Teacher Association, which organized this fall, now has a membership of 55. At a meeting, January 16th, the historical sketch based on Christopher Ward's recent book, "The Dutch and the Swedes on the Delaware, 1609-1644," was read and discussed. Humorous sketches by members were included in the evening's program.

Christiana Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring an adult singing class.

Mrs. E. V. Vincent was chairman of a benefit bingo party which followed the regular meeting of the Minquadale Parent-Teacher Association, January 14th.

At a meeting of Christiana No. 111 (Colored) January 13th, the program included a demonstration of the teaching of language to the Second Grade.

Delaware City (Colored) Parent-Teacher Association has appointed a committee to install lights for their adult classes in literature and garment making.

Members of the Hockessin No. 107 (Colored), Parent-Teacher Association discussed the importance of letting children adapt themselves as independently as possible to changing situations at their January meeting. Members decided to hold valentine and George Washington socials for the benefit of the school.

At a meeting of the Newark (Colored) Parent-Teacher Association, January 14th, the sketch based on Christopher Ward's book, "The Dutch and the Swedes on the Delaware, 1609-1644," was read by Miss Miller. In the discussion which followed it was suggested that children may be taught to adapt themselves to changing situations: (1) by carrying out the safety program on the highways, (2) in their play, (3) in the lunch room, (4) in library, etc. Miss Mary Hackett was elected secretary. The association decided to pay for work on playground equipment.

The Port Penn Juniors serve hot lunch daily. They have prepared rice cooked in milk, cocoa, bean and vegetable soups.

Mrs. A. C. Russum, of Mt. Pleasant, and J. Graham Scott, of Milford, outlined the program for the year at a meeting of the New Castle (Colored) Parent-Teacher Association, January 15th. The following officers were elected: President, Peter V. Henry; Vice-president, John Williams; Secretary, Miss Naomi Roberts; Treasurer, Curtis Delane.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING

By Thomas Foster

If everyone would stop to think for just a minute, he would realize that the basis of any business is neatness. Surely everyone knows that schools are one of the greatest businesses in the world. They are the fundamental element, the foundation of the success of the coming generation. Boys and girls go from school to enter almost all the walks of life imaginable, and in this age you may be assured that no head of a business concern will tolerate carelessness with figures, papers, or other valuable property. This is only fair, for to be prosperous the person must be careful with his property and then, too, there are numerous other persons waiting to fill the position, who are willing to be neat and careful.

Let's start right now in school to form good habits, for bad habits are hard to break. Where can we apply this carefulness? That's easy—everywhere. In the halls, classrooms, and cafeteria, we can be careful not to drop papers and we can pick up chalk, erasers, and paper which have been dropped. Doing these things will help to create and cultivate good habits which will be a desirable influence in our prosperity in the future, and will leave a better impression of the school, the pupils, and the instructors in the minds of all of our visitors.

CAPTAIN OF BASKETBALL ELECTED

Joan Fletcher was elected captain of the 1931 Girls' Basketball Team on Friday night, by the members of the team. Miss Fletcher is a dependable jump center and has played on the varsity squad for three years.

The girls lost their first game to Claymont, but put up a hard fight against this much more experienced team. Many of the members of the team on Friday night received their first taste of varsity basketball.

The whole team now feels more confident and is ready to give the Beacom and Delaware City girls a real battle on Wednesday and Friday nights of this week.

In an interview today, Miss Fletcher said: "I wish to thank the team for the honor of electing me as captain, and to say that I have all the confidence in the world in the squad. With a little more team play and practice, I know that the team will always be fighting and trying until the end of the game. Sportsmanship is more than winning games, for I think that nothing shows a team up more than how it loses a game. A team that does its best against all opponents and wins with a smile or loses with a smile is a team to be proud of. Both the Coach and I can be proud of our team, win or lose, they smile. It doesn't take much to win with a smile, but it takes a team with a good spirit to lose a game as the Newark girls did last week. I hope the team will show all opponents that it can win or lose like good sports."

"With the co-operation of the student body and faculty, you can be sure that the team will do its very best."

Eleanor Murray.

A TRIBUTE TO MY BROTHER

If you should chance to meet him Passing on his homeward way You'd know him of the sailor class, Just an ordinary sailor, you'd say. You'd never dream he is a king Without a crown or throne, Who wins a royal welcoming From a small kingdom all his own Joy dwells within his heart anew When he can get a leave— For no ruler has a heart more true Than that within his sway. Upon his lips our sweet caress, Around his neck our arms entwined Within his heart, ah! such tenderness, Life's cup is filled with richest wine. An ordinary man, you'd say, I guess— He'll not be sung in verse or tone The kingdom of his happiness Is just a place called home, sweet home!

Elsie M. Richards

OUR OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE NEW YEAR

Our opportunities for the New Year may not be spectacular. However they are real opportunities, and should cause the exertion of redoubled efforts on our part. Bacon says, "A wise man makes more opportunities than he finds." And in the biographies of great men in history and literature, we see that this is very often true. Success comes, not so often through the "luck" of having golden opportunities cast in our paths, but through our ability to see the rather ordinary, in the routine chances of our lives. For, if, as Bacon says, we can make opportunities, we must be able to enlarge upon those already discovered for us. Here is our school, with a library up-to-date with the latest books in all fields, with an opportunity to ask questions, and receive help from qualified teachers in a school classed among the first in the state, we have every opportunity to acquire an education, and equip ourselves now, so we can the better utilize our opportunities to be. A good motto to follow would be that one at the top of our report cards that we look at every month, "Act well your part; there all the honor lies."

Verona Chalmers.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW IN HIGH SCHOOL

Learning the real methods used in regular business meetings are thought to be a good plan for utilizing spare time in home-rooms. Much of the time, there is not a great deal of business to be discussed in the home-rooms. In our section of the Junior class, a member suggested that a book be gotten which would give the proper methods of procedure for business meetings. This book could be studied a little at a time, when there was nothing else to be done. In this manner the students might learn the correct forms and apply them, for now in many instances the proper procedures are not known. In school as well as elsewhere it is good to know and do the right thing, for habits formed then will probably remain through life. It is wise to start in the right way.

Harriet Nivin.

STANTON PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

The Stanton P. T. A. met on Friday evening, January 16, at 8 o'clock, in the Stanton School. Mrs. H. V. Lynn, president, presiding. After the usual order of business, the January topic, "Old Habits in New Lands," was presented by Miss Lora Little, who also led the discussion. Several adults gave humorous selections and readings. The ways and means committee outlined plans for a bingo party in Odd Fellows Hall on March fifth.

THE PUBLIC ENEMY TODAY

THERE are far too many people, from business men to laborers, who are giving a too eager ear to wild rumors and spiteful gossip tending to destroy confidence and create an atmosphere of general distrust.

The victims of vague fear, on the street and in the market place, are a menace to the community.

These are the defeatists that hold back the return of that prosperity that cannot but come from the limitless resources of the nation.

They are the terrorists that drive the dollar into hiding when it ought to be at work making jobs for the unemployed.

They are the scarecrows of imaginary disasters, the spreaders of rumors having no basis in reality—the carriers of lies.

They are the feeders of that mob psychology which creates the spirit of panic.

They blind the thoughtless to the very evident soundness of our great business enterprises.

It is the pessimists among business men, who lack the red blood of courage, and who are mentally sick with vain imaginings who are responsible for the gloom among the less informed.

The most serious threat to our country today is in the business man of little faith, whose fears are played upon by the most silly gossip which poisons the air with absurd rumors and mean and malicious lies.

These are the public enemies, and in days of war they would be so proclaimed, and in any crisis they are worse than a nuisance—they are a menace.

It is not like Americans to shudder at shadows, or to surrender to fear.

The courage, faith, determination, grit and confidence that have made them incomparable on the battlefield have never been more needed than they are today.

But we have permitted the croakers and the irresponsible gossips to charge the air with the poison of falsehoods and baseless rumors, and the air must be purged of the poison.

A truce, then, to the gossips and the mean inventors of wild rumors, for these are the public enemies, whether they operate in the pool rooms or in the most exclusive clubs.

America is all right if Americans are not all wrong. But the weak, the timid, or the malicious croaker of disaster must be made to understand by the way in which his story is received that he is engaged in rather disreputable business.

This breed of mischief-makers is not unknown to our experiences before. We had them in 1873 when they assured us that railroad building had wrecked the country, that vast sections the roads had tapped would have to be given back to the wilderness again.

We had them in the depression of 1893 when they told us that we had exhausted our markets and thereafter would decline in prosperity and trade.

And America moved on each time to greater heights and more abundant prosperity than it had ever known before.

American Courage, American Calmness, American Steadiness, American Grit, American Common Sense, and the co-operation of all classes of the people in creating an atmosphere of confidence and faith will hasten the day of the restoration of prosperity.

The "Painless" Tax Grows Painful

The gasoline tax has been considered a "painless" means of extracting revenue from the motorist.

There are signs on the horizon at present, however, which would indicate that the public is weary of being "painlessly" milked of its money. In the past eleven years the gas tax has totaled more than $2,000,000,000, and it is forecast that an equal or greater sum will be collected in the next four years.

The tax began with levies of one or two cents. But now the average levy is almost four cents and increases are being proposed in many states. Several states have diverted a share of gas tax funds to general purposes. It is reported that a group in Georgia is seeking to have a "reasonable proportion"—whatever that is—of gas tax funds used to reduce property taxes. By exactly the same reasoning it might be advocated that the gas tax replace the income tax, the corporation tax, the insurance tax, or any other staple source of governmental revenue.

Every time we buy a dollar's worth of gas we get, in reality, about seventy-five cents worth. The rest of our dollar goes to the state. Where a four-cent tax is in effect, we must pay one cent to the government every time we drive three miles. No other commodity in general use, except tobacco, has ever been so over-taxed.

Unless the public puts a stop to the trend, it is not difficult to imagine a time when the tax will be greater than the cost of gasoline.

Interest Centered on Accident Prevention

The problem of automobile accident prevention, with its many related factors, will come in for much legislative consideration during 1931.

Many states have signified their intention of adopting laws requiring rigid examination of drivers. This is believed by many authorities to be the best single means of keeping the dangerous driver off public highways.

In a few states compulsory insurance legislation will be considered, but in view of the unsatisfactory experience of Massachusetts, it is doubtful if it will be passed. More generally popular is the "safety responsibility law," now in effect in New York, Connecticut and other states. This law provides that a driver, after causing an accident, must provide proof of his financial responsibility before being allowed to again operate a car.

Laws for periodical inspections of cars, for controlling pedestrians walking on the highways, and for banishing ancient and dilapidated motor vehicles, have likewise been proposed and will receive due consideration.

In the aggregate, the vast volume of suggestions for improving highway safety gives good reason for optimism. Every step taken, no matter how small, means that at least a few lives are saved, a few pieces of property protected. The public is reaching a state of mind that gives no encouragement to those who, through carelessness and incompetence, sow death along the highways.

Foreign Students

We hear much about the young American students abroad, those enjoying the fine advantages that go with study and social contacts in another land.

The University of Delaware has been forward in this good work.

Not so much is heard, however, about the students from other countries who come to the United States. There are more of these than is generally thought. There are said to be some 10,000 students from over-seas in this country representing a large diversity of customs, traditions, dress and history.

This army with us is said to form the greatest migration in history. Not so many are here for undergraduate work, but they come to pursue particular research and graduate studies not limited to the class room, but extending into shops, factories and offices. They study the scientific achievements of American civilization. And there is much to be studied.

All this goes on, these deep studies by foreign and our own students without much fuss being made about it.—Morning News.

Expanding Scout Activities

The proposed expansion of the territory covered by the Wilmington Council, Boy Scouts of America, so as to include all of Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland, seems like a judicious move. Wilmington alone affords an extensive field for the work, but the additional area is so closely related to the city, commercially and otherwise, that the proposed expansion of the Scout activities beyond the municipal boundaries seems to be a natural result of the development of the local work.

There is no better way, in the opinion of those who have given thought to the matter, to make the territory outside of the city "Scout minded" than to enable it to absorb some of the enthusiasm and benefits that characterize the work and the workers here. The city will lose nothing through the extension, for it will serve to stimulate and broaden the work, while the rural sections are sure to gain. On the whole it looks like an advantageous move all around. We can think of no more worth while undertaking than that which helps to guide the footsteps of boys in the right direction, nor do we know of any agency that is doing more in this direction than the Scout Council and those who are working under its direction.

It is hoped that the other cities and towns in the expanded area, covering, as it does, 4,905 square miles, as well as the rural districts, will avail themselves of the Scouting advantages to the same extent that Wilmington has. Whatever it costs, they will find, is money well invested, and whatever personal effort the citizenry puts forth to help the project will likewise return dividends in results that will inure to the benefit of the communities and their boys. The movement merits the encouragement of all good citizens.—Every Evening.

KOELIG, NEWARK BOY, WINS CORN CONTEST AWARD

State sweepstakes prize each year. Highest honors came to him this year when his yellow ten ear sample was judged the best in the inter-state class which is open to exhibitors from Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland.

Joseph Pierson, of Hockessin, was the next highest county winner when his ten ear white sample was picked as first in the State-wide amateur class, and his single white ear placed first in that division. L. Ernest Dilworth won the first in the yellow ten ear amateur class, and Albert Buckworth, a student in the Middletown High School, was first in the white cap or calico class, while Fred Trimble of Hockessin had the best fifty ear sample in the entire show.

In the small grains exhibit, A. F. Davidson, of Bear, placed first with his pack of wheat. Aside from these first placings, prizes in the open corn classes were won by Fred Snyder, Newport; Frank Yearsley, Marshalltown; Lambert Seemans, Odessa; Ralph Trimble, Yorklyn; Earl Roberts, Middletown; A. F. Davidson, Bear, and Frank E. Hitchens, Hockessin. In the boys' and girls' class, Paul E. Hitchens, of Hockessin, won the New Castle county sweepstakes ribbon on his ten ear sample of yellow corn.

Over 180 samples of corn, small grains, and forage were shown, while last year about 200 exhibits were in the show. About fifty of these were from the upper county.

A. F. Davidson, of Bear, was chosen president of the association for 1931, and J. Oliver Koelig was elected vice-president for New Castle county at the annual meeting of the organization which also decided to hold its shown next January in New Castle county.

County Agent Ed Willim, Jr., of Newark, when questioned about the show was pleased with the showing of the county exhibitors. His statement follows: "Farmers in this county should be proud of the fact that New Castle county is again leading in the corn shows. It is a sign of revived interest in this cereal, and should be of practical importance in that good show corn makes good seed corn which yields a better quality and quantity of ears than does ordinary seed planted without selection. Any farmer interested in getting seed from any of these prize winners should get in touch with them or me at once, because no doubt these men will be able to sell all of their corn for seed without any trouble. Next year our corn growers will have a better opportunity of exhibiting and seeing the corn show because it will be held in some town in the county."

BILL TO REDUCE INCOME TAXES GIVEN TO HOUSE

other words, the bill is made elastic in order to give the lowest rate possible to the taxpayers of the State.

The idea is not to cripple the schools in any way but at the same time to avoid piling up a surplus which is not needed.

There is now enough money in the school fund to complete the school building program at a cost of $3,000,000. The State has been appropriating from $1,000,000 to $1,250,000 each year for new schools. After the building plan is completed there will be no further appropriations for this purpose needed, and increase taxes can be cut to that amount.

The bill was referred to the appropriations committee of the House and will be acted upon along with other bills covering the finances of the State.

NO REALLY "FIRE-PROOF" PAINTS

It is said that certain ready-mixed oil and water paints are "fireproof," but no paint makes wood really fireproof, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, though some paints resist fire more than others. Fire-retarding paint should contain as little oil as possible, and lead and zinc pigments should be largely replaced by fusible, incombustible, and insoluble substances. Most substances that have fire-retarding qualities are soluble in water and soon leach out of paint exposed to the weather. Powdered boric acid makes paint more resistant to fire for a short time.

GEORGE S. WILLIAMS SPEAKS AT MEETING OF LIONS CLUB

The weekly dinner meeting of the Lions Club was held at the Washington House Tuesday evening. George S. Williams, president of the State Board of Education, and treasurer of the State of Delaware, talked on "Education in Delaware." Mr. Williams gave a resume of education in this State as far back as 100 years ago, when instructors were not scientifically trained and specifically trained for that profession, but were as a rule outworn ministers. He said that just 12 years ago the present building program of the State Education Board was inaugurated. Statistics showing the number of schools, number of teachers, and cost of running the system as it is at present, were interesting to the Lions Club members.

The school building program will be finished in a few years, the speaker stated, when the State will be able to boast of schools equal to the best in the country.

BLUE AND GOLD FIVE IS UPSET BY ST. JOSEPH'S

Fast Philadelphia Team Hands Delaware Players 36 to 18 Defeat

ROMAN SHINNING STAR

St. Joseph's College marked up the ninth basketball victory in Philadelphia, Tuesday night, by defeating the University of Delaware before an enthusiastic crowd of several hundred spectators in a hard-played game at the Broadway Athletic Club.

The Crimson and Gray won by the stout score of 36 to 18. Little Phil Zuber, who has been playing great ball for the Pennsylvania college since they opened their campaign, was at his best.

Represented by a fighting team, Delaware at no time threatened to check the winning streak of the home boys. The Blue and Gold held the lead only once and that was shortly after the first period opened when Haggerty registered the first field goal.

The boys from Delaware found the going very tough throughout and were at no time able to penetrate St. Joe's strong defense with any degree of consistency.

Of the 18 points gathered by the Blue and Gold, all but seven were contributed by their popular forward, Johnny Roman. This aggressive youth had a streak of field goals in the closing stanza, all but two of the 12 points that Delaware collected in the half. The lineup:

It is impossible for the police of the State to arrest and prosecute a bootlegger, unless he has more than one quart of liquor or twelve pints of beer. There is also no provision in the enforcement code for padlocking the places where liquor is continuously sold.

"Adequate enforcement cannot be had in the State until these defects in our present statute are remedied." It provides that the State may padlock places where liquor is sold, the same as the Federal government; allows a person to have liquor in his home provided it was obtained previous to the passage of the Volstead Act and is for personal use, but does not allow any other kind. Persons are allowed to make fruit juices and cider but nothing else. The law concerning searches is strengthened and additional powers are placed on States, county and city police officers.

The law follows the Volstead act in most respects. Penalties are from $100 to $5000 and imprisonment not exceeding three years for violations of the act.

Under the law now existing it is lawful to have a quart of liquor in possession, but this proposed law would limit the quantity to a quantity sufficiently large to be analyzed.

It prohibits the exhibiting and sale of materials for the distilling of liquor and the making of home brew.

Under the Volstead Act physicians are permitted to prescribe a pint of whisky every ten days to a patient where it is deemed necessary, after an examination. The name of the disease must be given on the prescription to be filled by the druggist. Under the Klair Law the prescribing of whisky is prohibited.

The bill starts off with Section 1, by stating the entire act is an exercise of the power granted by the Eighteenth Amendment.

It provides that "nothing in this act shall prohibit the alcoholic contents of malt or brewed liquors from exceeding one-half of one per cent during the process of manufacture only thereof; and further provided, that it shall not be unlawful to manufacture non-intoxicating cider and fruit juices exclusively for use in the private dwelling."

Section 5 of the bill makes it unlawful to advertise, manufacture or sell any material designed or intended for use in the unlawful manufacture of intoxicating liquor. The bill provides a broad search and seizure provision but sets out that a search warrant shall not issue to search a private dwelling unless it is being used for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor. Vehicles used to transport liquor could be seized.

MEANS OF EARNING MONEY AT DELAWARE WOMEN'S COLLEGE

There are many ways in which girls can earn money at Women's College, University of Delaware, if they are really interested in doing so.

There is the Book Store which is maintained by the college. Two girls are employed as clerks there at certain hours during the day.

The student who knows how to type may frequently find practical use for her knowledge.

Around examination time there is a demand for girls who are proficient in some special branch of study.

The interpretive dancing class which is held once a week requires a pianist, and she is paid at the regular school rates.

Among the girls themselves there are various means of earning money. For instance, people who can wave or set hair or manicure are eagerly sought out.

The Wilmington newspapers offer opportunity to those interested in that sort of work for sending in news concerning the college activities.

The most popular of all the ways of earning money is to wait on tables in the dining room.

work for only one month, in order to allow the long waiting list to be accommodated. Everyone can participate, because, if she does not already know how to serve meals, she is rapidly taught by those who do.
