WOMEN BRAVE ELEMENTS TO MAKE REPORT

300 New Castle County Homemakers Attended Local Session

10 CLUBS REPRESENTED

Club reports, demonstrations, a marionette show, and a talk by David C. Mobley, Director of the Master Institute of United Arts at the Roerich Museum in New York City, brought more than 300 New Castle County Home Demonstration Club members through a rain storm to Newark, last Thursday, for the eighth annual Achievement Day of the New Castle County Home Demonstration Clubs.

Mrs. Louis T. Staats, Newark, president of the New Castle County Home Demonstration Council, opened the meeting. She was followed by a summary report of the home demonstration work in the county by Mrs. Kate Henley Daugherty, New Castle County Home Demonstration Agent, who also introduced new members of the agricultural extension staff at the University of Delaware to the club members.

Following the report, Miss Myra Boucher, representative of the Philadelphia Inter-State Dairy Council, presented a Marionette show, "Two Boys in Disguise." She was assisted by Mrs. R. L. Gowan, also of Philadelphia.

Reports by representatives of the ten clubs in New Castle County were then given as follows: Kitchen Improvement, Mrs. Fred Trimble, Hockessin; Living Room Improvement, Mrs. B. Riley Watson, Townsend; and Mrs. Winfield Whiteman, Newark; Restoring Old Furniture, Mrs. W. H. McCoy, New Castle, Mrs. John Mitchell Hockessin, Mrs. T. Arthur Evans, Mrs. Harry E. Culver, and Mrs. Eugene Minner, all of Middletown; and Mrs. Harry Barlow, Wilmington; Community Work, Mrs. J. Leslie Ford, Newark, and Miss Bella Carpenter, Port Penn; Yard Improvement, Mrs. John Lynch and Mrs. A. J. Mavromatis, both of Newark; Educational Trips, Mrs. A. H. Hamilton, Townsend; Visiting Results, Mrs. Malcom Burris, Clayton; and Work as a Home Maker, Mrs. Irvin Roberts, Middletown.

Following the reports by club representatives, the club members attended a luncheon, after which they inspected exhibits of model stage settings constructed by students in the class in play production, taught by Prof. Robert C. Kase at the University of Delaware.

David C. Mobley presented the final talk of the day in Mitchell Hall, using "Art in the Home" as his subject. He exhibited various types of drapery and upholstering materials and said that the principles of art could be followed in decorating the home. His talk was preceded by an organ recital by Mrs. J. Charles D. Harding, Newark.

High School Student Injures Two With Auto

Two Newark High School students were injured yesterday at noon when Harry W. Coover, Jr., 389 South College Avenue, age 20, a special student at the school, recorded a pair of automobile mishaps within a period of five minutes.

When about to turn from Lovett Avenue into the school grounds, Coover's car is said to have struck a bicycle ridden by Mary Elizabeth Dougherty, 13, of 52 Delaware Avenue, injuring the girl.

Turning his car in a parking space in the school yard and picking up the girl with the idea of rushing her to the Flower Hospital, Coover had just re-entered Lovett Avenue, witnesses stated, when Raymond Foraker, Jr., 13, jumped from his father's machine and started to run toward the school.

Foraker, however, ran into the side of Coover's car, police were informed, suffering severe lacerations of the mouth and the loss of several front teeth.

Coover was given a preliminary hearing before Police Magistrate Daniel Thompson last night on two charges of reckless driving. Chief of Police William Cunningham is investigating the accidents.

WILMINGTON'S MAYOR OPENS ANNUAL SHOW

Colorful Ceremony Staged Yesterday in Presence of Gov. Buck

E. T. A. OF D. IN CHARGE

Formal opening of the Eighth Annual Electric and Refrigeration Show in Delaware was made yesterday at noon when Mayor W. W. Bacon, of Wilmington, cut a wide, red ribbon stretched across the threshold of the Gold Ballroom in the Hotel du Pont, that city.

The show, which will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday, proved to be one of the most extensive and interesting in the history of its sponsors, the Electrical Trades Association of Delaware.

New in every respect and representative of the many advances in the field of electrical equipment, the presentation is free to the public.

Officers and members of the sponsoring organizations gathered at the door of the Gold Ballroom when Mayor Bacon formally opened the exhibit.

The show committee, headed by John S. Reburn, has invited a number of guests to visit the display. Governor C. Douglass Buck, civic organizations and other groups attended the opening yesterday.

Mr. Reburn, who is in charge of the show for the fourth successive time, has affiliated with him, as show committee members, Royal S. Hull, vice chairman; Charles B. Schnepfe, in charge of both space; William L. C. Lang, in charge of publicity; Leo Keil and George M. Reese, Jr., floor chairmen.

The general plans for the show were drawn by Mr. Reburn's committee and the officers of the Delaware Electrical Trades Association, consisting of Mr. Lang, president; Henry B. Duncan, secretary; and William H. Frederick, treasurer. The board of directors include Mr. Reburn, Mr. Hull and George M. Reese, Jr.

New Castle Glee Club Entertains Local School

The New Castle High School Glee Club visited the Newark High School yesterday morning in the general assembly in the school auditorium. The glee club of 32 students, furnished the entertainment.

The club was in charge of Supt. Samuel E. Burr of New Castle schools, and Charles E. Smith. Mrs. Edward Challenger was the accompanist.

Mr. Burr said the glee club was composed of students who sang for the love of singing and while there was no instructor of music at the New Castle schools and no provision for music in its schedule, they were going ahead of the schedule and had formed the glee club.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Auditorium Crowded Tuesday Night For "Big Hearted Herbert"

BOB STRAHORN STARS

Using as their vehicle the play "Big Hearted Herbert," the Newark High School Alumni rode to a huge dramatic success Tuesday night as the laugh-stricken audience giggled, "rolled in the aisles" and wiped tear-stained faces. The show was presented in the High School Auditorium.

In the leading masculine role of Herbert Kalness, Bob Strahorn portrayed perfectly the gruff old tyrant, suffering with an inferiority complex due to the lack of a college education.

Acting with a noticeable degree of understanding the part of Herbert's wife, was Caroline Cobb, who displayed the results of a wealth of high school and college experience, and gave an excellent performance as the pacifying wife, who cleverly brought about Herbert's reformation.

As Mrs. James Lawrence, Mrs. Sidney Conn showed clearly to the audience the experience she has gained from eighteen years of professional experience.

Miss Louise Dameron was well fitted to play the part of Herbert's daughter, who became engaged to Andrew Goodrich, capably portrayed by Curtis Potts, after a short but amorous acquaintance.

Others in a remarkably strong supporting cast were the Misses Myra Smith and Martha Moore, Mrs. John Bridgewater, Justin Steel, Henry Mote, Harry Wilson, Ott Widdoes, and Bayard Oscar Perry, Jr.

Mrs. R. T. Jones capably acted in the capacity of General Chairman of the various committees.

A large staff consisting of Paul Griffith, stage manager; the Misses Anna Frazier and Elizabeth Phipps, properties; Herman Handloff and Oscar Morris, ticket sales; and Herman Handloff and George Dawson, advertising; aided in the production that was witnessed by a capacity audience.

Civil Engineers To Elect Officers Friday for Society

The American Society of Civil Engineers, Student Branch, will hold their annual election of officers on Friday of this week. H. Kent Preston, of Newark, and Russell C. Stanton, of Wilmington, are the candidates for President, and Drexel S. Donaldson, also of Wilmington, candidate for Vice-President.

REV. LEONARD WHITE BLAMES ELDERS FOR SINS OF YOUTH

LOCAL PREACHER LAUNCHES BITTER ATTACK ON PUBLISHERS AND VENDORS OF "MODERN" OBSCENE LITERATURE IN STIRRING "FATHER AND SON" SERMON

"Father and Son" night was observed at the Methodist Episcopal Church last Sunday with the Rev. Leonard White delivering the sermon to a large group of church members who brought their own sons, or boys in whom they were interested. A girls' choir substituted for the Men's Choral Club, who were in the congregation with their guests.

In condemning many of the existing conditions of the generation, Rev. White made a special attack upon the deluge of obscene literature that is flooding the modern newsstand. This type of reading material is the "best seller" in most of the stores, said Rev. White; and the fault does not entirely lie with the generation of today but for the most part with the older generation which is more or less responsible for this type of literature.

A child, said Rev. White, should not be punished for a fault the parent is guilty of committing before the child; and cited examples of cases in which the child was punished for something the father or mother had done while in the presence of the child. Thus the child is at loss to understand the reason for correction and resents the punishment.

The address is not being delivered only to the boys, but, Rev. White stressed, principally to the parents of the children through the youth of the congregation.

Regarding the modern moving picture industry, Rev. White made a forceful attack upon existing movies, stating that despite the fact that a drive had been made to purify present productions, room for moral uplift was still evident. The fault cannot lie with the generation of today, Rev. White stated, they certainly cannot be responsible for something with which they have little or no connection.

In quoting J. Edgar Hoover, superintendent of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice; Rev. White said that twenty-five per cent of the criminals today are under sixteen and over fifty per cent are under twenty-five.

The type of home is in a large way responsible for many of the deplorable conditions which exist today, stated Rev. White. Therefore, since environment plays such a large part in guiding a child's life, the parent should make the home a desired place in which to live; thus eliminating the danger of the child's seeking outside diversion, with the probable chance of falling into the many pitfalls that confront the modern youth in the world of today.

MANY GUESTS ATTEND SHOW HERE MONDAY

Century Club Offering Attracts Visitors; Good Cast

WELCOME NEW MEMBER

The following were guests at the weekly meeting of the Newark Century Club, held on Monday afternoon: Mrs. A. B. Warner, Sr., Honorary President of the Delaware State Federation; Mrs. J. Paul Green, Vice-President of New Castle County; Mrs. Frank C. Sparks, Corresponding Secretary of the Federation; and Mrs. Mulford Taylor, President of the Wilmington New Century Club.

A unique and uproarious comedy entitled, "The Newark Choir Spruces Up," was the feature of the meeting. The play was presented by the Dramatic Committee and the Choral Group, under the combined direction of Mrs. C. Robert Kase, Chairman of Dramatics, and Mrs. T. D. Mylrea, Director of the Chorus.

A capable cast composed of Mrs. T. F. Manns, Mrs. A. D. Cobb, Miss Nell Wilson, Mrs. T. D. Mylrea, Mrs. G. Taggart Evans, Mrs. Donald L. Dutton, Mrs. P. K. Musselman, Miss Elizabeth MacNeal, Mrs. T. M. Arnold, Mrs. R. L. Cooch, Mrs. J. C. Hastings, Mrs. H. W. Davis and Mrs. Lee Lewis, dressed in ridiculous costumes of yesteryear; cleverly impersonated various village characters to make the play a huge success.

Included in the play were musical selections presented by the members of the Choral Club. The following songs contributed to the success of the entertainment:

1. Song by the Choir—"Bicycle Built for Two."
2. Solo—"Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," Mrs. Harry W. Davis.
3. Quartette—"Forsaken," Mrs. Alex D. Cobb, Mrs. Lee Lewis, Mrs. Donald Dutton and Mrs. Percy Arnold.
4. Solo—"O Don't You Remember Sweet Alice," Mrs. Richard Cooch.
5. Piano Solo—Variations from Chopin, Miss Nell Wilson.
6. Solo—"Listen to the Mocking Bird," Mrs. T. D. Mylrea.
7. Duet—"Whispering Hope," Mrs. Paul K. Musselman and Mrs. James Hastings.
8. Song by the Choir—"Darling, I Am Growing Old."

The business meeting opened with the reading of the Club Collect for Club Women by Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson.

THREE FILE FOR TOWN COUNCIL

Newark Cooperates In Relief of Flood Sufferers in Penna.

Following an emergency appeal from Lammont du Pont, president of the Delaware Red Cross, late last week for food, clothing and money for the relief of flood sufferers in Pennsylvania, local agencies swung into action.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Walter Hüllhen, president of the Newark Chapter of the Red Cross, Vernon Steele, Boy Scout head in this territory; Walter R. Powell, commander of the Joseph O'Daniel Post of the American Legion; Dr. G. W. Rhodes, president of the Newark Lions Club; and civic leaders went about the task of raising funds and supplies.

Two truck loads of food and clothing were dispatched to Wilmington to join convoys headed for Sunbury and Pittsburgh in widely separated sections of Pennsylvania. The trucks were loaded in less than twenty-four hours after the appeal had been received.

A sizeable check, contributed by Newark citizens and businessmen, was turned over to the Red Cross for the relief of sufferers.

Columbia Professor To Address P. T. A. Wednesday

Lyman Bryson, of Teachers College, Columbia University, will be the guest speaker at the afternoon session of the Delaware Parent-Teacher Association annual convention to be held in Smyrna on April 4.

Another feature of the afternoon program will be "Helping Children Grow," the moving picture recently completed by the Delaware Parent-Teacher Association. The photography is by Mrs. Robert P. Robinson, State President, and the editorial work by Miss Etta J. Wilson, executive secretary. The Delaware Citizens Association and scores of adults and children have had a share in the making of the film. The project was undertaken by the Parent-Teacher Association as another means of interpreting the school to the layman and will be available for presentation to groups of citizens.

The election of officers to serve for a two-year period will take place in the morning. Former State President, Howard T. Ennis, called a meeting of the nominating committee for Monday, March 23. This committee includes: Richard Cooch, Newark, Mrs. J. H. Mitchell, Stanton, Mrs. W. R. Keys, Clayton, and Mrs. H. E. Russell, Laurel.

Seaford Parent-Teacher Association, of which Mrs. Karl Brown is Membership Chairman, has the distinction of enrolling the largest local membership with 700. Several local associations have set 500 as their goal.

Negro Held On Policy Charge By State Police

Howard S. Thompson, local Negro, was held under $200 bail by Police Magistrate Thompson Monday night on a policy writing charge.

Privates Bush and Hession of the State Police arrested the man on a charge of reckless driving for which he was fined $20 and costs. In searching his car the police are said to have found the numbers books.

Battery E Undergoes Lengthy State Inspection

Battery E, Newark unit of the 198th Coast Artillery, Delaware National Guard, underwent the annual state inspection last night and, according to comments of the inspecting officers, is in excellent condition.

At 4 p. m. the files and similar equipment were inspected by Capt. Sylvan Berliner, C. A. C., U. S. Army, assisted by Sergeant Thom. Later in the evening the battery equipment and various implements of warfare were inspected by Major Harry Van Sciver, inspector general, assisted by Adjutant General Weller E. Stover, Col. George J. Schulz, Major John Davis, and Col. H. W. Stark. Capt. Herman W. Cook is commander of the battery.

QUIET ELECTION LOOMS AS LIMIT NEARS

Voting Hours Changed Under New Schedule; To Poll April 14

THREE SEEK PLACES

Richards, Wollaston and Hubert File; Widdoes and Lovett Retire

Unless the current publicity proves to be the lull before the storm, Newark seems headed for one of the most quiet and uneventful town elections in its history.

Three candidates have filed for vacancies in the Town Council, but they are from separate districts and veteran political observers are of the opinion that no immediate opposition is in the offing.

John F. Richards seeks the seat of O. W. Widdoes, Sr., from the Western District. Herman Wollaston would fill the shoes of William J. Lovett from the Middle District, and Charles C. Hubert seeks re-election from the Eastern District. Both Councilmen Widdoes and Lovett are reported as retiring from politics for a time, at least.

Election Day falls on Tuesday, April 14, with the hours of polling being from 2 to 7, instead of from 1 to 5 as in former years.

According to the Town Constitution, any property owner, or a husband of a property owner, providing he has resided here for two years or more, is eligible to seek a council seat.

Mr. Richards, the lone candidate from the Western District, is a former member of the State Legislature. He conducts a grocery business at 110 West Main Street. The late E. C. Wilson defeated him for the council in 1921 by a big majority. Mr. Widdoes, the retiring councilman from the Western District, has been a member of Newark's governing body since 1920.

The Middle District's candidate, Herman Wollaston, a contractor, was a member of the council from 1933 to 1935. Councilman Lovett, the retiring member, was elevated to the group in 1928.

Following his election in 1928 from the Eastern District, Councilman Hubert has served steadily with the body without interruption. He is employed by the Continental-Diamond Fibre Company.

The deadline for filing has been set for Saturday, April 4, ten days prior to Election Day in accordance with the Town Constitution.

Dairymen Sign Contracts With Co-op

A meeting of dairymen of the vicinity in Wolf Hall, University of Delaware, here Monday, resulted in several contracts being signed with the recently organized Inter-State Milk Producers' Association. About 60 farmers attended and a large majority of them signed the contracts.

J. Leslie Ford, of Cooch's Bridge, was chairman and introduced the speakers. I. Ralph Zollers, secretary of the Inter-State Milk Producers' Association, spoke on the reorganization of the Inter-State.

John D. Reynolds, of Middletown, director of the association for New Castle County, said the producers were signing as fast as they could be reached and that about 95 per cent of those attending the meetings were signing. He announced that there would be a meeting on Wednesday in the Townsend school building and another meeting Thursday, April 2, in the Middletown High School.

Jacob Plummer, field man for the Inter-State, discussed his work in the southern part of the state.

"The Child's First School is the Family"—Froebel

Issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th Street, New York City. These articles are appearing weekly in our columns.

Peggy, aged five, was seated on the hearthrug, busily engaged at playing "company." Her two dolls were sitting on their diminutive chairs, with tiny cups and saucers balanced on their knees.

I, too, had company, and in between our gossip my guest and I listened to Peggy's conversation.

"How do you do, Mrs. Brown," she was saying, "I'm so glad you came. Mummy says you're a lovely neighbor, and—"

She went on talking. My visitor and I smiled at one another, amused.

When next we listened, Peggy's conversation had taken another turn. There was more company coming, evidently.

"Oh, Mrs. Brown, there's Mrs. Jones—I'm so sorry, for she's such a bore," Peggy's small nose was elevated, and a tiny sniff denoted her feelings.

Here her visitor entered. "Oh, Mrs. Jones, I'm so glad to see you!"

Peggy's smile was angelic now, was so like that of the over-polite hostess, that my visitor remarked, "She has it right down pat. Surprising how quickly they learn!"

I was feeling so lighthearted that my child's imitation of her mother's occasionally practiced duplicity did not seriously affect me. But Peggy had another card up her sleeve. For a time all was quiet. Peggy was contentedly munching the thin bread and butter sandwiches and wee cakes I had made for her tea party. We watched her politely handing them to each of the dolls in turn, noticed how solicitous she was as to empty cups and sugar and lemon.

"It's so nice to have children brought up like that," my visitor remarked. "Only five, and she knows how to receive company to perfection. Only think what an asset a daughter like that will be to you when she grows up!"

"Oh, Peggy takes to entertaining as a duck takes to water," I modestly admitted. Secretly I was more than a little proud of the way Peggy was looking to her laurels. Of course, I knew she was being extra good, but still—

It was just at this time that Peggy decided to play the hidden card.

"Oh, Mrs. Jones, did you hear about Mrs. Pike?" Peggy leaned forward in her chair, with well-simulated interest.

I glanced over at my visitor, who happened to be Mrs. Pike. She was smiling a little, amused at the child's prattle, mildly curious as to what she was going to say about her.

"Well," Peggy went on breathlessly, "I heard—but don't you ever, ever, tell, for I heard Mummy tell Daddy in confidence—" Peggy rolled the long word around with relish—"I heard that though she had livery things to eat at her house, and made out to be such a livery cook, she really couldn't cook a teeny, weeny bit, and was running a bill at the bakery, and they were going to sue her, and—"

What dreadful thing Peggy was going to say next I shall never know. My face was scarlet as I sternly ordered her to stop immediately. Never had I felt so ashamed of my little girl—the little girl who was to be such an asset to me when she grew up. I heartily wished the earth would open and swallow me up, as I saw the look of icy hauteur on Mrs. Pike's face.

"You naughty, naughty girl," I said to the, as yet, unabashed Peggy, "to say such things as that—I'm ashamed of you! Go to your room. Your father will see to you when he comes home!"

"But, Mummy, it's only w-what I h-heard," Peggy was crying now.

Of course, Mrs. Pike never came again, and, of course, Peggy had spoken the truth when she said, "It's only what I heard."

I began to realize that a little five-year-old heard and understood much, much more than her Daddy and I had thought possible.

It was not Peggy's fault that she had spoken as she did. If it was all right for Mummy and Daddy to talk that way, it was all right for their little girl, and that was the way Peggy had reasoned.

Daddy did not reprove Peggy when he came home, after all. We talked the matter over, and came to the conclusion that the only way to teach Peggy not to talk scandal, was not to talk scandal ourselves.

Stanton Preacher Talks To Red Men at Home Here

Rev. J. B. Dickerson, pastor of the Stanton Methodist Episcopal Church, spoke last Sunday afternoon during special services at the State Red Men's Home here.

The services were jointly sponsored by Wawa Tribe, No. 45, Improved Order of Red Men, and Leola Council, No. 14, Degree of Pochontas, for the entertainment of residents of the home.

VISITING EVANGELIST

Mae E. Frey

Grace Pentecostal Church, Lovet Avenue near Chapel Street, will be the scene of a series of revival services starting on Wednesday evening, April 1, at seven-thirty. The services will be continued for two weeks or longer on a nightly basis excepting Mondays and Saturdays.

Mae E. Frey, an evangelist of New York, will be the main feature of the services. Rev. John D. Tubbs, pastor of the church, stated today. Mrs. Frey is widely known in church circles through her stirring messages, which attract large crowds wherever she speaks.

A GIFT

from the Indians

WE ARE indebted to the Indians for many things. One of the chief of these is corn. For hundreds, perhaps thousands of years before Columbus took the grains of corn which were to spread its cultivation all over the world, the Indians had cultivated and eaten this important food.

Just as we prize corn most highly, so did the Indians. Each year the six Indian tribes of the Iroquois family celebrated Green Corn Festival—four days of feast and thanksgiving to the Great Spirit who had given them corn.

To Show Our Gratitude

Housewives, today, carry on the festival, in a different way, however. Probably four days each week they serve corn in one way or another—roasting ears, corn puddings, corn salads, corn muffins, or in some other delightful form. Cannery men have varied the styles of canning corn in order to suit the tastes and convenience of housewives.

For example, when corn was first canned it was almost all "cream style"—the rich creamy mixture which is especially fine for making cream soups, soufflés, corn puddings and chowders. In recent years, however, in order to meet the demand for new ways to serve corn, the "whole kernel" corn became available in cans. This corn is picked at "roasting ear" stage and the entire kernel is cut off and remains separate when in the can. It is particularly suited for sautéing, corn cakes, scalloped dishes, for stuffing peppers, for fritters, or for use in making a dressing for fowl. In 1934 one-fifth of the total pack of white corn was in this style.*

The SEASONS DIFFER TODAY

"At Christmas I no more desire a rose Than wish a snow in May's new-fangled mirth; But like of each thing that in season grows."

THESE lines tend to remind us that we've been slipping some since Shakespeare's day. We've contracted a very bad habit of wanting our roses at Christmas, and our eskimo pie on May-day.

Luckily, however, we can have them without too much fuss—thanks to florists and ice-cream makers. Lucky too, since we have fallen so low as to desire peaches at Christmas, along with our roses, and cranberry sauce in May, along with our snow, that cannery men have stepped up progress to the point that we can have foods out of season also.

Pass the June Salad, Please

Seasons in menus have little to differentiate them today. Spring and summer are blithely tossed into our winter meals by means of fresh luscious fruits and vegetable salads, and frozen dishes are a very essential part of our summer meals.

Have you a good selection of spring and summer salads to brighten up these gray blustery days? Jellied salads more colorful with fruits and served in deep cups of crisp lettuce do things for meals which feature meat roasts, and the heavier courses. Canned fruits, since they are the choicest fruits of the orchard, are tempting in form and color as well as flavor, and add that beauty as well as zest, which the hostess desires for her feast.

Try these delicious salads and then look at your calendar to see if it's really winter.

Jellied Pineapple and Peach Salad: Dissolve one package of lemon flavored gelatin in one cup boiling water and add one cup of canned peach and pineapple syrup. When cold and ready to set, add one cup of sliced canned peaches, one cup drained crushed pineapple, one-half cup chopped nuts and one-half cup chopped dates. Mold as desired. Serve cold on crisp lettuce with mayonnaise. This serves eight persons.

Ginger Ale and Grapefruit Salad: Soak two tablespoons of gelatin in four tablespoons cold water, then dissolve it in one-half cup boiling water. Add one-fourth cup sugar and one-fourth cup lemon juice. Stir until the sugar is dissolved. When cold, add one cup ginger ale and the syrup from one No. 2 can of grapefruit. When about to set, add the grapefruit pulp and eight maraschino cherries. Pour into a flat pan or into molds, and let chill until stiff. Serve garnished at the side with sprigs of fresh mint, and top with cream mayonnaise. This serves eight persons.

Pear and Tomato Salad: Slice chilled ripe tomatoes and place one slice of tomato in each of eight individual nests of lettuce. Place half of a canned pear on top of each, with the cut side of the pear up. Mix one cream cheese with three tablespoons of chili sauce and pile in the pear cavities. Garnish with strips of canned pimiento and serve with either mayonnaise or French dressing. This serves eight persons.*

Practically no change in crop acreage to be planted for harvest this year in Delaware is predicted by J. A. Ewing, College Park, Maryland, Federal agricultural statistician for Delaware and Maryland, in a report released March 17.

The prospective acreage for corn for harvest during 1936 is estimated at 145,000 acres, an increase of less than one per cent over the acreage harvested last year, when 144,000 acres were gathered, the report showed. It also stated that no change was indicated in prospective planting and seedings for other crops, which were listed as follows: Oats, 3,000 acres; Tame Hay, 74,000 acres; Potatoes, 5,000 acres; Sweet Potatoes, 7,000 acres; Soybeans, 40,000 acres; and Cowpeas, 4,000 acres.

An increase in prospective planting of corn for harvest of 6.5 per cent for the entire United States was indicated, with a predicted acreage in 1936 of 98,775,000 acres as compared to 92,727,000 acres in 1935. Other crops which are expected to be increased throughout the United States were noted as follows: All Spring Wheat, an increase of 19.2 per cent; Barley, an increase of 1.2 per cent; Oats, an increase of two-tenths of one per cent; Tobacco, an increase of 9.8 per cent; Tame Hay, an increase of 2.8 per cent; and Cowpeas, an increase of .8 of one per cent. Decreased acreages were predicted for the following crops: Potatoes, Sweet Potatoes and Yams, and Soybeans.

Preliminary details of the administration of the new Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act were made public recently with the announcement by Secretary of Agriculture, Henry A. Wallace, of the establishing of five regional districts in the United States for the administration of the new act.

Delaware is included with Tennessee, Kentucky, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland in the East Central Division, of which John B. Hutson, former director of the division of tobacco, sugar, rice, peanuts, and potatoes, is to be director with headquarters in Washington. He will work under H. R. Tolley, acting administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, who has been named in charge of the administrative work of the new Soil Act.

Secretary Wallace also directed the discontinuance of the four commodity divisions and has announced that the work of these divisions in liquidating the AAA production control programs will be a part of the duties assigned to the regional divisions. The order leaves intact other administrative units of the AAA, such as the Division of Marketing and Marketing Agreements, the Division of Program Planning, and the Division of Consumers' Counsel.

Under the new set-up, much of the work of examining and auditing producers' applications for grants and paying producers will be done in state offices instead of in Washington, as was done under the discontinued AAA organization.

Tolley announced, too, that, under the leadership of the agricultural extension services, work already has been started to set up field organizations to administer the new farm program and that farmers' county and community committees will take a leading part in local administration of the program.

The newly named regional directors, with the assistance of State Committees composed of from three to five members, the majority of which will be producers, will carry out the provisions of the amended soil conservation act.

Heptasoph Quartet Proves Too Much for Golden Eagles

The Heptasoph quartet of peg ringers defeated the Golden Eagles in four of the five games played last Saturday night at Fraternal Hall.

Handicapped by the absence of several of their better tossers, the Eagles were limited to a total of 69 points against the Heptasoph's 105 markers, gross total for the five games.

After taking the first game by a 21-18 count, Eagles Greenplate, Marine, Reed and Cole were unable to match the fast pace set by Herman Grey, Mac Messiek, Doc Davis and Ollie Miller. The Heptasophs won four in a row, 22-16, 23-17, 21-5, and 21-10.

Messiek with 31 points registered the highest score of the night, while Marine topped the Eagles with a collection of 23 points.

Herman and Ollie, checker-playing Heptasophs, had considerable fun at the expense of "Checkerist" Cole, who, as the Eagles' chief handicapper, trailed the field with 11 points for the games.

The humor of the evening mainly concerned the lack of any books on the art of Quoit Tossing, and the small value of 24-20, 13-9 and other "side moves" in the game.

St. Patrick's Party By Newark Chapter, O. E. S.

Newark Chapter No. 19, Order of the Eastern Star, held a St. Patrick's Day party in the lodge room, Fraternal Hall, last Saturday evening, following the regular meeting. Miss Naomi Knauas, worthy matron, presided over the session. Arzie Lewis was chairman in charge of the party. Officers of the chapter will rehearse tonight in preparation for the annual birthday party on April 16.

FRATERNITY'S ANNUAL FORMAL SCHEDULED FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

One of the top social functions scheduled annually on the University of Delaware campus will occur tomorrow night when the Sigma Phi Epsilon's Formal will be given in Old College. The affair will last from nine until two.

C. Craig Cannon, Wilmington, is chairman of the committee in charge, which has engaged the music of Jan Savitt's orchestra, a Philadelphia band well known to vacationers along the Jersey coast.

Class Initiation Takes 150 Candidates In Order

Degree work will be given to 150 candidates seeking admission to the Jr. O. U. A. M. next Tuesday night at the Junior Home, 907 Tatnall Street, Wilmington, by the Eureka Council No. 1 degree team. American Flag Council No. 28 of Newark has a large class to present for the "goat riding" that night. All candidates and members have been notified to report at the council chamber by seven o'clock that night.

History of Juniorism Reviewed by A. N. Smythe

A. Neal Smythe, publicity director of American Flag Council No. 28, Jr. O. U. A. M. of Newark, in response to the demand for information pertaining to Juniorism, stated today that the Jr. O. U. A. M. was organized May 17, 1853, by 12 young men in the historic Concord School House at Germantown, Pa. From this first Council, Mr. Smythe said, the Order has grown to nearly 4500 Councils with over 350,000 members.

To become a member, Mr. Smythe said, one must be a white male, 16 years old or over, of a good moral character, and not engaged in the manufacture or sale of alcoholic liquors as a beverage. It is necessary, Mr. Smythe further added, to believe in the existence of a Supreme Being as the Creator, and also to be born on the soil or under the jurisdiction of the United States of America. A member of the Jr. O. U. A. M., Mr. Smythe said, must be in favor of free education, opposed to any union of Church and State, and to the interference of any foreign power directly or indirectly with the government.

The aims and purpose of the Jr. O. U. A. M. may be easily seen from their motto: Virtue, Liberty and Patriotism.

Virtue:
"Love is a Virtue, she alone is free;
She can teach thee how to climb
Higher than the spherie elime;
Or if Virtue feeble were,
Heaven itself would stoop to her."

Liberty:
"True liberty is the privilege of enjoying our own rights, not in the destruction of the rights of others."

Patriotism:
"Tis home-felt pleasure
Prompts the patriot's sigh;
This makes him wish to live,
And dare to die."

A Bird's Eye View of the News

FLYING editorial room, fitted out with an aerial camera, typewriter, broadcasting equipment and writing desk, is standard equipment of an enterprising Detroit newspaper. In this unique plane—the "Early Bird" it is called—James V. Piersol, pilot and aviation editor of The Detroit News, covers a nationwide beat and has scored a number of news "scoops" for his publication. The "Early Bird" is capable of carrying four persons or a half-ton load of newspapers at 200 miles an hour. A pilot-operated camera, designed by Piersol, that can take 110 pictures at one loading is mounted in the wing, and an aerial photograph may be taken by means of a machine-gun type of sight in the cockpit merely by aiming the plane at the subject to be "shot". Once the shot is made, Piersol can set his course, adjust the automatic pilot, and begin writing his story on the Remington portable installed in the cockpit, while the plane automatically flies him back to the newspaper's office.

Friends and members of the church are urged to attend.

Newark Softball Loop Plans Active Campaign

The Newark Softball League plans to function again this summer under the same general plan which marked its initial season last year.

Dr. J. R. Downes, president, will conduct a meeting next Monday night in Room 202, Newark High School, at seven-thirty. Members of all teams connected with the circuit last year are requested to be present and any new clubs desiring membership will be welcomed, Paul Griffith, league publicity director, announced today.

Officers will be elected and plans drawn for the season. It is hoped that six teams will enter the wheel.

W. K. Gillespie, chairman of the Softball Association in this district, has stated that the league will open on May 4 and wind up about August 1. District and the state championship will follow the regular schedule.

What Is The Constitution?

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

It has become the fashion in recent weeks for certain public officials to say that the Constitution is fading from the current political picture.

They are wrong. No attempt to minimize its importance can alter the fact that the Constitution will remain a dominant issue so long as the American people are determined to resist all efforts to curtail their individual rights and privileges.

But the Constitution is far more than a political issue. It is more than a written code of fundamental law. It is the permanent expression of the American spirit—the American Way of Life.

There are today—and there will continue to be—men, in public office and out, who don't approve of the American Way of Life. Charmed by modern European experiments, they would like to change our basic system of government by the people, to a form which places all political power in the hands of one or more officials.

The tragic evidences of lost liberties, threatened war and religious intolerance which spring from such dictatorships do not deter them. But the Constitution does. Therefore they would like us to forget about it—and its safeguards—for a while.

But we shouldn't forget. So long as the Constitution lives, our liberties are secure. If it falls, those liberties—and the American Way of Life—fall with it. Eternal vigilance is still the price of liberty.

To get a really fine car for less than $1,000.. ASK THESE 3 QUESTIONS

1. Has it the comfort and luxury of a 125-inch wheelbase?
2. Has it fine-car engineering throughout?
3. Is the advertised price the price of the sedan?

THE Nash Ambassador is not a scaled-down model. These are the largest, finest sedans in the entire Nash line for 1936! They have a 125-inch wheelbase! Compare that with other leading cars in this price class in the chart at the right.

The Nash Ambassador has the famous Nash "Twin-Ignition" engine and all of the long-life engineering features usually found only in cars costing hundreds of dollars more. It gives you big, double-acting hydraulic brakes and an all-steel body with steel top!

There has been no "skipping" in upholstery or in fittings. The new Ambassador is even more luxurious, even roomier, even more beautifully designed than models formerly priced around $2,000!

Yet the prices of these big, luxurious sedans start at $835 and end at $995! This is unquestionably the year to buy your Nash Ambassador! The Nash Motors Company, Kenosha, Wisconsin.

AUTOMATIC CRUISING GEAR available at slight extra cost. Reduces engine revolutions 1/2 at high speeds. Minimizes wear on moving parts. Saves up to 25% in gasoline; up to 50% in oil!

How the Nash Ambassador compares with its 4 leading competitors

CAR	WHEELBASE	PRICE RANGE
Nash Ambassador	125 inches	$835 to $995
Car A	118-122 "	$805 to $955
B	118-121 "	$875 to $1045
C	115-121 "	$820 to $935
D	120 "	$1115

CAUTION: An advertised price is often for the smallest coupe in the line—and not for a sedan!

MARCH 26, 1936

BY, OF AND FOR NEWARK—100%

THE NEWARK POST is happy to announce that it has returned to its place of origin—THE PRESS OF KELLS. Founded by the late Everett C. Johnson and developed in unison with the now famous printing concern, the paper was separated last year from its birthplace.

We do not know the circumstances and causes, which brought about the change. They will probably never be fully explained. On the other hand, however, we are fully acquainted with the idea of returning THE POST to Kells.

Newark, despite the discouraging attitude of far too many of its residents, IS A GOOD TOWN. It has everything to offer—diversified forms of occupation, good stores, active churches, flourishing fraternities, good schools, one of the leading educational institutions in the United States, good leadership, and an excellent town government.

Why, then, shouldn't Newark have a newspaper of its own? Especially should one exist when a model plant such as Kells is situated here.

If Newark people are sincere in their indications that they desire their paper to exist, they can best support the cause by supporting the advertisers who keep the publication alive.

Yes, we are again a Newark organization in every respect. The feeling is a happy one with us. How's it with you?

IN THE INTEREST OF THE FARMER

Does mass purchasing and distributing of foods work to the advantage of the producers of the nation? Recent statistics indicate that the farmer reaps a rich harvest when large-scale methods are applied to merchandising.

A survey of 12,500 chain grocery stores—representing 25 per cent of the entire industry—shows that fruit and vegetable sales came to 15.81 per cent of total sales in 1933. Applying this ratio to all chain grocery and combination stores, it means that fruit and vegetable sales through the chains aggregated almost $350,000,000.

And this does not take into account the sales of the independent stores which have banded together in large buying groups, and which operate largely on the chain-store principle. These stores, as well as the chains, have made noteworthy success in "pushing" the products of the farm.

Big merchandising systems, chain or independent, are extremely progressive in developing better sales and display methods. They aren't satisfied to simply let products sit on shelves where the customer may find them if he looks hard enough—they bring them out where they cannot help but meet the ranging eye of the buyer. To keep the customer informed on what to buy, they make wide use of newspaper advertising—the best of all mediums for stimulating sales.

The result is lower prices to the customer—and a wider, more stable and more profitable market for the producer.

THE CONCEIT REMOVER

It is now announced that the Union Pacific is planning a $250,000 recreation lodge on the north rim of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. It is important that such sites be made available so that people can see more of the wonders of nature in their own country.

As human beings, we are apt to become more or less conceited. We think we are pretty smart. We construct big buildings, bridges, dams and monster ships, and they are great accomplishments.

But it is a good thing to get a look at some handiwork of nature to realize how insignificant we are when it comes to really making a dent on the earth's surface.

Such an object lesson prevents us from becoming too self-satisfied and tends to keep our minds on the fact that there are greater forces at work than political parties, industrial organizations, kings, queens, armies and navies.

You could drop the Empire State building, the biggest battle-ship or the new San Francisco Bay bridge into the Grand Canyon, and you would have to take a pair of binoculars to find them. As you stand on the rim of the Canyon at one of its principal scenic points, it is 13 miles across and a mile deep. The highest-powered rifle wouldn't even shoot far enough to drop a bullet in the river.

Anyone who has not seen the Grand Canyon of the Colorado should plan to some day take a trip there.

LEAVE POST NOTES AT RHODES' STORE

Since the removal of THE NEWARK POST from its recent quarters at 73 East Main street, to its rightful home in the Press of Kells, South College avenue and West Park Place, last week, Dr. G. W. Rhodes, proprietor of the Rhodes' Drug Store, 36 East Main street, has kindly agreed that patrons, correspondents and advertisers of THE POST may drop material intended for the paper there.

Any of Dr. Rhodes' efficient staff will be happy to serve you in the interests of THE POST while carrying out the allotted duties of the drug concern.

That's co-operation for which THE POST is truly thankful!

Mermaid News Notes

The official board of Ebenezer M. E. Church announced on Sunday that $54.00 was realized at the St. Patrick Supper.

Leonard Nelson, Jr., two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Nelson, is ill with diphtheria and the Nelson home is quarantined.

On Sunday morning, the members of the Red Clay Creek Sunday School made a special contribution of $51.06 to the Red Cross for the flooded districts. Clothing is being collected by Mrs. Leslie Woodward's class of girls.

Almost 100 guests attended the annual birthday banquet of the Red Clay Creek C. E. Society last Wednesday evening when the Rev. Donald MacLeod, pastor of Lower Brandywine Church, spoke on "Jesus and Youth." State and County C. COFFEE CAN ALWAYS BE FRESH

"IT SMELLS so nice and fresh!" "Yes—it must be freshly ground."

This dialogue dates back to the days before coffee was packed in vacuum cans. In those days if coffee was fresh when you got it—it was news. Today, we don't expect to find it any way other than freshly ground. It is freshly ground, and once it is sealed in the vacuum can—that's that.

The rest of its career is up to you. Once you have removed the top, inhaled its rich roasted aroma, the canner has done his part. Then you are either going to have good coffee or bad coffee depending on what you do with it. For there are only two kinds of coffee, good and bad. Any cup of coffee that is less than perfect is a failure.

Do You Know the Rules?

A research laboratory which experimented for one year in order to find out how to make the best cup of coffee warns housewives to be sure that the grocer's supply of coffee has been delivered to him recently, unless it is vacuum-packed, for it will retain its freshness for only eight or nine days after roasting unless packed immediately under vacuum.

They warn also against the old-fashioned recipe calling for "one heaping tablespoonful of coffee for each cup, and one heaping tablespoonful for the pot," for the reason that no two "heaping tablespoonfuls" are precisely the same. Instead use two level standard tablespoonfuls of coffee for each measuring cupful of water.

If you use a drip coffee-making device, and most people prefer this kind, set the device over heat on an asbestos mat. In this way the coffee does not boil. Boiling ruins the flavor. Serve the finished brew as soon as possible.

CAMPUS CAPERS

By CAM

Old Mother Nature found your Caperer not very capable of resisting an inconvenient attack of influenza. Too much balmy spring crept into the calcium compounds and he left his overcoat at home once too often. So until next week he begs of you a chance to recuperate and hopes that his friends (?) on the Campus might find an opportunity to do the same. "The Caperer."

HEY MOTORISTS! LISTEN!

Let Your Lights So Shine!

By THE LITTLE ENGINEER

AMONG the absolutely unnecessary accidents are those caused by glaring headlights. And yet they happen every night. It's all your fault, motorists.

When you buy an automobile it is generally equipped with safe headlights. That doesn't mean they'll stay safe, not by a long shot, or that you will use them safely.

Most accidents involving car lights are caused either by lack of proper maintenance by the car owner or by his discourtesy or ignorance of correct usage of his lamps. How long since you have checked up on the focussing of your lights and corrected it, cleaned the lenses inside and out, polished the reflector, put in a new cork gasket to prevent vibration and intrusion of dirt and moisture, inspected and fixed all lighting connections and had your bulbs tested? As long as that? My, my that's very bad! You've been lucky to avoid mishaps.

If you threw pepper in the eyes of the driver of a car coming at you at high speed around a Billy turn you would expect to be examined as to your sanity—if you survived the consequences. When you fail to depress the beam of your lights and let the full "open road" glare strike his eyes you blind him just as effectively for a few seconds. And much history has been made in a few seconds—good history and bad history.

The load you carry in your car affects the focussing of your lights at the safe level. So do vibration, looseness and wearing of parts and general neglect. Nothing is cheaper than keeping your car's lights in shape or more conducive to safety for you and others.

Film Star Finds He Bought A Lot of Tradition

Ken Maynard's "Diamond Wild West Show" is being renovated for its spring opening. The Western star bought himself a lot of tradition when he went to Texas, and added a circus to his list of enterprises. Even those rooco boxes on wheels—the circus wagons—have histories and background.

"That there wagon has trouped," volunteered one old circus hand, standing in a group where Maynard was supervising the conveyance's rebuilding and repainting. "Been all over Europe, India, and the East."

The wagons have sentimentally affixed nicknames, too. One decorated with wooden images of old bearded men, is called "Tableau," and it dates from the original Buffalo Bill show. In its career it has been the ticket and wardrobe wagon, but always it has carried its hand-carved wooden "musical instruments."

Swiss wood carvers decorated the "Swan," a 49-year-old band wagon; now weather-beaten from seasons of trouping.

Maynard already is sentimental about them all. Gilt and paint are being lavishly bestowed on their ornate hulks, but not a line is being changed.

Sport Writer's Daughter Ranks Stars

Ranking the stars of Hollywood at different games isn't any too simple, according to Florence Rice, the daughter of Grantland Rice, world famous sports writer. But here is one classification:

- Best Golfer—Richard Arlen and Bing Crosby, around 73.
- Best Tennis Player—Frank Shields.
- Best Swimmer—Johnny Weismuller.
- Best Football Player—John Mack Brown.
- Best Boxer—Victor McLaglen.
- Best Polo Player—Hal Roach.
- Best Spoon Player—Guy Kibbee, who carries and uses six spoons.
- One of the best all-around athletes—Charles Farrell.

Newspaper Story Made Into Film

Drama, as seen by an ex-newspaperman is brought to the screen in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Exclusive Story," co-starring Franchot Tone and Madge Evans. This exciting tale of a crusade versus modern-day racketeers, was written by Martin Mooney, New York reporter, who was placed under fire by a grand jury and sentenced to jail for refusing to divulge the source of his astounding information read by millions in a series of sensational newspaper articles. From this material the new picture was written, adapted by Michael Fessier.

When the cameras started turning on this film, two national news events came to an official close. They were the marriage of Franchot Tone and Joan Crawford and Madge Evans' trip to England. This was Tone's first picture since his honeymoon and Miss Evans' first Hollywood appearance since her return from England, where she had the distinction of being the first American actress under contract to a major studio to be borrowed by a foreign producing firm.

Grand Prize Still Unclaimed at The State Theatre

The grand prize was not claimed last Thursday night (March 19), therefore, tonight (Thursday) the grand prize will be $75 to the holder of the lucky number who is present at the time of the drawing. I would like to take this time in giving a little advice. Come early, as a large crowd is expected to be on hand for the evening. The theatre box-office will be opened early to accommodate those wishing the choice seats.

The $1 winners last week were as follows: Hazel Gravenor, John Kauffman, Robert Morrison, Helen Wideman, and Samuel McFarland; all of this town.

State Theatre House Notes

For many weeks the song "The Music Goes 'Round and Around'" was sung by both young and old throughout the country. Now a fast, snappy musical comedy of the same name is brought to the screen at this theatre on Friday and Saturday. Harry Richman, Rochelle Hudson, Walter Connolly and the composers of the song hit (Farley and Riley) have the leading roles in the film. The story in brief is as follows. Harry Wallace, producer of the "Wallace Follies" stumbles upon a group of country actors, who call themselves "The Courtney Players," giving very serious melodrama on a river boat. Realizing the comedy hit they would make on Broadway, he introduces their current feature on his New York stage.

Ken Maynard in "Western Courage," a thrilling Western, will be added to the bill on Saturday. This great western star gives you lots of trick horsemanship and plenty of thrills as you like to see real western stars do. Geneva Mitchell supports Ken in this film. The picture you all have been waiting to see, "Rose Marie," will be held for three days; Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's greatest achievement in the musical picture—blending gay romance, stirring adventure, and glorious melody into one gigantic screen entertainment. The stars of "Naughty Mariette," Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, enchant you with the finest love songs. They bring you the biggest thrill with the rugged romance of the opera star and the "Mountie" whose name she scarcely knew, but, whose caresses spoke the language of love.

Bette Davis, the number one actress of the silver screen, having won the Academy Award, is co-starred with Franchot Tone in "Dangerous." The story is said to be sheer drama of dynamic intensity and tremendous emotion. Bette has the role of a famous actress, who after rising to the top of the ladder of success, tumbles to the gutter through her egotism and selfishness; although she calls it a jinx, dragging down those who loved her. It is after her fall that Tone in the role of a young architect, sets about sobering her up and trying to reestablish her as a brilliant star she had been. The film plays Thursday and Friday.

OBITUARY

Nancy Virginia Lane

Nancy Virginia Lane, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lane, of Ogletown, died on Wednesday, March 18, in the Wilmington General Hospital.

Funeral services were held on Friday at the R. T. Jones Funeral Home. Rev. Andrew W. Mayer, rector of St. Thomas' P. E. Church, officiated at the services. Interment was made in the Newark Cemetery.

YOUR automobile speaks many tongues and practically everything it says costs you money.

Although you may not be a linguist your driving experience will gradually enable you to understand the things your car is trying to tell you. Among the remarks you will hear it make will be: "Listen Mister, my valves are loose, pitted and worn. I'm wasting gasoline and compression. Do something!" "Hey Motorist, my body bolts, spring shackles, axle saddles, bumper connections, tire lugs and battery clamps are rubbing themselves to death. Can't you hear them? Gee, you must be a millionaire! Quick! Get out the monkey wrench and oil can or take me to the doctor at the service station."

If anybody could build an absolutely perfect automobile it would be completely silent in its operation. That car will never arrive but the designers and manufacturers are making a lot of progress toward it. It is after the car leaves their hands and goes into your's that it learns to talk an expensive combination of languages.

A vast majority of car noises can be silenced by tightening and lubrication. It costs little money to have your car listened to by service station experts every little while and its protests at looseness and dryness stopped. And this money will be returned to you in quieter, better and cheaper motoring.

ROAMIN' WITH RUTLEDGE

A Blessing?

It was unfortunate in a sense that the Newark Yellowjackets were seeded to face the eventual winner of the tourney at the Wilmington Y. M. C. A. last week. In another sense there exists a measure of satisfaction in seeing the conquerors of the local array march onward State basketball to the Delaware title.

"THE ROAMER"

Since eliminations come regardless of any lack of welcome, it is somewhat gratifying to have them handed out by a champ, rather than by another also ran.

This is the second year in a row that Newark has entered a team in the famous "Y" tournament, and the second straight time that it was eliminated in the initial contest. Considering the basketball material available in this town (or is it available?) the results, insofar as the Wilmington tests are concerned, are poor.

Let's hope, however, that the court lesson learned in Wilmington will arouse the local tossers to the point where they will strut their true talents at the expense of a cocky (and rightfully so, too) Edgewood Arsenal crew in the forthcoming Cecil County League engagement.

Incidentally, Price was on hand for two of the three Eastern Shore Basketball League games when the Lewes-Rehoboth outfit, captained and coached by Prettyman, swamped Chrisfield, led by Gimp Carrington, late of Washington College, in straight sets for the 1935-36 rag. . . . Balls and Strikes

One of the most vital factors toward the success or failure of any sports organization was disposed of by the Bi-State Baseball League during a meeting last Friday night. Arbiters were named for the season. Out of fifteen applicants four men were selected.

The quartet of Arthur Coakley, Havre de Grace; Horace Reynolds, Oxford; Carter Simpers, North East; and Norm Foster, Cherry Hill, should prove capable of upholding the high standard of officiating that was established during the circuit's first campaign last summer.

While Ralph (Dutch) Robinson's loss will be a real one, close followers of the game regard Foster, the lone newcomer, as possessing everything it takes to conduct a ball game in proper fashion.

Man for man the Bi-State staff should compare favorably with any group of ump's offered by any similar league in the nation.

As an indication that they think their officials will be of high standard, the directors of the circuit voted an increase in salary to the ump's. The arbiters will collect $5 per contest this year instead of $4 which they received in 1935.

NEWARK FACES EDGEWOOD

ST. LOUIS STAR IN BILLIARD APPEARANCE

ARMY OUTFIT POINTED FOR LOCAL QUINT

Yellowjackets Ready To Offer Plenty of Strength For Clash

ELKTON ARMORY SITE Second Half Outcome Hangs In Balance As Rivals Groom For Fray

By "THE ROAMER"

The second-half championship in the Cecil County Basketball League will either be conclusively settled Saturday night or the eventual outcome will be further delayed, depending upon the success or failure of the Newark Yellowjackets to halt the Edgewood Arsenal crew.

Clashing for the first time in the history of either team, the highly touted rivals are expected to attract a record turnout for the season to the State Armory, Elkton, where the scene of action will be laid.

Champions of the first half by virtue of six victories against no defeats, the Jackets will be called upon to stop the powerful foe which joined the circuit at the halfway mark.

Made up of non-commissioned officers and enlisted men in the Chemical Warfare Service with headquarters at the extensive Harford County (Md.) reservation, the Edgewood outfit has proved its ability by romping over rival teams in the local wheel with unquestioned ease.

Holders of the Third Army Corps title for the last five years, the Gas Makers dropped the crown last week to Fort George Mende. That outcome, however, will make them none the less tough for Newark, since they have been pointing especially for the Jackets and the Cecil County League gonfalon, now held by the local passers.

A team of veterans that finds time to do four hours of court drill daily, the Soldiers possess an enviable record that includes triumphs over the leading basket aggregations in Baltimore and vicinity.

Manager Charlie Cole of the Newark team will be in a position to trot his full strength out against the Soldiers, however. Chalmers, Daly, Whiteman, Williamson, Holloway, Egnor, Doyle, Smith, Beers, White, Cage, Morris and several other stars are waiting anxiously for a shot at their talented foes.

The Jackets have been undergoing a series of strenuous drills, readying themselves for the battle since bowling in the Wilmington Y. M. C. A. Tournament last week.

In the event of a Newark victory Saturday night, the leading rivals will be deadlocked, with North East providing the Fishermen run true to form and stop Elkton, making it a trio. The Jackets play North East next Wednesday night and followers of the Maryland team are offering odds that Cole's club is sent to defeat.

A triumph for Edgewood will settle the issue and it is expected that President C. Ellis Deibert will order the five-game playoff series to open immediately.

Due to the fact that such a series will more than likely be contested between the four members of the loop from that particular geographical boundary will be played in conjunction with the title clashes, to determine a sectional champ.

Two-Light League To Meet Next Tuesday Night

Secretary Ellis Cullen announced yesterday that a meeting of the Newark Two-Light Baseball League will be held next Tuesday evening at seven-thirty in the main office of the Continental-Diamond Fibre Company.

With Continental, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Junior American Legion, and the Newark Cardinals already in the loop, two franchises remain open.

Negotiations are being carried on with a prospective team to represent St. John's R. C. Church and another at Elk Mills.

BEL AIR GETS BID TO ALIGN IN BI-STATE

Two Maryland Teams Combine Creating Vacancy In Baseball Loop

While the complete organization of the Bi-State Baseball League was again deferred for a time, due to the not unexpected merger of the Elk Mills and Providence entries, the directors of the circuit completed further details toward the start of the 1936 flag race last Friday night during a session at Elkton.

With the two Maryland towns joining forces in an attempt to weld a single powerful entry for the loop, one franchise automatically was opened, which is expected to be filled immediately by the Harford Hunt Club of Bel Air, Md.

Following inquiries from the organization of millionaire sportsmen, who sponsored a strong team last season in the Inter-County League, a Sunday loop, the vacant berth in the Bi-State circuit was offered to them. A definite reply is expected at another meeting of the latter group tomorrow night at Elkton.

The Elk Mills-Providence combine staged an organization session last night at the aforementioned place when tentative plans were worked out to coordinate the teams.

Newark, Elkton, Perryville and Havre de Grace are ironing out details prior to the start of the campaign in late April. A schedule, drawn by Thomas Kay, Sr., of Elk Mills, was discussed at length at the meeting last week, but adoption was deferred until tomorrow night.

Umpires for the season were chosen from a list of fifteen applicants. Arthur Cloak, Havre de Grace, and Horace Reynolds, Oxford, were unanimously held over from last year. Carter Simpers, North East, was also held over, but he had a close call. The staff was reduced from five men, including an alternate and four regular officials, to four men, who will be used regularly.

Ralph Robinson, formerly of Newark, who now resides in Elkton, tendered his resignation, and Roland Mackey, Oxford, was voted out of the league. Norman Foster, Cherry Hill, former pitching star at Tome School, Rising Sun, Elk Mills and Havre de Grace, was named as the fourth arbiter for the 1936 race.

The special committee of workers, which is occupied locally in raising funds for the Newark team, reports encouraging progress. A turkey and poultry shoot scheduled for last Saturday at Dameron's Field, East Main Street Extended, which was postponed due to poor weather conditions, will be staged this Saturday at two o'clock. A 20-pound turkey along with a collection of chickens, ducks and other fowl, will be offered as prizes to crack marksmen.

Ellis Cullen, popular pilot of the Continental Diamond team, will lead a collection of local Bi-State League players in a practice tilt with the University of Delaware nine at Frazier Field Saturday afternoon in the unofficial opener of another season.

SMITH MAKES NEW BOWLING MARK AT 277

Continental Plant Leader Cracks Pair Of Records

Bowling over a total of 277 pins to establish a record for the season in a single game, Ernie Smith of the Continental Plant quintet led his mates to a 4-0 win over Delaware Rayon in the Wednesday Night League tests at the American Legion Alleys.

Smith's total score of 674 pins in three games established another mark for the season, Morris Adams, manager of the alleys, stated last night.

Elkton's crack team, striving for the second-half title, managed to stay ahead of the National Fibre outfit by defeating Old Golds, 3-1. The Fibre crew, first-half winner, topped the Business Men, 4-0, however, to gain on the Marylanders.

HALL TO SHOW TRICKS OF 3-CUSHION GAME

Listed Near Top of Pack In International Rankings

STARTED AT EARLY AGE To Display Wares Here and At Port Deposit and Rising Sun

By Cue Keeley

Everyone interested in learning how to play billiards or further improving their prowess with the cue and ivory spheres will have their opportunity when Allen Hall of St. Louis, one of the world's "first ten" three-cushion billiard experts appears at Jimmy Martin's, next Wednesday night at 7:30; at Brown & Cunningham's, Port Deposit, on Thursday night at 7:00; and at Tommy Riale's, Rising Sun, the same night at 9:00.

Hall comes here in connection with the third annual National "Better Billiards" program being sponsored by the National Billiard Association of America.

Allen Hall

During the young three-rail star's two-hour visit here, he will not only offer a billiard exhibition and a unique display of fancy shots, but devote one full hour of expert free billiard instruction. Feminine billiard fans, mediocre players and tyros are especially invited to take advantage of this opportunity.

Hall has appeared in every world three-cushion championship tournament since 1925. He has finished in the runner-up position twice and was once tied for second place. In the opinion of astute billiard critics, it has been one of the game's miracles that he has never won the world's crown.

In 1931 Hall crossed cues with Arthur Thurnblad in the final game of the annual event with the title at stake. A heavy favorite to defeat the lanky Chicagoan, the St. Louis artist played badly and lost a heart-breaking game. In the 1934 event he finished second to Johnny Layton, later meeting the former 11-times champion in a championship challenge match in Omaha last June. Off to a flying start, Hall's play slumped once again; Layton retaining his laurels.

The St. Louis cue star again was off form in several games during the last world title affair held on the new streamlined table with its new twi-light purple cloth in Hotel Sherman, Chicago, last November. Finishing the schedule in a four-handed deadlock for fourth place with Kinrey Matsuyama, Jay Bozeman and Layton, despite the fact that he averaged better than one billiard per inning, Hall wound up in sixth place when the play-offs had been completed.

Hall was born in St. Louis in 1900. He attended grammar and high school there, later graduating from Westminster College in Fulton, Mo. He

FLASHES

By BILL FLETCHER

AFTER HAVING WITNESSED practically all of the University of Delaware Inter-fraternity basketball tilts, we submit our selections for an All-Star Inter-fraternity team.

Forwards: Ed Rivers, S. P. E., and Don King, K. A. Center: Phillip Reed, K. A. Guards: Chick O'Connor, S. P. E., and Sully Davis, K. A. Second Team:

"BILL" FLETCHER Forwards: Bill Mai, Theta Chi, and Josh West, K. A. Center: Joe Saville, S. P. E. Guards: Haze Wilson, K. A., and Kirby Preston, Theta Chi.

The choice of forwards is just a toss-up, since all four men were closely grouped in the total number of points scored, and played on equal terms in floor-work. However, we pick Rivers for consistency and King for the willingness to play to the last whistle.

At center, Reed gets the unanimous choice by virtue of his uncanny shooting ability, fine floor work, and ability to come through in the pinches. He is, in our opinion, a potential varsity center for Coach Doherty's cage squad.

Despite the fact that O'Connor played only in the last half of the schedule, the brand of basketball played by him prohibits our overlooking his selection as a guard. The previous experience that Chick has had was evident in his performances. Davis gets the call over Wilson due to his offensive play which was more or less consistent throughout the tourney.

Honorable Mention: Good, Sheaffer, Cage; Sigma Nu; Jack Stewart, Jackson; Theta Chi; Young and Harkins; S. P. E. Burtman, Hirschout; S. T. P. and Elliott, Myer, Gohlt, P. K. T.

ARDENT DESIRES, suppressed hopes, and life-long wishes; somewhat dimmed by the fleeting years may now be fulfilled by a very simple method. Marshall Manns, who recently returned from Liberia, brought back with him a sacred though unimpressive piece of metal, which is reputed to have the power of making wishes come true. A native took the cone-shaped piece of iron and went through a secret ceremony, giving it the potential power to give you what you want. According to Marshall, you wave the metal before your face three times every morning, make your wish and then wash your hands. We'd even be willing to take a bath to make some of our wishes come true; so perhaps next week we'll be riding around in a (always optimistic) Cadillac. However, we're sorry to say, the results are not guaranteed—it's worth trying anyhow.

SIGNS OF EXCESSIVE IMBIBATION are frequently very much in evidence, and at a recent dance, we had the misfortune to come in contact with a young lady, whom we thought was very much "under the weather." We do not object strenuously to moderate indulgence by women, except in this case, when the object of this paragraph, due to the effects of the apparent "sponging" proved to be most obnoxious and disagreeable. When drinking has this effect, we think it is about time to go on a diet of soda crackers and saltines. Since we shall strive to make it a point to offer no criticisms without a logical means of correction, we recommend a good old-fashioned spanking—the kind that mother used to make.

WHOOPS MA DEAH and trauma—since a recent publication predicted permanent waves, plucked eyebrows and other forms of the usual feminine vanity for men this summer; Craig Cannon, being a frequent visitor of a local beauty shop, is in a position to be a fore-runner of the future styles. For all appointments see Mr. Cannon at the S. P. E. house.

IN REGARDS TO the question of generations and due to the fact that a few (we actually found seven readers) of the "older?????" generation good-naturedly resented being classed as such; we venture to welcome any member of said epoch to join the merry chase of the younger set. One opinion expressed was that the generations are OVER-LAPPING. We are inclined to agree whole-heartedly with this statement.

By PERCY ROBERTS
Literary Editor

announcement

The Yale Series of Younger Poets is open to American citizens who are under thirty years of age at the time the manuscript is submitted and who have not previously published a volume of verse. All verse must be original; translations are not acceptable.

The competition closes on May 1st of each year and manuscripts should be sent to the Editor before April 1st. The best manuscript submitted in each competition is, if recommended by the Editor, published at the expense of the Yale University Press, the author receiving the usual 10 per cent royalty on all copies sold in the United States.

The format of the Series calls for a volume of from forty-eight to sixty-four pages, with a maximum of forty lines to a page. The title-page should bear the author's full name and address in the upper right-hand corner.

It is permissible to include poems previously published in periodicals or newspapers, if the consent of such journals can be obtained for such republication. An unsuccessful manuscript may be revised and resubmitted after one year has elapsed since it was first entered in the competition.

Macmillan Books

Winifred Holtby's new novel, "South Riding" (originally announced in this country as "Take What You Want"), contains an afterword by Vera Brittain, author of "Testament of Youth," who was one of Miss Holtby's closest friends.

On September 29, 1935, less than a month after this novel was completed, Winifred Holtby died in London at the age of thirty-seven. In her afterword Miss Brittain says: "This story of universal values mirrored in local experience is not only an achievement of the mind; it is a triumph of personality, a testament of its author's undaunted philosophy."

"The forgotten man is the man who delegates to others the responsibility for his happiness."

This is one of many provocative statements made by Henry C. Link, psychologist, in the new book in which he tells what advice he has proved most helpful to the hundreds of people who have brought him their problems and their discontent.

Dr. Link also says: "No discovery of modern psychology is more important than its scientific proof that self-sacrifice is the foundation for self-realization." He tells what it was in his work that sent him back to the church, and why he sees religion as "an aggressive mode of life by which the individual becomes the master of his environment, not its complacent victim."

Dr. Link is Director of the Psychological Service Center, New York. His book is entitled "The Return to Religion."

Marianne Davis, Washington journalist, having never driven a car, set out alone on a 10,000 mile automobile tour of America to discover what the young people of sixteen to twenty-four who are out of school and have no jobs are doing and thinking. There are about 3 million of them, and she talked with a goodly number; she also talked with many people who are trying to help them—in C. C. camps, social settlements, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., etc. Her account of all this—in "The Lost Generation"—is more than provocative, for she presents not only facts and criticisms but practical suggestions, based on her observations.

HOBBY FAIR

The Pocomoke City Hobby Fair, March 10, drew more than 400 people to the largest P.-T. A. in several years. With nearly 100 exhibits—about equally divided between hobbies and odd objects. Principal Verlin C. Krabill says, "I feel sure that the success of this, our first Hobby show, guarantees even a greater exhibit another year. More than that, it will interest our young people in worthwhile hobbies and no one can tell what this will mean in their future lives."

The Laurel, Delaware, High School Hobby Fair is coming soon. It's a Rotary Club Project.

DEMENTED NEGRO SENT TO STATE INSTITUTION

Adams James, 30-year-old Negro, who until last week was employed in the University of Delaware "Commons," was taken to the Delaware State Hospital, Farmhurst, for treatment, Sunday.

Arrested by Officer J. E. Morrison early Saturday morning following charges that the man was drunk and disturbing the peace, it was discovered that James was suffering from a recurrence of a mental disorder which victimized him several years ago. He was released from the State institution in 1934.

Chief of Police William Cunningham returned him to the hospital Sunday where he is under the observation of psychiatrists.

CERTIFICATE OF REDUCTION OF CAPITAL STOCK

Fleming Investment Co., a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the provisions of an Act of the General Assembly of the State of Delaware, entitled "An Act Providing a General Corporation Law," approved March 10, 1899, and the acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, the Certificate of Incorporation of which was filed in the office of the Secretary of State of Delaware on the 12th day of August, A. D. 1931, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds for New Castle County, State of Delaware, on August 12, 1931. DOES HEREBY CERTIFY:

That A. S. Fleming and M. G. Fleming, of Vancouver, Washington, on January 28, 1936, being then the holders of record of the total number of shares of record of Fleming Investment Co., having voting powers outstanding, did consent in writing to a reduction in capital of said corporation from Thirty-Nine Thousand Nine Hundred Ninety-Two Dollars and Fifty Cents ($39,992.50) to Eight Thousand Nine Hundred Ninety-Two Dollars and Fifty Cents ($8,992.50) by the retirement and cancellation of fifteen hundred and fifty (1550) shares of stock outstanding, which shares represented capital in the amount of Thirty-One Thousand Dollars ($31,000.00).

That the assets remaining after such reduction in the capital of the above corporation are sufficient to pay any debts, the payment of which shall not have been otherwise provided for.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the said Fleming Investment Co. has caused its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed and this certificate to be signed by M. G. Fleming, its President, and A. S. Fleming, its Secretary, this 11th day of February, 1936.

CERTIFICATE OF REDUCTION OF CAPITAL

Rhoads Securities Company, a corporation organized and existing under the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware, DOES HEREBY CERTIFY as follows:

(1) That at a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the above named corporation, held on the 17th day of February, 1936, at which all of the directors were present, and supplemented by a special meeting of the stockholders of the said corporation called upon ten days notice, given in accordance with the by-laws thereof, and held on the 28th day of February, 1936, in the City of Philadelphia, State of Pennsylvania, at ten o'clock in the morning of that day, for the purpose of voting upon the question of reducing its capital to the extent and in the manner hereinafter set forth, the following resolution was adopted:

RESOLVED, That the capital of Rhoads Securities Company be and it is hereby reduced from Seven Hundred Twenty-Three Thousand Eight Hundred Fifty-Four Dollars and Forty-One Cents ($723,854.41), represented by One Thousand (1000) shares of common capital stock without par value, to One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00), represented by One Thousand (1000) shares of common capital stock, without par value, and that such reduction of capital of said corporation shall be effected by reducing the amount of capital represented by One Thousand shares of common capital stock having a par value from Seven Hundred Twenty-Three Thousand Eight Hundred Fifty-Four Dollars and Forty-One Cents ($723,854.41) to One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00).

(2) That all of the shares of said corporation outstanding and having voting power have voted for the foregoing resolution to reduce the capital of the corporation.

(3) That the capital of said corporation has been reduced from $723,854.41 to $100,000.00 in the manner above set forth.

(4) That the assets of said corporation remaining after such reduction of capital are sufficient to pay any debts, the payment of which have not been otherwise provided for.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, said Rhoads Securities Company has caused its corporate seal to be affixed and this certificate to be signed by Leo N. Sharpe, its Vice-President, and Lewis M. Evans, its Assistant Secretary, this 4th day of March, 1936.

CERTIFICATE OF REDUCTION OF CAPITAL

E. S. ADKINS AND COMPANY
THIS IS TO CERTIFY:

That E. S. Adkins and Company is a corporation created by and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware, the resident agent in charge of its principal office in the State of Delaware being DELAWARE CHARTER GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY, 900 Market Street, Wilmington, Delaware;

That upon the filing of a certificate of amendment simultaneously herewith, the authorized capital of the said corporation will consist of Two Thousand Five Hundred (2,500) shares of preferred stock of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each, amounting to Two Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($250,000); and Ten Thousand (10,000) shares of common stock of the par value of Twenty-Five Dollars ($25) each, amounting to Two Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($250,000);

That the board of directors of the said corporation, at a meeting called for that purpose, voted in favor of a reduction of capital of the said E. S. ADKINS AND COMPANY from Three Hundred Eighty-four Thousand Four Hundred Dollars ($384,400) to One Hundred Seventy-three Thousand Nine Hundred Fifty Dollars ($173,950), and that thereafter the holders of record of at least a majority of the total number of shares of the said E. S. ADKINS AND COMPANY, having voting power and now outstanding, voted in favor of the said reduction of capital;

That the said reduction of capital is to be effected by the exchange by the holders of Seven Hundred Six (706) shares of preferred stock of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each of the shares held by them for Seven Hundred Six (706) shares of new common stock of the par value of Twenty-five dollars ($25) each and by reducing (in conjunction with appropriate action under Section 26 of the law) the par value of Two Thousand One Hundred (2,100) shares of common stock outstanding from One Hundred Dollars ($100) per share to Twenty-five Dollars ($25) per share;

That the assets of this corporation remaining after such reduction are sufficient to pay any debts, the payment of which shall not have been otherwise provided for.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the said corporation has caused this certificate to be made and executed under its corporate seal and the hands of its President and Secretary this 3rd day of March, A. D. 1936.

OBITUARY

Pearl S. Walker

Pearl S., wife of Joseph Walker, died near Christiana, Del., on March 18. The deceased was in her 29th year.

Funeral services were held at the residence of her father, Isaac Thorp, on March 21. Interment in White Clay Creek Cemetery.

Elijah Floyd Choate

Elijah Floyd Choate died at his home in Philadelphia on March 16. Mr. Choate, the son of Mary F. and the late David L. Choate, was born in Newark, and spent his early life here. The deceased was in his 44th year.

He became ill on New Year's Eve. He improved after a time and was able to be out for a few days in February. A relapse followed which resulted in his death.

The funeral was held from his late residence last Sunday with interment in North Cedar Hill Cemetery.

William Warren Walker

William Warren Walker died at his home on Chapel street last Sunday, the victim of consumption. He was in his 34th year.

Funeral services were held at his late home this morning with interment at New London, Pa.

A wife and three children survive. Mr. Walker until about two months ago had been employed by the American Vulcanized Fibre Company.

Mrs. Lonny Null

Mrs. Lonny Null died last Friday at Union Hospital, Elkton, from peritonitis following an operation for internal trouble. Funeral services were held on Monday with burial at Rising Sun.

Birthday Party

Little Miss Alma Chambers celebrated her fifth birthday last Friday by entertaining a number of her friends. Among the guests were: Masters Earle, John and William Cunningham, Charlie Twyphord, and George Chambers; Misses Edna Cunningham, Laura Alderson and Edith Chambers.

A Midnight Alarm

Shortly after midnight Sunday the dread tones of the fire bell awakened our citizens and filled the streets with excitement.

The call came from the West End where the back of the large open fire-escape in Dr. Sypherd's apartment had caught fire. The property next to Belmont is owned by the Misses Wilson, Oakland.

The trouble had been discovered in time so that after the tearing of the weather board away, two buckets of water were sufficient to remove all danger.

Aetna Hook, Hose and Ladder Company responded quickly and promptly reached the scene. A large number of faithful workers were on hand.

Blaze at Christiana

Fire of unknown origin was discovered in the village of Christiana early Sunday morning. Three houses were completely destroyed and three others badly damaged. The total loss is placed at $15,000.

Through the efforts of Dr. Norman Beale, who drove his auto to Stanton, and phoned from there, the Fame and Union Fire Companies of Wilmington, responded to the call for help.

The people of Christiana have publicly thanked the companies, who they believe saved the village from destruction.

Joseph Merritt's house and store, the home of Harry A. Marshall and James Simon were completely destroyed, and three others seriously damaged.

News Notes Here and There

A number of our citizens were startled on Sunday afternoon by the blowing of the Continental Fibre Mill whistle. The whistle had been tied down to allow a low pressure of steam to escape, the quantity being too low to cause it to blow. The fact that it was tied was overlooked until the announcement was made by the mentioned sound.

Charles Reed, of Washington, D. C., has been the guest of his brother, H. N. Reed. They recently visited their aged father, who is quite ill at Bower's Beach.

James Pennington has retired from farm life. Mr. Pennington and family moved last Monday to his lately purchased dwelling (formerly occupied by W. T. Singles) on East Main street.

The Bachelor Girls were entertained on Monday night by Miss Katherine Steele.

President Harter, Charles E. Evans, Joseph Hossinger, and Dr. Kollock were in Dover, Monday, in the interest of the college charter.

A town that can sewer and won't sewer ought to be made to sewer—so says the Legislature.

George Culver, of Harrington, has accepted a position at Newark Center.

Father John Dougherty of Newark preaches in St. Patrick's Church, Wilmington, tonight.

The fire alarm sounded on Tuesday afternoon when an outbuilding on the property of Evan Lewis caught fire. It was discovered in time to prevent serious consequence.

Mrs. Fred Pennington, wife of the clerk at the P. B. & W. depot, was taken to the Delaware Hospital this morning, where she will undergo an operation.

He explains his entrance into the billiard game through the fact that he received a billiard table for Christmas when eleven years old. He immediately became interested in the sport and a few years later was tutored by Charles C. Peterson, greatest of all the fancy shot experts and noted authority, in the latter's St. Louis room. Later he was further developed by Johnny Layton, who also resided in St. Louis at that time.

Many Guests Attend Show Here Tuesday

In response to the appeal made by the Red Cross for aiding the flood stricken areas, ten dollars was voted for this relief work. In addition to this, Mrs. Robert O. Spencer, Chairman of the Welfare Committee, reported that a quantity of new and old clothing had been purchased and collected, and sent to the Red Cross. Mrs. Spencer also gave further reports of Welfare work in Newark, and reported that the local need has been steadily falling off due to increased employment.

Mrs. Claude Hearn, who represented the Newark Club at the State Board Meeting in Dover on March 19th, gave an interesting report of the meeting. The Club Chorus has been asked to participate in the Convention program to be held by the State Federation at Rehoboth on June 4, 5 and 6.

A luncheon and bridge will be held on Monday, April 6th, at 1.00 p. m. at the Club House. Miss M. J. Newcomb, chairman of the committee, requests that all reservations be made by Friday, April 3rd, for this affair.

Mrs. J. D. Counahan was welcomed as a new member.

At the conclusion of the afternoon's program, tea was served under the direction of Mrs. F. A. Wheelless, chairman of the Hospitality Committee.

Trips to Wilmington and Chester, and Election Keep Red Men on the Go

Great Incohonee Night in Wilmington, this Saturday, March 28.

Election of officers next Tuesday. Trip to Bear next Thursday.

Trip to Chester Friday, April 3.

That is the program facing Minnehaha Tribe, No. 23, I. O. R. M., and it means that for the next week the Newark Red Men will be extremely busy.

There was an extra large turnout at the meeting of the Tribe in Fraternal Hall last Tuesday evening, a feature of the meeting being nominations. So far there is but one contest in view, that for Junior Sagamore. Next Tuesday evening, at the

FOOLS and BEANS

FOOLS rush in, so they tell us, where angels fear to tread. But if it weren't for fools we'd be treading the same old paths much too often.

Much has been said of flying-fools, those daring aviators who blaze the airways for us, but perhaps too little note has been given to cooking-fools. They are culinary pioneers who dare to do things different with usually an unerring instinct for little niceties of flavor.

Combinations You'll Approve

Baked beans, for example—just plain baked beans—are hard to beat when properly baked. But if it weren't for some cooking fool, we'd be satisfied to go on just baking our beans the rest of our days.

Who, but a fool, would ever have thought to combine baked beans with cheese and nuts in a casserole dish; of making them into sandwiches in company with ham and pickle; or of cooking them with corned beef, carrots and tomatoes? These are some of the delicious dishes that we must thank fools for—because they had imagination and initiative.

Which one will you have? The casserole dish is the easiest, and it's good.

Bean and Cheese Casserole: Dice four slices of bacon and fry crisp. Remove, drain off most of the fat, add one-fourth cup of pecans and brown gently. Add one-third cup diced cheese, the contents of one can of New England oven-baked beans, bacon dice and salt to taste. Pour into greased individual bakers. Cut two slices of bacon in halves and place a piece on top of each.

election, a still great attendance is anticipated.

A donation of cash was made to the relief fund for flood sufferers.

Following the meeting the team of Great Deputy Sachem Heavellow was put through a strenuous practice by Great Deputy Mishinwa Balling. All members of the team are urged to attend all practices, as the time for "raising up" Chiefs starts next week.

On Thursday night, April 2, Deputy Heavellow will take his team to Bear, where he will raise-up the newly elected chiefs of Little Bear Tribe, No. 46. This is the home Tribe of the present Great Sachem of Delaware, George Lee Brown. A large number of members of Minnehaha, besides the team will go to Bear that night.

On Friday night, April 3, Great Deputy Heavellow will take his team to Chester, Pa., where they will have charge of the "raising-up" of the Chiefs of Mococonca Tribe. This is an unusual honor, a Great Deputy being seldom invited to perform this important function for a Tribe in a different reservation.

Deputy Heavellow will visit Wawa Tribe for the purposes of raising its Chiefs on Monday evening, April 20.

Great Incohonee Night

Saturday night, the Reservation of Delaware will be honored by the first official visit of the Great Incohonee, Arthur J. Ruland, executive head of the Improved Order of Red Men of the United States. There will be a banquet followed by a public meeting, with speeches and music, and ending with dancing, to celebrate the Great Incohonee's visit. The affair will take place at the Wilmington New Century Club Building, 1014 Delaware avenue, Wilmington. The banquet will start at 6.30, and nearly 50 members of the order from Newark have already signified their intention to attend.

Degree of Pocahontas

Next Wednesday evening, April 1, the newly elected officers of Mineola Council, Degree of Pocahontas, I. O. R. M., will be raised to their stumps by Deputy Great Pocahontas Mrs. Marguerite S. Balling.

Deputy Pocahontas Balling will raise the officers of Yonah Council, No. 15, of Bear, on Thursday evening, April 9, and of Leola Council, No. 14, of Union, on April 13.

Big Rosie Yearns for Florida Sunshine

JIMMIE DURANTE is having trouble with Big Rosie. Big Rosie, the pachyderm star of "Jumbo", now playing at New York's Hippodrome, is pining for Florida.

The situation seems to be this: Big Rosie has always before spent her winters in the balmy sunshine of the Everglade State. Always before she has roamed freely and comfortably under the azure blue skies, with small boys with peanuts nearby, and the roll of the surf not too far distant. And that was all Big Rosie knew of what men call "winter". No cold to chill her bones, no dreary skies to plague her temperament, no sloppy streets to wade through when she takes her exercise.

But this year it's different. This winter she's marooned among the elevated tracks, the noisy automobile horns, with no one to entertain her except stage-hands who are much too busy to pay her the kind of attention she is accustomed to. It doesn't mean anything to Big Rosie that she's co-starring with Jimmy Durante and Gloria Grafton, nor that her name beams forth in great, glittering lights. All Big Rosie knows is that this is the time of year she should be in Florida, and when she thinks of it, it makes her angry. More than that, it sends her into a blue funk.

She can't act—she forgets her lines—or at least her job on the stage, because she hasn't strictly speaking, any lines.

And when Rosie falls into this funk, there's trouble at the Hippodrome. Captain Rudy, Rosie's lord and master, has to treat her like a prima donna. He sends out a call for a sun lamp (what a poor imitation of glorious sunshine!) and a sound-effects man who can reproduce the music of the surf, and for the beautiful Gloria, who comes to Rosie and coos soothingly into her flapping ear. Then, with a little beach sand strewn around for atmosphere, Captain Rudy shinolas Rosie's toes to make them beautifully white—white shoes like the fine ladies of Florida wear, while all the women Rosie sees in New York are slopping along in heavy overshoes.

And then pretty soon, Rosie just glances at her pretty white toes, and hears the surf and feels the synthetic sunshine bristling against her hide, and closes her eyes and dreams she's back where she belongs. That's all it takes to rout her blue funk—and by the time the next performance rolls around, Rosie is refreshed and ready.

"Next year", sighs Captain Rudy, "Rosie must go to be in Florida—show or no show! The strain, she too much!"
