PRICE FIVE CENTS

160 U. OF D. SENIORS IN GRADUATION EXERCISES

Three Honorary Degrees Awarded At Traditional Ceremonies

A class of 160 Delaware University seniors received bachelor degrees and three men prominent in scientific and engineering circles were awarded honorary degrees at the university's annual commencement exercises in Mitchell Hall Monday.

Three receiving honorary degrees, conferred by Dr. Walter Hullahen, university president, with citation by Dr. Owen Sypher, faculty member, were:

John Farrell Melten, of near Middleburg, president of the New York Ship Building Company; Willis Fleming, executive committee member of the DuPont Company; and Dr. Elmer S. Ballan, Wilmington, director of the West Company.

Dr. N. B. Allen, of the English Department, gave the principal address, recommending to the graduates qualities of independence, avoidance of imitation and the faculty of not taking criticism too seriously.

In outline of events of the college was given by former Judge Hugh Morris, president of the board of trustees. Before mid-year, Judge Morris reported, 22 students had left college for some branch of the armed forces, while 20 members of the faculty and research staffs have so far joined military or government service.

Dr. Hullahen from the commanding officer of Harbor Defenses of Sandy Hook, mentioned by Judge Morris, in his address commended the work of the university as shown in the field of leadership and abilities of graduates under his authority.

Graduate degrees were awarded, including a master of science degree to the School of Agriculture to the Laverne Hopperstead, of New Castle, whose thesis was "Buds as Factors in Transmission of Fruit Diseases."

At the close of the exercises, graduates proceeded to the university library for dismissal following graduation.

WINNING ESSAYS PUBLISHED

K. of Pythias Contest Is Tied For First Time

The $1000 first prize between Melissa Baker and Camilla L. Speich was announced last week in a contest sponsored by the Order of the Knights of Pythias, marking the first time since inauguration of the contest that the judges were forced to tie the award.

To all members of the senior class of Newark High School, the contest was usually around the general theme of problems in Democracy, but this year was broadened to include the theme of "What Can Youth Do?" by the judges.

Winning essays, published in full on two pages, are "America Youth and the Church," by Camilla Speich, and "What Can Youth Do?" by Melissa Baker.

High quality of all the themes submitted was commended by the judges and was illustrated by the fact that they were finally forced to declare tie.

Judges were: F. M. Durnall, A. C. Black, and J. R. Justin.

Woolen Clothes Hanger

Woolen Clothes Hanger

It is difficult to realize it but this war is bringing about strange and new things. Believe it or not—there is a shortage of coat hangers.

The fact that the shortage is so acute that the McSpadden, proprietor of the Newark Cleaners, Inc., has offered to give away all surplus hangers in good condition—either cash or defense bonds—as inducement to thrifty housewives to clean out their closets and put away their accumulation of surplus hangers.

Familiarly known as "Pinky" to his friends, before being inducted into the army eleven months ago, Corporal Gravenor is now stationed at Camp Sewell, Alabama.

SALVAGE COMMITTEE SUBMITS STATEMENT

Collection Of Metal, Rubber Stressed By Blackwell

Receipts of the Newark Salvage Committee have amounted to $535.39 it was stated at a meeting of that committee held in Town Council offices last Thursday evening, with disbursements for the period amounting to $371.13 leaving a balance on hand of $164.26.

Vincent Blackwell, New Castle County Chairman and Harry L. Bonham, chairman of the Newark Council for Civilian Defense were both present at the meeting presided over by Mrs. Jos. Beatty, chairman.

The financial report, submitted by Treasurer Robt. J. Boyd, showed the sale of 60,235 pounds of paper had netted $398.33; scrap iron (6,849 pounds) and rags (554 pounds) accounted for $104.06 with $20.00 being realized from the sale of baby chicks and a donation of $25 to the civilian defense committee bringing the total receipts to $535.39.

Disbursements listed were $67.43 for labor, $3.50 for printing, $223 for one ton truck and license plates, $45.50 for automobile insurance and $25 to the civilian defense council to account for the total of $371.13 spent during the period leaving the balance on hand at $164.26 with accounts payable amounting to $11.24.

It was stated that approximately 60,000 pounds of scrap paper remained in the warehouse to be baled. It is also estimated that about two tons of metal will be disposed of this week.

Mr. Blackwell advised the committee that it probably would be more in keeping with the national policy if the drive for scrap paper was halted temporarily and every effort exerted in obtaining metal and rubber which are badly needed by the government at this time.

A schedule of collection on these items is being worked out and will be published next week.

O. A. BARTLEY PRESIDENT'S REPORT TO UNIVERSITY TRUSTEES

Baccalaureate Service For High School Seniors At Methodist Church

The necessity for moral indignation against world injustice was emphasized by Rev. O. A. Bartley in his baccalaureate sermon to the seniors of Newark High School before a large congregation last Sunday in the Newark Methodist Church.

The world direly needs men who will become hot and indignant about economic and racial injustice and against the continuance of periodic wars. This does not mean, said Rev. Bartley, we should become "hot and bothered" about little things, the mark of a childish personality, but inspired by a moral indignation against the evils besetting mankind.

Basing his sermon on the text: "I went away hot and indignant from the Hand of the Eternal, pressed hard upon me" from Ezekiel, Rev. Bartley stated that all great leaders in world reform have felt "the Hand of the Eternal upon them," the inexhaustible source of their moral indignation. He warned against permitting one's enthusiasm for a better world to degenerate into inertia.

The baccalaureate ceremony opened with a prayer by Rev. H. E. Hallman. Scripture reading was by Rev. A. W. Mayer.

"Gloria in Excelsis" was sung by the choir of the Methodist Church, under direction of Frederick B. Kutz.

DR. JOHNS ADDRESSES GRADUATES

Recommends Three Simple Principles

Three basic principles for better living were recommended by Dr. B. M. Johns, of Wilmington, in his honorary address to the graduates of Newark High School at their forty-ninth annual commencement exercises last Tuesday before a capacity house of parents and friends in the school auditorium.

Stressing first Self-Confidence as the basis of achievement, Dr. Johns stated that it is "not the things we begin that is the measure of our contribution but the things we finish."

Two other principles recommended were Christian Faith including the recognition of an authority beyond oneself, and self-reverence in a humble sense for the best that is in one to avoid self-degradation.

All are aspects of the larger element of Faith, the "undergirding reality that holds us steady."

Dr. Johns' address was preceded by the Salutatory by Melissa Baker, welcoming parents and friends to the graduation ceremonies and the Valedictory by Lois Mae Tomhave, expressing gratitude of the class to faculty members and parents.

The exercises opened with a procession of the graduates in caps and gowns, followed by the invocation by Rev. O. A. Bartley.

Announcement of prizes was made, following which superintendent C. E. Douglas presented the Class of 1942. R. S. Gallaher, president of the Board of Education, awarded diplomas.

The ceremonies were concluded with benediction by Rev. O. A. Bartley.

X Card Holders May Be Investigated

The board may also request gasoline rationing applicants to appear for examination to determine whether they are entitled to receive a card.

Anyone refusing to appear for examination or to surrender his card, unless he can show good reason, may be prohibited from receiving any gasoline rationing card or book under any rationing order issued by the OPA. Holders have the right to appeal their case to the state director.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT TO UNIVERSITY TRUSTEES

New Biology And Physics Building Needed, Annual Report States

In his annual report submitted to the University of Delaware Board of Trustees last Saturday, President Walter Hullahen again stressed the need for more adequate laboratory and instructional facilities for the teaching of physics, and stated that there is an urgent need for additions to the faculty of the School of Engineering.

Dr. Hullahen said that a new Physics and Biology building is needed, but added that because funds are not available and priorities for material could not be obtained, the project must be postponed for the duration.

As a temporary solution, the University president recommended that the report of one of the Board's committees suggesting the remodeling of rooms in the first and basement floors of Recitation Hall be adopted. The estimated cost for remodeling and equipping these rooms in Recitation Hall is $16,000.

Further additions to the School of Engineering faculty are also an immediate need, Dr. Hullahen said, to meet engineering enrollment increases. New, qualified faculty members are especially needed in the departments of Chemical Engineering and Mechanical Engineering.

Dr. Hullahen referred to a report from Dr. C. C. Palmer, director of the Haskell Research Foundation, in which it was pointed out that approximately 25 percent of the cows in the nation are infected with mastitis. The Haskell Foundation staff of research scientists, after three years of research, have discovered a cure which thus far has been 90 percent successful. This remedy will be made available to the dairy industry as soon as a patent upon the formula can be secured.

The president's report mentions new men's dormitory and power house-maintenance center, completed during the past year; also that work is progressing on the new field house, for which funds were provided by Mr. R. R. M. Carpenter, a member of the Board. The building will be available for use next fall.

During the collegiate year now closing, a total of 2160 persons received instruction of a collegiate grade provided by the University of Delaware. Of this number, 872 were enrolled as undergraduates and 70 were graduate students. The balance of more than 1200 were enrolled in the summer school, in the general academic extension courses, and in the national defense extension courses.

Another important need of the University, Dr. Hullahen said, is a publication. (Please turn to page 8)

All residents of the community as well as each member of every civilian defense unit and members of service and civic organizations are urged to hear Mr. Dalby who is considered one of the foremost authorities on salvage in Washington.

Newark's Blackout Successful, Bonham Says

Except for lights left on in the B & O station by the agent in accordance with his instructions, Newark's blackout last night was a success, announced H. L. Bonham, chairman of civilian defense. Wardens were unable to extinguish the station lights during the test.

When the alarm came through, wardens reported quickly to their stations, and firemen to the firehouse, where they prepared an ambulance and two auxiliaries for emergency use.

DR. PALMER ADDRESSES ROTARIANS

Discusses Milk As Food And The Cure of 'Mastitis'

Dr. Charles C. Palmer, head of the Department of Bacteriology and Hygiene, Delaware University, spoke on the importance of Milk as a Perfect Food, at the weekly meeting of the Newark Rotary Club in Hanna's Tea Room, Monday evening, president Samuel E. Dameron presiding.

Introduced by Dr. Thomas Manns, program chairman, Dr. Palmer, who is engaged in the Haskell Research at the University, investigating "Mastitis," a disease of dairy cows, pointed out the importance of the care of milk to insure its safe use, as well as the necessity for the scientific care of cows to guarantee good milk production.

A cure has been discovered for Mastitis, reported Dr. Palmer, through which 90% of diseased cows recover. In fact, after the cure, cows produce better milk than before the disease. Mastitis is a disease affecting the milk, characterized by swollen udders and other symptoms.

Dr. Palmer accompanied his talk with pictures on "Mastitis."

VOLUNTEERS ARE NEEDED

Men and women volunteers willing to serve three hours a week in the local civilian defense effort are needed for substitute duty at the Newark Warning Center Mrs. Perrie Arnold, women's supervisor, said yesterday in an appeal for volunteers to help carry on this work.

Operated twenty-four hours a day, the warning center is located in the center of town within easy walking distance of all points. Both men and women volunteers are needed to substitute for members who are unable to take their regular turn during the summer months.

Volunteers work three hour shifts, with women maintaining the service between the hours of 6 A. M. and 10 P. M. while the men take over from 10 P. M. until 6 A. M.

No particular experience is necessary, Mrs. Arnold stated, and anyone willing to help in this project is requested to contact Mrs. Arnold at 35 N. College Avenue, telephone 8741.

NEWARK GRADUATE MAY ENTER ANNAPOLIS

J. Tierney Faces A Physical Exam Before Winning His Admission

Provided he passes a physical test to be given at Annapolis, June 24, John Tierney, who graduated Tuesday from Newark High and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tierney, of E. Delaware Avenue, will be eligible to enter the Naval Academy at Annapolis next fall.

Notified recently that he had passed entrance examinations taken in Wilmington last April, his final obstacle is the physical.

Appointed through Senator J. M. Tunnell, John, who is eighteen, prepared himself for the naval test while carrying on his customary school work the past winter.

Along with seven others from Delaware, he took the examination at the Wilmington Post Office last March, and passed successfully, an unusual accomplishment for a youth just out of high school.

An honor student at Newark High, John also held down center post on the football team.

Mr. and Mrs. Tierney have ten children. Mr. Tierney is employed at the Continental plant here.

Sugar Rationing To Streamline Female Figures

The sugar and gas rationing programs will help "streamline" the American woman.

That's the belief of Martha Gable, Philadelphia coordinator of the Division of Physical Fitness, who addressed the eastern district society convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in Pittsburgh.

"American women are pampered and too weak to be of much use in the defense program," Miss Gable declared. "The rations will put women on their feet and off sugar."

She claimed that American women have no endurance, and that when they are forced to start walking and stop eating sugar "they will increase their muscle tone and their endurance and they will take off weight."

"Women without girdles will work to streamline themselves naturally," she added.

PRIZE WINNING ESSAYS IN KNIGHTS PYTHIAS CONTEST

Camilla Speicher And Melissa Baker Tied For $10 Award In Essay Contest Conducted At High School

American Youth Meets the Church

By Camilla Speicher

The United States of America has a very big and very horrible war on her hands. We Americans feel that we shall win the war. We shall win, not because of our superior planes, ships, and guns, but because we are fighting for the ideals of our forefathers, for democracy, for God. The war has awakened us to the true significance of the word democracy. We are beginning to realize that democracy is more than just a form of government, that it is built on faith in God and faith in our fellow-men. We have come a long way since the Pilgrims with their bright dream of a free country endured hardships and sufferings beyond our wildest flights of fancy to reach the land of promise. We are beginning to realize that we also must make sacrifices and suffer hardships if our nation is to be victorious in this fight for freedom.

As our Pilgrim fathers put their lives into the hands of God, so we too must learn to rely upon Him. Unfortunately we young people are quite unfamiliar with the Church. We have grown up in a period of economic unrest, we have lived through our country's worst depression, we have been brought up in a materialistic world under the powerful influence of the "almighty dollar." It is not remarkable that we should have strayed far from the realm of the spiritual. We are almost completely unprepared to meet the present crisis. Some of us, however, are learning to turn to the Church. We are learning that churches are not just buildings but that they are really people, people with common interests, hopes, and fears, people who, like us, are turning to God for the answers to problems. Our ministers and priests are glad to offer help and guidance; they are happy to find us interested in religion. Many churches today are offering programs designed especially to answer the needs of youth. Nowhere on the face of the earth does man have such freedom of worship as do the people of America. Irony as it may seem, we have the war to thank for teaching us to appreciate the value of our religious freedom.

It is comparatively easy to understand why we young people need God and the Church. It may be more difficult to see why God and the Church need us. The present leaders of the Church cannot fill their posts indefinitely, and the young people must be trained to take over in the future. The Church needs the idealism of young people, their new ideas and helpful hands; she needs their minds, free from prejudice, their cheerful optimism, and their bright courage. The American religion is the Christian religion, a religion that is not a mere passive thing, but active, busy living. We young people must learn to pray and to work, to make sacrifices and to laugh while making them, to honor the Lord and to fight for the right against wickedness and injustice. Here young people of America is a challenge; let us meet it courageously and reverently.

RATIONING OF COFFEE "LIKELY"

Grave Shortages In Coffee, Tea, Cocoa Announced

"Cup of java and make it black" is apt to become a semi-dead phrase as a result of an announcement Monday by a high War Production Board official that coffee, tea, and cocoa are "likely" to be rationed.

Clothing rationing, it was stated, will not be put into effect this year. Shipping shortages and lend-lease demands make the new restrictions necessary, Joseph L. Weiner, deputy director of WPB's division of civilian supply, stated at his press conference.

Far reaching changes in clothing, housing, and transportation practices were predicted, plus revision of the nation's eating habits.

Assurance was given, however, that citizens need expect nothing but the sacrifice of some comforts, which other nations have never known even in peace.

Cuts in deliveries to stores up to 25% for coffee and 50% for tea are already in effect. But in order to insure equitable distribution consumer rationing may have to be practiced.

No improvement in the shipping situation alleviating the coffee, tea, and cocoa shortages is in sight, Weiner stated.

Under the proposed rationing system, either one ration card might be used to cover all beverages or only the most essential beverage—coffee—will be rationed while the others will be permitted to disappear gradually.

Looking through some old books from his father's estate, O. J. Husemeier of Antigo, Wis., found $335 in old bills in one of them.

What Can Youth Do?

By Melissa Baker

The United States today is at war, a terrible, total war, a war of treachery and deceit. Today young people are expected to carry the major burden of many phases of the war. Tomorrow, whatever comes, initiative, resourcefulness, and health will be essential to the survival of the nation and the reconstruction of a shattered world. Our American education has endeavored to prepare us for life in all its aspects—for work, for use of leisure time, for health, for home membership, and most important, for the obligations of citizenship in a democracy. Now, more than ever, is the time for us to show our gratitude and willingness to help; now, when our democracy is seriously endangered and later, when we must establish and maintain an enduring peace.

First, we must develop and practice skills that have become important in the war. A nation at war needs its young people to fight in the armed forces; to work in the shipyards, arsenals, and airplane factories; and to spot airplanes, assist the regular police force, make bandages, and collect salvage. Above all we must give our whole-hearted support to whatever our country considers necessary to the winning of this war.

Second, youth's duty is to keep informed about the war and the problems and needs created by the war. Newspapers, magazines, motion pictures, and the radio are all important in keeping young people abreast of current events. Social studies, which are a compulsory part of our school curriculum, have the responsibility of making young people aware of local, national, and world problems and of the part youth can take in all kinds of human activity. Keeping informed and building up experience that helps us understand the world about us is one of the most important responsibilities of citizenship, both in wartime and in peacetime.

The third need which we can help to meet is that of conserving our natural resources and the health and strength of our people—our human resources. Every citizen of the United States has been told of the need for conserving natural resources such as rubber, metals, lumber, and petroleum. However, many of us fail to realize that in order to supply us with heat, water, and artificial light, a tremendous amount of valuable energy is consumed—energy that could be conserved and used for war purposes. We must realize the importance of conserving not only our natural resources but also our human energy. The men who fought in the First World War learned the importance of keeping fit and developing stamina. Many people feel that in no field of youth service is there more important and urgent work to be done than in the field of physical training, health and recreation. We know that one half of the young men called to the colors under the Selective Service Act have been rejected as unfit for military service. We also know that among those employed in vital defense industries physical deficiencies result in lowered industrial efficiency which we cannot afford. Certainly if these things are true, youth has the immediate and essential obligation to keep physically fit, use its energy sensibly and to the best possible purpose, and do everything feasible to raise the health standards of America as a whole.

If the young people of our nation continue their defense work, their study of social and economic problems, and their conservation of resources, they will unconsciously be helping the United States in a way even more valuable than any of these, for they will be ensuring the mental poise and calm which in time of war is called "morale." People who are constructively occupied do not worry or become pessimistic; rather they are inclined to praise rather than condemn; they do everything hopefully and earnestly; they co-operate to solve present and future problems with a spirit which has always been characteristic of our enthusiastic, hard-working, intelligent Americans.

LACK OF POST WAR ROAD FUND IS SEEN

Priorities Curb Road Maintenance, Reserve Fund Not Provided By Law

Post war highway demands will be heavy and imperative in character, H. V. Daniel, Secretary, Associated Petroleum Industries of Delaware, warned today.

"The condition of Delaware highways at the end of the war may be very serious," Mr. Daniel stated. "Priorities have seriously curbed highway construction, reconstruction and maintenance work. While passenger car traffic is showing a loss in volume, it is evident that truck traffic is increasing. During the war interval, weather will exert its usual toll and scarcity of materials will make it difficult to carry out a program of continuous and adequate maintenance.

It is evident that motor tax revenues during the war period may exceed possible expenditures. One of the major weaknesses of the One-Fund Act is that under these conditions, the monies may be expended for other state purposes. If this is done, Delaware will face an alarming situation, as it will be impossible to meet post war highway demands because of lack of funds. Should this happen, two unpleasant alternatives must be faced. New and drastic gasoline and motor license fee increases will have to be levied to provide funds for even a partial program to meet anticipated conditions. The other alternative is to permit our highway facilities further to deteriorate.

Delaware must make some early provision for isolating gasoline and motor tax revenues, preserving such funds as remain after permissible and essential maintenance work is completed, for the post war period when their wise and prudent expenditure will guarantee a renewed excellence of its most vital form of transportation at a time when the general public will again enjoy its advantages."

ADVANTAGES OF SLOWER MOTORING

Save Tires, Enjoy Sights,

Besides saving rubber, slow driving has other compensations, the Delaware Automobile Association says, in reporting reactions of numerous drivers who have commented on changed highway conditions.

For one thing, occupants of automobiles moving slowly along the roads are seeing the countryside from an entirely new viewpoint.

For one thing, occupants of automobiles moving slowly along the roads are seeing the countryside from an entirely new viewpoint.

Fast-moving scenery now seems to stand still so you can look at it," is the way one driver summed up his experience to a Club touring counselor.

Another favorable aspect of slow driving is the feeling that everyone is "in tune," and that a motorist joggling along at a comfortable pace will not be considered a "hog" by those who follow him.

From a practical standpoint, careful driving is the key to longer life and increased mileage of automobile tires. The Public Roads Administration estimates that an additional 20 percent in mileage may be gained if cars are driven at 25 miles per hour.

Non-Property Owners Register This Month

You don't have to like it but if you don't own property in Newark and expect to vote in the next Town Election, next April, you had better register with Town Assessor R. H. Morris on June 13, 17 or 20 or not growl when election rolls around, ten months hence, and you find that you aren't eligible to vote because you didn't register this June.

The office of the Registrar is open from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. on the above mentioned dates for the purpose of accepting registrations of Newark residents who do not own property.

FLAG DAY PROCLAMATION

The annual observance of Flag Day—on Sunday, June 14—will have more than the usual significance this year with our country at war. President Roosevelt has issued a Flag Day Proclamation directing all Federal, state and local governments to display the flag on Flag Day.

All citizens and residents of these United States should fly their colors on this day in tribute to the mothers and their sons in service. The President's Proclamation is as follows:

"For many years it has been our American customs to set aside June 14 in honor of the flag, the emblem of our freedom, our strength, and our unity as an independent nation under God. Now we are fighting in the greatest cause the world has known. We are fighting to free the people of this earth from the most powerful, the most ruthless, the most savage enemy the world has ever seen. We are dedicating all that we have and all that we are to the combat. We will not stop this side of victory.

"We as a nation are not fighting alone. In this planetary war we are a part of a great whole: we are fighting shoulder to shoulder with the valiant peoples of the United Nations, the massed, angered forces of common humanity. Unless all triumph all will fail.

"For these reasons it is fitting that on our traditional Flag Day we honor not only our own colors but also the flags of those who have, with us, signed the Declaration by United Nations, paying homage to those nations awaiting liberation from the tyranny we all oppose, to those whose lands have escaped the scars of battle, to those who have long been heroically fighting in the blaze and havoc of war.

It is also fitting in this time of stress that we express our devotion to our courageous mothers, many of whom are sending out their sons to do battle with the enemy and all of whom are so loyally contributing to the waging of the war on the home front.

"Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do hereby ask that on Flag Day, June 14, 1942, the people of our Nation honor the peoples of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, China, Australia, Belgium, Canada, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, India, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Poland, the Union of South Africa, Yugoslavia—knowing that only in the strength and valor of our unswerving unity shall we find the force to bring freedom and peace to mankind.

"I direct the officials of the Federal Government, and I request the officials of the State and local governments to have our colors displayed on all Government buildings on Flag Day, and I urge the people of the United States to fly the American flag from their homes in honor of the Nation's mothers and their valiant sons in the service and to arrange, where feasible, for joint displays of the emblems of the freedom-loving nations on that day."

THE DELAWARE SAFETY COUNCIL

WHAT IT IS—The Delaware Safety Council is the hub of the safety movement in Delaware. It is an association of organizations and individuals which for twenty-two years has been working to reduce the number and seriousness of all kinds of accidents. The Council is a cooperative, non-profit association interested in the developing of a safety atmosphere in our business and social activities which will tend to reduce and prevent accidents. Through education it seeks to demonstrate that the safe way is the right way and best way from the standpoint not only of human satisfaction but of social efficiency and economy.

WHAT IT DOES—The purposeful endeavor of the Safety Council is demonstrated through a practical program of education that accidents do not happen but are the result of some one failing to think or act in a safe manner. The Delaware Safety Council's specific task, therefore, is to point out to the Delaware people why they should avoid accidents and how they can avoid them. In other words, the Council is endeavoring to create a safety consciousness in our citizenship. This has been the basis of the Council's activities since its organization back in 1919.

The activities promoted by the Council involve an immense amount of work which is carried on in the Council headquarters in Wilmington by a paid staff of three. They are: John R. Fader, Manager; Elizabeth R. Clugston, Office Secretary; and W. Donald Clayton, Field Representative.

WHAT IT NEEDS—Briefly and simply this—the moral support of every citizen of the State and the financial aid of everyone who can afford to support this vital work.

PRICE CONTROL

In most of the war-time controls the heaviest loser has been the consumer. In the case of the present retail price control the consumer is to pay prices that existed during March, 1942, which should be to the advantage of the public. Just how the 1,800,000 storekeepers will fit into the arrangement is not certain, but the chances are that local merchants will have plenty of headaches, and also many heavy losses in business.

However, there isn't near as much opposition to rationing, regulating and control as Washington officials expected. One correspondent in the National Capital reports that whenever there is a heated argument among the "master minds" and leading politicians that the final sentence is: "My God, don't you know the United States is at war?"

DEFENSE MEASURES IN THE HOME—IV

Are the children in our own homes ready for any emergency? This, naturally, is our first defense responsibility. It doesn't lessen our readiness to serve in other capacities, in fact it definitely increases our value to the community as a family, and it really is a must, isn't it?

Now please excuse the personal form of address in what I have to say. If you can answer the questions satisfactorily, you will be glad I asked you, and if you can't, I'm sure you'll realize that the situation is too serious for you to care just how your mistake has been brought to your attention.

First, just what does that word must mean to you and your family? How often, for instance, do you see it when speaking to your children? Do you resort to it so seldom and say it with such confidence that it is sure to bring a quick, smiling and willing response? Or, have you worn it out by using it whenever you wanted a child to put away his playthings, to pick up scraps, or to hurry, or to be a little more careful?

Must implies the necessity for unquestioning compliance. Is obedience in your home a "do as I say" requirement, accompanied by threats of punishment, or is it a dignified provision for safety, trustingly respected? If the children of a democracy have been properly taught, there is no clash, in their thinking, between obedience and liberty. They understand that obedience is the gateway to liberty. If they have been improperly taught, by unpleasant experiences, they think of obedience as a gate instead of a gateway, so they repeatedly feel urged to climb over it or to tear it down.

In a totalitarian state unquestioning obedience is demanded. If boys and girls in a democracy are required to obey in a totalitarian manner how can we expect them to know how to think for themselves later on? How will they be prepared to use the privilege of free speech wisely or to assert their independence in matters that do not involve infringement of our statutes but conform always to both the spirit and the letter of the law?

Nevertheless, obedience on the part of the child is very necessary for his own protection and for the protection of all with whom he comes in contact. The proper idea of obedience is best introduced and understood in infancy and early childhood through regularity. If a child's physical needs are cared for with rhythmic regularity a feeling of security develops much like that experienced by an adult coming into a county wisely governed from one where lawlessness reigns.

Don't give a very young child a chance to disobey. He can't disobey if you make no demands upon him. The fact that he knows what you require of him is not sufficient reason for punishing him for not complying. Keep articles you don't want him to touch out of his reach. Remove him from the scene if he is unkind or annoying. This is important. Don't allow him to continue to annoy—remove either the child or the cause of his misbehavior.

As the child develops in understanding and need arises, make one or two simple rules. Explain why they are necessary. Attach no punishment to a lapse in obeying them, but make every effort to prevent a lapse. Some children will need more help than others; give them all the help they need. It is of the greatest importance that these simple rules be kept. You may add to them from time to time, but keep them few in number. The children in a kindergarten usually help make their own rules and they like to keep them. As soon as your child is old enough let him have a part in deciding the rules he is to obey.

If you have, in general, followed this method with your boys and girls, you will have no difficulty with them in any stress of circumstances. If you haven't, the must for you with regard to preparing them for an emergency, as a defense measure, is urgent. If the children don't obey willingly, begin now to teach them. Talk with them; show them the necessity for obedience. Illustrate by the men in the army. It will appeal to them to try to be as watchful and brave as soldiers must be. It takes courage to obey, sometimes, and they must obey their rules. Help them as you would the very little child but have respect for their added years and many experiences. Let them help decide what rules are necessary, but be sure to insist that they keep them—every one, and always. One of their rules must be to respect authority, but do not, I beg of you, take advantage of this.

Once Prettiest Baby Now Wins As Fighter

The consecutive victory skien of Freddie Archer, who 18 years ago was Newark, New Jersey's prettiest baby but today is the darling of the city's fast fans, has reached 22.

The 20-year-old Archer, given the babydom honor by a Newark mayor in 1924, went through 10 rough rounds with Norman Rubio of Albany, N. Y., before achieving his latest ring victory at Meadowbrook Bowl last night.

The two welterweights engaged in toe-to-toe slugfests at many stages, but Archer's superior boxing and straighter and harder blows gave him the victory. Both boys weighed 142 pounds.

Three of five supporting matches ended in one-round knockouts.

JAPANESE BEETLES PREPARE TO INVADE

Agencies To Launch Drive Against Menace

The nation is after the "Japs" and there will be no let up on Japanese beetles in Delaware this year either, according to Dr. L. A. Stearns, entomologist for the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station. Dr. Stearns and a staff of fieldmen in cooperation with the State Board of Agriculture and Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine are spreading destruction for this pest.

Last year a dust containing spore-forming organisms which cause the milky disease of Japanese beetle grubs was distributed in New Castle, Kent and a part of Sussex County. Fieldmen armed with hand corn planters treated two one-half acre plots in each square mile of these areas. This summer there's to be more milky white disease dust for the beetle grubs. Sussex county will be completely colonized, and heavily infested areas in Kent county will receive just in addition to that put out last year. One and one-half tons of dust was prepared during the past winter months by injecting the deadly disease into healthy grubs. After being ground and prepared in a powder form, this spore-bearing material is now ready for distribution to the land.

Stearns reports that in areas treated last year a checkup shows that beetle grubs have contracted the disease. He points out, however, that establishments of these colonies of milky white will not provide immediate or complete relief from beetle injury. Experience has shown, however, this control measure is effective in lessening annual damage from beetles.

There will be Japanese beetles this year to ravage the State's crops, so Stearns urges everyone to use every means at his disposal to reduce the damage of beetles, until natural agencies, such as the milky white disease, have reduced numbers of beetles to a low level.

As rural Delaware homemakers leave the final session of their Seventh Annual Homemakers Short Course on Wednesday morning, June 17, the University of Delaware will be welcoming another group of rural people. Representatives of Delaware's 1400 4-H club boys and girls will arrive for their annual meeting which will close on Saturday, June 20. Pedestrian Protection — No Steel Body Protects Walkers

One Out of Four Non-Pedestrian Accidents Involves Injuries

BUT

Nearly All Pedestrian Accidents Involve Injuries

ACCIDENTS MEAN INJURIES: Occupants of cars often are unhurt in accidents because they are protected by the car itself. A survey by the American Automobile Association revealed that in only one out of four crashes, passengers were injured, but pedestrians when hit seldom escaped serious injury. Good reasons for drivers to watch out for pedestrians, and those afoot to observe rules for safe walking.

CAR STOLEN YESTERDAY

Suspects Are Being Traced

A '34 Ford sedan, owned by Nicholas Hubisz, R. D. Elkton, employed by the Pennsylvania R. R. here, was stolen yesterday afternoon from the Pennsylvania station where Hubisz parks it daily.

A Negro was seen to enter it about 3:15 by a young girl, Dorothy Donovan, and it is suspected he drove off with it, as Mr. Hubisz stated that no key is necessary to operate the ignition.

Notified of the theft about 6 p. m., police believe they have identified the Negro as one of two dismissed from Phillips Cannery yesterday, and it is expected the car will be found in a few days.

The vehicle is a black and yellow, two-door, '34 Ford sedan, with registration number, Md. 272-462.

Investigators to perform investigative work for Federal agencies are being sought through an announcement released today by the United States Civil Service Commission. The salary is $2,600 a year. It is expected that positions will be filled in Washington, D. C., and throughout the United States. Appointees will probably be in a travel status for the greater part of the time. The work will be of a confidential character, in which the investigator must meet and confer with individuals in all walks of life. The data developed must be assembled in written reports.

Education completed in an accredited college may be substituted for a part of the experience. Persons with legal education and appropriate experience are particularly desired.

Applicants must be at least 25 and not over 55 years. A written test will be given to competitors to determine their aptitude for learning and adjusting to the duties in the service. Applications must be filed with the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., and will be accepted until the needs of the service have been met.

So that additional persons may have the opportunity to apply for positions in the Government Printing Office, the closing dates for Binery Operative and Printer, Monotype Keyboard Operator, have been extended to June 30, 1942. Applications for these positions must be filed with the Commission's Washington office not later than that date.

The appointments will be for the duration of the war and for no longer than 6 months thereafter. Announcements and forms for applying may be obtained from E. L. Shakespeare, Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at the post office or customhouse in this city, or from the secretary of the Board of U. S. President's Report ations fund to be used in defraying the cost of printing and publishing scholarly books by members of the faculty. The faculty member authors are seldom able to bear the expense of printing and publishing them, though the publication of such books would enhance the reputation of the college for scholarship. Dr. Hullihen estimated that a fund of $10,000 would be adequate for this purpose for ten or more years.

The president also told the trustees that plans for the accelerated academic program are about completed, to become effective September 1. Under the plan adopted, the students will be able to complete their college courses in three instead of four years. Students who need to do so will still be able to work about nine weeks during the summer to earn money for the next succeeding year's college expenses.

In addition to Mr. Carpenter's splendid gift for the Field House, Dr. Hullihen reported that other gifts of importance during the past year include: a collection of rare tapestries from Mr. and Mrs. H. F. duPont; a generous contribution from former Judge Hugh M. Morris, for the continuation of College Hour lectures; funds for two lecture series arranged by the Departments of English and Fine Arts were provided by Mrs. Robert Wheelwright, Mr. Thomas Bayard, Mr. H. F. duPont, Mr. H. Rodney Sharp, and Mr. Robert H. Richards; funds from Mr. Sharp for further development of the beautiful park area between the two colleges, as well as a generous contribution for the University band; funds for the continuation of scholarships for outstanding students from Mr. H. F. Brown; a contribution by Miss Amy duPont toward the salary of an instructor in the Home Economics Department; and very rare books to the Memorial Library from Mr. Brown, Mr. T. G. Geesey, and others.

Only five students have been called from their college courses during the year by the Selective Service Boards, while twenty-two students voluntarily withdrew from college to enter the service with the armed forces.

President Hullihen informed the members of the Board that the University's Bureau of Economic Research has completed the first phase of its comprehensive study of income distribution in Delaware. State and Federal Tax Bureaus throughout the country are requesting copies at the earliest possible date.
