Women and Gender in Healthcare (NURS414) is a new nursing elective which will fulfill the requirements for NURS411 (Topics in Healthcare Delivery). It is designed to also meet student multicultural requirements. This course explores women's healthcare issues from the perspective of gender needs within our healthcare delivery system. Global issues related to cultural needs, health beliefs and practices, lifespan and lifestyle considerations, wellness goals, and health issues unique to women are the focus of content. It is open to nursing, health studies, and women's studies majors and minors, or by permission of instructor.

Explain, when appropriate, how this new/revised curriculum supports the 10 goals of undergraduate education:

This course supports several of the ten goals, most notably: Develop an international perspective in order to live and work effectively in an increasingly global society, Understand the diverse ways of thinking that underlie the search for knowledge in the arts, humanities, sciences and social sciences, and Develop the ability to integrate academic knowledge with experiences that extend the boundaries of the classroom.

NONE
