More than a year later, missing man's fate uncertain

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The disappearance of Paul G. Guarino, a hot dog vendor on Newark's Main Street, remains a mystery to his family and police a year and a half after he left his home at 236 Kells Avenue for what he said would be short time.

The day after Guarino told his roommate, Edward Scully, he was going out and would return soon, Bernadette Mumford, Guarino's sister, called and discovered he was gone. That was reportedly Jan. 20, 1993.

When Mumford, of Middletown, didn't hear from "Pauly," she said she started getting nervous. On Feb. 1, Scully and Guarino's father reported him missing to the Newark police.

Unfortunately, there were not many clues for police to investigate.

Guarino, 35 when he disappeared, and his friend Tony Triboletti shared the hot dog stand that could be found in front of Wilmington Trust on Main Street. On the day Guarino disappeared he was not scheduled to work.

The last person to see Guarino was his roommate, Scully, who had known him for three years. Scully said then he didn't think it strange when Guarino left mid-afternoon on Jan. 19. Scully was unable to be reached for comment.

The day Guarino was officially reported missing, Newark police found his 1988 white Suzuki Samurai in the parking lot of College Square near Pep Boys. His sister said a friend of Guarino's saw the car and said, "Pauly must be back." But an employee at WSFS bank said he remembers the car sitting in the lot for at least a few days, according to police.

Daugherty's fate same, but UD to adjust plans

By TONJA CASTANEDA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

University of Delaware officials are refining their student center building design, but plans still call for the back part of Daugherty Hall to be demolished around Sept. 1.

A historical review of the student center plan, done at the request of the Delaware General Assembly and concerned members of the public, reports it as "successful from an overall viewpoint." The report continues and give suggestions for improving the project.

The report has left members of the Coalition to Save Daugherty Hall vowing to fight to the end to keep all of the building intact.

Daniel Griffith, director of the state division of historical and cultural affairs, conducted the review, using federal guidelines.

He reports the university's plan fails two of three criteria established by the federal government because it results in the significant loss of an historic structure and changes the nature of the streetscape.

He notes the new student center will fill a substantial portion of half a block of West Main Street, "transforming the historic character of the block from a residential to an institutional one."

Griffith suggests the new building be made compatible with the historic character of Daugherty Hall through color, texture, materials and design details.

He said the plans do meet the third federal standard of visual distinction between the new and old construction, but suggests further ways to give the two buildings a

Public hearing to focus on Deer Park Farm rezoning

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A public hearing to discuss rezoning the Old Deer Park farm property for single family homes is scheduled for Newark City Council's July 25 meeting at 8 p.m.

The 1.2 acres of land, which includes the historic Deer Park farm house, has been the topic of controversy since the owner, Ed Sobolewski, tried to subdivide the property for five luxury townhomes earlier this year.

After much public debate, Newark's planning commission voted to table their recommendation for Sobolewski's townhouse plan. The plans were withdrawn and the property was put up for sale soon after.

Residents who lived nearby, objected to townhouses near their single family homes and to the demolition of the the farm house, which is a registered historic building. However, most agreed the farm house in its present dilapidated state, is an eye soar and safety hazard.

Todd Ladutko, a realtor associate for Patterson Schwartz, said Sobolewski asked $275,000 for the property. "Numerous inquiries" were made, but the property was never sold.

In order to build houses, Sobolewski needs to demolish the farm house. The present zoning however, is contingent upon using the farm house in any construction plans, so the owner must successfully rezone the property from multi-family residential to single-family residential.

According to the building director for Newark, Junie Mayle, there is no reason a demolition permit won't be issued if the rezoning passes.

4-H agent, back from Asian trip, hopes to form lasting ties

By SCOTT LAWRENCE

NEWARK POST EDITOR

New Castle County 4-H agent Mark Manno, recently back from a trip behind the former Iron Curtain, returned with a fresh insight of life in a struggling Asian democracy and the hope of forming a 4-H club where one has never before existed.

Manno and 14 others were in the former Soviet state of Uzbekistan this spring to offer training skills in youth development and democratic ideas. Their 11-day visit, which ended May 17, was at the invitation of the Uzbekistan government and was sponsored in part by a grant from the Agency for International Development and the International Republican Institute.

While in Uzbekistan, Manno, who lives and works in Newark, spent six days of his visit at a former Soviet youth camp interacting with a group of 220 young adults from throughout the region, offering his thoughts on what doors democracy may open.

"Ironically, the place was built as a Young Pioneer camp," Manno explained. He said such camps served to indoctrinate Soviet youth into the many facets of communism, using a well-oiled propaganda campaign to deliver the message.

Vestiges of that era still exist in large murals at the camp depicting young, happy workers. Guard towers loom along a fenced-in perimeter, too — out of business since the fall of the Soviet empire in 1991.

Manno's primary goal was to develop a free exchange of ideas among participants, focusing on how to organize teens to do various projects.

He said a lot of thoughts were shared, but unlike here, brainstorming doesn't exist. "It was very frustrating," Manno said, noting that it was a major undertaking for a group decision to be reached. He blames it on a society heavily influenced in the past by communism, with its lack of room for collective decision making.

One collective decision of which he boasts, however, was to establish a 4-H program in Uzbekistan.

He and others further promoted 4-H during a youth fair held in Tashkent, one of the country's major cities. There, hundreds of children and their parents were greeted with an abundance of entertainment and information sharing.

Manno said his 4-H booth was a favorite spot, and one that was quite effective in getting the message out. So much so, that he recently received word that a 4-H club is being formed in Tashkent. Plans are for children to go into the country there, meet with farmers and learn about agriculture.

There also seems to be a strong interest in future Uzbekistan 4-H'ers becoming involved in the theater — doing everything from performing to sewing costumes. Many also would like to have club activities that promote ethnic arts and crafts.

"The only thing that seems to get in the way is cost; it's a big factor over there," Manno said. But he said it's not perceived as an obstacle. "They have nothing, but they give everything."

Manno plans to return to Uzbekistan with a team of his own to work with schoolchildren and do more training.

He said nothing has been finalized and grant money will be needed, but he remains optimistic.

Also, Manno would like to host of group of Uzbekistan youth here in Newark, to experience 4-H and American lifestyles firsthand.

"Not only do you teach them culture, you teach them about freedom and democracy," Manno said.

More than 1,000 people turned out at the Third Annual Fire Services Muster at Delaware Park June 26. The event included over 100 pieces of fire apparatus, competitions for firefighters and a Dalmatian competition. Christiana Fire Co.'s mascot, Domino — owned by Christiana Fire Chief Bob Bennett, won first place in the female dog competition. Sponsored by the New Castle County Volunteer Fireman's Association, the muster raised in excess of $1,500 for the Delaware Valley Burn Foundation.

Godwin: 'No Woodstocks in Newark'

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

An ordinance that Newark City Councilman Hal Godwin hopes will eventually prohibit Wilburfest from being held in Newark is being read for Council members Monday evening.

During a previous council meeting before the May 7 annual party, Godwin objected to using tax payer's money to pay off-duty police officers to oversee the event. He was also adverse to noise and traffic tie-ups on Cleveland Avenue and went so far as to motion that the "City of Newark deny Wilburfest operation and deny it in the future," but no one seconded his motion.

Now, almost two months after more than 5,000 people gathered for the all-day event, an amendment to the city's ordinance that controls parades, public assemblies and special events is proposed.

In the proposal, "special event" was redefined to include gatherings on private property as well as those in public arenas. It also says a gathering is not private if a fee or donation is charged or if there are more than 500 people expected to attend.

Wilburfest organizers traditionally charge $5-6 for admission to the party which features bands and drinking (sometimes by minors). It's a combination that Newark police say leads to unruly behavior.

University events conducted on university property are exempt from requirements but must comply with other ordinances affecting events.

According to City Solicitor, Tom Hughes, the amendment will not stop Wilburfest, but will require organizers to reimburse the city for expenses.

Godwin said the proposed amendment is a "step in the right direction," but he's not sure it is "enough to guarantee that Wilbur Street and Cleveland Avenue residents will have the safety and tranquility the rest of us enjoy."

Although Godwin does not represent the area in question (Councilman Gerry Grant does) he said residents against the party

Police beat

Nude man in corridors: A 43-year-old Newark woman reported seeing a naked man June 21 at 12:30 a.m. walking the corridors of the Howard Johnson Hotel on South College Avenue, police report. Newark police searched the hotel but did not find the man.

Man exposes himself: Newark police are looking for the man who allegedly exposed himself to a 19-year-old University of Delaware student while she was walking on Chapel Street June 23. Police said a man driving a gray or blue truck stopped to ask the woman for directions and then exposed himself to her. Police describe the man as white, between the of age 20-25, with a medium build and short light brown or blond hair. To report information to Newark police, call 366-7111.

Peeping Tom: A 27-year-old Newark woman reported June 24 that she saw a man looking into a bedroom window of her apartment in the 400 block of Wharton Drive, police said. Police said the woman saw the man, screamed, and he fled. Police describe the man as white, with dark hair and dark eyes. To report information to Newark police, call 366-7111.

Naked man walks through Towne Court: Police received numerous complaints about a naked man walking along Thorn Lane about at 4:30 a.m. June 26. Police responded to Towne Court Apartments and found a man fitting the description "yelling about following the moon." Police handcuffed the man, gave him a blanket to cover himself and took him to Newark Emergency Room and then to Christiana Hospital for additional testing. Police said the man told them he had taken hallucinogenic drugs that evening. The 23-year-old university of Delaware student was held at Christiana Hospital overnight and released to his father the next morning. No charges were filed.

Beauty supply hit: Police report that Sally Beauty Supply in College Square Shopping Center was burglarized after the close of business on June 25. Although police will not disclose the amount of cash stolen from the business, the money from that day's sales was reported stolen from a metal safe box. Police believe the store was entered through the back door.

Cocaine found by child:

Newark police officers on foot patrol and children were cleaning up trash at Cleveland Height development June 17, when a 5-year-old boy found a bag of a white substance, which was later tested and confirmed to be cocaine. Police took the drugs to be destroyed.

ATM machine damaged: The automated teller machine at Delaware Trust Bank on South College Avenue was found to have been damaged June 26 when police responded there to an alarm going off. A security camera caught two men on tape attempting to use the bank machine and then beating on the machine with a blunt object. Police said the camera went out of service when the machine was damaged. Police said an account number was obtained of the last person to use the machine and charges are pending.

Burglary at tire store:

Delaware Tire on South College Avenue was burglarized on June 22 and an unknown quantity of tires were stolen, police report. Police said store management will do an inventory to determine what merchandise was stolen. Police said a window was pried open to enter.

Police: no motives to pursue and no fresh leads in Newarker's disappearance

► MYSTERY, from 1A

The car was abandoned in the middle of the lot, which seemed strange to Detective Rick Williams and Mumford. Both commented on its location because the car wasn't parked close to a store.

"They found his car Super Bowl Sunday," Mumford said. "It seemed strange the car was so far away from the stores."

Police discovered Guarino left without his house keys, wallet and the keys to the fuel tank of his car, when they found the items at his home. There were no signs of "foul play" in Guarino's room or in his car, according to Williams. Guarino also left behind the cash he got, more than $2,000, when he sold his Harley Davidson motorcycle a few days before he disappeared.

The only thing police could find missing was a 9 mm handgun and the box it was stored in. Williams said police found bullets for the gun in Guarino's room.

Mumford said she knew her brother had a gun for protection, but said she believed it was strange the box was missing as well.

"There is a real possibility that Guarino is dead and met with foul play," Williams said.

Several terrain searches on a field near College Square Shopping Center and Guarino's home produced no new evidence, according to Williams.

Police have no motives to pursue and no fresh leads. There has been no activity related to his social security number or applications for out of state driver's licenses in his name. The possibility of suicide has been explored but Williams, Guarino's family and friends, all said they don't believe that's what happened.

Mumford said there was no reason for her brother to leave without telling anyone. She said he had no outstanding bills, didn't owe any money, was on good terms with his family and had never been married or had any children.

"There's nothing I can tell people, there's nothing I can tell his nephew," Mumford said.

Guarino's family launched a search campaign when he was first reported missing. They posted pictures all around Newark, but no new evidence was found. Mumford even wrote to the television show "Unsolved Mysteries," but received a letter saying the show couldn't accommodate Guarino's case because there were already so many missing person stories.

Guarino's friend for about 22 years, Matt Mondel, was able to offer some insight into "Pauly's" personality.

Mondel said he didn't think his friend committed suicide.

"Pauly was the kind of guy that if he was going to off himself, he would have done it on Main Street," Mondel said. "He had a flare for the dramatic."

Mondel also said Guarino wasn't stupid. "If he were in a tight situation, he would have called someone."

On the other hand, Mondel said Guarino was trusting and was the type of person who would pick up the "scrungiest" looking hitch hiker.

His friend since their days at Glasgow High School where they were on the wrestling team together, Mondel, described Guarino as a "pacifist" and a "fighter for the underdog."

The hot dog vendor had a "gift of gab," according to Mondel, who said Guarino liked to go to the Stone Balloon or the Deer Park Tavern. Mondel said his friend could sit on a stool and talk to a professor about Lenin or Marxist theories or talk to a "head banger" about music. Ironically, Mondel said Guarino was a strict vegetarian who never ate the hot dogs he sold.

Guarino attended Salisbury State University in Maryland on a wrestling scholarship, but left school after he hurt his neck in an accident, according to Mondel.

After living on the West Coast for five years, Guarino was in Newark less than a year before he disappeared. He helped operate a Los Angeles-based catering business that specialized in serving the stars on movie projects throughout the region. He and his partners would travel with film makers on location to places such as Montana, St. Louis or San Francisco for six months at a time. Some of the movies he worked on were, "Tango and Cash," "Sneakers," "Lock Up," "The Dead Poets Society," and "A River Runs Through It."

In a feature article November, 1993, in the Newark Post, Guarino said he returned to Newark to escape the fast-paced lifestyle of Los Angeles.

Guarino's family and friends don't know whether to hope Guarino is alive or mourn his passing. They are left only to speculate, which Mumford she stopped doing some time ago.

"He was my little brother," Mumford said. "Somebody knows something, even if it is an anonymous tip, we just want to know what happened to Pauly."

Coalition vows to work to save UD's Daugherty Hall

look of separation.

Griffith said in the report, there is "no satisfactory way to incorporate the wing (planned for demolition) short of . . . a total redesign of the facility."

David Hollowell, senior vice president of the university, said the architect who designed the student center has talked with Griffith to get a better understanding of how the plans can be improved.

"Our interests are mutual," Hollowell said. "We want to make sure this project is as good as it can be."

"We're going to evaluate how the buildings connect and make them look more separate," he said.

Also, Hollowell said exterior materials on the new student center will be matched to fit in with the surrounding buildings.

The Coalition to Save Daugherty Hall is still fighting to save the building even though there are some indications this report is the beginning of the end for their cause.

"We're (The Coalition) going to stay with trying to save the building until the wrecking ball . . . I don't want to even think about it," said David Robertson of Newark. "We want to keep pressing forward and show officials at the University of Delaware how wide-spread community support is to save the building."

Founder of the organization Jean White of Newark said she feels good about the review.

"It clearly does not look good for saving Daugherty Hall," said White. "But the letter publicly acknowledges that the entire building is on the national historic register."

"As a tribute to the building we need to stay with this to the very end, even if that means demolition," White said.

She said the fight to save Daugherty Hall has brought about the broader issue of the university officials needing to involve the community, when affected, in some of their decisions before plans become concrete.

The original section of Daugherty Hall, built in the 1860s as Newark's Presbyterian Church, is not threatened with demolition.

A caring move by county council

Though motivated by personal experience, New Castle Councilwoman Karen Venesky served all countians — present and future — well this week.

The Newark resident, who is relocating her elderly parents to Delaware so that she can care for them, sponsored the bill that now allows adult day care centers where child care centers are permitted. Venesky's measure passed without opposition this week; we applaud the council for seeing the wisdom in removing hurdles to the establishment of these increasingly important community-based resources.

Formerly, adult day care centers, which were not specifically covered by county zoning laws, were allowed only after a successful request by special petition. The county's planning office, which routinely updates zoning laws as the need arises, recommended the change to allow the adult day care facilities in most residential and commercial areas.

As Newark's and the county's population grays, the need for supervised day care for seniors will increase dramatically. Already, there is a six-month waiting list to get into the University of Delaware's Adult Day Care Center here. The high cost of institutionalized care complicates the demand for adult day care.

This move by the New Castle County is both well intended and well timed.

FROM THE HEART

Coalition deserves pat on the back

By TONJA CASTANEDA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

I want to commend the Coalition to Save Daugherty Hall on the hard work they have put into a project that they believe so much in.

The coalition is trying to stop University of Delaware officials from proceeding with plans to tear down the back two-thirds of Daugherty Hall to make way for the new student center planned to be built this summer.

I don't want to take a position on if I believe the building should be saved or not, but I do want to take the pro stance that I support the group in how they are going about trying to stop something they do not believe should happen in their community.

I admire that the group has in two months formed from strangers, both University of Delaware students and local residents, to a cohesive organization that has been represented at recent local events such as Wilburfest, the Memorial Day Parade, Newark Nite and the upcoming Liberty Day Celebration to collect signatures from people who support their agenda.

I was covering the first meeting of the group, before it had a name, and what I think is exciting is the way the group still seems to be going strong in its mission.

I would think that even some University of Delaware officials would have to agree in an age where apathy and low voter turnout is the norm and expected, that it is indeed refreshing to see a group so dedicated to a cause.

So whether the building is saved or demolished, I won't take any guesses but just follow the story as it unfolds. I want to personally thank those members of the Coalition for having the determination, guts and drive to follow through for months on what they believe in.

So maybe with this column I want to call to all those people who also believe they can make a difference. Whether it is in your own child's life, another child's life, at a nursing home or at a local school or boy's club.

I feel at times there are so many negative things going on in the world, that it's time that each one of us, busy as we are, look to where we can get involved.

It does not have to be as major as the political battle to save a building from demolition. But what about simply vowing to spend some scheduled quality time with your own child, spouse or parents? And if you do have time to reach out to others think about what you would enjoy doing, because it is a rare organization or institution that turns down volunteer help.

I am so excited because hopefully beginning this school year, I will be mentoring high school students who need some extra support with the process of getting into college.

I want to help juniors or seniors who want to attend college but do not know how to go about doing it. These students are the ones who are the first in their family to attend college or whose parents are wrapped up with making ends meet and don't have the time or energy or knowledge about how to help their children.

This topic of attending college is very close to my heart because it was about eight years ago that I graduated from high school and attempted to go away to school — the first in my family to go to college.

It is a myth that all students qualify for a Guaranteed Student Loan (now called Stafford Loan). My parents claimed me as a dependent at tax time, so it was decided they made too much money for me to qualify, but there were some things the form did not tell financial aid officers about my situation.

My parents had the year before filed for bankruptcy after having a business of their own. As a result, they could not sign for a bank loan for me and I couldn't get a loan myself because I was 20 with no credit.

Financial aid officers told me I couldn't get a government loan but I wrote letters until I did.

If planning goes well, I will be working with the new Christiana High School Principal Michael Epler and possibly Christiana's Parent Teacher Student Association to create a program to help other disadvantaged students succeed after high school.

So whether it's saving a child or saving a building, I want everyone to realize how much potential they have in creating positive results. And I want other people who sometimes get disillusioned that they are alone in their endeavor to make the world a better place that there are others here with an optimistic view.

It might seem to some with a more cynical view, that this is a sugary vision of the world.

But I have learned through volunteer experiences that it does not take much for one person to make a difference. When I visit senior citizens in a nursing homes and receive smiles from residents, I've made a difference. When I participate in the Adopt-A-Highway program and pick up bags of trash that would have stayed there if I had not done it, I've accomplished a worthwhile thing.

My way of thinking may seem simplistic to some, but I truly believe in what I say and I know there are others out there who believe as I do.

Fire Company Goes to Middletown on the Fourth

Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, have accepted an invitation to participate in the ceremonies attendant upon housing the new fire apparatus recently purchased by the Middletown Fire Co.

With their uniformed men their band and apparatus they will take part in the parade and other ceremonies which take place on the Fourth of July.

Recruiting Squadron Passes Through Newark

Much interest was manifested in a recruiting squadron which passed through town Friday at noon. They came from Camp Humphrey, Va., and announced by means of posters and placards their mission and their pride in the Engineers and the Motor Transport Corps.

One particularly interesting mounted exhibit was a captured German searchlight of powerful range; another was a paraboloid sound detector — an intricate mechanism which enabled the Allies to detect the sound of airplane motors at a great distance. The band and the Engineers whose placard stated "We admit we're proud of ourselves, and we have a right to be," attracted much attention.

Police Nab 'Roll Your Own' Pot Party Pair

A Newark policeman driving an unmarked car on Creek Road, early Thursday morning, came across a car parked on the local lovers lane which aroused his curiosity.

The couple seated in the auto, instead of making the most of the dim light along the country road, had the interior dome light on and were, the policeman later testified, busily engaged rolling marijuana cigarettes.

Police recovered 14 'nickel' bags of marijuana (five dollar containers) from the car, which they said was parked a couple hundred feet from Newark City limits.

French Twin City is Sending Visitors

Through the efforts of the Newark Twin Towns Association, in cooperation with the "People to People" Program, the City of Newark is about to begin its ninth year of "twinning" with the French town of La Garde-Freinet.

Six young people and one adult from La Garde-Freinet will arrive in New York Sunday to begin a month long visit to their sister city. After a day to rest from the rigors of their journey from the south of France, they will be welcomed officially to Newark at a party in the home of

NVF Oil Leak Fouls White Clay Creek, Water Supply

Perhaps history does repeat itself.

When it was reported that the NVF company accidentally spilled nearly 2,000 gallons of light industrial oil into the White Clay Creek Sunday, some Newark residents still hadn't flushed out thoughts of the $6,000 Avon spill in March.

The most recent spill, which contaminated Wilmington suburban Water Company's supply, leaked from NVF's Newark plant into the sewer system that flows into the creek.

Liberty Festival Begins

Newark is preparing to celebrate the Fourth of July in star-spangled style with an expanded Liberty Day Festival, one which for the first time will feature fireworks at dusk.

The 13th Annual Liberty Day will be held at Carpenter State Park on Del. 896, just north of the city, from noon until dark.

The event was moved this year from West Park Place Elementary School to Carpenter State Park to provide for expansion of its traditional events, and to enable organizers to include a fireworks display.

EDUCATIONAL PERSPECTIVE

Win/Win works (so far, so good!)

By JACK BARTLEY

NEWARK POST COLUMNIST

The negotiations for the contract between the Christina School District and the Christina Education Association are over! This is a piece of news to be met with rejoicing on both sides and throughout the community. The tedious process of wrangling over salary and language in the contract frequently extends into the summer and beyond, resulting in a contract that all too often leaves both sides feeling cheated and alienated. This contract, however, could "be the beginning of a beautiful friendship." (Sorry, I have a Casablanca fan spinning over my head and I couldn't resist.) Maybe "a beautiful friendship" is a little too strong. The new contract does set in motion several cooperative ventures that should result in a better academic climate for our students and the employees.

How did this all come about? The process is called Win/Win Negotiations and it involved many more people in the process than in previous negotiations. The participants (the Christina School Board, administrators, and the Christina Education Association) in Win/Win negotiations meet as a large group to air concerns and establish a dialogue or base upon which the rest of the negotiations can operate. The large group then divides into several subcommittees reconvene at various points to share their progress with the group as a whole. At the conclusion, the entire group meets to review and approve the ideas generated in subcommittee.

The entire process described above happens spontaneously and smoothly keeping everyone happy at all times. As some of my students would exclaim: Not! Present at the large group meetings and some of the subcommittee meetings was a facilitator who kept the discussion focused, smoothed ruffled feathers, and reminded participants that they shared a common goal: the education of the children in the Christina School District. In this capacity, Rob Germain, head facilitator, was excellent.

The process directed by Rob Germain produced a contract with many unique aspects. As with any contract, the "nuts and bolts" of salary and daily operating procedures were reviewed and established. In addition to these, the very process by which negotiations were conducted led to the establishment of several collaborative ventures which will (or should) continue to evolve and strengthen administrative/teacher relationships through-

Early morning at White Clay Creek Preserve is for the birds

By HEATHER HARTRIM

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

The Lion King illustrates the call of the wild, but White Clay Creek Preserve gives the community a birds eye view.

Among the summer programs sponsored by Delaware State Parks is birdwatching. Hosted by the White Clay Creek State Park Saturday's 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., birding calls for instant recall and a quick eye.

Bird families are distinguished by their calls. These calls are what birdwatcher Margie Pilman of New London, Pa., use to identify birds. "I like to sit in a chair and think of how many [bird's calls] I can identify," Pilman, a member of the Delmarva Ornithological Society and the West Chester Bird Club, said.

With a field guide in her pocket and binoculars around her neck, Pilman guided birdwatchers Sat June 25 on an eye-raising walk down Creek Road.

"Psshhh. Psshhh. Psshhh. Psshhh," Pilman repeated. This is the sound of scolding. It is also a way to get some curious birds to poke their head out of the dense green foliage. Birdwatchers quick with their binoculars can glimpse many varieties of birds this way.

The bird sightings at White Clay Creek Preserve vary by week. Pilman, a five-year birder, was able to identify, among other birds, a warbler's call Saturday. "When you see warblers, they're like little jewels," she said.

Another factor involved in bird watching is the time. Pilman, who goes birding at least twice a week before work, claims the best time for birding in the summer is 5 a.m. to 7 a.m.

While birdwatching at White Clay Creek Preserve does not start until 8 a.m. there are two more opportunities to participate this season. Dorothy Miller will lead the birdwatchers Sat July 2 and Charles Sample will lead Sat July 9.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Wants C-Span back on cable TV

Editor:

On June 1, TCI Cablevision arbitrarily partially repealed the "Sunshine Law" when they took C-Span II away from us. No longer can we see the Senate in action. Apparently they feel that the stock market reports are more important than an informed electorate.

Since they have a monopoly on cable in this area I guess they legally have the right to limit our knowledge of the Senate to sound bites on the news, but when I had access to C-Span II I found the sound bites did not accurately reflect what actually was said in many instances.

I wrote to TCI but have received no response.

I would encourage all Newark Post readers to write to TCI and object to their taking away our legal right to be informed as specified in the "Sunshine Law." The stock market reports are in the daily papers, while C-Span II was our only exposure to full activity in the senate.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Dora Hamby,
Newark

Contract gives basis for growth

out the life of the contract. One of these ventures concerns student discipline.

Discipline, as discussed (or disgust) in my last column, has been a problem in many schools. The primary problems have been enforcement of the Code of Conduct and the consistent application of penalties when a student violates the Code. The new contract establishes a committee comprised of teachers and administrators to oversee the methods administrators use to enforce the Code of Conduct and to correct problems before they create rifts in faculty and administrative relationships.

Since many other aspects of the contract involve working relationships that are collaborative in nature, the true measure of this contract's success cannot be established until the contract expires three years from now. However, the development of this contract through a process formerly untried in Delaware has created a basis for growth and cooperation in the Christina School District. For this, the negotiations participants should receive the thanks of the community and congratulations for the successful completion of a difficult task.

Celebrating a star-spangled Independence weekend

Fireworks, festivals planned throughout region

By TONJA CASTANEDA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Fireworks will light up Newark on July 3 in celebration of America's Independence Day.

A 25-minute, $6,000 fireworks show will be held at 9 p.m. at Faith City Church near Christiana Mall.

The event, called "Celebrate America: A Family Fireworks Celebration" will run from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

"We want to reach out to the community and provide for a real nice day for families," said the Rev. Steve Hare, Faith City's minister for 10 years.

This event is being held at Faith City for the second year. Last year about 14,000 people attended, according to Hare.

Activities include a magic show, BoBo the Clown, the purple dinosaur, carnival, pony, train and hot air balloon rides. Food such as chicken, hamburgers, popcorn, snow cones and cheesecake can be bought at the event.

Other events are at 1:30 p.m. when the World's Strongest Drug Free Man, Mike Hall, will demonstrate his strength. A music celebration concert will be held at 2 p.m., Brother, Brother Contemporary Christian Band Concert will perform at 4 p.m. and The Living Flag Show - A Patriotic Musical will be at 6:30 p.m.

Admission to the event is free, but there is a cost for rides, games and food.

For more information about the Faith City event, call 731-7270.

Also, to commemorate America's freedom, the City of Newark is sponsoring its annual Liberty Day Celebration in Carpenter State Park on July 4 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The event includes more than 50 crafters who will demonstrate and sell their creations and food vendors selling pizza, pretzels, cotton candy, hot dogs and hamburgers.

New this year to Liberty Day are strolling fiddlers, free pony rides, antique automobiles, "Fiddlin' & Foolin'" a children's comedy musical show and a children's bubble area.

There will also be game booths and giant legos for children to play with.

Musical entertainment will be provided by The Newark Community band at 11 a.m., Al Santoro & The HiLites at noon and the White Clay Tributary at 2:30 p.m.

A Soap Box Event will be held from 12:12 p.m. to 4 p.m. with participants speaking out on local and national issues. At noon, the Declaration of Independence will be read as it was to the people of Philadelphia on July 8, 1776. Also the U.S. Bill of Rights and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights will be read to the public.

Scheduled speakers include Newark City Councilman Tony Felicia, New Castle County Councilwoman Karen Venezky, Paul Lesniak, a candidate for Newark (District 10) state senate seat and political hopeful Tim Boulden.

Also, a member of the Coalition to Save Daugherty Hall will speak against the University of Delaware's proposed demolition of the back part of the building.

Parking will be available at the park for $1; free parking is available at Clayton Hall on Del. 896 with free shuttle buses arriving at 15 minute intervals throughout the day.

There will not be a fireworks display at the Liberty Day Celebration. For more information about Liberty Day, call 366-7060.

Other holiday activities in the area include the following:

■ A fireworks display will be held on the green in front of Legislative Hall in Dover on July 4 at 9:15 p.m. Other patriotic events on the green include the Dover Air Force Drill Team performing at 6:45 p.m., a C-5 Aircraft Flyover at 8 p.m. and a ceremony with Dover Air Force Base officials at 8:15 p.m. These events are free. For more information, call 734-7513.

■ An old-fashioned Fourth of July will be held on July 2 from 5 to 9 p.m. in Dover. Independence Day in the 1890s style will be recreated in the Delaware Agricultural Museum and Village's historic village. The event includes patriotic speeches, songs in front of the one room schoolhouse, jugglers, magicians, horseshoe and croquet games. Visitors are invited to bring a dinner and compete to win the most patriotic picnic. Cost is $5 for adults, $3 for senior citizens and $2 for ages 6-17. For more information, call 734-1618.

■ A musical fireworks show will be held at 9:30 p.m. on July 4 at Rockford Park in Wilmington. The festivities at the park will begin at 3 p.m. with a children's show, mimes, jugglers, clowns, pony rides and face painters. People can bring picnic baskets although food vendors will be at the park. City of Wilmington officials encourage residents to take advantage of the free parking and shuttle service at the Brandywine Gallery on 13th and King streets, the parking lots at 4th and Walnut streets and 8th and Orange streets and Corporate Plaza at 11th and Madison streets. For more information, call 571-4100.

■ Independence Day Fireworks will be at the Historic Houses of Odessa on July 4. This annual event begins at 6 p.m. and features picnicking, musical entertainment and hayride. Cost is $6 for adults, $5 for ages 12-17 and senior citizens. For more information, call 378-4069.

■ A "Salute to Veterans" Celebration and fireworks display will be held on July 3 in North East (Md.) Community Park. The event, being held in conjunction with local VFW and American Legion Posts, begins at 4 p.m. with musical concerts and a musical production of "Casey at the Bat." Food vendors will be at the park. Parking is available at the Cecil Community College with free shuttle service to the park. Admission to the park is free. For more information, call (410)996-5300.

■ Independence Day Celebration and a fireworks display will be held July 2 from 3 to 9 p.m. at Fairgrounds Park in Elsmere. The event, sponsored by the City of Elsmere, will feature pony rides, a magic show, food and the purple dinosaur. Admission and parking are free. For more information, call 998-2215.

■ Freedom Fest at Nottingham County (Pa.) Park on July 3 with regional bands performing in the evening and a fireworks display at 9:30 p.m. The event begins at 5 p.m., with gates opening one hour before. The Phillie Phanatic will make an appearance from 6 to 8 p.m., hayrides will be given and food vendors will be on site.

Summertime a great time to explore science

NEWARK OUTLOOK

FROM THE STAFF OF THE COOPERATIVE EXTENSION OFFICE AT UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

Why do leaves fall from trees? Where do earthquakes come from? Where does rain go? Where does the sun go at night? Do birds sleep?

Kids ask a lot of questions. Incredibly curious, they want to know how everything works. Today's kids are tomorrow's scientists, science teachers and science users.

They will rely on science and advanced technology to generate even more than we do—for jobs, communication, health, energy and environmental protection.

Children and science are natural partners. Scientists ask questions, then try to answer them. So do children. When your children ask questions about the world around them, trying to find the answers, they are beginning to do science.

Children's attitudes about science are formed at a young age. Often by the time children are 6 to 8 years old, they've developed the attitudes and interests that will lead them into science-oriented careers.

Science education starts in the home and supports science taught in the school. Summer is a great time to help your children explore nature and generate enthusiasm for knowledge. Doing science at home doesn't cost a lot of money or require special equipment. Sit with your child in the yard and watch a spider spin a web or a colony of ants as they go about their business of maintaining the colony. If you have a bird feeder, watching birds can be a fascinating experience as you see their different patterns of behavior.

Summer weather is also an interesting way to give kids a science experience. Observing the patterns of clouds forming before a thunderstorm is an absorbing activity. With the start of hurricane season June 1, the cable TV Weather Channel offers fascinating programming on how storms form and how they are tracked. Even something as simple as a walk in the park can provide insights on plants, trees and animals and how an ecosystem works.

Kids, especially those curious 6- to 8-year-olds, are curious about what interests their parents. They like the same sports teams we like and often have the same hobbies. You don't have to know much about science to set the stage for learning.

Let your children take the lead. Build on their interests. The confidence they gain will carry over into other areas. They'll also love to "teach" other kids when they learn something fun and interesting. Take time to "do" science. Be ready for those unexpected science moments that come along at the beach or on a rainy day. It's worth the extra five minutes it takes. Encourage kids to talk and ask questions. Science is about searching for answers. It's OK to say, "I don't know." The next time you go to the library you can check out a science book or search the reference area for answers together.

Don't forget about safety. Teach good science safety habits such as never taste something you aren't sure of. Use only non-toxic materials and make sure that all potential hazards are removed from the areas kids can reach.

The next time it rains, instead of running out to the video store, why not entertain your children with some simple science projects. 4-H has a neat packet of simple science "experiments" that you can do right at home with supplies you have in the kitchen—pennies, vinegar, milk, baking soda and gelatin. To get this packet, which includes the experiments "The Clean Penny Factory," "A Bottle and A Balloon," "Forming a Precipitate," and more, call the 4-H office at 831-8965. Or stop by 035 Townsend Hall, across from Chrysler, for your packet of science fun.

Over 14,000 people attended Faith City's Fourth of July celebration last year. The event, "Celebrate America: A Family Fireworks Celebration" will be held on July 3 at 11 a.m. and end with a fireworks finale at 9 p.m.

Parking costs $5 per car. For more information, call (610)344-6415.

Special rail trip to state fair, Sussex, offers unique excursion

Two important parts of the history and culture of our state are coming together on the 23rd of this month. It is the third time in as many years that these two events will come together, but it is the first time Newark will be directly involved.

The first has been a central focus for Delaware folk art and crafts as well as a showplace for the state's agri-business industry for decades. It is the Delaware State Fair. Held annually in Harrington, it is faithfully attended by residents of Kent and Sussex counties, and many people from our county as well.

The second was the force which unified our state (and peninsula) and did its best to overcome the separation of "The Canal." It has had many names and, just before it ended service, it was called the Pennsylvania Railroad. But, to us natives, it is still known by its nom d' amour, "The Delaware Road."

The organization bringing these two facets of our heritage together for the past two years, and this year involving Newark area residents in a special and direct way, is the Delaware Rail Administration (DRA), part of the Delaware Department of Transportation, DeDOT for short. Many other groups are working with the DRA including Amtrak, Conrail, the Delmarva Rail Passenger Association, "Operation Lifesaver" (a DRA safety program) and the Delaware State Fair.

On Saturday, July 23, you may have an experience denied for three decades, to train ride down the Delaware Road to attend the State Fair at Harrington. This is truly a mixture of two old Delaware customs back on the scene once again and we are all grateful to the DRA for this opportunity so close to home. Yes, close to home. The first year, 1992, you could board "Rails to the Fair" only in Wilmington. In 1993 you had to board the train in Claymont. This year there is a stop right at the old Pennsylvania Railroad Station here in Newark. It is located on South College Avenue, just north of the 896 bridge over the tracks.

As if that weren't enough, the Delaware Rail Administration is also planning an extra excursion for those who would rather see more of the old Delaware Road with a trip down secondary track to Frankford, Delaware, almost to the Maryland border. The folks who take that trip will still have some time at the State Fair, less of it to be sure. So if you like Delaware history, like to visit the State Fair or are a rail buff — or a combination of all three — this is the trip for you.

Chris Schulte, manager of operations for DRA, explained that with the direct route of the Delaware Road from Wilmington long since torn up, the train will have to reverse course

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

five times during the trip to get everywhere it has to go. For that reason, the train will have an Amtrak F-40 Diesel at the point and a cab control car at the rear so that as the train changes direction, no time will be lost. "Half of the seats in each of the modern Amfleet cars will be facing one way and half the other," said Schulte. "Everyone will ride forwards and backwards on this unique trip."

"Unique" was the perfect word. There is nothing else like it today. Conrail now owns the Delaware Road and when the Pennsylvania Railroad ceased operation, all rail passenger service left the peninsula. I remember riding behind the magnificent K-4s as the steamed their way from Wilmington to Cape Charles. They were the only steam trains around on the PRR because the New York to Washington main line was completely electrified. There were several secondary tracks which criss-crossed the peninsula bringing service to many small towns from the Delaware to the Chesapeake bays. On the 23rd of this month you will have a unique opportunity to experience the main line as far as Harrington and a secondary line to Frankford.

Your entire family can enjoy this one day rail excursion aboard an air conditioned Amtrak train. If you ride to Harrington you will have five hours to enjoy the Delaware State Fair. If you go on to Frankford, you will have two hours at the fair. You may board the train at Claymont, 10:40 a.m.; Wilmington, 10:53 a.m.; Newark, 11:13 a.m.; Middletown, 11:54 a.m. or in Dover at 12:37 p.m. You will arrive in Harrington at 1:32 p.m.

Since parking is a problem at the Newark Station, DRA has arranged for a shuttle bus from the DeDOT "Park and Ride" lot at Routes 896 and 4. The bus is free and will run from 10:30 to 11:00 a.m. It will also operate after the train arrives in Newark at 8:56 p.m.

The round trip fair from Newark to Harrington is $30 for adults, $18 for children. From Newark to Frankford the round trip fare is $50 for adults and $30 for children. You may purchase tickets at DeDOT Transportation Stores on the Market Street Mall — box office of the old Aldine Theater — or at Pennsylvania Station at Front and French Streets.

Delaware Rail Administration (DRA) Operation Support Officer Doug Andrews shows the distance to be traveled by the special "Rails to the Fair" train on July 23 from Newark through Harrington, terminating in Frankford, Delaware, to DRA Operations Manager Chris Schulte.

both in Wilmington. You may order by mail: Delaware Rail Administration, 100 South French Street, Wilmington, DE 19801. Credit card orders may be placed through 302-577-RAIL. No matter how you get your tickets, get them and get them soon. This train will quickly sell out. The first two were very popular and this one will make a lot more stops! There will be no food service on the train, but you are welcome to bring your lunch on board with you for the trip south. You can have a Delmarvalous chicken dinner at the State Fair, or anything else you might enjoy. Post editor Scott Lawrence introduced me to what I think the best dining spot, the Grange Pavilion.

Two great parts of Delaware heritage are coming together on the 23rd and I offer a Triple Tip of The Toman Topper to Maury Cannon, DRA Administrator; Chris Schulte, DRA Manager of Operations and Doug Andrews, DRA Operation Support Officer, for bringing these together for us. Thank you, gentlemen! Now it's up to us to enjoy!

It's that time of the year again. The annual Little League All-Star tournaments begin in earnest Saturday with play in the Junior (13-year-old) and Senior (14-15) League District II tournaments.

In Senior League action — Newark American won both the District II and state championships last summer — Canal opens play against Capitol-Stanton-Newport Saturday morning at 9:30 at Stanton Junior High. Newark American and Newark National both received byes and will play next Wednesday.

In Junior action Newark National will play Saturday at 12:30 p.m. also at Stanton Junior High against Capitol-Stanton-Newport. Both Canal and Newark American received the byes.

The Major Division (11-12 year-olds) gets underway Saturday, June 9 with Canal, Newark American and Newark National all playing games.

On the softball side, Canal's Major and Senior teams will try to defend state championships.

The Seniors, which went to the World Series last year, open against a tough Stanton-Newport team July 13 at 5:30 at Newark American.

The Canal Majors open against New Castle July 11 at 8 p.m. at Canal.

All-Star game brings out best and worst

The Blue 33-13 comeback victory in Saturday night's Delaware High School All-Star Football Game at Delaware Stadium had roots in the Gold locker room. The Gold's disintegration, which started with players griping at each other, turned embarrassing after the game when a player was led away from the locker room in handcuffs following a brawl with a teammate.

Following the game and post-game fireworks, as the players made their way out of the north end of Delaware Stadium to the locker rooms on the north side of Delaware Fieldhouse, Christiana's Marvell Watts and St. Mark's Frank Broomall got into a fight.

According to players who saw the fracas, Watts and Broomall started to fight after a verbal exchange. According to a police report, witnesses said Watts kicked Broomall in the head and face.

Joseph D'Angelo, a relative of Broomall's who was nearby, tried to break up the fight but was whacked in the face by Watts' swinging helmet. Both D'Angelo and Broomall were taken by ambulance to Christiana Hospital.

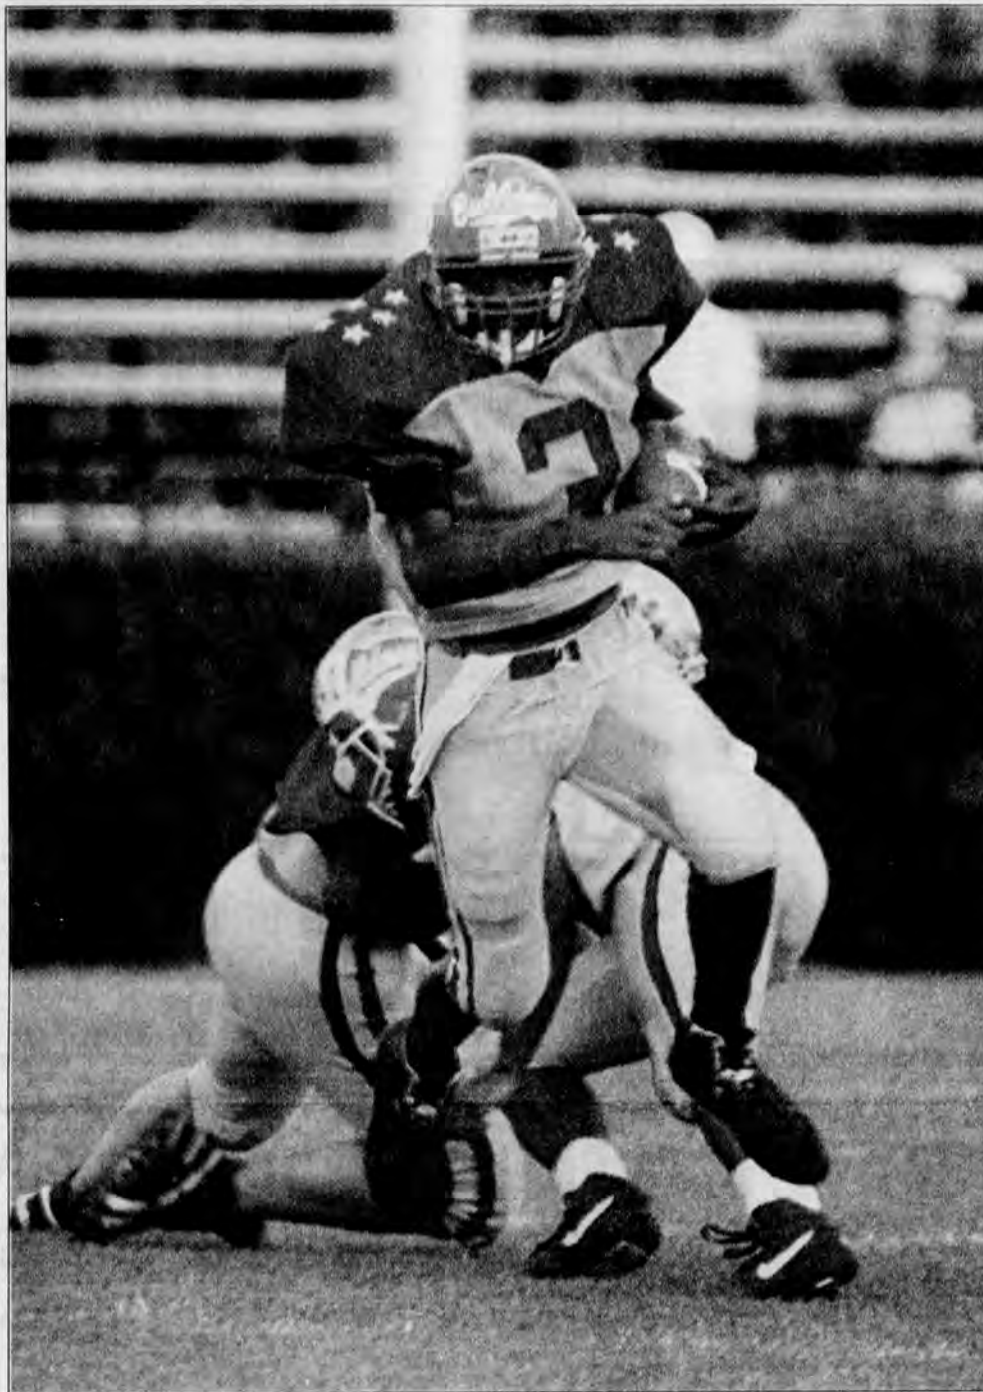

Watts was taken into custody by Delaware State Police, who were working the game, and taken, still in his game uniform, by University of Delaware Police to Justice of the Peace Court 11 where he was arraigned on two counts of third-degree assault and one count of disorderly conduct.

Watts was released on unsecured bond immediately following the arraignment.

Broomall was treated and released from the hospital Saturday night while D'Angelo was treated for head and face injuries and released Sunday.

That was the end of what was a

Local players certainly made an impact on the 39th annual Delaware High School All-Star Football Game.

Playing before a crowd of 12,242 Saturday night at Delaware Stadium, players from area schools scored the first three touchdowns, and four of the first five, in the game which saw the Blue All-Stars top the Gold 33-13. Trailing 13-0 early in the third quarter, the Blue scored 33 unanswered points — as the Gold team fell apart — to secure its 22nd victory in the series.

Caravel Academy players, playing for the Blue, helped the Gold's demise.

Mike Caldwell caught a 23-yard touchdown pass from Salesianum's Dan McGee — the game's Most Valuable Player — to cut the Blue lead to 13-6 with 5:37 left in the third quarter.

After the St. Elizabeth's Mike Sheehan, on the Gold's first offensive play following the touchdown, intercepted a pass and returned it 50 yards for a touchdown to cut the lead to 13-12 with 5:12 remaining in the third quarter, another Caravel player gave the Blue its first lead.

Linebacker Brian Burke jumped on a Gold fumble in the end zone to put the Blue ahead 20-13 with 1:24 still to play in the third quarter.

"I was just in the right place at the right time," Burke said of his touchdown's. "Adam Pietlock was in on the play and I thought we had him for a safety; then the ball popped out and I jumped on it."

"It was a great feeling to come back and win the game. We never gave up. We had a great team and we felt we had the players to do it."

Two more big play touchdowns from William Penn's DeVaughn Wilson and Salesianum's Adam Pietlock sealed the Blue victory.

Eyman, Ruark led Post 31 beat rival Newark, 12-5

By JOHN HOLOWKA
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

NEWARK — Brad Eyman and Dave Ruark make a good pair. One corners the hits and the other hits the corners.

Eyman knocked in four runs, including a two-run triple, and unbeaten Ruark notched his fourth win of the season to help Post #31 beat neighborhood rival Newark 12-5 Monday in an American Legion game at the University of Delaware.

"(Catcher) D.J. Lawler just gives me the location and I fire it in there," said Ruark, a Christiana High senior. "We mainly work on the outside corners and most batters can't catch up to it. You know the guys, you know their weaknesses. You should be able to pitch to them; but you can't get them (out) every time."

Ruark was tapped for 10 hits in seven innings and struck out three. After allowing two runs in the first and third innings, he retired the side until the seventh, when Newark scored with one out on Mark Lutes' RBI-single.

"He was little rusty in the beginning but we stayed with him because we know we have a pretty good hitting team," said Post

#31 Manager Joe McCullough, after watching his team go 13-3 on the season. "He's the kind of player who likes to have the lead so we concentrate on keeping him in the game. We're trying to hit the balls in the zone and that's what we're trying to teach (the players)."

Post #31 responded with a 13-hit attack highlighted by four-run second and fifth innings and a three-run seventh. Will Vanjonek went 4-for-4 with two runs scored and an RBI and Lawler hit 2-of-4 with 2 RBIs, including a solo homer. Joe Briggs had two hits, including a double, and knocked in a run.

Newark led 2-1 after the first inning courtesy of RBI-singles by Dave Reichard and Lutes, but Post #31 rallied for four runs in the second following Lawler's homer, a passed ball and Eyman's two-run double to take a 5-2 lead.

"Our hitting has been great this season. I've gotten over 10 runs in three of my wins and that makes it easy when you're scoring that many runs a game," said Ruark, who has never been on a winning Legion team. "We're pitching good and our defense has been doing really well. The whole aspect

Incidents shouldn't mar Blue-Gold

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

LAST SATURDAY NIGHT's ugly incident following the Blue-Gold All-Star Football Game was something that, hopefully, will not overshadow the true meaning of the event.

The fight, for which Christiana High graduate Marvell Watts was eventually arrested on assault and disorderly conduct charges, couldn't be any more on the opposite end of the spectrum of what the Blue-Gold game is all about.

This game, for years, has symbolized the best in what high school graduates have to offer. And, for 99 percent of the participants, it did again this year.

Too many volunteers work way too hard to have some idiotic circumstances ruin this wonderful game.

This year, we all hope, was just an aberration.

Unfortunately, Watts' post-game brawl with St. Mark's Frank Broomall wasn't the only unfortunate happening of the evening. Cape Henlopen's Keavney Watson, upset over a lack of playing time, unbelievably left the Gold team at halftime. The Watts-Broomall altercation actually started on the sideline during the game. The players had to be separated from each other.

There was also warnings from the officials that Watts, upset about what he thought was dirty play on the part of some of the Blue players, might get thrown out of the game for his actions on the field.

"We've pleaded with him, we've begged with him," said one Gold assistant coach in response to the official. "If he's going to act like that; throw him out of the game!"

Constant bickering, hollering and finger-pointing between other Gold teammates was also evident during much of the second half.

Gold Coach John Parker, after the game, was visibly upset with all the turmoil that surrounded his team.

Just 10 days before on Blue-Gold media day, Watts talked of what an honor it was to play in the game. In fact, Watts over the past few years, has been one of the best high school athletes for the media to deal with. He was always congenial, thoughtful and very inciteful with his remarks.

That's what makes this incident

Six local skaters compete in festival in St. Louis

By JOHN HOLOWKA
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

NEWARK — Six local skaters from the University of Delaware Figure Skating Club will be competing this weekend at the United States Olympic Festival in St. Louis, a 10-day sports event that features 32 summer and winter Olympic sports.

The skating finals are scheduled to be televised Sunday, July 3, on CBS Sports and could offer a glimpse of Jayna Cronin and Newark native Jonathan Nichols, who are rated first in the Ice Dance competition.

"We talked to a couple other people who have gone and we're looking forward to the opening ceremonies," said Nichols, 17, who will be attending the University of Delaware this fall. "It should be interesting; something different."

Cronin and Nichols finished second last year at a similar event in Colorado Springs, which earned them a trip to the World Junior Championships last December in Budapest where they finished 17th. This year, under a new format, only the first-place team will go.

Still, a trip back to Hungary is indeed a possibility since the pair is skating together for the sixth season and is favored in St. Louis.

"If we win this competition, we'd go to the world junior championships again," said Cronin, 15, a native of Timonium, Md., who will be a sophomore at Newark High in September. "We've beaten most of the teams (in St. Louis), but there are a couple we haven't seen coming from a lower level."

The ice dancing competition has three phases; compulsories, original dance and free dance, with the greatest percentage of scoring emphasized on the free dance routine.

"We're just going to St. Louis and planning on skating our best," said Christie Moxley, 13, who, with dance partner Tom Gaasbeck, 14, placed sixth earlier this year in Novice Dance at the 1994 Nationals in Detroit. "I'd say our greatest strength is staying calm and probably the free dance."

Moxley was born in Delaware and is in the eighth grade at Gaugher Middle School while Gaasbeck, who grew up in Brick, New Jersey, is a freshman at Newark. The pair won the 1992 Juvenile Nationals in St. Clair Shores, Michigan.

They did what was expected on the softball field

By DAVE TELEP

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

They did exactly what you would expect of a team that is currently chasing after a title. Second place Taylor's Ink met up with a Deer Park squad who at the time was just a few games off the pace of the leaders. That would be all the motivation the Inkmen would need. Game one between the two teams was characteristic of a late season pennant chase. Taylor's drew first blood as they posted three runs in the bottom of the first inning. They got a leadoff home run from John Reed and one out later, Dave Michalowski connected on a solo shot of his own. Deer Park countered with three runs in each of the next three innings. Mike Lynch highlighted the fourth inning with a three-run homer for Deer Park and at the end of the fourth it was tied 9-9. Unfortunately, that would be all the runs pitcher Al Gunner would allow Deer Park the rest of the way. In the fifth, Ernie Hopkins reached on an error and one batter later, Billy Swede drove him home to make it 10-9. Taylor's would tack on an insurance run in the sixth and pulled out a hard fought 11-9 victory. Gunner (3-3, 3 runs scored) was stellar at the plate as he paced the Inkmen's 15 hit attack. Reed finished up with three hits, two runs scored and drove home three as well. Third basemen Paul Perna turned in a stellar defensive game for Taylor's as he adeptly handled the hot corner. Gary Lynch, Mike Lynch and Brian Marini (2 doubles) each came up with some clutch hits to keep Deer Park in the game. Game two was a different story. The Inkmen prevailed 9-3 as Deer Park never really was able to find a groove.

this year is that we're a team. The coach knows where to put everybody." Newark tacked on two runs in the third on Scott Walter's two-run shot to left field to close within 5-4, but Post answered in the fifth with consecutive RBI-singles by Sean McCullough, Lawler, Vanjoneck and Briggs to lead 9-4. "We still have a way to go," McCullough said. "One thing is that we have a real good group of kids and we try to play as many as we can. We just don't go with the starting nine, we play 13, 14 kids. But it's really coming along; we're happy." Post #31 added three runs in the seventh off Eymann's triple and Tim Abshagen's base hit and Newark scored once in the final inning for the closing score. Newark starter Jeff Parent went four innings and gave up five runs and eight hits before being replaced by Scott Hunt, who was shelled for seven runs.

competition," said Gaasbeck. "But from what I'm hearing we don't get to do much other than eat, sleep and practice early and late. But we're going to have fun being on our own. We're going in with no pressure." Chisha Gossard and Tara Lapinski will be competing in the Ladies individual event. "I'm going to enjoy just going to the Olympic Festival, watching the opening ceremonies and just being there and skating," said Lapinski, 12, a Texas native who started her ice skating career by rollerskating. "I rollerskated from age three to nine and started ice skating around age six. We tried both for a couple of years and I stuck with the ice." Lapinski, who studies at home with a tutor, placed second in Novice Ladies in the 1994 Nationals and won the 1991 Primary Ladies National Rollerskating championship. Gossard, 16, is also originally from Texas but now lives in Delaware and will be a senior at Glasgow this fall. She finished fourth in Junior Ladies at the 1994 Nationals.

tough night for the Gold team – on the field and off. "It all started at halftime," said Newark's Jody Russell, a Gold player. "One of our players [Coven Watson of Cape Henlopen] left the team. Then everybody started yelling at each other and it just got worse." Coaches confirmed that Watson left the squad because of a lack of playing time. During the second half, things indeed worsened as Watts, Broomall and Milford's Joe Coverdale had to be separated from each other on the sidelines. Watts and Coverdale, according to witnesses, settled their differences soon after. However, Watts was overheard yelling to coaches that there would be more after the game. Several players also stated that Watts and Broomall had had tense exchanges on several occasions during the two-week camp leading up to the game.

Russell come sup with big play

► FOOTBALL, from 1B

In a first-half which saw the defenses dominate, Newark High's Jody Russell finally came up with a big offensive play. Russell caught a pass from Seaford quarterback Wyatt Lowe and – with the help of a crushing block from teammate Antoine Haman of Glasgow – rammed 43 yards for a touchdown to give the Gold a 7-0 lead with 3:48 to play in the first half. "It was great," Russell said of scoring the game's first touchdown. "The whole first half was a lot of fun. You get to play in front of a big crowd and it really pumps you up." Early in the third quarter Lowe connected with Glasgow's Corey Curtis on a fade pattern for a 19-yard touchdown pass to improve the Gold's lead to 13-0. "It was real good," said Curtis of Blue-Gold experience. "The whole scenery – playing in front of the big crowd and everything – was great. Win or lose, it was a great experience." The game disintegrated, however, from that point on for the Gold. Despite the second-half onslaught, Glasgow linebacker Rodney Burnett enjoyed the experience. "I loved it," Burnett said of playing in front of the big crowd. "It's something I'll cherish for the rest of my life." "I felt – being named the Defensive Player of the year in the season – that I had something to prove in this game. I don't think a lot of the Blue players thought I deserved it. I really wanted to have a good game." Other area players participating in the game included for the Gold: Christiana's Marvel Watts and Pat Bufano; St. Mark's Frank Broomall and John Corozzi and Newark's Chris Ralston. Also playing for the Blue was Caravel quarterback Brian Greene.

Hopefully, history won't repeat

more difficult to understand. There was some indications from players that Watts and Broomall – who I remember being lauded by St. Mark's coaches for his tremendous attitude – had a heated relationship all throughout the two-week camp leading up to the game. Was there something that could've been done to prevent this mess? It's very doubtful. In an all-star setting coaches have a very limited time to get to know the players. Everybody comes from different coaches and different philosophies. Coaches do their best to try and get all the players playing time. It's tough, however, to please everybody. At some point, the players have to be responsible for their own actions. This has always worked in the past. The Blue-Gold game is too big and too good to be marred by reprehensible actions of just a few. Let's hope that these unfortunate circumstances don't repeat themselves. We look forward to seeing next year's event, knowing that it still will be one of the best things Delaware sports has to offer.

Hours: Mon.-Sat. 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

How To Save Money On Your Family's Clothing

- Buy color-coordinated clothing which can be mixed and matched.
- Buy all-season styles, fabrics and colors when possible.
- Buy clothes of a design that will stay in style
- Look for quality fabric and good construction in clothing.
- Choose clothes with simple trim that is of good quality and requires the same care as the rest of garment.
- Before buying a garment, check fabric labels and care instructions. Is it wash-and-wear? Can it be dried in the dryer? Avoid clothing that requires special care such as dry cleaning.
- Read and follow care instructions to make clothes last longer.
- Dress up or modify an outfit you already own. Accessories can add a new look to last year's wardrobe for a minimal cost.
- Store clothes properly to protect from sun, moths, mildew and stretching.
