NEWARK POST, NEWARK, DEL., APRIL 5, 1922.

NUMBER 10

April 12th and 13th Fixed As Dates

Dollar and Booster Days Set
Ahead—Merchants Advertise Big Bargains

ARE YOU READY?
FOR WHAT?

Why the biggest days that have ever come down the pike and stopped off at Newark. Dollar and Booster Days, April 12th and 13th. Never has so much interest been shown in a town celebration as is being shown in these two days arranged by the members of the mercantile section of the Newark Chamber of Commerce.

These Dollar Day events are being held in all parts of the country and proving big successes but Newark has never had one before. The merchants are out with all their heart to make a go of these first days and every store in the town has arranged special bargains and buys for these two days. Not only will the merchants have a big time on these days but a gala time is to be had by all and on the evening of April 12th one of the biggest parades that has ever been here will be "pulled off". There will be several gauds in line, the fraternal organizations have been invited to march, the merchants will have their trucks and wagons in line gaily decorated and many individual cars will be in line of march. Prizes will be offered for the best decorated and most original float and there will be several other prizes.

The mercantile division which is in charge of these days has left no stone unturned to make a success of the events. Every neighboring town has been visited and bills have been posted along all roads leading to and from Newark advertising these days as the "Biggest Ever".

There is always some calamity "pulled" in the town and there is a hope of these right on the job about Dollar and Booster Days claiming that the merchants will try and unload a lot of old stock that has been unsaleable. The committee in charge assures the buying public that such will not be the case and that every merchant has worked up and placed away for sales the biggest buying values in years. It must be remembered that the merchants of Newark want to look after their future trade and that they could not afford to "pull the wool over the peoples' eyes" for these two days and hope to get away with it.

Large parties of persons from Elkton, Elkins, Kimblesville, Strickersville, Glasgow, Cooch's, Christiana, and other nearby towns are arranging to come to Newark for these days and see what the merchants are offering. It is the people from these towns and the local merchants must interest. In the past the majority of them have been going to Wilmington to do their shopping and not stopping off to see the stocks offered in the local stores. These Dollar and Booster Days have one of their main purposes this year, to get these people interested in the stock of the local merchants and show them that many stores here can supply wants without going to the city.

The original dates of April 12th and 13th were changed due to the fact that Good Friday falls on the last date.

HARD TIMES

A sign of hard times is the great number of "travellers" who appeal to Officer Tyrens for night lodgings in the lockup.

NEW JOBS

A great number of the girls who were laid off at the American Vulcanized Fibre Co., have been employed by the Victory Sparkler Co., of Newark.

OPENING GAME

Delaware opens its home season at Bowdoin at Frazer Field, on Saturday.

PLANS EXPECTED

Plans for the new firehouse of the Aetna Hose Hook and Ladder Co., are expected in a short time.

STUDENT LEADERS

The following pupils will act as student leaders in the Health classes of High School for this week: Vinsinger, Emma Robinson, Frazer, Lillie Towson, Mary and Eleanor Brooks.

LAYING OFF

Several Workmen at American Vulcanized Dropped

Several local persons have been laid off at the plant of the American Vulcanized Fibre Co., since the Marshalls of Yorklyn have taken it over and if rumors that are having their rounds are true many more will probably feel the effect of the consolidation.

The laying off of the employees at the plant came as quite a surprise as it is claimed that work was booming rather than decreasing just a few weeks ago. But the people in the paper mill will probably all be without jobs in a short time as it is claimed that this branch of the local plant will be closed entirely and the work carried on at Yorklyn. But whether this rumor is true is hard to tell as several persons at the Yorklyn plant have been laid off in the past few days.

One of the biggest surprises was the laying off of G. Irving Durnall, superintendent of the Newark plant. Mr. Durnall has held this position for about 20 years but he and several foremen have been laid off.

Many New Buildings Being Erected Here

Frat House and Fire House to be Biggest Jobs—
Many Houses and Bungalows

With the weather opening up and the time for building is the hand, Newark is seeing a big boom in this game and at the present time the outlook is that this Spring and Summer will see more new buildings go up here than in many years. Already operations have started at several points and within a short time several more buildings will be gotten underway.

The lack of houses here has been felt for a long time and it is doubtful if the number now planned will be sufficient to meet the demand. There are several persons at the present time commuting from Wilmington who would live here could they locate homes.

Ground was broken last week for the new fraternity house of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, of the University of Delaware. This building is to cost about $40,000 and will be one of the finest buildings along Main street. The new frat house is to be on the campus, just east of Purnell Hall. This is the first house of this nature to be built on the college campus.

Another big building operation that will be started before many weeks will be that of the new fire house for the Aetna Hose Hook and Ladder Co. This building is to be erected in the rear of the Academy and is to cost about $20,000.

The architect is now drawing plans for this building and according to the building committee the local firehouse will be second to none on the Peninsula.

One of the features connected with the building of this place will be the fact that the annual Firemen's Carnival will be held at the time the building is opened.

Charles P. Wollaston is now working on the erection of several new houses and bungalows. It is understood that Mr. Wollaston has either sold or rented the majority of the buildings which he is erecting.

The Chapman property on Depot Road is understood to have been sold recently.

H. Warner McNeal is building several houses on Cleveland avenue and it is understood that several other persons are contemplating building here this Spring and Summer.

Democrats Meet

White Clay hundred Democrats will hold a meeting in Odd Fellows Hall, Newark, tomorrow night, to elect six delegates to the county convention to be held in Wilmington, Saturday afternoon. Two will likely be named from each election district. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock.

CANNERY MEETING

Another meeting for those interested in the reopening of the Ritter plant will be held in the firehouse tomorrow night.

K. G. E. Assembles In Newark

Grand Castle of Eagles Well Attended—Meet at Christiana
Next Year

One of the interesting points at the Grand Castle of the State Knights of the Golden Eagles, held in Newark on Monday, was the statistical report made by Walter G. Hurlock, of Wilmington. Mr. Hurlock has been Grand Master of Records of the order for more than 25 years.

Mr. Hurlock's report showed the total membership of the 16 castles of the State to be 1760. During the past year the report showed that the order has lost 56 members but in the same period the castles have shown a substantial financial gain which was gratifying to the many members present at the Grand Castle.

It was one of the biggest lodge conventions that Newark has ever housed there being about 125 representatives present. These men represented lodges from all parts of the State and several representatives from other States were also present. The Castle was held in the Odd Fellows' Hall and Main street in this vicinity was lined with automobiles all day. The local order of the Eagles deserves great credit for the manner in which the out-of-town visitors were taken care of and they were highly complimented by these present.

At the afternoon session officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: Grand Chief, K. Vernon Lynam, of Christiana Castle; Grand Vice-Chief, Harry A. Godman, of Roxana Castle; Grand Master of Records, Walter G. Hurlock, of Wilmington; Grand Keeper of Exchequer, Robert Barnett, Crusade Castle; Grand High Priest, Charles Law, of Pencader Castle; Grand Sir Herald, J. B. Bernal, Ivanhoe Castle; First Guardsman, A. M. Simon; Second Guardsman, W. V. Heavell; Trustee, P. Metts; and representative to Supreme Castle, John S. Benson, J. K. Benson and H. Stiltz.

It was decided to hold the next Grand Castle at Christiana on the first Monday in April, 1923. The K. G. E. Memorial services will be held on the third Sunday in May of this year.

There were many good addresses and some excellent reports made by various officers of the organization.

Grand Master of Records Hurlock reported a gain during the year of $4,169.02. Receipts for the year total $1,421.01 and disbursements $1,317.48.

The financial statement of the subordinate castles shows a total in receipts of $13,312.67; total expenditures, $9,143.66, and amount on hand and invested, $69,165.74. The amount paid for relief the past year was $9,143.66.

A recommendation was made by the Grand Keeper of Exchequer, A. T. Hamilton, that a suitable memorial page be placed in the Journal of proceedings as a tribute to deceased past.

Electric Light Rates Advanced

1 1/2 Cent Increase—Signs
Overhanging Street Ordered
Removed by Council

As was predicted in these columns sometime ago the electric light rate for Newark was raised at Monday night's session of Town Council. Some time ago when the local Councilmen went to Wilmington to enter into a contract with the Wilmington and Philadelphia Traction Co., for the supplying of current here the Wilmington firm stated that the price would have to be raised this year.

It was evident then that the local rate would have to be advanced to keep in step with the raise made by the supplying company.

On a motion of Councilman Morrison last Monday night the local rate for lighting purposes was raised 1 1/2 cents beginning May 1st, and the minimum was set at 10 hours instead of 12 as has been the previous minimum.

Alderman McKelvey made the report that he had collected in fines and costs $16 for the month of March, the majority of these fines were imposed for violation of motor vehicle laws.

An ordinance forbidding the dumping or pouring of salt water from ice cream freezers or wagons into the streets of Newark was given its first and second readings.

This ordinance was presented by Councilman Colmery. Lately a great number of complaints have been received of incidents of this nature.

Mayor Frazer announced at the meeting that Roland Herdman had been appointed by him as a member of the local Board of Health.

Mr. Herdman's appointment is to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Watson some time ago. Mayor Frazer stated that he had not made the appointment earlier due to the fact that he and the Board of Health had been careful in making their selection.

The appointment of Mr. Herdman does not make him secretary of the Board, the post held by Dr. Watson, as the members of the body will have to meet and elect their secretary. Mr. Herdman is connected with the local office of the State Board of Health.

Mayor Frazer announced that he had received complaints that signs in front of certain buildings of the Town were constructed in violation of the laws of the Town. He cited several instances where merchants had been made to remove signs and where other merchant's requests to erect signs were denied.

On the motion of Councilman Wilson the secretary was instructed to communicate with the Newark Ice Cream and Confectionary Co., Home Drug Co. Inc., and the Western Union and tell these concerns that they must remove the signs which are now hanging in front of their places of business.

TOWN ELECTION

No Contests For Three Council Seats April 11th

As yet no names have been filed for Council other than those of Councilman Widdoes and Morrison and Howard Patchel.

The first two named are already members of the Town Council but will be re-elected without opposition unless some one steps up and files his or her name. Mr. Patchel, of Cleveland avenue, is the candidate for the central district and thus far has no opposition for the office.

The election will be held on April 11th and the polls will be opened from 1 o'clock to 5 o'clock.

Globe Trotter Visits Newark

Fritz Hauptmann Walking Around World Spends Monday Night Here

Newark had an interesting visitor on Monday night when Fritz Hauptmann, a globe trotter spent the night here. Fritz is an Austrian but during the world war he sailed on an American ship and said to a reporter of the POST that he was American clear through and that he could prove that by the names he had signed in several books in which he keeps account of his trips.

In these books were the signatures of President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding, Senator Ball, Ex-president Woodrow Wilson and many other distinguished persons of Washington. The trotter said that he had spent eight days in Washington collecting autographs of distinguished men. He said that he had more trouble getting the signature of Woodrow Wilson than any of the others he had obtained and that he had to make four visits to his home to obtain the signature. Hauptmann said that he had seen John Rockefeller in Florida but that the Oil King had refused to give his signature when requested.

The walker started from San Francisco, Cal., on September 21, 1921, and expects to walk around the world. He has already visited Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, District of Columbia, Maryland, and Delaware.

From Newark the walker started for Philadelphia and from there will make his way to New York City, from this point he is going to take a boat for Spain, from Spain he is going to Africa, Egypt, Jerusalem, Arabia, India, China, Japan and then sail back to California.

Before leaving Newark, Hauptmann had Mayor Frazer place his signature in his books.

RITTER PLANT

Interesting Meeting to Discuss Reopening Held Last Night

Farmers of this locality are much enthused over prospects of the co-operative plan of the United Canneries Company which recently purchased the local plant of the P. J. Ritter Company and which will be operated this season to can corn and tomatoes and probably other products.

At a meeting held in Town Council chambers last night and attended by about thirty farmers and business men of Newark and vicinity Morton Harvey of Wilmington, vice-president of the United Canneries and others interested explained the co-operative plan. Under this plan the farmers themselves who will be stockholders will practically operate the plant which has been done so successfully with the Kennett Square plant owned by the same company.

CONTINENTAL BUSY

Several new men were employed by the Continental Fibre Co., this week. This plant is now very busy and many of Newark's unemployed have found work there.

REPAIRS

Quite a lot of road repair work will be started in this section in a short time. Material for this work is now being placed along the roads.

NEW QUARTERS

"Bob" Smith who trains a large string of running horses just outside of Newark, on Depot Road, is now quartered at the Bowie track.

Disasterous Fire at Christiana

Several Lives Endangered by
by Early Morning Blaze—
Thieves Probably Responsible

A fire that for a time threatened to destroy the entire village of Christiana caused a loss of about $7,000 before the firemen of Newark, New Castle and Christiana finally extinguished the blaze.

The fire was in the home and store of Louis Thorpe at the Four Corners and was discovered by Mr. Thorpe at about 1:50 o'clock yesterday morning. If the blaze had not been discovered at that time probably Mr. Thorpe, his wife and children together with two old ladies living in one end of the house would have been burned to death.

Christiana has a fire company, but no apparatus, as soon as the alarm was spread the company members did all they could to save the building by forming a bucket brigade but their efforts were not very well rewarded and an alarm was sent to the New Castle and local firemen who responded to find the building in a mass of flames. The two fire companies had to use their hose together to reach the water, which was pumped from the Christiana river.

Mr. Thorpe was strangled by the smoke and upon getting from his bed found his bedroom filled with smoke. He stepped from his bed and the floor was so hot that he could hardly stand on it. Mrs. Thorpe was aroused and through strenuous efforts their children were reached and led to safety.

Two old ladies about 70 years of age occupied one end of the building and they were next saved. These ladies were led from the house but seemed unable to grasp the fact that the building was afire for they made efforts to reenter the seething mass of flames.

Neighbors took care of those made homeless by the blaze.

The building was a frame structure two and a half stories high and Mr. Thorpe occupied the majority of the ground floor as a general store. It is thought that robbers started the blaze as goods from the store were found along the road for some distance as though someone in attempting to escape had dropped it. It is thought that thieves entered the store and used matches to see their way about and in the search dropped a lighted match which ignited material in the store.

This fire brought out the fact more forcibly than ever that Christiana should have a fire apparatus.

AUDIT REPORT

On another page of this issue there appears in part, the report of the accountants who audited the accounts of the town this year. It will be interesting to note that electric and water accounts show a profitable balance.

CALLED HOME

Harold Dayton, connected with the W. E. Brown drug store was called to his home in Salisbury, Md., last night by the serious sickness of his father.

NEAR COMPLETION

One of the finest schools in this section is the new colored school now nearing completion on New London Road.

The State Board of Pharmacy is in session here today to examine applicants.

Locals Win

Ivy Castle quito team, the K. G. E. representatives in the local fraternal quito league, had as their visitors last Saturday night the Rock Castle team, of near Wilmington, and the local pitchers took three out of five games.

On Honor Roll

There were fifty-nine pupils on the Elkton Grammar School honor roll last month.

Trees

Incident to Arbor Day and Spring Planting, let us again read Joyce Kilmer's poem on Trees—and stop a moment in the rush of the day and plant a Tree.

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.

A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;

A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;

A tree that may in Summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;

Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain.

Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

Kilmer

Law Enforcement

Drives, campaigns, days and weeks set apart by official proclamation have become so frequent that much of the force of appeal has been lost. They have become of such common occurrence that they pass as only a news item of the day except to those directly interested or active. Every organization, having for its object some civic welfare, deems it necessary to have a day or week set apart or designated by some official authority. The time is used for a special effort in education, publicity and creation of interest and enthusiasm. The motives back of all these are worthy and before the practice became so common they were very effective.

The latest is a week set aside called Law Enforcement week. The object is certainly worthy of the attention and interest of every citizen. But it is an acknowledgement of a serious state of affairs. A week of education to create and renew an interest in Law Enforcement—think of it! Pause just a moment, reader, and think of the reflection on our men and institutions. But it is necessary. We need a week and more. The growing disregard for law, order and authority is appalling. Nor is this disregard alone among what is known as common working people. It is most serious among those in high places and professional standing. The danger to our institutions is not from the rank and file of citizens but from the present day leaders. Men and women, too, high in social and official position, laugh at the suggestion of strict observance of law as set down in statute.

Unpopular indeed would be the officer who enforced strictly many of our laws today, yet America needs such a type more than anything else. If those of high standing in office or institution continue this thoughtless scoff at Law, we can only expect that those who follow them will do likewise. And then Liberty under Law has failed.

Shame on us that a Law Enforcement Week has been even considered essential, and let us see definitely to it that it be not necessary again. Law Enforcement not for a week but for all the years to come.

Congratulations

The Mercantile Committee of the Chamber of Commerce is certainly deserving of unusual praise for the time and energy they are giving to the Booster and Dollar Day Campaign. They are going right after business and are out for putting Newark on the map as a trading center. They are determined to present the advantages of the town to the whole countryside and a Big Day is promised to all visitors. Other members of the Chamber of Commerce, organizations and citizens should lend a hand and help boost. It should mark the beginning of a new day and better business. Every one can help—so let's to it, business men, professionals—everybody.

Newark is the Place

In a news story in the Delaware Ledger last week the following line appears, —Newark's business may go elsewhere if the Wilmington bus ruling proposed becomes effective.

We recognize that this sentiment prevails in some quarters but this is the first time that it has been so openly admitted. Why should trade go to Wilmington or elsewhere? The slogan of the Post has been

"If you can't get it in Newark, buy it from Wilmington."

But in most instances, it can be gotten in Newark and more so today than ever in the history of the town. Our merchants are better able to supply the needs of the community than ever before. Too many citizens, caught by the lure of bargains and selections, go out of town to do their shopping. This is even true of meats and groceries, as well as the general merchandise. There is much produce shipped to consumers here in large consignments without even attempting to get local quotations.

The Chamber of Commerce can do a very effective work in an educational way that will aid our local merchants. For instance, why go away from Newark for groceries, hardware, seed, autos, men's furnishings or much of dry goods. Try Newark first. Give them a chance. Tell them your needs and see if you can't spend the money at home. Too long has this phase of civic interest been neglected.

Newark for Newark first, is the community slogan of the hour.

Parent-Teacher Movement

A wonderful growth is that accredited to the Parent-Teacher movement, which from a membership in Delaware of seventy-five, has increased to 6000, and the six local associations have expanded into 225 during the last fifteen months. The gospel of Parent-Teacher associations has been spread with astonishing results and it all shows what persistence in a good cause will bring about.

The eleventh annual state convention of the organization will be held on Saturday at Harrington and a large attendance is expected. The growth of the organizations has accompanied the awakened interest in educational matter in Delaware. The state not so long ago embarked upon a course for improvement that is not surpassed in any other community. Naturally such a step forward attracted parents who are much concerned in seeing that their children have a fair education.

It should be remembered that donations from an individual for the schools of Delaware aggregate $3,500,000, the like of which has never been witnessed in any other state.

There are fathers and mothers and teachers in these organizations. They will influence education and legislation relating thereto in Delaware and the convention will be a great impetus to the movement.

Yet, why should not this fine body flourish? Every parent should be anxious to be a member of it. If any individual or a group of individuals can devote much time and money to education as has been done in Delaware the least the parents of school children can do is to be members of a Parent-Teacher Association. Much good is accomplished by it.

Until recently most parents have shown a lamentable lack of interest in the workings of the schools their children attend. They seemed to turn everything over to the teacher and really know little or nothing about what the child was studying, what course was taken and all that.

The Parent-Teacher organization has a wide field of usefulness and happily it is diligently cultivating that field.—Morning News.

Makes Work Worth While

After a hard day's work, rushed in the strain of modern business, such a letter as printed below gives a glow that increases determination and makes life worth living.

From a stranger in Boston comes this—Craftsmen at Kells.

Dear Sirs:

I cannot send my cheque in payment for the English Bible without a word of appreciation of the beautiful work it is. It is a daily delight and beauty in a family of young growing minds and old ones, also growing, I hope. We are all grateful for the help and joy and interest that you have added to our daily rounds.

Yours most sincerely and with every wish for continued success in your fine work.

Unsigned Communications

Several communications have been received this week without signature of the author. These, we cannot print. We must have the name of the author for our protection in case of dispute. Our People's Column should be used more than it is. Nothing is so healthy in a community as a civic discussion but it is impossible for us to use articles unsigned. If requested however, we do not print the name of the author.

"BETTER SCHOOLS FOR NEWARK"

A GET-TOGETHER DEPARTMENT CONDUCTED BY THE NEWARK PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

How long is it since you spent a half day in the school room? The Program Committee of the Parent-Teacher Association believes that you will be sure to find a visit an interesting experience unless you happen to be one of those few pitiable souls that have outlived their interest in children. This coming Thursday is "Open School Day." Mr. Owens and his staff of teachers extend a cordial invitation to everyone interested to visit the grades during the afternoon. The children know you are being invited; they are expecting you; don't disappoint them. The Newark Parent-Teacher Association has reported during the week one hundred and thirty-eight paid up members. How many visitors shall we have during Thursday afternoon in the grades of the school? Everyone—whether parent, P. T. A. member, or not—is invited. A detailed description of the various classes, with the teachers in charge, is printed in another column of this paper.

In the evening, at the High School, beginning promptly at 7.30, Miss Agnes Snyder in charge of demonstration work in the Teacher Training Department of the Women's College, will teach a sixth grade class in history. The subject will be "The Development of Trade Routes between Europe and Asia before the Discovery of America." The lesson represents part of the sixth grade history work which aims to give to the children the necessary background for an understanding of American history. This lesson will be the last step in leading up to the period of discovery in American history.

The demonstration will be followed by a talk by Dr. Florence Bamberger, of Johns Hopkins University, who will attempt to explain the principles underlying the course of study in the Modern School. Dr. Bamberger will discuss the subject from the viewpoint, first, of the so-called "new subjects" and second, of the modern method of treating "old subjects". She will illustrate her talk with the things that are being done in the Newark schools. A interesting project which is being planned by the children of the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades to increase the attractiveness of the school grounds, will also be explained at the meeting.

Among suggestions from other states in regard to P. T. A. work, is the following excellent paragraph from Michigan—a view-point which is enthusiastically endorsed by the Delaware Association:

"Never interfere in matters of school administration or policy, either as an individual or an association. Always consult school authorities before adding to the school equipment. Our field is broad, our mission well-defined, an organization wholly within the law and of indescribable benefit to the public schools;—our duty is to socialize the schools, to raise the spiritual atmosphere and to supply the school children with those things which school boards cannot afford. We have no connection with the administrative policy of the schools. We have a definite place, a definite work, and we can accomplish much if we hew closely to the line."

Herbert Spencer said, "No cultured gentleman ever dares play too well at the billiard table." Same applies to bridge, for to play too often and too well, leads to the title of con shark instead of gentleman.

Newark is just what the citizens want it to be. It represents the general average of citizenship in action. Just why a family will take a keen interest in the lawn and neglect their side yard and church grounds is beyond us.

The Chamber of Commerce just is—that's all. Even the Can't Be Done's are joining in making good members.

The Mercantile Committee expect to spring some grand surprises on Booster and Dollar Days.

National Chairman Hull says the Democratic Party is divided. But that's nothing new. Smoot says so, too. And Merriam and Gray. So does Tunnell and Doc Hammond. In fact about everybody except Henry leaves says so.

Say what you please, Mayor Harvey tends to business. He is nand at everything, whether it's Community Service, Mayor or Clean-up Wilmington. And he has some good ideas and speaks out in meeting. During the campaign, some there were who laughed at his campaign speeches on Venice and other ancient cities. He is now dealing up their back yards.

Then correct us, Sir. And what is cable except good people without advantage of having a College degree.

The Squib Scribbler has been asked to request the Railroad to get in on the Clean-up Campaign. Water is cheap in Newark and you can buy lots of water for a Dollar on the 13th and there are some good cleaners around town. Readers remember that copy of this be forwarded to proper authorities.

There has been lots of discussion recently on what is the difference between a journalist and a reporter. Definitions differ. A Journalist is a reporter of a job, is a good one. And on this—a Journalist is a fellow who copies what a real reporter has gone out and rounded up and then fails to give credit.

Farm Bureau Opposes Tariff

Proposed Tax on Potash Hit at Recent Meeting—Fertilizer Pool Closed

The following resolution was passed at the monthly meeting of the Executive Committee of the New Castle County Farm Bureau held at Wilmington last Saturday: "Resolved that the proposed tariff of $50.00 per ton be forwarded to A. B. Peete, its use prohibitive at the present prices of farm crops." A communication was also forwarded to A. B. Peete Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, asking what steps were being taken to enforce the milk testers' law enacted in the last session of the State Legislature which requires all persons testing milk or cream at receiving stations of creameries to pass an examination given at the University of Delaware. Pursuant to a satisfactory examination the State Board of Agriculture issues applicants a tester's license.

The state fertilizer pool has been closed and prices announced according to J. D. Reynolds of Middletown, chairman of the committee. He stated that the pool aggregated 1,000 tons of fertilizer and that the prices obtained saved the farmers of the State a neat sum. Mr. Reynolds emphasized that the pool this spring was only a beginning and that its purpose mainly was to demonstrate in a small way the quality of goods and the prices that could be secured by buying on this plan. The Farm Bureau in cooperation with the Eastern States Farmer's Exchange now has an organization thru which it can handle a large volume of business and starting with the fall fertilizer pool it intends to do a state-wide business in handling fertilizer, binder twine, dairy feed and grass seed.

C. P. Dickey, of Stanton, reported that the order of 300 bushels of certified seed potatoes had been received and were entirely satisfactory.

Marked progress with the boys' and girls' club work has been made in the Townsend, Christiana and Sharpley communities, according to Miss Agnes Medill, County Club Agent. The play given by the Sharpley Girls' Sewing Club last week entitled "The Sharpley Club Spirit," attracted an audience of 150 people. Mrs. William Hanby, local leader, is largely responsible for the success of the event, according to Miss Medill.

Director C. A. McCue, of the University of Delaware, was present and commended the members of the Executive Committee upon the splendid work that they were doing in furthering the cause of better agriculture.

County Agent R. O. Bausman, of Newark, discussed several lines of work that were under way and would be continued during the summer. The certified seed potato demonstration using five varieties of northern seed were arranged for, he said. The soy bean pool which was placed with Sussex County growers aggregated over 200 bushels. Efforts were being made in the southern part of the County to eliminate garlicky milk and improve the quality in general. A meeting held last week at Middletown to discuss better milk was attended by 145 farmers, Mr. Bausman said.

The pork production committee of which W. W. Buckingham, of Newark, is chairman, has a plan under advisement to hold a pure bred sow sale probably at the State Fair grounds.

Milk Ordinance Before Council

Bill Regulating Sale of Milk and Products Has First and Second Reading

At the meeting of the Town Council on Monday night the milk ordinance which has been under consideration for many weeks was given first and second reading.

In the recent outbreak of typhoid fever here it was decided that it was necessary to pass an ordinance safeguarding the local milk supply. The local Board of Health was the first to draw up an ordinance. This ordinance was to the effect that milk should be pasteurized milk should be in Newark.

There were several largely attended meetings held on this subject for a time it looked as though town might install a pasteurizing plant which could be used as a charging station for all local milkmen. This idea was investigated but there was so much opposition to it that it was decided that such an act would meet with public approval.

The town Council then decided to draw up an ordinance regulating sale of milk and milk products in town limits. It was this ordinance that received its first and second readings at Monday night's session.

Although there may be some changes in the ordinance as read Monday night it is thought that it will be but minor ones. The ordinance as read provides for the sale of certified, Grade A (Raw) and Pasteurized milk. In all probability it will be necessary to appoint a milk inspector with the passing of the ordinance all milk sold must measure up to standard calling for not less than 1-4 per cent butter fat and not less than 12 per cent milk solids.

Everyone selling milk, if the ordinance is passed, will be required to obtain a permit from the Town Council, this permit to be issued at a time to be decided upon.

If any milk dealer is found violating the law he will lose his permit and also be fined.

Local Declamation Contest A Success

Miss Major and Miss Lovett Will Represent Newark in County Contest

Miss Mildred Major and Miss Emma Lovett, will represent Newark in the New Castle County Declamation Contest to be held in a short time at Middletown. This honor has been bestowed upon the young ladies as the result of the local declamation contest held in the New Century Club last Thursday night.

Rev. H. Everett Hallman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Prof. Foster, of the University of Delaware and Prof. Dorothy Caley, of the Women's College, acted as judges and selected the above as winners of the contest.

Local merchants contributed prizes to the contestants for their efforts and Miss Major won the first prize, a fountain pen awarded by W. E. Brown. Miss Lovett won the ten free tickets to the Opera House and Miss Hannah Lindell won an Eversharp Pencil awarded by the Home Drug Co. All the winners were members of the Senior class.

The work of the contestants was very good considering the fact that they had a great many unforeseen difficulties to overcome. According to some of the judges the audience was the noisiest he had ever seen at a public declamation contest.

Miss Houston, of the High School, and charge of the program. The following took part: Justin Steel, "For Love of A Man"; George Chalmer, "The Champion Quarterback"; Sarah Pierson, "Rebecca's Ride"; Mildred Major, "The Other Wise Man"; Hannah Lindell, "Christmas Eve on Lonesome"; Emma Lovett, "Perfect Tribute".

Previous to the contest a platter supper was served in the basement of the club. The proceeds will go toward the athletic equipment of the local schools.

NEGRO HANGS TO REAR STEP OF EXPRESS TRAIN

John Scott of Newark Had Perilous Ride to Wilmington This Morning

John Scott, Negro youth of about 17, living at Newark thought serious about taking a trip to Wilmington Monday morning to have his eyes treated. He arrived at the Pennsylvania railroad station at Newark just as the train was leaving.

Determined to make the trip, Scott gave chase and after running for nearly half a mile succeeded in catching hold of the step bars on the rear coach. In the meantime, however, the brakeman had lowered the platform covering the steps and closed the door. Maintaining his perilous position, Scott was not detected until the train reached Newport. A train crew noticing the figure of the colored man dangling from the step bars, signalled to the engineer. The train was stopped.

With his eyes badly swollen as a result of flying cinders, Scott told his story of having missed the train. When he arrived in Wilmington he was sure it was necessary to have his eyes treated.

Newark Ball Club Ready

Orders for Suits to be Left This Week—Many Persons Contributing

The Newark F. C. which is to place a first-class ball team on the field this year as a member of the New Castle County League held a well attended meeting in the Armory on Monday night.

When the suggestion was first made that Newark should again have a first-class team, after being without one for several seasons, it was feared that there would be a lack of financial support. This fear has been vanquished as a result of the work of the committees in the past two weeks and already over $170 has been turned in to the treasury and there are still several more reports to be obtained.

Several business men of the town have contributed generously towards the team's support and several more have promised to help the team before the season opens.

The club gave a very successful dance in the Armory last Saturday night and quite a tidy sum was realized from this event.

The committee appointed to purchase suits reported at this week's meeting that the order for suits would be placed this week. There are several bidders to supply the local suits but the committee wishes to investigate them all before making a definite step.

Harry McDonald and J. Henry Fulton were appointed as a committee to call on Vic Willis to see if he would manage the team and also to get in touch with "Bill" Morrissey to see if he would not help the team with his baseball knowledge.

It was announced last week that a minstrel show would be held in the Opera House, on April 7th, this date has been changed inasmuch as Tom Daley the poet is here on this date and the baseball club did not wish to conflict with any dates of other organizations.

Although it has not been definitely decided it is thought that the home games will be played on Frazer Field, the only suitable grounds in town for games such as the local team will be called on to play.

The team will practice on the High School diamond Saturday afternoon and every ball player of the town is requested to turn out for this practice. The season opens in a couple of weeks and the team wants to make a good showing in its first games.

Those who have contributed to the fund are: employees of the Continental and American Vulcanized Fibre Companies about $100; Continental Fibre Co., $50; Ira Kilmon $5; C. B. Dean, $5; and "Doc" Rhodes, $5.

It was also recommended that owing to the increase of the per capita tax of the Supreme Castle and the condition of the finance of the Grand Castle, that the per capita tax be increased.

ELECTRIC LIGHT RATES ADVANCED

(Continued from Page One.) Complaints have also been made to Mayor Frazer of the falling of clay from hauling carts on Elkton Road. The mayor said that he had made a personal investigation of this condition and found that a great deal of clay was falling from the carts of a Philadelphia concern doing hauling over this road. The secretary was ordered to write this concern ordering them to remedy this condition.

On the motion of Councilman Wilson the Mayor was given the power to sell the steam roller owned by the town if the proper price could be obtained for it.

St. Thomas' Start Lenten Mission

Rev. Jones Conducting Special Series of Sermons--Masses to Attend Sunday

Dr. Edgar Jones, rector of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, started a special mission Sunday with three services each day but Saturdays, which will continue until Easter. He has had great success in this line of work and only recently returned from Halifax, N. S., where he conducted a mission for two weeks that attracted thousands of residents of that city and resulted in several young men giving a pledge to enter the ministry and several young women to take up mission work.

At the 11 o'clock service Sunday Dr. Jones talked on "The Conditions of a successful Mission," and Sunday night on "Where Art Thou?" He took his evening text from a part of the fifth verse of the twelfth chapter of Jeremiah, "And if in the land of peace, wherein thou trustedst, they wearied thee, then how wilt thou do in the swelling of Jordan?" He told how animals along the river Jordan when the river would swell in the spring would go into caves to escape the waters.

Dr. Jones spoke of some of the caves that the people of today are in and as to how they would get out. He referred to the cave of dissipation and the great waste of life that is going on with men and women and in this connection said the ties of mortality do not seem to be as strong as they were many years ago. He also discussed the cave of infidelity and the cave of self-complacency. Previous to the sermon last night Dr. Jones gave a short talk on the Bible. The services each day during the mission will be at 6.45 o'clock in the morning which will be a prayer service and communion; 10 o'clock an informal service which will include talks on personal religion. The mission service at 8 o'clock each evening will also be informal. There will be instruction on church matters before the sermon.

Dr. Jones has specified organizations the members of which he urges to attend the 6.45 o'clock morning service. Monday morning the members of the Daughters of the King attended. Tuesday morning it was the Sunday school officers and members; Wednesday morning, the Women's auxiliary; Thursday morning the vestry, and Friday morning members of the Girl's Friendly who are communicants. The rector's subject at the service this evening will be "An Old-fashioned Home."

Mrs. D. Lee Rose, Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. Mary Cristadoro, Mrs. William D. Dean and Mrs. Ernest Sanborn have been appointed by Dr. Jones as a committee to receive flowers as a memorial for the Easter services.

Members of Hiram Lodge, A. F. and A. M., will attend service at St. Thomas' Church in a body next Sunday (Palm Sunday) morning at 11 o'clock.

All meetings for the next two weeks organizations connected with the church have been abandoned with the exception of the mission class taught by Mrs. Frederick Bringham, of Wilmington, Friday afternoons.

K. OF P. VISITATION

The Grand Chancellor of Delaware, George A. Souder and his staff will pay an official visit to Osceola Lodge, No. 5, K. of P., Newark, Delaware, on Friday evening, April 7th, 1922. Spring Time— Cleaning Time

A Clean-Up Week Here Would Brighten Up Many Places--University Has Cleaned Up

Clean lots of rubbish.

Look for fire hazards.

Ensure the children's health.

Attics and cellars should be cleaned.
Now is the time to paint.

Use metal ash cans.

Plant gardens.

These are some of the things that can be done to make a town come up to the mark of cleanliness and attractiveness but they cannot be accomplished with only a few persons working along this line. It takes the combined efforts of the town authorities and civic organizations to make a success of a Clean-Up Week and this is the best time of the year for such an affair. This matter has been urged for the past few weeks but as yet there has been no definite action taken.

Many people of Newark are as individuals carrying on work along this line but if everyone would get back of the movement the results would be much better.

There are vacant lots, town lots and back yards that are eye sores to the town and if a Clean-Up Week was held these places could be and should be the first to be worked on.

Wilmington is at the present time having a Clean-Up Week and several towns down-State have had similar weeks or are planning them for the near future. The authorities at the colleges have just cleaned up the grounds and it seems that it would be a good stunt for the rest of the town to fall in line and keep up with the times.

DELAWARE POULTRY LEADER

Ranks Third in Number of Fowl Kept Per Square Mile

In number of fowls kept upon each square mile of land surface Iowa ranks first, Ohio second, Delaware third. New Jersey is eighth in rank, Pennsylvania ninth and the Empire State is fourteenth.

Generally speaking, the rich agricultural States in the territory defined are strong in poultry as a whole. But the commercial poultry plants, the exclusive poultry farms, are more or less concentrated in certain favorable areas. Ohio and Indiana have their quotas, but New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware apparently lead the country in the number and extent of such establishments. And this, of course, indicates that general conditions are favorable in this territory.

AGRICULTURE-HOME ECONOMICS COOPERATE

During the past week the agricultural and home economics classes of the vocational departments of the Smyrna high school co-operated in a butchering project. A hog was secured which offered practical work in all the various operations connected with the working up of pork into its various commercial and consumption products.

The killing, scalding, cleaning, and quartering was done by the agricultural class, while the making of the sausage, lard and scrapple was done by the home economics girls with the agricultural boys assisting.

The final products were sold to the people of the town, who, without exception, highly commended the boys and girls for the quality of the products.

The department of Domestic Science and Agriculture have co-operated one hundred per cent. during the past year and the co-operation of the town people with these departments is also very well marked. Both departments have won the genuine support of the community because the work which has been done was of a very practical type and in thorough compliance with the purposes and aims of Vocational Education.

BRET HARTE WON FAME BY CHANCE

Fished "Heathen Chinese" Out of Waste Basket to Fill Hole in Periodical

In his autobiography, now being published in Harper's Magazine, Mark Twain wrote as follows in the year 1906 of his fellow author, Bret Harte:

Harte told me once, when he was spending a business fortnight in my house in Hartford, that his fame was an accident—an accident that he much regretted for a while. He said he had written "The Heathen Chinese" for amusement; then had thrown it into the waste basket; that presently there was a call for copy to finish out the Overland Monthly and let it go to press. He had nothing else, so he fished the "Chinese" out of the basket and sent that. As we all remember, it created an explosion of delight whose reverberations reached the last confines of Christendom; and Harte's name, from being obscure to invisibility in the one week, was as notorious and as visible, in the next, as if it had been painted on the sky in letters of astronomical magnitude. He regarded this fame as a disaster, because he was already at work on such things as "The Luck of Roaring Camp" and "Tennessee's Partner."

In the San Francisco days Bret Harte was by no means ashamed when he was praised as being a successful imitator of Dickens in America, a remark which indicates a fact—to wit, that there were a great many people in America, at that time, who were ambitiously and undisguisedly imitating Dickens. His long novel, "Gabriel Conroy," is as much like Dickens as if Dickens had written it himself.

It is a pity that we cannot escape from life when we are young. When Bret Harte started East in his new-born glory, thirty-six years ago, with the eyes of the world upon him, he had lived all of his life that was worth living. He was entering upon a career of poverty, debt, bitterness and a world-wide fame which must have been odious to him. There was a happy Bret Harte, a contented Bret Harte, an ambitious Bret Harte, a hopeful Bret Harte, a bright, cheerful, easy-laughing Bret Harte, a Bret Harte to whom it was a bubbling and effervescent joy to be alive.

That Bret Harte died in San Francisco. It was the corpse of that Bret Harte that swept in splendor across the continent; that refused to go to the Chicago banquet given in his honor because there had been a breach of etiquette—a carriage had not been sent for it; that resumed its eastward journey, leaving behind the grand scheme of the Lakeside Monthly in sorrowful collapse; that undertook to give all the product of its brain for one year to an Eastern magazine for ten thousand dollars—a stupendous sum in those days—but collected and spent the money before the year was out, and then began a dismal and harassing death-in-life which was to cease only at the grave.

SOME OF THE POOR USES MADE OF GARDEN TOOLS

If an amateur wants a real lesson in cultivation let this amateur go into the nearest "old lady's garden" and there get a practical demonstration, a small stick, a hairpin or a paring knife makes, any one of the three, a tool of such excellence that the expectant but well-read garden amateur gasps in amazement.

By all means buy garden tools; you will need them, cannot get along without them, but don't try to use a six-inch hoe blade to cut the weeds and grass from around seedlings; it can't be done.

For the reason that I smoke I carry matches; and my very best tool in the seed bed is a match stick.

Don't get the idea that garden tools have no place in the seed bed; they do a big place; the spade to turn over the soil, a fork to break it up when it is turned over the second time and a rake to fine it, level and cover the seed, if sown broadcast. Intelligently used, the hoe is the greatest of all farm and garden tools—corn, tobacco, cotton, potatoes, etc., could scarcely be raised into profitable crops without a hoe.

If it is remembered that a hoe is only to take off the crowns of weeds and grasses and not the roots; then the hoe is intelligently used. When the bloom stalk is destroyed just at the surface of the ground the weed cannot seed; its life ends, in the ordinary weed we find in gardens and on farms (except the roots stooling grasses, etc.) Any cultivation so deeply applied as to remove roots cuts off the multitudinous feeding roots of vegetables and flowers.

A rake can be employed to break up baked or caked soil and thus conserve moisture. The "dust mulch" is made with a rake because the rake does not, properly used, reach the feed rootlets.

Breaking up hard, dry, crusty soil is better accomplished after a shower. Deep tillage is best guarantee that plant life will go downward with its roots for food and water—top tillage means a high root growth and, therefore, suffering in times of very dry weather.

Use the longest spade you can buy, as your full weight will push it; pulverize with a fork and rake; remove with a hoe weeds and grass at the surface of the ground, but use a match stick, hairpin, metal or wooden ment skewer for cultivating the seedlings, and if your seed bed is friable, your bare fingers will do wonders about half-grown plants.

A DIFFERENT TARIFF

A member of Congress took a taxi one rainy day at the Capitol to proceed to his home in the suburbs.

When he arrived and asked the chauffeur the charge the latter replied that it was $4.

"But," protested the Congressman, "you are charging me for four miles."

"Yes, sir."

"Well, I understand that the distance is only two miles and a half."

"It is as a general thing, sir," assented the driver, "but you see we skidded a lot."—Harper's Magazine.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Dorothea Wolbert, the famous eccentric comedy star, plays one of her delightful spinster roles to give an added touch of humor to Hoot Gibson's smashing dramatic photodrama, "Action." The story is to be the principal attraction at the Opera House tomorrow. It was filmed at Universal City under the direction of Jack Ford from J. Allan Dunn's story "The Mascotte of the Three Stars."

Tom Moore, who plays the star role in "Beating the Game," his latest Goldwyn picture, which comes to the Opera House on Friday, has long been acknowledged as one of the leading actors upon the screen. He was born in Ireland, but educated in America. His most recent Goldwyn pictures were "Made in Heaven," "Stop Thief,"

"Hold Your Horses" and "Officer 666." Lovers of a wholesome society drama telling the story of a "merry mix-up of sweethearts and wives," will enjoy "Whatever She Wants," the new Fox picture starring Eileen Percy, announced as the attraction at the Opera House, on Saturday.

Thirty-five persons, including staff and extras, spent five weeks in and around San Francisco, and aboard two sailing ships and a yacht, securing the sea scenes for "Moran of the Lady Letty," which comes to the Newark Opera House next Monday and Tuesday. This is George Melford's latest production for Paramount and Dorothy Dalton plays the featured lead, supported by Rudolph Valentino.

Sessue Hayakawa, noted Japanese-American film star, will appear in his latest R-C Pictures vehicle "Where Lights Are Low" at the Opera House next Wednesday. The story has to do with the adventures of a young Chinese prince who loves the daughter of a humble gardener and has a multitude of troubles winning her. The thread of action leads from far away China, where the story begins, to America. Having been written by Lloyd Osborne, step-son of Robert Louis Stevenson, the story as to plot is well nigh perfect.

HIS DISTINCTION

"Looky here, Gawge," said Henry Higglebotham to his friend, Diggelthorp, "what do you always call your wife 'the old woman' for? It don't sort of seem real respectful-like."

"Oh, shucks, now Henney! I don't mean no disrespect to Ma'y Jane when I call her 'old woman.' I mean it right down complimentary to her. I jus' call her 'old woman' to sort of boast she ain't one of these here new women."—Judge.

Will Celebrate 50th Arbor Day

Free Planting Will Take Place in Many Parts of the Country

The fiftieth anniversary of the first Arbor Day is April 22. The month brings also the ninetieth anniversary of the birth of the father of Arbor Day; the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the famous Arnold American Forestry Association at Cincinnati.

J. Sterling Morton inaugurated the first Arbor Day in "treeless Nebraska" in 1872. At first the date was April 22. Mr. Morton's birthday.

Schools throughout the country are making plans to celebrate the date and there will be tree planting both this Spring and, where conditions are more suitable, in Fall. In Washington the American Forestry Association will plant a tree in memory of Morton and in New York City on April 27, the centennial of Grant's birth, it will also plant a tree on Riverside Drive near Grant's tomb. The tree is being sent to New York from Grant's Farm near St. Louis by August Busch, present owner of the property.

The John Burroughs Clubs will inaugurate the Washington tree planting with the placing of the Lincoln Memorial. The trees will be red oaks placed in the shape of a half wheel for Burroughs, Whitman, Emerson, Thoreau, Muir, Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, who as a boy knew Burroughs, will plant the tree for the naturalist, whose birthday is Monday.

Since J. Sterling Morton gave a start to Arbor Day, the idea has spread through the world. His son, Joy Morton of Chicago, has just given a tract of land near that city for an arboretum. Along the Tacoma-Seattle High Line Highway one thousand American elms have been dedicated to Washington's World War soldier dead with impressive ceremony at a country school-house fronting on the road a short distance from Seattle. The elms four years old and from eight to twelve feet in height, planted by the Seattle Garden Club at intervals of eighty feet on both sides of the highway, extend for eight miles from the city's southern limits. The Pennsylvania State College is arranging to plant in trees a giant letter "S" on the shoulder of Nittany Mountain which will be observable from the campus.

KEEP CHICKS BUSY AND CONTENTED

Coops should be Properly Made and Well Taken Care Of

Strive to keep chicks busy and contented. Plenty of fine litter on the floor will hide the fine chick grains scattered in it and make the youngsters hustle to find every last kernel. A piece of sod with grass roots running through the moist earth will keep a flock active for hours. A raw onion cut up into rings will cause the brood to play tag until every piece has disappeared. Loafing chicks are quite likely to contract such bad habits as toe-picking; inactive youngsters will not build well-muscled bodies. Keep them busy!

Plan to permit, even induce, the chicks to go out on the ground as soon as this is possible. Contact with Mother Earth seems to have a wonderfully beneficial effect upon health and growth. Growing chicks, confined in a warm house with floor of cement or boards, develop leg weakness, or at least the feet and shanks dry and shrivel. Get their feet in the mud and such conditions will soon be corrected.

If the weather is favorable, the chicks may well be let out of doors when they are four or five days old. At first a small yard is necessary to prevent straying, but soon they may be given a large yard or permitted to range at will. Fortunate is the poultryman who can give his growing flocks unrestricted range. That usually means less trouble and decidedly better birds.

Make the doors through which the youngsters pass in and out of the building large in size. Not unduly high, of course, but very wide. Flocks of chicks are frequently stampeded. A sudden shower, an alarm caused by the appearance of a hawk, or crow, even a blast of an auto horn, will send them scurrying for cover. If the whole crowd tries to jam its way through a narrow opening, some are bound to be injured.

SHE HAD HIM

Hearing a faint rustle in the dark hallway below, the elder sister, supposing the young man had gone, leaned over the balustrade and called out: "Well, Bessie, have you landed him?"

There was a deep, sepulchral silence for some moments. It was broken by the hesitating, constrained voice of the young man: "She has!"—Argonaut.

Dr. Henry Noble McCracken
Talks at Faculty Club

Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar College, and Mrs. MacCracken were the guests of Dr. Walter Hulihan, president of the University of Delaware, and Mrs. Hulihan over Saturday night. That evening Dr. MacCracken gave an interesting talk before some members of the faculty in the Lounge Room of Old College on a recent trip that he took abroad. He said that in some of the countries he visited the highly artistic development of the people even among the peasantry was especially noticeable although considerably behind us in modern education. He said that he noticed in a number of countries a tendency to take up at least partly our system of education. Dr. MacCracken is a member of a noted family of educators. His father was vice-chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh and afterwards chancellor of New York University and a brother is president of Lafayette College while he is president of Vassar College.

EDITORIAL

We approve of Clean-Up Week not merely because it is sanitary and makes for sightliness, but because it is moral and religious, if you please, and in every way educational. It was an almighty and penetrating truth when we were told that cleanliness was akin to Godliness.

Emerson said that the child learned more or as much by the roadside, or in the street, or in the shop window on its way to and from school, as it learned in the school itself.

Who can estimate the cleaning of dirty alleys and vacant lots and sometimes the streets themselves? And if this be true of the child, it is also true of the adult.

A Clean-Up Week is fine, but as an amendment to this we would propose fifty-one "keep-clean weeks."

We believe that if we would be keenly proud about keeping our lots and alleys clean that we would find fertile soil in our minds and there would be clean government. All we have to complain about would disappear, because clean-doing is the legitimate child of clean-thinking.

But let it be a fifty-two weeks and a three hundred and sixty-five days' movement. Let every citizen who votes and every potential citizen who hopes to vote, join this grand army of cleanliness for cleanliness, for education and then, of course, for health and profits, if you please.

II Made Radio Apparatus in 1876

inventor of Telephone Tells of Experiments with Pokers Forty-Six Years Ago

Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, made successful wireless experiments forty-six years ago, he did not follow up this work because his interest lay in development of the telephone.

He told of these experiments while discussing the strides made in radio telephoning, in Philadelphia last week. Mr. Bell's first wireless experiment was impelled by curiosity, he said. He used a crude apparatus, two pokers in the ground and connected by an ordinary telephone receiver. "Messages" he received was the ticking of a clock in the Cambridge Observatory, a half-mile away. "Imagine my amazement when I saw the ticking distinctly in the receiver," said Mr. Bell. "I thought perhaps it was some trick of nature. I was told this by the fact that it missed every now and then."

A year later I went to England and was visiting on the Isle of Wight. I was there the cable across the land between England and France was broken at the time Queen Victoria was conversing with some- one in France.

Heard of this and going to the end of the broken cable. Over the connection—which was made in the manner as the clock connection in Cambridge—the messages were received and the Queen was deeply a few minutes. There were no messages between the two cable ends. Mr. Bell said the next year he conducted experiments along the Thames in England and was able to send messages across the stream without the aid of wires. His next experiments were made in 1879 on his return to the country.

Two boats placed about a half apart in the Potomac, Washington, he said, "and from the dropped pokers into the water. Pokers were dropped from each and these were attached to instruments. Through this method we were able to communicate sounds the aid of wires."

Mr. Bell said his interests in the telephone and telegraph field then became somewhat and the wireless experimenters took up the work.

But his pocket apparatus, he said, he believed was akin to the present wireless telephone.

He said similar experiment were conducted by Professor Gott at a French telegraph station on the Island of St. Pierre. This island is crossed by cables. By placing pokers in the ground and connecting them in the manner Mr. Bell suggested, Professor Gott was able to "listen in" on the cable messages without connection in any way with the cable.

While he had not studied to any extent the latest developments in radio work, Mr. Bell said, he saw in the wireless phone one of the great boons of civilization in the future. He was especially enthusiastic over the work of amateurs and the progress they made. He urged the Government do nothing to interfere with experiments.

HISTORY MADE EASY

The family was seated at dinner and the conversation turned to school lessons, much to the consternation and disgust of little Cynthia.

"What period in English history are you doing?" asked her father. "The Stuarts," said Cynthia curtly.

There was a long pause as father thought out a question to put to his daughter. He was a little hazy about facts, but at last he propounded his poser.

"What was the first thing James I did when he came to the throne?" asked father solemnly.

"Sat on it, I suppose," replied Cynthia with calm conviction.—Answers, London.

Rebels Against Fiction Of Today

Maine Editor Believes Novels Do Not Represent Real American Life

What has happened to our books? Current literature is causing many people to wonder whether the times demand the type of novel that is being produced, or whether the writers are creating a demand. Surely there must be within the next few years novels of strong character, novels that will stand the test of time, novels that will not only be best sellers, but that will also show heroes and heroines of great strength of purpose, and in which will be involved principles rather than pleasures. One who reads the novels of today is struck by the lack of reason for their existence. To be sure we have had the usual best sellers, but we have had for the most part books of love and mystery containing neither real love nor real mystery. Many of the so-called mystery books are written with the evident purpose of appealing to the motion picture industry; a series of intense dramatic situations do not by any means make a novel.

The same is true of the novels in which love is the motive, for a few thrilling situations in a drawing room or several flirtatious wives or equally flirtatious husbands do not by any means give material enough for a book that is really worth one's time even though one values his time lightly.

To be sure, we live in a fluctuating world, and literature moves in waves as does everything else. We seem at the present time to be on the crest of a wave of froth, and can only hope that the time will speedily come when we shall again have novels that we can discuss around the family table without shame.

The few fine, clean and wholesome books that have been written in the past few years have proven their right to exist by the ready sale with which they have met. Why then, should writers find it necessary to give us only a cross section of life, rather than a story that tells us of life itself. We must of course, make allowance for the "after the war" period, but have we not about reached the end of endurance when it comes to this excuse for careless, slipshod writing, or the careless and slipshod in art or music? Most people are ready to believe that the reconstruction period has been responsible for much, and are willing to make due allowances. Is it not time however, that we took a more constructive view of life, a more constructive view of conditions and began to send out hopeful thoughts through our books, our music and our art?

Books reach the home in a way that nothing else does. Books are discussed around the fireside, at the dinner table, at the club function and elsewhere, but it is in the home that books have their greatest influence. Is it not therefore necessary that writers should deal with life as it is, not characters, or the "goody-goody" type; there are dramatic situations enough in any life to make material for a novel; but it does not seem necessary to believe that all of the dramatic happenings or all the material for novels is to be found in the underworld or that other world so close to the edge of the underworld, that group of people who have no responsibilities, who live entirely for the moment, who seek nothing but pleasure and who have no idea of contributing anything to life, but live only in the senses—live only to get, never to give.

This great Country still offers plenty of material for the novelist.

There are romances of all kinds to be found in the stories in our hamlets and in our villages—nor need we feel that because there are no longer Indians to fight or forests in which we have to blaze our ways that we have exhausted all our resources. The great American novel has yet to be written. Is it not possible that the time for that novel has arrived and that a reaction from the bubbles and froth of present day literature there may come the real American novel which shall deal not only with our great irrigation plans and our gigantic industrial enterprises, but with the strong American character—the character which has developed from a background of ancestors who fought and bled and died for the glorious cause of Liberty, and who were as strong and rock-ribbed as are our native shores.—Portland Express and Advertiser.

Tracing The Dog's Wild Ancestors

Diversity of Friend of Man Said to be Due to Breeding—Yet All of Same Stock

What our friend the dog was before his grandfathers of the Stone Age tamed him into a domestic animal; why we cannot domesticate the wolf today; why all dogs do not resemble their wolfish forbears—these and other interesting questions of canine descent are discussed and explained in a new book, "The Dog's Wild Ancestors," by R. I. Pocock. The great diversity of modern dogs, Pocock tells us, is artificial—the result of breeding—and has nothing to do with ancestral character or appearance. Comparison between a terrier and a Pekingese, a bloodhound and a pug, reveals far greater divergence in external appearance than can be found between the most widely different species of the dog family. This divergence, indeed, is so great, Mr. Pocock thinks that it may be difficult to convince readers that all breeds in question had in all probability a common origin, or are at all times the descendants of at most a few closely related species. He writes: "What we know of the past history of dogs unfortunately throws no light on this matter. Away back in what is called the New Stone Age, before man had learned the use of metals, we find evidence of the domestication of the dog; and Egyptian and Assyrian monuments, a few thousand years old, delineate breeds extraordinarily like some of those with which you are familiar. No help, therefore, is to be gained in those quarters. But a study of the existing wild species of the dog family very soon helps us to locate our dogs with one or two exceptions."

In our language we have only four words for canine animals, namely dog, jackal and fox; and these names, fortunately, have been applied with characteristic, if unavoidable looseness by naturalists to species utterly regardless of their affinities. Hence, we must not assume that an animal we read of as a dog, a wolf or a fox is necessarily closely akin to the European species to which those names were originally applied. For instance, the long-eared fox of South Africa differs far more from our fox than the latter does from the wolf; the maced wolf of South America looks like a gigantic fox with preposterously long legs and resembles a wolf only in nature; the Brazilian crab-eating monkey—which, by the way, does not eat crabs—is not akin to European dogs, but it is a fox as styled by English writers in the country it inhabits; and both the hunting dog of Africa and the red dog of India differ from our dogs much more than wolves and jackals do. I have mentioned this confusion of names because their application is very confusing even to the people one might expect to know better. All the above mentioned types of the dog tribe, as well as genuine foxes, may be set on one side in the search for the origin of our dogs. Wolves, indeed, are so different that we must regard with the greatest suspicion the claims not infrequently forwarded by farmers and others of the existence of hybrids between wolves and dogs."

Now, of all the wild species of the dog family, the only ones that are closely allied to our domesticated dogs are the wolves and jackals. Wolves may be described as small dogs or wolves as large jackals. There is complete intergradation in the case of the two. Zoologists have expressed the opinion that the difference between the two is due to the fact that by giving them the name Canis, the wolves and jackals are the only truly wild species of Canis known. A genuinely wild, because you think I have forgotten the dingoes, so-called wild dog of Australia, nobody doubts that this dog, which is practically indistinguishable from some of the 'pariahs,' the scavenger dogs of the East, was taken in historic times to Australia from southern Asia by the blacks who first settled there."

The likeness between wolves and jackals and many of our street dogs is not close, Mr. Pocock admits. For instance, modern bulldogs and griffons differ widely from them. These, however, he sets aside as degraded products of man's handiwork, "monsters as abhorrent to Nature as a vacuum." But now and again dogs resemble wolves in color and almost in shape, with the characteristic alert and "wolfish" look imparted by upstanding ears. Such breeds are the Belgian or Alsatian sheep dog, the Eskimo or Scandinavian elkhound; and it seems likely that these three types have retained almost unchanged the characters of the original type of domesticated dog.—Literary Digest.

DIDN'T NEED TO

Congresswoman Robertson, of Oklahoma, was talking about women in politics.

"Woman lacks political training as yet," she said, "but there's no reason why, in time, she shouldn't do as well in politics as man does."

"Certainly in replying to hecklers she will do well. I remember stopping one still October evening to listen to a woman preaching some new creed to others from a soapbox."

"Say!" a rough voice shouted to her, "Say, you look cold, baby! Why don't you turn your collar up, like me?"

"Well, you see," baby answered sweetly from her soapbox—"well you see, I've got a clean neck."—Los Angeles Times.

CULTIVATION OF ROOTS

AS CELERY SUBSTITUTE

Celeriac or root celery for those who do not have the time to attend to the building up and cultivation of celery offers an easily grown substitute which needs no more care than a carrot, turnip or other root crop. It has become rather common in vegetable markets during the last year or two and is used chiefly as an ingredient for soups and stews, which may be kept in the cellar as easily as the commoner vegetables where it would be impossible to keep celery. It has precisely the same flavor.

Boiled and sliced cold it is used as a salad. It should be planted now in a box or hothead and the young plants transplanted into the open ground as soon as it is warm enough. Its culture is much the same as celery and it needs the same conditions of soil and moisture. The best results and the largest roots are obtained if the seedlings are transplanted into individual pots before they are set into the ground.

In order to make the root grow deeper and develop more substance many gardeners rake the soil away from the top of the root as it develops until nearly the entire root is above ground. This sends the feeding roots down deeper and develops greater depth of root.

KINGS USE BLACK BLOTTERS

Guard Against Possibility of Prying Eyes Reading Their Letters

In common with many Eupropean royalties, the former Kaiser always made a point of using black blotting paper, in order to guard against the possibility of prying eyes deciphering his correspondence, by examining the reflection of the imprint of his writing in a mirror.

Queen Victoria achieved the same object by using small pieces of very thin blotting-paper, which she tore up herself after using, said F. T. Ford at a presentation to him by the employee of his paper mills at Loudwater, Bucks.

King Edward, he said, was more luxurious in his tastes, and liked thick blotting-paper, but after he had attended to his personal correspondence, which he did usually in the morning before breakfast, it was the duty of his private secretary to tear off the topmost sheet of his blotting pad and burn it.

The same precaution is taken at all Cabinet Council meetings, where, up till quite recently, black writing paper was also used as an additional precaution.

Most pawnbrokers and many lawyers still use pounce, a powder which dries ink, and was in more or less general use throughout the country sixty or seventy years ago; and this notwithstanding the fact that blotting-paper was known at least four hundred years back.—Pearson's Weekly, London.
