Graduation Day Looms In Schools

Class of Twenty-nine to Complete Courses in June; Exercises on 11th; Alumni Are Busy

FEW CHANGES IN FACULTY

A class of twenty-nine boys and girls will be graduated from Newark High School this year, according to information received from the Board of Education today. The Board met last night and arranged preliminary plans for the closing of the term.

Commencement day will be Friday, June 11th, with exercises at Wolf Hall in the evening. Baccalaureate services will be held on Sunday, the 6th, in St. Thomas' P. E. Church here, Rev. R. B. Mathews, rector, will deliver the sermon.

Twenty-one girls and eight boys comprise the class this year. They are as follows:

Mary Elizabeth Booth Atkinson, Nancy Churchman, Sara Elizabeth Crew, Rose Elizabeth Coleman, Elva May Davis, Sara Kershaw Durnall, Marjorie Eastburn, Catherine Elizabeth Green, Bessie Handloff, Dorothy Hayes, Grace Evangeline Holden, Elsie Jackson Hubert, Ida May Leak, Clara Evelyn Martin, Jessica Louise Mathews, Marion Phelps, Kate Darlington Rambo, Elma Robinson, Annie Mary Simmons, Helen Mae Vansant, Margaret Strickland Vinsinger.

Scholarship Continues

Activities among High School alumni parallel the authorities this week. Plans for the carrying on of their scholarship to the University of Delaware for a member of the school's graduating class were approved at a meeting of the executive committee Monday. Henry F. Mote presided. The student eligible for the honor must have attended High School all four years, have sufficient credits for entrance to the University, must pass entrance tests without conditions. Superintendent Owens has been notified of the committee's decision.

The Alumni banquet will be held probably in the cafeteria of the High School on Friday evening, June 4th. Dancing in the auditorium will follow. Henry Mote and Irving Crow are arranging for the speakers and Eugene Kennedy is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Henlopen Lighthouse Commission Ends

Dissolution Marks Final Chapter in Effort to Preserve Beacon

The Henlopen Light Preservation Commission, which was licensed about a half year ago by the government to make efforts to save the 162-year-old beacon near Lewes, was dissolved Monday afternoon at a meeting held in Wilmington. A letter was ordered sent to the government by H. Warren Cornelius, secretary of the commission, asking that the license be revoked.

It was first thought that the lighthouse would be salvaged and reconstructed at Newark, but it was pointed out at the meeting that parts of the old light had been washed away and buried by the sea, and that even if all the parts could be recovered it would mean an expenditure of $40,000 for its reconstruction at Newark.

When the commission was licensed by the government, they were given control of the lighthouse and the 212 acre reservation. No title to the land, however, was held by the commission. It is reported, so the property will automatically revoke to the government. No money for the preservation of the beacon had been collected by the commission.

Governor Robinson, who was chairman of the commission, presided at the meeting. Fourteen other members comprised the body, of which six were present.

New Committees Named By Council

FOLLOWING the organization meeting held in Town Hall last night, Mayor Frazer announced Councilmanic committees for the ensuing year. They are:

Street: R. G. Buckingham, O. W. Widdoes, L. Handloff.

Light and Water: E. C. Wilson, O. W. Widdoes, John C. Grier.

Town and Sewer: A. L. Beales, John C. Grier, L. Handloff.

The remainder of the staff of Council was kept intact for the year, including Mrs. J. H. Hossinger, secretary-treasurer; Daniel Thompson, alderman; C. R. E. Lewis, street superintendent, and Robert Motherall, assessor.

Two Autos Crash; Owned By Same Man

Peculiar Accident on Limestone Road Thursday Night Injures Two Elton Men Slightly

Two automobiles, owned by the same man, but unfortunately proceeding in opposite directions, crashed together along Limestone road, about three or four miles north of Newark, late Thursday night.

Warren Malin, garage owner in Elton, was owner of both cars. According to information received here, Mr. Malin was going north along the road near the Irvin Klair home. Monte Shaffer, also of Elton, an employee at Malin's garage, was going south. The two cars met on a turn and crashed together.

Both drivers were severely cut and bruised about the head and arms. They sought aid from the Klair home, were taken in, and from there, phoned for an Elton physician. Shortly after Malin and his mechanic returned to the Maryland town.

On Wrong Side

Malin was said to be on his way to Toughkenamon, Pa., to visit relatives. Shaffer's objective was not learned.

Witnesses assert that Shaffer sped around the bend on the wrong side of the road and showed signs of intoxication when the accident was visited by nearby residents. Malin's car, a Buick, was able to proceed after the crash, but the Ford sedan, driven by Shaffer, was not removed from the Klair driveway until yesterday.

BUYS OLD PROPERTY

Louis Handloff New Owner of Main Street Land

The old Maxwell property on Main street adjacent to the University Dormitories, consisting of a house, store room and building lot, has been purchased at private terms by Louis Handloff.

Mr. Handloff stated yesterday he closed the deal for investment purposes and has no plans made yet for the property's future.

MRS. GEORGE GRIFFIN

Following a long and painful illness, Mrs. George Griffin, wife of one of Newark's best known citizens passed away in her home on West Main street and Elton road, Monday of this week. She had been ill for many months. Mrs. Griffin, a genial, active woman, made many friends here and was universally liked. She was a native of Chester County, and had spent several years of her life in Florida.

Funeral services on Friday of this week will be private.

Frick Honored By Fellow Lodgemen

Only Charter Member of Red Men Here Figures in 41st Anniversary Party

With the only surviving charter member present as an honor guest, Minnehaha Tribe, I. O. R. M. of Newark, celebrated the forty-first anniversary of its founding in the lodge rooms here last night. Former Councilman John C. Frick is the charter member who has taken active interest in the lodge since its inception. The Great Sachem and Chiefs of the Great Council of Delaware were also present on their official visit. It was a gala night for the local tribe.

Mr. Frick spoke of the days that led up to the instituting of Minnehaha Tribe in the Odd Fellows' Building 41 years ago. The work was done by Andastaka Tribe, of Newport.

Frank M. Smith, the oldest Past Sachem of Minnehaha, spoke of the trials and tribulations of the Tribe, of how it prospered and then almost gave up its charter, only to take on new life. Now it is one of the leading Tribes of the State.

The Great Sachem exemplified the unwritten work, after which he gave a talk on Redmanship.

His address was followed by talks from Great Junior Sagamore Robert Cantler, Great Chief of Records Edward McIntire, Great Keeper of Wampum Milton Ferguson, Past Great Sachem William Ferguson, Great Guard of Forest Frank Silvers, Great Sannap Frank Buckingham, Pocahontas Marguerite Balling, of Mineola Council, No. 17, Degree of Pocahontas, and many other visiting Brothers and Sisters of the Degree of Pocahontas throughout the State. Later everybody was invited to the banquet hall.

ATTACKED BY DOG

Youngster Hurt on Way Home Yesterday

Suddenly attacked by an enraged police dog, the young daughter of John Beck, of Deandale, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon. The little girl was returning home with some groceries when the dog, without provocation, rushed out from the yard of Dr. Merritt Burke and made a savage attack upon her.

Before passers-by could rescue the child from the dog, she was bitten in the hip. After the dog was driven off the girl was taken into Dr. Burke's office for treatment. Later she was able to walk home. A witness of the affair states that this same dog has made a similar attack on at least one other person.

Townpeople who saw the affair are considerably wrought up about such a vicious animal being allowed to run at large.

NEW STREET STARTED

William J. Lovett, builder, has announced the plans for a new group of bungalows on Haines street and Benney street, off-shoots from the row of houses bearing his name. Work will be started soon. Seven bungalows in all will be erected under present plans, constituting the largest development of the spring here.

START BALL TEAM

A bake will be held at the Maxwell street room on Main street, Saturday afternoon, for the benefit of a Newark baseball team. The team, under the management of Leroy Hafer is planning to enter the Cecil County League.

In Fine Shape

Arriving at Harrington Monday morning, the horses were unloaded and placed in their quarters. All are in fine shape, said Mr. Tyson, they have been in training since February and are well along in their work.

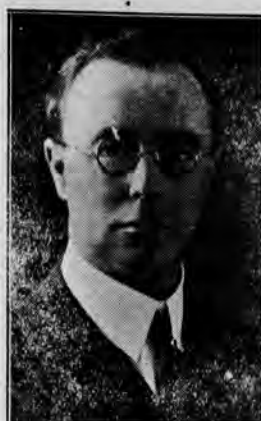

Cherry Wills, 2.06, beloved of Delaware racing fans, will not stretch her little brown neck for the wire this year. Cherry has been retired as a brood mare and is now in Kentucky nibbling blue grass. She won her last start on New Year's Day. Just before leaving the South, Mr. Tyson

FIGURES IN BANQUET TONIGHT

NOAH SWAYNE

ARTHUR G. WILKINSON

Mr. Swayne, a Philadelphian, will be the principal speaker at the twelfth annual Kiwanis banquet at the University tonight. He will also be remembered by Newarkers as a soloist with the Orpheus Club, of Wilmington. Mr. Wilkinson, a prominent Kiwanian, is chairman of the dinner committee, and will be toastmaster.

Kiwanis Club Invades Town Tonight; For Sixth Annual Dinner And Dance

300 Wilmingtonians Expected at Banquet in Old College. Attractive Program Planned

Kiwanians and their wives and guests, over three hundred of them, descended on Newark late this afternoon for their sixth annual pilgrimage to the University.

The Wilmington service club has been planning for the outing for several weeks, and all arrangements have been made to receive and entertain them. The first of a long caravan of cars arrived here shortly after four o'clock. From then until six, the visitors came steadily.

Promptly at six-thirty, the assemblage moves into the main dining room of Old College, where the banquet, speaking, and, later in the evening, dancing will be enjoyed.

William M. Mask, Jr., president of Kiwanis, occupies the chair of honor as the dinner opens, yielding later to Arthur G. Wilkinson, chairman of the dinner committee, who will be toastmaster. Mr. Wilkinson, one of the originators of the "Delaware Night" idea in the club, has again assumed chairmanship of the local arrangements. He was assisted in the work by the following: Dean C. A. McCue, George L. Medill, George L. Townsend, Jr., and William E. Holton, all of Newark, J. A. Crothers and Harry P. Dunbar, of Wilmington.

Noah Swayne, of Philadelphia, remembered by many Newark people as a frequent soloist with the Orpheus Club of Wilmington during local visits, is slated as the principal speaker tonight. The subject of his talk has not been announced. Members of the club who have heard him, say the audience is in for a treat.

Another feature of the evening, announced by Mr. Wilkinson, will be the appearance of the Newark Male Quartet originally organized as a part of the Presbyterian Church choir here. The quartet comprises A. D. Cobb, director; Eugene Kennedy, Philip Myers and J. M. Barnes. Additional numbers on the musical program will be songs by Miss Mildred Mason of Wilmington, and James Challenger, tenor, member of the Freshman class at the University.

The college orchestra will play during the dinner and furnish music for the dancing later in the evening.

UPSHAW TO SPEAK

Rev. William David Upshaw, congressman from Georgia, will speak on "America's Greatest Battle" in the Presbyterian Church here next Sunday evening. Many visitors from nearby towns will swell the audience.

ESSAY PRIZE WINNERS

Miss Bessie Handloff won first prize in the High School essay contest recently conducted here. "Structure of the Federal Judicial System" was the subject. Second honors went to Clara Martin, third to Iva Eastburn.

LIBRARY BENEFIT

A benefit card and game party will be held in the New Century Club on April 29th, in the interests of the old Town Library.

Time Confusion To Reign For Month

Colleges and Schools Retain Present Status Until May 20th. Mills Hold to Decision Changing Time Next Sunday

COUNCIL DEFERS ACTION

Every indication points to "every man for himself" with regard to Daylight Saving time changes here, according to a survey of the situation made this morning.

Last night's developments considerably altered the general rumors current in the streets this week. At a meeting of the University faculty, unanimous opposition to any change whatever was recorded. The clocks will not be touched, and classes will convene as usual. The Board of Education also met last evening, and in view of the University's earlier action, decided to keep the schools on standard time until May 20th, when practice teaching conflicts will have been obviated.

According to President Hulihan, of the University, the practice teaching students at Women's College, by going on the new time, will make necessary the complete re-adjustment of both college and school classes. Considerable confusion was occasioned last year, he said, by the change.

Schools Involved

That public school hours are dependent in a measure on what the colleges do is evident from the decisions made. After May 20th, when practice teaching ends, the School Board may embrace Daylight Saving until the close of the term. Accordingly, classes at the University will begin at eight a. m. as usual, and those at the public schools will commence at nine.

No Council Action

Town Council last night deferred on the question until the meeting on May 4th. Mayor Frazer called the councilmen together for organization purposes, swore in Messrs Handloff, Grier and Widdoes for another term and shortly adjourned.

A letter from D. A. McClintock pertaining to Daylight Saving was read, however, before adjournment. As an organization meeting, according to the Mayor, cannot-transact general business, the letter was filed as an order of business in May.

Meanwhile, all three mills, will advance their clocks one hour next Sunday, throwing practically two-thirds of the working population of the community on advanced time.

In discussing the situation with town and University officials, it is generally believed that no relief from the present confused state will be felt until late in May. Council, through Mayor Frazer, asserted today that they would be in a position to do whatever the majority of the townspeople wished done.

PILLING HOME SOLD

Dr. Wallace M. Johnson has purchased the John Pilling residence on East Main street from Mrs. Pilling at private sale, it was reported early this week.

The Doctor and his wife will move into their new home from the Steel residence about August 1st.

Middletown Girl Wins Spelling Bee

DOROTHY HUFNAL, of Middletown, was the winner in the elimination spelling contest for western New Castle county which was held in the Newark High School Building on Monday evening. The other contestants, who will also be eligible to take part in the county contest to be held at the du Pont School on Friday night, are Anna Stanert, of Newport, and Edith Macklinson, of Oak Grove.

Miss Ehlers, who is connected with the Department of Education of the Women's College, pronounced the words. The judges were Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson, Miss Mary Meade, and Miss Anna E. Gallaher.

Contestants were present from many schools throughout the county. Newark's spellers failed to land a place.

Delaware And 'Shore To Connect With Jersey Coast Resorts; Ferry Started

New Outlet For Marylanders Saves Many Miles Of Summer Travel; Line Runs From Lewes To Cape May

Regular ferry service by June 1, between the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore and New Jersey, with the terminals at Lewes, Del., and Cape May Point on the Jersey side of the bay is now assured.

With ground broken and work actually under way on the construction of a pier at Cape May Point, and the Lewes Chamber of Commerce calling a public meeting and celebration for Saturday next, when they will break ground for an addition to their present town pier, there appears no doubt but what the new connecting link is to become a reality within a very brief period of time. From those directly interested it is learned that the service may be under way at a date even earlier than June.

Approximately a month will be required to complete the two piers and to work out the final points in the ferry service. Two large lake steamers, equipped with every convenience to carry passengers, automobiles and spacious room for freight, will be provided. The distance between piers will be about twelve miles as the steamers will have to go "outside" or into the ocean, in their course. The time schedule per trip will be one hour.

Jesse Rosenfeld, president of the Maryland and Delaware Coast Railroad, a Baltimore promoter, who is heading the ferry plan, attended a meeting of the Lewes Chamber of Commerce Monday night and gave assurance that all is in readiness to proceed with actual service, as soon as the piers are completed.

William P. Carter, Secretary of the Lewes Chamber of Commerce, talking of the project, said that unlimited enthusiasm is being displayed on both sides of the bay regarding the ferry line. He pointed out that it will be a connecting link of immense value, not only in the reduction of mileage between the points of interest on both sides, but it will open up a new line of transportation for much of the marketable produce grown on the Eastern Shore, which is in demand on the Jersey side.

Mr. Carter offered as illustration of the saving in distances the fact that at present a trip from Lewes to Atlantic City, N. J., is more than 200 miles, while the ferry line will cut this down to something less than one-quarter, or between forty and fifty miles. Another feature of decided interest is the fact that it will establish another link in the chain of transportation from the Western Shore of Maryland, across the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula and to New Jersey, as the Baltimore and Annapolis ferries now connecting with the Eastern Shore enter into direct routes which connect with the new line. In fact from Love Point, the Baltimore ferry landing on the peninsula side, the Maryland and Delaware Coast Railroad, runs directly to Lewes.

Explaining the construction of the pier at Cape May Point, on the Jersey side, Mr. Carter said that while Cape May Point is four miles from Cape May itself, landing at the Point Pier will be much easier than landing on the ocean, for the Point is on the Delaware Bay, and this will prevent the necessity of carrying double crews. There are good road connections from the point to Cape May and other suitable means of transportation.

Plans for the celebration and public meeting at Lewes on Saturday are in charge of the Chamber of Commerce. A large delegation of citizens from New Jersey is expected. It is thought they will make the trip across the bay in U-boats and on the pilot boats in the vicinity. Several notable State, County and Town officials from Delaware are expected to participate.

A Grange in Maryland assumed the entire work of grading the grounds around the new township high school building and members and teams did a good job, while an entertainment put on by the Grange supplied enough money to adorn the grounds with ample shrubs.

PIGEONS CARRY WHISTLES ON TAILS

Homing pigeons in training by the United States Army in the Canal Zone took off recently carrying whistles fastened to their tails as a protective measure against hawks which infest the Isthmus.

As they flew the rush of air caused the whistles to sound and the astonished hawks gave the winged whistlers a wide berth.

Though they weigh only sixteen ounces and eat less than an ounce of food a day, the Army homing pigeons fly for twelve or thirteen hours under the tropical sun of Panama without stopping.

Carried to remote parts of the Panamanian jungles by American soldiers of the Canal defense forces, these plucky little feathered warriors dart away instantly toward their home lofts the moment they are released.

Their unerring sense of direction and loyalty are counted valuable assets by the soldiers, who use them as a check on radio communication and to occupy airplanes exploring unknown parts of the Isthmus. — (Army Information Service.)

OBITUARY

Mrs. Francina W. Taylor

Mrs. Francina W. Taylor, widow of Robert M. Taylor, died at her home near Stanton Monday. She was 69 years old. Mrs. Taylor was one of the best known women in that section. She was stricken with heart disease four months ago and had been in bed since that time. Her husband, who was a well-known farmer, died on March 12 of pneumonia, having been ill but a week. The wife was ill at that time and was not only unable to attend the funeral but was so critically ill that none but members of the family were allowed to see her. She has been slightly better at times since she was first stricken.

On November 1 last Mr. and Mrs. Taylor celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at the home where they both died. They went to live on the farm when they were married and spent their entire married life there.

Mrs. Taylor was the daughter of the late Jehu T. and Sarah Pyle, who were prominent people of the vicinity. She was a member of the Stanton M. E. Church and took an active interest in its affairs until confined to her home by her last illness.

She is survived by six children: Samuel H. Taylor of Patterson, N. J.; John S. Taylor of Marshallton; Mrs. William Garvine of Stanton; Robert F. Taylor of New York City; Harry E. Taylor of Vineyard Haven, Mass.; and Mrs. Sarah Thomas of Stanton. Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Stanton M. E. Church and interment made in St. James' cemetery, Newport.

Mrs. McCoy

Mrs. Adaline Cazier McCoy, in her 93rd year, widow of Thomas H. McCoy, died at the home of her son, Boyd McCoy, near Summit Bridge, on Saturday night. She was the mother of two sons, Boyd McCoy of Summit Bridge and the late Dr. J. C. McCoy of Kirkwood, who was prominent in horse circles.

Mrs. McCoy had been blind for the past three years, but took an active interest in current events and was a life long resident of Delaware. She was interested in the everyday things especially politics and voted at the last election. She had been confined to her bed for some time. Death was attributed to her advanced age. In her younger years she was an active worker in Bethel Methodist Church.

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by the Sesquicentennial International Exposition, which opens at Philadelphia, June 1, 1926.

George Clymer, Signer

A true leader of Revolutionary days was of service to his country insofar as he possessed many and diverse talents and made use of them all. Such a man was George Clymer, one of the Pennsylvania signers of the Declaration of Independence, which will be celebrated in Philadelphia, by the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, extending from June 1 to December 1.

Aside from many offices and committee appointments which he was called upon to fill as a statesman, George Clymer is known as a founder of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Society, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and the Pennsylvania Bank. He was a member of the Continental Congress in 1776, 1777 and in 1780. With Richard Stockton, he was appointed to inspect the Northern Army at Ticonderoga on September 26, 1776. In December of the same year, when the approach of the British forced Congress to flee to Baltimore, the Pennsylvania signer was one of the commissioners left in Philadelphia, to attend to the public interests.

Tact, decision and honesty are some of the qualities which characterized his dealings, particularly those with the Indians.

When he was appointed a commissioner to treat with the Indians at Fort Pitt, it was largely upon his report to Congress that the government was induced to carry the war into the enemy's country.

It was natural that Clymer should become a member of the Convention which framed the National Constitution and a representative in the first Congress to function under it. His "platform" constitutes a quaint commentary upon the politics, immigration and debt funding of the period:

Opposed bestowal of titles upon the President and Vice President.

Combated notion that representatives should always vote in accordance with constituents' instructions. Favored gradual naturalization of foreigners.

Supported the assumption of state debts by the nation.

After concluding a treaty with the Creek and Cherokee Indians, George Clymer withdrew from public life. He died in 1813 at the age of seventy-four.

Grange Aroused By City Council Action

"Unalterably Opposed" to Tampering With Clocks, Says Resolutions Passed Monday Night

Placing themselves once more on record as protesting the advent of daylight saving time in Wilmington, members of Harmony Grange, at their weekly meeting Monday night, passed resolutions to that effect for transmission to Wilmington City Council. The Council last week, has issued orders for the setting up of clocks on Sunday, April 25th.

Most of the members of the grange took part in the discussion during the hours. The action of City Council was severely criticized on two counts: (1) That they are disobeying a state law, and (2) a recent newspaper poll conducted within the city and its immediate confines showed an even 1000 majority against a change in time.

In the resolutions, the Mayor and Council are charged with "violating one of the most essential laws of the state and nation. Further along, it was stated that the members of Harmony Grange were "unalterably opposed" to the daylight saving act.

Serious Hardships

It is set forth by spokesmen for the grangers in the county that the necessity of observing, partially at least, the new time, and adjusting their households accordingly, works severe hardships upon a country residence. Many of the families send their children to the city schools, especially from the northern hundreds. Nearly all the Harmony grangers attend market, and leave as it is at the break of dawn to make their stands on King street.

It was pointed out Monday night that the resolutions passed will not be sent to councilmen in an effort to have the rule rescinded. It was merely the Grange's gesture to denote their firm and continued opposition to Daylight Saving.

Other Grange News

During the lecturer's hour, conducted by Miss Emilie Mitchell, the following program was given: Reading, William Naudain; vocal duet, Mrs. Clara Eastburn and Mrs. Addie Blair.

Older members of the Grange were then asked to comment on old customs prevalent in the community during their youthful days, for example, the old spelling bees, lyceum courses, farmers' clubs, and other interests. Among those on the program in response were: Lawrence Pennington, Mrs. Annie Dennison, and William P. Peach.

Next Monday night a full attendance is looked for, when Dr. Claude Benner, economist of the University of Delaware, will address the meeting. State Master Robert P. Robinson and wife are expected to attend, as are also the Pomona Master and wife. It will be one of the biggest program nights of the season.

CARDS OF THANKS

We desire to thank all who in any way remembered us in our recent bereavement. Your remembrance and sympathy have made it easier for us to bear the burden of our loss.

Very gratefully yours,

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Moore, Elkton, Md.

We wish to express our appreciation for the kindnesses and sympathy shown during the illness and death of our mother, Martha Vansant Singles. Signed: The Children.

GLASGOW

The Pencader Presbyterian Sunday School will hold the annual election of officers in the lecture room of the church Sunday afternoon, April 25th, at 1.15 o'clock.

Mrs. R. Brown, primary teacher of the P. P. Church Sunday School, is confined to her home with the measles. The children also have the measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thorp were the guests of the Misses Leasure on Tuesday evening of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leasure entertained at dinner, at 4.30 p. m. Sunday, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Olan J. Cleaver, whose marriage was solemnized by Rev. J. MacMurray at his residence Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock of last week. Those present were: Rev. J. MacMurray, Mrs. MacMurray, Mr. Zachariah Harris of Newark, Mr. and Mrs. Olan Cleaver and children, George and Benjamin, Mrs. Alfred Cleaver of Christiansa, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Leasure and family, Miss Mae Brown and Herman Leasure.

Mrs. J. C. Barr is confined to her home suffering with measles.

Mr. Lamonte McElwee, who operates a gasoline station at Glasgow, had his garage damaged considerably one day of last week, when a car skidded and ran into the building and tore out the door.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Leasure and family spent a few days of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Holloway of Berlin, Md., and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hastings of Selbyville, Delaware.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Frist and Miss Laura Watson of Wilmington called on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leasure on Sunday.

The marriage of Miss Lela G. Leasure, of Glasgow, and Olan Cleaver of Christiansa, was performed by Rev. J. MacMurray at his home Saturday evening, at 7.30 o'clock, in the presence of Mrs. MacMurray, Mr. and Mrs. L. Thorp of Christiansa, Misses Beulah Leasure and Mae Brown and Herman Leasure of Glasgow.

The bride wore a black prince flat crepe dress with blonde colored hat, shoes, stockings and gloves of the same shade. Mrs. Thorp wore a blonde colored canton crepe with black picture hat.

A wedding dinner was served Sunday at the home of the bride's parents. Covers were laid for 30 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Cleaver are to make their home in Christiansa. The wedding trip of the young couple has been postponed, owing to the recent death of Mr. Cleaver's father.

The bride is an active worker in the Presbyterian Sunday School at Glasgow. Mr. Cleaver is employed by the Krebs Chemical Company, at Newport.

KLAN ATTENDS CHURCH

Last Sunday night about two hundred Klansmen attended the Elkton Methodist Episcopal Church in a body (unmasked) when the pastor, Rev. W. G. Harris, by request, preached a special sermon to the organization. The church was filled to its capacity. The discourse was one of most forceful and logical ever delivered by the pastor during his pastorate at this church.

BOY DIES AFTER TONSIL REMOVAL

Father of 4-Year-Old, Also Ill, Is Report; Funeral Monday

Ira A. Moore, Jr., the four and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira A. Moore, died in Union Hospital Friday evening, after a brief illness. Mr. Moore had his tonsils removed at the hospital and it was thought advisable to have the little fellow undergo the same kind of an operation while his father was in the institution, which resulted fatally. His funeral was held from his parents' home on Locust Lane Monday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, with interment in Elkton cemetery.

ELKTON

The colored schools of Cecil county held their annual Rally Day exercises and exhibit in Elkton on Monday. Exhibits were on view to the public in Providence Hall and the athletic sports were held on the new school grounds adjoining the Armory. Cold weather somewhat interfered with the ardor of teachers and pupils, but the exhibits of the year's work were above the standard. A large crowd and two bands were in attendance.

Elkton Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Garber, of Hasrisburg, Pa., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sloan part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hurn and family and Mrs. Elizabeth Hurn motored to Washington Sunday.

The bake given by the M. E. Church last Saturday cleared $60. This sum has been handed over to the Elkton Band to help pay for uniforms.

Mrs. William Harris attended the D. A. R. Congress being held in Washington, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. Frank Williams was taken to the Church Home Infirmary in Baltimore last Thursday. Mrs. Williams has been very ill with rheumatism for the past three weeks. Her friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Frank Hurn and Mrs. John Alexander entertained the Parish Club last Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Ayerst entertained at bridge last Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perkins of Reading, Pa., spent Sunday with Mrs. D. Roy Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Sloan and son of Overbrook, Pa., spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. J. Will Perkins.

Miss Mary H. Jamar spent Saturday in Wilmington.

Mr. A. D. Radebaugh of Baltimore spent the week-end in Elkton.

Mrs. Clarence C. Strickland spent Tuesday in Wilmington.

Miss Mollie Howard Ash was a Wilmington visitor on Friday.

TO GIVE LECTURE

Rev. J. Fredrick Virgin, District Forest Warden of Cecil County, will give an illustrated lecture on Forestry and Agriculture, on Monday evening, April 26, at an open meeting of the Appleton Grange. The public is cordially invited and urged to attend.

Big Elk Items

Miss Lillian Peterson and Miss Mary Burke of Wildwood, N. J., were week-end visitors at their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Preston and son of Williamsport, Pa., have been spending several days with their father, Mr. Geo. T. Peterson.

Mr. Howard Moll of Philadelphia was a Sunday visitor at the home of Mr. Geo. T. Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Clay visited Wilmington relatives on Sunday.

Misses Emma and Clara Willis, Paul Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. George Ganzman and daughter Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Peterson and sons, Marshall and Joseph, Mr. J. M. Ferguson, Mr. Harry Peterson, Mr. Ellis Preston of Wilmington and Miss Esther Preston were among the Sunday guests at the Peterson homestead.

Miss Flora Adams and brother, Miss Florence Wright and brother were Sunday visitors at the home of the Misses Shanks.

Quite a crowd gathered the sweet blooming arbutus on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Buchanan and son spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Taylor Brown of Cherry Hill.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Harry Gallaher has been ill, and hope he may soon recover.

Cherry Hill folks called on their pastor, Mr. Harry Laylor, on Wednesday evening, spending a very social time.

P.T. A. NEWS

The McClellandville P.T. A. held its last meeting for the year 1926 and 26 on Thursday evening, April 8th.

The recitations, plays and songs which were given by the school children were thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Caressa Crowe sang a solo after which everyone participated in an old-time spelling bee. The president, Mrs. Daniel Willis, and vice-president Mrs. John Campbell were chosen as captains. The president's side stood up the longer. The two champions for McClellandville P.T. A. were Mrs. Philip Wilson and Mrs. Louis Pierce.

The president, vice-president, teacher, five delegates and a number of visitors expect to attend the P.T. A. convention at Dover on Saturday, April 24th.

Pie was served in cafeteria style.

OLD MILL BURNS NEAR ELKTON

Was Landmark Along North East Road for Many Years; Destroyed Friday

An old landmark of Cecil County, Red Mill, about a mile south of Elkton, on the North East road, was destroyed by fire Friday afternoon. Loss was placed at about $4500.

For many years conducted as a grist mill and patronized by a great many people of the vicinity, Red Mill has in recent times been deserted. The building together with the adjacent land was owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Flames from the burning mill set the residence of Howard Deamond, after several times during the afternoon, but on each occasion, firemen prevented its spread. Volunteer companies from Elkton, Newark, and North East, responded to the alarm.

MERMAID

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Peach and family drove to Dover and Wyoming Sunday last for a visit with friends in both downstate towns.

Miss Blanche Derickson, accompanied by her brother James, called on Mrs. Sara Mitchell in West Chester Hospital Sunday. Mrs. Mitchell is recovering slowly from a serious operation.

The class in basketry maintained in the community is showing a decided interest in their work and a great many useful and attractive articles are being made. Yesterday afternoon, the class met at the home of Mrs. Clara Eastburn, where they were further instructed by Miss Kathryn Woods of Newark.

On Saturday evening, May 1, a festival will be held for the benefit of Harmony School, on the schoolhouse lawn. Delicacies of the season will be on sale, and committees are already working for its success.

WEDDINGS

Churchman-Dickson

Miss Sarah Churchman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Churchman of Richardson Park, became the bride of Howard B. Dickson, son of Mrs. George D. Crossan of Middletown, at 5.30 o'clock, April 10, 1926, in St. Andrew's P. E. Church, Wilmington. The Rev. Percy L. Donaghy of Middletown, was the officiating clergyman. Miss Churchman was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Churchman. Ray S. Dickson, a brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The ushers were Samuel Cauffman, Jr., of Richardson Park; Clifford Crossgrove, of Wilmington; and Reginald Walworth, of Middletown.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of powder blue georgette with silver gray hat and matching hose and slippers, and carried bridal roses. Miss Dorothy Churchman wore bisque georgette, with hat to match and carried snapdragons.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the couple will live at 1609 Washington street, Wilmington. Mrs. Dickson was a former resident of Newark and has a wide circle of friends here.

THE TRAGEDY OF TRIUMPH

It is not the critic who counts, nor the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat; who strives valiantly; who errs and may fail again and again, because there is no effort without error or shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows the great enthusiasm, the great devotion; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best, knows in the end the triumph of high achievement and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.—Roosevelt.

THE END

A Philadelphia newspaper steps forward to tell the truth—as much as they know—regarding the fall of Henlopen Light a few days ago. An editorial in the Evening Public Ledger says, in part:

Sea and wind in savage mood will not wait for the signing of vouchers and the unwinding of red tape. Whatever its intentions, official Washington moved too slowly to save the historic Cape Henlopen lighthouse from a long-fated fate. The ancient structure, a beacon to sea-folk for 160 years, has at last toppled into the sea, a victim of more than a century and a half of the steady encroachment of the Atlantic.

That the picturesque pharos could have been saved by requisite engineering works and by modern bulwarking protections is entirely evident. Residents of Lewes have for years comprehended the peril of the storied beacon and have consistently exerted efforts to provide means for prolonging its existence. But the Government has been dilatory, with consequences that are now deplorable. From the standpoint of romance and sentiment, the loss of this relic of Colonial days is irreparable.

A great deal more might be said, but it is of no avail now. Under the guiding hand of the late owner and editor of this newspaper, the Henlopen Light Preservation Commission came into being; under his influence, the State awoke and stood ready for the task of saving the Light.

But that was nearly a year ago, and Time has wrought great changes. In those months, whatever glory a brave fight offered came to rest at one man's doorstep. It would be well for the recently dissolved Commission to remember this when washing their hands of the affair. The gentle art of passing the buck was never more apparent than in the case of Henlopen Light. Governmental red tape forms the perfect national alibi for anything from pensions to diplomacy. That it shall assume 100 per cent of the blame for this tragedy, however, is hardly compatible with the facts.

Days and months will pass and the gaunt windswept bones of Old Henlopen will eventually go back to the sea, her ancient enemy. Time heals a wound. It also covers mistakes. The friend of a thousand skippers goes, mute and uncomplaining, to a pauper's grave. One hundred miles away, six of the fourteen members of her Court of Last Resort, weep pseudo-tears, look down their noses and blame the Government.

THANKS

One of Newark's Institutions—the old Town Library—has taken a new grip of Life. Through the gifts and hard work of a small group of men and women, the quaint little room in the Academy building is being renovated and re-decorated. A good friend gave the shades; others added more books, still others labor diligently for the benefit party on the 29th of this month.

Year after year, the little room has been a fairland for young and old. Strange tales, Romance, Fact and Fancy offer its stock in trade. Soldiers of fortune and glorious martyrs stride shoulder to shoulder along its shelves. It has stood the test of time and a fickle public. It has even borne up under the bullying of a great big brother on the University campus. Still the faithful come to the little shrine of Knowledge. Let us hope they continue to come, generation upon generation. And let us further hope that the good people who now protect it will place their torch in equally worthy hands.

Your Problem, Gentlemen

(From Baltimore Evening Sun)

If the members of the Maryland Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, meeting now at Wilmington, Del., will excuse the language, we would suggest to them that "passing a law" to break up the so-called marriage trusts at Elkton and elsewhere is exactly equivalent to "passing the buck."

Nowadays it is quite the thing, of course, to run to State Legislatures with troubles of every description and leave the burden of their solution to the magic of the law. There is plenty of precedent, even, for attempts to solve problems peculiar to individual professions by that means. When the tomato growers found their professional standing was being lowered by the unethical conduct of a certain element in their own ranks they set up a cry for a law. So has it been with barbers, blacksmiths, oystermen, insurance agents and electricians.

It was so with the realtors not so long ago. Unscrupulous dealers and operators, it was complained, were bringing the entire profession into disrepute. The cry for a city laws was set up, but before the Council could act upon it the realtors were persuaded that the problem was their own. They were convinced that the best way to advance their ethical standing was to do their own housecleaning. The tomato growers, the blacksmiths, oystermen, insurance agents and what not had had their laws with indifferent results. Whatever they had accomplished for themselves had been done by themselves working from within, as it were.

May we suggest to the clergy that the conditions they complain of in the alleged marriage marts are essentially their own problems? In Elkton, for instance, there are two or three ministers who are performing the marriage ceremony under conditions and circumstances which the ministerial profession generally considers unworthy of its high calling. It would be more fitting the dignity of the clergy to handle such a situation themselves than to ask the civil government to police the profession.

A good housewife doesn't call in the neighbors to keep her house clean.

Twice Told Tales Ten Years Ago in The Post

APRIL 19, 1916

The formation of a new industry, the Delaware Acid Company, was announced this week. Information points to the manufacture of drugs, chemicals, and acids. Incorporators are J. H. Hossinger, C. B. Evans and Daniel Thompson. The company plans to take possession of a building near the Thomas wall-paper factory. No statements have been made by the incorporators. It is believed that a secret formula will be used.

Plans are shaping up nicely for the Shakespeare festival to be held next week. The entire community is joining in the affair. Under the direction of Mrs. L. B. Jacobs, a number of women are spending the afternoons in the armory making the costumes.

Town Council reorganized this week for the coming year. The following staff was named: secretary, collector of taxes, water and light bills, S. B. Herdman; alderman, Leonard W. Lovett; assessor, Andrew Fisher, and engineer, Albert Woodrow.

A "Town Beautiful" Committee, headed by Harlow Curtis, was appointed by Mayor Hossinger at the meeting.

Obituary

George G. Kerr, one of the town's oldest and most respected residents succumbed to the infirmities of age during the week. He was 81 years old. For the most of his life, Mr. Kerr was a farmer, and successful livestock raiser. He was well known throughout the lower part of the county.

Ode to That Good Kent Berry

(From State News, Dover.)

All residents of Delaware, consumers as well as agriculturists, will be deeply interested in that experiment to be conducted by a group of more than fifty farmers representing the southwestern part of Kent county to engage in the growing of strawberries on a large commercial scale in that area.

It is a fact well known to Kent county farmers that this section of the State is ideal for the growing of strawberries, both in the way of climate, soil and accessibility to markets. Strawberries must reach the consumer soon after they are picked, and with its nearness to the big markets, with adequate railroad and automobile truck transportation facilities, the lower Kent experiment should prove a highly successful project.

The older generation of Delawareans can easily remember back to the time when Delaware was regarded as the peach growing section of the country. It was called the "Peach State," and the luscious fruit sent to the big markets became so famous for size and delicious flavor that it became quite the thing, when one was striving to picture an

The Quarantine Puzzle

Pursuant to requests from local physicians, the Post is today printing the second of two articles of information relative to quarantines in cases of contagious diseases. A number of such cases are prevalent here.

II DIPHTHERIA AND CHICKEN POX

Of these two ailments, generally confined to younger people, Diphtheria is, of course, the most serious, and the strict observance of quarantine rules aids in a great measure the confinement of the disease. The rulings of the State Board of Health upon details in connection with quarantine here are as follows:

DIPHTHERIA

The minimum quarantine period from the onset of the disease extends to the point when two negative cultures from both nose and throat appear. The house of the patient is, of course, placarded by the health officer or physician. Well children in the family are quarantined without exception, and cannot attend school. Well adults are not quarantined if the patient is isolated.

Adults are restricted, however, in that food handling and contact with the general public are prohibited. Disinfection must be made after lifting the quarantine, and unaffected children must show negative throat cultures before they are allowed to return to school. School teachers, resident in the house, are excluded from school during the quarantine.

Milk bottles, laundry, etc., cannot be removed from the premises during quarantine. School books used by the patient must be destroyed.

object as especially fine, to term it "as fine as a Delaware peach." It is not too much to predict that this group of progressive Kent county farmers may in time make Kent county as noted for delicious strawberries as the State used to be for peaches. We may even, in time, hear such remarks as "as fine as Kent county strawberry" when one seeks to praise in fulsome terms.

At any rate those thrifty Kent farmers have the good wishes of all Delawareans in their project. May they succeed to such an extent that a great bowl of luscious Kent strawberries and cream will grace every Delaware table during berry season in years to come. And may we soon say that "there's nothing better than a Delaware peach except a Kent county strawberry!"

"A Little Nonsense Now and Then"

The United States, a Washington dispatch proclaims, is back on good terms with Mexico. This will come as a shock to a lot of us who didn't even know we were mad at them.—Buffalo Express.

"You are getting along in years. Why don't you retire?" asked the guest.

"What would be the use? I couldn't sleep with the young people making so darn much racket with their dancing and jazz music," replied the weary father, who misunderstood the question.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Men think God is destroying them because he is tuning them. The violinist screws up the key till the tense string sounds the concert pitch; but it is not to break it, but to use it tunelessly, that he stretches the string upon the musical rack."

The incubation period for diphtheria runs between 2 and 7 days. The disease is caused by direct contact and the patient can give it without showing previous signs of affection.

CHICKEN POX

Chicken pox, a communicable disease, retains quarantine rules somewhat similar to those in effect for measles.

The minimum time limit for the ban remains until all the scabs fall off. The house is placarded but well children are not under quarantine. They can remain in school if they have had the disease before. Well adults in the family are neither in quarantine nor restricted. Disinfection is not required after lifting the quarantine.

Milk bottles and laundry can be removed during the restricted period. School books do not have to be destroyed. The incubation period is between 2 and 3 weeks, and is most contagious during the first week. Chicken pox is transmitted through direct contact.

This is the second and last article on the quarantine rules for most prevalent children's diseases, printed by The Post for the information of its readers.

People's Column

Industrial View of Daylight Saving With Suggestions

Newark Post.
Newark, Delaware.
Gentlemen:

Referring to your article on Daylight Saving, there seems to be a general impression that some of us adopt this time arbitrarily and without thought, and we think it might be a good thing to enlighten the public on the reasons why it is necessary for Industrial Plants to operate on Daylight Saving Time during the period that time is effective in the cities nearby.

In our own case, we are in constant telegraph and telephone communication with our New York Office. New York City operates on Daylight Saving Time and if our office does not, we are actually out of touch with our New York Office four hours every day and this holds true with our business relations with many companies in adjoining cities and with our banking connections in other cities. This fact forces our company to operate on Daylight Saving Time regardless of our feeling on the subject.

It might be thought that the office could operate on Daylight Time, but we would have the same disastrous results in being out of touch with our own factory and being placed in an awkward position thereby if we should do that; so that as long as Daylight Saving Time is used in the nearby cities where we have business connections, it is quite necessary for us to operate on that time and it is forced upon us by reasons naturally beyond our control.

We have every reason to believe that the other manufacturing plants in the town are compelled to adopt Daylight Saving Time for similar reasons and the thought should be dispensed with that these plants adopt an arbitrary stand in the matter, as we have said before it is forced upon us by conditions beyond our control.

This is not an excuse, but is an explanation which may put a new angle on the subject to those not acquainted with the facts. We might also mention that a few years ago we took a vote on Daylight Saving in our factory and our employees favored it four to one, so that we are obviously not imposing any hardship upon the majority of our people in following the new time.

It seems to be apparent as the business interests of the town are obliged to follow this new time during the summer months that it would be much better all around if the other activities in the town, including the University, the public schools, stores and banks would do likewise and thus accommodate themselves to the necessities of the manufacturing plants.

Yours respectfully,
The Continental Fibre Co.,
J. P. Wright.

Delaware Joins In Observing American Forest Week

Dean C. A. McCue Selected Chairman
Of Delaware Forest Week Committee

Directing Interest In Tree Planting Through Various Committees

President Coolidge has designated the week of April 18 to 24 as National Forest Week. Governor Robinson has also issued a similar proclamation for Delaware. Dean C. A. McCue of the School of Agriculture of the University has been designated as State Chairman for Forestry Week.

Forests play an important part in the every day lives of our citizens and every citizen of Delaware should be interested in conserving wisely the rapidly dwindling forests of Delaware. At the present rate of cutting it will not be many years before Delaware's supply of commercial timber will have reached the vanishing points. To one who was familiar with our pine forests of the Southern part of our State ten years ago, it needs only a superficial survey to convince one of the rapid disappearance of our pines of timber size.

There is a considerable acreage that probably would be more valuable to the state and to the owner if permanently left in pines.

Sussex Pine

The Sussex pine (Loblolly pine) grows very rapidly and produces commercial timber within a short space of time. Steps should be taken to re-plant or reseed a great deal of our cut over lands to pine and thus insure a steady timber supply for the future. Owners of lands especially suitable for growing pine timber should seriously consider the feasibility of re-planting such lands to pine for future profits that will thereby accrue to them or to their estates.

Forestry conservation is not a matter of sentiment, it is a matter of business, and like many other things that which is everybody's business is nobody's business. The President of the United States and the Governor of the State have wisely called our attention to the importance of timber production and timber conservation and have urged upon us the seriousness of the present situation.

All civic bodies and educational forces of the state should strive in some manner to present to the public during Forestry week the importance of our maintaining our timber supply as a state and natural asset.

THE CHINA ASTER

This old-fashioned annual is a favorite with practically everyone. It is much to be appreciated for its great substance, holding up after being cut and placed in water equally as well as many perennials. The China aster, so-called because its habit is the rock hills of northern China, takes the place of the carnation from mid-summer until early winter. For this reason it may be used and grown in the garden, as it is grown extensively for commercial purposes. As this flower is not very particular as to soil, it is possible for every flower lover to have nice blooms to cut for the table or other home decorating purposes.

In growing asters, the first and most important consideration is to obtain good seed. With good seed and poor growing conditions the results will be better than with poor seeds and good growing facilities for handling the plants. If possible, buy your seed from a reliable aster specialist. From him you can get the best cut flower varieties and novelties recently originated.

Far too many worthless varieties are grown by amateurs with the idea of selling the flowers to florists or wholesalers. Consequently, when these men refuse to buy, the grower is forced to lose the crop or sell the flowers by the mixed bunch on the street markets. This, of course, limits its outlet, and, therefore, cuts the profit.

Choosing varieties may be somewhat difficult for anyone not experienced. Therefore, I am giving a few general classes most commonly listed in the leading catalogues, but these may vary from what the specialist lists. The Beauty type, King aster, Royal aster, Comet type, and Crego aster are all good. No hard and fast rule can be given as to which of these is best. The factor influencing your selection is what disposition is to be made of the flowers.

In regard to colors, the most popular are pink, purple and lavender. A few good lavender-pink varieties are obtainable and are gaining much favor. It is well to have some whites, and also a few novelties in red or other colors.

"The Groves Were God's First Temples"

"When we plant a tree, we are doing what we can to make our planet a more wholesome and happier dwelling-place for those who come after us if not for ourselves.—Holmes.

WHY PLANT TREES?

The American Tree Association points out that there are eighty-one millions of acres of idle land in the United States, which is fit for nothing else except growing of trees. It suggests that this land be put to work, since it will not produce anything else of value, in growing trees as a part of the reforestation movement.

The value of such a plan can be seen from the fact that during the past century our forest resources have been cut from some six thousand billion board feet to about two thousand billion board feet, while during the same period our population has increased eleven-fold, which increases the demand for lumber products to such extent that today we are cutting what remains of our forests four and one-half times as fast as they are growing.

The centers of population have been pushed to the far northwest and the south, and we transport timber thousands of miles at great expense to supply and demand. We need more forests, and to solve that problem we must plant trees for timber close to the points of greatest consumption.

NEW REMEDY FOR TREE ILLS

Specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture have discovered a method for controlling crown gall, sometimes called "tree cancer," in the root-grafted apple nursery business, through a new organic mercury compound, known as Semesan, developed by E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company. The problem of controlling this disease has been regarded as a very serious one since losses of from 20 to 50 per cent of trees are not uncommon and certain lots of trees have even shown a loss of 95 per cent. The nurseryman who has to discard only five or ten per cent of his trees on careful inspection at digging time is usually considered fortunate. It is expected that the discovery will save nurserymen great sums of money.

Announcement of the discovery is made in Department Agriculture Circular No. 376 written by M. B. Waite, Senior Pathologist in charge, and E. A. Siegler, Assistant Pathologist, Office of Fruit Disease Investigations, Bureau of Plant Industry. The problem confronting the experts was to find a suitable germicide or fungicide and a suitable dosage which could kill the bacteria and not materially injure the roots of the trees, and this was discovered in the new compound.

Apple nursery stock consists of the union of a known variety of twig or scion and a seedling root stock of two years. This seedling root stock is entirely propagated in France for use in this country and it is estimated the business amounts to probably three or four million dollars.

During the experiments in 1925, the Department of Agriculture experts state, the new treatment was given to 2,619 grafts, representing a number of different varieties, with the results that the total number of trees obtained at digging time with both large and small galls amounted to 6.1 per cent, as compared with 32.6 per cent on 2,619 untreated grafts of the same varieties which were used as checks. The proportion of the total number of large galls in the treated grafts of all varieties was two per cent and in the untreated or check grafts 28.7 per cent.

ADDRESSES CLAYMONT WOMEN'S CLUB

Professor W. A. Wilkinson addressed the members of the Claymont Women's Club recently. His subject was the bill pertaining to the creation of a department of education with a Secretary of Education in the President's cabinet. This bill is now in committee.

Mrs. T. F. Manns, State Chairman of Education for the Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs, also spoke before the Claymont Club, urging the members to do something to help to cause favorable action on this bill. The club took immediate action by writing an urgent letter to the chairman of the committee.

Population's Jump Warns Nations To Need Of Growing More Forests

Thousands Of Acres Of Idle Land Could Be Used For Future Lumber Supply, Says Forestry Expert

That the population of the United States is approaching the 120 million mark should sound a warning to those who give little thought to our natural resources, according to Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree Association. He points out in an American Forest Week letter, to the State Superintendent of schools, what increase in population means to forest resources.

"A population approaching 120 million is of prime importance to the coming generation," said Mr. Pack, in thanking the educators for their help in distributing 200 thousand Forestry Primers to the school teachers of the United States. "As never before the thought of the coming generation must be turned to the forestry situation in this country."

"Your reception of the Forestry Primer, we published to mark 1926, the Semi-Centennial of the first step in forestry by the United States Government, shows the leaders of American thought are keenly alive to the forestry problem. On behalf of the American Tree Association, will you thank all those who co-operated with you in distributing the Forestry Primer?"

"The coming generation faces an economic problem, upon which the future prosperity of this nation is based; a steady flow of forest products close to the point of greatest consumption, that is the great manufacturing centers. The center of the forest area is now nearing the Pacific Coast. The millions of acres of idle land east of the Mississippi River must be put to work growing forests."

"Only through your co-operation and that of the editors of the country can this message be carried to the public. The Centennial of Forestry, in 1976, is not far off. There is much to be done. During this American Forest Week you have performed a public service of prime importance."

The Forestry Primer is in the third edition of a hundred thousand each. They are being given free by the American Tree Association of Washington, D. C., to teachers, civic organizations, and any organization planning forestry programs through the year.

APPLETON WOMEN IN CLUB SESSION

Many Helpful Ideas Exchanged by Members Last Month

The Appleton Woman's Home Demonstration Club held its March meeting in their club room on Wednesday evening, March 17. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. A. Baus, and opened by singing "The Wearing of the Green" by the club. The members responded to roll call by giving helpful kitchen hints. Miss L. Grimm and Mrs. William Castur gave a short talk on the use of steam pressure cooker. Mrs. E. D. Milburn gave an excellent talk on labor-saving devices in the kitchen and illustrated how different utensils were used in cooking. Mrs. O. Otty gave a chart talk on laying out our spring garden. Mrs. D. Short gave an appropriate reading, "St. Patrick's Birthday."

The next meeting will be held in the club room on Thursday, April 22. It will be an all-day meeting, members to bring box lunch. The subject will be "Handicraft, Basketry and Lamp Shades." All welcome.

Hostesses, Mrs. H. Gallaher, Chairman; Mrs. G. Teague, Mrs. H. Garrett, Mrs. J. Hendrickson, Mrs. W. Nowland.

What Are Ultra-Violet Rays

Prof. R. W. Wood of Johns Hopkins University, recently demonstrated some of the strange effects of invisible light. The phosphorescence of various substances under the ultra-violet rays has already found application on the stage, Dr. Wood said, for by dressing the actors in costumes of material readily affected, they seem to glow. Scenery so treated has also been employed, and by mixing various visible colors with ultra-violet, the same background may be made to appear vastly different.

Dr. Wood revealed that ultra-violet rays were used secretly during the war for invisible signaling at night. The rays were focused and directed in the same manner as ordinary light in a searchlight, but the invisible light could only be detected through the use of the proper detecting apparatus.

Ultra-violet rays are like those of ordinary light, Dr. Wood explained, except that the waves of which they consist are shorter than those of violet light, the shortest that we can see.

Red light is the longest of the visible rays, and beyond them are the infra-red, also visible, but with very different properties from the ultra-violet. They do not have the power of inducing phosphorescence, but they do have the peculiar property of passing through mist and water vapor, a property used to advantage last summer in making photographs of Mars when it approached close to the earth.

Photographs were made of Mars with filters which transmitted only the infra-red rays, the chemists were told, and it was found that details on the surface of the planet were brought out which were quite invisible in pictures made with visible and ultra-violet light. Further, the diameter of the planet in the infra-red pictures is appreciably less than in the others, so that astronomers have concluded that the presence of an atmosphere is indicated. These experiments were similar to some made several years ago by Dr. Wood, when he photographed the moon in a similar way.—Bull, Wayne Co. Med. Soc.

"If a man wants to know what he thinks, he starts a club; and if he wants to be very sure, he calls a convention. From the National Under-takers' Association and the Launderers' League to the Christian En-deavor Tournament and the World's Congress—the Midway Pleasance of Piety—the convention strides the world with its ceaseless din. The smallest hamlet in the land has learned to listen reverently from afar to the vast insistent IT, as the Voice of the Times.

"Every idea we have is run into a constitution. We cannot think without a chairman. Our whims have secretaries; our fads have by-laws. Literature is a club—Philosophy is a society. Our reforms are mass meetings. Our culture is a summer school. We cannot mourn our mighty dead without Carnegie Hall and forty vice-presidents. We re-member our poets with trustees, and the immortality of a genius is watched by a standing committee. Charity is an Association. Theology is a set of resolutions. Religion is an endeavor to be numerous and com-municative. We convert the world with boards, and save the lost with delegates—how Jesus of Nazareth could have done so great a work with-out being on a Committee is beyond our ken.

"What Socrates and Solomon would have come to if they had only had the advantages of conventions it would be hard to say; but in these days, when the excursion train is applied to wisdom; when, having little enough, we try to make it more by pulling it about; when secretaries urge us, treasurers dun us, programs unfold out of every mail—where is the man who, guileless-eyed, can look in his brother's face; can declare upon his honor that he has never been a delegate, never belonged to any-thing, never been nominated, elected, imposed on, in his life?

"Everything convenes, resolves, petitions, adjourns. Nothing stays adjourned. We have reports that think for us, committees that do right for us, and platforms that spread their wooden lengths over all things we love, until there is hardly an inch of the dear old earth to stand on, where, fresh and sweet from day to day, we can live our lives ourselves, pick the flowers, look at the stars, guess at God, garner our grain and die."

Still water is apt to stagnate. But the running stream is fresh and clear. One's intellect will stagnate during periods of inactivity. Keep your brain "running" by vision and purpose. Progress is motion.

Years ago the Old Man of The Post wrote the following story about "The Town Without Leading Citizens":

"A stranger came in the office the other day and inquired, 'Who is your leading citizen?'

"Our what?" we replied.
"Your leading citizen, the Town's bell-wether. I inquired up at the hotel and the gentleman there mentioned Mr. . . . Then I spoke to several business men with the result of a different name upon each inquiry."

"W took him back in the office, closed the door and said:
"WE AIN'T GOT NONE."

"There is no such man here. We wouldn't permit it. Of course if pruned down, we would say Mr. . . . was the real IT of Newark, but don't quote us, for we wouldn't want it known we said so—especially by the man himself. Newark used to have leading citizens just the same as other country towns. They were fine to have around but we found they greatly retarded the growth of the town. Why for years Newark didn't grow a bit. Some think it was the Leading Men that did it. Anyway, a sort of meeting of Public Opinion was held, and without any particular fuss the Licenses for Town's Leading Men were all withdrawn.

"The town has been growing ever since. In fact during the past few years, Newark has outstripped the State. No leading Man hampers the growth of this town. It used to be that a newspaper man couldn't express his own opinion unless he asked the Leading Citizen. Now the editor can say what he darn pleases.

"No, we don't need 'em much in Newark and those who pose as such to you are liable to arrest—they have no license."

"Do they ever cause you any trouble?" our friend inquired.

"Oh yes, at times, but they finally come around. Take the Women's College for instance—it was Leading Citizens who blocked it for years—but, well, you know. Then the Sewer—a Leading Citizen's trick blocked that for a while.

"Oh yes—we have tried the experiment here—and it works well. To boom a town, stop issuing Leading Citizens' Licenses. They are fine to have around during campaigns, but as a business asset in booming a town they have been over-rated.

"Take Gas for cooking purposes—here is something that Newark is interested in. When we get it, the arguments of the Leading Citizens will fall flat. Why since we have done away with them, Newark can do almost anything she wants to. And strange as it may seem, the Citizens themselves seem to enjoy it. No, sir, we have no Leading Citizens here, no bell-wether in Newark. Everybody is a citizen and that's as high as he can go."

It is reported that when the above was first printed it was so quiet around Newark for a few hours that you could hear the microbes gnashing their teeth.

Proceedings Of 78th Session Maryland State Council, U. A. M.

(CONTRIBUTED TO THE POST)

The seventy-eighth annual session of the State Council of Maryland of the Sr. Order of United American Men, convened in the Red Men's Hall, at 114 North Paca street, Baltimore, Md., at 2 o'clock p. m., on April 8, 1926.

Brother W. D. Grovner, of the Olive Branch Council No. 9, also a member of the National body of the O. U. A. M., escorted the officers to their respective stations with State Councilor Glen Elliot presiding.

The opening ceremony was completed by the reading of the 12th Chapter of Romans, followed with a prayer by the State Council Chaplin of No. 1, after the regular routine of business, they proceeded with a large class of Brother Candidates of the various subordinate Councils for admission into the State Council of Maryland. Some amendments were offered too for certain sections of the By-Laws, also some resolutions which met the approval of the State Body, the Council then went into the nomination of officers for the coming year. The meeting was then adjourned at 5.15 p. m. to reconvene Friday the 9th, at 9.30 a. m., to proceed with the business of the State Council, at this time the National Councilor, A. T. Abernathy, of Maryland, and the National Vice-Councilor, W. O. Fish, of New Jersey, were escorted into the State Body and introduced by W. D. Grovner, also a member of the National Council, and were received with a hearty welcome, the State Body then proceeded in the election of the State Council officers for the coming year, which resulted in the election of:

State Councilor, Cecil Craig, No. 7.
State Vice-Councilor, John H. Richards, No. 19.
State Council Secretary, J. G. Brittingham, No. 32.
State Council Treasurer, J. W. Falk, No. 48.
State Council Inductor, John F. Hatton, No. 8.
State Council Examiner, C. M. Phleger, No. 48.
State Council Inside Protector, S. L. Craig, No. 7.
State Council Outside Protector, State Council Chaplin, C. Fitzpatrick, No. 13.
Representative of the National Council, W. C. Roderick, No. 48.

The National Vice-Councilor proceeded to install the newly elected officers as named above; the official business being completed, the Councilor called for the Good of the Order, with State Councilor Cecil Craig giving a very instructive address.

Cracks At The "Smakers," or "If The Reviewers Told The Truth"

On Friday evening, in Wolf Hall, there appeared a certain performance entitled "Smaks and Crax." Perhaps a few of our readers will remember the occasion. It is understood to have been an expose of hitherto unknown collegiate talent or something. Be that as it may, the production showed unmistakable signs of earnestness, and a beautiful Faith. In the matter of talent, perhaps some of the young gentlemen were ill-advised. Yes, "ill-advised" should stand. It's a good word.

Mr. Grant, author, resurrected a very new and engaging plot which hung around a few minutes before folding up. The plot concerns a young producer, his grandmother, seventeen empty ginger ale bottles, our dear, good friend Daniel McGrew (peace to his ashes) and seven or eight pretty dreadful vaudeville sketches. We are led to believe by Mr. Grant that Grandmother is being shown her grandson's acts in the hope that she might finance the show. But we heartily disagree with Mr. Grant on the unfailing wisdom of elderly ladies. We feel she would do nothing of the sort.

But that is beside the point. In our poor judgment, the local Thespians had a bit too much ambition for their dramatic capacities, if you get the idea. For instance, the "Totem Dance," lifted bodily and spiritually from "Rose Marie," appeared rather incongruous attired in gym suits. But we shan't tell tales on the boys; but gravely overlook the number of "steals." It was all very much like that epitaph over an old woman's grave in London:
"She done her best."

There is little need to review the acts or the persons in the piece. Mr. Meredith's dissertation on a banana rind had a bit of merit scattered here and there; Mr. Murphy's rendition of the shooting of poor old Dan was the 1064th experience for us. We have every intention of slaying the man or woman who attempts the 1047th. Mr. Givan, a good musician in truth, insisted in bawling out tenor harmony without learning the words. A very great surprise. Two blackfaced comedians were allowed to perform, and a young gentleman, whose name we do not remember, did right well on a sawed-off banjo. Our agents are scouring the campus this week, trying to find out who approved the inclusion of "Roses of Picardy" in the show. Woe to the dastardly villain when we find him.

For all that, the audience was apparently pleased; salvos of applause greeted practically every turn. Messrs. Yanowitz and Ellis rubbed their hands in glee as the shekels rolled in. Late reports indicate that the mortgage held by Lewes, Milford, et al., has been paid off, and Grandmother can keep the farm, after all. As Delaware shows go, the 1926 edition was rather below the average over a period of years. But it was refreshing.

Just to prove we haven't indigestion, will the following gentlemen step forward: Mr. Tremaine, Mr. Carey, Mr. Steel.

Tremaine, for his artistic impersonation to open the show, Carey for the thoughtful accompanying and help to the players, and Steel for his singing and hard work in the leading feminine role, if it could be called by that name, are hereby congratulated.

Note: That new dance you saw was the "Charleston."

Business A Cultural Profession, Says Dr. Benner; Calls Voc. Education "Tommyrot"

Speaking before a meeting of the Faculty Club of the University last week, Dr. Claude L. Benner, head of the department of economics and business, expressed his confidence that the profession of business and the study of economics gives to those fields a cultural position on the same status with philosophy, history or any other pursuit.

Dr. Benner's talk preceded a spirited discussion developing around the meaning of the word "culture." The speaker was upheld in his views by Prof. R. B. Harris, formerly head of the department, now of the University of Richmond faculty. Prof. Harris attended the meeting while on a visit here, and greeted old friends.

In outlining the ideals he follows in training his students here, Dr. Benner took occasion during the discussion, to remark in response to a question, that he considered vocational instruction in colleges "tommyrot." He stated that Economics not only points the way to earning a living but it helps one to 'enjoy living.' A great variety of subjects were covered in the discussion proving of real interest to the fifty odd members present.

Prof. E. B. Crooks presided.

MANY ATTEND
F. R. R. CARD PARTY

A number of Newark people were interested in the card party given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Pennsylvania Railroad in the Du Barry Room of the Hotel du Pont, last Wednesday evening. Among those from Newark who attended the party were: Miss Gladys Clark, Miss Dorothy Blockson, Mrs. W. J. Holton, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Harvey Boyce, Mrs. J. C. Sparks, Miss Kathryn Holton and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ford.

MR. AND MRS. PROUD
HOLD DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Proud entertained at dinner last Thursday evening in compliment to Mrs. Proud's guest, Mrs. William Wright of Germantown. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. William E. Holton, Mr. and Mrs. McCue, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wright, Mr. William Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Durant, Mr. and Mrs. Pearce Cann, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. New Century Club

Next Monday, April 26, will be the day on which officers will be elected to serve the club for the next two years. A large vote should be cast to show the new officers that they will have the support of an interested and loyal membership.

There are other reasons why all who possibly can should be in their places next Monday. One is that Dr. Mathews of St. Thomas' Church will address the club. Dr. Mathews always brings a worth-while message.

Another reason is that the club will be asked to take action on the Federal Education Bill. In order that such action shall represent the club's best judgment, Mr. W. A. Wilkinson has been asked to present the contents of the bill, and the arguments set forth both for and against it. Mr. Wilkinson comes with first hand information, as he had the opportunity of hearing it discussed before the Senate committee in Washington.

Club members will recognize the necessity of beginning the meeting at 2.30. So please be prompt.

—Secretary.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A birthday surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. David near Newark, Saturday evening, in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Lewis I. Thorp, Jr., of Christiana. A pleasant evening was spent in music and dancing and playing games. Piano selections were played by Mrs. A. B. Currinder of Christiana and Mr. Warren of Wilmington. Refreshments were served and in the wee hours of morning the friends started for their homes, wishing Mrs. Thorp many more happy birthdays.

PROCEEDINGS OF 78th SESSION

gavel, the National Vice-Councilor addressed the State body, which every one enjoyed. His encouragement was not only to uphold and maintain peace and harmony, but to further the advancement of the ideals and principles of Honesty, Industry and Sobriety. The National Councilor, A. T. Atherly, also gave an encouraging address, which everybody enjoyed. The appointed Committee then proceeded with the Memorial Service, which was held in commemoration of the deceased Brothers during the past year, with W. D. Gravenor in charge. The services were opened with the singing of the hymn, "Near-ness My God to Thee," which was followed by reading a Scripture lesson, and prayer by the Chaplin. Brothers W. D. Gravenor, Olend, L. T. R. Ward, J. F. Hutton and S. L. Craig made some very sympathetic remarks in regard to the deceased Brothers. It is well to say at this time that there has been a large gain in the past year both in membership and finance. Throughout the entire session, harmony and brotherly love prevailed. There being no further business, the State Council closed in due form at 1:30 p. m.

Pearls Not Tears Of A Goddess But--Just Read On

Pearls have been found in the burial places of ancient man. They have assumed a progressively greater importance as civilization advanced, writes Paul Bartsch, of the U. S. National Museum, in Nature Magazine of Washington. There is scarcely a people, which did or does not count them their most valued possessions. Some of the ancient tales date back for more than 5,000 years in Chinese history. One of their legends tells of a certain pearl so brilliant that its radiance made it possible to cook rice a hundred yards away. They are mentioned in the Vedas, while the Old and New Testaments, the Talmud and the Koran all exalt them as symbols of beauty and purity. The Persians, long before Christ, valued them.

The Romans were particularly fond of these gems, and Caesar, to stop race suicide among the better classes, issued a decree that no woman without husband or children, under 45 years, might wear pearls. It is recorded that Catherine de Medici, when married to the Duke of Orleans in 1535, brought to France, among her other treasures, the most precious pearl then known in all Europe. A few years ago a single string of pearls sent from Paris to London was insured for 3,000,000 francs.

What are pearls? One poet says they are "the tears of a goddess dropped into the sea."

And now let us see what science tells us. "The most beautiful pearl is nothing more than the shining sarcophagus of a worm," said Dubois, and he is correct. The most perfect spheres usually begin in that way, as can readily be shown by cutting sections of a pearl and examining them under the microscope. All true pearls are produced by secretions from mollusks. The precious ones come chiefly from the pearl oyster, the fresh water clams, the abalone, and in a lesser degree from all the other pearly shelled mollusks. The common oyster, the clam and all the other nonpearly mollusks may produce pearls, but these are without value since they lack the pearly lustre.

Pearls, whether of value or without it, are the result of an effort on the part of the mollusk to seal up an enemy, or an irritating substance that has found its way inside of the shell, or has bored into the flesh of the animal. The most perfect spherical pearls are usually started by the baby stage of a fluke worm that must live for part of its early life in some mollusk or die.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE NOTES

(Written For The Post)

Women's College Notes—4-20-26 HG
The last meeting of the French Club, Wednesday evening, was a most interesting one. Miss Caroline Fitzwater, director of the Modern Language Department of the Wilmington High School, told the members of the customs and life of the French peasant women. Devona Keithley was hostess for the evening.

The Sophomore managers of sports are: basketball, Mary Garbutt; track, Margaret Connor; baseball, Orpha Conahay; tennis, Alice Holloway; archery, Pauline Rodney. Freshman: basketball, Virginia Smith; track, Eleanor Edge; baseball, Rosalie Steel; tennis, Helen Stanton; archery, Carmen Thomaschewski.

The vesper service on Sunday evening was arranged by the students at the Annex, with Josephine Roscoe as leader. Reverend Frank Herson, of the Newark Methodist Episcopal Church spoke to the girls. Eleanor Edge played the piano and Miss Gillespie sang.

Anne Passmore did substitute teaching in the Home Economics Department of the Unionville High School, Pennsylvania, last week. She filled the position of Dorothy Nunn, '25, who is convalescing after an operation for appendicitis.

Virginia Smith, '29, was elected as a delegate from the Athletic Association to the National Convention of Athletic Associations, which met at Wellesley College last week-end.

A new order has been issued relative to the parking of automobiles at Women's College. A space for this purpose, south of Residence Hall, has been recinded and no parking will be allowed in front of the buildings.

Dean Robinson has received several interesting postcards from the members of the foreign study group, who have been spending their Easter vacation in Spain and Italy. Miss Robinson posted the cards on the bulletin board and the girls have been much interested in them.

Elizabeth Brady and Margaret Brady will be guests this afternoon of Mrs. David Aspril of Wilmington, who will entertain at cards in honor of Miss Louise Wilson of Middletown.

The student council elections on Monday resulted in three elections for the incoming year. The president of the council must be a Senior and will next year be Jean Middleton; the third vice-president must be a member of the incoming Junior Class and will be head of Sussex Hall. Geneva Lobach has been elected to this office. Anne Whaley of the incoming Sophomore Class will be the newly-elected treasurer. Nominations for the other offices were made yesterday.

Miss Templeton of Hartford, Connecticut was Miss Taylor's guest over the week-end.

Miss Ehlers attended the History Conference at the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia last Saturday.

Miss Parker, Miss Kelly, Miss Spencer, Miss Sturges and Miss Harding motored to Washington on Sunday.

Miss Beatrice Grier of Wilmington was Miss Taylor's guest last week.

The faculty and students were much interested in the play, "The Silver Box," given by the Aircastle Players at the Century Club on Saturday evening, chiefly because Miss Nora Keeley took one of the leading parts. The following members of the faculty went to Wilmington to see the play: Dean Robinson, Miss Richardson, Miss Drake, Mrs. Kennedy, Miss Clark, Miss McDougle, Miss Hartshorn and Miss Gillespie.

MRS. BROKAW DEAD

Mrs. Cassandra Brokaw, widow of Cornelius Brokaw and mother of Mrs. H. E. Tiffany of this town, died in the latter's home Monday night in her 81st year. She was a resident of this section all her life, being born in Strickersville, and had a host of friends here. For twelve years she had been living with her daughter. Funeral services will be held from the residence of her son-in-law, H. E. Tiffany, Amstel avenue, at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon. Interment will be made in Sharp cemetery, Fairhill, Maryland.

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH

Services will be resumed on regular schedule next Sunday with morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m. and evening prayer and address at 7.30.

Great improvements have been made to the interior of the church by new lighting fixtures and a complete redecoration, making it one of the most attractive interiors among Delaware churches.

Kitty Ady spent the week-end at her home in Sharon, Md.

Georgia Wiggin spent the week-end at her home at Townsend.

Grace Ellison, Linda Bassett and Jane Warner motored to New York Saturday.

Carolyn Turner of Ridley Park visited Louise Turner at college Saturday and Sunday.

Virginia Chipman spent the week-end at her home in Georgetown.

Anne Passmore has accepted a position in the Home Economics Department of the Coatesville, Pennsylvania, High School.

Martha Vandever will entertain a few friends at cards in Room 6, Residence Hall on Friday evening of this week.

Alice Holloway will sail on June 23rd on the Berengaria for England, where she expects to spend the summer.

Marjorie Johnson will spend this week-end with friends in Annapolis.

On May 7th, in the evening, the Sophomore Class will give a benefit card party in the Hilarium, to defray the expenses of their recent class play. Students and faculty will attend.

Misses Anne Spencer and Helen Baker of Avondale, Pa., were the guests of Edith Passmore this week-end.

Miss Florence Hickman spent the week-end at her home in Ocean View, Del.

Miss Elizabeth Jones spent the week-end at her home in New Castle.

Dorothy Nunn, a teacher at Unionville High School, was the guest of her sisters, Margaret and Edith Nunn, last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Passmore of Chatham, Pa., and Mrs. Emma R. Brosius of Westgrove, visited Anne Passmore last week-end.

Miss Julia Francis, of the Sophomore Class, was the representative chosen from the Forum to attend the American Conference of the League of Women Voters held at St. Louis, Missouri, this week.

The girls who are taking out-door sports started on a four weeks' training period last Saturday noon. HG 4-21-26

DINNER PLANS MADE

Entertainment Features College Students Tuesday

Announcement has been made through the committee on arrangements that feature the forthcoming Chamber of Commerce dinner on Tuesday evening next will be collegiate talent under the direction of Kenneth Givan, a senior at the University.

Officials of the Wilmington Gas Company will be guests at the dinner. No stated speaker will be present, as plans call for a general discussion of several important business matters.

President Johnston of the Chamber has announced the re-appointment of all standing committees for another year.

MRS. FREDERICK DEAD

Was Former Resident of Newark; Member of Club

Friends of Mrs. George Frederick, formerly of this town, are grieved to learn of her death Monday night at her home, 607 West Nineteenth street, Wilmington. Mrs. Frederick, with her husband and daughter, lived for several years in the house now owned by Warren Singles. She was a member of the Newark New Century Club.

Funeral services will be held at her late home on Friday afternoon, at 2.30.

HOCH CAPTAINS TEAM

"Dick" Hoch, catcher on the Delaware nine two seasons ago and well known here, has been elected leader of the Temple University base ball team for the current season. Hoch is a veteran of the team and is playing good ball this spring.

"JIM" KEELEY WEDS

James C. Keely, of Newark, and Miss Laura W. Reed, of Elk Mills, were granted a marriage licence in Elkton Monday, according to reports from that town. Both are well known in this community.

GAME CALLED OFF

The baseball game between Newark High School team and the Goldey team, which was scheduled for yesterday afternoon, was postponed until tomorrow because of the cold weather.

Delaware Night Among Shriners Soon

May 12 is Date Set for Elaborate Festivities in Wilmington

Elaborate preparations are being made for the Delaware Night of Lu Lu Temple, which will be held at the Playhouse in Wilmington on Wednesday night, May 12. Thousands of Shriners from Philadelphia as well as from all parts of Delaware will be in attendance at this affair, which promises of bringing to Wilmington one of the largest crowd of visitors that has ever attended any kind of a celebration in Wilmington.

William J. Highfield, of Wilmington, is Illustrious Potentate of Lu Lu Temple, and will be in charge of the various festivities that will take place in connection with this ceremonial. This is the first time that a Shrine ceremonial will have ever been held outside of the Lu Lu Temple building in Philadelphia.

More than a thousand of the uniformed members of Lu Lu Temple will participate in the celebration in Wilmington. There will be three bands, two from Lu Lu Temple, one of 125 pieces and one of 78 pieces. In addition to this there will be the police band of Philadelphia, two patrols of Lu Lu Temple, the mounted guard of 65 members, the Legion of Honor and the choir of 125 voices.

There will be visitors from all parts of Delaware, as members of Lu Lu Temple are residents of practically every town and city in the State.

The Philadelphia visitors are due to arrive in Wilmington late in the afternoon, after which they will take part in a parade to Rodney Square, where they will disband. The visitors will be officially welcomed to the city by Mayor George W. K. Forrest. Mayor Freeland Kendrick, of Philadelphia, Past Imperial Potentate of the Mystic Shrine of North America will be a visitor.

Faculty Changes

At the Board of Education meeting last evening, the following resignations were handed in from members of the staff. High School: Miss Mary C. Houston, vice-principal, and Miss Clara F. Buttery, home economics. Grammar School: Miss Mary A. Mende, English; and Miss Mildred F. Davis, geography.

This concludes the list. The resignation of Superintendent Owens, handed in earlier, has not been included.

Rumors that a large number of replacements would be necessary this Spring throughout the schools appear to have had little foundation in fact. Last night was the last date upon which resignations were to be handed in. From these vacancies, the staff for next year will be but slightly altered.

NEWARK BOY HEADS RIFLEMEN

Marshall Manns To Lead University Team Next Year

Marshall M. Manns, son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Manns, was elected captain of the University of Delaware rifle team at a meeting of the Rifle Club on Monday. Manns, who is a Junior and a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, won prominence during this season's shooting by his record-breaking score of 99 out of a possible 100 in the kneeling position.

At the same time that the election of captain took place the officers of the Club were elected for the coming year. Those elected were W. Vincent, president; F. Baker, vice-president; Palmer Craig, treasurer; and August Walz, secretary.

ELISHA LEE TO SPEAK

P. R. R. Official Secured to Address Maryland Sons Tomorrow

The principal speaker at the twelfth annual banquet of the Maryland Society of Delaware, on Thursday evening, in the Hotel du Pont, will be Elisha Lee, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Congressman Robert G. Houston is expected to be one of the speakers. Eben Frazer, Mayor of Newark, and president of the Maryland Society, will be the toastmaster.

It is expected that there will be 250 diners at the banquet, and the acceptance are pouring in to the committee on arrangements. The Maryland Society banquet is always one of the leading events of the year.

Mr. Lee is one of the most prominent railway men in the country, and has served in high executive positions. During the war he was Federal manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad Eastern Lines, U. S. R. R. Administration.

BARACA SUPPER HELD

Last of Series Last Evening Well Attended

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Baraca Class of the Presbyterian Church served the last of the monthly suppers for the year at the church last evening. Mrs. Paul Lovett, Mrs. Charles Strahorn, Mrs. Orlando Strahorn, Mrs. Wheelless and Mrs. Heim were on the committee of arrangements. An old-fashioned spelling bee and the singing of old songs were the entertainment features.

sold Worthy Win to a New York buyer and Our Polly to a man in South Carolina.

Alicia Dare Cleans Up

Tyson's best campaigner in the South this winter, was Alicia Dare, seen on nearby tracks last summer. The youngster was started in all races, won eight handily and placed second in the other three starts. This remarkable performance during the winter season has earned her a rest. She has been left in the South and will probably not be started until next winter.

Braden K. Direct, Zombro Dillon, the big fellow, and Golden Direct are stars in the Tyson stable this season. These three are counted on to win many races for the Newark reinsman on the dusty courses this summer.

Mr. Tyson likes Pinchurst so well for winter training that he has already engaged Barn No. 3 for his storing next winter.

The string now quartered at Harrington comprises the following horses:

Braden K. Direct 2.02 1/4, Zombro Dillon 2.04 1/4, Golden Direct 2.06 1/4, Peter Direct 2.08, Johnny B. 2.10 1/4, Mabel Grit 2.12 1/4, Husky 2.14 1/4, Betty Bung 2.16 1/4, Kathryn Harvester 2.20 1/4, U. Watts (2) 2.19 1/4, and the following 3-year olds: Charley Boy, Sister Sue, Bishop Baron, Peter Biff.
