Councilmen Henry R. Folsom, Jr., and Joseph A. Shields,

Doehliert and Leo Tew are contending for the third district council seat to be vacated by Mrs. Betty M. McClendon after serving two non-consecutive two-year terms as councilwoman.

In the fifth district, William C. Carter and Albert P. Chittenden are contestants for the council seat to be vacated by majority candidate Shields after serving a single two-year term as council representative for this district.

No Opposition

Olan R. Thomas is unopposed as the council candidate for the sixth district — a post to be vacated by Charles J. Schneider after serving a two-year term. Schneider is a candidate for charter commissioner. Twenty-two persons have filed as candidates for the seven charter commission posts.

Candidates for election to the charter commission are J. Robert Bock, Leon W. Case, Mrs. Frances Exline, George W. Foster, Anna E. Gallaher, Samuel Handloff, William R. Kneppshild, William C. Vernon Steele, Grover T. Suratt, William F. Vogel, Jr., William J. Warwick, and Herman Wollaston.

Questionnaires were distributed by the Newark League of Women Voters to all candidates for public office, with request for their return with biographic and voter information. And council candidates were requested to list major problems with their ideas for solution, and candidates for charter commissioner were asked to comment on the draft of the model charter prepared by Public Administration Service.

The information obtained by the League of Women Voters is summarized for information of the local electorate.

Mayor Candidates

Henry Richard Folsom, Jr., 25 Amstel Avenue; age 50; resident four years; married, no children; BS in mechanical engineering from the University of Delaware; employed as professional engineer in DuPont, serving as fourth district councilman.

Concerning community problems, Folsom recommends that city administrators need to take all the time and money to develop a comprehensive playground plan to include sites required, uses, improvements, costs, method of financing, and timetable. Then get it done.

On race and zoning, Folsom suggests council evolution of "an orderly program" with receipt of the city master plan.

Joseph A. Shields, 102 Bent Lane; age 53; intermittent resident since 1935; married, two children; BS from Springfield College, MA from New York University; graduate work at Delaware and Temple universities; employed as principal of Perryville (Md.) High School, serving as fifth district councilman; past president, director of Greater Newark Recreation Association; member of Newark Rotary Club, city parks and playgrounds committee, chairman of Elktion YMCA fund drive.

"Our biggest city headaches," Shields says, "derive from faulty... inconclusive decisions based upon... government by crisis."

Mrs. Ray Pierce Writes Pierson Parents Of Experience In Earthquake At Alaska

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pierce of Fairbanks, Alaska — former residents of the Newark and Hockessin areas — wrote Mrs. Pierce's father, Edwin P. Pierson of Milltown Road, that they are safe and suffered no damage in the recent earthquake. The Piersons received the air mail letter last Friday.

Mrs. Pierce wrote: "The earthquake hit further south in the state, but we surely felt it here. We were in the new gym at the University of Alaska, watching an intercollegiate basketball game, when things started moving. We were seated on portable bleachers in the balcony when the bleachers started rocking."

"At first we thought we were just dizzy from rushing upstairs, but the rocking continued. Thus, we had to admit something was wrong. Later in the evening, the radio brought the tragic news."

They have a daughter, Robin. Edwin Pierson, Jr., brother of Mrs. Pierce, is a student at the University of Alaska.

Council Candidate William C. Carter Reports Platform

"To be an effective member of Newark City Council, I must have the support of other members," William C. Carter said this week concerning his bid for election as councilman for the fifth district. Carter is opposed by Albert C. Chittenden for the fifth district council seat.

"I intend to seek this support for cooperation," Carter continued. "No candidate can make a real promise of fulfillment without this. We have all witnessed the need for a cooperative council in this city." Carter said, "I seek harmony between the people and the governing body."

Campaigning for his first public office, Carter said "I do not have all the answers on current issues," and announced that he planned "to study them together with my constituents for proper evaluation and positive action. To me, that will be representation."

Carter said that he intended to represent the people in his district by supporting the desires of majority expression by following a conservative yet progressive course.

Folsom Answers Top Queries Posed In Bid For Mayor

Councilmen Joe Shields, Henry Folsom Contested
By Sullivan For Mayoralty

In his campaign for election as mayor of the City of Newark, Henry B. Folsom, Jr., has announced a list of questions most frequently presented to him at some 40 coffee parties; in appearance before civic groups; and in his door-to-door contacts with the electorate, and has provided his answers to these questions.

Folsom is opposed by Councilman Joseph A. Shields and by Francis M. Sullivan as candidates for mayor.

To the query concerning city provision of financial aid for the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, Folsom replies "Yes, and I am sure we will increase this aid. Living in center city, I hear how many alarms these men answer. They deserve our sincerest thanks and support."

"Why can't garbage and trash be collected from the rear of the houses to avoid unsightly cans along the street?" Folsom has been asked, and replies that "this is a matter of cost. Our manager has considered other ways that could be done to reduce rates, and his studies and their additional costs be presented to the public for consideration."

Concerning action on sub-standard housing, Folsom states that a housing committee was formed last fall and its recommendations are for no urban renewal; strict enforcement of the minimum housing ordinance; establishment of an occupancy appeal board; and inspection of all potentially sub-standard properties. These recommendations are being followed, Folsom said.

To the question "What is Mr. Neide's job now?" Folsom replies "Mr. Neide is still our city manager and his job has not been changed at all."

Regarding any change in electric rates, Folsom said "Council has asked the city manager to find out what could be done to reduce rates. Our current annual budget is based on a rate reduction."

He said that a consulting firm has completed a rate study for presentation to the new council for enactment of any changes considered "to be to the best interest of the voters and the city."

"Keep in touch with your councilman," Folsom concluded.

Lyndon B. Johnson Leads Student Poll At Christiana High

President Lyndon B. Johnson with 477 votes led the presidential poll conducted recently by the social studies teachers at Christiana High School. Henry Cabot Lodge was runner-up in the student vote with 169, followed by Richard Nixon, 86; Barry Goldwater, 59; and Nelson Rockefeller, 53.

Robert Kennedy received 24 votes; Scranton, 13; Wallace, 16; Romney, 9; and perennial Socialist candidate Norman Thomas, a single vote.

The purpose of the student poll, according to James B. Owen, social studies teacher, is to "provide tomorrow's voters with a practical exercise in democracy."

"Like A Mighty Army" Local Scouts Aid In Goodwill Collection For Handicapped

To paraphrase a well-known hymn "Like a mighty army, moves the Scouts of Newark." This Saturday—Good Turn Day — Boy Scouts will gather using clothing, shoes and other items to provide employment and training for handicapped workers at Goodwill Industries.

Consider for a moment the plight of a typical Goodwill worker — Jerry B., crippled by polio; navigating with considerable difficulty on crutches, encumbered by heavy braces. Jerry looked in vain for employment. He is intelligent. He has a wife and family and possesses all the desires and hopes that we all have, but the doors of industry are closed to him. He is just too slow.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

President Cites Reasons For War On Poverty

By President Lyndon B. Johnson

We are citizens of the richest and most fortunate nation in the history of the world.

One hundred and eighty years ago we were a small country struggling for survival in the margin of a hostile land.

Today we have established a civilization of free men which spans an entire continent.

With the growth of our country has come opportunity for our people—opportunity to educate our children, to use our energies in productive work, to increase our leisure—opportunity for almost every American to hope that through work and talent he could create a better life for himself and his family.

The path forward has not been an easy one.

But we have never lost sight of our goal: an America in which every citizen shares all the opportunities of his society, in which every man has a chance to advance his welfare to the limit of his capacities.

We have come a long way toward this goal.

We still have a long way to go.

The distance which remains is the measure of the great unfinished work of our society.

To finish that work I have called for a national war on poverty. Our objective: total victory.

One-Fifth of Nation Poor

There are millions of Americans—one-fifth of our people—who have not shared in the abundance which has been granted to most of us, and to whom the gates of opportunity have been closed.

What does this poverty mean? What does it endure? It means a daily struggle to secure the necessities for even a meager existence. It means that the abundance, the comforts, the opportunities they see all around them are beyond their grasp.

Worst of all, it means hopelessness for the young. The young man or woman who grows up without a decent education, in a broken home, in a hostile and squalid environment, in ill health or in the face of racial injustice—that young man or woman is often trapped in a life of poverty.

He does not have the skills demanded by a complex society.

There is an old age of the heart, and a youth that never grows old.

—Mary Baker Eddy

Honored As 300 Attend
7th Annual Conference

Some 300 food retailers, wholesalers and brokers from 17 states attended the 7th annual conference on food distribution last week on the University of Delaware campus.

One of the highlights of the event was the presentation of awards to two University of Delaware students; three representatives of the food industry; and the director of the university's food distribution management program.

Scholarships were awarded to Wayne P. Simpson of Houston, Del., and Richard J. Perello, Lyndhurst, N. J. Both are seniors majoring in food distribution management in the department of agricultural economics.

Named Food Distribution Research Scholar of the Year was Robert W. Mueller, editor and publisher of Progressive Grocer magazine. Marie Kiefer, executive director of the National Association of Retail Grocers of the United States, received the award for Food Distribution Educator of the Year.

Both awards were presented by Charles Neugebauer, vice president of Hearn Brothers Supermarkets and chairman of the food trade advisory committee at the university.

Neugebauer was honored by the committee as the Delaware Food Distributor of the Year, receiving his award from Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the university.

A special citation was presented to Robert L. Bull, head of the food distribution management program in the University of Delaware department of agricultural economics, in recognition of his "dedication to the progress of food distribution and to the cause of educating young people for it."

Awards were presented at the annual Delmarvalous chicken banquet, with J. Lewis Powell, author and consultant, as principal speaker. Other speakers at the three-day event include Dr. Gorman Lane, professor of psychology at the University of Delaware.

The Delaware conference on food distribution is sponsored annually by the Agricultural Extension Service at the university.

Vance Funk, Jr. Reelected To Head Newman Club Area

Vance A. Funk, Jr., of Newark was reelected chairman as some 200 Newman Club members of the Middle Atlantic Province attended the provincial conference in Newark last weekend.

Funk, 21, a University of Delaware junior, was named to a second term as chairman during the three-day conference of Catholic students from 33 universities and colleges in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia.

The election followed the keynote address by Dr. Daniel F. Coogan of Brooklyn College, who discussed "The Emerging Layman." Describing the role of laymen in the church over the past 300 years, Coogan said laymen are taking added responsibilities to enable the clergy to devote more time to religious matters.

At a Saturday night banquet the Rev. Michael W. Hyle, bishop of Wilmington, discussed importance of Newman clubs at non-Catholic colleges.

The conference ended Sunday with an outdoor mass at the Catholic Student Center, 57 West Park Place, followed by a communion breakfast.

Raymond's Hens Face Bucknell Twin-Bill With 5-3-1 Record After Southern Trip

Rained out of a scheduled game at Swarthmore yesterday, Coach Harold Raymond's Fighting Blue Hens will seek their sixth and seventh victories of a 5-3-1 season this Saturday in a double-header at Bucknell. Delaware returns home for a Fraser Field stand against Ursinus next Thursday at 4 p.m.

Raymond reviews Delaware's six-game southern trip which concluded Saturday with a 1-0 loss to Georgetown, with mixed emotions.

"We lost five games in the South last year, Raymond reminisced. "This time we were 2-3-1, with all three losses by one run."

Delaware lost 9-8 to East Carolina; 4-3 to North Carolina State, and 1-0 to Georgetown.

"I'm not what you would say ecstatic over the results," Raymond mused, "but there were some bright spots. Up until Saturday's game with Georgetown, I thought we hit rather well, and our fielding has improved. But these southern clubs are too far advanced for us at this early stage."

"That loss to Georgetown was a costly one. In the last of the sixth, Centerfielder Terry Arnold, while in the process of diving for a fast-falling fly ball, bruised his shoulder and had to be taken out of the game. If this hadn't happened, I might have used him to relieve starting pitcher John Shew in the eighth."

Lt. Maurice B. Field, Jr. With U. S. Army In Korea

Army Lt. Maurice B. Field, Jr., whose parents live on Rt. 2, Newark, participated with the 7th Infantry in Exercise SPRING THAW, six-days of field training in Korea ending March 21.

Lt. Field entered the Army in November, 1962, arriving overseas last April.

The 23-year-old officer, a 1958 graduate of Newark High School is a 1962 graduate of Dickinson College, Pa., and a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

At Newark High School "Barney" Field was All-Star center in football. He became football captain at Dickinson.

As a moving memorial to the late Glenn L. Martin, thousands of Canada geese — and one lone snow goose — preened, paddled, gabbled, gambled, honked and hovered last Saturday afternoon on and over the refuge on the Eastern Shore of Maryland near Chestertown, where few if any of these wily wildfowl were exhibiting enthusiasm for the long migratory miles north to the traditional breeding grounds in Canada.

No geese ever had things any better, and a great barn-snow corn crib stocked to the rafters with golden grain was evidence of the lush living provided by the Atlantic Flyway waterfowl by the Remington Farm successors to Mr. Martin's conservation contribution.

Four whitetail deer fed in a clearing near the Remington refuge; a hen quail trotted across the highway as we approached across the highway and a Wilson snipe scaped away from a roadside stand beside a pond as with Bus Humphreys and Gibby Young, we stopped for a close-up bit of bird-watching.

"What's that little bird?" Mr. Young said, first in focus, and Mr. Humphreys said "woodcock." And then the jacksnipe took off in an unsteady fashion, like a twisting, fast, will-o'-the-wisp.

Commercial netters were taking hundreds of pound of rock, shad, and herring, with a sprinkling of perch and catfish from the Chesapeake Bay. A cold, windy Friday night was made worthwhile with the purchase and subsequent frying pan treatment of fresh rockfish aboard the Young Lady tied up at Fisherman's Wharf. Hook and line fishing with live bloodworms from the marina breakwater proved completely unsuccessful. Even the catfish and eels wouldn't bite, and while Honkin' Bus Humphreys talked with the geese on the distant Swan Point Bar, we fished uneventfully on in the spring sunshine while a canvasback hen — wing-crippled in some illegal shooting last season — swam and dove around the hulk of a grounded schooner, occasionally trying out the broken but healing wing in preparation for free flight with her migrant-minded mate.

Capt. Mike Walker Heads Yellowjacket Track, Field Squad

Mike Walker has been elected captain of the Yellowjacket track and field squad at Newark High School. Coach Ray Ciesinski reports.

Walker was a star tackle for Coach Bob Hoffman's Blue Hen Conference football champions of last fall.

The Yellowjackets were rained out of a dual meet with Brandywine last Monday, but are scheduled to meet Conrad in a dual meet here at home this afternoon.

Coach Rylander's Blue Hen Netmen Rated With Best

Coach Roy Rylander's University of Delaware tennis team, potentially the finest in Hen history, swept to victory over Colgate in its March 27 opener on the strength of two sophomores.

Bill Tobin, Jr., and Roger Conant — both of Wilmington — accounted for two singles victories and the Blue Hens' only doubles triumph of the afternoon.

The talented Wilmingtonians have played together as a doubles team since childhood, and their debut as a Delaware varsity duo clinched a 5-4 win in the first meeting between the Hens and Colgate.

Other Delaware singles winners included Robert (Eric) Annett of Milford and Winston Cleland, Wilmington.

Delaware will host the annual Middle Atlantic Conference tennis championships on May 8-9.

Rylander's Hens were rained out at St. Joe's on Monday; were slated to play at home with Penn State yesterday, weather permitting, play at Drexel this Saturday, and at LaSalle next Wednesday.

Stakes Winners Head List For Senatorial At Laurel

Stakes winners Bupers, Repeating, and Ikeya head the nominations to Saturday's Senatorial Stakes at Laurel. The Senatorial, a mile on the grass, is for three-year-olds and will be worth $25,000-added.

Nominations for this important three-year-old race total 37, including 20 horses eligible for either or more of the Triple Crown events.

Nine of the Senatorial nominees have been named to all three classes of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont.

This is the third running of the Senatorial. Vimy Ridge won the first, and Hot Dust captured last year's running.

Some 25 million fishermen in the United States will benefit by an Act of Congress passed in 1960 to insure an adequate supply of trained professionals capable of managing the nation's sport fishing resources.

Surveys reveal a nationwide upsurge of interest in fishing as outdoor recreation, to the point where one man in every four and one woman in every 10 now fish.

In terms of recreation days, the latest figure is 465,769,000 annually and in terms of dollars, sport fishing is almost a $3 billion a year industry.

Demand for more places to fish and better fishing to meet the needs of ever-increasing numbers of fishermen, has created a need for fishery biologists especially trained to manage the nation's sport fishing resources.

To meet this need for fishery professionals, Congress passed the Cooperative Unit Act, authorizing cooperative programs of education, research and extension as related to fishery resources, and establishment of 12 cooperative units. Each unit is supported by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, which supplies leaders and trained assistants; a university which provides housing, office and laboratory space, utilities, access to libraries and other special facilities; and the state fish and game organization, which makes its facilities available wherever feasible, and contributes funds to the project.

For example, the Pennsylvania unit at Penn State University is conducting studies on influence of salt water from old oil fields on stream habitat for game fish. It is known that strong concentrations of salt will totally destroy fresh water fishery habitat and that most fresh water fishes have limited tolerance to salt.

There is some evidence, however, that introduction of small amounts of salt water into fresh water streams actually increases production of streams for game fish. If this theory can be proved, benefits to both the fish and oil industries will result.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day A Crowded Circle

Thoroughbred fans the country over may sing the praises of Kelso and recall the feats of other great geldings, but in the vicinity of Sunland Park, New Mexico, a gelding that gets more than honorable mention is Winsham Lad, "Laddie," as he was popularly called by his fans, is now seven and beginning a life of retirement. His remaining days will be spent romping the pastures of Triple R. Stock Farm owned by Mrs. Reggie Sanders, one of his owners, and the Gwen Robbins Farm at Ruidoso, which is owned by all fourteen of his owners, a group of El Paso women, and under the name of Temulac Stable (Calumet spelled backwards).

Temulac Stable, of which Hazel Haynesworth is President, made the reluctant decision to retire Laddie last fall. The "Board of Directors" feared that Winsham Lad was past his prime and said "We think it would have broken his heart and is certainly would have broken ours, to see him running in the cheaper races. He was a champion here and he should retire a champion." Bought for $5,200 as a yearling, Winsham Lad won 20 of 48 races and $87,055 for his owners.

Perhaps the only person glad to retire Laddie was the track photographer, 14 proud owners crowded around him in the winners' circle presented a problem.

Former NHS Stars Gaglia, Kidwell Score For Flynn

Bob Kidwell and Joe Gaglia — two former track stars for Coach Ray Ciesinski at Newark High School — capped honors for Coach Jimmy Flynn's University of Delaware track and field squad at the Blue Hens won their 31st consecutive dual track meet last Saturday, defeating American University 81-63 in the outdoor season opener at Washington.

Kidwell won the pole vault at 13 ft., and Gaglia finished third in the 880.

Gaglia was captain of the Yellowjacket cross country and track teams, and Kidwell was a two-letterman at Newark High School. Flynn's Flyin' Blue Hens took 10 firsts during the meet, mostly afternoon at the nation's capital.

Delaware was scheduled to compete at Gettysburg yesterday, and the Hens face Temple at home this Saturday on Fraser Field at 2 p.m., with Lehigh coming to town next Wednesday for a 4 p.m. dual meet.

$200,000 In Stakes Races Scheduled For Pimlico

Four stakes races, endowed with $200,000 in added money, have been scheduled for Pimlico's spring meeting opening April 27.

Highlighting the stakes program will be the 88th running of the Preakness Stakes on Saturday, May 16. The $150,000 classic, richest jewel of the Triple Crown, attracted 147 nominations.

Newark Women Golfers Rained Out Of Opener

Rained out of their opening day event last Tuesday, women golfers at the Newark Country Club next scheduled to play in a "get-acquainted" tournament next Tuesday, Jean Sweeney reports.

The women's Classes of Eight Tournament will begin April 20.

Teach Child To Call Telephone Operator In Emergencies, Home Ec Agent Advises

To children, the telephone operator should be as well known and trusted as the corner policeman, according to Mrs. Suzanne Tattall, New Castle County extension agent in home economics. Although youngsters can't be expected to memorize long telephone numbers, they can be taught one rule — if something happens, dial zero — tell the lady what is wrong — and she will help you.

"My Mommie's asleep and won't wake up and there's a fire in our house," was one five-year-old's message to the operator. After a little prodding, the operator learned the boy's name and address, and called the fire department. There was no mistake. Firemen found the house on fire and the mother lying in bed, knocked out by sleeping pills. Both survived, thanks to the child's action.

Another youngster whose mother fell through a floor and was trapped, went directly to the phone and dialed zero. He couldn't remember his Daddy's name, or where he lived, but he rattled off the name and address of his grandparents in short order. The operator called them, got the child's address, and had a doctor on the way in minutes.

Although operators are as ingenious as Sherlock Holmes in tracing calls from small fry, such procedure is a waste of precious time. Encourage your child to memorize his name, his father's name and address.

If you don't have a home phone but have access to a pay phone, don't forget you must have a dime to get the operator. Keep one just for emergencies, taped in a spot known to everyone in the family. Be sure children know how to insert the money and can reach the phone.

Retired Farmer A. W. Clayville Dies

Albert W. Clayville, 72, of Christiana, died Tuesday in Wilmington General Hospital.

A retired farmer, Mr. Clayville had lived near Christiana for 40 years, and was a member of Christiana Methodist Church.

He is survived by his widow, Della R., and three grandchildren. His son was killed several years ago in an airplane accident. His daughter-in-law, Mrs. Donald Clayville, made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Clayville.

Services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. from the Robert T. Jones & Son Funeral Home, Newark, with interment in Gracelawn Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home between 7 and 9 tonight. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests donations to the American Cancer Society, 1925 Lovering Avenue, Wilmington.

Candidates

"Consider major decision for only those items properly placed on agenda and about which councilmen have ample opportunity to probe and evaluate," Shields continued. He advocates determining thinking of the articulate groups comprising a large portion of the city's electorate."

Shields says controversial problems result from a lack of delineation between duties of the city manager and council, and recommends that the manager be instructed as to what he is to do and granted necessary freedom to assume his responsibilities.

Francis M. Sullivan — 351 Paper Mill Road; age 54; resident since 1950; married, three children; graduate of Worcester Poly and Massachusetts Institute of Technology; employed in research and engineering with Robertshaw Controls Co.; active in zoning cases, park facilities, and traffic flow problems.

Sullivan believes the council should make community interest its guiding consideration in all decisions; that the low income housing project be terminated; that the White Clay Creek flood plain opposite North College Avenue be used for a county-sponsored park; and that a new zoning ordinance is needed to prevent a mixture of residential and consumer business properties; low cost housing, industry, and open storage of auto wrecks.

Third District Council Contest

David H. Doehrlert — 115 Dallas Avenue; age 34; seven-year resident; married, three children; Swarthmore undergraduate graduate degrees from Temple, Delaware; employed as experimental specialist and analyst; president of West Park Place PTA; director of Civic League for New Castle County; secretary and founder of Newark Better Government Ass'n., GNRA Pony League baseball coach.

"Council must act now to reduce the load on our major streets by adding new roads connecting residential areas as advised in our new master plan," Doehrlert states. "Our parks and playgrounds are not yet adequate. We can within our present tax rate purchase and develop properties in each part of the city."

Leo Tew — 746 Art Lane; age 43; resident for three years; married, three children; educated at University of North Carolina, USAF pilot school; employed as international airline captain; past president of Air Force Association Diamond State Squadron, past union official in Air Line Pilots Association.

Tew advocates "realistic zoning to promote city growth and respect for residential areas," and eliminating sub-standard buildings through a city beautification program.

Fifth District Candidates

William C. Carter — 213 Cheltenham Road; age 61; resident of Newark area for 33 years; married, two children; educated at public schools in Worcester County, Md., and at Pocomoke City High School; retired farmer, employed as guard at New Castle County Correctional Institution.

Albert P. Chittenden — 301 Bent Lane; age 47; resident 5½ years; married, four children; BSEE, universities of Iowa and Illinois; employed as architectural and civil engineer with DuPont; vice-president of PTA Council; advisor to Greater Newark Recreation Association board of directors; member of mayor's committee on parks and recreation.

"City council and city manager must be separated with definite link of responsibility," Chittenden concludes. "Council should be concerned with policy matters . . . not

The "Beatles" — Medill PTA Version

"Where's Ringo?" ask the rest of the "Beatles" as they make ready for dress rehearsal of the Medill PTA musical parody on the 20th Century — "Those Wonderful Years."

Needless to say, the Beatles represent the year 1964. Hiding behind the guitars and beetle wigs are Mrs. Peter Clark, Mrs. Jo Griffiths, and Mrs. Una Dickey, all members of the Medill PTA.

The program next Thursday and Friday evenings, April 16-17, will begin at 8 p.m. in the Medill cafeteria.

"Those Wonderful Years"

"Kick higher, girls!" shouts musical director Charles Meyers of the Medill PTA show "Those Wonderful Years."

"Ladies" of the chorus are busy going through their paces prior to their performance on April 16-17 in the Medill cafeteria.

In day to day operation of the city, Chittenden urges a more dominant administrative role by the city manager.

Olan R. Thomas — 81 East Cleveland Avenue; age 40; lifelong resident; married, three children; Newark High School grad, attended Goldey Business School; employed in Budd Company sales service; president of Aetna House, Hook & Ladder Co. since 1961; former fire chief.

"I feel that I can be of help in the public operation of the city. I have seen the city grow from a small town to a small city. With this background I feel I can be of help in coping with the many problems that our city is facing because of its rapid growth."

For Charter Commission

J. Robert Brock — 675 Brook Drive; age 52; resident 16 years; married, no children; educated in Wilmington public schools; employed as machine instrument specialist with Pennsylvania Railroad; Boy Scout institutional representative.

"The proposed charter should be fully considered," Brock stated.

Leon W. Case — 140 Capitol Trail; age 74; resident 33 years; attended Marietta (O.) College; retired.

Mrs. Frances Exline, 705 Brook Drive; age "legal"; 8½-year resident; married, two children; AB from Ohio U.; housewife, member of mayor's charter committee, Newark L.W.V.

"I favor in principle, the proposed draft of the charter . . . despite the good intent and effort of the council, there are structural problems which cannot be overcome unless our charter is revised to meet requirements of our growing community," Mrs. Exline reports.

George W. Foster — 301 South Chapel Street; age 48; resident 24 years; married, one child; high school grad, employed as millwright.

Anna E. Gallaher — 150 West Main Street; age 68; resident 63 years; unmarried; BA from University of Delaware; MA from Columbia; retired teacher; member of Newark Business Women's Club, DAR, DAC, and Delta Kappa Gamma.

"I have read it carefully," Miss Gallaher says concerning the charter draft. "But I still have not made up my mind as to whether I favor the new over the old."

Samuel Handloff — 4 Kentway; age 56; resident 45 years; married, two children; AB from University of Delaware; L.B. Penn Law school; attorney-at-law; former Newark city solicitor; member of local charter committee; vice-president Newark Library Commission; former director, Newark Chamber of Commerce.

"The recent tremendous growth in the city makes a new charter desirable," Handloff states.

William R. Kneppshild — 46 Lynn Drive; age 28; five-year resident; married, two children; BS in aeronautical engineering, University of Alabama; graduate work at Virginia and VPI; employed as consultant, project manager in aerospace field; vice-president of Fairfield Crest Civic Association.

Kneppshild advocates charter provision for council as a policy group with the city manager "making work-a-day decisions." Implicit job descriptions are a necessity, he concludes.

William C. Long — 403 Country Club Drive; age 40; five-year resident; married, two children; BSChE
