SUMMER FUN

NEWARK AREA PARKS OFFER VARIETY OF ACTIVITIES

by John
McWhorter

Now that the summer season has officially begun, the opportunity to enjoy the area's city, county and state parks has also arrived.

But with a park in almost every neighborhood, sometimes it's hard to tell just what is available, where it can be found and how to go about using it. However, help is on the way.

To get you through those lazy summer days when it seems there is "nothing to do," the Post has developed a list of the major parks in the area along with some specifics about what each park offers and what is needed to take advantage of those opportunities.

Currently, there are two state parks within easy driving or biking distance and both offer something different to all who visit.

Lums Pond, located just off of Del. 896 south of Glasgow, offers perhaps the most variety and diversity of any local park.

For a $2 fee per car and 50 cents for each individual besides the driver and one passenger, visitors may enjoy swimming under the supervision of lifeguards, hiking around a seven mile nature trail or picnicking under the shade of a nearby tree.

For a $10 refundable deposit, visitors may also borrow most of the equipment needed to play various sports like soccer, tennis, volleyball, horseshoes, softball, badminton and even Frisbee golf.

Available for additional fees to anyone over 18 with a valid driver's license are sailboats, rowboats, canoes, paddleboats and aquabikes. For those who prefer dry land, bicycles may also be rented.

Those who prefer longer than just a day's stay can camp at the park for $7 per night. There are no camper hookups, but hot showers are available.

To the north of the city, Walter S. Carpenter State Park on Del. 896 offers an equestrian center where visitors of any age can ride horses for $10 per hour or receive group riding lessons for slightly more.

Highway priorities listed

City eyes extension of Christina Parkway

The extension of Christina Parkway from Elkton Road to Barksdale Road heads a list of seven Newark highway construction projects which city officials believe could help ease local traffic tie ups.

The list was presented Monday night during the first Newark area roundtable, which brought city, county and state officials together in an informal session. Also attending the meeting were about 30 interested Newark residents.

City officials hope the roundtables will be an ongoing forum in which to air issues of concern to the area and stimulate action to solve problems.

Mayor William Redd said the Christina Parkway extension topped the city's list of priorities because its construction is necessary to cope with congestion and safety hazards on Casho Mill Road.

Other proposed projects include:

- Extending Wyoming Road from Library Avenue to Marrows Road.
  - Erecting signs on Elkton Road and Library Avenue to direct motorists to the central business district.
  - Planting a row of evergreens along Christina Parkway to buffer truck traffic noise which disturbs nearby communities, and encouraging the state to place a truck toll on the Del. 896 ramp to Interstate 95 to discourage truckers from using Christina Parkway.
  - Improving Old Paper Mill Road, perhaps with an extension to Kirkwood Highway.
- Developers of land along the road would be asked to participate in the improvement.
- Updating the micro transportation plan for the central business district.

Phyllis Torres

Artist has had a special interest in autism

by John McWhorter

To Phyllis Torres, making the news is nothing new, it sort of comes with the territory.

Long known in the region for her efforts to improve the treatment of handicapped citizens, she is once again making an impact.

But instead of lobbying bills through the State Legislature and Congress, she is raising eyebrows for a different kind of activity.

This time, it's the art world that is feeling her presence and through her paintings, she is capturing the art critics' hearts much the same way she stole those of the nation's lawmakers.

A painter all her life, Torres had to postpone her artistic endeavors when she was driven to get help for her autistic son Ezio.

"It was really out of necessity," Torres said of her efforts, which resulted in help for many of America's autistic, "because when Ezio was young, there were no programs available to help people like him."

Finally though, after years of trying to get help, Torres found a program for Ezio, and having completed more than four years at Rhode Island's Behavioral Research Institute, Ezio has developed from an uncontrollable child to a productive adult.

"He's doing so well now that he is the one who helps me to have the time to paint," Torres said explaining Ezio's achievements.

"Recently, when I was sick, he stayed home from work and did all the cooking and cleaning, I really don't know what I would do without him," she added.

And now that Torres doesn't have to care for her son 24 hours a day, she is back doing what she loves most, and meeting with significant success.

Last year she won first place for water media at the Rehoboth Art League show and this year, at the Media Arts Festival, she took second place with her "Steamboat" composition.

But just "painting pictures" is not enough for Torres who feels each work should make a statement. Lately, she is working on a series about American women and their recent history.

"I want to talk about the human condition," Torres said, "and I have to take it from a woman's point of view, because that's what I am."

Characterizing her work as "symbolic realism," she feels her paintings relay strong messages. In one piece, she features a Barbie Doll and makes a statement about what Barbie means to the children who play with her.

"Barbie teaches women to be materialistic," Torres said, "the message is that if you don't have all of the houses, clothes and cars, then you aren't successful."

Torres pointed out that by examining children's toys, one can draw strong conclusions about a society and the values instilled on its young.

Likewise, in her award winner "Steamboat," she depicts three women of different ages sitting in the steamroom of a fictitious health club. In the background, is a statue of Venus, the greek goddess of beauty.

In this piece, Torres said she is trying to show the emphasis women place on looking young, but that aging occurs regardless of the preventative measures taken.

She also uses different media to express different moods and relies mostly on oils, pastels and watercolors for her work.

For some of the more traditional pieces, she uses oils, but if she's feeling particularly ambitious, she'll use watercolors which are generally harder to work with.

"The watercolors are the most difficult," Torres explained, "because it (the piece) has to look like it was easy to do."

She said that unlike oils which can be scraped off and reapplied the color has to be laid in and left alone.

"It's funny, they give children watercolors to learn painting, and it's the hardest medium to work with," Torres said, "but it does come out of their clothes."

While a watercolor may be completed quickly because there's no going back, her oil pieces give her the freedom to take her time. The longest has taken about a year to get the desired effect, the shortest only a few hours.

"Some take a long time because I have to paint from memory, and others just seem to paint themselves," Torres said.

But the time element doesn't affect her work, if she gets tired of a piece, she just lays it aside and moves on to another, which helps to keep her fresh.

And this freshness is very apparent. Her bubbly personality and enthusiasm encourage the observer to keep asking questions, just to see her face light up with delight.

"Art is the love of my life," Torres said, "and if I had my way, I'd probably paint all of my life, there's nothing I'd rather be doing."

Newark VFW adopts state's five MIAs

Post holds special Flag Day ceremony

by Bruce Johnson

Newark's J. Allison O'Daniel Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 475 adopted five Delaware servicemen who remain unaccounted for in Southeast Asia during a ceremony held Saturday, June 14 in conjunction with Flag Day.

Addressing the audience of veterans and civilians were U.S. Rep. Tom Carper, Major Gen. Joseph Lank of the Delaware National Guard and Mrs. Paul Meder, who is the wife of a soldier listed as missing in action.

More than 1,792 servicemen still remain unaccounted for in Southeast Asia, and VFW Post 475 adopted all five servicemen who called Delaware home. It is the only VFW post in Delaware to have adopted all five servicemen.

Those missing in action from Delaware are Gene Karl Hess, USAF; Leonard Adrian Bird, USMC; Edward Arlo Willing, USMC; Larry F. Potts, USMC; and Gerald Francis Ayres, USAF.

"We deeply appreciate your efforts to keep this issue alive," said Mrs. Meder in her speech to the veterans. "The Vietnam war is not truly over until this issue is resolved. You, the veterans of foreign wars, walked the hills of Southeast Asia and you know that some of your brothers were left behind. This issue has been maintained mainly because of your efforts."

Near the end of the ceremony, Meder, along with members of the Willing family, helped raise a POW-MIA flag which flew alongside Old Glory over the VFW Post 475 building.

Ceremonial shots were fired and "Taps" was played in recognition of those who fell in action or remain unaccounted for. The ceremony visibly moved several of the veterans.

"I just want to salute the VFW and their actions," said Carper in his closing remarks to the audience. "Because of you, we are able to say that we appreciate the sacrifices that those brave men have made and the sacrifices that their families continue to make. We are able to say that we stand united and as long as there is life in our blood, we will never forget and we will turn over every stone until we have found out what has happened to each of them."

In Lank's speech, he assured the audience that every effort was being made to reach definite conclusions about the missing Americans.

"It is not only a high priority by the government but it is a very contemporary concern of private organizations and the news media," said Lank. "The key to this issue is the Indochinese governments. It is to them that our maximum efforts and our unified efforts are going."

Glowiak will run for Oberle seat

Democrat Stan Glowiak, a teacher at Delcastle High School, announced Monday night that he is a candidate for state representative in east Newark's 24th District.

The seat is currently held by Republican William A. Oberle Jr., majority leader in the House of Representatives.

Glowiak, 38, a resident of Breezewood II, said he is running because "state government must do better."

"We hear a lot about quality these days," he said. "We need more quality in our legislature and in our state services."

Among key issues cited by Glowiak are air and water pollution, education, roads and land use planning. "We've got to stop the illegal storage and dumping of hazardous waste," he said. "Industry must do a better job complying than it is currently doing. Our lives depend on it."

Glowiak, an educator for 15 years, said the state must also provide "quality education for our children and we're not even close to that yet. (It) will cost money, but our children are our future."

The candidate also favors the provision of help for new small businesses, guaranteed pay-equity for working women, increased funds for child and youth services and changes in the criminal justice system.

Glowiak believes there is a need for candidates "who have a deeper sense of economic and social justice."

"We need people who are not afraid to mix morality and values with politics and government," he said. "I believe we must continue making Delaware a good place to do business, but that fairness and justice require us not to ignore those in need among us."

Glowiak has a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Delaware. He has been a teacher of American history and consumer education at Delcastle for 12 years, and for three years before that was a teacher at Ferris School in the State Division of Juvenile Corrections.

A native of Wilmington, Glowiak and wife Mary have lived in the Newark area for 12 years and in Breezewood II for eight years.

Glowiak is chairman of the 24th District Democratic Committee and past president of the Young Democrats of Delaware. He was a state-level delegate for Gary Hart in the 1984 presidential campaign.

A lector and Parish Council member at Resurrection Parish Catholic Church, Glowiak has been active on the Diocese of Wilmington's Justice and Peace Commission, in the Catholic Social Justice Lobby and in the Christian Hunger Lobby.

He is a member of the Sierra Club, Greenpeace and the Consumer's Union.

Glowiak has been a member of the Breezewood II Civic Association since its inception.

Rich Davis

Davis announces re-election bid

Republican Rich Davis has announced that he will seek reelection as state representative in the 26th District.

Davis, 40, a resident of Sherwood Forest, has been the 26th District representative for four years.

He will face a November challenge as two Democrats — Robert Hopkins and Kenneth W. Boulden — have announced their candidacies.

Davis said he is seeking reelection because "I think I have been a strong advocate for the community in terms of some of the pressing problems which are coming along with growth in the district."

The 26th District is undergoing a development boom which Davis said has "created a lot of growing pains."

He has been working to alleviate those pains by maintaining contact with the New Castle County planning agency, County Council and state highway officials.

"The needs of the 26th District have been priority one since I joined the legislature," Davis said. "Our list of accomplishments in the area of road improvements, public safety, controlled development and education is impressive."

Davis cited several, including:

•Scheduled reconstruction of Old Baltimore Pike has been moved up on the state roadway construction priority list.

•Safety hazards on Smalley's Dam Road have been corrected.

•Design work is underway for fall construction of a segment of Newtowne Road to provide a new entrance to Taylortowne and solve safety problems.

•Work toward improved monitoring of emissions from Delaware City industrial plants and towards a safe clean-up of Tybouts Corner.

Davis, a senior research chemist for the DuPont Co. who holds a doctorate from Yale University, is chairman of the Bay American Task Force and the House Public Safety Subcommittee and a member of the House Judiciary Committee and the House Appropriations Committee.

"I learned early in office the difference between being a representative 'for' the district and the representative 'from' the district," Davis said. "The latter is someone seeking bright lights and glamour. That is not me."

"As representative for the district, I listen to the residents and use my knowledge of the system to get their problems addressed, to make the district a better place to live."

Christina students visit Versailles during Back to Back tour.

Americans in Paris

Back to Back exchange students return from France

by Michael Ricci

Parlez-vous francais? Ask this question to the 49 Christina School District fifth graders who visited France this spring and you are sure to be answered with a resounding "oui!"

The students checked out of classes at the district's Bancroft and Bayard Middle Schools on April 22 and spent three weeks traveling and taking courses throughout France.

"They had a survival French class" before leaving the United States said Mary Ellen Kotz, a Bancroft teacher who accompanied the children. But, she said, "I was amazed at the amount of French they picked up."

In addition to attending classes, the children visited French castles, factories and assorted tourist attractions, including Versailles, Paris and the Seine River.

The American schoolkids also presented a 45 minute musical for their French hosts in Jouy En Josas and St. Germaine En Laye, the two towns where they lived with native families during the trip.

Despite increased fear of terrorist attacks and hostilities against Americans arising from the United States-Libyan crisis, the children encountered no security problems in France.

"It was unbelievably secure," said Kotz, who was joined on the trip by Bayard teacher Patricia Allen and counsellors Robin Nelson, Florence Barron and Nora Wallstrum.

However, Kotz said, to ensure the group's safety, the children visited popular spots escorted by their French hosts to avoid looking like American tourists.

Earlier this spring, a similar group of nearly 60 French children visited Newark and spent several weeks taking classes at Bancroft and Bayard.

The French "Found the American community very warm and very giving," Kotz said. "If more programs were based like this, we probably would have world peace very quickly."

The trip, which was started by the Christina School District, cost the American students less than $1,000 and was open to any district student born between 1975 and May 1977.

Plans are already underway for a similar trip scheduled for next spring.

Christina one vote short of DSBA withdrawal

by Michael Ricci

A proposal before the Christina School District Board of Education to withdraw from the Delaware School Boards Association fell one vote short during a meeting Tuesday, June 10.

Three board members voted to withdraw and two voted to remain in DSBA. Because the full board has seven members, the law requires that the four-vote majority be achieved for any motion to carry.

Board Vice President Cynthia E. Oates was not present for the meeting. The seventh seat is vacant until July, when Dona B. Price will be sworn into office.

Of the five board members who cast votes during Tuesday's meeting, only George Evans and Alfred Daniel opposed the motion, which, if passed, would have ended Christina's active participation in the DSBA.

"It would be in our merit to continue (with the DSBA)," said Evans, adding, "The broader our thinking and the broader our contact, the more we will be able to achieve."

"You do not stick your head in the sand (and) you do not withdraw," agreed Daniel, who instead urged the Christina board to actively lobby for improvements within the DSBA.

However, board President Carole Boyd and members James Kent and Georgia Wampler voted to withdraw from the school board association.

Kent cited a lack of communication between Christina and the DSBA as a major reason for his discontent. "We perceive there is a void" in discussions of important legislation affecting the district, he said.

DSBA President-elect Janet Durig, who attended the meeting at the Christina board's invitation, stressed the problems faced by the Association in trying to satisfy demands of districts throughout the state, many of which have different needs than New Castle County's districts.

Of the 49 states nationwide which have school board associations, she said, only Delaware's receives less than $100,000 in yearly funding. Because of this money shortage, Durig continued, the DSBA is unable to hire public relations personnel to help maintain contact among the various districts.

However, Durig said, Delaware can use its small size as an advantage because it allows individual districts to "be unified" to a greater extent than in larger states.

In other matters, the Christina board approved a preliminary 1986-87 budget of $64.3 million. This budget includes a 5 percent increase in funds for supplies and materials, capital outlay and fixed costs.

Last Tuesday's meeting ended with the board in an executive session debating acceptance of the district's personnel report.

The board's next meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 8 in the Administration Building on East Main Street.

Awarded scholarships

Two Newark area high school seniors have been awarded renewable scholarships by the Diamond State Telephone Co.

Laura A. Kenjorski, from Glasgow High School, and Steven W. Leauby, from Wilmington Christian School, both plan to attend the University of Delaware.

Kenjorski is the daughter of Catherine Beyer and lives in Four Seasons.

A Chapel Hill resident, Leauby is the son of Betty J. and Clyde C. Leauby Jr.

The scholarships were awarded on a competitive basis taking into account such factors as academic records, test scores, class ranking, and extra-curricular activities.

Diamond State Telephone established the scholarship program to help finance the higher education of children of its employees.

New principals

Christina School District Superintendent Michael W. Walls has announced the filling of two principal vacancies and the posting of a third. The two vacancies have been filled by lateral moves within the school district.

Dr. Walls announced that effective July 1, Dr. Peter Idstein will be principal of the Etta J. Wilson School on Forge Road in Newark. Idstein is currently Supervisor of Instruction in the district.

The superintendent also announced that effective Jan. 1, 1987, Dr. Barbara J. Webster-Holladay will be principal of the Robert S. Gallaher Elementary School on Brownleaf Road, Newark.

A vacancy at the Brookside School has now been posted and those interested in the position may apply.

All three principal vacancies in the Christina School District came about as the result of retirements. Guzelous Molock, principal of the Wilson School, and Edward James, principal of the Brookside School, retire effective June 30. Floyd Weidman, principal of the Robert S. Gallaher School, will retire effective Dec. 31.

Libraries

Summer schedules

The Christina School District has announced that its Summer Library Program will be in operation from July 1 through Aug. 8.

The program is free to all students who live in the Christina School District regardless of where they attend school during the regular school year. There is no charge of any kind. Only a registration form is needed for the children to take part in the program.

Three schools in the Christina School District have been identified as sites for the Summer Library Program. Each one of them will operate according to the schedule listed below, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

•Brookside School on Marrows Road, Newark, will be open every Tuesday.

•Thomas F. Bayard School, on duPont and Chestnut Streets in Wilmington, will be open every Wednesday.

•Etta J. Wilson School on Forge Road in Newark will be open every Thursday.

The Summer Library Program operates so that young people may continue their reading interests throughout the summer at no charge to them or to their parents. Thousands of books which would be otherwise locked away during the summer are available to these young readers.

For more information about the Christina School District Summer Library Program, call Dr. Barbara Webster-Holladay at 454-2227.

Reunion

Newark '76

The Newark High School Class of 1976 will hold its 10-year reunion on Saturday, Aug. 23 at Clayton Hall on the University of Delaware's north campus.

The reunion will feature a buffet dinner and dancing. It will last from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Anyone who has not yet been contacted should call 328-0682 during evenings, or write: Reunion Committee c/o 525 Delaware St., New Castle, Del. 19720.

Christina

Summer activities

A brochure listing enjoyable summer educational and recreational activities has been prepared by the Christina School District. It is designed to give parents specific information about many programs which are being offered for children during the summer months.

The four-page brochure was prepared by Lorelei C. Shane of the Chapter 1 Program in the Christina School District.

The brochure is available free from the Christina School District. Call Lorelei C. Shane at 454-2107.

John Dean, a parent volunteer at Christiana High School, puts the finishing touches on the school's language laboratory which he completely rebuilt during the 1985-86 school year. Several hundred hours of volunteer effort on the part of Dean will result this fall in the students at Christiana High having a first class language lab in operation. The language lab was installed when Christiana High was built but, because of budget cut-backs, could not be repaired because parts were out. Dean said many of the parts and old equipment had to be rebuilt and some of the motor drive belts had to be custom made. Dean is one of hundreds of men and women in the Christina School District who volunteer their time and talents to benefit the district's 16,000 students.

DOC to showcase student's work

The Newark-based Delaware Doctors Ought to Care organization will unveil the winning entry in its anti-smoking poster contest Wednesday, June 25 on seven billboards throughout New Castle County.

The contest was the finale in an anti-smoking curriculum which was introduced in sixth grade classrooms of four area schools this year by Delaware DOC.

The schools were Bancroft and Pulaski, both of the Christina School District, as well as H.B. duPont and George Read. Kevin Fongemie, the poster contest winner, attends H.B. duPont.

Delaware DOC was founded in 1983 by Dr. Mark Glassner of Newark and is part of the Medical Center of Delaware's Family Practice Residency Program. It is also part of the nonprofit national DOC organization founded in 1977.

DOC's objective is to educate the public, especially children and teens, about the ill effects of poor health habits such as cigarette smoking and alcohol and drug abuse. Delaware DOC's current area of interest has been in cigarette smoking, a deadly habit that kills 360,000 Americans each year and costs more than $60 billion each year to the American public.

"The idea of having a poster contest with the winning poster becoming a billboard has been used by other local DOC chapters across America," says Glassner, president of Delaware DOC. "DOC's orientation is not to tell kids what will happen to them 30 years from now if they smoke; that approach does not work. Instead, we show them how the tobacco and advertising industries, through magazine ads and billboards, are brainwashing them into thinking that if you smoke you'll look great, feel sexy, get rich and have lots of friends just like all those great people in the ads."

"What better way to advertise the success of DOC's efforts here in Delaware than to use the same media that the cigarette companies use — billboards?"

"The seven billboards of the winning poster are scheduled to go up June 25," says Dr. Rebecca Jaffe, secretary-treasurer of Delaware DOC. "We think we have an important message to share with Delawareans and we hope this will help to get it across."

Other people involved in Delaware DOC include Dr. Lori Talbot, a family practice resident; Dr. Pat Panzer, a local family physician; Dr. Dennis Sheehy, another resident; Carson Zullinger, a free lance photographer; Dr. John Yindra, a family physician with Blue Cross HMO; Dr. Joseph Ullman, a radiology resident; Nancy Moore, a nurse practitioner; and Drs. Robert Winer and Jack Scheerer, both family practice residents.

All those interested in obtaining more information about Delaware DOC may write to Delaware DOC, P.O. Box 15052, Newark, Del. 19711, or call 428-2925.

Kids' films

Newark Free Library

Two films for children ages 6-12 will be shown Thursday, June 19 at the Newark Free Library, 750 Library Ave.

The films are "Elizabeth and the Marsh Mystery" and "The Fish from Japan."

While at the library, children can sign up for its summer reading programs. Animal Aerobics is open to children ages 3-6 and Reading Workout is open to children ages 6-12.

For more information about summer reading programs, call the library at 731-7550.

Classes

Scottish dancing

A summer series of classes in Scottish country dancing will be offered on Monday nights in June, July, and August at 8 p.m. at St. Thomas Episcopal Church on South College Avenue in Newark.

The classes are sponsored by the Delaware Valley Branch of the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society. There will be a basic class for beginning dancers, as well as a class for more experienced dancers.

Soft-soled shoes should be worn for dancing. Call Margaret Sarnar at 453-1290 or 366-2989 for more information.

Families

Caring for Elderly

"Discussing Options Before a Crisis" will be the topic of the next meeting of Families Caring for an Elderly Relative.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 24 in Calvary Baptist Church, 215 E. Delaware Ave. It is sponsored by the church and Delaware Cooperative Extension, and is free and open to the public.

Kids stuff

Newark Free Library

A pair of special events for children will be held next week at Newark Free Library, 750 Library Ave.

The first will be the screening of three films during Preschool Story Hour. The library will show "The Tortoise and the Hare," "Puppy's Amazing Bone" and "The House that Jack Built" on Tuesday, June 24.

Preschool Story Hour, which is open to children ages 3-5 to 5, meets each Tuesday at 10:30 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

The second will be a performance of the Roving Jesters, clowns sponsored by the Newark Department of Parks and Recreation, on Thursday, June 26. The Roving Jesters will entertain at 7:30 p.m. in the library's children's section.

For details on these and other children's programs at the library, call 731-7550.

Beekkeepers

U.D. conference

More than 700 members of the Eastern Apicultural Society are preparing to gather for their annual conference Aug. 6-9 at the University of Delaware's Clayton Hall — Christiana Towers complex.

The 3½-day event will include talks on bee management, swarm biology and orientation behaviors, queen control in bee colonies, apitherapy, pollination, beekeeping in China, bee mites, bee photography, and the effects of acid rain on honeybees. In addition, several workshops on hive products are scheduled. There will also be a trade show.

The conference will coincide with two-day beekeeping short courses, one on bee management (Aug. 5), the other on honey (Aug. 6). The Tuesday course will include hands-on experience using gentle University of Delaware bees. The Wednesday course will cover efficient ways to produce extracted and comb honey and profitably market these and other bee products.

Registration for the short courses is separate from that for the conference and costs $30 a course or $55 for both courses. For further short course details, contact Dr. Larry Connor, Beekeeping Education Service, P.O. Box 817, Chesire, CT 06410.

Conference registration is $17 for the entire 3½ days, or $7.50 per day. Deadline for advance registration, including room reservations for those wishing to stay on campus, is July 16. A $10 late fee will be charged after that date.

For further information, contact Dr. Dewey M. Caron, Department of Entomology, University of Delaware, at 451-2526.

Workshops

Fall warblers

The Delaware Museum of Natural History, Del. 42, Greenville, is sponsoring a workshop in the identification of fall warblers on Saturday, Sept. 13 and 20.

This workshop will provide an intensive introduction to a fascinating group of birds. On Saturday, Sept. 13, participants will meet at the museum from 9 a.m. to noon for a lecture-slide-study skin presentation followed a week later, Saturday, Sept. 20, by a field trip to an area where the birds are likely to be found in abundance.

Transportation for the field trip is to be provided by workshop participants with car-pooling encouraged. Participants will need a field guide and binoculars.

The fee for this workshop is $12 for museum members and $16 for non-members. The minimum age for enrollment is 12 years and class size is limited to 15 participants. Registration ends Aug. 29. The course instructor will be David Niles.

To register for this course, send name, address, and phone number and enclose registration fee (make checks payable to DMNH) and mail to: The Delaware Museum of Natural History "Fall Warblers," P.O. Box 3937, Greenville, Del. 19807.

For details, call 658-9111.

W&amp;W

Senior rates

Senior citizens can ride the Wilmington & Western Railroad for half-price on Sunday, June 22.

The normal adult fare of $4 will be cut to $2 for all four excursions — noon, 1:15 p.m., 2:30 p.m. and 3:45 p.m. The team engine-drawn train will leave from Greenbank Station, located on Del. 41 just north of Kirkwood Highway near Price's Corner.

DNES

Craftsmen sought

Reservations for craftsmen interested in selling their work at the Delaware Nature Education Society's 10th annual Harvest & Crafts Festival are now being accepted.

The event will be held 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 12 at the Ashland Nature Center in Hockessin. Table spaces are available indoors and outdoors.

For details, contact Ann Loring at the Ashland Nature Center, telephone 239-2334.

Tag day

Newark American

The Newark American Little League will hold its annual tag day on Friday, June 27. Athletes will be located at various stores throughout the area from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tag day will be held rain or shine.

AAUW

Books sought

The Newark branch of the American Association of University Women accepts donations all year for the annual used book sale held in early March.

In addition to books, the sale accepts records, games, maps, puzzles, posters, and magazines of special interest. For more information and to arrange pick-up, call 731-4647 or 731-4039.

This annual sale benefits the Educational Foundation Program of the American Association of University Women.

YWCA

Summer programs

Summer programs at the YWCA of New Castle County will begin the week of June 16. For a free brochure on programs being offered, contact the Newark Center, 318 S. College Ave., telephone 368-7173.

Convention

VFW Auxiliary

Eight Newark delegates will attend the 50th annual convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Ladies Auxiliaries to be held June 27-28 in Dover.

The Newark delegation, representing Thomas Cooper Auxiliary Post 475, will be led by Auxiliary President Dorothy Pawley.

The official representative of the national VFW Ladies Auxiliaries attending the convention will be Marion Watson, past national president.

Lions honor student

Richard D. Leibfried, a 1986 graduate of Glasgow High School, has been named the recipient of the second annual Glasgow Lions Club $500 scholarship.

The scholarship is awarded based on academic achievement, character and service.

Leibfried was on the school honor roll and was captain of the cross country team, treasurer of the student government and a pole vaulter on the track team. He also participated in the audio-visual program.

Leibfried is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Leibfried of Arbour Park. He plans to major in electrical engineering at the University of Delaware.

Rhodes marks 130 years

by Michael Ricci

When Newarkers take a trip to the drugstore, more often than not they end up at Albert Grant's shop.

Grant has owned and run Rhodes Pharmacy, located at 36 E. Main St., for past 19 of the store's 130 year history.

As proprietor of one of the city's oldest continually operating businesses, Grant has seen numerous changes - both inside and outside the pharmacy - during his tenure.

He attributes Rhodes' longevity and success to "its ability to adapt and to change."

Over the years, the pharmacy has expanded its services, adding deliveries, medical equipment sales, eyeglasses and other goods as the need for such products became apparent.

According to Grant, although Rhodes' service and prime location are important to its success, a major reason customers keep returning is because of "our ability to deal one-on-one with people," a feat he believes large chains of stores cannot match.

"People know we've been here and will always be here," Grant added.

Because of this many of Rhodes' regular customers are members of families his store has served for three or four generations.

And regular customers are sure to deal with another Rhodes trademark - long-time employees. "We all have a common dedication," Grant said. "We don't just hire someone for three or four months."

Grant's store has stood at its current location since 1912, when Dr. George Rhodes moved his drugstore from 168 Main St. to join with another pharmacy at 36 E. Main.

In 1917, Rhodes' storefront was redesigned in a venetian gothic facade, complete with the famous gargoyles that still stare out onto Main Street from above Rhodes' front door.

The pharmacy building was placed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1983, an honor that Grant said, "gives a little bit of incentive not to sell" the store to anyone who would move or shut down the business. Instead, he said, "I'd rather keep it forever."

BUSINESS FILE

Mall

Telecommunications

The history of telecommunications, from its early history to the latest advancements, will be the subject of a display at Christiana Mall from June 19-22.

Sponsored by AT&T, the display will feature some of the world's first telephones. A specially designed exhibit will enable visitors to hear how their voices would have sounded over the telephone in 1920 and how they sound today.

For those who enjoy "high tech," there will be an exhibit showing the stages in the manufacture of fiber optic cable which can transmit up to 400,000 telephone conversations simultaneously.

AT&T representatives will also be available to answer questions about recent changes in long distance telephone service.

Seminar

Management techniques

The Delaware State Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a day long seminar, "Management Techniques for the First-Line Supervisor," on Friday, June 20.

The seminar is designed to train first-line supervisors in management techniques. The course will cover universal management skills, including motivation of subordinates, delegation, time management, and written and oral communications skills.

Presentors at the seminar are: David Bull, General Motors; Robert W. Curry, Diamond State Telephone; Mary Ann Kauffman, Wilmington Savings Fund Society; J. David Sullivan, Columbia Gas; Robert S. Wickes, Wickes, Goll & Co.; and training professionals from Delmarva Power & Light.

The program will take place at the Du Pont Country Club, Rockland and Blackgates Roads, Wilmington, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Registration fees are $105 for State Chamber members and $125 for non-members.

For more information regarding the seminar, contact the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce at 655-7221.

Directory

State Chamber

The Delaware State Chamber of Commerce is preparing for publication of its 1987-1988 Directory of Commerce and Industry and is seeking current information on Delaware businesses for inclusion in the directory.

This comprehensive source book lists six thousand businesses in Delaware by category - alphabetically, by Standard Industrial Code classification, and by geographic location, with a special listing for non-manufacturing businesses.

The State Chamber is requesting all Delaware businesses to get in touch with the State Chamber so that they can be accurately listed in the new directory.

Accurate and timely information should be mailed to the State Chamber by June 20 to this address:

dress: Delaware Directory of Commerce and Industry, Delaware State Chamber of Commerce, One Commerce Center, Suite 200, Wilmington, Del. 19801.

Information should include the name, address, telephone number, name of president or chief operating officer of the business, and the type of business or service.

There is no charge for being listed in the directory.

The Directory of Commerce and Industry is printed every eighteen months and serves as a resource for both local and out-of-state businesses and non-profit organizations.

WSFS

Newarkers promoted

Two Newark residents have been promoted by the Wilmington Savings Fund Society, it was announced last week.

Diane M. Watson was named commercial loans operations supervisor and Karen Kuhn was named construction loan control officer.

Watson attended the University of Delaware and has had training in bank operations through the American Institute of Banking.

Registration will be at 8 a.m. The seminar will begin at 8:30 a.m. and will conclude at 4:30 p.m.

Those who are interested in attending should contact the Delaware Restaurant Association at 366-8565.

Party

Teddy bears

A teddy bear tea party will be held Sunday, June 22 at D'Ignazio's Nottingham Inn by the restaurant and Claire's Bears & Collectibles of Newark.

The party will be held from noon to 4 p.m. at the Nottingham Inn, located on U.S. 272 in Nottingham, Pa. There will be a "beartique" as well as contests for largest bear, tiniest bear, bear-owner look-alike and celebrity look-alike.

Admission is $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for children. Children under 5 will be admitted free. For details or directions, call Claire's Bears at 731-0340.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS FOR THE STATE OF DELAWARE AND FOR THE COUNTY OF CASTLE COUNTY IN RE: CHANGE OF NAME OF BARBARA ANN MOORE, PETITIONER TO BARBARA ANN CARDEN NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that BARBARA ANN MOORE intends to present a Petition to the Court of Common Pleas for the State of Delaware in and for New Castle County to change her name to BARBARA ANN CARDEN.

THE ARTS

by Phil Toman

The 1986 summer festival of the Philadelphia Orchestra is underway at the Mann Music Center in Philadelphia's Fairmont Park. That is always great news for fans of the Philadelphia Orchestra and for all those who enjoy serious music in the beautiful setting of the Mann Center. That certainly includes me.

There is a great deal of tradition involved with the Mann Music Center at 52nd and Riverside Avenue, even though the center is only nine years old. Its beginnings date to 1930 when it was located east of the Schuylkill River and had the name Robin Hood Dell. That's the place many of my generation met the Philadelphia Orchestra for the very first time. Eugene Ormandy even conducted the orchestra there for the first time!

It was during our Bicentennial that the present facility was constructed and given the name of Robin Hood Dell West. It has 5,000 seats under roof and an additional 10,000 seats on the lawn and benches. In 1979, in recognition of his prominent role in the history of Philadelphia's musical life, Frederic R. Mann was honored by having City Council pass an ordinance to name the concert facility the Mann Music Center.

So much for history, as important as it is. Let's get to the concert season which opened last night and which will continue through Aug. 1. Concerts are every Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights this season. Tomorrow and Friday night Series of Beethoven will be conducted by Philadelphia's orchestra. Tomorrow the featured soloist will be Nikita Magaloff performing Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 1 in F-sharp minor, his Opus 1. Also on the program is

On Friday evening Matt Haimovitz will be the cello soloist in Saint-Saens' Cello Concerto No. 1 in A Major, opus 33. Also on the program is Strauss' "Don Juan" and Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 4 in A Major, opus 90, often referred to as "The Italian."

The following week the orchestra will be under the baton of its music director, Riccardo Muti. On Tuesday his guest will be cello soloist Paul Tortelier. On Thursday Mr. Muti will be joined by American soprano Kathleen Battle. Four soloists will join the conductor on Friday, Murray Panitz, flute; Richard Woodhams, oboe; Nolan Miller, horn and Mark Gigliotti, bassoon.

A favorite of Philadelphia audiences for many years, Stanislaw Skrowaczewski will be on the podium the week of July 8, with pianist Horacio Gutierrez as his guest on Tuesday and violinist Shlomo Mintz on Thursday. An all orchestral program is on the bill for Friday.

The fourth week of the Mann Music Center Summer Festival will find Gunther Herbig in command. Young Uck Kim, the violinist, will be soloist on Tuesday, Rudolf Firkusny, a pianist, will be his guest on Thursday, and an orchestral evening is set for Friday.

Two conductors will be featured during the fourth week of the series, July 22. On Tuesday evening David Zinman will conduct with Emanuel Ax as soloist. On Thursday and Friday evening Raymond Leppard will be on the podium. Thursday will be an all orchestral concert and Friday the two soloists joining Mr. Leppard are Sheila Armstrong,

This is a view of the Mann Music Center in Philadelphia's beautiful Fairmont Park. Directly in front is the music shed with a concert underway. Seats are available for sale and free from the City of Philadelphia. Residents from all over the Delaware Valley come here three nights a week for concerts by the Philadelphia Orchestra. It's close to Newark, the music is great, refreshments are available and the atmosphere is strictly informal.

soprano, and David Brown, tenor. The final week of the series will open with two concerts conducted by Zubin Mehta. Leontyne Price, soprano, will join him on Tuesday, July 29, and Florence Quivar, mezzo-soprano with the Women's Chorus of the Mendelssohn Club, will be with Mr. Leppard on Thursday. The final concert will be an all Copland program with Morton Gould conducting. Ezio Flagello, bass, and Martin Bookspan, narrator, will be with Mr. Gould. The Mann Music Center offers 10,000 tickets for each performance free, yours for the asking. You may also become a subscriber for all the concerts in the series. You may join thousands of others in adding great musical enjoyment with the Philadelphia Orchestra this summer by calling (215) 567-0707 for more information. With many of us spending the summer close to home, it is an ideal music haven.

ENTERTAINMENT FILE

Parks

Concert series

The community bands will be playing concerts in New Castle County state parks from 7:30-9 a.m. Thursday, June 19th. The bands will inaugurate the weekly Thursday night concert series, which is free and open to the public.

The Newark Community Band, organized in 1983, has been the catalyst for these outdoor performances. The band will present a program of favorite marches, show tunes, big band swing and light classical selections at 7:30 a.m. Thursday at Carpenter State Park, which is located about two miles north of Newark on Del. 896. Also that night, in Bellevue State Park, 890 Carr Rd., Wilmington, the Diamond State Band will play a free outdoor concert of popular band music. Known locally as the Mt. Pleasant Band, this Diamond State Band has performed for local audiences throughout the years.

On Thursday, June 26, the series continues at the Newark Dixie Ramblers, an organization from the Newark Community Band, in a program of dixieland favorites at Carpenter State Park, starting at 7:30 p.m.

For further information about these and upcoming Thursday evening concerts, call the Delaware Division of Parks and Recreation at 736-4413.

Hooters

Wilmington Cabaret

The Hooters, a Delaware Valley rock band which recently gained national attention, will headline the City of Wilmington's Outdoor Cabaret on Sunday, June 22.

The Cabaret, which will be held from 2-10 p.m. at Fort Christina Park on East 7th Street, will also feature Tommy Conwell's Young Rumbler, the Wilmington Blue Rocks, the Flamin' Caucasians, Honor Society and Separate Checks.

Tickets, at $11.50 apiece, are on sale at Ticketron, Wonderland and

I Like It Like That. Tickets will also be available at the gate the day of the Cabaret for $13.

In case of inclement weather, the event will be held Sunday, June 29.

Other musical events to be held by the City of Wilmington in coming days include: A golden oldies party from 6-9 p.m. Thursday, June 19 in Peter Spencer Plaza on the 800 block of French Street. The first in a series of such events, it will feature WSTW-FM radio personalities John Wilson and Dave Fleetwood.

The Drifters in a Twilight Concert Series performance at 7 p.m. Wednesday, June 25 in Rodney Square at 10th and Market streets. Admission is free.

Crouch

Library exhibit

Oils and pastels by artist Edna Crouch of Smyrna will be on display at the Newark Free Library, 750 Library Ave., through June 21.

The works may be seen from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays.

Mildred Gaddis

Gaddis

Top music teacher

Mildred M. Gaddis of Newark, former professor of piano at the University of Delaware, has been named teacher-of-the-year by the Delaware State Music Teachers Association.

Gaddis, who maintains a piano studio in her Newark home, is the only person to receive this award twice, once in 1974 and now in 1986.

Her past and present students have won many musical honors. Gaddis was also honored recently by the Delaware Alliance for Arts Education.

The Delaware State Music Teachers Association granted its distinguished service award for 1986 to Nancy M. Goodwin, an independent piano teacher in North Wilmington, who has been active in the organization as treasurer and chairperson of its music theory program.

The production will be repeated at 8:15 p.m. on June 28, July 5, 11, 17 and 19 and at 7 p.m. on June 29.

The other repertory production, Shakespeare's comedy "As You Like It," will be presented at 8:15 p.m. on July 4, 10, 12 and 18 and at 7 p.m. on July 6.

Four professional guest artists will be featured in the Summer Repertory Theatre. Tia Riebling, who appears in the film of "A Chorus Line," made her Off-Broadway debut in "Preppies" and "American Passion," and she recently played in the workshop of "Smile," which will open on Broadway in November.

Doug Tompos recently appeared in the Off-Broadway revival of Jerome Kern's "Very Warm for May" and performed regionally in "Crimes of the Heart," "The Lion in Winter" and "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dream Coat."

Jane MacPhail toured extensively throughout Europe and the United States with the Louis Falco Dance Company. Recently, she appeared in the New York productions of "Tell Me No Lies" and "Bring Me Your Love."

Dante Giammarco has had extensive theatrical experience in the Wilmington-Philadelphia area.

Season subscriptions for both shows are on sale at the University Theatre box office in Mitchell Hall at $10 for the general public, $8 for University faculty and staff and senior citizens, and $6 for students.

For ticket reservations and information, call the box office at 451-2204 from noon-5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

Russ Powers (center) keeps Cathy DiLorenzo and Craig A. Hall from embracing in a scene from the Chapel Street Players' production of Jack Sharkey's comedy, "Meanwhile, Back on the Couch..." Directed by Don Pruden, this zany poke at psychiatrists who write lurid novels about their patients' experiences will be staged at 8:15 p.m. on June 20, 21, 27 and 28 in the Players' theater, 27 N. Chapel Street, Newark. Seating will be cabaret style with cash bar and snack service and waitresses. Tickets, at $6.50 each, may be ordered by telephoning 368-2248.

Ensemble

The Highway Ensemble of Arden will present Eugene Ionesco's "Exit the King" at 8 p.m. June 20, 21, 27, 28, and 29, and at 2 p.m. on June 21.

The production, directed by Candice Lloyd, will be held in Arden's Frank Stephens Memorial Outdoor Theatre, Woodland Lane. In the event of rain, the site will be the Arden Gild Hall, 2126 The Highway.

Tickets for the evening performances are $6, $5 for Arden Club members. Matinee prices are $5, $4 for members.

The cast includes Bob Lillich, Tanya Lazar, Alicia Ann Chomo, Steve Gleich, Patricia Jordan, Larry Field and Elaine Gruenke. Reservations, which are optional, may be obtained by phoning 475-7094.

U.D.

Summer theater

The 1986 Professional Summer Repertory Theatre of the University will open at 8:15 p.m., Friday, June 27, in Mitchell Hall, with "The Great American Backstage Musical," a funny fast-paced musical that evokes the world of 1940s Hollywood musicals.

Art

Bleiberg students

Students of Newark's Susan Bleiberg will exhibit their works June 23 through July 12 at Newark Free Library, 750 Ary Ave.

Art works may be seen during regular library hours: 10 a.m. to 9 weekdays and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays.

'Agnes of God' tickets now on sale

A confrontation between the forces of logic and religion forms the crux of "Agnes of God," the summer offering by the University of Delaware's Bacchus Players.

The production will be presented at 8:15 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays, June 27-28 and July 4-5 and 11-12, in the Bacchus Cabaret Theatre of the Perkins Student Center on the University campus on Academy Street.

Tickets, at $7 for the general public and $3 for University students, are on sale at the Student Center main desk.

The play by John Pielmeier was first produced in a staged reading at the 1979 Eugene O'Neill Conference in Waterford, Conn. Introduced in play form at the famous Astors' Theatre of Louisville New Plays Program in 1980, it began a successful Broadway run in 1982, receiving a Best Play citation and a Tony nomination for Geraldine Page's performance as the mother superior.

This is its first local production.

"Agnes of God" concerns a young nun who is found to have given birth and then strangled the baby at an isolated convent. A psychiatrist is appointed to determine whether or not the young woman is fit to stand trial and is assured that the seemingly innocent, naive girl has no recollection of the child or conception.

In her aggressive guest for the facts, the psychiatrist faces the mother superior, a woman of god whose past as a wife and mother gives her a strong knowledge of real world values.

Directed by Barbara Izard, lecturer in psychology, and presented by Jack Sturgell, coordinator of cultural programs, both at the U. of D., this production will feature Martina Haw as the psychiatrist, Ellie Forsberg Young as the mother superior and Ashley Isard as the young nun. All three are veterans of previous Bacchus Players productions.

Lewes festival

Six Newark artisans are among more than 125 exhibitors for the third annual Lewestown Fine Arts & Crafts Festival which will be held Saturday, June 21 in Lewes.

They are Rod Martter, Sharon Fox, Jody Hoffman, Roger Weldy, Barbara Armstrong and Everett Williams.

The festival will open at 10 a.m. and close at 5 p.m. It will be held along two blocks of West Third Street.

Dance

Classes offered

Classes in ballet, jazz and modern dance are being offered by the Dance Network, a Newark-based modern dance ensemble.

Classes will meet in the Dance Network rehearsal studio, located in the Newark New Century Club at East Delaware Avenue and Haines Street. To register, call Linda Moores at 368-0365.

Berry

Art classes

Newark artist Barbara Berry is offering private art classes for children ages 9-13.

Classes include drawing, painting, constructions, and fabric constructions. The first two week session begins June 17 and ends on June 27. The cost is $50 per session.

The second session begins June

30. Most classes meet Monday through Thursday.
For more information or to reserve a place, call 453-0163.

Jazz

Brandywine Museum

Brandywine Jazz & Arts Day will be held Saturday, June 21 at the Brandywine River Museum on U.S. 1 in Chadds Ford, Pa.

The special event is part of the 1986 Mellon Jazz Festival. Entertainment will be as follows:

- 2 p.m. — Settlement Music School Jazz Ensemble on Courtyard stage.
- 3:30 p.m. — Vibraphonist Khan Jamal and guitarist Monnette Sudler.
- 5:30 — The Sonny Fortune Quartet.

Ruark

Poetry fellowship

Gibbons Ruark, professor of English at the University of Delaware, has received his second major poetry fellowship from the National Endowment for the Arts.

Francis Hodsoll, who chairs the NEA, recently announced the fellowship, based on recommendations made by the Literature Program Advisory Panel. The fellowships are awarded to exceptionally talented authors, enabling them to set aside time for writing, research or travel.

Ruark plans to use the award of $20,000 to finance work on a new collection of poetry.

Newarkers contribute to quilt

Three Newark women — Cathy Epperly, Jeanette Pie and Virgene Hertenberg — are among 1,000 women nationwide who have contributed to a 1,000-foot long quilted banner entitled "From Sea to Shining Sea."

In each individual section of the banner, contributors have recreated scenes from the history of their home states.

Epperly, Pie and Hertenberg — all with the Creations Plus craft store in Meadowood II shopping center — designed their section of the banner in blues and beige. It shows the Fightin' Blue Hen, the state bird, and is bordered in diamonds to signify one of Delaware's nicknames, "The Diamond State."

The shape of the state is shown in quilting behind the Blue Hen.

The banner, sponsored by the National Needlework Association, made its debut April 24-27 at the Great American Quilt Festival in New York.

CHURCH FILE

Pencader

Outdoor worship

Pencader Presbyterian Church of Glasgow will celebrate summer with a special outdoor worship and communion service on Sunday, June 22.

The service will begin at 8:30 a.m. with breakfast to follow at 9:15 a.m., according to the Rev. John Oldman, pastor. The public is invited.

Pencader Church is located on Del. 896 at the U.S. 40 intersection.

Caring

...for aging relatives

A program on how families can help care for aging relatives will be held Monday, June 23 at St. Philip's Lutheran Church, 4501 Kirkwood Highway, east of Newark.

The topic will be "Resources for Independence," and will provide information on extending self-reliance to older persons.

The program is offered free of charge, by the Martin Luther Foundation, a Lutheran community services agency. For details, call 654-8886.

Fair

St. Nicholas

St. Nicholas Episcopal Church, located at Chestnut Hill and Old Newark roads, will hold an Outreach Fair from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, June 28.

The fair will include used clothing, books, furniture, games, baked goods, refreshments, flowers, plants, a magic show and a cake walk. A highlight of the fair will be drawings every hour for hand-crafted items.

All proceeds from the fair go to community outreach programs of the church, especially ministering to the hungry, homeless and the disadvantaged. In 1985, St. Nicholas contributed financially or provided volunteers in support of the following local community programs:

- Hope Dining Room.
- Emmanuel Dining Room.
- Emergency Feeding Fund.
- Meals on Wheels.
- Newark Housing Ministry.
- Newark Senior Center.
- St. Nicholas Food Locker.

Bible school

FUN/from 1a

In other parts of the park, picnicking and hiking are available on well-marked trails, along with fishing in the park's two ponds and Frisbee golf.

For those interest in history, there is a monument located in the park designating the point where the three states of Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania join.

Besides the two state parks, there are an abundance of county parks located throughout the Newark area. Some are small, but others are well stocked to serve your recreation needs.

To the south of the city, Becks Pond offers picnicking, fishing and lifeguarded swimming for a 50-cent fee. The park is open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and a boat launching ramp is available.

For a change of pace, try a trip to Iron Hill where you will find a relaxed atmosphere to picnic and a tower which provides a panoramic view of the lower Newark area.

In addition, for $1, one can visit the Iron Hill Museum which provides a unique look into the past when the Hill was used by Indians and mined by Welsh settlers.

To the east, the Middle Run Valley Natural Area presents a unique forest woodland in the middle of a suburban setting. Located off of Paper Mill Road, the area is an excellent place to experience the different forms of wildlife present only in a mature forest area.

Also to the east is the Carousel Farm Riding Stables on Limestone Road, near Pike Creek Valley. For $10 or $12, horseback riding lessons may be taken. Hay rides may be organized and for more romantic people, horse drawn carriages are available.

Beginning this month, Carousel Farm will also host a Monday night folk music concert series which will run into August and will feature many well known fiddlers and bluegrass musicians.

For those who enjoy golf, the Delcastle recreation Area provides a challenging 18-hole course on one side of McKennans Church Road while the other side hosts softball, soccer, football and tee-ball fields in addition to tennis, basketball and volleyball courts.

Closer to home, the City of Newark is well prepared with park facilities, including their most well-equipped, the George Wilson Community Center on New London Road.

The Wilson Center offers a tennis court and two basketball courts in addition to a softball field and, new this year, a swimming pool and kitchen facilities.

Classes in karate and ballet for children and jazzercise for adults will be offered this summer at Wilson Center and for large groups the center may be rented for special occasions.

The Edna C. Dickey Park will be helping to cool the summer heat with a swimming pool. It also has two softball fields, lighted basketball and volleyball courts and a tennis court.

For late night tennis buffs, Barksdale Park has three lighted tennis courts and facilities for softball, basketball, volleyball and soccer.

Across the street from the Barksdale Park, Doubleday Park is available for playing baseball. No softball is allowed in the only park reserved especially for hardball.

All in all, there are 14 other city parks and numerous county parks just waiting for you to run, jump and play all over them. So now when those summer doldrums hit, there's no excuse to not get out and beat them.

Horses — even carriages — available at some parks.

LIST/from 1a

•Requesting a study of the extension of Christina Parkway beyond Barksdale Road north to Nottingham Road (Del. 273).

While several of the projects are relatively inexpensive or easily completed, city officials acknowledged that their top priority — the Christina Parkway extension to Barksdale Road — would be quite expensive and detailed.

However, they said the cost is justified by the need.

Councilman John Suchanec said the extension is necessary to solve "life threatening" problems on Casho Mill Road, problems which will likely increase with the construction of a new housing development adjacent to Fairfield.

"I fear (state highway officials) will not be happy until we get a couple of head-ons at that little constricted underpass on Casho Mill Road," Redd said. "It is an accident waiting to happen, and it is going to happen."

"When we get enough head on collisions there, we're going to get a new road," he added. "It is going to take some deaths before we get it, and that's a damn shame."

State Sen. James Neal of Newark, who attended the roundtable, said it is unlikely the state will agree to the project because it would be very costly. A large part of the cost would be construction of a bridge over the B&O railroad tracks.

Neal said the state is more likely to fund the proposed Wyoming Road extension. It is across flat land and does not require bridge construction.

Those attending generally agreed with the project list, although several Arbour Park residents suggested that the noise control on Christina Parkway be given higher priority.

Fleet Exercise '86

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Albert L. Howell, son of Helen H. Petainek of Brook Drive, Newark, recently participated in Fleet Exercise '86.

Conducted in the Western Atlantic and the Eastern Caribbean, the exercise involved 34 U.S. ships.

Howell participated in anti-surface, anti-air, anti-submarine, electronic and Naval special warfare training.

Howell is currently stationed aboard the replenishment oiler USS Milwaukee, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

A 1978 graduate of Glasgow High School, he joined the Navy in September 1985.

Pro Oberle: Boat bill

As an avid boater, State Rep. William A. Oberle Jr. of Newark is well aware that two hours in the hot sun, with the constant vibration of a motor, can reduce a skipper's reaction time up to 30 percent.

And he is also well aware what the introduction of alcohol into the stress equation can mean — greater fatigue, slower reflexes, accidents, even death.

According to figures reported by the National Transportation Safety Board, more than 1,000 people die each year in boating accidents. More people die in recreational boating accidents than in airplane crashes. More people die in recreational boating accidents than in rail or commercial marine tragedies.

In fact, recreational boating accounts for more fatalities than any other form of transportation save the highways.

Of those 1,000 fatalities, at least one-third of those who died were intoxicated. We say "at least" because in many areas, it is possible for those involved in accidents to fill out the reports themselves and such unpleasanties might not always be noted for the record.

In fact, a study in California showed that alcohol was involved in nearly 60 percent of all boating accidents, with similar percentages for water skiing and swimming.

Alcohol can be especially destructive on the water. People do not spend a lot of time on their boats and so they begin with a bit of natural disorientation. Add to that the fact that traffic can come from myriad directions at widely varied speeds and you can see that a skipper must have all his wits about him to cope safely.

Oberle has been working for more than one year to improve Delaware's laws concerning boating under the influence. It is a worthy cause and one all legislators should study carefully. The Post supports Oberle's position wholeheartedly.

Anti Oberle: Election bill

While State Rep. William A. Oberle Jr. is right on the mark with his proposed boating under the influence legislation, he is well off it in introducing a bill to alter the Newark city charter's election provisions.

The bill would change election day from a Tuesday to a Saturday, and would end the city's dual registration. Currently residents who are registered to vote in federal, state and county elections are not automatically registered to vote in city elections. That they must do separately in the Newark Municipal Building.

The problem is not the value of the proposal (although one must question the good of Saturday elections, given the generally low turnout for Christina school board races), but the fact that Oberle didn't bother to consult the city before introducing the measure.

There are two theories as to why Oberle did it. One is that he merely wanted to stir City Council to act to end dual registration.

The other, touched on by Councilman John Suchanec during Monday night's roundtable, is that the action was purely political. There is still much anger left over from the recent mayoral election, in which William Redd handily defeated Hugh Ferguson despite the fact that city police gave open and vociferous support to Ferguson.

In fact, Oberle explained the legislation saying it was intended to open city elections to more voters and end Newark's "club-type" atmosphere in government. That phrase was heard often from the mouths of Ferguson supporters before and after the election.

State Sen. James Neal, who attended the roundtable, said Oberle's action is "symptomatic of dissatisfaction with people in the city and out of the city with the way the government is being run." And he predicted additional such measures.

There may be a good deal of dissatisfaction, but the best way to change Newark government is from within, not from without. It is a dangerous thing to start trying to run a city government from the state legislative halls, and we hope that method of expressing discontent clings to a halt right now.

We agree with Neal, who said, "To me, that was a real slap in the face. We have no business doing that kind of thing in Dover."

For those who have not had the good fortune to see it yet, the Delaware Heritage Commission is publishing a fascinating newsletter entitled "Fully, Freely and Entirely" in conjunction with the upcoming 200th anniversary of the state's ratification of the U.S. Constitution.

Delaware, of course, was the first state to approve ratification, hence the nickname on your license plate. It did so on Dec. 7, 1786, long before Dec. 7 became a day of infamy. And in so doing, the state delegates wrote that they "fully, freely and entirely approve of, assent to, ratify and confirm" the document. No doubt about their stand!

The summer 1986 issue of the publication contains a variety of interesting articles, including one on Delaware's connection to Richard Nixon. The Nixon family, according to University of Delaware doctoral student Holly Baggett, migrated from Ireland to Delaware.

"Fully, Freely and Entirely" also includes an article about Delaware merchant/mechanic

Oliver Evans, who developed a steam engine and boiler in 1812, as well other historical information, trivia and updates on current events being held in conjunction with the Constitution's bicentennial.

The cover story lists the 15 toasts given aboard the sloop "Willing Maid" of Wilmington on the 4th July, 1791. The toasts commemorated the 15th year of independence, and were as follows:

1. The President of the United States
2. The Vice President and Congress
3. The United States of America
4. May the fourth of July be long remembered by the sons of liberty
5. The Delaware regiment and officers who died in the service of America
6. The governor and other civil officers of the Delaware State
7. The memory of those who fell in the cause of liberty and independence
8. American manufacturers,

OPINION

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Rep. Tom Carper

I take a great deal of pride in my environmental record in Congress. I have worked hard to ensure that our environmental laws — such as the Superfund, Clean Water, and Ocean Dumping Acts — are responsible and reflective of Delaware's priorities. Despite the Congressional efforts that have brought us this far in our fight to preserve our environment, I know that what I and my colleagues do within the hallowed halls of Congress is not enough.

In order to meet our environmental challenges, we must all work together — at every level of government and industry. Cooperation is perhaps most critical in our response to accidents involving hazardous substances.

Delaware is no stranger to the dangers posed to our health and environment by the hazardous materials which surround us in our daily lives. Delaware's numerous Superfund sites are a nagging reminder of the perils of improper toxic materials management. Last year's oil spills in the Delaware River and the temporary closing of a chemical plant in Delaware City further dramatize the importance of emergency preparedness.

These concerns inspired me to become a member of the 16-member Congressional Task Force on Toxic Emergencies. It objective is to work with local communities throughout the country to assess their ability to respond to accidents involving potentially deadly materials. We also hope to encourage cooperation at all levels of government and industry to ensure that response capabilities are sufficient to protect our health and environment from dangerous accidents.

In keeping with this mandate, I conducted a survey late last year of Delaware's fire and police departments, mayors and town managers, state officials, and industry representatives to determine the basic level of preparedness for accidents involving hazardous materials in Delaware.

On Friday June 13, I presented the results of that effort — one of the largest and most in-depth studies ever done on Delaware's toxic emergencies preparedness.

volumes, offers significant insight into out state's emergency response network, and will serve as a valuable resource to those who participated in it, as well as to those public officials and industry professionals involved in environmental safety and emergency planning. It is the first report of its kind to be issued by the Task Force.

Once completed, the combined report from the 16 survey areas investigated by the Task Force should become an invaluable record of the successes and failures of emergency preparedness programs around the country. With that information in hand, we hope that emergency planning and response capabilities across the nation will be enhanced — with a helping hand from local, state and federal agencies, industry, and concerned citizens.

After all, isn't that what

Liability Tough issue

by David N. Levinson

Everybody is talking about the liability insurance crisis. Businesses are experiencing problems with liability insurance availability, affordability, and adequacy. Time magazine recently ran a cover story captioned "America, Your Insurance Has Been Cancelled."

Insurance companies are pointing their collective finger at lawyers, blaming them for outrageous civil jury awards leading to substantial insurance premium increases and outright cancellations. Lawyers are blaming insurance companies for the crisis, accusing the companies of gouging the public in an attempt to make large profits.

The average Delawarean is caught in the middle. He does not know who is right and who is wrong. He knows that he is directly or indirectly suffering as a result of the crisis.

Too much emphasis has been placed on hysterical accusations that add heat and not light to the problem.

Space limitations do not allow me to fully describe the factual genesis and development of the current crisis in this column, but I would like to address just one of the proposed solutions to the crisis, that is, revision of Delaware's Civil Justice System or so-called "Tort Reform."

Nationally, the Civil Justice System has been awarding large sums of money to injured claimants. Above and beyond financially reimbursing claimants for their loss, huge punitive damages are awarded for "pain and suffering."

One view is that by legally mandating a financial cap on pain and suffering awards insurance companies would have less to lose and premiums would go down.

But if the Delaware General Assembly were to legally establish a pain and suffering cap, that legislative action by itself would have little or no effect on premiums charged in Delaware.

Because Delaware is a small state, insurance companies will not set liability insurance rates based on Delaware's own experience. Furthermore, Delaware juries have not awarded large verdicts comparable to other states.

The bottom line is that most other states in the region have much poorer loss experience than Delaware. But the insurance industry does not give Delaware credit for Delaware's lower losses. In short, we in Delaware with our good history are subsidizing individuals and businesses in surrounding states.

Therefore, the solution to the liability insurance crisis must be one designed to separate Delaware from larger, more urban states. Recently House Bill 497 was enacted into law, providing the funds to begin studying a uniquely Delaware solution which our Insurance Department has proposed. This unique solution, which we call a "liability lake," would provide an insurance vehicle to "pool" governmental and commercial insureds in Delaware alone, thus guaranteeing both availability and lower premiums for Delaware.

David N. Levinson is the insurance commissioner for the state of Delaware.

Newarker to swim Channel

Bob Kerrigan hopes to raise funds for cancer research

by Bruce Johnson

If one studies the great adventures of the past, the people who climbed rugged peaks and searched uncharted lands, one discovers they all held fast to a deep commitment that helped them complete their journeys when confronted by adversity.

Newark's Bob Kerrigan is no different. As he trains to swim across the English Channel in mid-August, Kerrigan clings to a purpose that drives him onward when reason orders him to quit. Kerrigan is raising money for cancer research.

"In 1983 my mom died of cancer," said Kerrigan of his mother Norene, for whom he has created a research fund with the American Cancer Society. "In 1984 I wanted to do something for cancer that represented the struggle that cancer victims go through. I don't know how I got to thinking about the English Channel but I like to swim and it represented a struggle and beating the odds."

The odds will be against Kerrigan when he begins the swim. On the average, only 20 percent of the 100 people who attempt the crossing of the Channel yearly complete the 20.6 mile course. Preparing to battle cold temperatures, Channel traffic, wind, jellyfish and tides that often make the swim more than 35 miles, Kerrigan has been taking five-hour plunges in the Atlantic Ocean to prepare for the 15-hour marathon swim.

"We're swimming in the ocean and in the Avondale rock quarry," said Kerrigan, who works in the DuPont Co.'s telecommunications department. "We're doing about seven miles a day, six days a week, as well as doing five hour swims every other Saturday."

Kerrigan added that the five-hour workouts will increase bi-monthly by an hour per swim as the August date draws near.

Besides training long hours, Kerrigan is also trying to gain weight. Normally Kerrigan stands in at 5-5" and 135 pounds, but to offset the 60 degree temperatures of the Channel he is trying to gain 30 pounds.

The extra weight will insulate his body against the cold water. "We discovered that you need at least 20 percent body fat to sustain yourself in the cold water," said Kerrigan, who will swim from Dover, England, to Cap Gris Nez, France. "I need to gain about 10 more pounds and I'm not used to being fat."

One advantage that Kerrigan has over most Channel swimmers is that he will have a partner, Friend Ray Peden of New Castle is also training for the Channel swim this August. The two have not only been training together but they are scheduled to begin the swim together on Aug. 14.

"We have an advantage over most people who plan to swim the Channel because we're so close that we can train together," said

Kirkwood soccer tournament opens Saturday in Newark

What has 6,000 spectators, 118 teams, 2,250 players and 15 playing fields? The 1986 Kirkwood Soccer Club Invitational Tournament, which will be held June 21-23 at four locations in Newark.

The tournament, which will be visited by Gov. Michael N. Castle, is Kirkwood's sixth annual event.

It will include 32 teams from Delaware, 34 from New Jersey, 23 from Pennsylvania, 14 from Maryland, eight from Virginia, three from Connecticut and two from North Carolina.

Teams will be grouped in age categories. There will be seven groups for boys and two for girls.

Contests will be played at the University of Delaware athletic complex on South College Avenue, McVey Elementary School, Glasgow High School and Newark High School.

All finals will be held Monday, June 23 at the University of Delaware.

Admission to all venues is free. The Kirkwood Soccer Club represents about 1,500 players in New Castle County.

A smiling Wendy Weaver anticipates good fortune at the nationals.

Wendy!

Gymnast Wendy Weaver of Scottfield heads for U.S. nationals

by Bruce Johnson

There once was a time when Wendy Weaver, Newark's only elite gymnast, wanted to quit the sport at which she excelled. Having struggled through the sacrifices of training, having suffered 11 broken bones, the pint-sized dynamo was ready to throw in the towel.

"I had broken my arm and it didn't heal right and they had to operate. I was depressed about that and then I broke my wrist on top of it," said the 16-year-old Weaver, who lives in Scottfield with her parents. "I just felt like giving up."

But the Red Lion Christian School sophomore, who attends church regularly, said that a greater power urged her on.

"God helps me a lot," said Weaver with a smile. "I would have quit if I hadn't known God. He's given me the talent and I have to use it for him."

That talent and devotion has pushed Weaver into the United States gymnastic championships to be held in Indianapolis, Ind. from June 19-22. If Weaver can place in the top 20, she will become a member of the traveling U.S. national team which competes around the world.

"I'm a little nervous but I don't feel too much pressure because I'm just happy I got here," said the 4-foot, 11-inch 90-pounder. "My goal was to make it to the nationals and this is just icing on the cake. If I can hit (my routine), I'll do alright but it's going to be tough because everyone from the United States who's any good is going to be there."

Weaver was first introduced to the sport of gymnastics as a seven year old when she followed her sister to Neal Noble's gymnastics class. However, it wasn't until she was 10 years old that she took up the sport full-time.

"I wanted to do both ice skating and gymnastics and my parents said that I had to choose one," said Weaver. "Ice skating looked too hard but I found out gymnastics wasn't easy. I guess I just like flipping around a lot."

When her coach, Dan Furrer, first glanced at Weaver he knew she had the talent to become a national class competitor.

"My first impression of her was that this kid is special," said Furrer, who is the head coach at the First State School of Gymnastics in Wilmington. "She was tough and was not your typical teenage girl. She could excel in any sport."

Furrer believes that Weaver has all the tools to become an Olympic gymnast. She is very strong in the compulsories, is quite flexible, is extremely determined and is cute — an attribute which has proven to be beneficial to gymnasts in the past.

"Anytime there is a connection between the gracefulness and strength of the human body and sport, one of the features is the face," said Furrer. "A lot of the top gymnasts are good looking. If you're cute, subconsciously the judges' scores will go up a bit."

Since qualifying for the national championships, Weaver has been in constant demand. And she handles the attention with a maturity from which veteran professional athletes could learn.

"I try not to let it get to me," said Weaver with an embarrassed grin. "I like it, of course, but I don't think I'm any different from anyone else."

"I don't think the attention phases her at all," said Furrer. "She realizes that she has a lot of work that has to be done. The big step is yet to come and she knows that she has a ways to go to achieve it. She's a real smart kid who knows where she's at and how far she has to climb."

The big step for Weaver is the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul, South Korea. Furrer believes that Weaver has the ability to be more than just a spectator.

"It's still two years away but I think she's got a chance," said Furrer. "Right now her compulsories are real strong, but she needs a few big tricks to make her more competitive in the optionals with the rest of the top gymnasts."

For Weaver, competing in the Olympics would be a dream come true. Yet, she remains quite aware of the many hurdles — and bars and pommel horses — that await her.

Newark's Butch Peppers star of Delaware Wheelchair Games

by Bruce Johnson

Five-year-old Kenny Mellon leaned into the bend at the University of Delaware track, his face etched with pain as he competed in the 200-meter dash. He knew he was dead last and one could see his eyes dart towards the open door which would lead him off the track, away from pain and possible embarrassment.

But Mellon's mind drifted for only a moment and quickly he redirected his gaze to the finish line, where his dad proudly urged him on. With a look of determination, Mellon crossed the finish line in a blaze of glory to the cheers of the audience.

No, he didn't break any records, but the young Mellon, who is disabled, did become one of many successes at Saturday's seventh annual Delaware Wheelchair Games.

More than 75 athletes participated in the three-day meet competing in 60 track and field, swimming and diving events. The games are sanctioned by the National Wheelchair Athletic Association, which is a group member of the U.S. Olympic Committee, and are a qualifying meet for the national championships to be held later this summer.

The Delaware Wheelchair Games began 11 years ago when 26 athletes competed in the Delaware Wheelchair Field Day. Since then, the Games have grown into a regional meet in which athletes from the tri-state area compete with people from as far away as New England, Virginia and even Ohio.

"It's just an overall social outlook for the reality of living," said meet director Federico Cecchetti, who was the original organizer for the Field Day games in 1976. "We're looking at the entire ball and wax of staying healthy and working towards goals and competing in recreational or more serious levels. Not only does it offer the benefits of training and competition but they meet people and make friends with people all across the country."

While some of the less experienced athletes struggled through the trials of competition, many world class athletes also competed, showing new talent and smooth technique. Since the game originated seven years ago, the athletes have recorded six national records at Newark.

"Their performances are truly outstanding when one considers the damages that have taken place to their bodies," said Cecchetti.

One such athlete is Newark's own Butch Peppers. Peppers coasted to victories in the 100-, 200-, 400-, 800-, and 1,500-meter races, the slalom and the weightlifting competition. His performances earned him a place at the U.S. championships at the University of Illinois Sept. 10-14.

However, before that Peppers will travel to Texas to compete in the Veterans National Games, where last year he won gold medals in the 100, 800, 1,500 and slalom races and silver medals in the 200 and 400 and the weightlifting events.

For Peppers, the wheelchair games offer him a chance to participate competitively and excel in a society that often does not grant him opportunities.

"We're a minority as far as population and we're not recognized in the mainstream of the

Nationally known bike freestyler to visit Newark

Nationally-recognized R.L. Osborn and the Redline Freestyle Bicycle Stunt Team will perform two shows on Saturday, June 28 at Wooden Wheels Bike Shop, 274 E. Main St., Newark.

The shows will begin at noon at 3 p.m. Admission is free.

Osborn, who was featured in the May 26 issue of People magazine, and other members of the Redline team will be at Wooden Wheels all day to sign autographs and provide area youngsters with safety and riding tips for performing bicycle freestyle stunts. They will be on hand beginning at 9 a.m.

Bicycle freestyling is aerial and ground gymnastics, performed on a specially equipped winch BMX bicycle.

The tricks performed by these young athletes boggle the mind, a Wooden Wheels spokesman said. Picture a young man soaring up a quarter pipe ramp 12 feet or more into the air, spinning 540 degrees, landing on his wheels and riding off without a blink of an eye or performing phenomenal ground balancing exercises using a rolling bicycle as a parallel bar, he said.

In addition to Osborn and the Redline team, Ned "Peanut" Brown, Delaware's premier skateboarder, and the Wooden Wheels Skateboard Team will conduct a skateboard freestyle jam immediately following each of the shows.

Buccos, Raiders knotted in Newark League series

by Bruce Johnson

After splitting a doubleheader to open the best-of-five Newark Amateur Baseball League championship series Saturday at Doubleday Park, Bob Gildea's Raiders and Leroy Hill's Buccos have found themselves in a best-of-three series.

The series will continue at 11 a.m. Saturday, June 21 at Banning Park in Wilmington with another doubleheader.

The opening pair of games proved to be a battle of pitchers, although both teams expected more offensive production considering the short fence, a strong breeze blowing out and the power of each team's line-up. Instead, the teams were only able to produce four hits in the first game and only one run in the second game.

The Buccos won the first game 5-1 behind the strong pitching of Frank Rurnford, who gave up only two hits in posting his first victory of the season.

"I didn't know I was pitching until about 11 o'clock today and I hadn't thrown in about two and half weeks," said Rurnford with a smile. "I was just letting it fly and hoping it went over. Everything just happened to be working for me and I felt in total control."

Offensively, the Buccos were led by Mike DiGuglielmo's grand slam home run in the bottom of the fourth. The Buccos had fallen behind 1-0 when Raider's pitcher

Brian Honeycutt ran into some control problems. Honeycutt walked three batters and gave up a single and a sacrifice fly which tied the game and set up DiGuglielmo's grand slam.

"He had walked (Allan) Snyder on four pitches so I figured he'd throw it down the middle and I'm a first-ball, fastball hitter," said DiGuglielmo. "I didn't get all of it but the wind helped it and I hit it to the short side of the field. I thought it was either foul or caught, but it sure was nice to get it at that time."

In the second game, the Raiders' Chris Curtis scattered four hits to notch a 1-0 victory — his second of the season — and more importantly, even the series going into next Saturday's doubleheader.

"Going out there and knowing that we have to win put a lot of pressure on me," said Curtis after the game. "But we got the victory and now it's even and it's just like starting over."

The Raiders scored the only run they would need in the bottom of the third. Howard Zebley singled to lead off the inning and when Buccos catcher Billy Dorsey misplayed a sacrifice bunt for an error it put runners on first and second with no outs.

The Buccos appeared to be out of trouble when pitcher Nat Wentling started a double play. With two outs and Zebley on third, Bob Gildea blooped a single to right field which scored Zebley easily from third with the winning run. The Buccos were only able to mount one threat in the game when they put runners on the corners with only one out in the top of the fifth. But Raiders pitcher Curtis was able to pick Buccos Ed Rash off first base to kill the threat.

"I knew he was going to get a big lead and I hadn't thrown over there in awhile," said Curtis of the pick-off play. "I knew he didn't expect me to go over and I think he thought he was safe." Although Rash might have disagreed with the call, Bucco manager Leroy Hill felt that the umpire made the right call.

"He had the steal sign at that point and he was trying to cheat and he just cheated at the wrong time and they picked him off," said Hill. "It was a good call."

Regarding this weekend's games, Hill believes that the Buccos have the advantage in that their two regular starters will return after being unavailable for last Saturday's games. Ex-Phillie minor league Ray Lloyd will start in the first game while Frank Lewis will get the nod in the second.

"I think we have the pitching advantage but hitting wise I believe both teams are fairly equal," said Hill. "In particular, if we can get by their starters they just don't have the relievers which we have."

For the Raiders, manager Michael Foraker believes the future winner will be the team that plays to its potential.

"We just start up all over again," said Foraker. "It's a three game series. There's a lot of talent on both teams. It just depends on who plays the best on that day."

Blue-Gold Rush

5-kilometer race to feature gold coins, Delaware Stadium finish

There may not be a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, but a pot of real gold coins awaits the first male and female finishers in the Blue-Gold Rush footrace in Newark on Saturday, June 28.

What's more, the 3.1-mile event will be timed so that most runners finish in front of about 10,000 fans attending the Blue-Gold All-Star football game, held annually to benefit the mentally retarded.

The first-prize treasure of $150 in gold coins will be presented to the male and female winners. The top three finishers in each of 21 age classes will receive trophies, and the first 500 registrants will receive running singlets.

Sponsored by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Delaware and Delaware Trust Co. in cooperation with the Delaware Sports Club, the race will benefit the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children.

A unique feature of this year's race is a classification for the state's 1986 graduating high school seniors. Joe McNichol, running coach and high school liaison for the All-Star game, said that "We've created this special category to attract the top high school runners in the state. Also, the top runners in the race will be seeded for this fast, flat course."

The out-and-back course, which is certified by The Athletics Congress, starts behind Delaware Stadium, continues out to Chestnut Hill Road, then onto Library Avenue to the turnaround point.

The race will begin at approximately 2:30 p.m., to be coordinated with the All-Star game's half-time festivities. Runners completing the course in less than 27 minutes will cross the finish at the 50-yard-line, after a lap around the stadium, during half-time of the football game.

A variety of refreshments will be available to runners following the race, and additional prizes will be awarded.

Entry fee is $5 until June 25, and $7 thereafter. Registration forms are available at Marathon Sports in Wilmington, or by writing to Blue-Gold Rush, Box 226, Wilmington, Del. 19899.

The Blue-Gold All-Star Game has been held annually since the 1950s. Over the years, the gridiron classic, which pits the state's senior all-stars, has raised more than $1 million to benefit retarded children in Delaware.

All-Star game set June 28

The 31st annual Delaware Blue-Gold All-Star Football Game to benefit the mentally retarded will be played Saturday, June 28 in Delaware Stadium.

Game time is $2. Tickets cost $5 and are available locally from Lions Club members and at Rhodes Pharmacy, 36 E. Main St.

Eleven players from Newark area schools are scheduled to compete on the Gold squad, coached by Rob Schroeder of Cape Henlopen High School.

They are Ken Pierce of Christiana High School; Derrick May, Mike Reeder, Tom Bockius, Kevin O'Hara and Ken Chandler, all of Newark High School; Keith Truitt, Jim Marvel and Vaughn Bond, all of Glasgow High School; and Mike Benefield and John Dzick, both of St. Mark's High School.

One Newark area player, Leonard Hamilton of Caravel Academy, will be competing for the Blue squad coached by George Kosanovich of Concord High School.

The All-Star training camps opened Tuesday.

Although the football game is the highlight of the day, there will be a variety of activities including music and a 5-kilometer run, the Blue-Gold Rush which will include as a competitor the professional boxer Henry Milligan.

Events will kickoff at 11:30 a.m. at Delaware Stadium, located on South College Avenue, with family entertainment. There will be magicians, jugglers, a barbershop quartet and refreshments.

Pre-game activities will begin at 1:30 p.m. inside the stadium when players, queens and cheerleaders meet their "buddies," the retarded children who are the beneficiaries of the annual event.

Kickoff will be at 2 p.m., and shortly before halftime the 5-kilometer run will begin. It will finish inside the stadium during halftime.

Besides the football players, other local students who will be participating in the All-Star event are:

• Queens — Erin Jenkins, Christiana; Krystal Keiser and Alicia Watson, Newark; Marisa Cutroneo and Tracey M. Flynn, St. Mark's; Gayle A. Garza and Tessa Stanley, Caravel; Anita L. Jablonski, Delcastle.

• Cheerleaders — Sherry D. Preske, Christiana; Keri Lawler, Glasgow; Pamela A. Rittberg, Newark; Jennifer Courtney, St. Mark's; Tracey Jacobs, Caravel.

• Band members — Sharon Riale, Christiana; Brian Huebner and Norman T. Marks, Glasgow; Maribeth Chalfont, Joseph A. Di'Ppolito, Leslie Frost, Kenneth Grier, Ken Kaser, Dave Morneau, Kim Spiker, Ted Spiker, Laura M. Tabbv and Chris Timmins, St. Mark's; Gretchen L. Seeds and Pamela Willis, Caravel.

Newark's Bob Kerrigan at his neighborhood pool, Maple Valley.

SWIM/from 1b

Kerrigan. "With only 100 swimmers training this year, it's very rare to get people so close together. When I get tired I know he'll be coming to practice so it really helps out."

Kerrigan is financing the Channel swim out of his own pocket and any money collected goes directly to the Norene Kerrigan Research Fund. He had originally hoped to get a corporate sponsor but was turned down repeatedly. In the end, it was friends from his neighborhood - Maple Valley - offered their assistance.

"It's been frustrating at times because I've had a hard time getting sponsors," said Kerrigan. "Even the Cancer Society told me they couldn't support me. When Maple Valley heard about it, they really supported me. Everybody's been really helpful and it gives me a lot of confidence because they think I'll make it."

"I think it's real exciting to see the speeds that these chairs can go and I wish more of the population would come out and participate and realize what disabled athletes can do and have achieved. Hopefully we'll be more accepted into society regarding employment and other areas."

Ceccotti echoed Peppers' thoughts, and added that volunteer participation in the games can become much more than enjoyable.

"Our long term goal is to create more awareness in the regional and state level and have people come out and get involved and actually see what these people can accomplish," he said. "It's really something because once you get exposed to it, it's really addicting and truly rewarding."

Arden Classic

The second annual Elizabeth Arden Charity Golf Classic, sponsored by Bamberger's, will be held Tuesday, July 8 at the Hercules Country Club.

The event benefits the Delaware Division of the American Cancer Society. Last year's tournament raised more than $6,000 and tournament chairman Billie Mosher, a former Delaware state women's champion, hopes to raise more than that amount this year.

Newark area golfers interested in participating should contact the American Cancer Society office at 654-6267.

NALL

Baseball results

Twins 15, Dodgers 10

In a hot offensive battle, the Twins held off a strong Dodger effort to give pitcher John Veckie the win and Kip Remsburg the save.

Astros 10, Orioles 1

Following a first inning home run by Kevin McCullough, the Astros stopped the previously undefeated Orioles Friday, June 9. Chuck Bedford recorded the win while Matt Lipstone, Jon Cassler, Jack DeLuca and Bedford each had important hits.

Providing strength for the Orioles, Keith Glines had two hits and Kenny Raffel added another.

Indians 8, Cubs 3

Mike Johnston pitched a three-hitter for the Indians in their winning bid against the Cubs. Mark Cohen, Adam Schurman, Randy Farabaugh and Antione Hayman provided the hits for the Indians while Danny Stout added hits for the Cubs.

Astros 6, Twins 1

Jack DeLuca reached for the stars last Saturday when he struck out 14 Twins and added a home run of his own in the Astros' 6-1 win. Mark Zych, Ryan Brough, Anos Alston and Lee Eckell all turned in good hits as did Chuck Bedford who also played fine defense.

For the Twins, Jamie Kuhlman and Mark Bolkovich pitched well. John Leckie and Kuhlman also provided base hits.

Orioles 4, Indians 0

Mike Gerhart pitched a two-hitter to shut out the Indians 4-0 Friday, June 13. He also added two hits while Dave Telep and Tim Gardner each added a hit. Antione Hayman pitched a four hitter for the Indians.

Phillies 13, Twins 5

Chuck Beattie just about stole the whole show Wednesday June 11 when he batted 4 for 4 with two home runs, two doubles and 10 RBI in addition to pitching a four hitter as the Phils stopped the Twins 13-5. Philip Grazela added to the victory by batting 2 for three while Jamie Kuhlman hit two for the Twins.

Phillies 15, Dodgers 14

Ross Millius made a perfect throw to Kip Scannell who was at the plate to stop the tying run in the seventh inning as the Phillies held off the Dodgers 15-14. The win insured the Phils spot in the playoffs.

Millius also added a two-RBI double and Scannell had two hits and four RBI while the Dodgers' David Miller had a two-RBI double.

Twins, 7 Cubs 6

The Twins put together a ninth inning rally behind Mike Broomall's double and Ed Geller's game-winning single to defeat the Cubs 7-6 Friday June 9. Theron Hutton led the Cubs with two doubles.

It is a well-known scientific law that children are driven by forces beyond their control to do anything they can, anytime they can, anywhere they can to embarrass their parents.

Scientists are on the threshold of proving that this overwhelming urge to discredit and confound their elders is built into infant and adolescent DNA. It is not, unfortunately, a recessive gene.

An example will, I am sure, remind every parent of what kind of humiliation I mean. It was at the grocery store in the frozen food section during a half-price, ice cream sale that my three-year-old daughter decided to try out a vocabulary which until that very moment I thought only seasoned sailors knew, and they would have been impressed with at least five of the combinations she strung together. I do not know where or how or from whom she learned Those Words.

Score: Children 1, Parents 0. Remember visiting the pediatrician? My children viewed such visits as a perfect opportunity to humiliate me intentionally. As a result, the family doctor thinks that on my good days I achieve ding-a-ling status on a standard test of intelligence; the rest of the time I hover just below tree stump status.

Fortunately for my sense of self-worth, I have learned that it is not just me and my offspring. Every other mother has faced the same dilemma. How many times have you wangled your way past the demon who answers the doctor's phone to get an appointment that very day because your child kept you up all night with a fever of 103.8 and a hacking cough, only to see your child begin to perk up as you approach to doctor's parking lot. As you park the car, his feverish flush is paling, and as he enters the doctor's office the glaze on his eyes begins to dissolve. By the time you are in the examining room, his forehead is cool as a cucumber, the sparkle is back in his eyes, and he is sitting on the end of the examining table, kicking his heels in a fine old mood.

Then what do you tell the good doctor? "Honest, doctor, he really was sick. Call my neighbor, she will back me up."

By this time the doctor has diagnosed you as an hysterical mother who can't tell the difference between a hangnail and a heart attack.

Score: Children 2, Parents 0.

Thus, the next time the little one gets sick, in order to avoid disgrace and degradation, you tough it out; you pull out all the home remedies. The child seems to be getting better. In fact, he is better. The next week when it is time for his pre-camp physical, you are told by the doctor, who is just about to report you to The Authorities, that the child has walking pneumonia, and he should have been brought in last week. You lose again.

Score: Children 3, Parents 0. Don't forget teachers. How we all dread the twice-yearly teacher's conference and with good reason.

One year I couldn't understand why my child's teacher looked so horrified. What did she have to tell us? We learned the worst. It was not what our pride and joy had done or not done in the classroom or on the playground, it was what he had told her about his family, in general, and his parents, in particular.

As a result of the information he had confided in her, she felt she duty bound contact The Authorities and have us declared unfit parents.

I dared to ask, "What have we done?"

It turned out that the little wretch was cultivating his imagination and honing his dramatic skills because he had set his sights on becoming the head writer for "General Hospital." As can be imagined, our family saga was the talk of the faculty lounge.

Once we convinced her that we were ordinary, garden-variety parents, she was relieved but disappointed. She never did find out if...

Score: Children 4, Parents 0.

Even now, when my children are somewhat older, I am never quite sure how to respond when someone says to me, "Oh, you are their mother, I've been really anxious to meet you."

Final score: Children 975,312, Parents 0.

Nutrition tips

If health is wealth, it pays to maintain good eating habits — especially for older adults.

"While food alone can't make you healthy, eating right can help maintain and improve your health," according to Dr. Sue Snider, University of Delaware extension food and nutrition specialist.

"The average American consumes too many calories from fats and simple sugars," Snider says, and she recommends that around 30 percent of daily calories come from fats, more than 50 percent from carbohydrates, and the remainder from proteins.

Complex carbohydrates, such as those found in beans, peas, nuts, seeds and whole grain products, provide essential nutrients in contrast to simple carbohydrates, such as sugar, which provide little more than calories.

What nutritional areas should older people pay special attention to? One important nutrient is calcium, which is most commonly found in milk and milk products.

Calcium helps keep bones and teeth strong, but many older adults neglect this mineral. "Most adults think that only children need milk to make their bones strong," Snider says. "But if you don't consume enough calcium, your body will take it from your bones, which will then become thin and break more easily."

Eventually this bone-thinning may lead to osteoporosis — or "porous bones" — a major health problem for older adults than can result in serious fractures and tooth decay.

It's never too late to retard bone loss, the nutrition specialist says. At any age, increasing calcium intake helps prevent further thinning. Also, moderate weight-bearing exercise, such as walking, helps keep bones strong.

Adults should consume 800 milligrams of calcium a day — about the equivalent of two glasses of milk. But milk isn't the only source. The following items each contain the approximate calcium content of one 8-ounce glass of milk:

- 1 ounce Swiss cheese.
- 1-1/2 ounces cheddar cheese.
- 1-1/2 cups cooked spinach.
- 1 cup collard greens.
- 3 ounces sardines with bones.

While inexpensive calcium supplements containing dolomite or bone meal are available, Snider doesn't recommend these as they may also contain dangerous levels of lead or mercury. The preferred source of calcium is from food, which also provides other essential nutrients.

Consumption of fluids and fiber is another important dietary consideration for older adults. "Many people are unaware that water is an essential nutrient," Snider says. "It helps carry waste from the body in the form of urine and helps keep stools soft. The body requires more water than thirst suggests. A good guide is to drink six to eight glasses a day; coffee and tea don't count."

Caring has a name... Union Hospital

Laboratory. One of the most vital departments in the hospital, the lab is where tests of body fluids and tissue are performed. The results of these tests influence what diagnoses are made and the type of treatment recommended by your physician. If you have surgery, a pathologist will examine any excised tissue to determine the presence and/or extent of disease.

Emergency Room. Union Hospital's Emergency Room is staffed 24 hours a day...every day of the year, because though emergencies aren't always big, they are always important. The physicians and nurses are specially trained in operating the highly sophisticated equipment and in providing emergency care. Every effort is made to give patients prompt treatment; however, the seriously ill or injured are naturally given first priority. Services are priced accordingly.

Rehabilitative Services. This department provides individualized evaluation and treatment in physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech pathology for both inpatients and outpatients.

Maternity/Birthing Rooms. All the newest concepts in family-centered childbirth are practiced at Union Hospital, including sibling visitation. Two birthing rooms offer the mother a choice of the traditional method of labor and delivery or of entering the birthing suite where she can deliver the baby and go home the same day if there are no complications. Fathers are encouraged to participate in their child's birth and after-care. The latest types of diagnostic equipment are employed to assure safer births.

Radiology. This department includes CT scanning, angiography, mammography, sonography, nuclear medicine, routine diagnostic x-ray studies and tomography (body section scanning).

Pulmonary Function/Respiratory Therapy. The Respiratory Therapy Department at Union Hospital utilizes both preventive and restorative techniques to ensure proper breathing in patients undergoing treatment. Screening for pre-operative patients is routinely administered in order to alert anesthesiologists to possible complications during and after surgery. The most sophisticated equipment and modern techniques are used by the therapists to restore and maintain normal breathing to patients experiencing respiratory distress and those suffering from such respiratory disorders as emphysema, chronic bronchitis and asthma to enhance their quality of life through improved physical capability.

One Day Surgery. Outpatient surgery is handled with the same attention and care as all inpatient surgery. By choosing a hospital setting, the doctor has access to state-of-the-art technical equipment and skilled staff for complete back-up services, just as for any inpatient surgery. Outpatient facilities help to provide an economical yet medically safe alternative to the usual hospital stay.

Health courses

The Newark Emergency Center, 324 E. Main St., is offering four special courses this month. They are as follows:

• Babysitting — This eight-hour Red Cross course is designed to give boys and girls 10 years and older babysitting skills. Basic information for watching children birth to six years old will be provided. Skills include feeding, diapering, burping, safety, first aid and play, and there will be information on growth and development. The cost is $15, and the class will meet from 9-11 a.m. Monday-Thursday, June 23-26 in the Newark Emergency Center.

• Cancer — A lecture by Dr. Lois Mankin of the American Cancer Society will provide information about risk factors and protective factors relating to diet and cancer. The lecture will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, June 24 at the Newark Emergency Center. It is free and open to the public.

• Journey to birth — This March of Dimes program provides information on how a mother's choices can foster or harm her child. The importance of prenatal care and uses of ultrasound examinations are explained. The program will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, June 26 in the Newark Emergency Center. It is free and open to the public. For reservations, call 738-4300.

• Heart-saver — An American Heart Association cardiopulmonary resuscitation "heart-saver" class will be offered to residents 15 years and older. It is free to the public with a $5 deposit which will be returned upon attendance. It will be held 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, June 28 at the Newark Emergency Center.

Meeting

SIDS support

The Parent Monitoring Association, an organization for parents of children at risk of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome, will hold a meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday, June 19 at Faith Baptist Church, 4210 Limestone Rd., near Newark.

There will be an open discussion followed by a refresher course in infant cardio-pulmonary resuscitation.

The meeting is open to parents of children who are at risk of SIDS and who are on infant apnea monitors. Babysitting services will be provided for the monitored children.

The Parent Monitoring Association is sponsored by the Delaware Lung Association and the Medical

UCP

Weekend care

United Cerebral Palsy of Delaware has announced a new program, Weekend Respite Care, for disabled children and adults and their caregivers.

Disabled persons can come to Camp Lenape near Felton at 4 p.m. Friday and stay until 3 p.m. Sunday. A program of activities is planned.

The caregivers are then free to spend the weekend to themselves, to relax and enjoy and at the same time be assured that their disabled family members are being well taken care of.

Weekends will be held in June, July, August, September and October. There will be two qualified respite workers on duty each weekend. Four disabled people will be given respite each weekend.

Camp Lenape is located on Del. 12 between Felton and Frederica. For details, call Mary Crather at 656-8131.

Workshop

Compeer volunteers

Volunteers are being sought by the Mental Health Association in Delaware for its compeer program.

In the program, volunteers befriend persons suffering from emotional illness.

A compeer training workshop will be held Tuesdays, July 8 and 15, at the Delaware Academy of Medicine, 1925 Lovering Ave., Wilmington. For details, call 656-8308.

UNIVERSITY

New Alumni Directors

Four Delaware graduates elected to serve three year terms.

Four University of Delaware alumni have been selected to serve three-year terms on the University of Delaware Alumni Association's board of directors.

New directors are Bonita E. Jackson-Holmes of Newark, who received her bachelor's degree in 1975 and her master's degree in 1984; A. Stephen Lesesene, a 1973 graduate; Gordon A. Pfeiffer, a member of the class of 1956; and Jane Wiley Richter, a 1959 graduate. They assumed office at the Alumni Spring Reunion, held May 3 on the campus.

Jackson-Holmes is an educational diagnostician in the Christina School District.

While a University student, she was a member of the Black Student Union, the Black Theater Group and the U.D. Gospel Ensemble.

She worked as a clerk typist and tutor advisor and was a member of Phi Delta Kappa Rho sorority. She served on the steering committee for the 1986 Summer Alumni College.

Lesesene, a self-employed attorney and a legal underwriter for New York Life Insurance Co., lives in Philadelphia. As a U.D. undergraduate, he served as chief justice of the Student Court and was a member of the political science honor society. As an alumnus, he has worked as a Philadelphia Chapter coordinator and on the steering committee of the 1986 Alumni Summer College.

Lesesene serves on the boards of directors of several Philadelphia area community service organizations.

Pfeiffer, a senior vice president of Mellon Bank, lives in Wilmington. His business career has been associated with the financial institution and its predecessors, Girard Bank and Farmers Bank of the State of Delaware. He is a board member of the Friends of the Wilmington Library, the Grand Opera House Inc. and the Historical Society of Delaware. From 1981 to 1985, he was president of the University of Delaware Library Associates.

Pfeiffer's community service has included work for the Delaware Art Museum and the Greater Wilmington Development Council. He also was involved with the Governor's Task Force on Education for Economic Growth in 1983 and 1984.

Richter of Dover is currently pursuing a graduate degree at the University, and she serves as a Kent County Alumni Chapter coordinator. She is the director of The Little School, a Dover preschool-kindergarten.

A trustee for the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children, she is on the board of the Kent General Hospital and active in the American Association for University Women and several community organizations.

Judging Juries

A new book studies effectiveness of the modern jury.

Trial by jury is a fundamental part of the American judicial system, but it also has been the subject of debate for many years.

Of all criminal cases, only about 8 percent are decided by juries, and jurors' decisions in sensational and controversial trials often are questioned by the general public.

Are juries competent to interpret today's complex laws? Are the famous more likely to be acquitted? Can a lawyer stack a jury? These questions and others are examined in "Judging the Jury" (Plenum Press, New York City) by Dr. Valerie P. Hans, associate professor of criminal justice and psychology at the University of Delaware, and Dr. Neil Vidmar, professor of psychology at the University of Western Ontario in Canada.

Hans Zeisel, coauthor of "The American Jury," said the book has "reassembled and critically reanalyzed the old and new knowledge that we have of that intriguing institution, the jury. And by weaving these research findings into the forever exciting narratives of actual jury trials, the authors have written both an attractive and an important book."

Attorney Melvin Belli called it "most valuable, most worthwhile."

With behind-the-scenes looks at such sensational trials as those of John De Lorean, Jean Harris and John Hinkley, "Judging the Jury" provides a comprehensive look at the jury system.

Hans and Vidmar have incorporated many research findings of the last 20 years that previously had been available only in professional journals. In the book's preface, they write, "As we combined the vivid accounts of individual jury trials with case law and the systematic research studies of social scientists, we gained insights into the functioning and the purposes of the jury that we had not had before."

Beginning with the origins of the jury system, the book chronicles the evolution of the jury over the years, focusing particularly on the historical events that shaped the American jury. A second section looks at jury selection, with an examination of procedures required by courts to select unbiased jurors and the new trend toward "scientific jury selection."

The book's third section looks at jury decisions and how jurors combine their differing perspectives into one verdict. A fourth section examines the jury in controversial types of cases — the insanity defense, cases of rape and the death penalty.

Hans and Vidmar have each conducted jury research for more than 10 years, and they have served as consultants to attorneys and the government.

Hans, a member of the Delaware faculty since 1980, specializes in the areas of psychology and law. She has conducted research studies on factors influencing jurors and on public attitudes toward the courts.

Vidmar has written numerous articles in law reviews and psychology journals. A fellow of the American Psychological Association, he has served as a consultant to lawyers and government about jury behavior, witness evidence and other matters.

UNIVERSITY FILE

Phillies

U.D. night

Thursday, July 3, will be University of Delaware Night at Veterans Stadium.

In addition to the game between the Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds, the event will include pregame ceremonies featuring University representatives and U.D. alumni who are Phillie employees, among them the Phillie Phanatic.

Dr. Andrew Cottle, assistant professor of music at the University, will sing the National Anthem. A fireworks display also is scheduled.

The University section of 600-level reserved seats is located behind third base.

Tickets, at $6 each, may be ordered by writing to: Phillies Group Sales, U. of D. Night, P.O. Box 7575, Philadelphia, PA 19101.

Deadline for receipt of reservations is June 24.

For additional information, contact the University's Office of Alumni Relations, telephone 451-2341.

Institute

Alcoholism, drug abuse

The 13th Summer Institute on Alcoholism, Drug Abuse and Mental Health will be held Monday through Friday, July 21-25, in Clayton Hall on the University of Delaware's north campus in Newark.

The institute will focus on the psychology, treatment and concerns of the black and Hispanic client.

Sponsored by the Division of Alcoholism, Drug Abuse and Mental Health, the University of Delaware College of Urban Affairs and Public Policy, the Bank of Delaware, the Mental Health Association of Delaware and the Delaware Association of Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Counselors, the institute will examine such topics as:

- Black psychology and counseling.
- The Hispanic substance abuser.
- Issues of culture and sensitivity.
- Intercultural communications.

Cost of the institute is $150. For more information on the workshops, call 421-6109 or 421-6210. For a brochure, call 573-4435.

Program

'Poetry in Song'

"Poetry and Prose in Song," a program featuring chamber music and excerpts from James Joyce, Emily Dickinson, Edna St. Vincent Millay and John Donne, will be presented Wednesday, June 25 at the University of Delaware.

The program will be held at 12:15 p.m. in the Ewing Room of Perkins Student Center on Academy Street. It is free and open to the public.

Mezzosoprano Glenda Maurice, associate professor of music at the University, will perform.

Those who attend are invited to bring a sandwich. Free house punch will be served.

Talk

'On Writing Well'

"On Writing Well," a talk by William Zinsser, general editor of the Book-of-the-Month Club, will be held at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, June 26 in Room 100 of the Kirkbridge Lecture Hall on the University of Delaware campus.

The talk is free and open to the public.

A frequent contributor to The New Yorker, Zinsser is the author of 11 books, including "On Writing Well" and "Willies and Dicks: An American Profile." He is a graduate of Princeton University.

Lecture

Prouse case

"Arguing the Prouse Case before the Supreme Court" will be the subject of a talk by David M. Lukoff, assistant public defender for the State of Delaware, on Friday, June 20 at the University of Delaware.

The lecture will begin at 11:30 a.m. in Room 006 of the Kirkbridge Lecture Hall. It is free and open to the public.

Dr. James R. Soles, professor of political science at the University, will serve as host for the program, which is being presented in conjunction with his summer session course on civil liberties.
