1907 Newspaper Aids Emily P. Bissell In Launching Anti-TB Christmas Seals

Just before Christmas in 1907, Emily P. Bissell, a Red Cross volunteer in Wilmington, was seeking some way to raise $500.

Her cousin, a doctor, had asked her to help raise money to complete treatment of eight patients with tuberculosis. Then Miss Bissell read an article by Jacob Rits, Danish-American writer and philanthropist. Rits had received in his mail from Denmark, a Christmas Seal sold there to help support a hospital for tubercular children. He suggested the same thing be done in the United States.

Christmas Seal funds help to find health ill with TB; to provide some of the necessary services for TB patients; and to encourage legislation needed for strengthening public health agencies; and to promote the health of the entire community.

Emily Bissell persuaded a Delaware printer to turn out some seals. They were put on sale for a penny in the Wilmington Post Office, but they didn't sell.

Wanting publicity for her Christmas Seals, she went to the editor of a Philadelphia newspaper, the North American, asking him to run a story about the seals. The editor refused. Christmas, he said, was no time to remind people about tuberculosis, then the leading cause of death in the United States.

On her way out of the newspaper building, Miss Bissell stopped to talk to Leigh Hodge, a columnist for the paper. She told her story to Hodge, who took some seals from her and went to talk to the editor.

Next day, the front page of the Danger Of Chlorine Cited In Bleach-Cleaner Mix

You're asking for trouble when you mix household bleaches and cleaners, warns Coral Morris, University of Delaware home management specialist.

According to the National Safety Council, one homemaker wasn't satisfied with the results derived from using a well-known cleaner in the toilet bowl. In an attempt to clean the bowl better, she added household bleach to the cleaner and stirred the mixture. The acid content of the cleaners liberated chlorine gas when the bleaching compound was added. Death occurred in a matter of minutes.

Household bleaches are solutions of sodium hypochlorite. Acid substances—even vinegar—added to such bleaches will create and release poisonous chlorine.

James Reinhardt Finishes Naval Reserve Training

Near Two-Thirds Of NHS '62 Grads Plan Added Study

Almost two-thirds of the Class of 1962 at Newark High School have continued their education or plan to within the year.

A study, released by Robert W. Mayer, assistant to Wilmer E. Shue, superintendent, reveals that 49 per cent, or 125 of the 255 graduates are in college, university or junior college.

Another seven per cent, or 18, are in some other post-high school, full-time educational institution, such as nurses training school, business or technical school, and four per cent or 11, are attending an evening or part-time post-high school program while employed.

Three per cent or seven, are temporarily employed but plan to enter a post-high school educational program within the year.

Of the 125 in college, 86, or 69 per cent are students at the University of Delaware. This fraction of the graduating class attending the state university matches statistics published last year by Mayer showing college attendance records for the district's graduates over a 15-year period starting in 1946.

The over-all college attendance percentage is higher for this class than the average of 42 per cent of classes since 1946.

Over the CLOVER

by Dean Belt

We arrived in Chicago in fine spirits, with Delaware and Maryland 4-Hers riding together all the way to Chicago. Saturday and Sunday provided some opportunity to catch up on sleep, but the following days will reverse that trend.

Saturday evening, a get-acquainted party was scheduled, and a card party was provided for each person to see how many 4-Hers from different states could be met. This was a great mixer.

Sunday morning, all 1500 delegates attended a church service in the International Ballroom. What a magnificent sight this was. Then again that evening all 1500 of the 4-Hers marched up Michigan Avenue to the Sunday Evening Club for another service. Both were televised, so maybe you saw one of them.

Speaking of television, many of our delegates have been on TV. Shirley Coleman, Nina Tammi, Barbara Kelsey and Janet Lloyd all appeared on various programs from Chicago.

Susan Kirk, Doris Jarmon and Richard Nelson have been active, leading various delegations and discussion groups.

We've been very fortunate to hear some excellent speakers and meet many wonderful people. Many new friendships will be made and kept for the rest of our lives. So to all of you from the Chicago delegates—work hard because the reward is worth it!

Fire Insurance Stressed As Farm Family Need

Recent newspaper headlines told of two disastrous fires—one a large barn near Middletown involving a sizable loss of property, and the other a fire in Milton in which lives were lost. W. T. McAllister, University of Delaware farm management specialist, reports.

"Whenever I read of tragedies such as these I get out the family insurance policies to make sure we are adequately protected against such fires," McAllister continues.

"A sound insurance program is more than protection against loss of life or property. It is an integral part of the family plan for retirement, saving, use of credit, and distribution of property at death. A well-planned insurance program is fundamental to financial planning for farm business and for family security," he says.

To help farmers plan such insurance program, the County Extension Office has two bulletins, "Insurance in the Farm Business" and "Life Insurance for the Farm Family."

NOT TOO QUIETLY!

In an editorial written from its ivory tower somewhat removed from the Newark scene, the Wilmington Evening Journal comments "Newark Moves Ahead — Too Quietly."

We're not too sure just what is an ivory tower, but we know Newark has moved ahead — is continuing to move — and if the author of the editorial admonition had attended 1,100 meetings of Newark City Council over the past decade for a total of some 3,300 hours as has this editor, he would know that Newark's progress has been anything but quiet.

Last week's regular council meeting was a typical, far-from-quiet session, with some three hours of lively discussion of other matters prior to council approval of a professional planning department and recreation advisory committee. These were presented properly under new business near the end of the agenda, and discussion was limited only because the councilman and a majority of the audience had grown weary and gone home.

"Closed-door sessions" have been conducted by council consideration of the Public Administration Service report on our municipal government, but copies of this report are available to the public, and the people have had opportunity to speak on this report at each regular council meeting since the PAS survey was presented.

"No public agency in Delaware can take any official action in closed session. That's the law," the Journal editorial states correctly.

"Newark's mayor and council haven't violated the law's letter," the editorial continues — and we agree with that, — "but they certainly have violated its spirit."

And we heartily disagree with this last, and its reflection on the integrity of our council.

Mayor Carl Rankin and council representatives who have presided in informal closed sessions, are persons of honor, and we believe are striving mightily in the best interests of the people of Newark.

These closed sessions have been held in a conscientious effort to assimilate in a minimum of time, a vast amount of data in the PAS report, for subsequent and more efficient public discussion — not as a devious means for secrecy. Action on any "changes that will greatly affect the interests of Newark" can and will be taken only after public session at the official council table.

"Too Quietly" forsooth! The Evening Journal editorialist take a turn at any councilman's phone — sit for a while at City Manager Francis Neide's desk — answer City Secretary Charles D. Long's telephone during a routine day at the municipal office building — or attend the open meeting of council that are conducted at least twice a month.

Newark Goes Ahead — Too Quietly

NEWARK'S government is in the process of getting revision to match modern growth and responsibilities. The need for improvement is the tenor of the report Newark received from Public Administration Service a month or so ago. But so far, at least, Newark's residents aren't being given much of a chance to make their feelings known on the subject.

Last week two of the recommendations of the report — creation of a planning department and a park advisory board — suddenly became reality. Mayor Carl S. Rankin and City Council produced the changes after a series of closed-door sessions that were ostensibly for the purpose of familiarizing the councilmen with the contents of the report. The public had no chance to speak on the proposals.

This week, Council is to take on the business of drafting a new city charter — again at a work session closed to the public. This time, the results of council's behind-the-scenes activity will be exposed to public

Letters To The Editor

Dec. 3, 1962

Dear Sir:

"All meetings . . . shall be open to attendance by the public." Mrs. D'Orazio should know this. If she has a copy of the city charter, and if she has taken time to read it.

With these words from Sec. 10 of the City Charter, I am replying to her letter to the Post dated Nov. 26, wherein she expresses a feeling that I am not adequately representing the first district by not attending all "meetings."

The "meetings" I refused to attend were not "regularly scheduled" meetings (open to the public). The sessions were "executive," with the general public and members of the press excluded up with "double-talk" language by calling them "informal conferences." Regardless of the terminology applied to them, they were improper.

However, I do thank Mrs. D'Orazio, for in her confusion she presented the opportunity to explain the definition of a "regularly scheduled" meeting as defined by the charter, versus government by way of backroom meetings.

Since Mrs. D'Orazio is new in the community, it may be that she does not have a copy of the city charter. This being the case, I most certainly will get a copy for her, if she will accept my offer.

Truly,
William M. Coverdale
1st District Councilman

Manuscript Of Delaware River Pirates To University Library Collection

David Witherspoon, Jacob Goadin, William Patterson and David Bush—elite daily anxieties caused by the presence of "French and Spanish privateers" in Delaware Bay and the Delaware River, and the defenseless condition of New Castle.

From 1633 an ever-increasing number of saloons requested the Delaware River, shipping ships and carrying off slaves, livestock and valuable from homes along its banks.

By 1747, because of England's wars, the saloons were at their peak. French and Spanish privateers were added to the depredations practiced by local freebooters.

The letters, preserved in the seven volumes, proved prophetic when only a month later, a Spanish privateer of 14 guns and 100 men captured the town of New Castle, proposing to capture a large ship at anchor and then plunder the town. Some residents fled to the town's center, and the privateer before the threat could be carried out.

The letters, additions to the university library's manuscript collection, supplements others preserved as a basis for the study of Delaware's past.

Coach Bob Turnberger's Yellowjackets Defeat All-Stars In TAPON Nite Opener

Coach Bob Turnberger introduced the Newark Yellowjacket High School varsity basketball team to a crowd of some 300 townspeople, administrators of the school, parents, officials, and newsmen at the TAPON Night basketball game at the Newark High School gym last Tuesday night, and the Yellowjackets displayed skill, speed, stamina, and scoring power in defeating an all-star team of former university and high school players, 65-51, in an exhibition game.

Norris Saunders paced Turnberger's varsity with seven field goals and a pair of free shots for 10 points, and Ken Eggleston, Walt Jones, and Leon Wood contributed 12, 10, and 10 points for the Yellowjackets.

Phillips pitcher and former Delaware basketball and baseball star Dallas Green led the all-star cast with 20 points, including 12 field goals.

Coach Turnberger's 1962-63 varsity consists of 12 players with Joe Brothers, Mike Gansous, Art Durham, Ron Wierck, Alan Whitman, Dave Dolz, Mike Mack, and Doug Hunt in addition to Saunders, Jones, and Wood.

The Newark varsity and jayvees will meet their first interscholastic opponents at Claymont on Friday of next week in official season openers with the Indians.

The all-stars in last Tuesday's test for Turnberger's Yellowjackets varsity included former Delaware

Ron McCoy Wins TD Club Awards At Annual Banquet

Senior Fullback Ron McCoy won two top football honors last week at the annual post-season banquet of the Wilmington Touchdown Club.

The Smyrna native — considered one of the most rugged backs in Delaware history — won the Touchdown Club Award as the Blue Hen player who has made the greatest contribution to the success of the team in the judgment of coaches, sportswriters and club members.

McCoy also was the recipient of the Taylor Memorial Trophy given to the Delaware senior who contributes most to team morale and leadership during the season.

McCoy is the first non-team captain to win the award since Joe Lank took it in 1951.

Last year's winner of the TD Club award — defensive back Ken Schrock — is doing graduate work at Delaware, along with Mickey Heineken, 1960 winner of both honors.

Fullback Lee Hackney Ties For 14th In Scoring Race

Co-Captain and fullback for the 1962 Yellowjacket football team, Lee Hackney tied for 14th place in the county scoring race with seven touchdowns for a total of 42 points this season.

Middletown's Gary Simendinger with 15 touchdowns and eight conversions, was the state scoring champion with a 96-point total.

Co-Captain Walt Jones at end, was runner-up in the Yellowjacket scoring department with four touchdowns and 24 points, while Art Duzick, a sophomore end, and tackle, kicked 13 extra points as Newark's third high scorer.

Mike Walker, Walt Jones Named On All-State Teams

Coach Bob Hoffman's Yellowjacket gridgers have been selected on the Delaware All-State Scholastic football teams for 1962.

Mike Walker, a junior, has been named as tackle on the All-State second team, and Co-Capt. Walt Jones has been named as an end on the All-State third team.

Selections were made by the Wilmington Sportswriters and Broadcasters Association on the basis of personal observation and interviews with coaches, officials, and other newsmen.

Mickey Heineken's Frosh Defeat Lehigh In Opener

Coach Mickey Heineken's Delaware freshman basketball squad won a 71-59 battle with the Lehigh counterparts last Saturday night in the season opener.

Denny O'Brien of the Chicks was the game's top scorer with 20 points; Ken Elliott had 18, and Ed Szczorba, 16.

Delaware led at the half 32-29, then broke the game wide open in the closing minutes.

SEASON OPENERS

Delaware's freshmen and varsity wrestlers open the season this Saturday at Havertown, and Coach Harry Rawstorn's mermen launch a new campaign at Franklin & Marshall with a Saturday swim season opener.

Last year's winner of the Newark Touchdown Club Trophy was Jim Smith, end. Beginning with 1957, other winners have been Barney Field and Wayne Crissman, centers; Bob Burton, fullback; and Don Frank, tackle.

The Mayer Brothers Award was won last year by Arnold Saunders, Newark's All-State end. Winners of the award established in 1956 have been Bobby Conway, quarterback; Herman Tubbert, halfback; Eddie Wallace, tackle; Maynard Conkey and Lloyd Wells, halfbacks.

The Newark Touchdown Club Award for the outstanding lineman in the Delaware All-Star High School Football Game for the benefit of the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children, was presented last August to Bob Sylvester, Dover end.

Tickets for the annual banquet may be obtained from any member of the Newark Touchdown Club.

Newark Football Letter-Winners Honored With Yellowjacket Booster Club Banquet

The Newark High School varsity and jayvee football teams were honored, letter-winners were announced, and other awards were presented at the annual football banquet sponsored by the Yellowjacket Booster Club in the high school cafeteria last Saturday night.

Varsity letter-winners are Co-Captains Lee Hackney and Walt Jones; Joe Brothers, Mike Drendall, Mike Kubicki, George Mann, George McCaulley, Mike McGlinchey, Joe Renhardt, and Manager Les Ekland, all seniors. Gold footballs were presented to each of these senior letter-winners, and to Tom Brown and Jerry Wolf, senior members of the varsity squad.

First-time letter-winners are to receive special football jackets from the Yellowjacket Booster Club.

Coach Ed Bearer awarded special letters to members of the Yellowjacket junior varsity who won seven games in an undefeated season.

Major Will Overgaard of the U. S. Marine Corps, former Idaho football star and coach of the Quantic National Service Champions in 1959-60, was the guest speaker, and Dick Smith, football coach at Wesley College, was toastmaster.

Citing competitive sports as vital to the development of the individual, Major Overgaard said that the discipline, sacrifice, courage, and confidence developed on the football field exceeds that provided in any other sport.

He warned that athletic prowess is secondary to academic growth and that "nothing is as old as yesterday's headlines."

"The Marine Corps offers attractive scholarships," Major Overgaard smiled — "free board and room; clothing allowance, and a 20-year retirement plan."

Coach Bob Hoffman presented varsity letters, and in reviewing the 6-2-1 season, expressed his appreciation for the players' effort, and said "nobody out-conditioned us."

Merle Taylor was introduced as the veteran movie-maker for all varsity football games.

Mr. and Mrs. Walt Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hackney were in charge of the football banquet.

Gifts were presented by the football squad to the letter-winners.

North Star Wins Title In Table Tennis League

Final matches in this fall's league play were held by the Newark YWCA Table Tennis Club last Tuesday night, and North Star won the league title, beating Milford Meadows 3-2.

Bufford Harrison, undefeated in league play, led the champions. He finished second, and Lumbrook was third.

Beginning next Tuesday, the club will hold open handicap tournaments with prizes for these weekly events.

Champions' Coach

Coach of Newark High School's 1962 Blue Hen Conference cross-country champions, Ray Ciesinski, has announced that members of the Yellowjacket championship squad will conduct bake sales at three sites this Friday from 3:30 p.m. — at Abbott's Shoe Store on Newark's Main Street, and in the Newark and Brookside shopping centers.

Proceeds from the sale will be used by the champions to entertain their parents at a banquet next Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

"I never saw so many doe — and so few buck," Harold M. "Swede" Swendsen said, returning from a recent deer hunt with his New York brothers Ellis and Glen in the Catskills.

"The only buck I saw were dead," Swede said, citing one particular 12-point antler with a magnificent 200-lb. whitetail with a perfect pair of heavy, six-tined antlers.

There was no open season on the deer staff-side during the Swendsen safari, and these veteran deer hunting brothers would have been but little interested in doe anyhow, having killed their share of deer in the Empire State in years gone by.

Former Mayor Frank Durnall, hunting with Carl Ragan, a 10-m-o-s-t collected a splendidly spangled, cackling cock pheasant flying thunderously from the brush behind Mr. Durnall in some recent heavy going with the Hockessin honeysuckle and briar patches.

"I was standing on the edge of a ditch in a thick cluster of honeysuckle and briars," Frank Durnall declared, "when the pheasant reared up into the air behind me. And as I turned to swing and shoot, I tripped and fell flat in the ditch."

Happily for the former ball-playing backstop, the gun did not go off, and the pheasant flew away — chucking over the whole thing.

Veteran Sportsman Joe Maroussek of Bear, made his annual pilgrimage to Cape Hatteras on the North Carolina Outer Banks at the same time we were fishing the surf to the south with Carl Chirico, Francis Neide, and Gibby Young, off Portsmouth Island at Swash Inlet.

"The fishing was terrible," Mr. Maroussek mused "unless you like skates. We caught more of the biggest skates I ever saw," Joe continued.

"The surf off Cape Hatteras was alive with baitfish, and the wings of the skates were flapping along through the surface as they fed on these baitfish schools."

"We didn't catch a fish," Mr. Maroussek concluded sadly, "but we caught more skates than I care to count. And there are plenty of them right here in Delaware without going to North Carolina after 'em," he added thoughtfully.

Bob Cunningham, hunting with Glenn Dill, Dave King, and Don Royle along the Chesapeake-Delaware Canal last weekend, reports having three good rabbit runs with three good baggies, but these three cottontails remained in the heavy brush and didn't afford a shot.

"They got one rabbit — after I left," Cunningham concluded.

Dave Sysko Leads Wisniewski's With 18 Points In MAC Win Over Lehigh

Underdog Lehigh threw a first class scare into Coach White Wisniewski and his University of Delaware basketball team last Saturday night, before the Fighting Blue Hen rallied to take a 60-54 decision in overtime play at Carpenter Field house in the first game of the season for both Middle Atlantic Conference university division rivals.

A record opening night crowd saw Lehigh drive to a 32-25 lead at halftime; extend the bulge to 15 points with 10:30 left in the second period, and then fall victim to the aroused Hens.

Delaware moved up close to the Engineers with some two minutes remaining and went ahead 54-52 on two free throws by Ron Smith. And then Lehigh tied things up with seven seconds to go.

In the resulting overtime session, Delaware scored with field goals by Smith and Pete Cloud and two free throws by Gerry Gallucci, while the defense held Lehigh scoreless.

Farming Is Big Business

By Jerry L. Webb

1962 and they're doing it on 12 million fewer acres.

Today's farmer combines the talents of businessman, technician, scientist and shepherd to triple his output per hour of work. Along with this increased output, however, have come bigger risks.

By necessity, today's farmer is a gambler, operating a large scale business with a narrow margin of profit squeezed between high expenses and low selling prices.

Last year, farmers sold $35 billion worth of farm produce that cost $27 billion to produce—still they were threatened by drought, flood, disease and a multitude of other natural disasters.

Who benefits from all of this big business? Believe it or not, it's the consumer.

Farmers benefit less and less, even though their efficiency of production has skyrocketed. Farmers now get less of the retail value for their products than ever before.

In 1959, 47 cents out of each consumer food dollar went to the farmer. In 1961, he received only 38 cents out of each food dollar.

The benefits are obvious. Never before have consumers spent such a small part of their income for food. And the food they're getting is the highest quality.

The big benefit of today's big farm business, however, is the assurance that we'll all have enough to eat 20 or 30 years from now.

Farmers are planning ahead; they're learning new methods of production and new techniques of soil and water conservation. They're already producing at record levels. But a further increase is needed. They must be able to feed 260 million people by 1980.

We're all reaping big benefits from this big farm business.

There is as much greatness of mind in acknowledging a good turn, as in doing it.

Care Of African Violets Cited By Dave Tatnall

Now that colder weather is forcing us out of the garden and into the house, you will have more opportunity to watch your house plants, including the popular African violet, remarks Dave Tatnall, assistant agent in ornamental horticulture.

Be sure your African violets are potted in a mixture of equal parts soil, peat moss, and sand. Plants will grow and flower best with indirect sunlight, so a good location would be an east or north window. These plants do well at ordinary room temperature but prefer a rather high humidity.

And an easy method of propagating African violets is by leaf cuttings, Tatnall adds. Cuttings will root readily in sand, vermiculite, or plain water.

Gerald Smith of Newark, is a member of an Ithaca College freshman class of 550, the largest in the 71-year history of the college which has a total enrollment of 1,730, and is expanding on a new 230-acre scenic campus overlooking the city of Ithaca, N. Y., and Cayuga Lake.

Smith, who is enrolled in the department of speech and drama, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Smith, 203 Saturn Drive, Newark.

Judge Hugh Morris Recalls Early Days Of Old College Library, On Eve Of New

Sixty-eight years ago, Hugh M. Morris was a Delaware College freshman who occasionally studied in a one-room library in Old College. The library housed less than 10,000 volumes, had no card catalog and received the part-time attention of Prof. George A. Harter.

Some months ago, the University of Delaware's board of trustees announced that the new library under construction on the central campus would be named in honor of Morris, a Sussex Countyman whose stature and accomplishments as an individual have paralleled the growth and development of the university with which he has been so intimately associated for more than six decades.

Judge Morris clearly recalls his early experience in the Delaware College library.

"I visited it on one or two occasions," he said, "but it contained only a few government documents and old books of little interest to me. Both the Delta Phi Literary Society, of which I was a member, and the Athenaeum Society had much better collections in the East and West Wings of Old College. Those interested in novels and the humanities usually turned to these libraries rather than to the college collection."

After finishing his undergraduate work in 1894, Morris returned to the campus in the fall of that year for independent graduate study. In a humorous and paradoxical reflection for a man who became recognized as one of the most brilliant

President John A. Perkins said, "Judge Morris has been delighted to discover, is a leader who does not let one down. He seemingly has none of the human frailties."

Christmas Party Planned By Newark Garden Club

The Newark Garden Club will meet next Monday at the home of Mrs. Charles W. Dusham, 35 Ritter Lane at 8 p.m., with a Christmas party, and reviews of books and articles on Christmas.

Members are asked to bring an arrangement in keeping with the season, and some small item of interest to flower growers to be used in a grab bag.

A Christmas workshop will be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Loretta P. Kelsey, 103 Dallas Avenue, this Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon, to make Christmas arrangements, wreaths, and decorations for the Newark Library.

Other large or small which prevent most of us from living constantly according to the dictates of our better selves. I have been fortunate in sharing with him a great mutual concern and responsibility—the thing about which he does care greatly—the University of Delaware.

SANDRA SCOTT AT WOOSTER

Sandra Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott, 111 Tanglewood Lane, has been elected the new social club as a sophomore history major at the College of Wooster, O.

Undoubtedly, Morris and his turn-of-the-century classmates were aware of the paucity of the library's holdings, the lack of a full-time librarian, the limited library hours and the struggle of the times to obtain a worthwhile, working collection of useful books and periodicals. Perhaps, even in those dreary circumstances, young Morris could dream of the future.

well-being of the university and of his contributions to it.

But whatever his thoughts, it is fitting, indeed, that the new library, with its 110,000 sq. ft. of floor space, its 800,000-book capacity, its reference room, music room, audio-visual devices, and reading staff, will bear the name of a man with a special interest in books who has gone so much to bring the University of Delaware to a position of eminence.

Brown, Ware Top Delaware Offense In 7-2 Campaign

Final 1962 football statistics released by the University of Delaware show that Halfback Mike Brown retained the rushing and total offense crown he won last season, but senior Halfback Clint Ware graded away Brown's rushing title and that the Blue Hens' 7-2 record was reflected in final team statistics.

"The Hens' ground attack is considered the most important contribution to their Middle Atlantic Conference supremacy, and their best overall season since 1959.

The 196-pound Brown carried 59 times in '62, the same as in his sophomore season. He gained 433 yards, 29 more than last year's team-leading figure, and averaged 4.9 yards per-carry. In 1961, Brown averaged 4.3, best among the regulars.

John Wallace, 160-pound Pittman, N. J. native, gained 83 yards in the season finale with Bucknell to top fullback Ron McCoy for second place in rushing. Wallace had a 4.2 necessary average on 233 yards in 56 attempts.

McCoy, of Smyrna, was third with 269 yards in 64 carries for a 4.2 average.

Ware, 155-pound Salem, N. J. resident, scored his seventh touchdown on Nov. 17, against Bucknell, giving him a one-touchdown margin over Brown and the MAC scoring title. All seven Ware TD's were scored in MAC games.

Ted Kempki led the Hens' defensively underemphasized passing attack, although he threw very little after mid-season. The 175-pound senior quarterback from Wilmington completed 28 of 58 attempts for 361 yards. He tossed four TD aerials and two conversion passes, and was intercepted five times.

Kempki's understudy, Junior Chuck Zolak of Danora, Pa., went six-for-nine against Bucknell to finish with an 18-for-43 passing record for 204 yards and one touchdown. The pass receiving figures reveal that Southern End Wes Firth is the leader, catching nine passes for 107 yards.

Joe Slobojan, 160-pound Glenoldie, Pa. resident, was second with six catches for 88 yards and a touchdown.

The Delaware punting average shot up to 33.1 for nine games after senior defensive back Fred Hulle took over the punting with three games to go. The bulky Chester (Pa.) product had a 33.8 average for 13 punts.

In total offense, Delaware averaged 262.3 against opponents' 202.4. The Hens scored 31 touchdowns and 219 points to opponents' 11 TD's and 76 points.

These men are responsible for administration of the national farm programs in the county, with headquarters in the Grange Shopping Center on the Middletown-Warwick Road.

Read, chief engineer for the Du Pont Company from 1946 until his retirement in 1959, and a member of the University of Delaware board of trustees, died suddenly at 68 at his home at Westover Hills, Wilmington, last Saturday. He was preparing to attend a meeting at the university when he collapsed without warning. He had not been ill.

Need For European Trade Cited By DCIA Speaker

Someone is throwing stones into the European economic pond, according to Claude W. Gifford, associate editor of Farm Journal, and the ripples are spreading around the world.

Speaking to the Delaware Crop Improvement Association at its annual awards banquet in Dover on Nov. 29, Gifford reported his first hand observations of the European economic community and proposed a plan of action for American farmers to consider.

"Unless the United States wakes up soon and fights hard for its trade in Europe, we will see a shrinking market for U. S. farm goods in the area of the world where we ship two-thirds of the farm exports that we sell for dollars," Gifford said.

Marine Larry Banks Cites Distasteful Side Opportunity

Corporal Larry Banks, U. S. Marine Corps recruiter on duty in the Newark Post Office from 1 to 3 p.m. each Monday, reports that Marine Corps opportunities are not confined to men.

"Career and vocational opportunities for young women in today's Marine Corps are virtually unlimited," Corporal Banks said.

"In our modern Force in Readiness, we have young men and women working in nearly all technical fields — electronics, data processing, aircraft control, and communications," the local Marine Corps recruiter reports.
