

68 Arrested In Past Month; 21 Motorists Fined For Speeding

Last month's hot weather failed to discourage Newark's underworld. Police made 68 arrests in June, only two less than during the previous month, according to Chief William Cunningham's report.

Twenty-one speeding violations made up the bulk of the arrests, according to Cunningham.

The police also carried out 10 investigations, including five accidents, three reports of missing persons, all of whom were found, the apprehension of one fugitive from justice who was turned over to authorities in Pennsylvania, and a high voltage wire reported lying on the street.

In addition to the speeding fines, arrests were made as follows: drunken driving, 4; passing stop sign, 7; drunkenness, 3; discharging fireworks, 2; playing red light, 9; drunk and disorderly, 2; no operator's license, 4; disorderly conduct, 4; trespassing, 1; failing to stop at police officer's command, 1; improper turn, 1; passing at intersection, 1; carrying concealed deadly weapons, 1; driving on wrong side of road, 2; assault and battery, 2; improper muffler, 1.

Two persons were held for the Family Court and three for the Court of Sessions. Two were sent to the Delaware State Prison. One case was dismissed.

The police also investigated 25 reports of faulty street lights.

A total of 275 phone calls were handled during the 30-day period. The police covered 3647 miles and the motorcycle 1206 miles.

Seven Newark ROTC Cadets At Ft. Bliss

Seven Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets, all of Newark and students at the University of Delaware, are attending the annual Fort Bliss ROTC Summer Camp to complete field training requirements for commissions as Second Lieutenants in the Anti-Aircraft Artillery, Army Reserve Corps.

The Newark cadets are among over 100 ROTC cadets representing 28 colleges and universities in the United States and Puerto Rico. It is the first time all anti-aircraft college ROTC cadets have trained together.

During the camp, which lasts six weeks, the cadets are receiving instruction and practical training in the use of the 40-mm and 90-mm anti-aircraft gun, gunnery, small arms, and in troop leadership.

Attending the camp from Newark are Robert J. Davis, Jr., 61 Thompson St.; Richard A. Engberg, 48 Thompson St.; John L. Fossett, 17 Center St.; Joseph E. McCormick, RFD No. 1; Joseph M. Sweeney, 34 North St.; James J. Semar, No. 6 Prospect Ave.; and Earl W. Walker, Jr., 12 Annabella St., Newark.

Minor Auto Mishaps Reported Here Past Week

Two auto accidents, involving minor damage and no serious injuries to occupants, occurred here the past week, both on Monday, according to police.

The left front door of a parked car owned by Mrs. Elsie Stradley, Newark, RD, was smashed when Mrs. Stradley opened it in the path of an approaching truck. The latter was driven by John T. Castelow, Newark.

The accident took place on East Main Street near the A & P Supermarket.

About half an hour earlier, a car owned by Eugene Bourcier of Philadelphia plowed into a truck operated by Leslie Sheffield.

Both vehicles were going north on South Chapel Street. Murtter tried to turn the truck just as it was making left turn into Ashley Road, according to police.

Volunteers Answer 3 Alarms Past Week

The Aetna volunteers answered three calls for the past week, the first shortly after midnight last Wednesday when a fire broke out in a ditch near the Lady of Grace Home, Ogletown.

A serious damage was reported. The early morning hours of Friday saw Newark firemen joined with a number of other companies in fighting a fire at the farm of Charles Brown, near Bear Station. The barn and a wagon shed were completely destroyed, according to Aetna officials, who have not yet received an estimate of the loss.

At 12:43 a.m. Saturday, the Aetna volunteers rushed to support the Elton firemen in fighting a blaze at the Elton Triumph plant. The fire was under control when the Newark unit arrived.

Fines On Books Out While Library Was Closed

The town library has reopened at its new location in the east end of the Academy Building. The hours are unchanged: Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and Friday evening.

Officials said yesterday no fines will be charged for books which were out during the period the library was closed for moving, provided these books are returned during the week of July 16.

It's Fun To Go Around In Circles

Mayor Wallace Johnson looks quite at home on a merry-go-round, indicating he's picked up a lot of experience in the local political whirl. He's shown here at the firemen's carnival last Thursday, when town and Aetna officials played hosts to children from Our Lady of Grace Home, Ogletown.

Last Thursday was a red letter day in the lives of some 40 youngsters of Our Lady of Grace Home, Ogletown, when they were guests of the Aetna volunteers at the firemen's carnival here.

The youngsters and four nuns of the school faculty spent the afternoon at the carnival. The concessions were thrown open to them and there was a bountiful supply of free hot dogs and soda pop.

Just as excited and pleased as the children were the Aetna firemen under John Cunningham, carnival chairman. They rode the merry-go-round and swilled pop and had a fine time with their guests. One and all agreed it was a great day.

The carnival proved an outstanding success financially, according to Mr. Cunningham. Rain marred the festivities only one night.

Winner of the grand prize, a new 4-door sedan fully equipped was Leroy Campbell, according to the prize list released by Cunningham.

Other awards were: electric refrigerator, Morton Gregg, 46 Choate Street; TV console set, Deborah Ann Foster, North East, Md.; complete service for six, Marion C. Barrow, 23 Lovette Avenue; dinette set, George Irwin, 133 East Cleveland Avenue; electric washer, Rosaline Dale, Newark RD 2; rug, Reba Keithley, Elkton RD 3.

Proposed Homes Here Number More Than Existing Dwellings

New homes proposed for this area total well over the number of dwellings now existing in Newark. Four proposed projects in and near town call for some 2100 dwelling units.

The latest project is the $12,250,000 Brookside Park, plans for which were announced on Tuesday. The 1,200 home development, which will start to spring up soon on the southeastern outskirts of town, will include a $250,000 shopping and recreation center.

The ranch type homes will be located on a 265-acre tract made up of the former Jones, McCall and Waples farm lands along South Chapel Street extended. The farms were reportedly purchased at a total cost of $262,000 by the builders, Brookside Park Associates, Inc., Trenton, N.J.

The new town boundaries, effective Tuesday with the approval of the new charter, extend to the northern limits of the development. The builders are willing to have the area incorporated in the town, it was said.

The shopping and recreational facilities to be erected on the site of the house on the Jones farm will be the center of the development.

Two other large scale housing projects are still under consideration here. The first is a 400-unit apartment house proposed for the Wilson tract southeast of the town below Read Village.

The other is a 450-row type home development slated for the former Pemberton property on Elkton Road. It was reported this week that plans for the latter have failed to receive the okay of the county's Regional Planning Commission. The developers, Casselmac, Inc., of Philadelphia, are now ready to apply to the Town Council for a building permit, since the new town boundaries make the proposed development a part of the town and beyond the county's authority.

Construction of the first homes in the Brookside project will begin as soon as the engineers, Van Demark and Lynch, Inc., of Wilmington, have completed their survey of the property.

Under the present plans the first homes will be ready for occupancy by fall. The whole project is expected to be completed in two years' time.

Price range of the homes will be from $9,000 to $14,000. Approximately 800 of them will cost $9,000 and will have two bedrooms, while the others will range up to $14,000 and will have three bedrooms.

The unique feature of the development is the extensive planning for recreational facilities.

The Brookside Park Associates plan the placing of a swimming pool, tennis courts, baseball diamond and playground.

Install H. Schaumann As Head Of Rotary; Windgate Officers

Rodney Dann Is Vice-President On New Club Slate

Holger Schaumann, Capitol Trail, was installed as president of the Newark Rotary Club, succeeding Joseph Shields, in ceremonies Monday night at the organization's weekly dinner meeting.

Officiating was the Rev. Thomas V. Windgate, former Rotary district governor, who has presided at every local installation since 1938 when the club received its charter.

Inducted with Mr. Schaumann were: Rodney Dann, vice-president; Hugh Gibb, secretary; Alec Richards, treasurer; and Joseph Bryan and Hugh Gulledge, directors.

In a brief talk, Mr. Windgate described the growth of Rotary from three members and one club to 8000 clubs with over 300,000 members throughout the world.

At the previous week's meeting, the members heard a talk on the Delaware Memorial Bridge by Homer R. Seely, one of the project's chief engineers and a member of the Newark Rotary Club.

With the aid of slide films, Mr. Seely brought the members up to date on the progress of the bridge. Close-up views of intricate construction problems were shown along with over-all shots of the bridge as it slowly takes shape.

About 18 months ago Mr. Seely took the members to the bridge site to see the beginning of the huge structure. Another trip is planned sometime prior to the opening of the bridge.

Recital For Piano And Violin July 19

Open To Public In Mitchell Hall

Elena de Sayn, violinist, and Grace Berry Davis, pianist, will present a joint recital at Mitchell Hall, Newark, on the night of Thursday, July 19.

The recital, at 8:15 p.m., will be open to the public without charge as one of the series of Summer Session entertainments arranged by J. Robert King, director of summer recreation.

Miss de Sayn and Mrs. Davis presented some recitals at Washington, D.C., in the past season, and are scheduled for additional ones during the coming year.

Mrs. Davis, who was an instructor in piano, organ, and theory at the U. of D. for four years, is a graduate of Syracuse University with a Bachelor of Music degree. She has been a student of Robert and Gaby Casadesu at Fontainebleau and at Princeton. She has been heard in recitals locally in the past, including one last summer at Mitchell Hall, when she was a piano soloist. She has been a resident of Washington for the past year, but now is a Wilmington resident and has been appointed organist of Peninsula Methodist Church.

Miss de Sayn, well-known as a violinist in Washington, belongs to the famous Leopold Auer violin school which produced such celebrities as Heifetz and Elman. During her career she has made a practice of giving first hearings to compositions of merit, and has presented many unusual programs.

After successful concert tours in Europe and in this country, she has lived for several years at Washington, where her annual recital, such as the Chopin Centennial, have been a feature of the music season. She has originated a new system of violin instruction.

Final Rites Today For Mrs. Elizabeth F. Burnite

Mrs. Elizabeth F. Burnite, 77, widow of John C. Burnite, of 276 East Main Street, Newark, died early Tuesday in the Wilmington General Hospital, where she had been a patient since Sunday.

For a number of years Mrs. Burnite was an Avon representative in the Newark area. Born in Newark, she had lived in this section her entire life. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church at Newark.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Franklin Springer, with whom she lived; a granddaughter, Mrs. John Trivitt, of Newark; a great granddaughter, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Mathias, also of Newark.

Services were held at 2 p.m. today from the Shellender Funeral Home. Interment was in Head of Christiansa Cemetery.

Franklin Eastburn, 84 Interred At White Clay

Franklin Eastburn, 84, who died June 30, was interred following private services on July 3.

Son of the late Franklin and Mary Ellen Ruth Eastburn, the deceased, who lived at 112 Lovett Avenue, was a resident of this area all his life. He was a member of the Newark Methodist Church. Interment was in White Clay Creek Cemetery, with Dr. John J. Bunting, pastor of the Newark Methodist Church officiating.

He is survived by five sisters and two brothers: Mrs. Louise Appleby, Mrs. Alice Meredith, Mrs. Florence Moody, Mrs. Beulah Lewis, all of Newark; Mrs. Carrie Cloud, New London, Pa.; Joseph C. Eastburn, Stanton; and David R. Eastburn, Red Mills, Newark.

The pallbearers were her two grandsons, James M. and Russell Brackin, William Mitchell, Lee Lewis, Henry Whitman and Walter McCue.

Surviving her are a daughter and son, Mrs. Newton Brackin and J. Clarence Little, "Aunt Essie" as she was fondly called by friends as well as relatives, was remembered with many beautiful floral sprays.

Dollar Days Sale Here August 2, 3 and 4; Backed By C. of C. Merchant Unit

Newark's stores will cooperate in staging special Dollar Days here on August 2, 3 and 4, it was announced this week.

A variety of unusual bargains will be offered during the three day sale, which will be sponsored by the merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce.

The cooperation of virtually every merchant in town has been secured by a committee under Alvin Handloff and Frank Folmer. Participating stores will be marked with banners. Gifts will be offered children accompanied by adults.

A special dollar day paper, listing the values to be found in many of the stores, will be distributed throughout the Newark shopping area.

Plan Youth Canteen As Phase Of Summer Recreation Program

Opens Tomorrow Night In Century Club At 7:30 P.M.

A junior canteen, offering games and dancing to recorded music, will open tomorrow night from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the New Century Club.

The canteen, which will be open every Friday night until the last week in July and possibly the first two weeks in August, will be operated as a phase of the summer recreation program, according to Fred Spasato, director.

Another feature of the summer project will be a series of hat shows next Wednesday at all four playgrounds, Spasato said.

Last week 12 youngsters took part in a pet show at Read Village and 26 joined in another at the New London Avenue playground. The results follow: New London Avenue—Wayne Roy, smallest dog; Bruce Garton, largest dog; Clementine Copling, smallest cat; Kenneth Roy, largest cat; Thiraine James, prettiest rabbit; Kenneth Roy, cat with longest tail; Jacqueline Watson, cat with shortest tail; Robin Smith, cutest cat; Joan Quarles, Sandra Freedman and Jennifer Wilson, prettiest dog. Frances Bryant received a prize for the most unusual pet—a small Chihuahua dog.

Read Village—Patty Robinson, prettiest dog; Janet Walstrom, prettiest cat; Patty Robinson, dog with the curliest tail; John Hickman, cat with shortest tail; Wayne Wasserman, largest dog; Helena Hickman, smallest cat; Patty Wilder, largest goldfish.

Town Cash Reserve Now $16,071.71 Expenses In June Came To $37,951.20

The town's cash reserves totaled $16,071.71 at the end of business in June, according to a report by Charles Long, town secretary-treasurer.

The month's receipts came to $37,273.60, including $10,000 borrowed through a demand note by the authority of the Town Council. Expenditures amounted to $37,951.20, thus resulting in the slight drop in the $16,749.31 balance carried over from the previous month.

The month's major item of income was $13,435.30 in electric light receipts. Power returns came to $6,891.03, while water rents brought in $1,433.42.

Magistrate Clarence Foster reported the collection of $305 in fines.

Newark Methodist Men's Group Granted Charter

The new organization of Methodist Men in the Newark Methodist Church has been chartered by Methodism's General Board of Lay Activities in Chicago.

The local group will become one of 5,000 Methodist Men organizations which the board plans to charter by 1952, according to Chilton G. Bennett, executive secretary.

Purpose of Methodist Men, according to Mr. Bennett, is "to throw its entire strength behind the total on-going program of the church in these crucial days."

President of the local organization is Martin J. Gauger; Grover T. Stratt is secretary. The Rev. John M. Bunting, Jr. is pastor.

Name Louis Handloff To Board Of Directors At Newark Trust

Stockholders of the Newark Trust Company elected Louis Handloff to their board of directors at their regular meeting held Monday evening, July 9.

One of Newark's leading citizens and an exemplary business man, Mr. Handloff has extensive real estate holdings and business enterprises in Newark.

Coming here in 1910 he first opened a dry goods store in the old Pemberton property, which is now the location of Peggy Cronin's Fashions. He next moved to the old Maxwell property where he expanded his business. This site is now occupied by the DeLuxe Soda Shop.

Progressing with the times, Mr. Handloff later acquired the old Bailey Major property on Main Street, which is now Lee's Family Store (then the site of Fader's Garage) where, in 1931, he opened what is now the National 5 and 10c Store. The National 5 & 10c (Please Turn to Page 8)

Newark More Than Tripled In Size With Passage Of Charter

Former Suburban Areas Of Nottingham Manor, Elliott Heights, Lumbrook, Become Part Of City; Big Majority Approves Charter

Newark is a thriving young city today with about 500 new citizens and several square miles of new territory.

The city came into being Tuesday when voters approved a new charter pushing out the municipal boundaries nearly a mile in all directions and more than tripling the size of the community. Now a part of the city are such former suburban areas as Nottingham Manor, Lumbrook and Elliott Heights. Several industries were also brought into the town, including the Chrysler Tank Plant and the Curtis Paper Company.

Tuesday's balloting, in which a split count was kept on those voting within the old town boundaries and those in the areas being annexed, was light.

Exactly 455 in-town voters approved the charter and 78 were against for a total of 533, only a fraction of the estimated 4,000 registered on the municipal lists.

Of the approximately 200 registered voters in the outlying areas, 115 voted for the charter and 32 against. A total of 687 votes were cast in the special referendum, including seven disqualified ballots. A majority of those voting in both groups was required for approval.

Following the count, Charles Long, the chief election official, formally certified the outcome of the referendum, and the charter becomes effective upon the acceptance of the vote by the City Council. No further steps are necessary to make the charter law, authorities say.

Mayor Wallace Johnson joined with other town officials in hailing the passage of the charter as a major step forward for the community. In a statement immediately following the referendum, the Mayor said, "I want to express my deep appreciation to the citizens of Newark for their acceptance of the new charter. The confidence you have expressed will be zealously guarded."

"To those who so unselfishly and unstintingly gave of their time and effort to draft the charter and guide it through to acceptance, I want to publicly give my sincere thanks for their contribution of citizenship."

Features of the charter, making possible a more efficient city government, were pointed up by the Mayor. Most important is a provision giving the City Council authority to establish a planning commission to map plans for handling the community's sudden expansion.

The charter also increases the city's power to borrow to meet current expenses from $50,000 to $100,000. The ceiling on bonded indebtedness is raised from $100,000 to $800,000, with a referendum of property owners required to approve all bond issues.

The charter contains clauses making possible the hiring of a city manager and the establishing of a pension plan for town employees.

It also liberalizes voting regulations in municipal elections. The much disputed capitation tax will be eliminated, and the practice of registering in June almost a year before the April election will be discarded. The new charter calls for three registration days, one within 30 days of the election.

Also possible for the first time is the election of non-property owners to the City Council. One of the councilmen from each election district may be a non-property owner under terms of the new charter. Formerly only freeholders could hold a seat on Council.

For the first time also, the Mayor will have a vote in the proceedings of Council. The practice of abstaining from voting will also stop, since any

Memorial Bridge To Be Dedicated Aug. 15

Opens To Public At Midnight, Aug. 16

The dedication date for the opening of the Delaware Memorial Bridge, sixth largest suspension span in the world, has been set for August 15.

Col. Wm. A. McWilliams, Director of the Delaware Crossing Division, in announcing the dedication, stated that the bridge will be opened to the general public at 12:01 midnight on August 16. The dedication will mark a significant contribution to traffic and commerce. Built as a memorial to the World War II dead of Delaware and New Jersey, it ranks as a feat of engineering genius. While connecting two of the smallest states, it stands as perhaps the greatest memorial to the recent World War.

The statistical data contained in this brochure has been compiled to make accessible facts most valuable to accurate reporting. Background information, as well as traffic and highway information and planning in Delaware, will make it possible to visualize the important part this bridge will play in the future development of the south Jersey-Delaware trade orbit, of which Wilmington is the natural capital.

The New Jersey Turnpike, scheduled for opening this fall, will connect directly with the Delaware Memorial Bridge, from which traffic southbound will flow over the picturesque Dupont Highway. The Delaware Memorial Bridge is the key to materially lowered driving time from metropolitan New York to Washington and the south.

This office, as public information source for the Delaware Crossing Division of the State Highway Department, will be happy to prepare special articles, or provide any additional service you require.

Antibiotics Boost

Broiler Growth

Scientists at the University of Delaware have been able to increase the rate of growth of broilers by adding certain drugs to the mash. According to Tom Runnels, of the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station, birds have been grown out a half pound heavier with the drugs than without them.

"From two to five grams of these 'antibiotic' materials to a ton of feed will do the tricks," says Runnels. "Penicillin, streptomycin, and terramycin will each make for more efficient feed usage. And they only cost about ninety cents per ton of feed."

When the experiments were completed, they showed that there was very little difference between the various drugs when judged at comparative levels. But all of them boosted growth of broilers. Birds eating the antibiotics finished with an average body weight, at twelve weeks of age, of about one half pound more than birds eating a regular broiler mash.

Civic Groups Aiding Regional OPS Heads

Keeping Agency Informed Of Consumer Needs

Civic organizations having substantial memberships in almost every community are represented in the newly formed Consumer Advisory Committee of the Office of Price Stabilization. The purpose of the committee, according to Joseph J. McBryan, acting regional OPS director for Pennsylvania and Delaware, is to assist OPS in developing better understanding of the country's price problems and to keep OPS informed of consumers' needs.

Price Stabilization Director Michael V. DiSalle has asked members of the committee to serve as liaison with the consumer public through their own organizations, letting OPS know how the public feel about the various control regulations and also helping to tell the public the facts about the fight against inflation.

The committee was formed, McBryan explained, because OPS considers consumer understanding and support of price controls vital if the stabilization program is to succeed. This will become more necessary later on, he said, when increased production brings pressure for higher prices.

"Just within the last month," McBryan declared, "we have seen such great increases in the prices of foods, over which OPS has practically no legal control, that the cost of living has reached an all-time high, even though price control held down the cost of many other items."

"These increases automatically brought higher wages under many labor-management contracts, which in turn tend to make prices still higher. Unless effective controls are maintained, we can fully expect continued cheapening of the dollar's buying power."

Recently Maj. Gen. George J. Richards, of the U. S. Army, said: "We have learned during this war that raising and maintaining modern armies is expensive. Yet we should be no less willing to sacrifice to maintain the peace than to win a war."

The story of a faith that paid off

YOU KNOW IT'S TRUE BECAUSE IT'S HAPPENED TO YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

PROBABLY YOU'VE never thought of yourself as a maker of history. But you are. And here is how you, as a citizen of the United States, are creating the greatest success in all history.

Remember back in 1941 when the Defense Bonds you were buying suddenly had to become War Bonds? How you and your neighbors pitched in to buy them in ever-increasing numbers, to back our fighting men and to help achieve the victory of World War II? After V-J Day, when those bonds became Savings Bonds, you continued to buy them because you had learned how regular saving could build security and contentment for yourself and those you love.

The face of the land has undergone some dramatic changes in those years since V-J Day. Now the landscape is dotted with new homes that Savings Bonds built. Thousands upon thousands of new automobiles travel the highways—Savings Bonds cars, bought with the product of individual thrift. On the farms, Bond-purchased equipment has helped produce bumper crops and prosperous years. Everywhere in America, man's urge to get into business for himself has become a bright reality. So has the ambition of loving parents to send their children through college. Time and time again, Savings Bonds have made those dreams and many others come true.

You KNOW they've come true, because it's happened to you or to some of your own friends.

And this is only the beginning of the story. Even after accomplishing so much, millions of American families still enjoy the financial security of owning more than fifty billion dollars—fifty thousand million dollars in Savings Bonds. More than at the peak of war-time Bond holdings!

How much money is that? It's enough to build a new $10,000 mortgage-free home for every family in San Francisco—and Sacramento—and Salt Lake City—and Denver—and Kansas City—and St. Louis—and Indianapolis—and Cincinnati—and Pittsburgh—and New York City—and the whole state of Texas!

And every week, everywhere in America, new millions of dollars are added to the total—as crisp new Savings Bonds are typed up with your name on them.

Kind of a king-size success story, isn't it? Your success story because you and the millions of your neighbors are living it right now. Your own faith in America—your own desire for the warmth of family security and independence—have made the story of United States Savings Bonds the thrift miracle of all time.

For your security, and your country's too, save now - through regular purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds

Max Wilson of Bear has joined the Navy and is in Texas for training.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Eastburn and family attended the Heinel reunion at Blackbird on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans Watkins, of Wilmington, spent the Fourth of July with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Borge.

George Robert Moore, Jr., celebrated his fourth birthday on Thursday.

Mrs. George Moore and children, Mrs. William Moore and son, Mrs. Paul Borge attended a birthday party given in honor of Lawrence Tobin, Jr.'s fourth birthday on Friday evening at Wilmington Manor Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wilson and daughter of New Castle spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wilson.

Mr. Daniel Palmer celebrated his sixteenth birthday on Monday.

Rev. D. J. Moore of Richardson Park will deliver the sermon next Sunday morning at Red Lion M. E. Church.

Wallace David will be in charge of Red Lion MYF on Sunday evening.

The Bear Home Demonstration Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Arthur on Monday, July 16. Short course reports will be given.

Monday evening Pencader Grange held their July meeting out-of-doors. Mrs. Tunis Foltz, J. Leslie Ford and others were winners of prizes. A mystery straw ride was given followed by a weiner roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Butler. The August meeting will be in the form of a picnic Monday, August 6. The group will gather at the grange hall at 6:30 o'clock p.m. then proceed to Holloway Beach for the picnic supper followed by soft ball game.

The Ladies' Aid will hold a mystery ride followed by a weiner roast on Wednesday, July 18. The members will meet at the church at 7:30 o'clock.

Early, Late Blight Threat To Tomatoes

Early July Is Best Time To Spray

Early blight and anthracnose, will be attacking tomatoes in Delaware soon; and the late blight disease can appear at any time. July 1st is a good time to start spraying or dusting for protection against these diseases, says Dr. J. W. Heuberger, of the plant pathology department, at the University of Delaware.

Dr. Heuberger's recommendations for spraying is to use the following formula, and apply it every ten days until the middle of August. If the weather is still cool and wet then, spray with ordoxux mixture (6-3-100) at ten-day intervals if you have a good yield and want to save it.

Zineb is the common name, and Dr. Heuberger gives four mixtures: Dithane D-14 plus ZnSO₄, 2 qts. or 1 lb. per 100 gallons of water.

Liquid Parate plus ZnSO₄, 2 qts. - 1 lb. per 100 gallons of water.

Dithane Z-78, 2 lbs. per 100 gallons of water.

Parzate, 2 lbs. per 100 gallons of water.

All of these are compatible with the common insecticides used in the garden. The Dithane Z-78 and Parzate can also be used in dust form. Potatoes, cantaloupes, cucumbers, squash, watermelons, and peppers can also be treated with these materials.

Human Personality Discussed In Prize Winning NHS Essay

(Following is the best discussion of a youth problem submitted in the annual essay contest sponsored by the Osceola Lodge, No. 3, Knights of Pythias, and open to seniors at the Newark High School. A $10 prize for the paper was awarded at the June commencement.)

Personality

By June Wagner

Personality is the background of your future. Everyone has personality, but those with an undesirable personality are not so fortunate as those with a desirable personality. Some qualities which go to make up a desirable personality are: courtesy, character, ability, dependability, willingness, habits, leadership, scholarship, and appearance. All of these qualities are very important, but I shall stress courtesy most of all.

Courtesy starts with the art of sharing. Real courtesy and real manners are sincere and are based on the consideration and thoughtfulness of others. Good manners give one charm and a pleasant appearance and make it possible for one to appear at ease and have poise in any social gathering.

In order to develop poise, you need to know some social customs such as how to meet people and to introduce them to others, correct table manners, and how to give and accept an invitation. These and other general courtesy customs should become a part of everyday living. You will not feel at ease if you try to put on your good manners like your best clothes for special occasions. They need to be used daily at home, on the street, at church, at club meetings, or at school.

The game of life has rules that, if practiced and followed, will help you to develop poise and be more at ease under any number of various occasions. The place to learn courtesy is at home. Here you have the opportunity to develop courtesy habits through the daily use of the accepted rules. Consideration and thoughtfulness of others will cultivate a more desirable you. Conduct while on the street reflects the attitude and behavior you display elsewhere.

There are some general rules of courtesy that apply to any group that you may be in, but more particularly when attending a meeting, such as a club meeting or school assembly. The speaker can and should expect the attention of the group to which he is speaking, for unless you are interested enough to listen you should not be present. Whispering, talking, or just unusually loud laughing are very discourteous and annoying.

Always be a good sport. If you "can't take it" begin now and acquire the charm of accepting praise or taking defeat gracefully.

Being a good host or hostess is an art. Sincere charm and hospitality in displaying it are all you need. Begin by making your invitation explicit and enthusiastic. Have enough things planned so that your guests will not be bored, but be sure and give them some time to themselves. Elaborate entertainment is not only unnecessary, but probably wouldn't be appreciated so much as simple entertainment that appears to be done with little effort.

Everyday living offers you endless opportunities to express appreciation through the use of the spoken "thank you" habits for all kinds of little acts that are done for you.

Dependability is another important quality. Your friends and your employer must have confidence in you and you must be able to prove that you are dependable. Dependability will help to make you a more desirable person.

Your willingness and habits show when you are asked to do something. Whether you really enjoy doing what you are asked or not you should do your best at all times.

You must be a good leader. You must be able to start something and able to finish it to the best of your ability without becoming discouraged. Be able to make new friends feel at home when they are with you or with other people.

Our aim and motto should be and is "to make the best better." We are striving in every way to carry this out.

Somers Appointed To Research Post

Dr. G. Fred Somers, prominent plant physiologist, has been named associate director of the University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station, effective August 1, 1951. George W. Worrlow, station director, announced today. Somers, who has been assistant director of the U. S. Plant, Soil, and Nutrition Laboratory and associate professor of biochemistry at Cornell University, will coordinate the farm research program, as well as conducting special studies.

"His primary responsibility," according to Director Worrlow, "will be the choice of research problems pointed towards a well-balanced program covering both fundamental and practical projects, with due regard to the integration of group effort and the correlation of experimental results. He will be responsible for keying the studies to the most important farm problems of Delaware. The filling of this position in the Experiment Station is another step forward in the expanded research program pointed toward a more efficient Delaware agriculture."

Dr. Somers, a native of Garland, Utah, was graduated from Utah State College in 1935. As a Rhodes Scholar, he received the B.A. and B.Sc. degrees from Oxford. In 1942, as a Henry Strong Denison fellow, he received his Ph. D. in plant pathology from Cornell University.

"Somers' well-grounded research background will aid him in his work in Delaware," Worrlow pointed out. "His most recent work has been on the influence of various factors on the vitamin content of plants. Before that, he taught elementary and advanced biochemistry at Cornell."

Co-author with Dr. J. B. Summer of two books on enzyme chemistry, Somers is also the author of 21 scientific papers. Most of them have to do with plant metabolism and the factors influencing nutrients in plant materials. Somers is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Society of Plant Physiologists, Botanical Society of America, and the American Chemical Society. He is also in Alpha Zeta, Phi Kappa Phi, and Sigma Xi.

Harvest rushes, long working hours, and mechanical equipment make the harvest season a time when accidents are most common. Watch yourself, check your machinery for safety guards, and don't push yourself to the limit. Most accidents happen when you're tired.

Safety Hints

To back up President Truman's call for the adoption of safe practices during National Farm Safety Week, July 22-28, the Delaware Safety Council herewith lists 10 farm safety practices that will help reduce the farm accident toll if they are adopted and followed:

1. Keep machines in good repair. Keep all guards and safety devices in place. Stop machines before unclogging, oiling or adjusting them. Don't wear floppy clothes around machines.
2. Operate tractors safely: Start tractors smoothly, turn corners slowly. Avoid ditch banks and soft ground. Always hitch to the drawbar.
3. Use the right tools for the job: Make sure tools are in a good, safe condition. Keep them in a safe place.
4. Watch your step to prevent falls. Keep ladders and steps in good repair, with no loose rungs. Make sure they are easily accessible in case of emergency.
5. Speak to animals when approaching with calm self assurance yourself. Keep with calm self assurance yourself. Keep bulls in a safe bull pen.
6. Know and obey all traffic laws; follow safe driving practices. Read and heed all traffic signs.
7. Be "firedighted": Don't smoke around the barn. Pour gasoline or kerosene outdoors to prevent the accumulation of treacherous vapors. Dry clean outdoors. Don't use kerosene to start fires. Be careful with matches.
8. Be a good housekeeper: Have a place for everything and keep everything in its place.
9. Apply first aid promptly. Even minor injuries may be dangerous if they are not treated immediately. Keep first aid kits in the house, in the barn and on the tractor.

10. Treat guns as if they were loaded. Keep guns unloaded except when actually using them. Aim only at targets you want to shoot.

Study Of Broiler House

Construction Is Planned

Delaware broiler growers spent nearly five million dollars of modernize old, or build new broiler houses, in 1949 and 1950.

Broiler house construction is a big problem in that industry. Accordingly, the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station has asked for support of a research project at the Northeast Regional Poultry Housing Research meeting held in New York City recently.

Dr. A. T. Ringrose, of the Georgetown Research Substation, represented Delaware at the conference. Said Dr. Ringrose, "The project will include study of conditions such as fresh air, ventilation, temperature, moisture, ammonia, and dust, as they affect efficient production and market quality of broilers. It will also cover choice of building materials, and construction so as to protect against wind damage and weather wear."

Arden Players Will Open Comedy Mon.

"George And Margaret" Stated Next

The Robin Hood Theatre at Arden goes into its fourth week of summer production Monday, the 16th, with the opening of "George and Margaret" starring Cynthia Rogers and James Maloney. Currently, Mr. Maloney is appearing in the title role of the cheerful Pennsylvania Dutch comedy, "Papa Is All," which is being presented nightly at 8:30 through Saturday.

"George and Margaret" lives up to the reputation of current English humor for amiability and complete charm. It revolves around a crazy but comfortable family of five—the mother, pleasantly domineering; the father, sublimely absent-minded; the daughter, slightly boy-crazy, and the two sons, one poetic and the other prosaic.

As the curtain rises, clouds gather over the family breakfast table as the announcement is made that George and Margaret—two dreaded guests—are due to arrive for lunch. From then on, the situation takes a circuitous route with laughter at every twist and turn.

Mr. Maloney, cast as the father, has had a busy winter on television with featured roles on Martin Kane, The Armstrong Circle Theatre, Robert Montgomery Presents, Captain Video, Man Against Crime, and many others.

He also went to Hollywood to repeat his Broadway "Detective Story" portrayal for the film version of the play. "The Big Knife" and "Dance Me a Song" will play the mother, with Barbara Rush and John Drew Devereaux in other major roles. Making their first appearances of the season in "George and Margaret" will be Mary Diveny, Tony Perkins, and newcomer Howard Morton.

U. of D. Holstein Sets Production Record

Traffic accidents in the single month of July last year killed only 900 fewer Americans than were killed in the Revolutionary war.

That ironic fact underlines the National Safety Council's campaign to reduce accidents, especially on the nation's highways, during the current month.

The Revolutionary war cost 4,044 patriots who were killed in action or who died of wounds. Traffic accidents in July last year killed 3,150 persons, according to the council.

Tragic as war is, the council said, the number of Americans killed in traffic accidents since the invention of the automobile is nearly twice as great as the number killed in combat in all the nation's wars.

American death from enemy action in the eight conflicts of our history, including the war in Korea, total about 533,000, the council said, while traffic accidents have now claimed more than 971,000.

"With traffic deaths approaching the 1,000,000 mark, this particular time of the year when highway travel reaches its peak is a good time for every Delaware motorist to pledge that he won't be one in a million said John D. Reeder, president of the Delaware Safety Council.

Mr. Reeder said: "Vacation time can turn into tragedy for many unless common-sense rules of behavior are observed."

He said these rules are:

1. Start your trip early enough so that you won't have to hurry. Take it easy.
2. Be patient in heavy traffic. Don't let annoyance make you take chances.
3. Be careful in recreation, especially in swimming and boating.

Put Bee On Truck

A burnable bee buzzed into the cab of a truck driven by Henry Donkerbrook of Kalamazoo, Mich., and he failed at the insect as he tried to halt his speeding vehicle.

The result: One demolished truck and several minor cuts and bruises for Donkerbrook. The bee escaped without injury.

What do you know about food?

UPON the introduction of coffee to Rome—long before we knew how to remove its caffeine—the beverage almost suffered a fate similar to its persecution in the Mohammedan world earlier in the 16th century.

Certain priests, it is said, asked Pope Clement VIII to excommunicate the use of coffee "because it is an invention of the devil." The Pope asked to inspect the drink. The aroma was so pleasant that Clement tried a cupful and said: "We shall fool Satan by baptizing it and making it a truly Christian beverage."

Today we all are at liberty to drink the perennial favorite—even those of us who are nervous and sleepless. For now, sold as "Sanka," we have a coffee free of caffeine—something new since Pope Clement's day!

ACCORDING to market studies by the Birds Eye people, several million more Americans will drink orange juice in its sun-ripened, vitamin-packed, most convenient form—quick-frozen—within the next year. We often wonder if Americans are coming to take the compact little cans of orchard-flavored concentrate for granted. Not too long ago, as history records it, oranges were seen so seldom that when a boat from the Mediterranean pulled in with oranges in its hold, the King had first chance to buy them. Ancient long revered the fruit. The "sunka" derives from the Latin "sunka"—fruit of gold.

FILLIN' IN

On the eve of the Fourth of July we picked our way through the firemen's carnival to the rear of the Academy, where the Town Council was scheduled to meet for the first time in newly remodeled chambers.

Between the merry-go-round and the airplane wheel we found a crude cardboard signed marked "Council Meeting" and an arrow pointing up a flight of wooden stairs. These served as a temporary entrance to the Council rooms, while more pretentious portals were being constructed at the front of the Academy building.

A man came down the steps, chuckling to himself. "Don't miss it," he advised us. "It's the best thing at the carnival. Free, too." Apparently he was a stranger in town, who had mistaken the Council session for a side-show or maybe a Crazy House.

We lost no time in getting up the stairs. We stepped into a spacious legislative hall of soothing pastel, with sparkling white woodwork and a highly polished floor. It was a room well suited to the quiet deliberations of statesmen.

The Councilmen, who were sitting around the familiar, well-pounded table used in the old quarters across the street, were doing their best to deliberate quietly but were somewhat hampered by the presence of about 30 people all staring at them with bristling indignation. Needless to say, the 30 were a contingent of protesting citizens, and the new Council chambers were getting their baptism of fire.

The only person who seemed in a festive mood at all was Mayor Wallace Johnson, who had just returned, flushed and jovial, from leading the firemen's parade. Not even the presence of 30 irate citizens can dull the spirit of a man who has just led a firemen's parade.

When we entered, a housewife, who could use a well turned phrase like a cat-o-nine-tails, was lashing into the Councilmen for allowing the light and power company to run a $3,000 volt line only five feet from her bedroom window. She had discovered the plot in the nick of time, she said, and her own voltage was nearing the danger point. The Councilmen, who regard an aroused housewife as something far more dangerous than a mere $3,000 volt power line, hastily promised to order the light company to stop its sinister operations until the matter could be looked into.

Next a group of six citizens protested a plan to erect a large apartment house in their restricted neighborhood. They didn't want something foisted on them without at least being told what it was all about. The Council agreed to tell them as soon as it could find out the details.

Then the Councilmen decided to blow off some steam of their own. They ordered their attorney to warn the B. & O. Railroad to stop blocking traffic at intersections in town or risk a ticket for overparking.

As the meeting progressed, we couldn't help getting the feeling that here, if ever, was a genuine American Fourth of July eve. It offered everything. Outside roared the firemen's carnival where you could relentlessly exercise your constitutional right to pursue happiness, devour hotdogs, munch popcorn, swirl soda and ride merry-go-rounds. Tiring of that, you could come inside and use your inalienable right to bawl out your lawmakers, shout your mind, pound tables and wave your arms. All this was taking place on the site of a school where three signers of the Declaration of Independence had been educated. What more could you ask on the eve of the Fourth of July.

But, strangely enough, the only overt note of patriotism struck during the evening was a sour one. This was a proposal that all town employees take a loyalty oath. It appears a recent state law may require this.

The suggestion seemed to make everyone uncomfortable. No one knew exactly how to react to it, which is understandable since if one appears reluctant to take a loyalty oath he lays himself open to the charge of being a Communist and if he appears anxious to take one the charge is equally valid because any conscientious Communist undoubtedly dotes on taking loyalty oaths.

The result was the Councilmen contented themselves with exchanging uneasy looks of two types. The first seemed to say "Could you be a Communist?" and the second, more troubled, "Could he think I'm a Communist?" It was this latter feeling apparently that drove one Councilman to say he would like to take the oath to reassure himself.

The uneasiness lasted only a moment, though, then someone made a joke and the pall lifted. It suddenly seemed to occur to everyone that Doc Downes probably wasn't planning the violent overthrow most likely didn't have a stockpile of bombs under the Council offices and that Mrs. Edith Murray probably isn't boring from within the town office.

The only question now is: what will all the swearing be about?

F. Richards, 6 and 5; William Hamilton, Jr., defeated Penn Guevneur, 2 up.

In the senior tourney George Horn defeated Van Aalden, 4 and 3; Dr. Paul Musselman defeated John Hammond, 6 and 4; Wayne Brewer defeated Bill King, 3 and 1; Harvey Dickey, bye; Frank Anderson defeated Ray Ott, 3 and 1; Wallace Williams defeated Harry Caldwell, 6 and 5; William Hamilton, Sr., defeated Joe Grant, 5 and 3; Joe Julian, bye.

William Hamilton, Sr., won the flag tournament, and William Hamilton, Jr., was second.

George Anderson took low gross honors in the sweepstakes with a 66. William Hamilton, Sr., had low net with 84-18-66.

OPS Ceiling Prices To Stay In Effect

In response to questions from business and industry, the Office of Price Stabilization pointed out today that the 31-day extension of the defense production Act of 1950 does not alter ceiling price regulations which were in effect prior to June 30.

While those regulations which stand cover a wide range of products and commodities, Henry McC. Winchester, district OPS director, called particular attention to a half-dozen pricing categories of widest application. These are: CPR 7, retailers; CPR 11, restaurants; CPR 14, 15, and 16, wholesale and retail groceries; CPR 23, 24, 25, and 26, live cattle, wholesale and retail beef; and services under CPR 34.

The district OPS office emphasized that all other regulations also in effect on June 30 continue to govern these price ceilings. At the same time the district director explained that manufacturers whose price ceilings included rollback provisions and which were to become effective after June 30, now have their prices frozen by an OPS regulation at June 30 levels.

Spiders Nip Jays, 7-4, To Stay Unbeaten In Softball League

The Spiders kept their record unblemished in the community softball league with a 7-4 victory Monday night over their nearest competitors, the Blue Jays. In the week's only other game, Curtis downed the Vets, 11-4.

The Spiders are now solidly entrenched in the loop's top spot with a 4-0 record. The Jays are next on a record of three wins against two defeats.

Next Monday's twin bill on the high school athletic field will pit the Jays against Chrysler and the Spiders against Chrysler will take on Curtis. The games start at 6:45 p.m.

135 Nominations For 5 Pacing Events At Ocean Downs Track

Ocean Downs Raceway, the resort harness track which will offer lots of early closing events when it opens its third 20-night meet under the refreshing breezes from Ocean City, Md., on August 7, has received 135 nominations for the $2500 pacing events on the schedule, it was announced by track General Manager Dick Case.

Topping the list of nominees are the names of many pacers which have been setting records and grabbing big purses in their campaigns along the Maryland Circuit from Rosencroft to Laurel Raceway.

Royal Mist, the star 2-year-old pacing filly of the nation this year by virtue of her undefeated streak of five straight victories and her recent mark of 2:07 4/5, will be returning to home territory to compete in the two $2500 events for 2-year-olds on Friday, August 10 and Saturday, August 18, since she is the darling of Eastern Shoreman Franklin Hastings' stable of Berlin, Md.

Sally Fingo, Earl Avery's peppy filly, which came second to Royal Mist in the three of her victories, as well as the dugged Stubby Brooke, will continue to try and defeat the little sensation at the Ocean Downs meet.

Several winners are scheduled to compete in the $2500 event which will highlight the opening card on August 7, with C. T. Black of Berryville, Va. offering double trouble for the big fields with Betty French and Bert York, both recent winners.

Frank Hastings' Irma's Boy, winner of two straight at Rosencroft, will also be a threat in this one.

Ocean Downs president, James E. Douglas has well-founded visions of new betting and attendance records being broken this year, in view of the top-light stars due to appear in the feature events.

Entertainment Facilities Not Hampered By NPA Curbs

Vacation spots will not be dampened this summer by government regulations. At least the existing fun facilities can be kept going, says the Philadelphia head of the National Production Authority.

New amusement construction is prohibited by NPA.

But boardwalks and roller-coasters and all the other play paraphernalia of shore, park and mountain resorts have priorities for repair and maintenance, according to John J. Lennon, director of the U. S. Department of Commerce and NPA for Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Newark Nine Meets Christiana Here Tonight

Newark will meet second place Christiana in a New Castle County League game tonight at 8:15 p.m. on the Continental Field.

The local club will be seeking revenge for a 4-2 defeat Christiana handed them in their last meeting. Fuzzy McCormick will be on the mound for Newark, and Roger Urris will pitch for the opposition.

Rain postponed last week's game with the National Guard.

Newark is still riding comfortably at the top of the league.

Junior Playground Nine Defeated, 6-4

Bows To Newport; Two Tilts Coming Up

Newark's junior playground nine bowed 6-4 to Newport in a game on the high school field Monday morning.

The club, composed of youths up to 12 years old, will play a return game with Newport on Monday at 10 a.m. The following Wednesday, Newark will meet Middletown in a game here at 10 a.m.

Last Monday, Newark held a 4-4 tie going into the seventh an final inning, but Newport slipped across two runs to snatch the decision. Earl Urris sparked the local offensive with two hits. Bobbie Conway and Bill Gray contributed one each. Buano of Newport had 12 strikeouts.

Newark Bows To Elkton, 10-5, In Start Of Susky Loop's 2nd Half

Outfit 11-13 In Slugfest Before Local Fans; Faulty Fielding And Shaky Pitching Contribute To Loss; Newark Plays At Havre De Grace Sunday

In their opening game of the second half play in the Susquehanna Baseball League, Newark went down 10-5 last Sunday before Elkton in a slugfest on the Continental Field.

The team travels to Maryland this Sunday to meet the Havre de Grace Cokes. In their only other meeting this season, the Cokes eked out a 4-3 decision.

In their Susky loop debut here, Newark pounded Jim Burns, Elkton star southpaw, for 11 base hits, four of the extra base variety. But Elkton mustered its 10 runs on 13 hits and was further helped along by Newark's faulty fielding and Moxie Brown's shaky pitching.

Bally, Elkton's catcher, was the big gun at the plate, driving in six of Elkton's 10 runs. In the ninth, he hit a homerun with the bases loaded.

Elkton started the scoring in the third inning when singles by Riley, Lollar and Morrow produced two runs. The visitors added single counters in the seventh and eighth and five in the big ninth for what later proved the winning margin.

In the sixth inning, George Jenkins produced Newark's first score on a long homer.

The local club continued scoreless until the last of the ninth, when, trailing 10-1, the local boys suddenly came to life. Things started inauspiciously with Woodward and Bramble grounding out. Then Moxie Brown clouted a four base blow over the left field fence. Ted Davis singled; Gene Schaen doubled;

An important meeting of the Roseville Association will be held on Tuesday evening, July 17, at 8 p.m., at the home of Mr. Grover Hale, 1400 Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James Q. Towneley of Roseville Park have as their guest (P.C.)

Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston and Mrs. Martin of Pomona Park Road, together with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Johnson of Capitol Trail, enjoyed a vacation in Ocean City, N.J. and Atlantic City, last week.

Mrs. T. L. Cairns of Capitol Trail is serving as chairman of the Herald Tribune Fresh Air Children's project for the Newark area. At the time when her article was being written, Mrs. Cairns was hoping that some kind of home would be willing to open a home to two of the 13 underprivileged children who arrived on Tuesday at this week. The sponsor for two of the children is unable to take them because of ill health and Mrs. Cairns does not wish to disappoint them.

Three little girls from New York City are looking forward to an enjoyable time as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Raymond of Roseville Park.

Mrs. Miller Darrell of Capitol Trail visited her daughter in Carney's Point last Friday. Her granddaughter, Carol Lee Noland, returned home with her father.

Little Tommy Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davis of the Hillandale Farm, has been confined to his home with the mumps.

We are glad to learn that Jack Inskeep of Jack's Self-Service Market, is making rapid progress following his operation at the Wilmington General Hospital.

Paul Dummel, Jr., visited his parents in Capitol Trail this past weekend.

Mr. Ralph Lindell, chairman of the Sunday School Committee, announces the following schedule of ushers for the remaining Sundays in July: July 15, Raymond Lindell, Edward Maxwell, Jr., July 22, Norris Brown, John Mayberry, July 29, Clarence Higgins, Ralph Lindell.

Miss Hazel Johnston's Sunday school class now has samples of the new line of Christmas cards and holiday needs. Members of the class will be glad to show them.

The Sunday School voted last Sunday to hold its annual picnic at Lenape Park on the last Saturday in July. Committees will be announced later.

The session and trustees of the church will hold a covered dish picnic on the lawn of the manse on Wednesday, July 18 at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Howard Bradley announces that the Women's Missionary Society will hold a brief meeting following church service on Sunday, July 15.

Vacation Bible School
As this goes to press, 45 children are enrolled in the first Vacation Bible School to be held at White Clay Church, with new children enrolling every day.

On Friday the children will bring their lunches and enjoy a picnic together on the lawn in back of the church following the morning session.

The closing program of the school will be given at the 11 a.m. church service, when the pupils will present a pleasant showing of what they have discovered about the Christian Church and its development through the years.

Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend.

No registration fee was charged for enrollment in the school an opportunity will be given in this service for contributions toward the expense of the school.

News of London-Britain Vicinity

Marthalee Ness, Correspondent
Phone Kembleville 2171

Mrs. Ella Lee, Stricklandville, left recently for a week at Atlantic City with an old classmate.

About two weeks ago the Hixons had a bit of an emergency when Arthur had an acute attack of appendicitis. After was on her toes as usual, however, and son, Arthur, had been rushed to West Grove, and from there to the hospital in West Chester. He now says "Did I tell you about my operation?"

Mrs. Paul McCleary, Joan, David and Bobby, visited recently Mrs. Harry Strahan at Fair Hill.

Thursday, at 8:15 p.m., the Kembleville and Flint Hill MYF will again present "Out in the Street," this time at the Head of Christians Church, for the benefit of the Kembleville and Flint Hill Church. Those in the cast are John Taylor, Earl Swain, Lester Pratt, Ann Peterson, Glenn Wilkinson, Vic Richards, June Wagner, Allene Peterson, Fay Peterson, Henry McMaster. Music by other members of the organization will provide entertainment between acts.

The Kembleville 4-H Club had a most successful meeting at Mrs. Earl Richards' the other day when Mrs. Richards gave them the benefit of her experience in the art of flower arrangement.

The next meeting is to be held the 15th at Kembleville Hall, when the art of proper silver cleaning will occupy the program along with a discussion of corsage making.

The Landenberg 4-H Club is planning a gala day at Crystal Beach, June 17. The tentative plans include a "hay ride" down a swim and picnic at the beach. Currently, the club is working on the skirts they started for their sewing project.

The Vernon Schrader family has been making some visits to the Elktion hospital to see Mrs. Schrader's brother, Louis Bailey, who was injured over two weeks ago in what was almost a fatal accident. Mr. Bailey was working on the tire of the road scraper he drives around the Elktion vicinity, when one of those huge tires blew up and hurled Mr. Bailey twenty feet. He suffered, among other things, a fractured skull, and serious concussion has been the lot of his wife and child, and various relatives. At this time, he seems to be definitely on the road to complete recovery.

One thing at which country people excel is cooperation in times of emergency. There was a gathering of the clans at Nesses the other day to help put in a big beam. A lot of manpower was needed—an cheerfully supplied.

Everything we do for our children, playgrounds, schools, and what have you, gets returned to us in many ways. We just heard there is a definite possibility that the Random Players will repeat the uproariously funny play they put on for an appreciative audience in Kembleville Hall recently, and made $107 for Kembleville PTA. This time, proceeds would go to London-Britain Home and School League. How about it? Think we could sell out the hall, you loyal citizens of London-Britain? Who is willing to take over a little detail work on this thing? Tickets would have to be sold in advance to insure the practicality of this venture. Contact me if you have ideas on this subject.

One of the mothers on the Landenberg Recreation Association told us that they have definite hopes of building a good, lined pool at the playground next year, with a great deal of cooperation as regards labor and materials.

The Springs back of Weavers have been tested as regards purity and flow, and the venture is entirely practical and probable, according to our informant.

The mothers would plan constant supervision of the pool. We offer this for consideration, however. We were told there were no plans for diving facilities. Anyone who doesn't learn to dive has deprived themselves of half the fun of swimming. Children learn easily. Any pool for them should include a board as naturally as a game of tennis includes a net or a ball. Amen.

Mrs. Eaton, Sr., has been visiting at the Russell Eaton home, and the entire Eaton family plans to drive down to Clemson, N.C., shortly for a vacation.

A frightening incident happened July 7, and we relate it for the benefit of any parent who might find it helpful. This family placed an eleven and an eight year old in a movie of their choice while the elders called on friends in the neighborhood. The younger one was fatigued and fell asleep. The older sister went to purchase candy near the end of the movie, and planned to return for the boy. When she went back he was gone. Hurrying to the front of the theater, she saw her brother heading deliberately out to Governor Printz Boulevard. Knowing how hard he was to rouse, she sensed his sleepy condition, and ran like mad to head him off. As it turns out, he thought he was home, and fought her angrily thinking she was preventing his going in his home and up to bed. It took all the sister's strength and determination to get that boy away from danger and back to the theater, where they were called for in about two minutes. Anyone who is familiar with that highway is now excused to wipe their brow.

Crop Corn Placed Under Price Support
The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently reported that farmers had put only 49,346,917 bushels of 1950-crop corn under Commodity Credit Corporation price support through April 1951. This compares with approximately 33,540,000 bushels of 1949-crop corn put under support through April 1950.

The price support total for 1950-crop corn consists of 48,377,235 bushels under farm storage loans, 227,726 under warehouse storage loans, and 741,950 under purchase agreements. Of the total, about 20,481,000 bushels were put under support by farmers in Iowa, 11,792,000 by Nebraska farmers, and 5,575,000 by farmers in Illinois.

Substation Field Day Scheduled August 7

The annual field day at the Georgetown Experimental Substation will be held August 7 this year, announced E. P. Brasher, chairman of the horticulture department at the University of Delaware.

Farmers can take advantage of this field day to get the latest information of fruit and vegetable research in Delaware.

The day starts at 1:30 p.m. There will be guided tours of all the plots. After this tour, visitors may re-visit the plots they are particularly interested in. They can then talk with the specialists in charge and get detailed information.

The departments of plant pathology, entomology, agronomy, and horticulture take part in the program.

To top off the day, there will be a watermelon or cantaloupe feed in the grove.

Chrysler Tank Plant Construction Month Ahead Of Schedule

Two-Thirds of Structural Steel Erected; Roof
Being Installed

Construction of the million square foot Chrysler Delaware Tank plant is running 30 days ahead of schedule, it was announced this week by Robert T. Keller, general manager of the plant.

The world's most modern heavy and medium tanks are scheduled for production in the new plant under one of the largest tank assignments made since World War II. The contract has been described by Army Ordnance officials as a preliminary step to pave the way for volume output in the future.

The design of the medium tanks to be built here is termed "revolutionary" by Army officials, and the heavy tanks, they add, will outlast any land-fighting machine ever produced by our allies or our enemies.

As the new plant rapidly takes shape, more than two-thirds of the structural steel for the main manufacturing building has already been erected and 75 percent of the steel for the building has been delivered to the plant site.

Roofing material for approximately 500,000 square feet of the roof for the main manufacturing building has been received and about 300,000 square feet of the roof has now been installed.

Foundation work and pilings for the main buildings have been completed, while structural steel for the boiler plant has also been finished. Work in the boiler plant is now progressing on erection of the walls and installation of equipment.

Planning for utilities to service the plant has reached the advanced stages. For sewage disposal, Chrysler Corporation has offered to contribute $200,000 toward the extension of the Christina Interceptor sewer line to Newark.

Water for the plant will be piped in by the Delaware Water Company, and a pipeline of more than two miles is under construction for this purpose.

Electricity for the plant will be drawn from a Delaware Power and Light Co. high tension line which runs by the plant site. A rail yard and rail spur into the site are largely completed.

Other preparations for Chrysler's project to build tanks for the Armed Services are also moving into high gear. Orders have been placed for all of the machines and more than half of the tools, fixtures, and gages required for the plant.

In all the plant will require about 600 machines, 2,000 fixtures, 4,000 tools, and 3,500 gages, which are being supplied by more than 400 individual companies. The services of about 1,250 companies of all sizes from all parts of the country will be needed to supply the necessary production equipment and production materials and parts when the plant gets into operation.

Work is progressing in Detroit and Newark in the preparatory and planning phases of the tank-building project as well as in the hiring of supervisory, office, and factory workers. At the present time about 300 construction workers are also employed by the contractors on the site.

An initial work force of 2,000 is expected when the plant begins actual production of tanks, gradually rising to a possible 3,000 to 4,000 at presently projected schedules.

ground facilities in this general area. Provisions are also being made for ample parking space.

Charter Approved

councilman who fails to vote on a question will be counted as voting with the majority.

The successful referendum climaxes a long and stormy history for the charter. First submitted to the General Assembly in 1947 it was withdrawn due to protests by local civic organizations, which objected chiefly to voting qualifications.

Revised and submitted again at the 1949 session it was allowed to die in committee due to factional disputes here in Newark.

Revised early this year, it was again rewritten, compromises were worked out, and it was entered in the last session of the assembly, which tackled on a number of amendments including that requiring the referendum here.

Towards the end the objections to the charter were minor and unorganized, centering chiefly on a provision granting a 10-year tax exemption to new industries. This includes those firms that were brought into the town by annexation, among which are the Chrysler Tank Plant and the Curtis Paper Company.

Those favoring the charter pointed out that the tax exemption was merely a continuation of town policy carried on under the old charter and formerly enjoyed by such established industries here as the National and Continental tire companies and the Danita Hosiery Plant. To be fair it was necessary to grant the same privilege to new industries brought in by annexation.

Lesson-Sermon

The subject of the lesson-sermon in First Church of Christ, Scientist, 1201 Van Buren Street, Wilmington on July 15, 1951, will be "God." Morning service and Sunday School are at 11 a.m.

Seeger Appointed To State Poultry Staff

Karl C. Seeger, poultry research specialist at the Georgetown Poultry Substation, will now work part time with the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

This announcement came from George M. Worrlow, director of the Agricultural Extension Service and Experimental Station. Said Director Worrlow, Mr. Seeger's extension assignment will increase the field services of the University to the poultrymen. By working through the county agent and helping many poultrymen with their problems, new research will be made available to the poultry producers more quickly than before.

Mr. Seeger can be contacted through the county agents in Dover and Georgetown, or through J. Frank Gordy, state extension poultry specialist, in Newark.

Seeger has been with the University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station since 1942. He and his wife and five children live in Georgetown. A graduate of the University of Connecticut, he previously was on the staff of the Connecticut poultry diagnostic laboratory. In Delaware he has concentrated his research on coccidiosis control and management problems. He will continue to give leadership to these research projects at the substation.

Louis Handloff

Store also operates branch stores in Havre de Grace, Md., and Harrington, Delaware.

Mr. Handloff's entry into the theatre business was marked by his opening of the Hanark Theatre at the present site of Les' Family Store. He later acquired the old Opera House on the corner of Main and Academy Streets, which he operated as a movie, after closing the Hanark, until 1929 when the present State Theatre was erected and opened. He then closed the Opera House and converted it into the Academy Apartments. He also owns the Colonial Apartments at 102 Main Street, which was formerly the old Wilson property.

Always active in civic affairs, Mr. Handloff served on the Town Council under Mayor Fraser, in 1926. Mr. and Mrs. Handloff reside at 239 Dalloway Road. They have two sons, Herman and Alvin, who are associated with him in his local businesses and a daughter, Mrs. William C. Silverman.

Food ads are designed to help you do your shopping, not mislead you.

That is why at A&P we have these strict rules:

We advertise only food that we actually have in our stores.

We advertise it at the price at which we plan to sell it.

We describe the food accurately and don't make exaggerated claims.

If you ever find that our advertising doesn't live up to these standards, please let us know. Please write:
