NEWARK POST

VOLUME III

NEWARK, DELAWARE, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1912

NUMBER 20

REGULAR MEETING OF COUNCIL

To Enforce Ordinance Concerning Speed—Carnival Amusements
Exempt from License—Assessment and Appeals

At the monthly meeting of Town Council on Monday night the following report was presented by Treasurer Herdman:

Receipts.
Balance on May 11	$2,540.39
Interest for light during May	699.36
Water bill	173.07
May 1912	48.00
One water meter	8.50
1911 taxes	21.00
Delinquent taxes	58.00
Penalties	3.85
Fines	12.00
Licenses	6.00
Total	$3,504.17

Disbursements
Pay on town account	$0.70
Pay on street account	213.39
Pay on light account	659.79
Pay on water account	900.43

Total $1,864.31
Balance on hand Monday

Town Street Committee reported on its account to $726.22 and the Water and Light Committee on its account to $377.10, which were assessed and ordered to be paid.

Comptroller Linton, reported that the improvements to the Depot road from the town limits to Main street had cost but $401.03. There is still some rolling to be done which, however, will not cost but about $30 and will make the total cost less than $450.

Work is also started on the improvement of Main street which is to be repaved from where the new county road stops, in about the same way as Depot road was repaved. It has not been definitely decided when work will be started on Chestnut avenue.

Alderman Lovett made a report sending to Council $18 collected in fines.

On motion of Mr. Wilson and on behalf of the fire company, it was decided to give the company light and water free for the coming carnival and exempt any amusements that may be secured for that week from payment of any town license.

Councilman Wilson stated that last year Council went to the expense of securing five signs relative to the speed limit for automobiles and placed them up at various entrances to the town. He said that no attention is being paid to these signs and in his opinion something should be done to stop the breaking of the speed laws.

"Someone will get killed and it will then be too late," remarked Mr. Wilson, in relating instances where he had seen machines going over Main street at a rate of what seemed to be 20 miles an hour. He said it would be easy to measure off a certain distance on Main street and time some of the machines and prosecute violators of the speed laws.

Mayor Hossinger remarked that the town ordinance, which places the limit at 12 miles an hour, also prohibits reckless driving. After some more discussion a motion was made and carried, instructing the town officer to enforce the ordinance pertaining to reckless driving and exceeding the speed limit.

Mayor Hossinger reported that when former officer Allen Reed, turned over the town property, he refused to give up a revolver costing $15, which was owned by the town. His reason, he said, for refusing was that he had an understanding with the former Council that he was to get one uniform a year, and that last year the town did not furnish him with a uniform and therefore he was keeping the revolver for the uniform that he should have gotten. Members of Council, however, consider that the revolver is the property of the town and instructed Alderman Lovett to request Mr. Reed to give it up and in case he refuses to take any steps that are necessary to secure it.

Council decided to have a telephone placed in the home of Town Officer Challenger, so that he can be reached in the day time in case he is wanted.

Council will hold a special meeting in the near future for the purpose of revising the ordinances, many of them being out of date.

The Town Council met on Monday afternoon to hear appeals from the assessment which was recently completed for the present year. There were only a few appeals made. The total assessment is about $880,000. This is an increase of about $35,000 over last year. The two hotels and Thomas R. Claringbold property, for which there is a liquor merchant's license, are assessed at $30,000 each, which is slightly more than one-tenth of the total assessment of the town. These are the largest individual assessments in Newark. The town exempts new industries from taxation for town purposes for 10 years. The exemption on the Thomas Wall Paper factory expired last year and it is assessed for the first time this year for $16,000. The exemption on the Continental Fibre Company has not expired as yet.

MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

Memorial Day exercises were appropriately observed in Newark last Thursday. J. B. Lutton of the Reynolds Post, G. A. R., had charge of the exercises. The M. E. and Episcopal cemeteries were visited early in the morning. A short address was delivered in the former; the children sang the national airs and strewed flowers on the soldiers' graves. A squad from Company E was present, and fired a salute over the graves at the close of the service.

The children enjoyed the hack ride to Head of Christiansa in the transfer, which had been turned into a mass of flags and flowers. Nature contributed a smiling May day toward the success of the occasion.

Nineteen graves were marked in the last named cemetery, after which followed speaking and the singing of "America."

Select Speakers for Commencement

The senior class of Newark High School delivered their essays in the Opera House last Monday. The judges awarded the honors to Misses Mildred McNeal, Eleanor Edling, Emily Worrall and Mr. Wilbert Ramsey. The four named graduates will be the speakers on commencement evening.

The ladies of Ebenezer church will hold a strawberry festival in the basement of the church on Thursday evening June 6th. Everybody is cordially invited.

Old Drawyers Celebration

A large number of people made the annual pilgrimage to the Old Drawyer's Presbyterian Church, near Odessa, last Sunday to do honor to the 139th anniversary. The morning sermon was preached by Rev. Charles E. Erdman, of Princeton University. Beautiful musical selections added to the attractiveness of the services. Josiah Marvel, of Wilmington, made the afternoon address. He led his hearers back to the first days of the congregation, describing in a realistic manner life in that interesting period. Mr. Marvel spoke of the homes to which the first congregation returned one hundred and thirty-nine years ago and pictured some of the stirring scenes as news of Revolutionary crises were received. At the regular business meeting the following officers were elected: Daniel W. Corbit, president; Miss S. Cornelia Bowman, secretary. George Janvier, treasurer; W. V. Woods, W. G. Janvier, C. E. Poole, H. A. Poole and A. S. Elliott, directors.

66th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilson celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, June 4th. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are in good health, the former being 98 and the latter 90 years of age. Many friends extended congratulations.

CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES

Children's Day exercises were held in the Newark Presbyterian Church last Sunday morning. The church was beautifully trimmed with daisies and ferns, making a striking background for the little tots to whom the services were a "red letter day." Aside from the chorus singing by the school, there were solos by Misses Letitia Wilson, Pauline Wasmer, M. Wasmer, Kathryn Wilson, Katie Montgomery, and a duet by Misses Campbell and Herberner; recitations by K. Holton, E. Holton, Penrose Wilson, Violet Rowan, B. Laidell, Sarah Lovett, C. Clark, L. Lewis, Mary Chalmers, A. Lewis, A. Frazer, I. Wasmer, P. Bernay, Richard Couch and Archibald Rowan.

UNWELCOME VISITORS

Early Sunday morning thieves entered the home of Magistrate L. W. Lovett and stole $13 in money and other articles valued at about $25. An entrance to the house was gained through a rear window. The rooms were ransacked and a number of pieces of table linen, several sheets and other articles taken.

Of the money stolen $10 was taken from Mrs. Lovett's pocket-book, which was found in a bureau on the first floor and $3 in change from the magistrate's trousers, which were on a chair within reaching distance of the bed where he slept.

Carnival Committee Appointed

The Work Soon to be Planned

At a meeting held on Monday night at the home of Mrs. E. Clifford Wilson, the women of Newark appointed various committees to have charge of the various tables and booths at the coming festival. Rural School Elections Held Saturday

School elections were held in all the rural districts of New Castle county on Saturday. The returns were encouraging, since the voters in many districts proved their desire for progress along educational lines, deciding to expend sums of money for the urged improvements.

The interest in the question of consolidated schools becomes more widespread. The subject was discussed before the Grangers at Newport last Monday by Dr. G. W. Twitmyer, president of the State Board of Education and Prof. A. R. Spaid, superintendent of the schools of New Castle county.

The county school commissioners will meet Saturday morning in the office of Robert H. Richards, when improvements to be made to the schools will be considered. Applications for State and for normal school courses will also be considered at that time.

The results of Saturday's elections in our own locality are as follows: Oglethorpe School, Wilmer Hawthorne, Robert Hawthorne and E. J. Steward, the first mentioned to act as clerk; Millford Cross Roads, District 37, John Nixie, re-elected as clerk. White Clay Creek, No. 36, Kora Pierce re-elected clerk, to serve for three years. Welsh Tract School, No. 34, Thomas G. Green, re-elected.

The Fly a Symptom Not a Disease

Dr. Reed of the Experiment Station Discusses the Anti-fly Campaign

Important as the anti-fly campaign is, a very mistaken idea prevails regarding it, which has caused many to commence at the wrong end of the problem and then condemn the whole because the effort was not more successful. It may be due to the very importance of the subject that errors have sprung up and in the blind enthusiasm for doing something the main factors in the case have been overlooked. Scientists as well as laymen, have sometimes been misguided and on account of mistakes, this most commendable crusade against the fly has provoked much where it should have had the endorsement and called forth the concerted action of every sane person in the community.

First of all we must consider the fly a symptom and not a disease. Treat the symptom with all the vigor possible, but do not forget the disease that lies back of the symptom. This underlying cause must be removed before the symptoms will disappear. In the practice of medicine the physician who only prescribes for symptoms without looking for the cause of the symptoms, will never be a success in his profession.

If we look for a moment at the history and habits of the ordinary house fly we may be able to more intelligently and more effectively take up the weapons at hand and thus carry on a successful campaign.

Under existing conditions, flies are almost a necessity, acting as they do, as scavengers. If there were no filth in which they could breed and upon which they could live we would have no flies to fight. If given the choice the fly lays her eggs in piles of fermenting horse or other stable manure, but she is not adverse to using any kind of decaying organic matter or other filth that may give food for the larvae. Open outside closets and surface sewers give unlimited facilities for breeding unlimited numbers of flies, as well as directly spreading infectious material.

Under favorable conditions it takes from ten days to two weeks for the young fly to develop and be ready for work. As each female fly becomes the parent of approximately a thousand flies in a summer, it is easy to see the possible beneficial results of each successful ful "swat" of one female fly. And when we consider that she is the potential great grandmother to the sixth generation in a single season of other mothers and grandmothers equally prolific, we can see that we are fighting no mean foe.

It is only by the most rigidly enforced sanitary regulations, by screens and "swatting" that the number of flies can be effectively controlled. So long as bad sanitation exists and filth abounds, flies will continue to be a scourge which we will be compelled to fight.

The fly is not, in the strict sense of the word, the cause of disease, only its carrier. Both inside its body and outside, we may find countless organisms which under favorable conditions may produce disease in the human subject. "Fly specks" have been found upon examination, to contain the virulent bacilli of typhoid, tuberculosis, anthrax and other infectious diseases, after the fly had been feeding upon the infectious material.

Until we have learned to effectively screen out flies from all stable roofs to never expose refuse, slops and garbage from our houses, and until we have done away with the open closet and the open sewer we must continue to fight flies and typhoid.

If we would do away with these breeding places we would do away with the fly to a great extent and by proper sanitary precautions wherever there is a case of infectious disease we would have no epidemics.

But until this ideal is reached we must continue to screen and trap and kill the adult fly. We must insist upon our food stuffs being properly screened from flies and dust in the market. By earnest, concerted action the scourge may be materially lessened in a single year.

To summarize we may say, screen out, trap, kill the fly. Destroy the breeding grounds. Dispose of garbage and sewage by sanitary methods.

Insist upon protection of food stuffs, especially those eaten raw, from flies and dust.

Burn or disinfect all material that may be contaminated with the germ of any infectious disease.

R. C. Reed.

College Farm

Corn planting at the college farm is finished, and Prof. Grant has a great many plots planted in the agronomy field. These have been planted with different kinds and amounts of fertilizers, in different rotations, and at different times. The farm has put in about 50 acres of corn, 25 of which are of the Johnson Co. white variety, and will be husked. The remaining 25 acres are of the Va. Ensilage variety, and were planted for the silo.

The Agronomy Department has sent out over 50 four-pound packages of soy beans. These will be planted by farmers in various parts of the State in co-operation with the Experiment Station, the purpose being to determine by further tests the adaptability of this promising crop to this peninsula.

The new dairy house is nearly completed, and will be ready for occupancy in a short time.

Masons are busy finishing the cement floor in the new dairy barn. It is hoped to have this work completed before Farmers' Day.

Miss Clara Woolson, of New Hampshire, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Hayward, at the college farm.

All operations at the College Farm at the present time are pointing towards Farmers' Day. The wheat and grass crops are very promising, and teach valuable lessons in regard to rotations and fertilizer requirements.

The spraying, which has occupied quite a portion of the energies of the Horticultural Department, is nearly finished. The Horticulturist reports the promise of a fair crop of peaches this year.

The late potatoes and tomatoes will be planted this week.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Beliefs from farmers in twelve States show prices of farm produce generally high. Potatoes are quoted from $1.50 to $2.10 per bushel, long from $1.80 to $3.00 per ton.

A farm paper advises that farmers omit the grain feed for the week horses on Saturday night, suggesting that the animals are benefited by not having the grain when they are not at hard labor. This kind of advice is the kind we would like to take, in view of the present prices.

Did you who pity the country folk ever stop to think how things are brightening for them? "Rural conveniences," are real things now. Some communities are "way ahead of others," of course, but the movement for better living is growing and the telephone, rural delivery, interurban electric railways, morning and evening papers, automobiles, improved farm machinery, are all being considered from a standpoint of financial gain.

In Nebraska, with sixty-one towns having a population of a thousand or more, there are fifty-five Chautauques. Local Chautauques have, thus far in their development, been established in agricultural communities. At most of these Chautauques farmers pay the largest percentage of the gate receipts.

Reports show that forty-six out of every one hundred farmers in this country employ labor, and the average expenditure, including rent and board furnished, is less than $225.

The following is found in a paper written by F. B. Mumford, Dean and Director of the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri, and is full of truths:

There is no justification for any form of education which does not give to its possessor a greater efficiency. Any type of education that diminishes to any extent whatsoever the ability of a student to perform the practical duties of citizenship is a menace to the State. Educational institutions supported by federal or State governments must be able to demonstrate that they are competent to train men and women for every useful and important duty which will be required of them as American citizens.

The agricultural colleges of the United States have enjoyed a period of unexampled prosperity in the past fifteen years. These institutions are peculiarly the wards of the State. There are no great privately endowed colleges of agriculture. These schools of learning must, from the very nature of things, have appealed to the representatives of the people as fulfilling a great fundamental mission in training for useful citizenship. Were it otherwise, we would not have seen the large appropriations, first by the federal government and later by practically every State government in the United States.

These appropriations are increasing and must continue to increase if the college is to meet even in a small degree the constant demands for help from the farmers, who are continually depending upon us for the solution of the many complex problems in agriculture. The success of an educational institution is measured by the efficiency of its graduates. The graduate is asked not "how much do you know, but how much can you do? How well can you use knowledge acquired?"

WHAT OUR PEOPLES' COLUMN STANDS FOR

The article written by Mr. Joseph Hossinger in last week's Peoples' Column, in answer to the one headed "Criticism of Municipal Bookkeeping" is addressed to the Editor of this paper and by his introduction remarks would lead our readers to believe we were responsible for the article.

It is in these, that we wish to set Mr. Hossinger straight. He says:

"The article in your last issue headed 'Criticism of Municipal Bookkeeping' seems to be aimed at me, and as it is more or less misleading, I will attempt to explain, although I believe that anyone having the best interests of the town at heart will cease this agitation and I trust your policy of harmony of a year ago still holds good, and that you will not see fit to publish anymore articles criticizing either those in favor of or against the last."

Now whether the article was aimed at you or not, we cannot say, the letter came to us through the mail according to our rules, signed and we have the same on file.

If what you do not like is the sarcasm in the letter, we agree with you. The same criticism could have been made in a more genteel way yet it provoked a reply and secured your interpretation which in all probability was what he was after. We are not responsible for his English or yours.

You fail to see what is meant by a Communicated article. Country weeklies are usually run by some man allied with one of the town factions. A People's Column would be fatal to that paper for his faction would be criticised and the paper would be defeating its own ends. Had the Post been such a paper and the official organ of the present Council or any one of its members, it would have refused to print the article criticizing your Bookkeeping. Nor would it have questioned the wisdom of spending $12,000 on the streets prior to another Sewer Campaign. It would only praise you. But this is not our case. We printed articles written by your loyal supporters criticizing the last Council. And it is perhaps not amiss to say, we shall continue to do so to the end of the Chapter. Every one who writes for our Peoples' Column must stand ready to back up his work when the test comes.

Our personal views, shall be published in this column and we shall express them whenever we see fit. We have tried not to color our news columns, as is the case with many country weeklies. It is our aim to print there only the facts. We reserve this column for our interpretation of those facts. Nor do we permit any one else to use this column even though we agree with their views.

Our policy of harmony. Be it said to the credit of the members of the last Council, no suggestion or request ever came to us as to what we should or should not print. All during the lease fight, they never questioned our attitude yet we did not side with them. This is more than can be said of some of the anti lease faction who in their civic zeal so forgot themselves as to threaten the existence of this sheet. From the first we advocated harmony, a compromise, which by the way, after a big expenditure of taxpayers money was settled by a compromise.

We did not agree with the attitude of either side, and realizing just what it would probably mean to us, said so. We give you respect and the right to your opinion and reserve the same right ourselves and shall continue to exercise it.

The lease issue is dead and we sincerely regret that you in mentioning it fell in the same error as your questioner.

But the settlement of the lease must not preclude a voice in the present finances. Our harmony does not go so far as that.

You refer to the "best interest of the town at heart." Just what constitutes this interest is a matter of opinion. We believe the present Council has the best interest of the town in mind in their proceedings but not any more so than other Councils or the ordinary citizen.

We shall give unstinted praise to you, Council, or any citizen who does anything deserving of recognition. Nor will we be lax in offering our columns for criticism of town affairs.

We believe the Post is loyal to the town though our loyalty consists as much in a word of criticism as in a word of praise.

The Post is of some worth to the town, not for any expression of our opinion, but by being independent and having a Peoples' Column open to all, irrespective of creed, party or station.

You simply don't understand us. Of course, we in our station cannot expect to be of the worth to the town, that you, in your position, can be. We have adopted this as our home and are doing our little part as we see it, the best we can.

We are printing in another column, an excellent article on the extermination of the fly, by Dr. Reed of the Delaware College Experiment Station staff. This is the first of a series on the subject written at the urgent request of the ladies of the Civic Committee of the New Century Club. Others written by authorities on the subject will appear in later issues.

BASE BALL AT IRON HILL

O. R. Washburn.
Oh, the visiting nine have come with smiles, for they think they play baseball.
And to Walton's canning factory our boys have escorted them all.
They have brought them there to be peeled and cooked and all the people smile,
And watch them go to be nicely canned in such a little while.

Now Howard Ash the signal gives, for signalling is his trade,
And the grandstand cheers for they know our boys the bases will parade,
And Bookkeeper Deibert takes the field to take account of the flies,
And Stapleton makes his fielding sure as the walking of railroad ties.

John Slack he gathers the daisies in, he is used to the work of the farm,
And Hitchens he holds the first base safe by the skill of his long right arm,
Lomax is stalked to second base, he knows where the high ones go,
And takes them down with the graceful ease that pleases the ladies so.

Joe Slack he stands behind the bat his tenants who swing the stick
Have three-strike leases when they come, and always move out quick,
Sam Slack he gathers the bunted ones and Whiteman throws the sphere,

Just watch him pitch! To the pen and now we read our title clear.

They are ready all! All placed! "Play ball!" the cold-eyed umpire cries,
And Whiteman sends an easy one that gives a nice surprise,
Over the plate! the batter swings, to hit it seems but fun,
But the girls all shout and Walton smiles as the umpire yells, "Strike one!"

So steadily the canning work goes on with cheerful sound,
We cook them well and salt them well and stack the crates around,
And when the last glad inning ends and all our people cheer,
The record reads: "Consignment sold, Al Davis, Auctioneer."

Bay View shall know our crafty work and Appleton shall mourn,
And Strickersville regret the day our little league was born,
The Elkton folks shall wail and moan and Newark, forced to yield,

Shall sing a dirge each time it comes to the canning factory field.

THE DANGERS OF TRESPASSING

James McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has written a letter to a magazine, calling attention to the dangers of trespassing. He said:

"It is horrible to me to think of the number of trespassers that are killed or injured on the lines of the railroads, simply because they pay no attention to the laws on the subject. On the Pennsylvania system alone, in the last ten years there were 8,523 trespassers killed, and 8,285 injured. The danger to the public due to the custom of carrying concealed explosives on passenger trains and trolley cars is also very great. To what extent this practice is indulged in, of course, we cannot tell, but we know that it is done much more than is realized by the public. This is particularly true as to foreigners engaged in mining operations of various kinds."

Mr. McCrea said attention should be called to the danger of allowing children to walk on railroad rights of way. He also pointed out the need for explaining the law and regulations in reference to carrying explosives on passenger trains and trolley cars, or placing them in trunks or hand-bags.

HON. A. L. CROTHERS WILL FILED

Under the will of the late Hon. Austin L. Crothers, which was filed in the register's office on Friday, his entire estate, valued at $50,000, is left in equal shares to his two nephews, Emerson R. and Omar D. Crothers. To the former he made a specific bequest of $1,000 and to the latter he left his law library and office furniture. The will was made May 16, 1906, shortly after his appointment to the bench, by Governor Warfield.

P. E. CONVENTION IN ELKTON

The forty-fourth annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Eastern, was held in Trinity Church, Elkton, yesterday and today Rt. Rev. Bishop William Forbes Adams, presiding, with thirty-one clerical and thirty-five lay delegates attending. Among the latter were: Governor Goldsborough and Judges James A. Pearce, William H. Adkins and H. L. D. Stanford. There were three sessions yesterday, and the chief business session was held today. One of the features of the convention was the commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Bishop Adams' election.

PROFESSOR MASSEY

In the June issue of The American Magazine, in the department entitled "Interesting People," we are glad to find a tribute to the work of Professor Wilbur F. Massey, a citizen of Maryland. He is the man who introduced criminology into the Delaware-Maryland Peninsula. That is a great achievement as many are ready to testify, but Prof. Massey has gained a much wider reputation as the "Apostle of the Cowpen," which has meant the redemption of so much waste land in the South. Land that had refused to yield a paying crop unless a great deal in commercial fertilizers was spent upon it, was given back its vegetable matter in the form of the legume and the result is better farming and more money. Prof. Massey is widely known through his institute work and his helpful notes in farm papers.

BASE BALL NEWS---THE GAMES OF THE WEEK

At a meeting of the Newark Baseball Club Association in the Hose House on Saturday night, William Johnson was elected assistant manager, Wilmer Hill president at the meeting and Harlan Herdman acted as secretary. The necessity for an assistant manager is due to the fact that William Marecy, catcher for the team, has accepted a position in Chester with the Chester Fibre Company, and while he will get to Newark every Saturday to play in the games, he will be away all during the week. Mr. Johnson's principal duties as assistant manager will be to look after the advertising, transportation of the players when playing away from home, etc. He has been playing second base during the last few games and is a capable man for the position of assistant to Manager Marecy. It was at first intended to elect a new manager, but Marecy was persuaded to continue in that position, provided an assistant was chosen. The selection was unanimous.

The report of the treasurer was especially encouraging and shows the attendance so far at the home games to have exceeded expectations. The total receipts of the club, not including receipts for last Saturday's game, were $384.45. There has been $275.22 expended, which leaves a balance of $109.23. The receipts last Saturday swell this amount considerable but that will come in with the June report. There was a harmonious discussion of the affairs of the club in general and especially as to the playing of the team. Some defects were pointed out, which, when remedied, will strengthen the team. Most of the players were present and seemed to welcome suggestions that will strengthen the playing of the club. Dr. Rowan was among those present and made some valuable suggestions. It was generally admitted that the team is in need of more signals and more practice to perfect as far as possible inside team work. These defects will be remedied in the only way possible and that is by regular and consistent practice work. It was agreed that the players shall report on the field two evenings each week for practice. The evenings selected are Thursday and Friday, so that the work will be the more effective for the Saturday games. Captain Delaware Willis and Assistant Manager Johnson will have charge of the players on these occasions.

Special Tri-County Meeting.

President Moore, of the Tri-County League, has called a special meeting of the managers of the different clubs in the organization to be held at Oxford next Friday, when several matters of importance will be discussed. Assistant Manager Johnson will represent the Newark Club at this meeting.

One of the principal reasons for the session is to adopt a rule giving the umpires more authority in the punishment of players for improper conduct on the field such as several of the Havre de Grace players were guilty of here on Decoration Day. President Moore realizes that such actions will injure the game in the tri-county towns and he is determined to put a stop to it at once if possible. Under the present rules the umpire can fine a player but as the players receive no salaries, this is not a punishment to the player, as he simply refuses to pay the fine and it then has to be paid by his club. What some of the managers desire to do is to adopt a rule giving the umpire authority to punish a player guilty of improper conduct, by suspending him for a certain number of games according to the offense. This would no doubt go further towards stopping rowdiness than anything else that could be done.

Another matter to be considered is a protest made by Newark of the game won by Havre de Grace, Decoration Day afternoon. The protest is made on the ground that Schweitzer, who pitched for Havre de Grace, was ineligible under the rules of the league. Schweitzer was with the Cleveland American League club early this season and was released to Wilmington Tri-State Club. That club let him go early last week and he returned to Havre de Grace. Should the protest be allowed the game will have to be played over.

President Moore witnessed the game here last Saturday and officials of the local club who met him were impressed very favorably with him, as well as with the gentlemanly conduct of the Oxford players. The latter were also pleased with their treatment in Newark and promise the Newark players the same fair treatment when the club plays there next Saturday.

Tri-County League Standing.

	W.	L.	Pc.
Aberdeen	5	2	.714
Port Deposit	5	2	.714
Newark	4	3	.571
Havre de Grace	4	3	.571
Elkton	4	3	.571
Oxford	2	5	.222
North East	2	5	.222
Elk Mills	2	5	.222

Three Games Last Week.

Three games were played in the Tri-County League last week and as a result there were a number of changes in the standing of the various clubs. Newark and Elkton were ousted from the lead. Aberdeen and Port Deposit are now the leaders with five games won and two lost. Newark, Havre de Grace and Elkton follow with four won and three lost, while Oxford, North East and Elk Mills are trailing with but two won and five lost. This makes a pretty race and is especially interesting because the indications are that the tail end clubs are by no means the weakest in the league and a few games won will bring them up.

There were some surprises as the result of the two games played on Decoration Day by each club. Probably the greatest surprise, at least to local fans was the fact of Newark dropping both games on the home grounds to Havre de Grace. Another surprise was the easy manner in which Port Deposit won two games from Elkton. Aberdeen took both games from North East, while Elk Mills and Oxford broke even, it being Elk Mills' first victory of the season.

Newark Dropped Holiday Games.

There has been considerable criticism by some of the local fans because Newark lost both of the Decoration Day Games to Havre de Grace. The criticism is based principally on the claim that the locals played without signals and that more team work would have won at least one of the games. That the club should have signals can not be questioned and also inside team work, so the criticism and the defeats will probably have a good result, if the defects are remedied.

Lack of opportune hitting was no doubt the real cause of Newark's downfall, notwithstanding all the talk about inside team work. Decoration Day morning Geohagan pitched good enough ball to win nine out of ten games, but Flower also pitched a star game for Havre de Grace. The latter, however, was wild, hitting six batsmen and giving several passes. With all these men on the bases it would seem that Newark should have gotten more than one run over the plate, but it must be remembered that Flower was at his best with men on the bases and the necessary safe hits at the opportune time were not made.

The afternoon game was a hard one to lose. While "Vic" Willis was hit hard, especially in the latter part of the game, he was given miserable support by Herdman and Roberts in the outfield, which was responsible for most of the visitors' runs. Schweitzer, who was in the box for Havre de Grace, only pitched a fair game and the two runs scored by Newark in the third inning should have won the game.

Much has been heard since the Havre de Grace game about bunting and the squeeze play. This was probably due to the fact that Havre de Grace scored its first run on a squeeze play, when the team was two runs behind. The local club has been criticized because it did not work or try to work the squeeze play more, but the critics evidently did not think the matter over very carefully before complaining.

For instance, in the third inning of the afternoon game before either team had scored, Roberts had hit for two bases and Montgomery singled. These two players were on third and second respectively when Jackson, ordinarily a good hitter, came to bat with none out. Jackson attempted the squeeze play there and the result was that Roberts was thrown out at home by the pitcher. What would have happened to Jackson had he attempted such a play on a team managed by such leaders as Connie Mack, McGraw, Chance, Jennings and in fact on any well-managed team in a professional league? Why, he would have been called down in a way to make his ears tingle for days to come. It was no time for a squeeze play and the only advice that any successful manager would have given under the circumstances would be to hit it out. A hit would have scored two runs, a long fly would have scored and there was a chance for a run on either an error or an infield out, with little possibility of a double play. The squeeze play is never sure and the opposing team has an excellent chance for a double on a bunted fly or to throw the man on third out at the plate if the bunt is not perfect. Jackson is no doubt as good a player as there is on the Newark team and one of the best in the league, but according to the way the game is played in the major leagues he was wrong in bunting under the circumstances, the same as he was wrong several innings later in the game when with one out and a man on third, he attempted to bunt the ball, with the visiting club's infield playing in.

As to the squeeze play that Havre de Grace worked successfully, under the circumstances, it was what is known in professional baseball circles as a bonehead play, and the man who pulled it off would have even gotten a more severe all down than what would have been coming to Jackson. The circumstances were simply these: Newark was two runs in the lead and with one down and a man on third, Barrett, the visitors' short, Continued on page 7 stop, worked the squeeze play. Now who ever heard of a successful baseball club working a squeeze play with one out and two runs to the bat. That was really a joke on the man who pulled it off.

As a matter of fact the squeeze play is very seldom if ever used in the big leagues, except in cases where one run is needed badly to tie the score or in a case where the teams are tied and one run is needed to win, but never by a club that is two runs behind.

Disgraceful Scene.
 The afternoon game on Decoration Day was somewhat marred by a disgraceful scene on the part of several Havre de Grace players. The principal offenders were Captain Wilson and first baseman Richardson. In the third inning Roberts hit for two sacks and Wilson made a kick to Empire.

Seth, claiming Roberts cut first, using some vile language in doing so. The umpire fined him $2 and put him out of the game, when Richardson ran up and attempted to hit the official and also used more indecent language. After about fifteen minutes wrangling, the two players were allowed to get in the game again. Captain Wilson had a wrangle with Umpire Seth before the game over the game not being started at 3.30 o'clock promptly, and no doubt felt a little sore at him. There is a rule which says games shall be started at 3.30 o'clock, but it does not provide that the home team shall forfeit the game. It seems that Wilson and Richardson have gained a reputation all over the circuit for rowdiness and the sooner it is stopped the better it will be for baseball.

Defeated Oxford, 5 to 3.
 After dropping three straight games, the Newark Tri-County League team pulled itself together Saturday afternoon and defeated the fast Oxford aggregation by the score of 5 to 3. The game was one of the most interesting of the season and was enjoyed all the more by the large number of fans present because of the fast fielding and gentlemanly conduct of the visiting players.

The fielding of both clubs was clean and fast. Newark had a reconstructed outfield and it made a good showing. "Bob" Montgomery was moved to left field and Geoghegan played centre and "Vic" Willis right. Geoghegan played a good fielding game and also made a two base hit which drove in two runs. Murray pitched six innings for Newark, while McIntyre, with the exception of the sixth inning, also did well for the visitors. Newark won by timely batting in the sixth inning when five of the nine hits were made. The score follows:

Pen-Mar League.
 Newark Field Club of the Penn-Mar League defeated the Appleton team on the local grounds Decoration Day afternoon by the score of 16 to 4 and on Saturday went to Elkton and again won by the score of 3 to 1. This gives Newark Field Club four victories and two defeats, a percentage of .667.

The club had the best team in the field at Elkton that it has lined up this season and if the same team is kept together, it should be able to capture the pennant. Null was in great form and allowed but two hits. The score follows:

Penn-Mar League.
 Newark Field Club will play a game on the home grounds next Saturday.

The team should be kept as it lined up against Elkton on Saturday.

Hill a new team was given a trial at second and made good.

Null seems to improve in his pitching.

It was a pitchers' battle at Elkton, only five hits being made by both teams.

What wins baseball games is mostly the unexpected. It is hard to pull off a play successfully when the opposing team is looking for that particular play.

The two days' practice each week if strictly adhered to will strengthen the club 50 per cent.

"Red" Willis accepted 16 chances at first without an error.

Absent Ones
 Absence makes the heart grow fonder but the memory of the absent one becomes vague and dim. You long to picture in your mind just how "HE" or "SHE" would look, but there's a mysterious something which makes the mental picture impossible.

But if you had a photograph before you, then you could recall the forgotten face, yes, even the kind acts, the gentle words.

Wouldn't that "ONE" so far away appreciate your photograph too?
