DEATH CLOSES LIFE STORY OF JOSIAH MARVEL

Funeral of State Leader Held Tuesday; Dies at Height of Career

IS LOSS TO STATE

The death of Josiah Marvel early Saturday morning brings to an end the career of one of the most outstanding men Delaware has ever produced, and his loss to the state will be noted more and more in the years to come.

His funeral was held Monday afternoon from his home, Nanticoke, on the Barley Mill Road, near Wilmington. The services were held in Lower Brandywine Presbyterian Church, near Centerville, and his body was laid at rest in the little cemetery adjoining the old church.

Josiah Marvel died at the height of his career. Less than two months ago he had been elected to the presidency of the American Bar Association, and little more than a week ago was named a member of the National Advisory Council of the League of Nations Association. Last month, thousands of citizens supported him in his unsuccessful quest for the U. S. Senatorial nomination in Delaware. His death, occurring suddenly from a heart attack, early Saturday morning, ended all. He had been in apparent good health on retiring, but awoke early in the morning with severe pains about the heart. He expired not long after.

Mr. Marvel was born in Georgetown, Del., and was educated in the (Continued on Page 4.)

AETNA FIRE CO. HAS BUSY WEEK

Field and Brush Fires Keep Smoke-Eaters on the Run

The Aetna Fire, Hook and Ladder Company was kept busy during the past week answering calls. A number of runs were made to fight field fires and brush fires. Due to the extremely dry weather, the danger from field and brush fires is rather great, and the members of the company have been on their guard against any possible chance of allowing any fire to gain any headway.

On Sunday morning the company was called to the home of Wilmer Hill, on West Delaware avenue, to fight a fire in the kitchen of a second floor apartment. An electric toaster that had just been in use was placed in a paper box, and the box put in a kitchen cabinet. The hot wires in the toaster set the box on fire, and when the firemen arrived they found that the fire had spread to all parts of the room. By quick and efficient work the fire was kept from getting into the walls of the house. The damage is estimated to be not more than $125.

Sunday evening a call was made to a slight fire in a garage and chicken coop in the rear of the home of Alonzo Messick, on Academy street. The damage amounted to about $10.

The Aetna Company was called to aid in the fight against the fire that destroyed the Diamond State Fibre Company plant at Elmore early Friday morning, remaining at the scene of the blaze from about 1 o'clock until nearly 6:30 o'clock.

ST. ANDREWS CHURCH SCHOOL IS DEDICATED

2000 Persons Attend Ceremonies and Praise Donors for Gift

BISHOP COOK LAUDED

The Rt. Rev. Philip Cook, D. D., Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Delaware was lauded for the work he has accomplished in this State during the past 10 years, and gratitude for the new St. Andrew's School given by A. Felix du Pont and his sister, Mrs. Irene du Pont was expressed by the more than 2,000 persons attending the joint celebration Tuesday at the school, on Noxentown Lake, two miles from Middletown.

A large group of clergy and church workers in the State gathered Tuesday morning in the school chapel by Bishop Cook.

"In these days of radicalism and drifting from firm purpose and moral moorings, I thank God for the church schools," said Judge Joseph Buffington, LL. D., Judge of the Federal Court of Appeals of the Third Judicial District in Philadelphia, one of the principal speakers at the opening session of the afternoon. He said that the type of men which the church schools develop is the best kind there is, and not neglected, for Shattuck School, in Minnesota, sent more students from its class rooms to become commissioned officers in the Spanish-American War than any other school in America, excepting the government academies, West Point and Annapolis.

Bishop Edward T. Helfenstein, of the Diocese of Maryland, was the other speaker of the afternoon. He congratulated Bishop Cook on his anniversary and expressed the wish that the two adjoining dioceses would have many more years of service and fellowship together. Bishop Helfenstein also spoke of the splendid school building and expressed the belief that the gift of Mr. du Pont and his sister will forward church education in Delaware.

PROF. CLEMENT STRICKEN WITH ACUTE APPENDICITIS

Professor Nemours H. Clement, associate professor of French at the University of Delaware, was suddenly stricken with acute appendicitis on Wednesday morning, and after being taken to the infirmary of the University for examination and emergency treatment, was rushed to the Homeopathic Hospital in Wilmington, where he was operated upon in the afternoon.

Dr. Clement had not been feeling well for several days, but had continued to carry on his duties at the University until yesterday morning, when he collapsed. Dr. Wallace Johnson was summoned, and immediately ordered him removed to the hospital in Wilmington, where Dr. James Spackman performed the operation.

Late last night Dr. Clement's condition was said at the hospital to be good, and he is reported to have rallied from the operation in a good condition. Due to the severity of the operation, Dr. Clement will be in the hospital for several weeks, and will be absent from his classes for at least a month.

SUPPER POSTPONED

The ladies of the Christiana Presbyterian Church have announced that the date of their annual poultry and oyster supper has been changed to November 12.

R. C. A. REPORTS WIRES CAUSE RADIO TROUBLE

Faulty Connections and Poor
Insulators Believed Source of Interference

SHOULD BE ELIMINATED

A report from the technicians of the Radio Corporation of America, giving the findings of the investigation made in this town in the past two weeks by a group of electrical experts, was received early this week by John Reburn, of the Reburn Radio Company, stating that the interference that has made radio reception impossible in certain portions of the town is caused by defective and inadequate equipment in the high tension lines that pass through this town.

The report says that while the R. C. A. realizes that it is a difficult problem to eliminate all interference, yet the electrical experts who conducted the probe of conditions here believe that a lot of the trouble is unnecessary, and that it can be eliminated at a small cost.

The report was addressed to the Delaware Electric Power Company, and a copy of the report was sent to Mr. Reburn. The report was as follows: Delaware Electric Power Co., Wilmington, Delaware.

Gentlemen:— We have had a great number of complaints from Newark, Delaware, that radio reception is absolutely impossible in some locations, due to interference from power lines. Upon investigation, we found that (Continued on Page 4.)

GASOLINE TANK TRUCK BURNED

Explosion Prevented as 500
Gallons of Gas Blaze
Merrily

Considerable excitement was caused Tuesday evening when a large gasoline tank truck, belonging to the Sun Oil Company, caught fire near McClellandville, and soon became a raging mass of flames.

By some chance of good luck, the truck did not explode. A short time before the driver had delivered 1,000 gallons of gasoline in Newark, and still had 500 gallons in the tank when he discovered that it was on fire. The Aetna Fire, Hook and Ladder Company of Newark was called, but found upon arriving at the scene that no aid could be given in stopping the fire, and that, due to the strong chances of an explosion, it would be inviting death to approach the tank-truck close enough to attempt to smother the fire with chemicals. As the explosive power of a gallon of gasoline is about that of 85 pounds of dynamite, the explosion of the truck, had it occurred, would have caused tremendous damage and would have been sure death to anyone close to it.

The driver of the truck was Edward Kennedy, of Wilmington. No estimate was given as to the amount of damage to the truck, but it is thought that it will have to be rebuilt before it can be placed in service again.

CHURCH-HOME SUNDAY

The annual Church-Home Sunday at Christiana Presbyterian Church will be observed this Sunday at the old church, with the Rev. Samuel L. Irvine conducting the services.

The morning service will start at 11 o'clock, with Mr. Irvine giving a talk on the history of the church instead of the usual sermon. A luncheon will be served at the church, and following the luncheon, at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Jay H. Arnold, pastor of the Greenhill Presbyterian Church, will deliver a sermon.

This service is one of the most interesting ones of the year at the Christiana Presbyterian Church, and it is expected that a large number of people will be present on next Sunday to attend the ceremonies.

CLEAN-UP DAY

Clean-Up Day in Newark will be this coming Wednesday, October 22. Town Council has announced, and all property holders and residents of the town are notified to have their rubbish and trash deposited in boxes or cans on the curbing in front of their property early Wednesday morning.

STATE TEACHERS TO MEET HERE NOV. 13, 14

Noted Speakers to Address
Annual Session of Educators

BRINSER IN CHARGE

The annual session of the State Education Association of Delaware will be held in Newark on November 13 and 14. It has been announced, and national attention will be attracted to the meeting here on account of the prominence of the speakers. Outstanding among those on the program is William McAndrew, one of the most noted educators in the United States.

Not only will teachers throughout the State attend the sessions but educators and laymen of nearby states are expected to attend. Committees are now being appointed to arrange a fitting welcome to those who will be the guests of Newark.

Mr. McAndrew, who will address the association, is the former associate superintendent of the schools of New York City. What Mr. McAndrew has to say is not only listened to with interest by teachers and schoolmen, but also by the average layman.

The theme of Mr. McAndrew's address will be, "Where Are We Now?" When engaged to visit Delaware he remarked that he would "cheerfully fall in line" with the theme of the convention, which is: "Working Together for the Youth of Delaware."

Mr. McAndrew is one of the best known schoolmen in the country. He helped to organize the National De- (Continued on Page 5.)

The Rev. J. Gresham Machen, D. D., Professor of New Testament in Westminster Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, accepted an invitation to preach the sermon. COLLEGE HOUR ARTIST TOMORROW NIGHT

Miss Frieda Hempel, Metropolitan Grand Opera star, in the costume which she will wear during her concert tomorrow night in Mitchell Hall. This costume is an exact copy of the one worn by Miss Jenny Lind when she made her famous concert tour in this country many years ago. Miss Hempel will sing her "Jenny Lind Concert" here.

CONCERT TICKETS

For the benefit of those who have been unable to secure tickets at the advance sale for the Frieda Hempel concert for this Friday evening, the Committee on College Hour for the University of Delaware announces that all unclaimed student and faculty tickets will be placed on sale after one o'clock Friday afternoon at the Business Office, and in the evening at the box office of Mitchell Hall.

SCHOOL BOARD ADDS TEACHER TO LOCAL STAFF

Will Relieve Overcrowdedness in 4th Grade; Miss
McKee Named for Place

EXPERIENCED TEACHER

Due to the overcrowded conditions of the fourth grade in the Newark School, the Newark Board of Education, at its meeting last Friday night, voted to divide one room in the Main Street Building and to employ an additional teacher to take charge of the new class.

After discussing the matter thoroughly, the Board authorized Superintendent Ira Brinser to employ Miss Lois A. McKee as the new member of the faculty. Miss McKee received her education at the West Nottingham Academy and at the Trenton, N. J., State Normal School. She has had three years of experience teaching in the schools of Burlington, N. J. The schools in this city are noted for their excellence and high standards, so Miss McKee will bring to Newark some valuable training and experience in the instruction of school pupils.

The members of the staff of the school, the School of Education, and the student teachers of the school were the guests of the Board of Education at the meeting. The student orchestra of the Newark School provided music for the social hour following the meeting, and the girls in the home economics class took charge of the refreshments.

These meetings, which are conferences of the entire staff of the schools, are held each month. The second Tuesday of each month is given over to conferences on the improvement of teacher training in the Newark (Continued on Page 4.)

W. C. D. ALUMNAE MEETING

The first fall meeting of the W. C. D. Alumnae Chapter will meet at the home of the president, Mrs. F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., 248 W. Main street, on Monday evening, October 20, at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Anne Gallaher will tell about her European trip.

FRIEDA HEMPEL CONCERT TO BE FRIDAY EVENING

Noted Operatic Star to Appear in Mitchell Hall Tomorrow Night

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

The attention of the music lovers of this section will be focused on Newark tomorrow night when Frieda Hempel, noted soprano and grand opera star, will be presented in the second of the series of College Hour programs in Mitchell Hall of the University of Delaware. Miss Hempel will give her famous Jenny Lind concert which has attracted such wide and favorable attention throughout the world.

The feat of bringing Miss Hempel to Newark is a distinct achievement for the members of the faculty in charge of College Hour. It is rarely that an artist of such fame and renown is brought to a town of the size of Newark, and at a price per ticket for admission to her concert that is within the reach of everyone. On October 6, 1920—the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Jenny Lind, the Swedish Nightingale—Miss Hempel first appeared in her impersonation of Miss Lind. The concert was given in the Hippodrome, in New York, and that large structure was crowded to its doors with enthusiastic admirers of Miss Hempel. The concert was such an outstanding success that in the years following the original concert, she has given several hundred Jenny Lind concerts.

FRANK MERRICK SERIOUSLY ILL

Recovery of M. E. Cemetery
Superintendent Doubtful,
Has Lived Here 26 Years

Frank J. Merrick, superintendent of the Newark Methodist Episcopal Cemetery, the man who, in the past twenty-six years that he has resided in Newark, has assisted in the burial of more than 475 persons, is gravely ill, and while some hope is entertained for his return to health, his recovery is doubtful at best.

Mr. Merrick came to Newark in 1904 and assumed the duties of superintendent of the Methodist Cemetery. At the time he took over this task, the cemetery was in a neglected condition and had no funds in its treasury. Working in cooperation with S. J. Wright, William Gamble, H. B. Wright, Harlan Gray, Walter Bradley and Newbold Money, a colored man, Mr. Merrick built up the cemetery and improved the grounds until it has become the beautiful resting place for those that have passed on that it now is. All of the men who were associated with Mr. Merrick in this work have died in the intervening years, and Mr. Merrick is the only surviving one of the group who incorporated and developed the cemetery. The cemetery is now endowed with a fund of $30,000, largely due to the work of these men.

For a number of years Mr. Merrick has lived in the house on the cemetery grounds which was erected for the use of the superintendent. During these years he has become acquainted with a large number of people here, and many inquiries as to his condition are being received. Mr. Merrick was 79 years old last August.

MAGISTRATE THOMPSON REAPPOINTED TO OFFICE

Magistrate Daniel Thompson last week was reappointed to his office for a period of four years by Governor C. D. Buck, and is now receiving the congratulations of his friends for his re-appointment.

Mr. Thompson and his wife were away from this town for several days recently on a motor trip south, but have now returned and have reopened their home here. Mr. Thompson has not been enjoying good health for some time, but is now fully recovered and has again taken up his duties in office and is "all set" for another term of four years.

TRUCKMAN ARRESTED

William Middleton, of Centerville, Md., was arrested this week in Newark for operating a truck without an operator's license. When arranged before Magistrate Thompson, he was fined $10 and costs on a plea of guilty to the charge.

VISITORS DAY AT STOCKLEY OCT. 18

New Buildings Will Be Open for Inspection; events Planned

Several hundred prominent Delawareans are expected to attend the fifth annual Fall Visitors Day and Pound Party at Delaware Colony, one mile south of Stockley. The Annual Fall Visitors Day, Field Day and Pound Party will be held on next Saturday from 2 until 4:30 o'clock, under the direction of the Delaware Commission for the Feeble Minded.

On account of the fact that the drought this year has been disastrous to the vegetable gardens of the farm, resulting in a decreased supply of produced foodstuffs, donations will be gratefully received. Howard T. Ennis, superintendent for the commission, has stated. He further requests that the donations be labeled with the name and address of the person or organizations making the gift.

A part of the program will be a play given by the girls and boys attending the Colony School to be held in the afternoon on the lawn of the institution. The visitors will be escorted through the buildings of the colony. The new girls' building, which will accommodate one hundred additional girls and consists of living-rooms, dormitory rooms, and play rooms, will be finished and opened for inspection. It will be ready for use at that time. The new administration building, while it will not be completed for about a month, will be inspected also. Both of these buildings are made from concrete blocks made by boys of the Colony and this has resulted in a great reduction in the cost of construction. Adequate provision has been made for the future in the construction of the administration building, which is located in the center of the colony grounds. It will also contain provisions for a temporary infirmary until an infirmary building can be constructed. Part of the building will also be used for manual training and training in handicrafts.

The State Commission for the Feeble Minded has charge of the program. The commissions consists of Mrs. Coleman du Pont, chairman; Arley B. Megee, Dover; John B. Hutton, Dover; Mrs. James Pennell, Dover; Mrs. Lena Messick, Bridgeville; Senator John Townsend, Jr., Selbyville; Thomas Gormley, Wilmington; and S. S. Deemer, of New Castle. The auxiliary of the Colony, headed by Miss Blanche E. Lockwood, of Middletown, which has charge of the annual Arbor Day of the Colony which is held in the spring, and during which many plants and pieces of shrubbery and trees are planted, will act as hostesses in the various buildings and show the guests about.

THIRTY-SIX THOUSAND LIVES

The United States is on its way toward establishing a new high record for deaths due to the automobile, according to a well-known authority. It is forecast that at the end of 1930 the total of casualties will be 36,000—several thousand more than were killed last year, when the present tragic record was established.

Recklessness and carelessness are still the modern "rules of the road." Hundreds of thousands of incompetents are allowed full use of the public highways.

This last factor—that of incompetence—is probably largely responsible for our gigantic record of fatalities. Only a few states have laws requiring strict examination of applicants for drivers' licenses. Fortunately, there is a trend toward such laws throughout the nation and when every state has and enforces them at least partial success in accident prevention will be achieved.

Another crying need, in most states, is for modernization and revision of traffic ordinances. Up-to-date, enforceable codes that would be supported by the public, are essential to highway safety.

We have no more serious problem than that of automobile accident prevention. It affects every citizen and is a vital element in the life of every community.

MAGGIEITES WANT NAME CHANGED

There's a town in Mason county, W. Va., that doesn't like its name. It is the town of Maggie, boasting of a population of 350, and in 1888, when no suitable name had been proposed, a Washington, D. C., stenographer gave it her cognomen.

"Name it Maggie," after me," she suggested, and as the postal authorities were mere men, "Maggie," it was called.

Now, Maggieites want the name changed. They feel that the name is rather undignified and very inappropriate, as Maggie, the stenographer, never saw Maggie, the town, and the town, Maggie, never saw Maggie, the stenographer.

HOUSING PULLETS FOR WINTER PRODUCTION

By J. H. Bodwell

The big problem in housing pullets for winter production is not only to maintain the body weight already attained on the range, but to add more weight.

The good dairyman, long ago, found that the cow that was kept in good condition during her "dry period" would give more milk throughout her milking period than if she was in poor condition before she freshened.

The same principle holds true with pullets that are just beginning to lay. Unless we put them in good condition and keep them in good weight they may go into a moult which may necessitate a six to eight weeks' resting period before they come back into production.

How are we going to do it? First, we must make the laying house clean and comfortable. That means to have enough roosts, hoppers, and water fountains in the house; have the house well ventilated without any direct draughts, and do not put too many birds in a pen.

Second, free the birds of lice, mites, and worms before putting them into the laying house.

Remember, a bird eats only about 2 pounds of feed per week and if she lays at the rate of 50 per cent, the eggs will weigh about one-half pound per week. If she has to feed thousands of parasites, besides, she is bound to lose weight, which will mean her body weight cannot be maintained.

When the change from range to laying house is made, extra care must be exercised to see that she does gain in weight. This can be done by darkening the house for a few days to keep them from being restless; by supplying plenty of green feed; by using more hoppers at first and by giving a wet mash once a day mixed in milk or water to insure more consumption of feed. If the birds are rather thin, have this wet mash consist of a fattening mixture rather than the regular growing mash. Also a greater proportion of scratch grains should be used at this time to help put on the good firm flesh.

We should always remember that a hen will not produce eggs without a good supply of feed any more than a windmill will work without a good breeze.

Our Policy Toward the Latin-American Country

Our foreign policy toward Latin America, despite the fact that our relations with the countries of Central America and the Caribbean are now on an unusually friendly footing, is apparently the topic which caused the greatest amount of discussion and controversy. Differing opinions upon the implications of the Monroe Doctrine, the theory of an implied mandate over our weaker neighbors and the conditions under which foreign interventions are to be justified have more than anything else absorbed the interest of the Williamstown delegates.

There is certainly no question of more pressing importance in our foreign policy. Both because of the proximity of Latin America and of our commercial interests in those countries the determination of what our attitude toward them should be has always been a difficult problem. Against the ideal of complete non-intervention and friendly cooperation upon a basis of absolute equality we have had to set their political instability and their economic weakness which again and again has represented a distinct danger to our legitimate interests. We have had to face the disturbing fact that if we did not exercise some measure of control over their political quarrels or their hectic finances some other nation might assume the task which we refused.

This has led in the past to intervention which in some instances cannot be very well justified and to an aggressive protection of what we deemed American interests which has with good cause left us open to charges of imperialism. We have at times aroused the deep mistrust of Latin America. But if this represents the debit side of our policy, especially in the Caribbean, it can also be said that no other great Power has maintained so friendly a policy as we have on the whole maintained toward

—OUR MOTTO.

OCTOBER 9, 1930

We Congratulate Magistrate Thompson

The Newark Post joins with the citizens of Newark in congratulating Magistrate Daniel Thompson on his reappointment to office for the next four years by Governor Buck. We feel that the choice of the Governor is a wise one, and that no better man could be found to occupy that office with the dignity, ability, and fairness that is necessary to Mr. Thompson.

Since Mr. Thompson has been magistrate in this town, he has become well known for his fairness in the administering of his sometimes unpleasant duty. He has gained a reputation for his ability to judge between cases of willful violence and accidental breach of the law. He is lenient in cases where mercy is justified, but his sternness is feared by the prisoner deserving of the full measure of the law. He is a man ideally suited for his position, and we feel that it is to the distinct advantage of Newark that he has been reappointed to his office. May his successful work of the past be continued in the future.

The Death of Josiah Marvel

So sudden was the passing on of Josiah Marvel that it will take some time for many persons, especially those close to him, to realize what has happened, what a blow has been struck. A gentle, lovable man has gone to his reward. May Light Perpetual shine upon his soul.

Mr. Marvel was many sided, a gentleman giving of his time and many talents to the public good as well as to the practice of his profession in which he was so eminent that only recently he was unanimously elected president of the American Bar Association.

The same happy and easy manner and broad view of life was with him to the end. This was manifested conspicuously at the recent Democratic convention, and since that time Mr. Marvel at once decided loyally to support the candidate of his party.

Mr. Marvel was a native of Sussex county, but he belonged to all Delaware. He had friends without number and was welcome in every place in the State.

Mr. Marvel was a member of numerous social and fraternal organizations, so prompted by his friendly spirit and his desire to mingle with his fellows. It is astonishing, his many activities, how much energy he gave to things other than his profession. Such efforts were chiefly along welfare lines, being of real service. Devoted he was to his country during the war and likewise in times of peace. He was ever willing, ever gracious, considerate, anxious to help. Persons on newspapers will always remember how affable he was, how he would go to trouble to help them in a news way.

Indeed he was a rare man, who exemplified what a husband and a father should be, rejoicing in the company of his fine family, often at Nanticoke, his country place, and at all other times.

Surely a good citizen in every sense of the word has departed. He has left a rich heritage, a memory that will be fragrant.—Wilmington Morning News.

TOO MUCH MONEY BANKER SUICIDE

E. H. Hickman Kills Self;
Worry Over Surplus Funds
Blamed for Act

Worried because he considered the country was in bad shape and because the First National Bank of Frankford had more money than it could loan, Everett H. Hickman, 68 years old, shot and killed himself Monday afternoon.

To his brother, Horace J. Hickman, he left a note in which he said: "The country is getting in such bad condition that I cannot stand it any longer. God bless me."

To Paul J. Scott, a director of the bank who was with him in the building when he shot himself, he said a few minutes before he fired the fatal shot:

"Paul everything in the country is in bad shape. We have so much money we can not lend it. I do not know what the country is coming to."

Mr. Scott replied: "To have more money than you can loan is a lot better than being unable to meet your obligations. I do not see anything to worry about in that."

T. M. Heath, assistant cashier of the bank, told police that Mr. Hickman had recently been worrying because the bank had large sums of money on hand that it could not loan advantageously.

"There was more than $100,000 in cash on hand," Heath said, "and Mr. Hickman was worrying night and day over where to invest it properly."

Mr. Hickman is said to have been worrying over the condition of the country for some time. Monday morning he went to the Frankford Hotel where he talked with Captain D. G. Long, another director, and wanted to know if he had seen Mr. Scott. They told him that he would arrive about noon and Mr. Hickman waited.

Scott was asked by Mr. Hickman to go to the bank with him. When they entered the bank, which was closed on account of a holiday, Mr. Hickman made his remark in reference to the bank having more money than it could loan. Turning to Scott after his remark about the money, he asked his friend to sit down and wait for him for a few minutes. Mr. Scott sat down in Hickman's office and the latter went into the cashier's office. In a short time Mr. Scott heard a pistol shot but thought it was outside. When Mr. Hickman did not come out, Mr. Scott opened the door of the room and found the bank president lying on the floor with a revolver beside him and blood flowing from his head. He at once called some young men who were outside the bank and Mr. Hickman was placed in a car and hurried to Beebe Hospital at Lewes. He was dead on his arrival.

HEAD OF CHRISTIANA CEMETERY INCORPORATED

A meeting was held recently of the members of the Head of Christiana Church, at which the necessary papers for the incorporation of the Head of Christiana Cemetery were signed. John K. Johnston was elected president of the corporation, with John Q. S. Stewart as vice-president and Warren A. Singles as secretary and treasurer. The Board of Directors elected were Charles B. Evans, Fred B. Martinez, John T. McKeowan and John W. Milburn.

Notice has been given that all members of the church holding lots in the cemetery, and all others having lots in the cemetery are requested to pay their dues to the cemetery fund to Mr. Singles at the Newark Trust Company.

JUVENILE A. O. U. W. TO ELECT OFFICERS

On Friday evening the Children's Branch of the A. O. U. W. will hold election of officers, and all the members are urged to be present. The competition for the various offices is very keen among the young lodge members, and a very interesting meeting is expected.

Arrangements will also be made at this meeting for a visit to Wilmington, the Children's Branch of that city having invited the Newark children to attend a Halloween party on Thursday evening, October 30. The members of the Newark Branch will make the trip by special bus, and those in charge desire a full list of the children who can attend, so that arrangements can be made to take care of all.

public schools of Sussex County, where he afterwards taught school. At a later date, he was a teacher and headmaster at St. Joseph's School for boys.

Deciding to study law, he registered as a student in the office of Judge George Gray, in this city, and in 1894 he was admitted to the bar. That same year he opened offices in Wilmington and practiced alone until four years later, when his brother, Judge David T. Marvel, retired from the Delaware Supreme Court bench, and joined him in forming the firm of Marvel and Marvel. Subsequently, Chancellor Josiah O. Wolcott, Caleb S. Layton, city solicitor, and James H. Hughes, former district attorney, joined the firm. The present firm, with offices in the du Pont Building, is known as Marvel, Morford and Ward, and consisted of Mr. Marvel as senior partner, James R. Morford, former attorney general and Christopher L. Ward, Jr. Judge Marvel remained as counsel.

Mr. Marvel served as a member of the finance committee of the Democratic National Convention in the 1908 campaign and was urged as the party's nominee for Congress in Delaware in 1910, but refused. He was selected as the temporary chairman of the Democratic State Convention in that year and delivered the keynote speech. He served as chairman of the Democratic County Finance Committee for several campaigns and took an active part in the last presidential campaign as acting Democratic National Committeeman for Delaware.

Mr. Marvel was also noted as an orator and as an authority on the Constitution.

Mr. Marvel was four times elected president of the Delaware Bar Association, retiring from that position on January 1, 1927.

Among the important civic posts which Mr. Marvel has held during his long and useful career were first president of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal Committee, chairman of the Battleship Delaware Committee, chairman of the People's Settlement Building Committee, president of the Men's Club of Trinity P. E. Church, president of the Associated Charities, president of the Wilmington Council, Boy Scouts of America, member of the State Highway Commission, Temporary Food Administrator, chairman of the Committee on Patriotic War Address, chairman of a Red Cross Drive, chairman of the Victory Loan Campaign, trustee of the Delaware Hospital, chairman of the State Fair Horse Show Committee, director of the State Fair and trustee of Tower Hill School.

Mr. Marvel established a loan fund for the aid of students at the University of Delaware. He drafted the State inheritance tax and child labor laws and supervised the drafting of the income tax and State highway laws.

PLAN HORSE SHOW AT NORTH EAST RIVER CLUB

The first Fall Horse Show sponsored by the North East River Country Club, will be held at the Club grounds, Carpenter's Point, along the North East River, Saturday, October 25.

The show, which will be managed by a committee headed by W. Frank Mathews, promises to be the feature event of the fall season at the Country Club. Already many prominent horsemen and horsewomen have promised their co-operation. Entries from some of the finest stables in this section of the east will grace the program. The winner of each event will be awarded a silver cup.

Practically the same persons interested in the coming show, have staged two very successful affairs on Hilltop farm, owned by J. B. Decker, near Elkton, during the past two years.

SUPPER

The ladies of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Christiana will hold their annual poultry and oyster supper October 22, beginning at five o'clock.

the worst disturbance was caused by either poor insulators or poor connections on the cross-overs on pole No. 163, located on the southwest corner of Main street and Elkton road at Newark. This location is so noisy that it is impossible to operate a radio set to satisfactorily receive even nearby stations.

Other bad locations were near poles No. 458 and No. 153, which might have been caused by either poor insulators or improperly set fuses. Interference at poles No. 438 and No. 149 was noticeable, although not as bad as in other locations, and may have been due to interference following the line and not due to defects in insulators or fuse boxes at these points.

There was also some noise near poles No. 425 and No. 426, apparently caused by poor connections in the cross-overs at these points. While we realize it is a very difficult problem to completely eliminate all causes of interference in high-voltage lines, we do believe the trouble, in this case, is so far more than ordinarily found and that a great deal of it could be eliminated, without any great expense to you.

As we realize that you are just as anxious to eliminate such troubles as we are to have them eliminated, we trust you will find it to your advantage to check this at an early date, so that the people located near these points in Newark, Delaware, may once more be able to enjoy their radio sets.

Very truly yours,
Schaffhauser-Kiley Corp.,
Philadelphia Representative of the Radio Corporation of America.

A copy of the report has been sent to the Town Council of Newark also. Just what action will be taken to correct the faults mentioned in this report is not known, but it is the hope of the radio owners of this city that conditions be improved so that normal reception can be enjoyed by radio owners.

ST. ANDREWS
IS DEDICATED

Brookie, the architect, and the ceremony of turning over the keys to the buildings followed. The architect presented the keys to Mr. du Pont, who in turn gave them to his sister, Mrs.
du Pont, and she gave them to Bishop Cook. After a few remarks as to the selection of the Rev. Walden Pell, II, as headmaster of St. Andrew's School, Bishop Cook turned the keys over to him.

Headmaster Pell said he believed the boys enrolled in the school had already caught the spirit of those who made the institution possible, and had given evidence of this spirit in the fine way they had cleaned the building and the grounds without any outside assistance.

The dedication ceremony was very impressive and the procession led by the crucifer and including the choir, students of the school, staff of instructors, headmaster, trustees of the Episcopal Church School Foundation, executive council of the diocese, trustees of the diocese, standing committee of the diocese, visiting clergy, clergy of the diocese, visiting bishops, bishop's chaplain and the bishop of the diocese, went into the various rooms and departments of the school, where prayers were offered and hymns sung. The tenth anniversary celebration in which Bishop Cook and the congregation took part, as well as the senior priest, the chancellor of the diocese and the president of the Woman's Auxiliary, was observed during the noon hour.

drew's School are: The Rev. Walden
Pell, II, headmaster; the Rev. James
C. King, Jr., Granville Sherwood,

RADIO AUDITION WINNERS NAMED

Miss Helen G. Knowles and Sanford L. Guyer Chosen
as Delaware Entries

Announcement of Delaware state winners in the Fourth National Radio Audition, sponsored by the Atwater Kent Foundation, was made this week by Miss Elizabeth Woolley of Radio Station WDEL, which broadcast the state contest. The winners are Miss Helen G. Knowles of Seaford, a dramatic soprano, and Sanford LaMert Guyer, bass-baritone, of Wilmington. The Delaware State Audition was held under the chairmanship of Mrs. Anabel Groves Howell, Supervisor of Music in the Wilmington Public Schools, with broadcasting arrangements in charge of Miss Woolley as state manager.

Announced to the radio audience merely as No. 4, Miss Knowles sang "Ritorna Vincitor" from Verdi's "Aida." His identity concealed when he was presented before the microphone as No. 1, Mr. Guyer sang "Still as the Night," by Bohm. Each of these young singers has twice previously won the Delaware State Audition.

Their third state victory entitles them to represent Delaware in the district or semi-final auditions, which will be sung in New York, November 19 and 20. In the semi-finals the Delaware champions will compete with state winners from New England and other Middle Atlantic States. The victors in the semi-finals—a young man and a young woman—become National finalists and will sing in grand finals in New York, Sunday evening, December 14, during the Atwater Kent Hour.

Ten National Finalists—two from each of five districts—representing the country as a whole, will compete in the grand finals which will be broadcast over a country-wide chain of stations. The relative standing of the ten National Finalists will be determined by an impartial board of judges. These ten winners will receive cash awards aggregating $25,000, and scholarships which will enable them to pursue advanced musical studies.

LAWYERS GET THOUSANDS FROM SUPPOSED HEIRS

The day of selling gold bricks is past but a game just as old if not older, continues to bring its lawyer-promoters millions of dollars in fees by supposed heirs trying to get possession of estates purported to be worth fabulous sums.

Three generations of lawyers in New York State are said to have been made rich by a scheme of this sort and they have represented only one of these estates, the Anneke Jans Bogardus property in New York City.

Whether true or not the purported history of the Anneke Jans fortune is interesting. It dates back to the reign of King William of Holland and more than three centuries ago. After the death of the king, so the story goes, his will left his fortune to his sister. A part of it she invested in a tract of land, 62½ acres, now in the heart of New York City and worth many millions.

The heirs to this property, supposedly never divided, are now said to number at least 65,000, most of whom in some way have been kept track of and all of them good prospects for the organization of fee-paying members seeking possession of the estate.

It seems the attorneys promoting this scheme are within the law but the report of a Federal investigation made a few years ago declared it would cost these heirs more to get the property than their respective shares would be worth because the State law would require such heirs to refund all taxes paid on the property for nearly 300 years with interest at 6 per cent. Another New York law provides that title to property belongs to anyone who has held it in adverse possession 20 years or more.

An interesting variation to the story spread around recently has it that the reason the estate was not divided at the death of Anneke Jans was because her daughter, to whom it would have descended defied her mother when she married. When the girl fell in love with a farmer's son the mother threatened to disinherit her and did make a will putting off division of the property until the seventh generation following. And the present generation is the seventh.

Always the promoters of these schemes are just on the verge of bringing about new and startling developments like that to keep alive the interest of supposed heirs and to keep their fees coming.

The very latest report development is that the Trinity Church Corporation of New York City, now in possession of part of this property, is willing to settle with the heirs for about $100,000 apiece to clear the title. Some time previously the heirs were led to believe they had approximately $2,000,000 apiece coming if a settlement could be brought about. But they are still waiting for the money.

This is the story of only one such organization of heirs waiting patiently for melon-cutting and paying membership fees while waiting. There are dozens of other. Perhaps some of them are bona fide and may ultimately bring their members something for their money and hopes invested but they can depend on the lawyers getting the lion's share first and the heirs will get what's left, if anything.

AMERICANS HAVE A SWEET TOOTH

Approximately 6,000,000 tons of refined sugar are consumed annually in this country.

Americans have a national sweet tooth complex, and while candies, cakes, canned fruits, preserves and soft drinks consume most of the sugar used, these are only a few of the food products which use it, and which are made possible only by it.

Ten billion dollars is the annual sales volume, at wholesale prices, of sugar and other sweeteners, such as honey and molasses, and of the principal lines of food products where sugar is used in manufacture, or is added before consumption.

Approximately five-sixths of the sugar consumed annually in this country originally comes from sugar cane, while the other sixth comes from the sugar beet. Even a skilled chemist in his laboratory cannot tell one chemically pure sugar from another; there is no difference between the chemical composition, the dietetic functions, sweetening or energy value of sugars produced from cane or the lowly beet.

Of these two sugars, the average per capita consumption of Americans is 108 pounds per year.

THE RAMBLING REPORTER

Here we have Floyd Gibbons, the fastest moving reporter in the newspaper world, giving one of his well-known broadcasts on news events, happenings of interest, or concerning some magazine article. Spoken of as being the fastest speaker on the air, Mr. Gibbons crowds a half-hour's speech into a fifteen minute talk. His programs are eagerly looked forward to by many of the radio public.

MISS MACDONALD GIVES HINTS FOR VEGETABLES IN THE DIET

The short supply of vegetables, due to the drought this year, has made a difficult problem for the farm woman in planning meals that will meet the food needs of her family, says Miss Pearl MacDonald, of the Extension Service of the University of Delaware.

This is particularly true for the family that either does not have the money to buy fresh shipped in vegetables or is not near enough to centers where they may be bought.

In various sections of the state there are tomatoes that may be conserved for winter use.

Some of the tomatoes may not turn red before frost comes. If well grown, they can be picked, wrapped in light brown paper and packed away in a cool, dry place. As needed take off the paper, place in sun on window sill to ripen. It is possible to put away several baskets of tomatoes in this way and they will keep with little loss.

The ripened tomatoes—even though they are small and are culls—can be gathered before frost comes and be put up by the homemaker.

Tomatoes will help in solving the food problem. They can take the place of cabbage, oranges and other citrus fruits in supplying vitamin C which is so important in promoting and maintaining health and in preventing scurvy. They are recommended to be used in the diet three or four times a week.

These cull tomatoes, suggests Miss MacDonald, may be canned by the usual method or made into Tomato Sauce or Puree.

To Make Tomato Sauce or Puree—Wash, remove stem end, cut into halves, or quarters, cook until tender and put through sieve. Add to each quart of pulp, 1 teaspoonful of salt and sugar mixture, using 1 part of salt to 2 parts of sugar. Cook to consistency of catsup, stirring constantly. Fill hot into glass jars, put on rubbers and covers lightly, sterilize by hot water process for 8 to 8 minutes, seal.

For the hot water process, a wash boiler or any kettle with a closely fitting cover, and deep enough for the jars, may be used. Place the jars on a rack in the kettle, have water come about half way up on the jars, put cover on kettle, count the time for sterilization from the point when the water actually boils.

The Tomato Puree may be used in soups. Heat separately equal amounts of milk and tomato pulp—combine by adding pulp gradually to the milk, stirring as the pulp is added. Season to taste and serve. If the mixture curdles, beat with egg beater. Do not add soda, since soda destroys the Vitamin C. The curdling does not injure flavor or food value.

Tomato Rarebit is, also, very good made from the puree. Heat 2 cups tomato puree over hot water, add ¼ to 1 lb. of cheese grated or cut in small pieces. When cheese is melted, season to taste, serve on toast or crackers.

Macaroni or Spaghetti with Tomato Sauce—Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender and drain. Heat tomato puree, season to taste with salt, pepper and a little butter, flavor with onion if desired and add to the cooked macaroni. Cheese, grated or cut in small pieces may be melted in the tomato puree before adding to the macaroni.

CHRISTIANA P. T. A. MEETS

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Christiana School was held at the school house Tuesday evening, October 7. The meeting was opened with the singing of the Club Song, after which the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Vincent, acting as secretary for the evening. Mr. and Mrs. LeVan and Miss Healy were accepted as new members. Mrs. Margaret Thornton, chairman of the entertainment committee, was authorized to write to Miss Burnett, inviting her to be present at the next regular meeting in November to speak on Adult Education. Mrs. Barrett announced that Miss Morton, Librarian for New Castle County, would give a lantern slide demonstration at the next meeting.

Mrs. Thornton and Miss Healy both gave talks, explaining the work that had been done during the month, dwelling particularly on the art work of the school. It was suggested to get evergreen trees and plant them between the two porches at the front of the school. This work to be carried out by the children. After the business meeting a sketch was given by members of the association. A paper cutting contest was then given, Mr. Green winning the prize. The meeting then adjourned to meet the second Tuesday night in November.

WHERE DOES THE PUBLIC INTEREST LIE IN TRANSPORTATION

Calling attention to the fact that President Hoover first turned to the railroads for help when the drought situation became so serious during the past summer, a writer in the B. & O. Magazine asks the pertinent question,

"Where does the public interest lie in transportation?"

Twelve cents on the average from every dollar earned by the railroads is spent for maintenance of track and structures, while the motor trucks and buses are relieved substantially, through a charge by having, in large measure, the free use of the highways. Subsidies in which the railroads do not share are given the public carriers on the highways and to inland waterways. Roads are improved and new ones constructed, rivers are dredged and locks and barges built out of the money the railroads pay in taxes, and these subsidies enable their highway and water competitors to reduce rates below railroad transportation costs, and take business from the railroads would otherwise get.

The public and the public's representatives in legislatures and Congress would seem at times to forget the importance and necessity of the railroads from the public point of view because of their interest in the development of other forms of transportation. But they never forget the railroads in a time of national emergency.

MAC'S LAUNDRY OPENS NEW PLANT IN ELKTON

A large number of interested people attended the formal opening of the new plant of Mac's Laundry at Elkton Saturday and inspected the new plant and its modern equipment. From 9 o'clock in the morning until 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon the plant was open for inspection, and members of the firm and employees were present to guide visitors through the plant and to explain the methods employed and the workings of the various pieces of machinery.

The establishment of this new plant brings to the Elkton community a modern and fully equipped laundry enabling the residents of that town and the surrounding sections of Maryland and nearby Delaware to obtain a complete service without having to send their laundry to larger cities more distant than Elkton. The new plant, it is announced, will be open for inspection at any time to anyone who should desire to see it, and an invitation has been extended to all of the customers of the firm to visit the plant and become acquainted with its facilities for service.

BROWN NAMED TO NATIONAL SCHOOL GROUP

Will Represent Delaware Board of Education on Committee

H. Fletcher Brown, 1010 Broom street, Wilmington, a member of the Delaware State Board of Education, was named Saturday by Secretary Ray Lynam Wilbur as Delaware's member of the Advisory Committee of Laymen of the National Survey of Secondary Education.

Mr. Brown, representing Delaware, will be one of fifty-six distinguished laymen from every state in the Union who will supplement a group of outstanding educators in an attempt to find out where in the high school world unusual successes have been attained, and to bring those successes to the attention of other committees. Members of this group include such people as Roger W. Babson, of Florida; Jane Addams, of Illinois; Judge William S. Kenyon, of Iowa; Howell Cheney, manufacturer in Connecticut; William Allen White, of Kansas; A. Lincoln Filene, of Massachusetts; Matthew Woll, labor leader, of the District of Columbia; Dr. Charles Mayo, of Minnesota; Willis R. Whitney of the General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York; and Fred Warren, of Wyoming.

The importance of this study is indicated by the overwhelming increase in high school attendance in this generation. Office of Education figures show that in 1910 but 10 per cent of students of high school age were in those schools, while at present more than 50 per cent of such pupils, an aggregation of more than 4,000,000, attend.

DELAWARE LOWEST IN DIVORCES IN U. S. IN 1929

Federal statistics on marriage and divorce during 1929 accord Delaware the distinction of having the greatest percentage decrease in divorces, and also indicate that the State had the lowest rate of marriages per 1,000 of the population.

Total marriages in Delaware were 1,230, as compared with 1,153 in 1928, a percentage increase of 6.7, but only 5.2 per 1,000 of population. The 1928 rate per 1,000 was 4.9, so even though 1929 was the lowest in the country, nevertheless it was slightly better than it was the year before.

The number of marriages per divorce was 7.1, which compares with 6.1, the national average.

Divorces in Delaware in 1929 numbered 174, against 185 in 1928, a decrease of 5.9 per cent. The number of divorces per 1,000 of population was 0.73 last year as compared with 0.78 in 1928. Seven marriages were annulled in 1929 as compared with 4 in 1928.

P. T. A. PLAN FOR COMING YEAR

Program of Parent Education Planned as Part of Activities

A program of parent-education, a contributing factor to the success of the truly progressive school and the next step in the adult education movement in Delaware, is being sponsored this year by the Delaware Parent-Teacher Association. The possibilities for community and individual benefit resulting from such a program, particularly if followed up by more intensive child study classes, were stressed by State President Howard T. Ennis at institutes held for Parent-Teacher Association workers at Seaford, last Saturday.

Miss Etta J. Wilson, State program chairman, presented her plans for the year in a sectional meeting. Teachers from the Georgetown Demonstration School showed how the question and answer method might be used to bring facts in regard to modern educational practice to the attention of interested parents.

A welcome was extended by Superintendent W. B. Thornburgh of the Seaford schools. Allan Hulsizer, the director, brought greetings from the Demonstration school. President Ennis again displayed the banner awarded to Delaware at the National Congress of Parents and Teachers at the Convention in Denver, Colorado, last May, for the largest proportionate increase in membership according to population.

Miss Marguerite H. Burnett, director of the State Bureau of Adult Education, suggested that classes in art, dramatics and music might possibly take part in the pageant to be given next spring at Lewes in connection with the State-wide celebration of the landing of the Dutch.

Glenn Gildersleeve, State Director of Music, brought out the fact that each mechanical improvement means new problems and new prohibitions with their resulting emotional reactions. He advocated that not only emotional release but the refinement of the emotions be sought in music.

The usual sections were conducted by Mr. Ennis and his assistant, Miss Elizabeth H. Mensch, and Mrs. Orville R. Wright, State publicity chairman.

Dr. E. C. Lindeman, of the New York School of Social Work, will speak at the Parent-Teacher Association Institute at the Dover school next Saturday at 10 a. m. The meeting for colored workers will be held at the Booker T. Washington school at 2 p. m. All associations are urged to send at least three representatives to these meetings.

DELAWARE LOSES GAME TO G. W. U.

Bulky Eleven from Washington Capture Game by 9-6 Score

A group of young giants from George Washington University at Washington, D. C., came into Newark last Saturday afternoon and crushed their way through a lighter and smaller Delaware team for a 9 to 6 victory over the Blue and Gold eleven in the first game to be played on the local field this season.

A crowd of more than 4,000 spectators saw the contest—the largest number of spectators ever to witness a football game at the University. In spite of the fact that Delaware came out of the game on the short end of the score, the enthusiasm of the crowd was not to be dampened, and the many favorable comments heard about the performance of the Delaware eleven against their larger and heavier opponents proved that interest in the local team is greater than it was before the game. There was general satisfaction expressed everywhere after the game for the showing made against the visiting aggregation. As the Delaware team is made up mostly of freshmen and sophomores, the team showed that all it lacked was a little practical experience, and followers of the team are confident that the Blue and Gold machine will improve with each game of the season.

This Saturday the Delaware team will play Gallaudet, of Washington, D. C., on the home field. Gallaudet is the school at the nations capital for the deaf and dumb. The mutts have been on Delaware's schedule in other years, and have always proved to be a strong foe. The game is scheduled to start at 2:15 o'clock.

The fact that there is renewed interest in the game was also reflected in the spirit displayed by the student body. The band of about forty pieces in new uniforms was out and the cheering section was the largest and best even seen at a Delaware game.

HERMAN TYSON HAS HORSES ON SOUTHERN CIRCUIT

Herman Tyson, formerly of this community, who now resides at Pinehurst, N. C., is traveling the southern circuit with his string of race horses at the present time. Mr. Tyson was injured several weeks ago in a spill on the track, and suffered a broken ankle. He is now fully recovered.

The Newark gridmen will be up against a powerful eleven from Wilmington, but they have speeded up their training during the past week, and feel confident of victory. Edmonson, quarterback, is a clever leader for his team, and Captain Schwartz will drive his men off a hard game.

FACULTY CLUB RECEPTION

The Faculty Club of Delaware College held its annual fall reception in the Lounge of Old College last Tuesday evening for its members, their wives and friends and the resident faculty members of Women's College. Ryden, words of greeting were expressed by Dr. Walter Hüllihen, president of the University. Two piano numbers, finely executed, were offered by Mr. Carl Budin, a senior of Delaware College, and Dr. W. O. Sypherd, head of the Department of English, in his usual and inimitable style of interpretation, read a group of Leonard Bacon's poems. Refreshments were served by the Social Committee of the club, Messrs. F. Alton Wade,

M. W. Goodwin and Charles E. Cunningham. Dancing was then enjoyed until the midnight hour. In the receiving line were Dr. George H. Ryden, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. R. W.
