Due to the prolonged dry spell, Prof. L. R. Detjen, an official of the Newark Garden Club, has sounded a warning relative to the care of dogwood trees planted last fall.

Residents planted several hundred trees in cooperation with the garden club only to have them show ill effects of the weather this spring. "The trees lack water," states Prof. Detjen. "People should dig trenches around the trees and two buckets of water should be given each tree every three days. This practice should be continued until a soaking rain falls."

"Lack of water is liable to kill the trees, especially the ones planted in clay or sandy soil," the professor added.

Training Course For Household Workers Planned

Instruction To Be Given From July 10 To August 18 By Y. W. C. A.

The Young Women's Christian Association is offering for the first time this summer a training course for household employees. The experimental unit will be housed on the third floor of the building at 908 King Street, Wilmington. Miss Edith Lynch, a trained home economics instructor, with experience in the field of training for household employment, will teach the course, which will run for six weeks, from July 10 to August 18, Monday through Friday of each week. Household work is one of the most skilled occupations offering employment to girls; therefore, only these applicants who can fulfill the following requirements will be accepted.

Freedom From Disease
The girls must be intelligent, with an actual preference for household work; she must be between 17 and 25 years of age. High school graduates are preferred, but in cases of particularly desirable candidates, this rule may be modified. Girls must have physical fitness to do the work and freedom from infectious disease. The course is open to girls throughout the state; registrations will be limited to 15. Applicants for entrance should be made to Mrs. Jeanette L. Adams, industrial secretary and education director of the Wilmington Y.W.C.A. The project is sponsored by the industrial committee, and is being promoted by a sub-committee of which Mrs. Edward Mack and Mrs. Marshall Sanders are members.

Fumigation To Destroy
Fumigation of an entire house may be the best way to destroy a heavy infestation of carpet beetles. For this, professional fumigators are advisable. Oil pyrethrum sprays are used for spraying floor cracks and spaces about the quarter rounds and baseboards. These sprays only kill the insects that are hit. In the routine of good housekeeping, rugs should be cleaned frequently on both sides to get rid of carpet beetles. Filling floor cracks with a good crack filler eliminates hiding places and makes housecleaning simpler, suggests John M. Amos, assistant entomologist at the University of Delaware.

Clean Clothing Thoroughly
In protecting clothing stored during warm weather, measures that are effective against carpet beetles will also keep away clothes moths. A pound of naphthalene or paradichlorobenzene crystals, scattered between thin layers of paper and placed at different levels in the

Ireland Is Becoming Home Of The Aged
A report just issued by the statistical department of Dublin, Ireland, shows that in the last ten years the number of young people under 21 years of age has decreased 69,000. Three out of every four people over 70 draw old age pensions. There are fifty-one centenarians, thirty-two of them women, and there is a higher percentage of people over 75 than in any other country. There are 952 women to every 1,000 men, the world's lowest rate. Ireland also has fewer and later marriages than any other country.

Building Permits
Plans were discussed for the erection of four stores facing on James Street, between the Market Street corner and the Miquins Fire Company house. Permits were issued for this work.

Holder of the longest record of service of anyone on the extension staff, he is a member at large of Epsilon Sigma Phi, honorary extension fraternity; member of the "House of Pioneers," and winner of the certificate recognition, a high honor given by that fraternity.

Dean McCue, a past president of the American Society for Horticultural Science, is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, of the advisory council of the Northeastern Forestry Service, and former secretary of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities.

Liner Returns For Man
Accurate calculation by Capt. Alcide Valceni enabled the liner Conte Verde to return twenty-five miles on its course and pick up a steward who had fallen overboard in a choppy sea three hours before. The man was saved just in time to avert death. Captain Valceni reported that Singapore, Malay, that the liner three times circled the spot where they expected to find the steward, and was about to give up the search when he was seen about eighty yards away.

Honduras Keeps Out Of International Affairs

Although it has a Germany colony and Japanese are active there, Honduras is keeping out of anything that may suggest interest in international political affairs just now. Tegucigalpa, the capital, has many Germans, but residents say that the activities of foreign countries are confined entirely to driving a commercial rather than a political wedge.

Japan recently sold Honduras a large order on easy terms, but is having difficulty in collecting. President Andino is in supreme power and his policy is believed to be to keep out of other countries' troubles at all times.

24 Admitted As Members Of E 52 Players Group

At the close of the ninth season, the E 52 Players, dramatic organization at the University of Delaware, announce the admission of 24 students, including one graduating senior, to membership.

According to Dr. C. R. Kase, director of dramatics at the university, membership in the players is the most coveted dramatic honor a student can attain. No student can be admitted until the junior year, and then only after having served as active apprentice.

The players produce all the full-length productions at the university. The program this year included Stage Door, It Can't Happen Here, and Much Ado About Nothing.

Seven members have been lost by graduation, namely: Janet Grubb, Thomas J. Healy, Phyllis McClain, Barbara Morrell, Harry Stutman, Harold Tiffany, and Martha Ziebuski.

Football Material

With commencement ceremonies just completed and the summer recess at the University of Delaware in its first week, we'll agree that any talk about football at this time of the year is a bit out of place.

The great desire to win and the resulting pressure of the modern game, however, has made it an all-year sport. Coaches, for instance, find it necessary to plan and scheme, figure plays, study the opposition, review mistakes, and concentrate on a hundred and one other details during nine months of the year in a speculative effort to produce a winning team in September, October, and November.

At this particular season the drive for material is at its height. Schoolboys stars, who haven't been grabbed off already by college scouts, find themselves in the midst of a flock of persuasive gentlemen who are not above talking about the advantages of dear old Swartham as an educational institution. The number of men around the high school star is gauged usually by said star's football ability and his chance of making the scholastic grade.

Hancock Has Everything

Which brings to mind husky Bill Hancock, who will graduate at Newark High School tomorrow night with a goodly share of athletic and scholastic honors. Yet scouts buzzing around Bill are noticeable by their absence. Can it be that they haven't heard of the lad?

Practically an "A" student for four years, Hancock, nevertheless had time to play a lot of football and baseball in Yellowjacket uniform. As co-captain of the football gridders last fall his work at the pivot position was of such caliber that he was named unanimously to the all-State scholastic eleven. No DiMaggio on the diamond, still he is dependable as an outfielder and possesses the rare ability of delivering his baseballs in the clutch.

Drexel Institute of Technology thinks enough of Hancock's scholastic ability to award him a scholarship. And the Dragons might even permit him to cavort on the athletic field. They do things like that.

Why Not Delaware?

Since some scholarships are to be handed out by the University of Delaware this year to prospective male students showing combined athletic and scholastic ability, we wonder why Drexel, an arch rival, has been permitted to nab the inside track for Hancock.

Boys from Newark High School and the state generally have contributed their share towards Delaware's athletic success - limited though it be - and there is nothing

Flashes By Bill Fletcher

BY AN ODD TURN OF THE CARDS, GEORGE ANDERSON, champion on the Newark Country Club in 1937 and 1938, will be forced to start a serious defense of his title in the opening round of the tournament now being staged at the local course.

MAKER OF LOCAL LINKS—history with his two consecutive wins in the trophy match, the youthful pill-chaser will be pitted against the most dangerous and best match player at the club, a cool, calculating performer "Sanky" Richards who is at his best when the going is toughest.

Runner-up to Anderson in last year's title battle, the odds will all be in favor of the Wilmington golfer who has been on the links since the first autumn leaf was swept off, while the local champion played on the Newark course for the first time this year in the qualifying round last weekend.

IT WAS A COMPARATIVELY easy victory for Anderson last year for a sizzling 67 gave him the impetus that carried him through to a 6 and 5 victory. This year's story may be different, however, for a lack of practice may remove the defender before he has a chance to get warmed up. Last year, the two golfers met on July 10; this year, it will be a month sooner.

Richards has weeks of practice on the local course behind him; Anderson has a couple of days.

It's a sad situation, indeed, with the two outstanding golfers forced to face each other in the opening round, but the pairing was dictated by law and was made because of the qualifying scores.

RICHARDS' LOW MEDAL 72, placed him at the top of the heap, while a poor 79 for Anderson resulting in his being matched with the Wilmington golfer.

May the best man win and because it's taking place this early in the season, we think it'll be Richards.

But while these two will be fighting it out at the top of the heap, another young golfer who flashed into the limelight two years ago, has apparently returned to form.

The second-low qualifying count, 73, placed Bob Stewart, Jr., who to indicate that Hancock might fail to live up to the standard.

It is generally agreed that Delaware's grid team in 1931 was the best in the school's history. That was the team which lost to Navy, 12-7, on an "Annapolis decision."

Nine starting members of that team were from Delaware. Winnie Mayer, Newark, and Sam Sloan, Dover, handled the ends; the elder Monk Dillon of Wilmington filled one tackle post; Aub and Herrn Walker, both of Wilmington but not related, were the guards; Bud Haggerty, Wilmington, played center; Hank Haney and Allen Kemski, Wilmington, were the halfbacks, and John Branner, Middletown, did a man's job at the fullback post.

No all-Americans in the lot, but those Delaware gridders made history. And when the state university starts handing out scholarships, it is to be hoped that native sons with class and ability won't be overlooked. Bob Hancock definitely possesses every requisite of a student, athlete, and gentleman. It seems ridiculous for Delaware to lose him to Drexel. Or is the habit of losing to Drexel ingrained too deeply?

Connell's Pat Wins Again

Like they laughed at Officer Kane of the music-lessons-by-mail advertisements, that's how they laughed at Raymond Vansant Buckingham some weeks ago when he paid $25 for a beagle hound registered as Connell's Pat. And the one who laughed the loudest was none other than the dog's breeder, Robert Roy Connell.

But Buckingham, barely three days after purchasing his "ugly duckling," saw Pat finish third in the Eastern Federation of Beagle Clubs' championship test for debel at Gladstone, N. J., which returned a good portion of the original purchase price.

And last Sunday at the Eastern Beagle Club's bench show, Pat further justified his existence by coping the third ribbon in the special member class for 13-inch dogs and bitches. Meanwhile, Connell's only entry in the show, Tonyette, failed to place in the 5-dog field that comprised the class for American bred bitches not exceeding 13 inches.

"Stuck!" remarked Connell when Buckingham bought Pat, but the new combination is fooling him. "I'll make Pat a champion next year," predicts Buckingham. "Then we'll see who's stuck."

Although losing to two teams they had previously mired under one-sided scores, the Newark High School baseball performers completed the 1939 season with the best record in the state. Eleven games were won as against the two losses. One contest with the Fletcher Brown School was cancelled last week due to examinations.

Ewing's Loss Felt

Off to a flying start, the Jackets copied their first seven games before being stopped by P. S. duPont, 2-0; then won four straight only to lose the finale at New Castle, 6-2. Opening with West Nottingham on April 12, Coach Ralph (Irish) O'Connell's charges waded into the Presbyterians for a 17-0-1 verdict at Coloma. The contest was limited to five innings due to cold weather.

Bob Ewing, now hurling for Cambridge in the Eastern Shore League, turned in a mound masterpiece in the second game on April 18 when P. S. duPont was trounced, 12-1. Here Ewing stopped the Dynamiters without a hit in seven innings.

With Ewing continuing to stop opposing batsmen, the Jackets rolled over Conrad, 5-0; Goldsboro, 16-2; University of Delaware Jayvees, 14-4; and William Penn of New Castle, 12-6.

Following the complaint of Vic Lichtenstein, P. S. duPont coach, Ewing was declared ineligible early in May by the Wilmington-Suburban Principals' Association for having played too much baseball in secondary schools.

Dunn-Wilson Aid—Despite two-hit pitching by slender Howard Wilson, the Jackets suffered their first loss on May 12 when the Dynamiters made off with a 2-0-6 verdict. Franklin Dunn and Wilson shared the pitching chores following Ewing's ineligibility and turned in some good performances.

Undoubtedly Ewing's loss was felt by the team, but it was a let-down in hitting that cost the Jackets a perfect season.

Rebounding after the P. S. duPont game, the Black and Gold tossers skinned past Wilmington High, 5-4; outlasted Beacom, 7-5, (in Ewing's final appearance); walloped Middletown, 21-4, and took Wilmington into camp a second time by a 9-0-7 count. William Penn was victorious in the final battle at New Castle, 6-2.

Altogether the Jackets counted 132 runs to their opponents' 44.

Norman Brooks Leads—Diminutive Norman Brooks led the hitters with a fine mark of .452. He had 19 safeties in 42 times at bat, including five doubles, a triple, and two home runs. In addition, he scored 24 runs and drove 23 mates across the rubber to set the pace in every offensive department but one.

His brother, Henry, had four home runs to top the team in round-trippers.

Jim Tobin, Looking Ahead, Driven To Losing Weight

After pitching 87 innings for the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1937, Jim Tobin worked 241 innings last year. Figuring that this year his program might continue the upward curve, Jim tackled on a lot of extra stored-up power over the winter. Manager Traynor quickly weighed him at San Bernardino, however, so Tobin won the training camp mileage prize for running around the ball park as well as most-steam-baths taken at the famous Arrowhead Cave.

STAR TO GRADUATE

Norval Russell Robinson

All-State guard in 1936-37-38 and co-captain of the Newark High School grid array last fall, "Robbie" will receive his diploma tomorrow night. He is said to be planning to enter Fishburne Military School in the fall.

ATHLETES GRADUATE

11 To Receive Diplomas At Newark School

Eleven Yellowjacket athletes will receive their diplomas at the forty-sixth annual commencement exercises, scheduled to be held in the Newark High School auditorium Friday night.

Coach William K. Gillespie's football squad will be hardest hit by graduation with seven varsity griders slated to make their departure. Ralph (Irish) O'Connell, baseball mentor, will lose only three members of his crack diamond outfit, Bob Stewart, an infielder; Bill Hancock, a catcher, and George Dougherty, a member of the mound staff and utility man.

Two three-letter men, Hancock and Stewart, will top the group of athletes. The former, besides performing as backstop for the local nine, held down the pivot post on the grid team, and a guard berth for the cage quintet. Stewart, a shortstop on the Jacket baseball team, played end on the football eleven and forward in basketball.

All-State Guard—Another outstanding athlete who will grab his sheepskin is Norval Robinson who centered most of his attention on football during his four-year career. Co-captain of the 1938 eleven, he was selected all-state guard during the seasons of 1936-37-38.

Defending Links Champion To Meet Stiff Test In First Round

George Anderson Slated To Face B. F. (Sanky) Richards In Opener

By Tee Spoon

One of last year's finalists will be eliminated in the first round of the championship tournament which got underway last weekend at the Newark Country Club, with the defending champion, George F. Anderson, slated to oppose the 1938 runner-up, B. F. (Sanky) Richards in the opening matches.

Anderson, who made local links history last year by coping his second consecutive crown, played for the first time this year on the local links in the qualifying round and carded a poor 79, while Richards racked up the low medal total of 72.

Following a definite set of rules for tournament pairings, the match committee could do nothing else but pit the two 1938 finalists against each other.

Richards, one of the best golfers at the Newark club and holder of the course record of 66, is making a bid for his fourth crown. He emerged victorious in 1932, 1934, and 1936, but never has been able to win on consecutive years as did Anderson.

Although it is believed by many that the tournament will end with the completion of this first-round battle, several local linksmen are showing improved form and are expected to place determined bids for top honors.

Stewart Has Chance

Robert Stewart, Jr., turned back in the final round two years ago by Anderson, gained a strategic spot in the pairings when he chalked up the second-low qualifying score, 73, while Ben Davis, Jr., covered the distance in 74 strokes and T. W. Shenk, 75. Showing increasing improvement, Harry B. Williamson knocked off one of the best scores of his career, a 76, to show that he is going to be an outstanding contender for the title.

Sixteen linksmen will vie for the trophy, while the second sixteen will play for consolation prizes. Pairings are as follows:

ate are: George Norris, football and basketball star; Gus Smith, Paul Robinson, Delbert Thompson, and Donald Gallagher, members of the varsity football squad; Andrew Tryens, a member of the football and track squads, and Robert Bauman, also a member of the track team.

Three senior girls will be awarded letters for outstanding work in intramural physical education, Miss Ethel Johnson, instructor, announced this week. They are: Miss Evelyn Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Smith; Miss Virginia Stickley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stickley, and Miss Helen Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dean.

MYERS IN CUE LEAD

Fossett, George Idle; Fifth Win For Marylander

By "Cue Keeley"

With only three matches being played during the week, Jackie Myers, Havre de Grace, took a half-game edge over Jack Fossett, local seeded star, in the class A pocket billiard tournament at Jimmy Mackin's State parlor.

Myers registered his fifth win in succession by tumbling George Laskaris, 100-82, in a slow tilt Wednesday night. Fossett, with four wins, and Ren George, with a trio of triumphs, as against no defeats, respectively, were idle.

Laskaris In Comeback

Charlie Owings, erstwhile Wilmington star, failed to crash the winners' circle on his fourth successive attempt when he was downed by Tony Sanborn, 100-68, Tuesday night. It was Sanborn's fourth victory in five starts.

After losing to Myers on Wednesday, Laskaris made a comeback the following night to stop Tom DeVage, 100-75. The colorful Philadelphia was never in the running as the stoic Greek star, rolling up a good lead at the halfway mark, coasted to an easy win.

White Marlin Season To Open Sunday At Popular Maryland Seaside Resort

Governor Herbert R. O'Connor, of Maryland, aboard a U. S. Coast Guard cutter, in command of Capt. T. T. Moore, will lead a parade of charter boat cruisers through the new inlet, and along the coast at Ocean City, next Sunday. The event will mark the opening of the white marlin season off the Maryland coast and will be the second annual "Captains on Parade" to be held at the resort, sponsored by the Game Fishermen's Association.

Over 50 boats are expected to be in the procession. A number of private cruisers will fall in line behind the Coast Guard boat, followed by chartered cruisers. The parade will start promptly at 4 o'clock in the waters of the inland bay and will proceed, single file, through the inlet into the Atlantic Ocean and along the coast to the north end of the resort where the boats will circle a buoy and return in special formation to their home docks.
