Hen's Ball Team Engineers In War Wins 1, Loses 4, Topic Of Faculty On Southern Trip On Guild Program

By Perry Burkett

The University of Delaware baseball team returned on Sunday, April 12 from their annual southern trip through Maryland and Virginia.

On Tuesday, April 7, the Hens met the United States Naval Academy in practice tilt at Annapolis. The team made a fine showing in its first game as they were nosed out 5-4 in the last inning. John Daly went the route for the team and pitched effectively except for the hit of McLeonard, Navy shortstop, which won the game.

Bogovich And Stewart Win Class Presidencies

Jr. President

ART STEWART
Newly Elected President Of The Class Of 1944

Orr and Runcie Tie In Race For Frosh President

Large Percentage Of Students Cast Votes

After a quiet election campaign, quiet compared to previous years, the Delaware College boys went to polls last Wednesday afternoon and cast their votes for their class officers. The voting was noticeably non-partisan; ballots were cast for individuals and not for party favorites. The results were very close in all classes, especially in the Freshman class where Jim Orr and Barney Runcie tied for the office of Sophomore class president. The re-election for this office will be held next Wednesday in Wolf Hall at 1:00 p. m.

Hugh Bogovich won out over Jack Phillips in a close race for president of next year's Senior class. Hugh, a chemical engineer, is well known on the campus for his football and baseball abilities. He is a member of Theta Chi fraternity, and represents that group in the Student Council. Charles Moore was elected vice president of the class; his opponent was Edward Carullo. Benny Crescenzi defeated Perry Burkett for Class Secretary and Al Mowbray won out over Ed Legates for treasurer of the class.

As usual the greatest interest centered in the Junior Class elections. The race here was also very close with Art Stewart defeating John Annand for Class President. Art will be remembered for his part in writing the new football song "Hats off!" He is also a member of Theta Chi. The new vice-president of the class of '44 is Henry Winchester, who was opposed by Arnold Schuler. George Grier and William Bagan are the new Secretary and Treasurer. They defeated George Singley and Ed Golin.

Buck Thompson defeated Bill Piper in the race for vice-president of the Sophomore Class. George Lucas is the new Secretary, and Cecil Carpenter the Treasurer. Lucas was opposed by Len Dougherty and Carpenter by Dick Althouse. At the elections for Student Council Representatives last Tuesday, Ed Butler and Bill Miller were elected to represent the class of '43 and Al Boning was elected Sophomore representative.

Lt. Col. Clark Inspects ROTC Battalion Thurs.

Clark will make the inspection for the Corps Area Commander. Lt. Col. Clark will arrive early Thursday and will visit the military classes meeting that morning. At 11:40 a. m. a review will be held on that part of the Campus fronting Wolf Hall. This will be followed by a formal inspection of the Battalion. At 1:30 P. M. members of the Senior Class will hold an Artillery formation for the inspecting Officer.

107 Students Listed On Dean's List For Last Term; Two Four Pointers

Born in Portland, Oregon in 1920, Robert Mann's musical career in the Northwest was very promising. One success followed another in radio, recital and orchestra appearances. He was graduated from the Institute of Musical Art in New York, and was a fellow at the Juilliard Graduate School.

Since his New York appearance at the renowned Town Hall, as the 1941 winner of the coveted Naumber prize, Robert Mann has assumed a place of prominence among the outstanding young violinists of the day.

The program will include: SONATA IN C MINOR op 45 by Greig; Sarabande, Gigue, Gavotte, by Corelli; and Spanish Symphony by Lalo.

Air for G String by Bach; Caprice in B No. 13 by Paganini; Girl with the Flaxen Hair by Debussy-Hartmann; and Ritual Fire Dance by DePalla-Kochanski.

What The Engineers Are Doing . .

By Tom Griffin

Say, did any of you fellows see Hellzapoppin, that marvelous show in New York? You didn't see that riotous part about the tree? Well, just read this:

"You see say dat youse think dat youse will never see a dance as lovely as a tree.

"I ain't gonna send you no tree so come on out to the Engineers' Ball instead, see!"

Yep, Hellzapoppinabeapoppin at the Engineers' Ball on Saturday, April 25. Jack Eliason, along with many other engineers, has been working on the decorations. Ivan Herr says there will be plenty of new ideas, not including the dancing. Andre Malecot will provide music from 8 to 12 p. m. Differently colored tickets can be obtained from Harry Belk, ($1.10 a couple), Warren Smith, Tom Griffin, etc. The purchaser of the purple ticket (if there is one) will get a free write-up in this column. Hurry, hurry, hurry.

It can easily be seen from the peculiar happenings around school that spring is here. Several examples:

Some of the senior engineers think that July 4th is here at least judging from the fireworks that are being set off in the electricity lab. The poor "electricals" are getting blamed for the deed. For a special price, Prof. Young, the true culprits can be exposed.

Certain engineers in the freshman class have taken up the hobby of baking in the chemistry lab ovens. I believe the result was biscuits or bread.

It is rumored that Dr. Eberly enjoyed the afternoon snack very much and is thinking of giving the boys a passing grade in home economics.

I send my condolences to the soph engineers who are working on one of the experiments in physics lab. An imminent member of the physics department, overcome with spring fever, now spells grain "W-o-o-d." As a result the wrong alcohol produced a slight error of 90 percent.

In a meeting held before vacation, the A. I. Ch. E. elected its new officers. These are as follows: President, "Doc" Dougherty; vice-president, Roy Anderson; secretary, Frances Raughley; treasurer, Bill Piper. From now on meetings will be held every two weeks.

Hen Track Team Shaping Up For First Meet Wed.

Easter vacation was just what the Doctor ordered for Delaware's track hopefuls. The squad seems to have acquired an added "punch" that was never apparent in early season workouts. The team is now shaping up rapidly, and what was called a weak team might well become the surprise of the season. But there are still many weak spots to be taken care of—pole vaulting is suffering miserably from a lack of talent; the broad jump is another weak link. Our distance men are few, and our hurdlers will have to go on double duty because of a lack of good sprinters.

The sad part about this situation is that there are men on the campus who are talented in these events, but they fail to make an appearance. The team can very definitely use these men, and their participation would probably make a great difference in the track record when it is summed up in June.

There is, however, a brighter side to the situation—one that is not very often considered. The turfmen have a lot of spirit and an eagerness to learn. This combined with fitness, should be the team's ace-in-the-hole.

The Johns Hopkins meet on Wednesday, April 22 should not be too

Bill Terry Edits Final Cauldron For This Year

The aesthetic rather than the political point of view will be the theme of the Cauldron, University of Delaware literary periodical. Bill Terry, newly appointed editor-in-chief, is striving to make this issue the best ever. No trite articles concerning present-day world conditions will appear in this issue.

Terry will be assisted by Ben Lowmsberry, Managing Editor; Sarah Feeney, Art editor; and a literary board consisting of Gwin Jones, Bob Wharton, Jim Houser, Nancy Brown, Bob Mather, Anna Franczkowska, and David Snellenburg. A few more members will be added to the staff.

The Cauldron would appreciate as many contributions as possible—essays, poems, short stories and articles. This publication depends upon your contributions.

LIBRARY NOTES

Long, long ago: 1939—

In 1939 when the world was just beginning to realize how topsy-turvy it might become—the present day situation was largely undreamed of. Mrs. Agnes Newton Keth published an account of her experiences in North Borneo. Anyone who enjoys reading about far off places who missed "Land below the Wind" when it came out will undoubtedly want to read it now for its "humor, charm and unpretentious wit" (P. S. Buck) and for its picture of normal times in a portion of the world which has since been the seat of conflict.

A picture magazine which preceded LIFE—

"Conflict (above) brings up to the thought of many friends, relatives and former classmates who are scattered to the four corners of the earth. Don't you often wonder what the place is like when your mail bears an unfamiliar postmark? The National Geographic is an excellent source of interesting information on the whole world and since we have a complete file we should be able to furnish you with enough material to fulfill your curiosity along this line. Duplicate copies circulate.

"Curiosity killed . . ."

The radio is quiz minded this winter. Can you begin to guess how on earth people think up such foolish questions? Take a look at "Famous First Facts" or "The Handy-book of curious information." They will give you a clue and also prove a source of amusement when you have a few minutes which you would otherwise waste.

Browsing—

The rate at which the art section of the Browsing Room becomes mixed up proves to us that the student body appreciates and enjoys that collection. (There are many more beautiful books which may be seen for the asking, you know). But there are many books not primarily on the subject of architecture or painting which are also worthy of notice. You will find the travel books, "Artists and Naturalist in Ethiopia" which has some of the loveliest plates we have seen. It may be good reading, too. Won't someone try it and report?

From A. A. A. to W. P. A.—

If you are inclined to sneer at the idea of being interested in government publications, ask Quentin Rand what he thinks of the U. S. Government Manual. It gives the history and organization of the entire set up of our Federal government and comes out often enough to be almost up to the minute even in these days of playing tiddle-de-winks with both the organization and address of many departments.

Another "Father"—

Everybody knows Clarence Day's "Father" but lots of people have still to discover Maxim's. Classed as biography and shelved in the Browsing Room, "A genius in the family" is the true story of a man who had more than his share of the peculiarities which give rise to the belief that all geniuses are somewhat unbalanced.

Dialect—

When you want to become a Yorkshireman or a Georgia Cracker overnight just ask at the circulation desk for a region desired and you may take your record to the machine in the library and play it until you can drawl in your sleep.

Speaking of sound effects—

For "hollow clang of iron doors opening—draw roller skate over an iron plate." For "surf—rub stiff scrubbing brush with rotary motion over the head of a drum . . ." The quotations above come from the "Handbook of sound effects" prepared by Educational Radio Script Exchange which is a subdivision of the U. S. Office of Education. This used with the records should solve some production problems. The exchange solicits suggestions as well as gives them.

Hen Scratches

By Piper and Dougherty

It seems as though the Blue and Gold diamond aggregation had a little too much pro ball over the spring recess, but then the practices have been none too frequent due to the weather. The same old Randolph-Macon jinx again defeated Delaware and Bill Tibbett by a single run. Against Virginia Medical the Blue Hens showed a flair for base-stealing, which should strengthen the team somewhat. From all reports the Hens made a good showing against the Naval Base, who scored some of their eleven runs in the two games on errors.

The Hen nine should improve as they play, and the pitching of Tibbett, Bogovich, Daly, and Tate will be the mainstay while Coach Martin is ironing out the fielding faults and improving the hitting.

BEST BETS:

Barney Runcie and Phil Doherty should share the hot-corner, unless either one improves. Right now it's close. Paul Hart hits a long ball, and with Sid behind the bat, should play a lot of outfield this season. Bob Wilson, however small, is looking good around first, and his hitting is okay. Between first base and the outer gardens, Wilson should get some time in by June. Scripps is capable at first, but his hitting is only fair, as is his speed. Having started one game against Norfolk, Sam Tate further bolsters the Hen's already powerful hurling staff, and bids fair to oust one of the regular starters.

Like something you'd see in Esquire the "Caproni Mob," plus a sizeable horde of other renowned dudes, has taken to the links in a very spirited fashion. Ray Burnett is leading the club-wielders with a 78, seven strokes better than the rather mediocre team average of 85.

Emory Adkins, the newly appointed mentor, has inaugurated a system of qualifying matches before each engagement. From the scores it appears that Burnett, Sabu DiSabitino, Captain Goldey, Black, Butler and Plummer will leave for Lancaster today to meet Franklin and Marshall in the season's first match.

Prof. Jones' racket-swingers started to warm up this week in preparation for their first meet with Villanova on April 25th. This year's squad will probably be built around Captain Tank Jordan, Bob Walls, Dick Reed and possibly Bob Haines. Prospects, according to Jordan, look "pretty good."

THE FRAZER FIELD PAGEANT

Several people reported seeing Joe LaMotta calmly playing a little game of golf on the practice field around dawn on Monday morning.

The hardened characters working on the Field House have been watching spring sports on Frazer Field with a sort of a wry, cynical sneer. This week two of them broke down. While no one was looking, they tip-toed down from the scaffolding and took a few cracks at high jumping. One of them managed to hit four feet, but only after he had banged himself almost senseless on bamboo, terra firma, etc. As they trudged back to their reinforced concrete we asked them how they liked the game. The guy that didn't do so well replied, "I'd rather play pinhole—only jerks do that stuff."

Brother, you've got something there!

The thin-clads, thanks to the vacation lay-off, are just about the same. Worthy of mention, however, is the fact the Arky Vaughn, a runner of the first water, has made his appearance on the track. Vaughn used to roll off 10 second hundreds regularly in former years, and has been showing up well during the short time that he's been out. Needless to say, he's the man to watch in the sprints.

Highlights Of The Southern Baseball Trip

Again old man jinx mars annual southern treke. Another one run loss was chalked up against the Blue and Gold at Randolph Macon. Bill Tibbett lost his third game to them, and now doesn't have another chance to pitch against them, because he graduates in June.

For all first nighters' information, John Daly got the first hit of the season and Amy Crowley batted in the first run. All of this happened in the fourth inning of the Naval Academy game. The first eight balls pitched to Freddie Mitchell were wide of the plate thereby giving him the distinction of being the first to draw a base on balls. FLASH! Paul Hart does not break a single bat on entire trip. He holds the record for scraps for the wood-pile at four for the season. Here are a few accomplishments that could be claimed as world's records. At Virginia Medical the Blue Hens stole 18 bases and drew 15 free tickets to first. Three men stole home in one inning after two outs. Four steals home is the total run thievery of the trip. Mac Mara of the Navy hit for the circuit getting a single, double, triple and homer in five trips to the plate. Chapman disappoints by getting two cheap hits out of four. One was a high fly that dropped between two infielders and an outfielder for a double. The other hit was a ball lost in the sun by an outfielder that went for a home run.

We saw at the Naval Training Base:

CENSORED

Most popular games during the off hours were bridge and nicker run. An interesting sidelight was that Bogy brought home more money than he took down. Answer. Poker.

Bill Murray bears brunt of pranksters attack. He suffered from short sheeting, soap powder in his blankets, and itching powder in his pajamas. During the crossing of the Chesapeake Bay, John Ballard became a little white around the gills from the rolling of the ship in the choppy sea. Only casualty of the trip was Harry Irwin who was laid up with a rheumatic jive in his legs prohibiting his walking.

Baseball Team

From Annapolis the team moved to Richmond for a game with Virginia Medical College. This game proved to be a field day for the baserunners as they stole 18 bases, including three successive steals of home. Hugh Bogovich and John Daly pitched and held the Medicos in check as Delaware scored ten runs. This proved to be a sufficient amount as the Hens went on to win the game 10-7.

Randolph Macon was the next opponent for the Blue Hens. This game took place in Ashland, Va. The Delaware nine was out to shake off a four year jinx of one run defeats by the "Jackets." The game was played in a drizzling rain that made it difficult to field and throw. Bill Tibbett was out to win this game, as it was his last chance to break the four year jinx which Randolph Macon held over him also.

The Blue Hens held a comfortable 6-1 lead going into the 7th inning, but the Virginians exploded a 3 run barrage in the 7th inning and 8th to sew up the ball game. Crowley, Mitchell, and Sadowski led the hitting attack for the Martimans.

Norfolk, Va., was the next stop for the Hens where they played the Naval Training Station two games on Saturday. The "sailors" numbered among their players such luminaries as Bob Feller of Cleveland, Sam Chapman of the "A's", Jim Carlin of the "Phils" Vince Smith of Pittsburgh, and Freddie Hutchinson of Detroit. The remainder of their squad was made up of players with previous professional experience.

Delaware, undaunted by the presence of the major leaguers and behind the fine chucking of freshman Sam Tate, battled the Tars on even terms, until a fly ball lost in the sun helped the Training Station to three runs. The final score was 5-1.

The second game was a nine inning affair with the Naval Training Station winning by a 6-1 score. Again a sun ball spelled misfortune for the Delawareans. Sadowski did some fine hitting in both games along with Amos Crowley.

Mowbray Elected Head of ASME At Recent Meeting

Last week's meeting of the A. S. M. E. was one of the best attended meetings of this society this year. There were about forty members and junior members present. The main purpose of this meeting was the election of officers for the coming school year. Al Mowbray was elected president succeeding Al Green, the retiring head.

Al has been prominent in school activities since his freshman year. He is a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity and was recently inducted into the Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity. He has also been active in fraternity sports and activities.

Other members elected to offices are as follows: Pierce Hollingworth was elected Vice-President; Ralph Newman, treasurer; George Lucas, secretary; and William Dugan, corresponding secretary.

After the election, there was a discussion of the coming Engineer's Ball to be held on April 25. Chairman Ivan Herr said that plans were well under way for the HelzaPoppin dance, and that he thought it would prove to be an event remembered for some time. Tickets for the affair are available now.

Another Former Del. Student In Air Corps

Word has just been received from the public relations office of the Greenville Army Flying School at Greenville, Miss., that Aviation Cadet Leroy A. Wilkins, a former student at the University of Delaware, has arrived for basic flight training. He is a member of the fourth Greenville cadet class.

Leroy attended Delaware in '39 after graduating from Milford High school. He was enrolled in the school of Arts and Science. After securing two years of college education, Leroy took advantage of the Army Cadet Training Course.

At the end of the basic training, Cadet Wilkins will be sent to an advanced flying school in the Southeast Air Corps Training Center. Upon completion of the advanced course, he will receive his wings and a commission as a second-lieutenant in the United States Army Corps.

Guild Program

The program is designed to acquaint not only the Engineers with the present lack of technical training, but also to illustrate one important phase of a university in war time.

The Executive Council of the Radio Guild, acting under the provisions of the Guild's new constitution, have met, and announced the appointment of R. N. Brodie as Director of Broadcasts.

The council, comprised of James Quinn, president; Phyllis White, secretary; Jack Culver, treasurer; Naomi Fass and Layton Maybrey, councillors at large; were elected by the Guild membership as a result of organization.

Provisions in the new constitution, drawn up by a group of Guild members and the Faculty Committee on Broadcasting, coupled with the extensive staff change have resulted in the separation of administrative and production duties. Quinn and the council are responsible for executive, administrative, and financial functioning of the Guild, and Brodie is production and direction head of programs.

Joy Bohlman was named head of Publicity; Edwin Golin head of Script; Anne O'Daniel, head of Drama; Robert Blair, head of Music; Jack Culver head of Technical. Ann Spiers and Frank Annand were appointed assistant directors.

Debating Society Busy With Three Bookings

The Debating Society is in for a rather busy week. This morning a four-man team, made up of Bob Blair, Robert Brodie, John Stopyra, and Seymour Bellac left for the Lehigh Valley. Two of them will go to Allentown to debate with Muhlenberg College and the other two will go to Bethlehem to debate with Moravian College. The teams will use the NATS topic, "Resolved: THAT CONGRESS SHALL HAVE THE POWER TO CONSCRIPT LABOR AND INDUSTRY IN TIME OF NATIONAL EMERGENCY."

This afternoon Owens Weaver and Jack Ryan left for the University of Maryland at College Park to debate on the topic "Resolved: THAT THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONS OF THE WORLD FORM A PERMANENT UNION AFTER THIS WAR HAS BEEN BROUGHT TO A VICTORIOUS CONCLUSION." Delaware will take the affirmative side. In the near future we also have a debate scheduled with the Salisbury Teacher's College, and several other prospective engagements which have not yet been scheduled.

Aggie News

By EDWARD LEGATES

This Monday evening, April 29, the Ag Club will hold its regular monthly meeting. In the absence of President William Hopkins, Vice-president Richard Elsaesser will have charge of the meeting. The Club Executive Committee will announce the nominations for club officers to be elected in May. Also preparations for our annual picnic with the Home Economic Club of the Women's College at the college farm will be discussed.

Another Senior Ag Education major has accepted a teaching position prior to graduation. Noah Cain who has completed his practice teaching at Greenwood, has assumed complete charge of the vocational agriculture department there. Freddie Myer, '39, who was the instructor has accepted a teaching position in New York, and Noah will teach in addition to completing his work for June graduation.

Our Junior Farm Management class will be guests of the Land Bank of Baltimore this Saturday. Mr. Straight, the bank's field representative, will give the class some inside material on farm appraisal for the farm mortgage placements. Very few colleges offer any material in this line to its students and the Land Bank has taken the initiative to prospective employees with certain fundamentals of the work. The most interesting part of the discussion will without doubt be the luncheon for the class sponsored by the Land Bank.

College women smoke "because everyone else does," a survey at Bowling Green (Ohio) State University reveals. However, an almost equally large number replied that they "really don't know" the reason for their smoking.

Almost three out of five o-eds use cigarettes and packs last from one day to three weeks.

Most of the women students who smoke have been doing so for two years, according to Carl Barch, Sophomore, who interviewed 50 o-eds as an assignment in a reporting class.

"Nickie hops" are currently the rampage at Oregon State college. Men enter the sorority houses, carefully scrutinize each co-ed up and down, put a nickle in the slot, and dance with their dream girl, if they find her.

The women like this idea of the hops, but object to the one-sidedness of the affairs.

"We'd like to do a little looking for ourselves," they opine. The gals want the men to hold hops in fraternity houses, allowing the women to trudge from house to house, scrutinize, deposit, and dance—if they find "him."

Most of the Oregon men are willing to hold fraternity hops as a turnabout, although one skeptical member questioned as to his opinion replied that "there aren't enough 'wolfesses' on the campus!"

Connecticut co-eds are taking seriously farmer complaints that hired help has been siphoned off the farm into war industry or the army. They are spending several hours each week on farms in their communities, helping out with the chores.

University of Texas pharmacists are studying methods of growing, harvesting and curing Castilian Malva, a new medicine that is expected to revolutionize treatment of wounds in wartime.
