F. W. ASKS VOTERS TO BALLOT FOR PEACE

11,000 Papers
And Magazines
Aid National Movement

In today's edition of the Post is published a "ballot" which the readers of this newspaper are asked to fill out as a personal appeal addressed to Congress—a plea to keep America out of war. With the publication of the ballot the Post is cooperating with the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States in a national movement to obtain the signatures of 11,000 voters to be presented to Congress as tangible evidence of overwhelming public demand for peace. The appeal reads as follows: "Whereby call upon Congress, and President of the United States, to keep America out of war and to apply policies designed to preserve the peace of the world by adequate to preserve and protect our country and its people."

Widely Circulated
The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States has requested 11,000 signatures to be placed on the ballot as a means of reaching the Congress and the President. The ballot is being circulated by local chapters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. in 3,000 communities.

Confident that members of Congress will be guided by the sentiments of the people on the subject of peace, Commander-in-Chief Scott Rogers, of Oklahoma City, is directing the efforts of his organization in a campaign to secure the signatures of at least a majority of legal voters in each Congressional district. These names, obtained through newspaper ballots and petitions, will be classified and sent to national headquarters of the V. F. W. in Kansas City, Mo., the close of the campaign, early in 1938, the petitions and ballots will be shipped to Washington, and presented to members of Congress in person demonstration on the steps of the Capitol.

Proof of Congress
The "Peace-America" program promoted by the V. F. W. recently seeks to impress Congress with the actual proof of an organized demand that America must keep out of war. Simultaneously, overseas veterans who compose membership of the V. F. W., are a strong national defense, one that will enable the United States to meet its peaceful relations with other powers.

Styles In Hogs Vary From Short
And Fat To Large And Long

Styles in hogs have varied widely from the short, fat type of years ago, to the larger, longer, and narrower hogs of recent years. Just now the style trend is toward a medium type that gains as economically as the larger type hog but produces the medium-sized cuts of meat favored by the present market. Buyers like hams of from 10 to 14 pounds and bacon with plenty of lean meat.

C. A. McCUE ADVOCATES PROGRAM

Enlargement Of Curricula Is Recommended

The school of agriculture is still lacking in several fields to train students, according to Charles A. McCue, dean of that department at the University of Delaware.

Advocates Additions
In his report to the Board of Agriculture, University of Delaware Trustees, Dean McCue stated: "Instruction in landscape gardening and ornamental horticulture is a field of activity that is underdeveloped and yet we are located in the midst of an area, the population of which is continually seeking information and individuals trained in ornamental horticulture and related subjects. An instructor in this subject is needed in order to strengthen instruction in this phase of agriculture. Additional greenhouse facilities are also very much needed for instruction of this type.

It is doubtless impossible to put all these suggestions for the further development of the agricultural school into effect immediately. However, if a program of development covering a period of two or three years could be adopted, the School of Agriculture would be able to grow and render a greater service to the public."

Special Studies
In his report, Dean McCue also reveals the special studies that are being made by members of the staff, some of them either completed or nearing completion as follows:

"Two years' work has been completed on 'The Effect of Mosquito Drainage on the Muskrat Industry.' No conclusions have been drawn from this project which is scheduled to run for five years.

"Work on 'The Study of the Influence of Mosquito Drainage on Milk Production' has been completed as well as projects on farm taxation and retail marketing of apples.

At the National Agricultural Research Center, breeders hope to develop hog strains that will butcher well both for the lean hams and loins and for a good proportion of bacon. Their most promising breeding stock for this purpose is the herd of Danish Landrace hogs imported recently for this purpose.

BIG FARM RETURNS IN STATE

Delaware
Growers Gross
$14,926,000

That agriculture is big business is proven by the announcement of the Bureau of Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture that the receipts from the sale of principal farm products in the United States, for the first ten months this year, totaled $6,732,000,000.

Below For Month
While receipts from the sale of crops in October, 1937, which totaled $408,000 for Delaware, fell below the 1936 October total of $429,000, the receipts from the sale of livestock and livestock products in the state, which totaled $793,000 this year, were only $638,000 the previous year, bringing the total for October, 1937, to $1,201,000 as compared to the October, 1936 figure of $1,058,000.

Government Payments
Government payments to Delaware farmers for the January-October period, 1937, amounted to $240,000, which brought the total receipts from farm products for the period up to $1,517,000.

For the United States as a whole, income from all crops in all states during October totaled seven per cent above last year, while income from livestock products was down three per cent. Cash income from all farm marketings in October, this year, was $907,000,000 as compared with $882,000,000 in October, 1936. For the first ten months of this year, the Bureau reports that receipts from the sale of principal farm products, both including and not including Government payments, were higher than for the same period last year. Including Government payments, these totaled $7,087,000,000 for the January-October period this year and $6,336,000,000 for the corresponding period last year.

Miss Comstock's car was driven some 67 feet by the impact across Amstel Avenue, where it damaged another parked car belonging to Harry Lawrence, Hockessin.

Police estimate damages at $175 to Perry's machine, $200 to Miss Comstock's, and $15 to Lawrence's. SON NAMED MILITARY AIDE TO LT.-GOV.

Thomas Cooch
Ranked Lt.-Col.
By Governor's Appointment

The honor of becoming the youngest lieutenant colonel appointed as an aide was bestowed upon Thomas Cooch, son of Lieut.-Gov. and Mrs. Edward W. Cooch, of Cooch's Bridge, who was commissioned this week by Gov. Richard C. Mulliken.

To Assist Father
The appointment was made to assist his father in the performance of his many duties as representative of the state on many occasions in the absence of the governor.

A senior at the University of Delaware, Colonel Cooch, who is 21 years of age, is preparing for further study in law. He completed his military training at the university last June, and was named second lieutenant in the Reserve Corps of the U. S. Army. Due to his age, however, his commission was postponed but since that time his appointment has been approved by the War Department.

The first official performance of his duty was on last Sunday when Colonel Cooch accompanied his father to the "Delaware Day" exercises conducted at the Episcopal Cathedral Church of St. John, where the latter delivered an address on "The Constitution—The Conditions Under Which It Was Adopted and Its Influence on the American System of Government."

To Attend Celebration
He will accompany his father to the Constitution Sesqui-centennial Celebration at Elizabeth, N. J., on Saturday as an aide. In the absence of Governor McMullen, the elder Cooch will represent the state.

Colonel Cooch is the sixth in descent from Col. Thomas Cooch, who commanded the lower Regiment of New Castle County in the American Revolution.

In addition to his military training in the Reserve Officers Training Corp at the University of Delaware, he has participated in active military training at Fort Hancock, N. J., and also served for a time as a member of Headquarters Battery 198th Coast Artillery A. A. Delaware National Guard.

Radio Is Hobby
A graduate of the Newark High School, Class of 1933, Colonel Cooch has achieved an excellent scholastic record at the University of Delaware and is expected to graduate with honors in June.

Living on the farm-residence of his parents, Colonel Cooch is especially fond of nature and wildlife and is a prominent figure in amateur radio work, his favorite hobby. Last year, he served as editor of the student's weekly publication, "The Review" and now is serving in the capacity of advisory editor.

WRONG RATE

In the schedule of rates for electricity being charged for lighting by the Council of Newark at the present time, contained in a page one story in The Post last week, it was erroneously stated that the first 30 kilowatt hours are billed at ten cents.

Only the first ten kilowatt hours are billed at ten cents before the rate drops to six cents for the next 30 kilowatt hours.

The Post regrets the typographical error which served to confuse a number of readers.

Improved Uniform International LESSON SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson for December 19 THE BIRTH OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 2:8-20. GOLDEN TEXT—For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.—Luke 2:11.

Few indeed are the stories that will bear retelling or the books that are worth re-reading. Rare is the song that we care to hear more than once. How significant then that we come to the observance of Christmas each year with hearts full of delight in the story of the birth of Jesus, eager again to hear the account from God's Word, and to listen with attentive souls for the sound of the angel's song in the Christmas music.

The birth of our Lord as the incarnate Saviour of men is still front page, headline news, even in 1937. The glad tidings of his coming still color the thinking and living of a world that has gone far from him, that lives today in hatred and enmity, even while outwardly recalling the coming of the One who was to bring peace on earth. We have even gone so far that men feel that the way to promote peace is to use the sword. Until the Prince of Peace himself shall reign there may be no other way. But let us be certain at this Christmas time that the tender baby hand from the cradle at Bethlehem has reached out hearts and lives, bringing us peace with God and good will toward men.

The first seven verses of our chapter relate the coming of Mary with Joseph to God's appointed place at his appointed time, for the entrance into this world of the Son of God as the "Word" that "was made flesh and dwelt among us" (John 1:14). Our lesson opens with the proclamation of the blessed good news to the shepherds in the field. Three thoughts are suggested for consideration. The announcement of the coming of the Saviour; the personal response of the shepherds to the glad tidings; and their immediate activity in making it known to others.

I. "Unto You Is Born . . . a Saviour" (vv. 8-14). Christ was a great teacher, one whom the common people heard gladly, "for he taught them as one that had authority, and not as the scribes" (Mark 1:22). He was a leader among men, and lived a life which was an example beyond that of any man. But mark it well, this was not the central and essential purpose of his coming. He came as a Saviour. His mother was told before his birth that she should "call his name JESUS; for he shall save his people from their sins" (Matt. 1:21).

It is not enough to be among the countless thousands who superficially observe Christmas with greetings and gifts. We must with the shepherds go and present ourselves in personal devotion to him. If you have not met the Lord Jesus as your own personal Saviour do it now. And if you know him, make this a Christmas in which Christ shall be supreme.

II. "Let Us Now Go . . . and See" (vv. 15-16). Their fear changed to assurance by the words of the angel, the shepherds at once "go" and "see." Would that all those who heard today did likewise. The shepherds might well have found all manner of excuses for not going. They had sheep to care for, they were not prepared for a journey. No, the divine urge was upon them, "and they came with haste . . . and found" Jesus.

Let us follow the example of the shepherds lest any of us be like the guests who were bidden to the great supper (Luke 14:16-24), who "all with one consent began to make excuse" so that none of them ever entered into the supper chamber.

III. "When They Had Seen . . . They Made Known" (vv. 17-20). Mary the mother of Jesus had special reason to ponder these things in her heart. But the shepherds "returned, glorifying and praising God for all that they had heard and seen."

"Let the redeemed of the Lord say so" (Ps. 107:2). When we have found the Lord Jesus we must not simply rejoice in the satisfaction and peace that has come to our own souls. We are saved to serve. The normal expression of the new life in Christ is the proclamation of the gospel to the ends of the earth. Only in that spirit do we truly keep Christmas!

To every one that sees these lines—whether editor, typesetter, or proofreader—whether a reader in the midst of the clamor of the great city or in the quiet of a distant countryside, whether old or young, whether well or on a sickbed, whether alone, far from family and friends, or in the bosom of your family, the writer of these lines extends in the name of Christ a most hearty good wish for a blessed Christmas.

CARE OF MACHINERY IMPORTANT

Agricultural Mechanics Head Gives Reasons

"Delaware farmers can save more than half the money they spend on farm machinery repair by using a little grease and then storing the farm equipment under cover between seasons."

This statement was made recently by Russell Ramp, instructor in agricultural mechanics at the University of Delaware, after a trip over the state where he noted that many farmers leave their farm machinery in the open during the winter months.

He said that the practice of leaving farm equipment in the open was costing farmers of Delaware many thousands of dollars each year. Citing an example of the high cost of open storage, Ramp said that after eight years of open weather storage, one grain binder consumed approximately $50 in repair and labor to get it into first class operating condition. The same binder kept in proper storage, he said, would have cost less than $10 to keep it in good repair for 12 or 13 years.

Use Old Oil Or Grease Ramp pointed out that the use of old crankcase oil or grease on the bright unpainted parts of farm machinery will do much to prevent rust during storage. He said that the following parts of various pieces of farm equipment should be covered with a film of oil or grease during storage: plows—moldboard, share, landside, coulter and jointer; disc harrows—disc blades; corn planters—clutch, wire, trip, and runners; grain drills—furrow openers, feed shaft, and gears; binders—sickle, guards, bills, knotters, needle and chains; mowers—cutterbar and gears; cultivators—shovels or blades. Transmission grease is better than crankcase oil because it is heavier, Ramp said. However, old crankcase oil is better than no protection at all, he emphasized. On gears and working parts, crankcase oil is often better than heavier grease because it is easier to clean off when the implement is being prepared for use.

Protection from the weather is important because the paint on implements often is ruined by the elements and rust eventually takes the implement. Open sheds or even canvas covers will do much to protect farm machinery, he said.

Muddy Water Dangerous To Topsoil

Conservation Experts Urge Strip Cropping As Method Of Control

Muddy water is a danger signal, a warning that topsoil is being washed off fields. Strip cropping, with alternating clean-cultivated and close-growing crops, is one of the best ways to reduce this loss, say scientists of the Soil Conservation Service.

During, or right after a hard rain, water is muddy as it enters the upper side of close-growing strips from the clean-cultivated areas. On the lower side of the close-growing strips, run-off water has decreased in volume and is much clearer.

Vegetation Filters

The change is caused by the dense vegetation which filters out soil particles and impedes water flow, allowing more moisture to penetrate the soil.

On steep slopes a larger number of comparatively narrow strips check soil losses more successfully than a few wide strips, the soil specialists say. A visit to the nearest Soil Conservation Service demonstration area, where strip cropping has been planned carefully and put into practice on a number of farms, will help the farmer in laying plans for his own farm.

95,000 Hens Culled And Blood Tested

Ninety five thousand hens have been culled and blood tested for the eradication of Pullorum Disease by the standard tube agglutination test by the Poultry Department in carrying out the season's program of the Delaware Poultry Standardization Plan.

Fight On Pullorum Disease Conducted By State Board

Over one half of the flocks were found by the test to be free of the disease.

Most of these birds are in the flocks supplying eggs to those hatcheries that are under official supervision and operating under rules and regulations similar to those of other states.

Hatcheries Cooperate

The hatcheries of Byron Pepper and Sons of Georgetown, W. V. Steen of Dagsboro, O. A. Newton and Sons of Bridgeville, Robert Boyce of Seaford, Frank Austin of Milford, Elton Hitch of Laurel, Mrs. MacLucas of Smyrna, Daisy & Baker of Dagsboro, Lauder Mitchell of Millsboro, Charles Marker of Dover, and Victor Lehtinen of Newark are cooperating in this project.

An official list of the supervised, certified, and record of performance flocks and hatcheries, under the supervision of the State Board of Agriculture, will soon be published. A copy of this bulletin will be sent upon request to the poultrymen desiring it.

Relief Work

Mrs. Talkington-Darling, how would you like it if I became a public speaker?

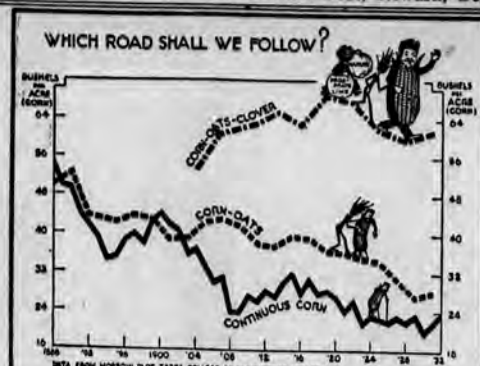

Darling—I'd like it. It would relieve me of a lot.

The dramatic conference held at the University of Delaware on Saturday, a state-wide dramatic association was organized.

Mrs. Jane Cleaver has returned home from Milford, Delaware, where she visited her brother.

Betty Ann Cleaver, Donald Vincent and Nicholas Vinsveld, who have been confined to their homes with chicken-pox are improving.

Miss Carol Vincent spent Thursday with her great-grandmother, Mrs. H. M. Chambers.

Land planted continuously to corn in this Illinois experiment yielded about half as much during the last ten years as it did in 1888, the first year shown on the chart. On land planted to a rotation of oats and corn the corn yield at the end of 43 years was about half the yield at the beginning of the experiment. On land planted to a rotation of corn, oats and clover, supplemented by applications of manure, phosphate and lime, yields increased by 17 per cent over a 28-year period. During the last 10 years, this land yielded on the average more than two and one-half times as much as did land in continuous corn.

Mrs. E. W. Cooch Makes Historical Contribution

Cooch's Bridge Chapter, D.A.R., was honored at its meeting on December 4 at the home of Mrs. Walter Blackwell by the presence of Mrs. Norman Robertson, state chairman of children of the revolution; Mrs. Scott, state junior adviser; Miss Helen M. Scott, state junior director, and Miss France, junior regent, of Wilmington. Mrs. Blackwell and Miss Anna Gallaher were hostesses.

Mrs. Williams extended greetings to the chapter and discussed the last board meeting which she attended in Washington, D. C. She told of the presentation of state flags to the U. S. Naval Academy from each state on Navy Day at Annapolis, Md. Midshipman Harvey received the flag for Delaware.

Mrs. Edward W. Cooch exhibited a number of photostatic copies of unpublished "oaths of allegiance" from the Revolutionary period, which she has secured from various sources and which she proposed to send to Washington for preservation. More than 1000 names have been unearthed as a result of this research which was started by Mrs. Cooch.

Delegates selected for the State D.A.R. Conference were: Mrs. H. B. McKay, Mrs. A. D. Cobb, Mrs. B. G. Skinner, Mrs. Walter Blackwell, Mrs. W. Frank Wilson, Miss Anna Gallaher and Mrs. J. I. Dayett.

Two little girls had been romping all the morning when a suspicious silence brought Mother to investigate.

"Whatever are you doing?" she asked, seeing them sitting side by side on a bench in their nursery, their arms full of dolls and rocking from side to side.

They appeared not to hear. So, being a wise mother, she stepped out of the room. In a few minutes a great gabbling of voices brought her back.

"Mother, we didn't answer you before because we'd spoiled it all. We were on a car, taking the children to the beach. Now we're here!" The girl raced about, spreading arms to an imaginary breeze.

"I understand, and after the dolls have had their swim send them to me for cookies."

"Oh, they'll love that! They'll be so hungry!"

"But isn't this teaching the children to falsify?" someone asks. "A doll really is a bag of sawdust."

All life could be regarded in this matter-of-face way, but think what we should lose! Is home merely a pile of bricks with furniture? Is magic force? The world is full of that al that draws men with such of magic whether we admit it or not, and make-believe for children is their right. The student will tell us that dramatics play has many other values for the child. So it has, but if it had no other, this happens that it creates would be quite enough to commend it.

Poultry Popularity Contest Conducted

American Flag Council No. 28, J. O. U. A. M., met recently with Councilor Roger Dobson presiding. The poultry popularity contest which is now being conducted will close Monday, December 20 at 9:30 p. m., according to A. Neal Smythe, publicity chairman.

Plans are also being made for the annual anniversary celebration.

Infant Not A Child Until Six Years Old

An infant does not become a child until its sixth birthday, according to a decision in a customs case in Washington. Infants' clothing pays 75 per cent duty, while children's garments pay only 50 per cent. Two department stores argued that an infant becomes a child on its second birthday, but lost their case.

London Walker Disappears In Mail Chute; Unharmed

James Thomas, of London, walking with his wife in the semi-darkness of a large railroad station, fell into a mail bag chute and descended head first 90 feet. Landing on a wide conveyor belt, badly frightened but unharmed, he pulled himself together and rejoined his wife, who had fainted when he disappeared.

Gehring and Medwick Most Valuable Players

Deliberating for several weeks after the baseball season ended, the Sporting News finally made its annual selection of the most valuable players in the major leagues for 1937. First honors went to Charlie Gehring, of the Detroit Americans, and to Joe Medwick, of the St. Louis Nationals. Second places were awarded to DiMaggio, of the Yankees, and Gabby Hartnett, of the Cubs.

With only about three centuries past since the first boatload of pilgrims landed on our shores half of our forests are gone.

Newark, Delaware, December 16, 1937

RURAL FIRE LOSS TOO GREAT

Fire Prevention Week celebrated recently brought out the fact that the most fertile field for the reduction of loss by flames is in the rural sections of the country.

A report by the National Board of Fire Underwriters shows that last year, for instance, the per capita fire loss for the Nation as a whole was $2.05—an increase of 10.8 per cent. over 1935. But the per capita loss in cities with more than 20,000 population was but $1.40, an increase of only 5.3 per cent. The better record of the cities is ascribed "not only to the efficiency of municipal fire departments, but also to cumulative effects of fire prevention activities and of modern building code requirements."

In Newark, for instance, certain limitations are set up and restrictions laid for the construction of new buildings. Fire prevention is the main object.

Yet, in the surrounding rural sections, where water supplies are both uncertain and limited and apparatus is not as quickly available as it is in Newark, people continue to build homes and other buildings without a thought of fire hazards.

Winter is always the most difficult season for fighting fires. It becomes doubly so in rural areas where ponds, streams and other natural water supplies are hardened in ice.

Rural people and town people, too, for that matter, should take reasonable steps to prevent fires and should have always at hand means and methods of combatting flames once they get under way.

Fire extinguishers, for instance, strategically placed might save a home, and every home is worth saving.

THE ANTIQUE RACKET

In an effort to stimulate the interest of the American people in historic objects, such were placed on the duty-free list by an Act of Congress in 1906. The plan has not worked out so well, and now the Treasury Department is advocating the imposition of a duty again.

It is declared that between 75 and 80 per cent. of so-called antiques imported into the United States during the last 30 years have been fakes, and statistics are quoted to substantiate the statement.

In 1906, the last year that duty was charged, imports of antiques totaled only $478,000. In later years, imports have at times gone beyond 600 million dollars. The Treasury says that obviously no such store of real antiques could have been found by collectors in England, whence most of the imports originated.

Whether the renewal of duties is the best solution is a question, but at least there should be increased vigilance by inspectors, and by purchasers as well, to curb the antique racket, whereby the Government and American suckers are defrauded of vast sums.

CAUSES OF CRIME

In their efforts to find an explanation for the increasing prevalence of crime, many thoughtful persons have concluded that the tendency to burden the public with a multiplicity of laws may account for much of the lawlessness which now prevails.

Speaking before an international convention of police chiefs, Dr. Carlton Simon said "We can limit and harass human freedom to such an extent that even the normally balanced individual feels that he is oppressed and will seek unlawful means of expressing his personality."

Through the operation of innumerable laws and the activities of Government agencies employed thereunder we are restricted, inspected, spied upon, investigated and caused many unnecessary annoyances which are resented by a people who love freedom.

If more attention were paid to apprehending and punishing real criminals, while allowing greater freedom from harassment to respectable citizens, we should doubtless have a more law-abiding and happier citizenship.

Degree For Charlie McCarthy
Folks, prepare to step up and meet DOCTOR Charlie McCarthy!

Northwestern University, during the Christmas holidays, will bestow the honorary degree "Doctor of Innuendo and Snappy Comeback" upon the droll and world-wide little screen and radio star.

Charlie's pal, Edgar Bergen, received the news yesterday at Universal Studios, where they are preparing to play featured roles. "A Letter Of Introduction" by Vina Delmar, with Irene Dunne. John Stahl will produce it.

Bergen is a graduate of Northwestern University, where he was a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Charlie sighed when he heard that he was to be honored with a college degree.

"It's better than nothing, I guess," he said. "I had it coming! If it hadn't been for me, Bergen never would have gotten through Northwestern! It's my alma mater, too. Without a doubt I am Northwestern's most talkative ex-student. A doctor's degree is the least they could do for me!"

"Charlie and I plan to go to Evanston, Illinois, home of Northwestern, for the ceremonies honoring him," Bergen added.

STATE THEATRE NEWS

Friday and Saturday

As impressive a cast as you will see in many a moon of movies has been assembled by Paramount for its new comedy with, "Double or Nothing."

With Bing Crosby and Martha Raye in the star positions, the cast includes such popular entertainers as Andy Devine, Mary Carlisle, William Frawley, Fay Holden, Samuel S. Hinds, William Henry and others and also has specialty bits from that famed comedy team the Calvary Brothers, the noted eccentric dancing team of Amba and Arno, Alphonse Berg, Tex Morrissey, Frances Faye and Ed Rickard.

In addition there is an aggregation of some seventy-five beautiful girls and handsome young men known as the "Sing Band." This group uses no musical instruments yet "plays" popular music by imitating the various instruments of a dance orchestra so closely that it is impossible for the human ear to tell the difference.

"Double or Nothing," which is a gay and irresponsible story of four persons vying with a crooked lawyer to get a million dollar legacy, is the first film in which Martha Raye plays a star role away from Bob Burns. It is also the first Crosby picture in which Bing uses the same feminine romantic lead for the second time. The honor falls to lovely Mary Carlisle who appeared opposite Bing for the first time in the smash hit "College Humor."

Monday and Tuesday

Paul Muni, whose most recent film, "The Story of Louis Pasteur," won for him the coveted gold statuette of the Motion Picture Academy as the best actor of 1936, comes to the State Theatre in another epic story—"The Life of Emile Zola."

Directed by the same genius who guided the making of "Pasteur," the celebrated William Dieterle, the Zola movie is declared to excel even the previous masterpiece.

It begins with the early struggles of Zola as a novelist, carries him along to wealth and fame, and goes thoroughly into his magnificent crusade on behalf of Captain Dreyfus, the army officer who was falsely accused of selling military secrets, and was unjustly convicted and sent to Devil's Island.

Muni, of course, plays Zola. Another splendid actor, Joseph Schildkraut, portrays the unfortunate Dreyfus. The rest of the cast is practically all-star. Gale Sondergaard, who had such a sensational success in "Anthony Adverse," is Madame Dreyfus; Gloria Holden is Madame Zola, and Erin O'Brien Moore is "Nana," the girl of the streets about whom Zola wrote his first great novel.

Other notables include Morris Carnovsky, Vladimir Sokoloff, Henry O'Neill, Donald Crisp and Louis Calhern. Fifty immense sets were

WASHINGTON NEWS

FROM OUR CONGRESSMAN
WILLIAM F. ALLEN

CROP CONTROL—The subject of crop control is still an important one in both Houses of Congress. Each house is debating a different farm bill. There is a great deal of disagreement over the measures.

POSTAL BILL—To the Senate went a bill favorably reported from the Senate Committee on Postoffice. The bill provides that the three highest persons in examinations for postmasterhips be eligible for Presidential appointment.

HIGHWAY APPROPRIATION REDUCTION—If Congress approves the President's suggestion for reduction of $113,000,000 a year in Federal Appropriations for highways the State provisions for relief of the unemployed will receive a set back.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING—The practice of setting wages, hours, and working conditions through signed agreements with trade unions has shown a marked extension since 1933. This advance has taken place in two waves.

MORE BORROW TO PURCHASE FARMS—Nearly 10,000 requests have been received by the Federal land banks in the last ten months for loans to be applied in the purchase of farms. The amount applied for totaled $38,000,000 and the requests came from every state in the Union.

POULTRY AND EGG SITUATION—Important developments in the poultry and egg situation during November, were the break in the non-seasonal rise in farm chicken prices; the continued less-than-average seasonal advance in farm egg prices; the continued high rate of egg production per bird, and the continued slow out-of-storage movement of eggs. Farm chicken prices usually do not rise after May or June, but in 1937 the price continued to rise until it reached the high point in October. This advance may prove to be partly at the expense of the 1938 seasonal advance, which normally occurs from January to May. Decline this month, therefore, tends to restore chicken prices to a more nearly normal relation with their usual seasonal course.

built for "The Life of Emile Zola" and nearly 5,000 players were used in its various scenes.

Wednesday and Thursday

One of the strongest comedy casts ever assembled in Hollywood is seen in "There Goes the Groom." RKO Radio's newest romantic laugh riot. Heading the group are Ann Southern, Burgess Meredith and Mary Boland whose individual work has won recent high critical praise and who are here brought together for the first time.

Prominent in main supporting roles are such well liked favorites as Louise Henry, Roger Imhof, William Brisbane, Onslow Stevens, Summer Gethell and George Irving. The story of "There Goes the Groom" is as exceptional as the stellar collection of talent that has been selected to enact it. It is primarily a tale of a somewhat mad family, close kin to other insane family groups who have delighted picture audiences recently, yet individually more eccentric than their screen predecessors.

The plight of Meredith, a millionaire, to escape this scheming tribe after the eldest daughter has jilted him and her younger sister has set her cap for him, forms the basis of the plot.

Clubs Active

This week club activities have been competing with difficult pre-holiday assignments for the girls' attention. On Tuesday afternoon Miss Bailey spoke to the Art Club on "Jugtown Pottery." The Music Club also met that afternoon in the music building. Contributors to the program were: Amelle Kozinski, Christmas carols; Pauline Plunti, piano selections; James Carpenter, vocal solos; an octet composed of Martha Mitchell, Amelle Kozinski, Elva Wells, Marjorie Burns, James Carpenter, Russell Willard, William Everhart, and Gilbert Willbank. A brass quartette also gave several selections.

Wednesday afternoon the Home Economics Club met in the Practice House. Miss Breck talked on "Swedish Christmas." At four-thirty, members of the French Club presented a special Christmas pageant, "La Nativite," which included many French Christmas songs. The Science Club is to meet on Thursday, with Doctor Drake as the speaker.

Open Discussion
Monday evening an open forum discussion on the play "Richard II" took the place of the regular English reading. Both faculty members and students took part in lively, interesting arguments concerning the Maurice Evans presentation of the drama.

Several Christmas celebrations are to be held before college closes on Saturday. Tonight each dormitory will have its own Christmas party in its common room. Later a group of girls will go caroling throughout the town. Friday at noon the commuters will have a party in Science Basement. With the encouragement of a small contribution from every girl, a complete menu including everything from fruit cake to nuts has been planned.

And now, dear readers, we are happy to announce that the Women's College of the University of Delaware will soon enjoy a two-weeks' vacation. From 12:30 p.m. Saturday, December 18, until 8:00 a.m. Monday, January 3, we won't know an irregular verb or a chemical equation from a Christmas tree. And we hope everybody in the whole world has a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Newport M. E. Church Holds Celebration

By Miss Emma S. Maclary
Newport, Dec. 15.—A very impressive service was held Sunday morning in the Newport M. E. Church in connection with the opening of the auditorium of the church which had been closed about three months for alterations and improvements. The Rev. J. C. McCoy, pastor, was in charge of the service, and had as the guest speaker, the Rev. W. E. Habbart, of Wilmington, who had as his subject "I Will Build My Church Upon A Rock and the Gates of Hell Shall Not Prevail Against It."

Rev. Habbart spoke of the value of fellowship in the church, and of friendships made in the church organizations. He also congratulated the pastor, officials of the church and the building committee, of which Arthur G. Craig, was chairman, on the wonderful improvements in the church building. A special program of music had been arranged by the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Blena J. Tatman and Mrs. Marian Green, organist. The new addition to the building, alterations and improvements to the church proper amounted to $18,000. Dedication exercises will be held January 23, with Bishop Hughes, of Washington, as the guest speaker.

A baptismal service was conducted at the morning service with the Rev. J. C. McCoy, pastor, in charge, and little Sandra Lynn Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Craig, of Newport, was baptized.

Delaware Grange, of Newport, attended the evening service in a group, and the Reverend McCoy presented the message.

Car washing, greasing and tire changes are among the many jobs which can be handled in an efficient manner by Mr. Cunningham and his assistant, William Foote.

Plans for a grand-opening day are now underway and date will be announced later.

Grinding Their Axes

According to the omnipotent Wilmington JOURNAL-EVENING (Dr. Walter Hüllhien's official and exclusive vehicle for the release of information and publicity), the University of Delaware head sounded off before the winter meeting of the Board of Trustees last Saturday as follows: "... again, called attention to the urgent need for an addition to the university library."

And that crack sent athletic-minded Delaware alumni everywhere scurrying to their grindstones to sharpen dirks that will be eased into Dr. Hüllhien's official back at the first opportunity. It isn't the initial time he has led with his chin, so to speak, but even the most adroit individuals visit the well once too often.

Why is Taylor Thimble, the band-box gymnasium that stands out on the Delaware campus like a house at a Christian Endeavor meeting, continually overlooked when improvements are being discussed, about the athletic-minded alumni in union.

Why, they add, is an addition needed at the library, to provide more room for "courting" students from Delaware College and Women's College, who assemble there nightly?

RWR

Veritable Fire Trap

From an outsider's point of view, it would seem that there is merit to the alumni's squawk for a larger, more modern gymnasium. The Taylor structure, built in 1905, wouldn't even make a decent garage for the storage of trucks, providing the owners were particular about where they were kept.

It is too small for the playing of college basketball and it fails to meet the requirements of a growing physical education department. On top of that it is a fire trap that endangers the lives of from 500 to 1000 students and spectators every time a basketball game of any importance is played.

If a professional promoter attempted to use a building like Taylor Gymnasium for sporting events there would be loud wails for a law to create more exits in case of fire. Being a college-owned structure, however, it is used without change, without improvement—year after year—while Dr. Hüllhien calls attention to the urgent need for an addition to the university library."

Possibly the library is too small, but it's modern, at least. Taylor Thimble, on the other hand, is a disgrace to the school and to the State of Delaware. And it's a dangerous disgrace at that!

Culled Comment

Bill Bellman, Newark High School's young backfield sensation, has been selected on All-State teams by the WILMINGTON SUN-DAY MORNING STAR and the WILMINGTON MORNING NEWS. Norval Robinson, guard, and Captain Drex Harrington, quarterback, of the high school assembly, were also selected on the Star's first eleven to make Newark the most frequently mentioned name on the list.

Speaking of "all-teams," Gibby Young, Washington College's brilliant captain of the 1937 varsity and a standout back for four straight years, was named to the All-Maryland college eleven last week. It was the first time his work has been recognized by selectors in the Free State.

The "dirtiest" trick of the week is credited to Andy Bowdle, physical instructor at Delaware, who on Monday afternoon excused all Blue Hen basketball players in his class from "exercises" except Guy Wharton, who was scheduled to play with Harry Williamson's team against the Jayvees that night. But Williamson's crew won, 38-23, with Wharton contributing a field goal to the cause.

On The Fly

Russell C. (Jing) Johnson, athletic director at Ursinus College, urges that intercollegiate football get out of "big league baseball parks and that post season bowl games should be dropped"—probably because Ursinus has no chance of crashing either one.

Tom Kibler's 1937-38 Washington College basketball team boasts of considerable class in Zebrowski, giant center; Ace Winitz, Howard Pfund, and Bill Smith, all veterans. Howard Neubert, a reserve last year, is expected to make the varsity, while others who showed well in early practice are Mike Kardash, Ed McMahon, Chuck Collins, and Gibby Young, trying his hand at the game for the first time.

Flashes By Bill Fletcher

ATHLETIC EVENTS FADE INTO MORE OR LESS OF OBSCURITY just about this time of the year to yield to the nation's most popular sport—Christmas shopping. And with everyone harboring the same idea of doing it early it becomes a non-toe gentle activity.

Fond mothers who stand pat on refusing to allow their darling sons to participate in the "rough" game of football, step into the swirling mass of humanity, dragging poor hubby behind them, risking life and limb and the possibility of making that darling boy an orphan, in order to purchase a ten-epenthanderchief for Aunt Susan or a foul-scented bottle of perfume for sister Annebelle.

In comparison to Yuletide buying, the grid sport, ice hockey, lacrosse, boxing or wrestling are just games of fit-tat-toe or crossword puzzling for when a mob of the female creatures (so-called weaker sex) starts a little elbow nudgin' and knuckle heavin' in order to get the best for the least, it sure ain't no tea party, not from what we've observed.

A couple of weeks ago, the idea came to us that the extra quarter burning another hole in our wallet might be used for a little of our Christmas buying.

Chuckling inside, and very much pleased with ourself at the idea of getting the jump on our fellow-men, we made our way in the general direction of a shopping center. The general direction was soon deflected, however, for the shopping center looked like a Japanese invasion was taking place, what with the ladies (No woman's lady on a Christmas buying tour) throwing fists, elbows, knees, umbrellas, punning, punching, pummeling, pointing, pasting, searching, scratching, seeking, banging, biting, bleating, and butting every thing and everybody in sight, if they could see by that time, after being elbowed in the optics by a stray pair of arms lost in the rush.

It was all very interesting but attracted us not at all and so we were content to be the observer and stay on the outside. After all, the women are more experienced shoppers, anyway, what with having a couple of dollar days, a number of bankruptcy sales and a host of fire sellouts in which to get practiced up for the biggest rush of the year.

It's like a football team's pointing for a big game with a rival school, the ladies go out and warm up with the little events like dollar day and get in trim for the Christmas stampede.

And the poor husband is used either for an advance guard or a truck horse. Either way, he takes a beating, but being used for the latter purpose, he endures a slighter torture and can only strike back at random. Which isn't such a nice setup, considering the fact that he's liable to find his knuckles caressing some female hellcat which usually leads to a rendezvous with the floor amid the packages and bundles with which he has been loaded to the ears.

It's supposed to be "peace on earth" but the annual Christmas jam is anything but peaceful for those daring enough to venture into the bustling mass of humanity that concentrates around the buying centers during the two weeks prior to December 25.

The United States might be taking a step in the right direction if they joined the League of Nations, even if only for the single purpose of curbing the annual Yuletide battle.

On behalf of the male population, we enter this plea to the members of that great order of womanhood—please don't take your husband Christmas shopping. After all, what with many bargain days behind you, you are possessed of a far greater and wider experience than your less-fortunate mate and if tossed to the crowd during the rush season, you might find yourself sans a mate—and a bankbook.

Give him a break and let him roast his feet by the fire when you go out for Aunt Minnie's present and you'll find him in a lot better humor when you start making additional touches or announce that Horace Zlich, an old sweetie of yours, has invited himself for Christmas dinner.

IT WOULD SEEM THAT ED Bardo, the University of Delaware swimming coach, has received an advance visit from Santa Claus, at which time, the old gentleman left him a nice squad of swim candidates.

Mentor Bardo has the most promising squad of tankmen he has had in several years, a well-balanced turnout that is destined to go places this year on a giant-sized slate.

There's just one hitch, however, and that's mid-year examinations, an ordeal that annually takes a costly toll of Blue and Gold swimmers. It never fails and perhaps the thinking apparatuses of the boys get water-logged after churning the pool for a few meets.

Anyhow, the boys were on their good behavior during the West Chester meet and perhaps, old Santa may be the donor of another fine gift—no flunks at mid-years. Perhaps?

Newark Yellowjackets Sink Jayvees In Opener; Await Decision

CLARKMEN BOMBARD WAY TO VICTORY

Low Carey Paces Way To 52-33 Conquest As Hampden-Sydney Falls; Hens Weak From Charity Stripe Thus Far

By Bill Fletcher

Led by Captain Low Carey, the University of Delaware cage quintet registered its second conquest in three starts Monday night as it took the measure of Hampden-Sydney by a 52-33 count.

The Hens' leader paced the Blues and Gold to the win as he rang up nine field tosses from all angles for a total of 18 points. It was the largest score rolled up by the local courtmen in the three games played, and Bruce Lindsay, after shying from the hoop during the first two encounters finally found the range and bombarded the basket for 13 points.

A field toss by Ed Wilson and a charity conversion by Jack Kern in the first couple of minutes gave the Clarkmen a three-point lead which they held throughout the rough and slam-bangy battle.

Keep It Up!

Sporting an 11-6 advantage at the end of the first quarter, the Hens swelled their advantage during the second period to pace the South-eastern 24-11 at the half.

It was during the third chukker, however, that the invaders suddenly began to make their shots pay dividends as Tom Tweed, rangy pivot man started dropping them in. The visitors drew up to within five points of the Hens, but timely shots by Carey and Bruce Lindsay kept the Blue and Gold up front and secured a 30-20 lead at the end of the third period.

Both teams went wild in the finale as the Delawareans racked up 22 points and Hampden-Sydney 13, and the public was treated to a wild display of basketball supplied by two tired teams.

Suddenly finding their shooting eyes after being downed by Rutgers University in the initial tilt, the Hen courtmen have racked up two high scores in Taylor Gymnasium. Philadelphia Textile School fell before the onslaught of the locals' bombardment, 47-26 and more than 50 points were countered against the Southerners Monday night.

Finding Hoop Range

Coach Clark's charges have scored 47 field tosses and 31 charity losses in the three tilts for a total of 125 points. Carey is pacing the basketweavers with a total of 34 points while Earl Sheats, center, trails far behind with 18. Lindsay is in third position with 15 counters as Earl McCord follows closely with 14.

Much pleased with the work of his men despite the short time in which to work out, Coach Clark is looking forward to ironing out the Hens' defense before the next clash which will be with West Chester State Teachers' College on January 8.

Much work is needed from the foul line for the wearers of the Blue and Gold have been able to convert only 31 out of 57 shots from against Rutgers; 13 out of 22 against Philadelphia Textile and only 6 out of 18 Monday night.

The scorers are ranked as follows:

For the second consecutive year, a Newark boy will take part in leading the University of Delaware football team as Ernie George, local star, and Tommy Ryan, of Belmar, N. J., take up the grid leadership reigns for 1938. The co-captains were approved at a meeting of the Delaware Athletic Council, Tuesday night.

The two men replace Dick Roberts, 1937 leader, who is slated to graduate in June. George was awarded a letter in baseball his freshman year and has also been the recipient of two football letters, in 1936 and 1937. Ryan received football letters in his freshman, sophomore and junior years.

Additional meets are pending with the Reading Fencer's Club at home and with the Ambassador Club at Atlantic City.

One Of Coach Gillespie's Finest

Jackets' Summary Of Wins In Ten Years Is Outstanding

The magnificent record compiled by teams during the coaching regime of William K. Gillespie at the Newark High School which includes the years 1928-1937 is listed below.

During the ten years, Gillespie-coached teams racked up 61 victories, were defeated only 15 times and held to a draw on 14 occasions. In that period, the Jackets scored 1,204 points against their opponents' 327.

DIEHL IN EXHIBITION

Joe Diehl, Rockford, Ill., the best pocket billiard player developed in the Middle West in the last decade, will play an exhibition match of 125 balls against Arnold Pryor of 7 Ferris Industrial.

Diehl, at Jimmy Martin's State billiard parlors, commencing at three o'clock, Saturday afternoon.

At the conclusion of his match, Joe will entertain with a number of fancy shots, and will then be available for free instruction to any and all patrons of the local ivory emporium, on any style of billiards or pocket billiards.

Tourney Competitor Joe competed in the recent world's championship tournament in New York City and created a sensation by defeating Willie Mosconi in his opening game.

1931 he defeated Ralph Greenleaf, then champion, 125 to 123, after Ralph had led by a score of 98 to 2. Joe defeated Erwin Rudolph in a week's play in Rockford, Ill., 900 to 786. In 1935 he defeated Andrew Ponzi 100 to 34, at Rockford, and followed this up with victories over Mosconi, Natalie and Rudolph.

During 1934 he played 12 consecutive matches against leading players with an average high run for the entire 12 contests. He has made a run of 195, his next best efforts being 163 and 156 respectively.

There are 435 members of the house of representatives and 96 Senators, which gives us 531 reasons why an anti-noise campaign would never work in Washington.

Open With Win Although ragged in their appearance against the University of Delaware Jayvees last Monday, the Jackets displayed marked latent power as they marked up easy 38-23 triumph.

Vic Willis, former University Maryland star who performed against the best professional football in the country last year as a member of the Heurich Brewery in Washington, found the hoop seven field goals and a pair of fouls for 16 points to lead his team. He was given good support.

BOARD TO MEET IN SPECIAL SESSION

Request For Use Of School Gym To Be Decided Monday Night

By "The Roamer" With the opening of the New Castle County Basketball League delayed a full week on all fronts the Newark Yellowjackets will play their first circuit game against Delaware City tonight at Delaware City. All games carried for last Thursday will be played postponed affairs on data to be decided by the scheduled appointments.

While the Jackets-versus-Delaware City imbroglio is on the league slate for Newark, the scene has been shifted until the Newark Board of Education reaches a decision concerning the Jackets' application to play home games in the high school gymnasium.

The matter was officially brought to the board's attention at the December meeting last Friday in the form of a letter. Following lengthy consideration it was announced by Secretary Carleton Douglas that no decision will be handed down until more information is presented for discussion by the body.

Special Meeting Demonstrating a willingness to consider the case from all angles before granting or denying the request, the board will hold a special session Monday night. Harry W. Harnson, manager, and Bill Dyer, veteran guard, will represent the team at the meeting.

Assurance is asked by the board that every protective measure against fire and illegal entry be guaranteed by responsible individuals, and that financial responsibility be established to defray costs of extra electricity and janitor services.

While nothing official has been done, it is hinted that the board will likely oppose any plan to charge admissions to games in school by other than school teams.

Whether or not this situation will be overcome or ironed out by the meeting Monday.

The officers were elected as follows: president, Clarence G. Collins; vice-president, Charles Garmley; secretary, Elmer C. Taylor; financial secretary, Clarence Highfield; treasurer, Robert B. Kellon; trustees for three years, William Neide and Robert Gebhart; two years, Percy Highfield; one year, Ernest Crossan and William Williams; fire chief, Oliver W. Cozy Earmuffs

Lucille Ball had this pair of fur earmuffs designed for her by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., co-starring with Ginger Rogers in "Having Wonderful Time." She needed them during the cold nights while outdoor sequences were being shot at Big Bear Lake in the San Bernardino Mountains. Miss Ball has a prominent role in the Arthur Kober comedy-drama of romance in a vacation camp.

Morley On Duty

That Honorary Night Watchman of ours, Christopher Morley, has been busy these past three years, it seems, doing the 11th edition of a superb and essential reference volume—Bartlett's Familiar Quotations. We always have been, and we always shall be, devoted to that volume. But we find it hard to reconcile our devotion to the book and our fondness for its new editor to one of the things its publishers quote in the preface.

The person quoted is Nathan Haskell Dole, and the quotation is, "We can live without dictionaries and encyclopedias but where is the writer who can live without Bartlett's Familiar Quotations?" The idea!

Exceptional Morleys

And as for Christopher Morley, why he's just a young fellow, born in 1890. His father had three sons, and these three sons were brothers who distinguished themselves by receiving Rhodes Scholarships—three in one generation of one family. In addition to the reputation he has earned as Night Watchman of Columbia University Press, Mr. Morley is pretty well-known as an editor of The Saturday Review of Literature. Also, he has written some books.

Lengthy Study

Five hundred thousand years is the length of time it took man to prepare himself to ask one question: "What is mathematics?" And after the question was propounded, mathematicians and philosophers required two thousand five hundred years to answer it. So, on the first page of his THE PASTURES OF WONDER, says Cassius J. Keyser.

Pastures of wonder? Pastures of wonder? What, you say, might they be? Professor Keyser has anticipated your question—"Perhaps no other event in the long development of organic life has been quite so significant and so fruitful of good as the advent of wonder. 'For it is owing to their wonder,' said Aristotle, 'that men both now and at first began to philosophize.' Wonder is the great question-asker. Answers are propositions." And but for the two great propositional realms—mathematics and science—intellectual curiosity would have no means of subsistence and would have perished by starvation. "They are indeed THE PASTURES OF WONDER."

At one point in this book Professor Keyser quotes Leibnitz to the effect that, "Half the secret of philosophy is to treat the familiar as the unfamiliar. There is no wisdom maxim and none fitter for present use."

We have applied this maxim many times since first we came upon it. The results are surprising. Try it. Don't, though, reverse the order and look at new things with old eyes.

Noses, Chins, Mouths

He who will become famous must stand the scrutiny of the curious. Hegel, Gray, and Pater had chins one size too small. Tyndall and Emerson had nose and mouth two sizes too large. Goldsmith presented the extraordinary combination of a low, bulging forehead, with almost no head behind the ears, handsome eyes and nose, a swollen upper lip, and a receding chin—all much pitted with smallpox. To get back to Emerson's nose, Lowell said it was so large it cast a shadow. Lamb had one gray and one hazel eye. Famous doubles: Taine resembled Zola; Heine, Chopin; Horace, Herrick; Tolstoy, Verlaine; and Bishop Heber, Byron. This tradition is lifted from the chapter in Furst's THE OBSERVATIONS OF PROFESSOR MATURIN which opens as the learned Professor is trying to triangulate Shakespeare's nose, and having considerable trouble. Not very many people have ever read Maturin's observations, and fewer still remember the old gentleman, but we think him deserving of a bit of immortality and so intend to regale you later with more which we should have done sooner.

Do you know that anthracite varies . . . that some is harder . . . more compact? The hardest, most compact anthracite comes from the Panther Valley, and only The Old Company has access to these deposits. That is why you get more heat from Old Company's Anthracite. That's why it is more economical.
