Record Breaking Crowd Attends Commencement

GIFT OF LAND ANNOUNCED--DEGREES CONFERRED TO CLASS OF THIRTY-EIGHT

The Oratory was abandoned for the campus today, the occasion of the annual commencement exercises at Delaware College. A perfect June day favored the plan which seemed to win the approval of everyone, and gave to hundreds, who otherwise would have been crowded out, an opportunity to enjoy the splendid program. The exercises opened with prayer by Rev. G. T. Alderson, of Wilmington, who has two sons in the graduating class. Student orations followed: "The Importance of a College Training for the Engineering Profession," by Allen Sherwood Wise; "The Widespread Interest in Agriculture," by Washington Irving Brockson; "The Bible in the College Curriculum," Russell Paynter.

Dr. S. C. Mitchell, president of the College, referred to the occasion as preeminently fathers' and mothers' day—the day which crowned the sacrifices made that their boys might be kept in college. The commencement address was made by Dr. Charles F. Thwing, president of Western Reserve University, whom Dr. Mitchell pronounced the foremost writer upon educational history in our country.

Dr. Thwing in introductory remarks referred to the beautiful setting for the occasion—the ceremony in the month of roses, of green fields and of blossoming gardens; to the gothic arches made by the old linden trees, carrying us back hundreds of years in suggestiveness. Dr. Thwing's subject was "The Scholar" which he considered in five relations, first, as a student; second, as a thinker; third, as an interpreter; fourth, as an apostle; fifth, as a priest. The speaker emphasized the importance of continuing to be a student throughout one's life.

"To be a student in college is good," Dr. Thwing declared, "to be a student outside of college is better." He urged the young men now graduating to be students in order that they may become thinkers, and referred to President Wilson as an illustration of one who by means of scholarship had acquired the power of becoming one of the thinkers of the world.

"Thinking is both the cause and the result of interpretation. The scholar must learn to interpret life in the terms of personal adequacy, social efficiency, and world vision." Great stress was laid by the speaker on the importance of attaining a world vision. "In this time of the crisis of nations, America must not forget the world vision. The differences and nationalities are only superficial things. Our scientists tell us there is no racial blood. No test of the microscope can distinguish the blood of Hindu or Anglo-Saxon." As an example of a man of this type the speaker referred to James Bryce. "Fifty years ago," he declared, "he wrote a history of the Holy Roman Empire, still recognized as a classic. In his American Commonwealth he helped us to discover ourselves. He has become the interpreter of South Africa, of South America, and of the South Seas. A member of the British cabinet, of the House of Lords; a professor of History at Oxford; Ambassador of Great Britain to this country, he stands a splendid example of the scholar, gentleman, and thinker.

Dr. Thwing congratulated Delaware upon her great president, whom he said he had known for years, and upon the union of forces in the State institution—a condition which exists in no greater degree in any of the bevy of states. He referred to the Morrill bill, representing the support of the nation; the appropriations representing the force of the State; and now the individual benefactor bearing his gifts and asking the institution to accept the offering.

In closing Dr. Thwing referred to the parting words of James Bryce as he stood on the pier with Alice Freeman Palmer. "You must not fail us," Mr. Bryce said, "The problem of civilization has been taken up in the Old World; the Old World has failed to solve it. It has passed it on to New World. If America fails, civilization falls. Remember the words of Horace Mann, 'Be ashamed die until you have done something to bless mankind.' This German died with the words, 'Gottan, Duty,' on his lips. Serve humanity unto the glory of God in doing your duty. Then it shall well with you, young men, in great sum of all things."

Commissioner of Education, was in town on Tuesday inspecting the work of the children entered in the Home-Garden contest, under the direction of Miss Agnes Medill. Sixteen children have gardens producing all the early vegetables. A prize of two dollars and a half has been offered by the Newark High School Alumni Association, for the best garden on July first. Townspeople are urged to encourage the children by buying their produce from them.

Class Day exercises at Delaware were held last Monday on the campus. G. O. Smith, class 1916, presided. The class prophecy was given by L. C. S. Dorsey; class history, by E. C. Souder; Mantle address by the president, Joseph Weaver. The mantle was received by J. W. Jones, president of the 1916 class. A feature of the exercises was the opening words of Dr. Mitchell, who humorously forbade any smiles or laughs, and declared no person over eighteen was permitted to attend the exercises. A clever "Class Day Chronicle," was distributed among the audience.

COLLEGE TRUSTEES HOLD MEETING

HENRY B. THOMPSON ELECTED PRESIDENT-- EXTENSION PLANS CONSIDERED

Former Governor Preston Lea, it is understood, did not care for re-election because of the condition of his health and Henry B. Thompson was elected president of the Board of Trustees of Delaware College on Tuesday. Mr. Lea had served as chairman of the board since the death of Chief Justice Charles B. Lore, in 1911. Samuel H. Messick of Bridgeville, was re-elected vice-president, and Charles B. Evans, of Newark, secretary and treasurer. The standing committees will be named at a later date.

Contrary to expectations, there was no definite announcement at the board meeting relative to the proposed endowment fund. It was reported, however, that all of the properties desired by the college for the extension plans had been secured with the exception of two, viz., that of William Gamble, and that of E. C. Johnson. The following resolution, offered by Chancellor, was adopted:

Resolved, That the members of the Board of Trustees of Delaware College, being grateful to the unnamed donor which has purchased at a cost of more than $200,000 a large quantity of land adjacent to and in the immediate vicinity of the college property, ample for all the future development and growth of the institution, hereby tender to the benefactor of the cause of education in Delaware on behalf of the youth of Delaware for coming generations, thanks for his gift and assure him that his generosity is highly appreciated.

Resolutions on the death of Dr. George W. Marshall and Lewis P. Bush were adopted by the board. Former Congressman William H. Heald and H. Rodney Sharp, the new trustees, attended the meeting.

Assistant Instructors Elected

The following assistant instructors were elected at a salary of $1200 a year each: K. Roberts Greenfield, of Johns Hopkins, asstant in history and economics; Edward H. Sehrt, of Johns Hopkins, assistant in modern languages, and Frederick J. Pohl, of Harvard, assistant in English. L. W. Tarr, of Amherst, was elected assistant chemist in the agricultural department to succeed H. H. Morgan resigned.

The following members of the faculty were given increases in salary: George E. Dutton, from $1500 to $1750, and Howard K. Preston and F. B. Hills from $1,200 to $1,500 each and Miss Rich and Miss aCudell, from $1000 to $1200 each.

The board decided to pay a reasonable amount of town taxes on the new property acquired, although under the law all college property is exempted from taxation.

Announcement was made of a gift of $2500 to endow a scholarship by Mrs. Robert Wheeler of Wilmington. The interest from this amount will be allowed for the scholarship.

For some years Professor Chas. L. Penny, professor of Chemistry and also State chemist, has been receiving a part of the fees of the latter office. The board decided to keep all the fees and allow Professor Penny $2,750 as state chemist, and $2,000 as professor in chemistry, which will make his combined salary $4,750 a year.

Henry Ridgely, who in addition to being a trustee is also president of the State Board of Education, suggested that a committee be appointed to see if there is any way possible for 25 students who have been receiving state aid at institutions in other states to receive some aid. The law allowing state aid has been repealed and Mr. Ridgely pointed out that these students were unable to pay their way entirely. He was named as one member of the committee and other members will be named later.

The evening began with a banquet, Arthur Chillas, president of the Junior class, toastmaster. Toasts were responded to by Mr. Friedel, Harry Greene, Marian Brown, Ralph Riley, George Wilson, Myrtle Wakefield, and Helen Slack. Miniature diplomas were hidden about the room for every Senior, and the guests had a merry time, attempting, blindfolded, to place a cap of a gown graduate's head. Teachers of the High School chaperoned the occasion.

THE ANGLO-AMERICAN CENTURY OF PEACE

Oration Delivered At High School Commencement

The following oration was delivered by Miss Marian Law of Newark:

"Two things stand out unique and unforgettable in the contribution the year nineteen-fourteen has made to the history of the world; one is America's greatest achievement, the other is Europe's colossal failure.

"For one hundred years, more than 400,000,000 people have lived at peace under one flag, and under another flag, about 100,000,000 people, as progressive as any the world knows. And so it was that England, America and several countries of Europe had been preparing to celebrate the one-hundred years of peace on Jan. 8, 1915 which was one hundred years from the day the last battle was fought between America and England at New Orleans, Jan. 8, 1815.

"It was found, when the year 1914 closed, that America was left to celebrate this great event alone, for England is now engaged in a terrible war such as she has not faced since the Napoleonic period which ended with the Battle of Waterloo, in June, 1815, and where in the little town of Ghent, on Christmas eve, 1814, the treaty of peace was signed by the Commissioners of the United States and Great Britain, is also engaged in this great struggle, so could not join in the celebration of the one hundred years of peace. Even our peaceable neighbor, Canada, by virtue of her relation to Great Britain, has become involved in the European War and could not give attention to anniversaries, though her purpose was to celebrate the blessing of peace and good neighborhood.

FRIENDS OF OLD DRAWERS MEET

Organization To Be Incorporated

The two-hundred and fourth anniversary of Old Drawers Presbyterian church was observed on Sunday by the congregation and friends of Old Drawers, at the historic church near Odessa. Rev. U. Franklin Smiley, pastor of West Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, preached in the morning. At the afternoon exercises Judge Henry C. Conrad of Georgetown delivered a historical address.

Rev. Edward A. McLaury, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Odessa, was in charge of the morning services. Daniel W. Corbit of Odessa, president of the Friends of Old Drawers, presented Judge Conrad at the afternoon exercises.

The celebration is always noteworthy because of the fact that a majority of the attendants are descendants of persons who are buried in the graveyard surrounding the church. As the early members of Old Drawers took a prominent and active part in Revolutionary matters, the annual observance naturally has more than ordinary significance.

In addition to the celebration, the Friends of Old Drawers held their annual meeting. The present officers were re-elected. They are: president, Daniel W. Corbit; vice-president, Thomas J. Craven, Salem, N. J.; secretary, Miss S. Cornelia Bowman, Wilmington; treasurer, George Janvier, Middletown; directors, John V. Craven, West Chester, Pa.; William G. Janvier, St. Georges; Howard A. Pool, Middletown; Dr. Walter V. Woods, Odessa; Clarence E. Pool and Isaac Janvier Woods, McDonough; Miss Dorothy Vandegrift and Alfred S. Elliott, Wilmington.

The announcement was made after the meeting that arrangements had been perfected and the organization incorporated. This is done so that it will be possible for it to receive bequests of any kind.

CROWD HEARS BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Dr. Smiley Delivers Charge To Young Men

The College Oratory was crowded on Sunday evening, the occasion of the baccalaureate exercises when Rev. U. Franklin Smiley, D. D., pastor of West Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, delivered a charge to the young men of the graduating class to "Erect some memorial on the plains of life." Dr. Smiley took his text from First Samuel, 7th chapter, 12th verse: "Then Samuel took a stone, and set it between Mizpeh and Shen, and called the name of it Ebenezer saying Hither hath the Lord helped us."

The word "hitherto," the speaker declared points like an index finger into the past, and reminds us that over all the years of our journey, in sickness and in health in poverty and in wealth, in trial and temptation, the Lord hath helped us.

The theme of Dr. Smiley's talk was the necessity for divine and human co-operation in life's success. He emphasized the necessity for self-help in every walk of life. "God promises to provide for our physical needs," he declared, "but he fulfills his promise when he sends the sunshine and the rain. He promises us bread. The promise is not fulfilled without man's co-operation in the plowing, the reaping, the threshing and the baking. What is true of the physical is true likewise of the mental. There is no royal road to learning. Growth in the mental life is dependent upon struggle and self-sacrifice in the form of study. The same is the pre-eminently true in the spiritual life. There are many prayers which never get beyond the roof of a church. Should the suppliant get his ear a little closer to the ground he might hear the rumbling of the words, 'Put your own shoulder to the wheel.'"

"But," the speaker declared, "the strongest without God is a weakling, and the weakest with God is a giant. Man and his Maker have brought about all the good things in the world. No man has ever raised one grain of wheat alone; God does not choose to raise one grain of wheat alone. God walks in the furrow by the plowman's side; he is in every motion of his arm as he scatters the seed. Remove God from the process, and man's arm drops powerless at his side." The speaker referred to the chemist, and his skill in separating the elements which compose a grain of corn; of the knowledge which enables him to restore the grain of corn. But plant the corn! It lacks the divine spark; there is no life. God must send the sunshine to kiss it into life; God must send the showers to baptize it with power. A rod in the hand of Moses; a sling in the hand of David; a little lunch in the hand of the lad by Galilee's lake. These are but samples of the weak things of this world which God has chosen to confound the mighty.

The speaker closed with the query: "What is in thy hands, young men? An education, an ambition, a purpose. I call upon you to dedicate the power which God has given you to the uplifting of humanity."

Annual Service Of College Y. M. C. A.

The annual commencement service of the Young Men's Christian Association of the college was held in the Oratory on Sunday morning. The music was led by a full choir composed of representatives from the Methodist and Presbyterian churches of the town. A pleasing feature of the service was the solo, "A Dream of Paradise," by Mrs. J. P. Cann. The sermon was delivered by the Reverend Milton G. Evans, president of the Grozer Theological Seminary of Chester. The speaker derived from the text found in John 7, 37-38, his theme, "The Gift of Influence." Dr. Evans defined a temple as a place where God and man meet, and declared the men whose deeds are permanent and enduring had been in the temple, had been religious men, freely speaking, had been founders of religion. The point was illustrated by references to the enduring fame of Zoroaster, Buddha, Mohammed, although the great statesmen, teachers, soldiers, etc., of their day have long since been forgotten. The speaker also referred to the tremendous influence of Moses, who had been in the temple with God.

Progress is man's distinctive quality. The normal aspiration of every human soul is to crave influence. Into this keen competition for mastery in the realm of the universal and the permanent, Jesus enters, and bids those who crave lasting power stand with him in the holy place. By the earliest Christians who met God in the temple—just simple-minded fishermen—has been written the greatest and most enduring literature in all the world.

"In brief," Dr. Crozer continued "that from the earliest Christians have flowed rivers of living water, let the following facts bear witness: Today twenty-seven Bible societies are printing the New Testament, aggregating a total yearly output of about 12,000,000 copies. More New Testaments are sold yearly than any other hundred books together.

"Last year in organized Bible Classes 50,000 students of America and Canada were studying the writings of the Apostles. More than 500,000 men and women in organized Bible classes in our churches were being instructed by Jesus through his first interpreters. In the Sunday-schools of the world about 30,000,000 men, women and children are, through the New Testament, today repeating the prayer given by the publican Matthew.

"The amazing influence of these relatively humble men was a gift—a gift from Jesus. None others than those in touch with Christ have had it. It is too late in the progress of our own race to divide history into sacred and profane. History is a unit, but the unifying progressive principle is fellowship with Jesus. Men controlling Him are the outstanding figures in great epochs of national life. For permanence and quality of influence compare Paul with any Roman Emperor; Augustine with Constantine; Luther with Charles the Fifth; Wesley with George III; Carey with Clive; Judson with President Jackson; Spurgeon with Gladstone; Moody with Blaine.

"By common consent of these most competent to judge, the most healthily influential citizen of the world today is that hero of every convention of college students, John R. Mott, and none will deny that he is what he is because he heard and believed the words: 'If any one thirst let him come to Me and drink. He that believes on Me,—from within shall flow rivers of living water.'"

Series Of Lectures Ends At Appleton

Tuesday evening, June 2d, was a memorable occasion at Appleton. More than one hundred and twenty-five persons assembled at the hall for the closing meeting of the "Lecture Course and Debating Club." This organization was formed last fall and since that time the advantages of Delaware College have been extended to Appleton and vicinity. Through the courtesy and generosity of President Mitchell and the faculty at Delaware a course of University Extension lectures has been given in the hall at Appleton fortnightly. Alternately, local talent has been utilized. Music, recitations, dialogues, speeches, and debates have been given by people of the community. The lecturers from the college have delightfully entertained and instructed appreciative audiences, who hope for their return during the coming season.

People of the community have responded to the assignments given them. Altogether the meetings have been very helpful to all who have attended.

Officers during the past season were: president, Rev. A. Van Overen; vice-president, J. O. Kollig; secretary, Mrs. Chas. Blackson; treasurer, W. T. Lofland; entertainment committee, Miss Evelyn Kimble, Mrs. J. E. Zebley, Chas. Blackson, Harry Peterson, W. E. Gallaher.

On Tuesday evening, Delaware College was represented by Dr. W. J. Rowan, who gave a very pleasing address. A vote of thanks was extended to the professors from Delaware and to all the officers of the club. Rev. and Mrs. Van Overen received a handsome cake in behalf of the organization. Mrs. W. T. Lofland, the hostess, was remembered with a beautiful token of esteem. At the close of the exercises, refreshments were served to all.

Big Fair To Break World's Record

Mr. Pollard, superintendent of the International Egg Laying Competition at the college farm, states that two hens in the competition bid fair to break the world's egg yield for a year of 303 eggs, now held by a hen in Oregon. The college poultry department has just purchased the pen of imported buff Plymouth Rocks, which is now leading all the Plymouth Rocks in the competition.

President Mitchell Reports To Board Of Trustees

A report of the wonderful advance made by Delaware College, was presented at the Board of Trustees meeting, held on Tuesday, by Dr. S. C. Mitchell, president of the college. The report, in full, follows:

"I have the honor to submit to you a brief statement as to the work of the college during the past session.

1. The outstanding fact has been the unity of the Faculty and the moral responsiveness of the student-body. Not a single man has kicked in the traces. The gratifying results of the year are due to this spirit of co-operation, which has pervaded the entire college. I cannot express too strongly my gratitude to all my colleagues for the heartiness and enthusiasm that they have shown. The underlying principle has been loyalty to the college as a unit and liberty for each person in his particular field.

"II. The cause of education in general as well as Delaware College in particular is under lasting obligation to Governor Charles R. Miller for the initiative, courage and devotion that he showed in advancing the interests of the college in the Legislature. A serious task pivoted upon him. His efforts in our behalf were wise, tactful, and unrelenting. He literally blazed a new path for the college by reason of his successful efforts in the Legislature.

"I am sure that all thoughtful citizens will join with the Board of Trustees in thanking for the generous response of the Legislature not only Governor Miller but also the members of the General Assembly, especially Senator Harvey Hofferker, Honorable William H. Evans, and Honorable John F. Richards.

"III. A new epoch in the life of Delaware College was made by the signal gift of the properties intervening between Delaware College and the Women's College at a cost of something over $200,000, by an anonymous benefactor. By the act of this far-sighted citizen of Delaware the whole perspective of the college has been lighted up anew. The basis has now been laid for the symmetrical development of the institution. The task of the college is well defined. We must never aim at bigness. All of our strength must go into quality. It is possible now to build on this campus an ideal college equal in standards and service to such institutions as Dartmouth, Bowdoin, Williams, and Amherst. This splendid gift of land heartens everyone of us in the accomplishment of our well-defined task.

Heretofore Delaware College has had two sources of income, first, the Federal funds, and, secondly, Legislative appropriation. This gift of land gives assurance of new resources through the benefaction of citizens and friends of education. It is clear that the growth of the colleges must come chiefly through endowment. The work of the Committee on Plans of Development, of which Mr. Henry B. Thompson is chairman, is most encouraging along this line. This Committee as well as Mr. H. Rodney Sharp who has co-operated with it throughout, have won the gratitude and appreciation of the whole college by reason of the persistence and energy that has marked its course.

I am sure that the Board as a unit will take pleasure in giving suitable expression to our benefactor for his noble gift.

"IV. The increasing strength of the Alumni in advancing the interests of the college is shown by many facts during the session and especially by the publication of the Alumni News, of which two numbers have already appeared. It is hoped that this periodical has its permanent place in the life of the college. We are indebted to Mr. A. F. Egmont Horn, the Secretary of the Alumni Association, for starting this enterprise.

The Annual Banquet of the Alumni Association last February in Wilmington was largely attended and enthusiastic in the moral support that it gave the college.

The alumni in the vicinity of Pittsburgh have constituted a Chapter, held business-like sessions, and arranged for a weekly luncheon in Pittsburgh for such alumni as can attend.

"V. Field Day on May 15 was one of the most significant in the college calendar. Hundreds of the young men from the various high schools in this region were present and took part in the athletic events. Frazer Field presented really a brilliant appearance that day, and everyone felt that Physical Director W. J. McAvoy and the Athletic Council not only crowned the day with success, but gave a new impulse to education throughout the entire state. Every high school represented was strengthened by a quickened interest upon the part of its pupils and community, for representative citizens came from all parts of the State to witness the achievements of their own sons.

"VI. The Extension work of the college has been varied and significant. One hundred twenty-four lectures have been given under the direction of the Extension committee, of which Dr. E. V. Vaughn is the efficient chairman. His report, which is hereby submitted to you, is full of interest.

"The Committee on Publicity, of which Assistant Professor George E. Dutton is chairman, has kept the press of the State well informed as to the chief events in the life of the college. This Committee has been alert and sane in molding the public opinion of the State in favor of education and particularly of Delaware College.

"VII. In the death of Dr. Geo. W. Marshall, Delaware College has suffered the loss of a friend and faithful worker for the past forty-five years. The great concourse of representative men and women that gathered at his funeral was a fine tribute to the deep affection which his services to many causes had won for him. He loved the college devotedly and it was a source of regret to us all that he was not permitted to live to witness the larger developments which are springing naturally out of the labors of the men who in faith and zeal sustained the college at earlier periods of its struggle and growth.

"VIII. The addresses in connection with the dedication of the Women's college have been put into beautiful form through the generosity of Mr. Everett C. Johnson and makes a permanent contribution to the history of Delaware.

Respectfully submitted,
Samuel Chiles Mitchell,
President.

SEEDS AND DOLLARS

Seed that is not planted does not grow. Dollars that are not banked do not increase. No farmer is so foolish as to think that a paper bag of watermelon seeds, hanging from the rafters, will ever grow until he planted it. Yet are you not expecting those dollars in that bureau drawer will grow without banking them? Dead seeds and dead dollars bring no returns.

Among The Redmen

Minnehaha Tribe No. 23, Imp. O. R. M., of this reservation, was visited on last Tuesday's sleep (June 8th) by Lenape's degree team of Wilmington, for the purpose of conferring the Warrior's and Chief's degrees on the newly adopted brothers in Minnehaha tribe. The work was handled splendidly by Lenape's well trained team, and was enjoyed greatly by all the brothers who witnessed it, especially those who have never had the opportunity of witnessing this beautiful work before. We noted quite a number of strangers among us on this occasion, and we are glad to see so many of our own brothers taking a great interest in the work of Redmanship. After the degrees had been given to our newly adopted brothers, the visiting brothers, followed by Minnehaha members, trailed to the Banquet Room of the Opera House, where our Committee with the assistance of some of our brothers' wives and other ladies, had planned corn and venison for all, which was enjoyed by all in attendance. Among those present from Wilmington were: Ralph Martin, Harry Stiles, Carl Barber, Edward Needs, Harry Redwick, Thos. Schwab, Wm. Thompson, Wm. Wilson, Willard Jacobs, Willard Barber, Leonard Cloud, Walter Feaster, Thos. E. Cole, Walter Babcock, Nathan Newlin, Jas. Weaver, Jas. McGeiche, Norman Turner, Wm. Kees and David Gray. Chief.

Parkside who until after the game was leading the league proved the easiest kind of a proposition for Newark here on Saturday. Many of the fans would probably have rather won this game than the pennant and they left satisfied. This feeling against Parkside was because of the Wilmington club being awarded the fifteen inning game on a technical point.

The victory was really easier than the score shows and would seem to indicate that Parkside's present position in the league race is a false one. In the field the visitors were fast but at the bat they looked like the weakest proposition that has been to Newark this season and can hardly expect to continue a good fight with such weak hitters. Hogan time after time made them look foolish. It was not only the fact that Hogan had an exceptionally good day and they could not connect with his delivery but it was the manner in which they batted. They went after the ball like rank amateurs and showed their weakness with the stick in more ways than one.

The popular side wheeler came close to a no hit game and it was only the fact of Austin's short fly dropping safe between Jackson and Kirk that stopped him. He had speed and good control and the visitors furnished much amusement by the way they were going after his fast low ones. Only thirty men faced him. He fanned 12 and walked 1.

While Hogan was mowing down Parkside "Pete" Coffin, who has been touted as the best in the league was getting his bumps for fair. Coffin managed to get away with the first inning but the second he will remember for sometime. Beatty led off with a smash between first and second. Booth made a sensational stop of the ball but could not recover in time to get the runner. Kirk sacrificed him to second and Morris fied out to left. With two down the bombardment started. Hogan singled, putting Beatty on third. Marsey walked filling the bases. Schmickel singled scoring Beatty and Jackson's safe tap scored Hogan and Marsey. When Rankin was hit with a pitched ball the bases were again filled and Scott Gregg cleaned up with a line drive to left center. On hard ground this hit would easily have been good for a home run but as it was the fast first sacker stopped it second. Beatty batting for the second time in this inning was thrown out at first.

After this Newark threw away chances to score but did get across two more runs. In the fourth Rankin's single and Kirk's double counted one and hits by Jackson, Rankin and Beatty brought another across in the sixth.

It was not until the fifth inning that Parkside got a man to first. Booth reached there on Schmickel's error but was doubled up a minute later when Rankin made a great running catch of Dunn's drive. In the seventh Rainey walked and stole second and Austin got a Texas leaguer but were both left.

The fielding of Rankin was one of the features of the game. The visitors infield also put up a fast game and especially Taylor at third. In the first inning Maguire in left robbed Gregg of what looked like a two base hit. The score follows:

THE ANGLO-AMERICAN CENTURY OF PEACE

treaty of peace, at Ghent on Dec. 24, 1814.

"It was not, indeed, for independence that American patriots strove, it was for self-government. Independence may be only the noisy clamor of the lawbreaker and the libertine; self-government, any free people of the Anglo Saxon race must have or be slaves. National autonomy for men of the British blood, is of the very essence of national freedom; self-government was the end, the Declaration of Independence came to be the means. Had any other way been known to history by which the colony could come to national self-government, except the way of national separation, the Ameri-

Knocks and Boosts

The victory over Parkside was a pleasure to the local fans. It was a great day for pitchers. Both Hogan and Alexander came close to getting in the hall of fame with a no-hit game.

Rankin was the star both in the field and at the bat. Taylor of Parkside looked like the best third baseman in the league but is a poor sticker if the exhibition here was an example of his hitting.

"Pete" Coffin has gotten away with some easy games this year but it is doubtful if he will be so lucky in the future.

New Castle looks to be going better. They know how and it is predicted that the end of July will find the shadmen in the second division.

Traction Company seems to be the hard luck team. They are in last place and Parkside tied for first and at that the former looks 50 per cent the better team.

Herring made himself an idol with the Elk Mills fans by winning Saturday's game with a home run in the thirteenth inning.

Scott Gregg hit the ball wicked in the game Saturday and his walk in the second inning would have been good for two circuits on the college grounds.

The many friends of Elmer K. Hoch, for four years star first-baseman on the college team were sorry to hear of his accident in Canada several days ago which may keep him out of the national game for all time.

Donohue who was so fresh with his spikes in the fifteen inning game looked frightened when he accidentally reached first in batting for Coffin in the ninth and he had need to be.

Fine Factory Building

The J. A. Bader Company will shortly erect for a syndicate headed by Louis Topkis a modern four-story clothing factory with basement on the vacant lot on French street below Third in Wilmington, now used as a playground. A steam shovel is now at work on the lot. The building will front 70 feet on French street with a depth of 100 feet. The walls will be of steel frames, enclosing glass, supported by concrete pillars, the four stories of uniform construction which will be fire-proof as far as possible.

New Plant At Stanton

The Whiteman Clay Products Company of Philadelphia, has under construction at Stanton a factory building 120 by 50 feet, of one story, to be finished about the middle of July, for the making of tiles of various styles from clay obtained near Christiansa to be hauled in autotrucks. Kilns will be constructed and the company may make other products as it is said to have purchased a large clay bed near Stanton.

City Car Lines Merge

The Wilmington & Philadelphia Traction Company and the People's Railway Company were merged last Tuesday, all the property of the latter including Brandywine Springs Park passing under control of the former. Owners of the latter company acquire a substantial interest in the former but will retire from active management. Both lines will be joined and operated as one system with more or less rerouting of cars. The public will obtain universal transfers. It is said the People's Company netted $1,000,000 from the merger.

As Easter marks the commencement of Spring, it makes an excellent time to consider the laws of hygiene in connection with the best kind of a bathroom and bathing facilities for your home. "Now that there is another way, civilization stands aghast at the collapse of European ideals. All the highest achievements of the nations, all the things that make for progress, freedom and justice, the work of a thousand years and the hopes of a thousand more,—all have been crowded back into the horrors of war. No matter what war is,—at its best it is barbarism, and a crime against humanity.

"There has constantly been a turmoil in Europe about boundary lines, and each country has had forts along her boundaries. Europe has always been an "Armed Camp." Her countries have said, "In Peace prepare for War"; here in America, our two nations for one hundred years have been saying, "In Peace prepare for more Peace." In Europe they have come (as they were bound to come) to the thing they prepared for,—War. In America we have, as we deserve to have, what we prepared for,—a Hundred Years of Peace."

SPLENDID REPORT FROM WOMEN'S COLLEGE

Whittier House Proposed For Additional Dormitory

The following report was submitted by Dean Robinson at the meeting of the Board of Trustees on Tuesday:

Gentlemen:—When we recall that in May 1914 the Women's College of Delaware had not a single student, had not a dollar's worth of equipment, existed in fact only in the minds of the Women's College Commission, it seems hardly possible that in May 1915 the Women's College should be closing its first year with an entire enrollment of 60 students. Two of these were advised to withdraw from the college at the close of the first semester on account of insufficient preparation, one left because of ill health and one will leave at the close of the year to be married. The others expect to return in September. Several who have registered for a two years course have changed to a four year course. The college has been fortunate in the character of its first class. The members have responded to all suggestions as to methods of study, social conduct and community life in a way that has been most gratifying.

The books in the Browning Room have been a splendid resource for the development of taste. The students have shown their appreciation of them by the way in which they have read them. To have now a box of books on art, now a box of biography, now fiction, from time to time this year has been very delightful and very profitable.

In the choice of subjects which they may elect in addition to their required work it is very interesting to note the tendency to take Greek and Latin.

The health of the students has been excellent. Dr. Kollock administered typhoid serum to nearly every student, permission from the parents having been secured in each case. The infirmary has been used but once, that being when two members of the faculty and one student were injured in an automobile accident. The advantage of having a place where these young women could be cared for quickly without disturbing the rest of the household was sufficient to make it worth while to retain these rooms for such occasional use.

The students' Self Government Association was formed in October under the direction of Miss Moss-crop and Miss Brady who have continued to meet with the council of this organization throughout the year. This association has included all students of the college and has controlled all matters of decorum in the halls, limitation of time for use of lights, church attendance, etc. The discipline has been marked by the severity of youth in some cases but the training as to responsibility, as to appreciating one's duty to the community, and in trying to make the purpose of discipline the improvement of the individual who receives it, rather than the exaction of a penalty has been invaluable.

No student may hold office or committee membership amounting to more than ten points. Of course the number of points assigned to an office must change from time to time as the work increases or diminishes but the principal of division of labor and honor maintains.

The students have been asked to attend Sunday morning service in the several churches to which they belong or adhere. In the evening a service conducted by Dr. Mitchell or some other member of the faculty was held during the first semester. Since the organization of the Young Women's Christian Association in February the evening services have been in charge of its members. The value of these young women of this opportunity to conduct this service is very great. The association was organized by the secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association for the district of Delaware, Pennsylvania and Maryland, after an initial visit of two Swarthmore students who explained the purpose and methods of their Christian association, the advantages of affiliation with the national organization, and afforded by their charming personality such fine examples of what it means to be a college girl that their visit was delightful and profitable. The expenses of the visit of these two students was a gift from Dean Meteer of Swarthmore College, whose father was an alumnus of Delaware College. The students have each earned a dollar for the expenses of sending a delegate to the Summer Conference at Eaglesmere. Three students will be able to go by paying a part of her own expenses. The principle of systematic giving in proportion to one's allowance or income has been adopted. A number of students are anxious to undertake something in the way of social service and response to this demand came in the suggestion of Professor Rich, that they aid in conducting organized play for the children in the primary grades of the public school of Newark. Under Miss Rich's efficient leadership they have done very satisfactory work for an hour, three mornings each week during April and May and have received training which will make them able to conduct playground work in their own home towns during the summer.

The three scholarships of $100 each which have been given by the Delaware Association of Collegiate Women, the Delaware State Federation of Clubs and the Wilmington High School Alumnae Association, will be given to entering freshmen who take a competitive examination on the 11th and 12th of June at the college for the awarding of the first two of the examinations given at Wilmington High School and open to the girls of the senior class.

President Mitchell and nine members of the faculty of Delaware College have given instructions at the Women's College in addition to the four women who have given their entire time to the work of the Women's College. The most cordial spirit of co-operation has been shown by all members of the Women's College faculty. The women on the faculty have been most generous in contributing to the home life of the students in the dormitory and have been largely responsible for the excellent spirit which has prevailed among the students. An atmosphere of culture has been created by these women which will have great value in the future life of the college.

The Extension work of the Women's College has been conducted under the supervision of Professor Caudell by Miss Frances Forman, of Elsmere, and assistants sent from the Home Economics Department of the college by use of funds provided under the Smith Lever act which must be spent before July 1, to be available. Misses Helen Brown of Wilmington, Lura Shorb of Dover, Myrtle Steel of Newark were the students chosen to aid one week each in this work. Miss Lyford of the Department of Education at Washington, has given much aid in outlining the course and attending some of the sessions of the courses. The plan has been to conduct two schools in adjacent neighborhoods, on alternate afternoons (Viola, Monday Wednesday and Friday; Rising Sun, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday) for five weeks. On equipment consisting of literature on home economics, stove and cooking utensils was provided for each school. Instruction was given on methods in cooking, home nursing and poultry raising. These closed with suitable exercises including short speeches by members of the community and members of the class, an address by Dean Hayward of the Department of Agriculture and the presentation of certificates to those who had completed the course.

A similar plan will doubtless be followed next year, in the organization of extension schools in different communities throughout the State, as several requests for them have been received. Nothing more important or more in accord with the trend in education throughout the country than this work has been undertaken by the college.

A number of students have already enrolled for entrance to the college next year. It will be necessary to provide for housing more students than the dormitory can accommodate. The most feasible plan would seem to be to use the house formerly occupied by Professor Whittier recently acquired by the college for this purpose. The rent of this house is estimated at $30 per month. The following is an estimate of the cost of furnishing and maintaining this house for a year:

Income—12 students at $250 per year, $3,000; one teacher at $300 per year; total income, $3,300.

Expenses—Food for 13 persons for 40 weeks at $2.25 per week, $1,170; repairs (bath room, etc.) $300; furniture, 12 students, $360; furniture, one teacher, $50; furniture living room, $150; fuel, $60; light, $70; service (40 weeks at $5 per week, food at $2.25 per week) $290; total expenses, $2,450.

An additional sum of $100 will doubtless be necessary as an inducement to some member of the faculty (a woman) to take the responsibility of living with these students.

The following needs must be brought to the attention of the committee:

Ventilating fan for chemistry laboratory, estimated $550; lockers for 20 day students, estimated $85; lockers for home economics department, $25; tinting walls and wood work of Assembly Room, $140; tinting walls of students rooms, $120; gas fitting in kitchenette, $5; plumbing $20.

The following gifts have been received by the college:

Room furniture, Newark, Middletown, and New Castle New Century Clubs, $35 each; Laurel, Georgetown, Acorn Club, Seaford, W. C. T. U., New Castle, Kent and Sussex counties; Delaware Equal Suffrage Association and Mrs. E. Tatnall Warner, furniture, $50 each.

Browsing Room, furniture and books, Misses Smyth and Mather; Infirmary, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Bancroft; Study, Governor and Mrs. Charles R. Miller; piano, friends of the college; folding chairs, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Lea; reception room, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Warner; furniture for library Agricultural Farm; picture, Mrs. S. C. Respectfully submitted
Dean Winifred J. Robinson.

Freshmen Win Inter-Class Track And Field Meet

That there are some good young athletes in Delaware College was demonstrated yesterday afternoon when the Freshman class won the annual inter-class field and track meet. The first year boys scored 50 points. The Sophomores were second with 38 points, the Seniors third with 13 and the Juniors fourth with 12 points. Crockett, a freshman, also scored the largest number of individual points, 18, while Marshall, a Sophomore, was second with 13.

It was a great day for Marshall as he broke two records and will receive a gold medal for each. He broke the high jump and 220 yard Delaware College records. It was a peculiar coincidence that the three point winners in the high jump each lowered the record. The previous record was held by Manning. The events follow:

100 yard dash—won by Crockett, '18; second, Marshall, '17; third, Doherty, '16; time 10 1-5 sec.
880 yard dash—won by Taylor '18; second, Crothers '16; time, 2:14 1-5.

Shot put (16 lbs.)—won by Bratton '18; second, Samonisky '16; distance, 32 feet 1 inch.

220 yard hurdles—won by Crockett '18; second, Steele '17; third, W. Manning '15; time, 28 2-5 sec.

220 yard dash—won by Marshall '17; second, Crockett '18; third, Bramhall '16; time, 23 1-5 sec.

One mile run—won by Taylor '18; second, Beauchamp '17; time 5:22 4-5.

High jump—won by Marshall '17; second, W. Manning '15; third, Bratton '18; Height, 5 ft. 6 in.

440 yard dash—won by Steele '17; second, Edgar '16; third, J. Alexander '18; time 56 2-5 sec.

Broad jump—Won by H. Alexander '18; second, Gibney '15; third, Steele '17; distance, 19 ft. 4 in.

120 yard hurdles—won by Crockett '18; second, Steele '17; third, Manning '15; time 19 1-5 sec.

Pole vault—won by Gibney '15; second, Hutton '18; third, Doherty '16; height, 9 ft. 4 in.

One mile relay, only two teams competing—won by '17, Heinel, Marshall, eBauchamp and Steele; second, '18, J. Alexander, Davis, H. Alexander and Holland; time, 4 min. 1 4-5 sec.

Following the meet gold medals were presented to Crockett, Manning, Crothers and Smith, for breaking local college records this year. The "D's" for both baseball and track were also awarded.

Prof. Hayward To Go West

Professor Hayward has accepted an invitation to address the American Genetic Association in San Francisco on August 6. He will attend the annual convention of the American Association of Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations, at Berkeley, Cal., August 11, 12 and 13. The other college delegates to this convention will probably be Dr. Samuel C. Mitchell, president of the college, and dean Winifred J. Robinson, of the Women's College.
