"I'll note you in my book of memory."

Track Team Will Meet Drexel Institute on Frazer Field Sat.

"If I lose a scruple of this sport, let me be boiled to death with melancholy."—T. Night.

Next Saturday afternoon, the Blue and Gold track team will act as hosts to the runners from the Drexel Institute, of Philadelphia. According to the reports of the strength of the Drexel team, the meet should be annexed to Delaware's list of victories.

Delaware will no doubt make a clean sweep in the field events. Baxter, who made a leap of 5 ft. 8 in. in the Middle Atlantic States Meet last week, should have no trouble in capturing the high jump, and placing in the hurdles. McKelvie will no doubt heave the javelin for a first place and gather a few points in the weight events.

It is said that "Kid" France will lower the tall timber record, and he should leave the Drexel hurdlers at least ten yards behind. Drexel will place all their hopes in Shumen who is entered in the 100-yd., 220-yd., and the 440-yd. Captain Pitman should have no trouble in beating Shumen in all these events. As one member of the track squad offered: "Pitman can run with his hands down at his sides Saturday."

Wallace Cook Is Named A Second Lieutenant of the National Guard

"An office of great worth. And you an officer fit for the place."
—T. G. of V.

Wallace H. Cook, '23, has been appointed second lieutenant in the National Guard of Delaware. Cook enlisted in the Delaware National Guard a little over two years ago, and from that time on he has been gradually climbing up from the rank of a private. He has a splendid record in the R. O. T. C. here at Delaware, and last year he won the Junior Class Military Prize, which is the highest military honor that Delaware confers on her students.

I. N. A. MEETS AT HAVERFORD COLLEGE

Forty Delegates Attend

"What news, then, in your paper?"
—T. G. of Ver.

The ninth semi-annual conference of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States was held at Haverford College, Haverford, Pennsylvania, May 18 and 19. Fifteen college newspapers were represented by a total of over forty delegates.

The conference opened on Friday evening with a banquet which was held in the old Y. M. C. A. room of the College. Mr. Granville E. Toogood, a graduate of Haverford in 1922, presided as toastmaster. The delegates were welcomed to the conference by Mr. Wilmot R. Jones, president of the I. N. A. Dr. W. W. Comfort, president of Haverford College, made an address of welcome on behalf of the College.

Tennis Team Has Two More Matches; To Meet Swarthmore and Drexel

"When we have match'd our rackets to these balls."—Hen V.

Delaware's Tennis Team has only two more matches on this year's schedule, one with Swarthmore, and one with Drexel Institute at Newark on May 30th.

The prospects for winning the match with Swarthmore are particularly dark, for this year Swarthmore has, as one of the boys put it, "one of the hottest college teams in the East." They have defeated so far, everything that they have been up against and among the vanquished are George Washington University and other schools that have defeated us. But last year the Delaware boys put up an exceptionally good game against this team and although they were defeated, they made Swarthmore fight for every point that it made.

Drexel on the other hand does not have such a strong team and our team should surely win this last tournament. If they do, it will be the first and only victory of the season.

Footlights Club To Banquet at the Deer Park Hotel Thursday

"Will you go with us? We have sport in hand."—M. W.

Tomorrow evening the Footlights Club closes its brilliant season with a banquet at the Deer Park hotel. The new president, "Cliff" Smith, and his cohorts will "strut their stuff" as of old. To enliven the dramatic event, each member, both old and new, will entertain the assemblée with a ten-minute oration, which, no doubt, will outshine the famed oriloquys of our college acquaintance, "Bill" Shakspeare. The complete cast and the play will appear in a later issue.

War Board Officers To Inspect R. O. T. C. Unit Here Thursday

Review And Inspection On Frazer
Field In Morning; Sham Battle
At Country Club In Afternoon

Fiftieth Anniversary

"And put we on Industrious soldier-ship."—Macbeth.

Tomorrow introduces a red letter day in the history of the Reserved Officers Training Corps at Delaware. The War Department Board of Inspecting Officers will arrive in Newark to inspect the University R. O. T. C. unit. Major Henry P. Perrine, Jr., instructor of the 113th Infantry, New Jersey National Guard, will be in charge of the inspecting officers.

Frazer Field will be a scene of great activity from 8.30 a. m. until 12 noon. The review, inspection, physical drills, close order drills, and such drills and demonstrations as: guard duty, tent pitching, scouting, rifle marksmanship, machine gun, 27 m. m. gun, trench mortar, first aid, bayonet, automatic rifle, signaling, musketry, I. D. R., sketching, grenades, etc., will be held at this time.

At three in the afternoon the unit will transform the tranquil rolling greens of the Newark Country Club Golf Course into a rumbling, bustling area of sham.

JOHNS HOPKINS WINS MIDDLE STATES MEET

Baxter Again Breaks Record

"Let it be booked with the rest of this day's deeds."—2 Hen. IV.

Delaware made twelfth place in the eleventh annual field and track meet of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Association held at Allentown last Friday and Saturday. Pitman, '23, and Baxter, '26, were the only Delaware men who placed in the meet. Pitman succeeded in taking third place in the second heat of the 100 yard dash and Baxter tied with four others for second, third, fourth, and fifth in the high jump. He bettered his own high jump record by jumping the bamboo rod at 5 ft. 8 in. He jumped 5 ft. 7 1/4 in. at the Haverford Meet.

Johns Hopkins won the meet easily with 40 points, Lafayette came second with 25 points and New York University made third with 25 points. The other colleges placed in the following order: Rutgers, 16; Washington and Jefferson, 15; Dickinson, 10; Haverford, 8; Bucknell, 6; Lehigh, 6; Juniata, 5; Swarthmore, 4; Delaware, 1.5; Franklin and Marshall, 1.

The meet was of great importance to the colleges in this section of the country and all of the material was the best that could be obtained. In spite of

DELAWARE PRESS HAS PUBLISHED FIRST BOOK

Written In 1800 By P. S. duPont

"I had rather than forty shillings I had my Book of Songs and Sonnets here."—Mer. Wives.

The first book to be published under the official organization of the new University of Delaware Press left the hands of the printers on Monday. Its title is "National Education in the United States of America." It was written in 1800 by Pierre Samuel du Pont.

The book is an exceptionally valuable one, both from a historical and a technical standpoint.

There is a very interesting story connected with this book which makes it an ideal one to start the University press on its maiden voyage. It was written in 1800 by du Pont at the request of Thomas Jefferson.

Freshman Handbook For Next Year To Make An Universal Appeal

"How green you are and fresh in this old world."—K. John.

The Freshman handbook for the coming year will be compiled by John H. Schaefer, President of the Student Council, and Paul Leahy, '26, the Sophomore representative of the Student Council. The distribution and selling of the handbook will be in charge of Paul Rinard, '25. Although the new handbook will be quite similar to the old one, some improvements will be made in it. Besides the Student Council Constitution, Rat Rules, the college songs and yells, and general information, special advice will be given to the incoming Freshmen to help and to guide him. The hope is expressed that the new handbook will be so instructive and generally valuable to the college man that not only the Freshmen for whom, primarily, it is compiled, but also the Sophomores and upper classmen will avail themselves of the opportunity to buy it, and to treasure it as an authentic source of information about the institution in general.

Student Council Meets To Elect Members To Three Unfilled Offices

"Draw near, And list what with our council we have done."—Richard II.

The first meeting of the Student Council under the new regime was held Friday evening, May 18.

Election of officers subordinate to the president took place at this meeting. I. S. Elliott was elected vice-president; J. G. Leach, secretary, and P. R. Rinard treasurer. The president outlined his plans for the remainder of this year and appointed several committees which are to act in connection with student activities next term.

The Sons of Delaware of Philadelphia held their annual meeting and banquet in the Commons in Old College on Saturday evening, May 19. More than 100 came down from Philadelphia on a special train to attend the banquet. They arrived in Newark about 1.00 p. m. In the afternoon most of them attended the field meet at the Women's College, and saw the baseball game on Frazer Field.

Omega Alpha Holds Last Dance Under Present Existing Order

"Revels, dances, masks, and merry hours."—L. L. Lost.

With mingled sentiments of treasured memories of the past and of greater things held in store for the future, the Omega Alphans enjoyed their last dance under the present existing order, in the Century Club, Saturday night. The music for the occasion was very appropriately furnished by the Theta Chi Five from the Penn chapter in Philadelphia. Their playing was pronounced excellent by everyone present. The floor of the Century Club was crowded to capacity by the members of the active chapter, the many alumni who flocked back to help celebrate the passing of Omega Alpha to the land of memories, and several members of the Alpha Chapter of Theta Chi who were the guests of their prospective fraternity brothers. The dancing lasted until 11.30, when refreshments were served to the accompaniment of short talks by Earl Brandt and Clifford Smith.

Rehabilitation Students Have Profitable Crops Now Well Under Way

"I saw good strawberries in your garden."—Richard III.

The students of the Rehabilitation Division have over fifty acres of land under cultivation and they expect to realize not only a great amount of practical agricultural knowledge from their projects, but also several thousands of dollars.

Under the instruction of H. R. Ham the men have accomplished a great deal of work during the first year of this experimental project; and if the present indications are the least bit reliable the success of the experiment is more than assured.

TENNIS

"Heaven prosper our sport!"—M. W.

The growing interest of the Nation in tennis becomes more and more prominent each day. Considerable space is being given to the sport in many of the leading newspapers of the country. William T. Tilden, 2nd, in his new book on tennis, struck a true note when he brought out the fact that, "the major sports" of the schools and universities of the country are not, "the major sports" of life. "Can we imagine a group of busy merchants running out to the club for a bit of football in the afternoon?" he asks. "Will they organize their baseball teams? Can you imagine asking your best friend to 'Come out and run a mile with me this afternoon?' Yet these are the forms of athletics that our schools teach the boys."

Why is not tennis given a position of more prominence at Delaware? We have witnessed the defeat of our "racket wielders" this season and are now beginning to look for better facilities for the candidates next year. Student recognition of the importance of the sport and cooperation to procure better courts are urgently needed in order to give encouragement to the players. Better facilities would call forth more players. More players would aid towards a better team. We should be fair to the reputation of our own team and give it the backing necessary for its development.

EMBLEMS OF MERIT

"Each man to what sport his addiction leads him."—Hamlet.

Walter Camp had a pertinent article in last Sunday's Wilmington Star. It concerned the recent action of the University of Pennsylvania in putting forth a new set of rules governing the awarding of athletic insignia. These new regulations limit the varsity letter to the major sports. They contain many other instructions, such as the one which makes it necessary for those winning their letter in football to play in the last two games of the season, and the one which conterminates the privilege of the football committee to recommend who shall receive letters.

The idea which inspired this action was that the varsity letter does not receive the respect that is its due; too many letters are awarded to men who do not really deserve them, men who get their letters on the basis of popularity, favor, committee's prejudices, captains' favoritisms, coaches' "hard luck boys", and "wonderful work" in a minor sport.

The athletic insignia of a college or of a university should stand as a symbol of hard work, merit, and ability. It should signify something distinctly worth while. The more difficult it is to win, the more its worth is increased.

The Athletic Council of the University of Delaware would be taking a step towards the ideal if they had the conviction and courage to follow the example of the University of Pennsylvania. Athletics here at Delaware can stand a bit of boosting toward the ideal. For, altho in comparison with a great many institutions we are very near to the perfect, yet in comparison to Delaware Ideals we are on the other end of the balance.

A little courageous purification would not injure the strength of our teams, perhaps the contrary, and it would surely increase not only our self-respect, but the respect of others for us.

TOWN PRIDE

"So high a hope even Ambition cannot pierce a wink beyond."—Tempest.

In a recent letter to the Newark Post, Edward N. Vallandigham, well known to all Delaware men, urged the residents of Newark to own their homes. He pointed out that more than one half of Newark families do not own the houses in which they live. If the people of Newark owned their dwellings it would go far to promote industry, economy, order, and good will. It would tend to make an already pretty town beautiful. For Newark has the natural prerequisites for an ideal town.

He stated that an ideal community did not rise up over night from such devices as mere spasmodic boostings, in the form of "clean-up weeks," temporary drives or campaigns.

"Things really worth while are not thus brought about; they must come of steady and undiscouraged effort spread over years, years of determined hopefulness, of indomitable civic and personal idealism."

Perhaps it would be only fair for us to realize that we are residents of Newark for four years, and that we should take an active interest in the civic welfare of this community. Altho few of us will think seriously of buying a home here, all of us should think seriously before we commit any action which would injure the town in any way.

ter, thus being the thirty-seventh link in the Theta Chi fraternal chain across the continent.

The Theta Chi Fraternity was founded at Norwich University in 1856 and is one of the oldest in the country. Its chapters roll includes the following colleges and universities: Norwich University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Maine, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, New Hampshire State College, Rhode Island State College, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Colgate University, University of Pennsylvania, Cornell University, University of California, Hampden-Sidney College, University of Virginia, University of Richmond, Dickinson College, University of Illinois, Oregon Agricultural College, University of Florida, New York University, North Dakota Agricultural College, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, University of Wisconsin, Pennsylvania State College, University of Pittsburgh, University of Michigan, Purdue University, Leland-Stanford Jr. University, University of Rochester, University of North Carolina, Dartmouth College, Indiana University, West Virginia University, Ohio State University, Iowa State College, and Georgia Institute of Technology.

The Omega Alpha Fraternity was organized twelve years ago, in the spring of 1911. Since that time many prominent men on the campus have been members of the fraternity and are now filling important positions in life. To the alumni and active members the news of the favorable action by the Theta Chi Fraternity means the culmination of their original aim.

June 8th and 9th, installation days, comprise a very convenient and favorable time for the changing of the old order to the new. Examinations will be over on the former date and on the latter the campus will be overrun by returning alumni. For these two reasons the Omega Alpha Fraternity is looking forward to a gala celebration and

The establishing of a chapter of the Theta Chi Fraternity at Delaware increases the number of national fraternities on the campus to four. The Kappa Alpha (Southern) Fraternity was established here in 1904, the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity in 1907, and the Sigma Nu Fraternity in 1910.

Faculty Entertains Seniors

"If you look for a good speech now, you undo me."—2 Hen. IV.

The members of the Faculty Club entertained the members of the graduating class in the Faculty Club Rooms, Monday night, May 21.

The party began at 8 o'clock and proved to be a well spent evening for both the guests and their hosts. The men played pool, cards and joined in singing the college songs and popular numbers. Refreshments were served at 10.45 and the festivities were brought to a close at 11 o'clock.

Bobby, aged seven, was making his first visit to the zoo. He looked around at the various animals, and coming to a cage marked "Female," he rushed up to his mother in great excitement.

"Oh, mother," he said, "I've always wanted to see a 'Female' and here he is!"—Cartoons.

Business Building

THE selling of commodities is fundamental in every business, and selling life insurance affords the maximum of satisfaction and remuneration. For the life insurance salesman is a business builder and finds innumerable ways to serve the community and make himself indispensable in the conduct of modern affairs.

The life insurance salesman is not only a business builder but he is in business for himself, creating a competence permanent and continuous. It is the best paid work for those who are ambitious and willing to work, and who have the character and stamina necessary to stamp their individuality upon the business and on their community.

The traditions and practices of the JOHN HANCOCK are such that the college graduate can take a peculiar pride in representing this company. You are liable to remain in the business you enter on leaving college. Before making a definite decision inquire into life insurance as a career. Write, "Agency Department."

THE TERCENTENARY OF THE SHAKESPEARE FIRST FOLIO, 1623-1923

"He was not of an age, but for all time."—Ben Jonson.

"Here comes my servant Travers, whom I sent on Tuesday to listen after news."—2 Hen. IV.

This year of 1923 sees a universal honouring of one great book, the First Folio of 1623, and of one great name, William Shakespeare.

All the world has united in celebrating the tercentenary of what Halliwell-Phillips terms, the most interesting and valuable book in the whole range of English literature. And on no more happy occasion could have been published the Funk and Wagnalls "The Works of William Shakespeare, in reduced facsimil from the famous First Folio edition of 1623. With an introduction by J. O. Halliwell-Phillips.

This edition should be of the utmost value to every reader and to the student, for it gives easy access to a volume which formerly has been the exclusive property of museums and wealthy collectors.

The title page of the first edition is reproduced, with that quaintly wooden Droeshout portrait:

COMEDIES, HISTORIES, &
Tragedies.

Published according to the True Originall Copies.
LONDON

Printed by Ifaas Jaggard, and Ed. Blount. 1623.

In these fascinating pages is found the "sole authority for the texts" of, among others, Antony and Cleopatra, Macbeth, The Tempest, The Winter's Tale, and Julius Caesar. Not a whit less interesting is the "To the Reader" of Ben Jonson's, or Heminge and Condell's dedication to "The Most Noble and Incomparable Paire of Brethren. William Earle of Pembroke, and Philip Earle of Montgomery." "To the great Variety of Readers", of Heminge and Condell, those two immortals, holds as much of allure for the lovers of Shakespeare as do Huge Holland's "Upon the Lines and Life of the Famous Scenicke Poet, Mafter William Shakespeare", or "To the Memorie of the deceased Authour Maifter W. Shakespeare" or Ben Jonson's "To the memory of my beloved, the AVTHOR Mr. William Shakespeare: AND what he hath left vs," or the "Names of the Principall Actors in all thefe plays," which begins with the name of Shakespeare himself, followed by Burbage, Hemmings, and William Kempt.

Other names there are, in that list, which to us are now but empty sounds, pleasant to mouth and wonder over. Was the first Hamlet as great a Prince as that of Forbes-Robertson's or John Barrymore's? Was the first Cordelia as golden-voiced and gentle-sweet as that of Ellen Terry's? Was the first Lear so magnificent a fond old man as that of Mantell's? Could the first boyish Lady Macbeth ever have had the majestic tragedy of Julia Arthur's; or Katherine the delight of Julia Marlowe's lovely voice and liveliness? But we do know that Irving's tremendous Shylock was not the Jew that Shakespeare drew, and yet . . .

Such speculating as this is best abandoned. Suffice it for us of to-day to know that, as Shakespeare himself said of his glorious Cleopatra; "Age cannot wither . . . nor custom stale (His) infinite variety."

Freshmen Lose to Beacom's

"I have heard better news."—
2 Hen. IV.

The Freshman baseball team was defeated by Beacom's nine last Saturday, by the score of 5 to 3. The representatives of the business college outlived the "Freshies" by seven safeties, the first year men having six hits to their credit and Beacom having thirteen.

Sakal's pitching for Beacom was the feature of the game.

I. N. A. MEETING AT HAVERFORD COLLEGE

lege. Dr. Comfort expressed his greeting in true Quaker fashion by wishing the members "a generous outpouring of the spirit." He emphasized the value of incorporating truth in newspaper articles. "The truth is necessary to alumni readers. Give it in spite of the fact that it is not so exciting." Dr. Comfort read a list of Haverford graduates who are now in the front ranks in the journalistic field in order to show that the college newspaper is important in moulding future newspaper men.

Mr. Carl W. Ackerman, formerly Vice-President of the Institute of American Business, gave an address on "The Influence of Editorial Blocs." Mr. Ackerman was in Europe as a correspondent during the war and has travelled very extensively. His experiences have given him a wealth of knowledge and put him in a position to be a fair critic of the American newspaper. His impressions of our daily press is that we are going through a period of sensationalism in news. "Scandal, fire, murder and assault seem to make up the bulk of 'headlines'." He explained that the lack of truth in news articles was probably due to the fact that, "the prize in journalism today comes in the quick summing up of the news." Along with the sensationalism in news, Mr. Ackerman pointed out that the newspaper is experiencing at the same time a renaissance in editorial discussion. "The editorial column stands out as the conscience of the press. It is constantly in advance of the news. Public opinion cannot escape editorial scrutiny."

The principle speaker of the evening was Mr. Fullerton Waldo, associate editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger. He spoke on "Journalism." After a very flattering presentation by the toastmaster, the editor arose and introduced his speech as follows: "Mr. Toogood makes me feel like the invalid who received a jar of brandied peaches from a friend. He wrote and thanked the kind donor saying, that, although he could not eat the peaches he did appreciate the 'spirit' in which they were sent." Mr. Waldo brought out the editor's side of the press game. "The editor sits between the press and the public. The press is ever calling for more copy on one side and the public either criticising or boosting on the other. The newspaper man must keep on producing like a clown in a circus. He has to put across his work under the gaze of thousands of eyes." His speech was full of valuable information, and advice to the young editors at the banquet.

The winners of the Public Ledger prize competition for the best college newspaper in the I. N. A. were announced at the banquet. The "Muhlenberg Weekly" won first place; the Rutgers "Targum," second place; and the "Bucknellian," third place. The judging is based upon news, life and layout of the paper in general.

The business meeting was held Saturday morning between 8.45 and noon. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting and the reports of officers and committees the meeting was divided. The editors held a special meeting presided over by Wilnot R. Jones, and the business managers held a special meeting presided over by Willard D. Boyce, vice-president of the I. N. A. This was done in order that the editors might discuss editorial policies and the business managers discuss business policies without encroaching upon each others' time. The two bodies joined later to transact the remaining business of the conference.

"The Holcad," published at Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pennsylvania, was admitted into membership in the GAL. 2 I. N. A. Review JAK I. N. A. Mr. Fullerton Waldo and Mr. Carl W. Ackerman were elected as honorary members of the Association. A new zoning system was introduced by which the meetings will be guided in the future. Delaware is in the first zone with George Washington, Haverford, Swarthmore, and Ursinus. The members in each zone are to meet twice each fall and a general conference is to be held each spring representing all the members. Delaware is to be the host of the member papers in the first zone next fall.

The following officers were elected for next year: President, R. F. Deitz of Ursinus; Vice-President, J. C. Swartley, Jr., of Lehigh; Secretary, F. B. Smith of Delaware; Treasurer, W. H. Harrison of Rutgers.

DELAWARE PRESS HAS PUBLISHED FIRST BOOK

who was then Secretary of State. The original edition was printed in French. So far as is known, there are only two copies of the original publication in existence today and one of these happens to be in the Wilmington library.

The book will no doubt be instantly purchased by all students of education as it is the basis of the famous Napoleonic system of education. This system in large part, is in use in France at the present time. Napoleon has received the "lion's share" of the credit for the institution which he established, but the inspiration and the work-plan of the system was obtained by Napoleon from this work of Pierre du Pont.

du Pont was intimately connected with the French Revolution and it was because of difficulties arising from it that he came to America in 1800. Thomas Jefferson had previously met du Pont during his sojourn in France on foreign service for the United States from 1784-89 inclusive.

The edition of the Delaware Press is the first English translation ever published. There is an introduction by Mrs. B. G. du Pont in which the history of the book is explained.

The fact that the book is being printed at Kells assures it prominence as a work of art. The edition is printed on special University of Delaware Press paper bearing the water-mark of the organization. The binding is of blue Fabrikoid, making it a distinctly du Pont product.

There are two more books which will be issued by the press during the summer. One is "Negro School Attendance," by R. W. and H. Cooper, and "An American Looks At His World," by Glenn Frank, the popular lecturer.

The savage will not plant a tree. It is only civilized man that builds foundations for future generations?

The optimist is a man who has a good time wherever he goes, because he carries his good times with him.

If the Almighty held in his right hand everlasting happiness, and in his left the pursuit of it, I would choose the left hand.—Socrates.

"NEED FOR MORE RIGHT THINKING"

chief speaker of the evening. His subject was "Right Thinking." "The capitalistic system," he said, "is the only system that has ever had a surplus; that has really ever been far ahead of starvation, for it is about 18 months ahead of starvation." "What is needed is not more statesmen, but more right-thinking. Wrong-thinking is often more pernicious than wrong-doing." In conclusion, he said, "More right-thinking in the colleges, in the schools, in the workshops, and in the offices will be the salvation of the world."

Dr. Milton Howard Sills, a clergyman of Philadelphia, gave an extremely interesting address on James Whitcomb Riley, whom he knew personally. He recited a number of Riley's poems.

John W. Graham, Jr., president of the Sons of Delaware, was toastmaster. In President Hullihen's absence, Dean C. A. McCue welcomed the visitors.

There were nearly 250 members of the organization and friends present at the banquet. Among the guests were U. S. Senators L. Heisler Ball and Thomas F. Bayard and former Postmaster James J. English.

The society voted to continue the scholarship at the University, which they have awarded during the past to deserving Delaware boys.

Western Maryland Takes Game from Delaware Nine by 5-4 Score

"Though news be sad, yet tell them merrily."—Rom. and Jul.

Western Maryland came to Frazer Field on Saturday afternoon after having defeated Dickinson by a 6-0 score and continued their winning streak by nosing out the Blue and Gold nine. At the beginning of the eighth inning it looked as if the locals might bring in their third victory of the season, but the team weakened and as no aid was available the Marylanders put over enough runs to win the game. After the smoke of the battle had rolled away, Captain Nutter and his mates were on the short end of a 5-4 score.

Brandt pitched a good game and deserved to win had not the Western Maryland boys taken kindly to his slants in the closing innings. The support, however, of the locals was not up to the usual standard and they faltered at the most critical times. Hoch was the leading batsman and drew three singles off the invading pitchers.

The score by innings:
Western Maryland R.H.E.
0 0 1 0 0 3 1—5 6 2

Univ. of Delaware
2 2 0 0 0 0 0—4 8 4
