Popular Philadelphia Artist to Give Concert

J. Helfenstein Mason, the noted basso profundo of Philadelphia, who will be remembered as giving such a splendid recital last spring in Wolf Hall, assisted by Helen Penrose Donlevy, harpist, Bertrand A. Austin, cellist, and Mrs. Mary Miller Mount, pianist, will give a concert in Wolf Hall on Tuesday evening, December 16th, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Mason has as assisting artists: Emily Stokes Bagar, soprano; Marie Stone Langston, contralto; Gedrege Retherford, dramatic tenor, and William Clevano Thunder, pianist.

This concert promises to be the best musical treat Newark has ever had, as the quartette is composed of the four leading Philadelphia artists.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO GIVE PROGRAM AT NEW CENTURY CLUB

Demonstrate Activities Under Auspices of Educational Committee

Next Tuesday will be "Mothers' Day" at the New Century Club and the program for the day will consist of demonstrations of school work by the children.

Songs, folk dances, selections by the Glee Club and the Dramatic Club will constitute the major part of the program which will be in charge of the Education Committee of the club. All of the mothers and those interested in children are cordially invited to be present. On December 2, the program will be a George Eliot anniversary.

The attendance at the yesterday afternoon meeting was unusually large. Rev. Frank Herson lectured on "Ireland." Miss Katherine Graybill sang an Irish ballad, "The Old Plaid Shawl." She sang also "The Four Leaf Clover" and Believe Me if all Those Endearing Young Charms." Miss Anna Ritz played a selection from the Peer Gynt Suite by Grieg and two Y. W. C. A. representatives were present to discuss the advisability of starting a branch of the organization here.

Former Newark Teacher Is Offered Position in Spain

The ability of Delaware women is receiving recognition not only in their own state but in an ever widening circle. This fact is evidenced by an offer recently received by Miss Edith McDougle, a member of the faculty at the local high school last year to accept a position in the International College in Barcelona Spain, also an offer of a scholarship for a year's study in France.

Annual Supper At Ebenezer Thanksgiving

Ebenezer M. E. Church will hold the annual supper in the basement of the church Thanksgiving evening, November 27. If stormy it will be held the following evening.

American Legion Elects New Commander

At a meeting of the American Legion held at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening, Professor Clarence A. Short was unanimously elected Post Commander to succeed R. R. Whittingham, resigned. The Legion decided to hold meetings every other Friday hereafter instead of monthly as heretofore. The next meeting will be held November 28. A history of each man's achievements and his record in the service will be prepared by the historian who will prepare and publish in next week's Newark Post blanks which the members will fill out and present at the next meeting.

Poultry Supper in the Armory, Dec. 4

A poultry supper for the benefit of the Presbyterian church will be held in the Armory, Dec. 4.

The Baraca Class supper on Thursday evening was a very successful affair and was enjoyed by about 100 persons including the members and their friends. An enjoyable feature was the singing by Mrs. Wm. Hagans of Kennett Square to autoharp accompaniment.

Work on Streets Progressing Satisfactorily

The street improvement program is progressing satisfactorily. Delaware Avenue is rapidly nearing completion. The stone is being put in place and the street gives promise of being completed before the advent of winter. Workmen are making excellent progress on the Depot Road sidewalk. Two pedestrians forced to travel Del. avenue met with painful accidents this week. Miss Mary Colmyer sprained her ankle and another resident received a bad fall damaging her clothing but receiving no serious injuries. An obstruction on Choate Street also caused minor mishaps during the past week.

AUTHOR DEPICTS ACTION AT IRON HILL IN REVOLUTION

In "The True Lafayette," He Tells Romance of Delaware's Highest Hill

For all the dwellers around Iron Hill, Delaware, there has been drawn the pretty picture of Washington, Lafayette and Greene on that height by George Morgan in his volume, "The True Lafayette." In treating the manoeuvre of Washington's army, leading up to the Battle of the Brandywine, this sketch is given: "Iron Hill invited Washington's eye, as he rode over the debatable ground between his own forces and the enemy. Lafayette and Greene were with him; and together they ascended the height. Here it was, according to Francis Vinton Greene, that General Nathaniel first made Lafayette's acquaintance, and began that warm friendship which continued unbroken throughout the remaining years of Greene's life, and after his death was extended by Lafayette to Greene's son and grandson." The three, with their aides, must have made an interesting group as they reined their horses on the crest of the highest hill in Delaware. To the east, looking back toward their own army, they saw the broad valley of the Christians, the far-away house-tops in Wilmington and the mile-wide river with its many sails. Northward was Newark, with its one long street, now the seat of Delaware College, then a fine old academic town, where three signers of the Declaration of Independence had got their schooling; and just beyond Newark was as lovely a range of hills as one need wish to see—beautiful hills rolling down out of Pennsylvania, and bringing with them in their north-and-south ravines such rippling, foaming streams as the White Clay, the Red Clay, Pike Creek, Mill Creek and the Brandywine. Along which of these would Washington draw his line of defense? Greene's first line was wiped out by events. Then, by Greene's advice, the Red Clay position was speedily abandoned as untenable. Howe marched through Newark, seized the strategic roads up in the hills at Hockessin and quickly concentrated at Kennett Square on the old highway that had been cut in the wilderness, in William Penn's time.

New life has been injected into the singing under the leadership of James Hastings. He expects to have an orchestra present next Sunday evening. Mr. Herson will preach at that time on the subject "The man who lost his dream." Last Sunday morning his subject was "The Church Remembered," Sunday evening, "The Man Who Made a Bad Move."

Will Reside in the West

Major and Mrs. L. B. Jacobs left the last of the week for Sanderson, Texas where Major Jacobs is engaged in construction work for the Air Service. Major Jacobs has been spending a 15 day leave with his family here.

PASTOR OF M. E. CHURCH HAS CALL TO CHICAGO

Decides to Remain Here and Continue Good Work

Last Tuesday a meeting of the second and third quarterly conference was held at the Methodist church with Dr. Robert Watt, district superintendent in the chair. Routine business was transacted. Reports on the condition of church affairs were read by the pastor, Rev. Frank Herson, by Earl Dawson superintendent of the Sunday School and by representatives of the various church societies. At the conclusion of the conference the official board invited the pastor to return, action usually deferred until the last quarterly conference. Dr. Watt thereupon informed the official brethren that Bishop Nicholson during his recent visit here had invited Mr. Herson to return with him to Chicago, offering a salary $700 in advance of that received here.

This offer was refused by the pastor because of the state of the work in Newark at present, and his deep, personal interest in the growth of the congregation and the Sunday School under his leadership. The Sunday evening services are steadily growing in favor and are attracting great numbers of men. Mr. Herson who is now serving the second year of his pastorate, has made a large circle of friends outside of the church as well as in his own congregation by his earnest and forceful preaching and his pleasing personality.

New life has been injected into the singing under the leadership of James Hastings. He expects to have an orchestra present next Sunday evening. Mr. Herson will preach at that time on the subject "The man who lost his dream."

Last Sunday morning his subject was "The Church Remembered," Sunday evening, "The Man Who Made a Bad Move."

Are You One of These?

A lot of lucky people in Newark and vicinity will be admitted free to the "movies" on Tuesday night, that is provided they present at the ticket office a Newark Opera House program cut from this issue of the Newark Post and conveying within a neat border this joyous information. Not every issue of this paper contains the attached coupon. See if yours does, pay the very modest tribute exacted by Uncle Sam, and enjoy a good show. The program appears on page 7.

Everything in Readiness For Production of English Plays

Everything is in readiness for the production of "Abraham and Isaac" and "Everyman," to be given in Wolf Hall on Thursday night, by the Sophomore class of W. C. D. The casts of both plays have been working steadily, and every rehearsal shows marked signs of improvement. A dress rehearsal was held in Wolf Hall on Tuesday night, and though the usual difficulties of a dress rehearsal were conspicuous by their presence still everything points to a most successful performance.

The executive staff has been working with a will, and each committee has accomplished much. Perhaps the most hard working committee has been that of the costumes. Miss Florence Hubbard, as faculty advisor and chief planner of costumes, has given much of her valuable time and services, which will be proved at the performance on Thursday evening.

The business manager announces a large sale of tickets. The performance begins at 8 p. m. on the dot.

Property Changes Hands

The Norah Beltz property was sold recently by the Farmers' Trust Co. to Frank Garatva.

Clifford Willis is breaking ground for a dwelling house to be built on South College Avenue fronting the entrance to the Women's College.

FIRST CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM GIVEN THIS AFTERNOON

Tomorrow Evening's Performance to Be Given in Club House

The annual three days' Chautauqua opened here this afternoon with a lecture by the Chautauqua Superintendent, a former service man, and a concert by "The Revue Company."

All of the meetings with the exception of that held tomorrow evening, will be in Wolf Hall. Thursday evening's program will be given in the New Century Club building, in order to permit the Sophomore Class of Women's College to present two plays at Wolf Hall.

This evening at 7:30 Carleton Chamberlayne, a Y. M. C. A. worker, who has just returned from service with the American Expeditionary Forces, will lecture on "Tomorrow." Thursday afternoon, there will be a lecture and concert; Thursday evening, Chancellor George H. Bradford will lecture on "Sun-Crowned Manhood;" Viera's Hawaiian Musical Company is scheduled for a concert on Friday afternoon, and Miss Elizabeth B. Oliver with a dramatic recital the closing night.

War Worker Tells of Rehabilitation in the Army

On Friday morning, November 14, Dean Cullimore, of the College of Engineering of Delaware College, gave an interesting talk on the work done by those in the Rehabilitation Service during the war. Dean Cullimore was a major in this branch of the service, having had charge of the rehabilitation of disabled soldiers in all the territory west of Denver, Colorado. He told of the wonderful success of this work in the United States, stating that 89 per cent of those who on returning from overseas entered government hospitals, went out prepared to take their places once more in the social and economic life of the nation. This great success he attributed to the fact that the workers in this department concerned themselves with fitting these men not only for a vacation so that they might be self-supporting, but also for entrance once more into the social life of their communities, which meant more by far to them. He praised the work which the young women in the department had done, saying that it would have been impossible to accomplish such excellent results without their help.

Local Teachers to Take Part in Education Meeting

Will Attend Dover Conference

Program for Organization of State Association Now Complete

Many of the local teachers are making arrangements to attend a conference in Dover next Friday and Saturday, when an effort will be made to form a State Teachers Association.

This movement has the endorsement and the enthusiastic support of the State officials. The movement in Delaware is part of a great natural movement growing out of the needs of the teachers for the inspiration and enthusiasm which comes of personal contact and conference with others who are solving the same problems. An exchange of thoughts and ideas will, in the opinion of those who are initiating the movement, mean much towards forwarding educational development in the State, and molding public sentiment to work for the good of the children.

The need of organization to develop initiative and a sense of responsibility is conceded to be a nation-wide need and is recognized as such by keen analysts of democracy.

The organization committee has perfected plans for a dinner on Friday evening Nov. 21 when George D. Strayer will speak and prominent Delawareans will give their views on this movement.

Sectional meetings will be held Saturday morning in which the teachers will discuss professional topics and organization will doubtless be perfected at a general meeting which will follow. Luncheon will be served and a brief session will probably be held in the afternoon.

Several local representatives will take part in the program. Miss Alva Lockhart, primary teacher will read a paper on "Primary Seat Work;" Miss Madge Rickards will give a demonstration of paper folding; Dr. K. R. Greenfield will discuss "History;" and Miss Mary Houston, English.

Miss Agnes Snyder is chairman of the organization committee. Miss Dora Wilcox will have charge of the music, Everett C. Johnson will be toastmaster and Dr. S. C. Mitchell will give a short talk during the supper which will be given at the Hotel Richardson.

PROGRAM PRACTICALLY COMPLETED FOR FARMERS' WEEK, DEC. 29-JAN. 3

COURSE IN USE OF FARM TRACTORS TO BE A FEATURE

PROJECT MADE POSSIBLE THROUGH LEGISLATIVE ACTION WILL BE FREE TO FARMERS AND FAMILIES

The Farmers' Short Course, Tractor School, and Boys' and Girls' Club week will be held at Delaware College, Newark, Delaware, during the week of December 29 to January 3. This week's course in agriculture, made possible through an appropriation by the last Legislature, will be open to the farmers of Delaware and to their families without charge. The only cost to those attending the Short Course will be board and room, which may be secured at very reasonable rates.

Plan of the Course.

The course is being planned for the specific purpose of giving to the farmers of the State information and instruction which will aid them in making the farm pay better as well as aid them in solving some of their innumerable problems. Most of the work will be in the form of lectures and demonstrations. In addition to the agricultural staff at the College, arrangements are being made to secure outside speakers from other state colleges, state agricultural departments and from the United States Department of Agriculture. The course, which starts Monday noon and ends Saturday noon will be crammed full of sound instruction, and there will be in addition the special evening programs with general lectures and splendid moving pictures. The evening programs will begin Monday night and continue to Friday night inclusive.

Special Tractor School.

A special and separate feature of this first annual short course will be the Tractor School which begins on Monday noon and continues throughout the week for owners and prospective owners of tractors. The course in farm tractors will be as practical as can be arranged with fully half of the time devoted to laboratory work. Tractors will be on hand for use in this connection. Anyone enrolling in this course is requested to attend all the classes for the entire week, except that they will be free to attend the evening lectures.

Horticulture and Soils and Crops Courses.

The course in fruit growing including lectures and demonstrations in pruning will be in charge of Professor C. A. McCue, who has had ten years' practical experience in the management of the College farm orchards, which have for some time been on a paying basis. The work in this course will cover approximately two days.

A two day course in Soil Fertility and Farm Crops will be in charge of Professor A. E. Grantham, Agronomist, Delaware College, assisted by R. J. Friant, Instructor in Soils and Crops. Professor Grantham has had ten years of experimental work on the soil fertility plots at the College farm to back up what he says, and in addition he will be aided by men of note from outside the state.

Special Features and Days.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be given over to special topics for each day. Wednesday will be devoted to the problem of soil fertility and increased crop production, which will be discussed by leaders of the country who are authorities on these subjects.

The general problem of Marketing will be considered in an all day program for Thursday. The problems of the milk producer, truck grower, fruit grower, poultryman, and grain farmer will all be discussed. This is a problem which concerns every farmer of Delaware as well as of the Peninsula.

Live Stock Day is set for Friday and will consist of lectures and judging demonstrations, lead by some of the best live stock experts of the United States.

Detailed announcements will be given out in a few weeks. Programs may be secured by addressing Director H. Hayward, Newark, Delaware.

For The Homemaker's Eye

Save Clothes for Next Summer.

The organdies, palm beach straw hats, and the low shoes are fast disappearing from the day-to-day wardrobe. The wise housewife does not let them stay in the overcrowded closet to take up valuable space and brush against the velvets, serges and broadcloths. Neither does she lay them away in any condition they happen to be in after their last appearance. Instead, she puts them away carefully cleaned and treated so the least change possible will come to them, keeping record of what supplies there are and where she puts them in order that she may find them when the occasion arises by simply looking at her desk records. If packed in boxes, a label on each box telling the contents makes the finding of each article an easy matter. Her outline of treatment would be very nearly like the following, according to home economics specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture:

Washable White Clothing.—Washed carefully, no starch added, blued more than usual to avoid a yellow appearance when spring unpacking comes. Hung in a closet reserved for this particular use or folded so that the creases will correspond as far as possible with the folds into which the garment falls in use and laid in a trunk or box.

Washable Colored Clothes.—Washed unstarched, turned wrong side out and hung in the closet or packed away as were the white garments.

Palm Beach Suits.—Cleaned and put in separate box, carefully folded.

Hats.—How to treat the summer hat depends much upon the material. If of straw, brushing off all dust and packing in a hat box is good treatment. The georgette and lace hats, if soiled, should be dry cleaned and allowed to air thoroughly before wrapping in tissue paper and storing away in a hat box. Avoid weight which will crush the brimming.

Shoes.—The pumps and oxfords should be cleaned and put away with shoe trees in each one.

Inventory should be simple, of course, but definite, giving a list and storage place of the clothes for each member of the family. This will prove of definite service when next spring's clothing budget requires thought and time.

Desserts Without Sugar.

If you are wise you will not use your last bit of sugar, trusting to get more when the present supply is gone, but will avoid the possibility of totally sugarless days by making your small supply go as far as possible.

Turn to your war-conservation cookbooks and refresh your memory on ways to use the sugar substitutes. You will find many recipes for cakes, but most of them were built to save wheat as well as sugar. We have this cause for rejoicing at least. Though we must cut down our use of sugar, we still have wheat for cake making and our old stand-bys in time of sugar stringency—molasses, corn sirup and honey are still procurable.

The cakes made with sirup are not just like those made with sugar. In most cases they are less sweet. They do fill an emergency need for cake, however. The following recipes use but little sugar.

Chocolate Cake.—1-4 cup fat, 3 tablespoons sugar (brown or white), 2 eggs, 1 cup corn sirup, 2 squares melted chocolate, 1-2 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 cups wheat flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt.

Cream the fat and sugar, add the egg yolks, sirup, and melted chocolate, and beat well. Sift the dry ingredients together and add alternately with the milk. Add vanilla and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake in loaf or layers in a moderate oven.

Fat frosting.—Cook one-half cup corn sirup until it forms a long thread when dropped from a spoon. Pour over the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and beat until thick enough to spread.

Spice Cakes Are Good.—These little individual spice cakes, baked in muffin tins, are also very good: 3 tablespoons fat, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1-4 cup corn sirup, 1 egg, 1-2 cup milk, 2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon spice, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-8 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 cup chopped raisins. Mix in order given.

Old Fashioned Gingerbread also requires no sugar. Why not serve it often as an autumn dessert? Add a few raisins and serve warm with whipped cream or hard sauce.

"Fumigate"

Every now and then some imported agitator is rounded up by outraged citizens of free America and compelled to kiss the flag. Only the other day we read an account of a whole batch of red agitators being thus honored at Weirton, West Virginia.

The intent is splendid, but the practice is deplorable. The Stars and Stripes should be kept clean of the foul lips that preach sedition. They are unfit to kiss the ground under the flag. We recommend the immediate fumigation of that flag at Weirton.

YOUNG CHILDREN DO NOT NEED MEAT

Herein Are What They Should Not What They Should Not Eat

Some mothers have worried for the past few years because they have been unable to afford meat, fish, chicken, or other flesh foods for their children, but this is entirely unnecessary if they are able to get milk, and milk is always cheaper than these other foods. And it is the most important of all foods for it supplies something for every part of the body. It supplies something for making muscles; something for making bones and teeth; and something that makes children grow. No child will grow as fast as he should get fat, but fatness is not the same as strength. Unless he has milk, some part of him will almost surely be weak.

Every little child should have at least three glasses of whole milk every day, and if possible, four. If he has this amount of milk, and particularly if he can be given one egg yolk a day, he does not need meat.

How to Serve Eggs.

Some one will probably ask how the yolk of an egg should be served to a child. One good way is to add it to milk gravy. Another way is to cook it hard, salt and mash it and spread it on bread. The mother may just as well use the white of the egg for cake or for puddings. It is the yolk that the child needs most. All of the iron of the egg is in the yolk. There is something in the yolk, too, as there is in the milk, that makes children grow.

Every mother wants her children to have straight, long legs. Both milk and eggs help to make the bones strong. Children who do not get these foods are almost sure to have a disease called "rickets." Their bones, being weak, bend under them and get very much out of shape.

Vegetables Necessary for Children.

The "something" in milk that makes children grow comes from the grass and other green things that the cow eats. The same "something" in eggs comes from the green food that every good chicken raiser provides for his chickens. From the green food it gets into the milk and the egg yolks. This substance, so much needed by all young animals, is also in lettuce, spinach and other greens. For this reason these vegetables are good for children, particularly when milk and eggs are scarce.

Some children do not like vegetables and it does little good to try to persuade them to eat them. A better way is to put them into soups or gravies without saying anything about it. For example, make milk stews or gravies and put into them any small amounts of cooked vegetables that may be left over or some fresh vegetables cooked for the purpose. Here is a recipe for a milk stew. With plenty of bread, a large bowl of it makes a good dinner for a child.

Milk Stew With Vegetables.

1 quart milk, whole or skim.
1 cup raw potatoes, cut in small pieces.

A few leaves lettuce, spinach, or other greens cut into small pieces or chopped.

A small piece of onion.
2 level tablespoons butter or bacon fat.

Salt.
Boil the potatoes till soft and drain. Cook the other vegetables in so little water that they do not need to be drained. Add to the milk. Heat, add the fat, and season with salt.

Almost any vegetables can be used for flavoring milk stews. Or a little fish or chopped dried beef may be used. In the case of very little children care should be taken not to serve any tough foods like large pieces of dried beef unless the mother has time to watch and see that they are well chewed.

Have Fruit Once a Day.

Fruit once a day is a good rule. If you can not afford fresh fruit, get dried fruits. Soak them well and cook them until soft. If the child is delicate give only the juice or pulp. Very young children who are just beginning to eat other things than milk should be given the juice only of the fruits. A little later they may be given the pulp. A healthy child of school age can eat apples, peaches, and plums, skin and all.

Give Plenty of Bread.

Every child should have plenty of good bread. Whole wheat or graham bread helps to prevent constipation. So, too, do vegetables and fruits. Mothers who can not afford vegetables and fruits should give coarse bread occasionally. Cereal mushes, live oatmeal, cornmeal or cracked wheat, are good food for children; they have just as much nourishment as them as the ready-to-eat cereals and cost very much less. Hardness and crispness in food is not the same as toughness. In fact, hard bread or toast is good food for children. Bread that has been dried and slightly browned in the oven can be broken into small pieces and served with milk as cereal mushes are.

When to Feed Sweets.

As to sweets, save them for dessert when the child is not hungry enough to eat too much of them. One of the simple puddings mentioned above makes a good dessert. So, too, do plain cake or cookies. One of the cheapest sweets is bread spread with butter and sugar, white or brown. Lump sugar is usually far cheaper than candy.

date for the convention of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Delaware to elect a bishop to succeed the Rt. Rev. Frederick Kinsman, resigned. The convention will be held at Dover, Delaware and place of meeting were chosen by the standing committee of the diocese at the meeting held recently.

THE M. MEGARY & SON CO.

FOR A BETTER NIGHT'S REST--

If you are using a spring that sags—one that will roll you to the centre—full of uncomfortable hollows and ridges—if you rise with that half-tired feeling, and have spent your night twisting and turning to relieve muscles improperly rested—you will be interested in the Foster Ideal Spring.

This spring is generally acknowledged to be the best spring made. It is fundamentally right in principle and built of the highest grade material. It is composed of 120 double cone coil springs of the finest steel wire, highly tempered and finished with a special lacquer. Each spring is firmly fastened to a flexible steel frame—the edge of the spring is of heavy wire that preserves the neat and trim appearance of your bed. The head coils of the spring are raised, providing a correct sleeping position. But the outstanding feature of the Foster spring is the double deck construction. It is this construction that makes this spring so comfort giving. The entire spring is a spring, not merely the head and foot ends, and the spring fits your sleeping position—you do not have to fit the spring. Perfect rest is assured.

One-third of our day is spent in bed—it is nature's time to replace and renew our energy and our strength. A merely good spring is not sufficient—the best is a necessity, for it is a matter that vitally concerns our health. And a better night's rest means a better day's work.

If you feel that your present spring is not giving you the rest you need then you want to get this Foster Ideal Spring.

We can fit any make or size of bed.

The price is $17.00; not much for the years of comfort it will give.

K. OF C. GIVES FIRST AID TO DAN CUPID

Throws Spotlight On Character and Prospects of Dough-boys and French Girls

That cheery, plump young fellow whose business pertains to the trying—and frequently tangling—of true lover's knots, has, thanks to the war, acquired an able and experienced assistant. Dan Cupid, according to statistics, went overseas with our gallant army, while his assistant remained at home to look after heart-interests in this country.

He is a quiet young man, this secretary of Cupid's, and the delicate scent of blossoms and the faint tinkling of wedding bells pervade his well-ordered office at 461 Fourth avenue, New York City.

Whether Leo P. Begley, head of the Knights of Columbus Matrimonial Bureau, has any romantic illusions about the work, is a matter of doubt. He regards it as a job.

The little god of love had a busy time in the quaint villages where our boys were stationed, for everybody knows that congenial companionship and proper stage-settings are conducive to romance. Is it any wonder, then, that many a homesick lad responded to the sympathetic kindness of a pretty little Ailly? And when he proposed, and the answer was a shyly whispered "oui," his joy was boundless.

But—an amazing number of those charming French girls were the possessors of stern parents, who, while regarding the Yankees with appreciative admiration, nevertheless insisted upon knowing something about the family and character of the would-be bridegrooms. The young men who aspired to the daughter's hand must prove himself. No, his army rating counted for nothing. He must be vouched for by those who are well acquainted with him—by those who knew him better than the government—before he could carry off the daughter of the household as his bride. What could a poor boy do? Watchful waiting, heartfelt sighs, appeared to be his lot.

The French Government became interested in the situation and appointed Mr. Julien Knecht, brother of Dr. Marcel Knecht, French Commissioner, as their representative, assigning him the colossal task of obtaining information regarding the standing of American soldiers who desired to marry French women—the investigation to be made only where the family of the woman to be married applied either to the Government authorities or the Knights of Columbus in France. On the other hand, the K. of C. Paris office sent information to New York concerning the girl and her relatives which was relayed to the folks of the soldier who contemplated matrimony. In all cases the soldier was a willing party to the cross-investigations. In no case would the Knights give their services unless either American or French parents had requested information regarding their prospective daughters and sons-in-law.

And here is where the K. of C. renders first-aid to the lover; turns the spot-light—most confidentially—on the honor, morality and religion of the man in question; sends the desired information over the seas to Mr. Knecht, who, in turn, and also in strictest confidence, delivers the message to the family who applied for same. The majority of cases have resulted in a wedding-march, the bridal pair accompanied by the parental blessing.

Bureau Not Without Humor.

The Matrimonial Bureau is not without its humor and one can readily imagine how interesting the mail must be. So zealously do the Knights guard this correspondence that each letter be carefully filed away from curious eyes. He has handled almost a thousand requests and has been able to report favorably in nearly every instance. Surprisingly few fictitious names were given by the boys and only eight who desired to acquire foreign wives were already married.

When information regarding a colored soldier reached France and he was accused of contemplating bigamy, he frankly admitted that of course he was married and had a fine wife and six children back home in Tennessee, but he liked France and had hoped to settle down there with a new wife.

Another boy, formerly a bell-hop in a Southern hotel, was astounded when glad tidings reached him—via the affectionate demonstration of his prospective father-in-law—that he, a Yankee private, was now a rich man. Before the war he had purchased a small plot of ground in Oklahoma, and although he was unaware of it, oil was being developed on property adjoining his holdings. The Knights of Columbus reported the fact of his sudden wealth, together with excellent accounts of the young man's character, and an elaborate wedding followed.

So deeply do the authorities appreciate the invaluable service rendered their people by this particular branch of the Knights of Columbus, that the organization has been repeatedly and enthusiastically congratulated by the French Government.

Jim is 8 and inquisitive. Recently his mother was thoroughly grilled on the subject of creation of man and made the orthodox explanation of Adam being made from dust.

"It ain't true," announced Jim, coming in from his play in the sandbox an hour later. "I put a lot of sand together and spit on it and said my prayers and nothing happened at all."

It doesn't matter how important your ancestors were, but how important an ancestor you are going to be.

CHARACTERIZES CODE FIGHT AS "SORDID STRIKE"

Baltimore Sun in Recent Issue Comments on "School Controversy"

A recent issue of the Baltimore Sun under the head of "An Amazing Story," declares the school war in Delaware "the basest and most sordid of all the strikes we have had in this country." The story follows:

"We have been so much interested in our own local contest that few of us have noted the school war that is going on just over our border in Delaware. And yet as a matter of fact one of the most curious conflicts ever staged in this country has been in progress for some time next door to us.

"Outside of Wilmington, and a few other sections, it appears, Delaware's public school system has been a scandal and reproach to all progressive and intelligent citizens. Many of the schoolhouses are dilapidated or out of date, the teaching corps in the country schools has been composed largely of ignorant or untrained persons, the school terms have been reduced to five and even three months.

"Civic pride and intelligence finally inaugurated a reform movement and secured the passage by the Legislature last winter of the 'New School Code,' which provides for modern schoolhouses, qualified teachers at better salaries and longer school terms.

The new code excited little opposition at first, but since it went into operation in June, it has become the burning issue in Delaware. The farmers discovered that it would increase their taxes somewhat, and that it would deprive them of the services of their children, and many of them have become fighting mad about it. The question was taken into the courts, and when the case came before the Supreme Court at Dover a thousand farmers from the surrounding country poured into the little town, presumably with the intention of seeing that the judges did their duty. Happily for the honor of Delaware, the judges refused to be intimidated and upheld the constitutionality of the new code, in spite of the fact that their terms of office expire next year.

"The New York Sun, from whose correspondent we glean the facts of this extraordinary rebellion against education, declares that Delaware is split into rival camps by this issue, and that it is 'now absorbing all attention night and day in the area where it rages.' Some of the farmers swear that they will shoot the officials who endeavor to compel their children to attend school for the full term, and the great house of DuPont is once more leading rival factions.

"Of all the strikes we have had in this country, this Delaware strike against its own children is the basest and most sordid. We hope the Progressives of Delaware will keep up the fight at any cost until the benighted intellectual rebels have been rescued and redeemed from their own darkness and ignorance."

The Good Sister's Faith in Lizzie

The following appeared a few days ago in the State Register of Springfield, Ill.:

"Many are the stories of Henry Ford and his popular automobile, but Hillsboro is relating what it calls the best of the season, and the facts in the case are true. It happened in one of the leading churches of the city that the pastor took for the text of his sermon, 'Better Church Attendance.'

"The pastor held that the automobile has taken more people away from church than any other thing. He concluded with the exclamation: 'The Ford car has taken more people to hell than any other thing that I can mention.' Whereupon an old lady in the congregation began to clap her hands and moan, 'Praise the Lord! Praise the Lord!'

"What's the matter sister?" asked the pastor.

"The Ford never went any place that it couldn't make the round trip, and I am sure that all of those people in hell will be back," she answered. 'So praise the Lord.'

Fail to Find Oriental Peach Moth and Japanese Beetle

Among the insects that threaten the peach industry of Delaware are the Oriental Peach Moth and the Japanese Beetle. During 1918 the United States Bureau of Entomology sent two men who nearly covered Delaware in search of the Oriental Peach Moth, and while they found some injury that might have been caused by this insect the insect itself was not found. During the past season the northern end of the State was again inspected by R. Earle Dickey, of Stanton, Delaware, and Francis O'Rourke, of Newark, graduates of Delaware College, who found some suspicious injury but still failed to find the insect. A close watch will be kept upon this pest and if found steps will be taken to prevent its spread.

"Every employer, every wage-worker, must be guaranteed his liberty and his right to do as he likes with his property or his labor so long as he does not infringe upon the rights of others. It is of the highest importance that employer and employee alike should endeavor to appreciate each the viewpoint of the other, and the sure disaster that will come upon both in the long run if either grows to take as habitual, an attitude of sour hostility and distrust toward the other."

—Theodore Roosevelt.

"Where shall I drop you?" absent-mindedly asked the pilot of the airplane who was taking a friend out for a ride.

"Log on a few hundred miles," said the friend. "We're over the ocean just now."

Rodney Papers Bring High Prices

Papers of members of the Rodney family brought high prices at a sale of early Colonial relics in Philadelphia last week. The documents comprised original papers of Caesar Rodney, of Delaware, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence; Thomas Rodney, member of the Continental Congress and a colonel in the Revolutionary War; and Caesar A. Rodney, former Attorney General of the United States. A letter of John Eliot, the Indian missionary, brought the highest price, $700 being paid by Oglethorpe Cummings, of Philadelphia.

The New Castle County Corn Show for 1919 will be held at Eden Hall, Wilmington, December 11, 12 and 13. The Chamber of Commerce, of Wilmington has not only provided the hall at considerable expense, but has made a substantial contribution towards paying premiums.

As an educational feature in improving the corn varieties of the county, the farmers of New Castle county owe it to the Farm Bureau to support this show by exhibiting a sample of corn, and they are indebted to the Chamber of Commerce of Wilmington, for their kindly feeling toward the farmers expressed through their generous contribution.

The premium list follows:

Special Fruit Exhibit.

That New Castle county can grow apples will be demonstrated by the special fruit exhibit. An attractive exhibit of the leading variety of apples and other fruit will be one of the main features of the show.

The farm exhibits will appear in the Market street windows during the week of the show.

All samples must be delivered or expressed prepaid to R. O. Bausman, Eden Hall, Wilmington, not later than 12 o'clock, Thursday, December 11.

Schedule of Activities

Planned For Y. M. C. A.

At a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. directors held Thursday night General Secretary W. Paul Behout presented plans for the entertainment of junior members. These include the formation of an intercity basketball league of five or six teams which will begin their schedule this week. The teams will represent the Junior Order American Mechanics, the Continental Fibre Co., teams from the paper and the pulp department of the American Vulcanized Fibre Co., the "Y" and probably the American Legion.

There will be a cross country run on Thanksgiving Day and a treasure hunt on the Saturday following. On the return from this hunt there will probably be an entertainment with a good speaker, and refreshments.

The Y. M. C. A. is a decidedly popular place especially since the evenings have become so long. Aspirants for the basketball team are on the floor every night, and the shuffleboard is decidedly popular with those who desire a less vigorous form of exercise. F. A. Cooch, Wm. Singer and Charles Medill are aspirants for the championship with honors about even. On rare occasions some of the braver of the fair sex invade this predominantly masculine institution and contest the claims of the three shuffleboard artists with conspicuous success. Mixed foursomes or twosomes might prove a Miss Emma Willis delightfully entertained a few friends on Thursday evening, the occasion being a variety shower for Miss Geneva Burnite, whose marriage to Mr. Frank Springer, of Flint, Michigan, will take place in the near future.

Miss Burnite was surprised by the many gifts showered upon her. Cards were played and dainty refreshments served.

The guests included the Misses Geneva Burnite, Mildred L. Ferguson, Mae Chambers, Mildred Gregg, Alice H. Dang, Martha Crow, Ellen Crow, Mabel Short, Emma Willis, Anna Miller, Alice R. Singles, Mrs. Willis and Mrs. J. Burnite.

COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS MAKE GOOD RECORD

Members Pleased With Year's Work, "Carry On" With Enthusiasm

In the Middletown Cow Testing Association the production was below average, as a large number of the cows were dry preparatory to fall freshening. Honors this month go to Dr. W. E. Cann, who owns the cow producing the largest record, and to Mr. Olin Davis, whose herd produced the highest average record.

At a meeting of the Association held during the month current business was transacted. Indications are that due to the fact that the Association has been conducted along such satisfactory lines, it will reorganize automatically. The purchasing of feed in carload lots was considered with the result that an order for one car load was taken, and Mr. Cromis reported later that two additional cars will probably be included in the order.

Several additional members of the Association are placing their herds under government supervision for tuberculosis testing.

In the Diamond State Association the general performance of the herds is above average, as a large per cent of the cows have freshened and are receiving an abundant ration of new corn. Honors this month again go to Mr. J. T. Edmundson, who owns the cow making the highest butterfat production and the herd which produced the highest average butterfat record. Mr. Edmundson's herd is composed of cows which are consistent producers. During the month the Association voted to compute the honor list on a butterfat basis.

Feed prices are consistently rising. As new corn is worth around $1.3 per bushel and bran can be bought for $48 a ton and cottonseed meal is available, it seems highly feasible for farmers to mix their own rations, using corn as a basis. Cotton seed meal is high priced, but it is very concentrated and only a small amount in the ration is necessary.

The following are the quality lists: Middletown Association.

—Producing the highest milk production record:

No. 7, belonging to Dr. W. E. Cann, 1243 lbs. milk, 42.2 lbs. butterfat.

May, J. S. Steele, 1221 milk, 37.8 butterfat.

No. 14, William Green, 1180 milk, 36.5 butterfat.

Blue, J. G. Steele, 1166 milk, 43.1 butterfat.

No. 3, J. G. Steele, 1140 milk, 41 butterfat.

No. 14, J. H. Lynam, 1125 milk, 29.2 butterfat.

No. 6, William Green, 1091 milk, 32.7 butterfat.

Ns 236, 738, J. S. Moore, 1051 milk, 35.7 butterfat.

No. 459, 170, Dr. W. E. Cann, 1013 milk, 30.3 butterfat.

No. 328, 722, J. S. Moore, 964 milk, 29.8 butterfat.

Diamond State Association.

Ten cows producing the highest butterfat record are as follows:

No. 12, owned by J. T. Edmundson, 1727 lbs. milk, 57 lbs. butterfat.

No. 4, Frank B. Evans, 1305 milk, 54.8 butterfat.

No. 2, J. T. Edmundson, 1681 milk, 52.1 butterfat.

No. 1, Hill Girt Farm, 744 milk, 50.6 butterfat.

No. 112, Bredablik Farm, 905 milk, 48.9 butterfat.

No. 156, Bredablik Farm, 1166 milk, 44.3 butterfat.

No. 7, J. I. Dayett, 1327 milk,

43.8 butterfat.

No. 18, Eugene Feucht, 946 milk, 42.6 butterfat.

No. 6, J. I. Dayett, 1448 milk, 42.0 butterfat.

No. 12, J. I. Dayett, 1399 milk, 42.0 butterfat.

Five herds having highest average butterfat production are as follows:

No. 16, J. T. Edmundson, 880 milk, 26.2 butterfat.

No. 2, Brookwood Farm, 661 milk, 19.8 butterfat.

No. 3, Hill Girt Farm, 496 milk, 23.8 butterfat.

No. 24, Paul Murray, 429 milk, 18.9 butterfat.

No. 12, G. B. Pierson, 484 milk, 17.9 butterfat.

Elkton Pastor and Loyal

Champion Attacked

Two personal encounters took place in Elkton on Saturday evening as the result of statements alleged to have been made by Dr. John McElmoyle, pastor of the Presbyterian Church there the previous Sunday. The pastor was reported to have attacked the testimony of the late Judge Albert Constable and the late William S. Evans in a sermon preached November 9. Both of these men were trustees of the church and testified against Dr. McElmoyle before one of the investigating committees.

In his sermon Dr. McElmoyle is alleged to have said they lied in giving their testimony. He is said to have remarked during his sermon that both of them have been called to answer to the Judge of God since then.

Reginald Constable, a brother of the late jurist, attacked Dr. McElmoyle Saturday night and slapped the minister in the face for his attack on his brother from the pulpit.

Robert Frazer, who is a staunch friend of Dr. McElmoyle and who is said to have given assistance to the injured pastor, was attacked by two sons of the late William S. Evans.

Mr. McElmoyle's injuries are not of a serious nature and he was able to fill the pulpit on Sunday. Mr. Frazer's condition, however, is said to be critical.

Lancaster-Major

A pretty wedding took place on Friday evening Nov. 15th, 1919, at Saint Thomas' Episcopal church in Alice Florence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Major, and Miss Wade Lancaster of Cullman, Ala., were united in marriage by Rev. Walter G. Haupt, rector of the church. The bride was attended by her sister Mrs. John L. Major, of Newark, as matron of honor Mrs. Victor H. Handy of Moore, Md. and Miss Violet Jones, of Cheltenham, Pa., as bridesmaids.

The bride was attired in white tulle and satin with beaded trimmings and wore a beautiful net veil. She carried white roses. The matron of honor was dressed in blue and white georgette and wore a blue picture hat and pink roses. The bride's brides were pink satin dresses, pink picture hats, and carried roses. The little flower girl, Jennie Florence Slack, neice of the bride was dressed in pink chiffon and carried a basket of white carnations. The best man, Mr. Lyman Roberts of Cheltenham, Pa. and the ushers were John L. Slack of Newark, and Victor H. Handy of Baltimore.

The choir entered the church to the strains of the Star Spangled Banner, then to the strain of the march followed the ushers, the bride's maids, the matron of honor, the flower girl and the bride on the arm of her father who was in marriage. The Week At

Woman's College

The students of the college have entered with enthusiasm upon the task of raising the money necessary to send them to delegates to the International Student Volunteer Conference. Every effort is being put forth and the sum of one hundred and forty dollars has already been raised.

The Y. W. C. A. meeting on Sunday evening was led by Professor Clarence E. Short.

The early morning prayer services that have been held each morning during the World's Week of Prayer, have been well attended. These meetings have been in charge, successively of Misses Marion Rodney, William Null, Grace March, Edna Green, Alice Neher and Ruth Welhe.

The current events discussion for the week was conducted in a very interesting manner by Miss Mildred Johnson, who was assisted by Misses Gladys McAllister, Marguerite Foster, Sarah Frazier, Viola Elters, Margaret Jones and Natalie Ayerst.

There have been several dinner guests at the Home Economics Practice House during the week. Miss Helen Bridge being entertained on Thursday night, and Miss Mary E. Rich, Mrs. Emma Wilson, and Dr. Ernest Vaughn on Tuesday night.

On Friday afternoon the Home Economics laundry class enjoyed an instructive demonstration of the "Thor" electric washing machine machine, given by representatives of the Dannerhauer Company of Wilmington.

The class in dress making met on Thursday afternoon with their instructor, Miss Orlita Dakeman, to visit shops in Philadelphia for the purpose of getting ideas in dress design and of purchasing materials for use in class work.

Plans are being completed this week for the two Sophomore plays, which are to be given on Thursday evening, November 20, under the leadership of Dr. John R. Moore.

Miss Dora Wilcox, music director of the Women's College sang on Friday, November 14, for the Century Club at New Castle.

The students in the Teachers' Training class, chaperoned by Miss Rohr and Miss Null, visited the Deemer Steel Plant at New Castle on Saturday, November 8. As a result of interest in the steel industry had been made by the class, so that they were prepared to watch with interest and understanding the various processes used in steel manufacture. Mr. Selden Deemer himself conducted them through the plant, explaining each step in the process very clearly and very painstakingly. Later they were entertained at his home, when he and Mrs. Deemer and Miss Kite spread a veritable feast of good things before them, and entertained them with fascinating stories of historic places and people.

On Saturday, November 8, a number of members of the faculty and the students of the Women's College accepted the invitation given by Mrs. Samuel Bancroft, of Wilmington, to see her collection of Rosetti and Burns Jones pictures and spent a most enjoyable afternoon in her home. Her rare collection is so large that only a few that were especially impressive can be mentioned here.

Among these was Burne-Jones' Council Chamber, representing a scene from the well-known story of the Sleeping Beauty. Rosetti's Lady Lilith and Foud were specially interesting, perhaps because the beautiful auburn-haired woman in each is a portrait of his wife. This lovely woman is a characteristic figure in many of Rosetti's pictures. Foud was painted to illustrate a scene in his well-known poem, "Jennie." There were many others by Delaroche, Millars, Maxfield Parrish and others that gave much pleasure and occasioned much comment.

Boost your city, boost your friend, Boost the lodge that you attend. Boost the street on which you're dwelling.

Boost the goods that you are selling; Boost the people round about you; They can get along without you; But success will quicker find them. If they know that you're behind them.

Boost for every forward movement, Boost for every new improvement; Boost the man for whom you labor, Boost the stranger and the neighbor.

Cease to be a chronic knocker, Cease to be a progress blocker; If you'd make your city better, Boost it to the final letter.

ONLOOKERS ENJOY FRESHMAN PARADE

Many Prizes Secured by Clev-er Masqueraders

The masque parade held last Friday evening by the members of the Freshman Class at Delaware College created considerable interest and gave much pleasure to spectators who congregated along the line of march. Those privileged to be in the neighborhood of the Opera House had a rare treat when the masqueraders did some clever stunts at that corner.

Those who ordinarily follow such attractions found it difficult to keep up with this lively bunch of funmakers.

The entire Freshman class with the exception of eight, and many upperclassmen, were disguised in unique and daring costumes, which excited much favorable comment.

Ninety dollars in cash was divided into sixteen prizes and distributed by the judges: Professor Short, Dr. F. M. K. Foster, Dr. J. R. Moore, and Coach Shipley.

The parade was formed at the college at 7:15 P. M. and, headed by the band, the following route was traversed: up Main Street to the Sigma Phi Epsilon House, then down Main Street to the Sigma Nu House, thence to the Women's College via South College Avenue. After parading around the campus of the Women's College, on the invitation of Miss Hubbard, the masqueraders entered Residence Hall, where the exponents of the Terpsichorean Art gave a demonstration of their ability. The paraders then returned to Old College, where the prizes were awarded.

awarded the first prize of ten dollars. "Jimmie" Tighlman, in a scarlet ballet costume with the "Merry Whirl" effect, received the second prize, also ten dollars.

Howard Yost, and John Wells, with their huge goat, scored the prime hit of the evening, and were The "Down Home Club" was officially represented by "Len" Daley.

"Len" was done up in true "rube" style, and not only looked, but also acted the "rube." The rat rules skit by "Jimmie" Robbins, and the "Baby Buggy" by Northrup Fletcher and John Webb were also favorites.

The reception, arrangements for which were made by Dr. F. M. K. Foster, chairman of the Social Committee, was complete in every way, and it was thoroughly enjoyed by all those present. In the receiving line were the President, Dr. W. O. Sypherd, the Vice-President, Dr. A. Harter, the Secretary and Treasurer, A. G. A large gate-leg table, the gray rugs on the floor, and the handsome floor lamps combined to give to the room a warm air of cheerfulness and hospitality. Delaware College Orchestra To Tour State

Plans are being made for a trip which Delaware College orchestra is hoping to take through the State after the Christmas holidays. It is hoped to give a series of concerts before Easter. When the orchestra was organized this year, Mr. George Madden, well known throughout the state for his ability as a pianist, was made Director of the orchestra, Mr. W. D. Jones was chosen Concertmaster, and Mr. S. P. Maroney was elected Business manager, while Mr. C. W. Woodrow was chosen Librarian. The Finance Committee of the College generously donated a fund of $50.00 to finance the young organization, and at once music of classical and popular character was provided. The Orchestra furnishes the music for chapel.

But in lending his money thus he doesn't make the same searching analysis his bank does concerning his responsibility, though there is just as much, if not more, reason why he should. Indeed, he has not the facilities for doing so. He takes somebody's word that the bonds are a safe investment.

SUPPOSED MAD DOG NOT TO BE KILLED FOR 10 DAYS

State Board of Health Fixes
Limit For Safety
Sake

Realizing the fact that in many cases the owner of a dog that bites a human being kills the animal at once, either at the request of the aggrieved party or for fear that further damage may be inflicted, and thereby makes impossible a definite determination of whether or not the animal may have been able to transmit rabies, the following resolution has been adopted by the State Board of Health:

Resolved, That no dog that has bitten a human being shall be killed by the owner or by any other person until at least 10 days after the person was bitten unless the physical condition of the animal makes it plainly apparent before that time that it is suffering from rabies; and be it further

Resolved: That every person having in his possession or having knowledge of any animal affected with or suspected of being affected with rabies shall notify the local board of health at once in writing in sufficient detail so that such animal may be located.

The infection of rabies may be transmitted by a dog for several days before the animal shows any symptoms of the disease. If the dog does not develop rabies within ten days it is safe to assume that there is no danger of rabies from the bite, but if the animal is killed at once the laboratory examination may be negative and there is then no definite way of determining whether or not rabies may have been transmitted. The only safe procedure in such cases would be for the patient to take the Pasteur treatment, whereas if the dog were kept alive the expense and trouble of treatment would not be necessary if the dog did not develop symptoms of rabies within a few days. It should be clearly understood that every dog that is held under observation after having bitten a person must be securely fastened with a chain so that he cannot escape if he should go mad and that a veterinarian should be called immediately as soon as any unusual symptoms develop.—Delaware Health News.

"Labor Omnia Vincit" Fleming Tuckerman

Why should he live when they have died
To save the land and make us free?
Why cast the fruits of victory aside
To satisfy some selfish pride
Against the priceless boon of liberty?
'Twas they who saved the day
And gave us back the furrows to repair.
Shall we not then repay
Their sacrifice and partly do our share?
"Work" is the cry where sluggards lurk,
To work! To work!

Let us prove worthy of our dead
And offset not our precious gain;
Put shoulder to the wheel to win the bread,
Let no grass grow beneath our tread;
We must rebuild with hand and brain,
Now may the day begin,
With chimneys belching smoke and furnace glow;
Weavers weave, spinners, spin,
While the earth is turned, while the waters flow,
The call goes forth no man can shirk,
To work! To work!

Breweries May Make Sugar Substitute

Malt sugar sirup is a brand-new sweet which has arrived on a commercial scale at the psychological moment to relieve the sugar shortage, say the specialists of the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, who have investigated various substitutes for sugar. In addition to being a sweet, malt sugar sirup has a delicious flavor, somewhat resembling that of honey, which adds much to its palatability and value as a sugar substitute.

Commercial Production Beginning
While malt sugar has long been known to chemists, its production on a commercial scale is only beginning. Two factors have stimulated its production recently. The shortage of sugar has developed a market for it, and the recent prohibition law has made available both the raw material and the machinery needed for its manufacture. Malt sugar sirup is made from the same grains as beer, and may be made from corn or potatoes or any plant containing starch. Barley, which was used until recently in the manufacture of beer, can be used now to produce malt sugar sirup. Breweries, with very little change, can be used and are now being used for its manufacture. Up to a certain point the process for making malt sugar sirup is the same as the process for making beer. Evaporating pans is the principal additional equipment required by breweries to become malt sugar sirup factories.

Indians Were First Dentists

Why do the Americans have the best teeth in the world? Why did the dandified kaiser insist on an American dentist? The Indians taught us.
Dr. Marshall H. Saville, of Columbus University, digs into ruins, discovers: Long before Columbus was born, even fifteen hundred years ago, the Aztecs had perfected dentistry to an art. They filled cavities, made crowns and bridge work. Aztec dunes had conspicuous holes in their teeth filled with gold or turquoises—as perfect fitting a job as you could get today. They left records showing that they even used coca, from which cocaine is extracted, as a local anesthetic.

Faith in American Legion Banishes Fear

Franklin D'Olier, chosen as the first national commander of the American Legion, says in his first statement that the Legion "has an enormous amount of constructive work before it in the coming year"; and its attitude against the overt and covert menaces to American social ideals is already plain. The service it gave beyond the sea to fight off the enemies of order and progress is needed at home by those who, sailing abroad, would now transplant to these shores their policies and practices that get at naught the accepted civilized procedure.

The Loyal Legion was founded here in Philadelphia to keep faith with the same ideals which the American Legion under Philadelphia cherishes. The old veterans and the new are of one mind upon a platform of devotion to the unity and the indivisibility of the Republic. You will not get a soldier of America (if he is a worthy soldier) to approve of the wild work of the Reds in trying to beat down the defenses round our homes, our places and business and our very lives. The country is not afraid of what the alien seditionists can do. Faith in the American Legion, and in the Loyal Legion, too, is part of the reason why there is no fear.—Philadelphia Ledger.

To Get Long Mileage From Tires

Too often tire manufacturers are blamed for faulty tires, when the fault lies not with the manufacturer of the tires but with the operator of the car. At all times keep sufficient pressure in your tires, as underinflation means the cutting of the life of your tires in two.

Try to avoid sharp substances in the road—a small sharp cornered stone will often make a break in the fabric, and a piece of glass will sometimes cut a considerable gash. To avoid all sharp substances, is, of course, impossible. However, pains should be taken to avoid as many as you can.

Always have cuts, bruises or blisters vulcanized immediately. What today seems to be merely a small cut in a tire soon develops into a blow-out or sand blister.

Danger of Trichinosis From Partially-cooked Pork

At this season there is especial danger of illness following the eating of pork that is raw or only partially cooked. Of course, most Americans do not knowingly consume uncooked pork, although it is eaten not infrequently either as raw ham or in sausages that have been insufficiently cooked. At hog-killing time particularly there are many homemade meat products prepared on the farm, and consequently special care should be taken to make sure that pork, before it is eaten, is sufficiently cooked.

The disease known as trichinosis which may result from eating raw or imperfectly cooked pork, is caused by microscopic worms known as trichinae. These parasites in years past have been found to be present in one out of 71 hogs, and if the presence of dead trichinae and trichina-like bodies is included in the count, an average of one out of every 39 hogs has been found infected. Unlike many other infectious diseases, the severity of the attack of trichinosis depends upon the number of parasites swallowed. Large quantities of slightly infected pork must be eaten in order to produce bad effects; but, on the other hand, severe illness may be caused by eating small amounts of pork that is heavily infected.

Political Parties Necessary In a Democracy

"It is now a habit to eulogize independence and non-partisanship. To belong to a party is held to be akin to a vice. But seldom is there a continuing institution or practice not based on something strong and sound. American citizens have affiliated themselves with one or the other of the two leading political organizations. For this reason must exist. In other countries a party represents merely a set of echoes of some group of men. Here it is able to give orders to a President, a member of Congress to a remote sheriff to cooperate in a common end. It thus gathers to itself loyalty. It gives opportunity for public opinion to form and crystallize, provides machinery by which the government officer becomes a representative instead of an agent with plenary power to do as seems good to him. It thus tends to draw democracy out of the mists and make it real and actual." — New York Tribune.

Thrift Kills Two Birds With One Stone

The practice of thrift kills two birds with one stone and gives the stone back to the lucky man, woman or child who invests in thrift stamps. It kills one bird when it checks the extravagance that is contributing to the present high cost of living. It kills the second bird when it provides capital for industrial enterprise in the United States and for the reconstruction of Europe. It gives the stone back to the individual when it provides him with insurance against the rainy day and old age and when it gives him a good reputation in his community and credit at the banks.

Thrift was synonymous with patriotism in war, for it made possible the Liberty Loans; and thrift is no less synonymous with patriotism in peace, for it will foster the simple virtues of home ownership, industry and frugality that are the best protection against bolshevism and industrial unrest.

FARMERS ESTABLISH NEW LOAN ORGANIZATION

May Borrow From Federal Funds on Reasonable Security

About 15 farmers from this locality, members of the Farm Bureau, attended a meeting held in the Levy Court room at the Public Building on Saturday, when a National Farm Loan Association for the county was formed. This is confidently expected to be of great benefit to the agriculturists of the county.

To form such an association it is required that at least ten men must borrow at least $20,000. Within a few minutes fourteen applications were made for loans aggregating $60,000. Such was New Castle's response to the service offered by the Federal Government.

About forty farmers were present when the meeting was called to order. The Farm Loan Association is organized under the direction of the New Castle County Farm Bureau, and the machinery was all ready for the enrollment of members and election of officers. Balloting for officers resulted as follows:

President, James Conly, Jr., Edge Moor; vice-president, James H. Reynolds, Gebhard's Crossing, Kennett Pike; secretary and treasurer, Truxton Boyce, of Stanton.

The Board of Directors will include the above officers and these men in addition: A. R. Stewart, Porter; Walter S. Money, Townsend, and Frank McVaugh, Hockessin.

Under the farm loan system and through the association loans may be obtained by any farmer in New Castle County up to $10,000, from the Federal Land Bank, at Baltimore, which serves as agent for the Federal Treasury in this district. The loans are secured by property owned by the borrowers and are made up to about fifty per cent of the value of the property owned, plus 20 per cent of the value of insured buildings. The value for borrowing purposes is fixed by a committee appointed by the association to make an appraisal. The loans bear interest at 6 1/2 per cent, but as one per cent of this is applied to paying off the amount borrowed, the net rate of interest to the borrower is only five and one-half per cent, as compared to six per cent or more charged by regular banks or other loaning agencies.

Loans through the association may be used by the borrower either for buying or improving farm property, for paying off a mortgage on property already possessed by the borrower, or to satisfy other debts. A loan may run for 34 1/2 years, but may be paid off any time after five years. A farmer must purchase stock in the local association equal to five per cent of his loan. Applicants for loans may be made to any of the officers of the association.

Regular meetings of the association will be held hereafter on the first Saturday of each month at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon in the Levy Court room at the Public Building.

Will Prepare Exhibits For International Grain and Hay Show

Delaware farmers will compete in some of the $10,000 in cash prizes offered by the International Grain and Hay Show, which will be held at Chicago in connection with the famous International Live Stock Show November 29 to December 6. The prizes are offered on exhibits of corn, oats, wheat, barley, rye and hay. All entries must be made not later than November 20th and all exhibits to compete must be on the grounds not later than November 26th.

The County Agents of New Castle, Kent and Sussex counties, through their county Farm Bureaus, are reaching out to corn growers with whom they are assisting to prepare exhibits.

Delaware corn growers are anxious to participate in this contest for the cash prizes, and they appreciate fully the opportunity of advertising their State and their products. In the fourth zone, which includes Delaware sixteen prizes will be offered on 20 ear exhibits of either yellow or white corn, ranging from $100 to $400 in each class. A special set of premiums will be offered for single ear exhibits. Five prizes will be offered in each zone ranging from $15 to $50. Farmers in Delaware who would like to send grain or hay for this exhibit should get in touch with their County Agent.

Wallace Cook, of Newport, Alonzo Whitlock, of Odessa, and Fred Snyder, of Newport, will prepare exhibits.

New Serial At the Opera House

What is considered the greatest serial ever made is soon to be at the Opera House. "Lightning Bryce," is the name of this serial and it will be in fifteen episodes. The stars will be ANN LITTLE and JACK HOXIE.

The picture was directed by Paul Hurst, who is one of the most successful serial directors, having finished the directing of Ruth Roland in "The Tiger's Trail," after another director had started it. Joe Brandt wrote the story and it is a thriller from start to finish.

Jack Hoxie is one of the famous stunt cowboys who is called upon to do a great many thrilling stunts in "Lightning Bryce." Ann Little is a dainty little Western character, who is thoroughly at home on a horse's back, who can ride, shoot, swim and do the many other stunts that are required of her as easily and gracefully as any one.

The first episode of this serial will be seen at the Opera House, Tuesday, Nov. 25.

Delaware Tech Men To Dine

The Delaware Committee of the Technology Educational Endowment Fund have invited all Tech men in Delaware to a dinner on Friday evening, the 21st, at the Wilmington Country Club, to meet President MacLaurin of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and General T. Coleman duPont, president of Tech's Alumni Association.

The committee, the hosts of the occasion, desires that every Tech man in the State be present to give these distinguished guests a Delaware welcome, and any Tech men who have not received their invitations are urged to notify Joseph Bancroft of Wilmington that they will be present.

"If people would only work the hours they are supposed to," says Governor Coolidge, "there wouldn't be so much trouble." Time spent on the payroll doesn't always mean time spent on the job.—New York World.

FARM BUREAU MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY

J. I. Dayett Give Valuable Prize to Most Active Solicitor

The New Castle County Farm Bureau membership campaign for 1920 has been launched by the Hockessin, Fairview, Stanton-Newport communities. At a committee meeting held last week in each of these communities definite plans were laid for securing their respective quotas. Mr. R. G. Buckingham, captain of the northern membership team, has taken the responsibility of seeing that the members of his team shall be the guests of honor at the dinner given in December by the losing team.

Mr. J. I. Dayett, of Cooch, made it decidedly worth while for every farmer and his family to get into the contest when he offered to present a pure bred Holstein bull calf to the person in New Castle county who secures the greatest number of farm bureau members. The calf is two months old, is nicely marked and is out of his fine cow Princess Neco Buttergirl, which has a record of over 20 pounds of butter. The calf is worth at least $100. The New Castle County Farm Bureau has offered a scholarship to the boy or girl in each team who secures the largest number of members.

At each of the meetings County Agent R. O. Bausman and Club Leader Agnes P. Medill by use of charts reviewed the work accomplished during the present year. Each committee discussed and adopted a county program of work for 1920. During November similar committee meetings will be held in each community of the county. Each committee will report on the membership drive and program of work at the annual Farm Bureau meeting to be held in Wilmington, December 2.
