JURY PRONOUNCES RAILROAD COMPANY NEGLIGENT

Engineer and Firemen Unconscious of Accident

The summer's jury in Wilmington last Friday, after hearing evidence in connection with the accident at the B. and O. crossing, Newark, on Sunday, May 18, concluded that William Johnston came to his death from injuries received from being struck by an engine of the B. and O. railroad "due to negligence on the part of the company in not having a competent gate tender stationed at that crossing." The jury was composed of Robert T. Jones, foreman; Charles G. Guyer, secretary; Samuel Allen, John T. Spring, Jr., Maris Wingate and John W. Cameron.

Charles D. Christ, colored, the gate tender at the crossing, testified that the accident occurred, in the course of his story stated that he had been employed in that position only about one month, and had had but two week's experience with these particular gates. On the night in question he had turned out the lights in the station and was returning to the watch box when he heard the train coming. He began to run but was unable to get to the gates before the train reached the crossing.

The train hit the wagon, and threw the horse about 50 feet, according to his testimony, and threw both the occupants of the carriage quite a distance. He picked up Atwood Johnston, brother of the dead man, but did not see the man that was killed, though he heard him groaning.

On examination Christ said that his foreman had given him orders to turn out the lights at the station and had not ordered him to lower the gates while he did it. He said the train that had hit the wagon was a special and that he had had no notice that a special was following the last regular train. He declared that at the time of the accident the train was going about 50 or 60 miles an hour. He further declared that a warning was given in that the bell at the crossing was ringing as the train approached. He admitted that the gates were up at the time of the accident.

William I. Hilton of 1805 Covington street, Baltimore, Md., the engineer of the train that struck the train, was called upon to tell his story. He said:

"We passed the crossing about 10:52 and I did not know that I had struck the train until I reached Camden Station, in Baltimore, and was handed this telegram: please advise your knowledge of hitting team at Newark killing horse, killing one of the occupants an injuring other'. After I had run by engine to the yards I examined it carefully, and the pilot showed signs of hitting something. A couple of spokes were broken. I notified the dispatcher. That is all I know about the accident."

In reply to questions, Mr. Hilton said the train was going 42 miles an hour, as shown by the indicator. He said that it was a special he had charge of that night. He was put through a rigid examination, which he stood without confusion.

"Do you know whether the gates were up or down?" he was asked. "I did not see them at all. I was looking straight ahead for the signal."

"Did anything happen to call your attention to the fact that you were passing through Newark?"

"No."

"How do you know that you were going at 42 miles an hour?"

"The indicator showed 42 miles."

Mr. Hilton said that his last stop before Newark was Wilmington and that he did not stop again until he reached Baltimore. He was asked how fast he was allowed to go through stations, and he replied that through some stations they were not allowed to go faster than 20 miles an hour and that through others there was no speed limit, except that no passenger trains were allowed to go faster than 60 miles an hour at any time or under any circumstances. Asked why he did not notice anything at Newark he said he was looking for the signal and that when the engineer is looking up for the signal he cannot see anything on the track before him.

Other testimony was given by John Morgan, Frank Jefferson, Charles Anderson, colored, eyewitnesses of the scene. John W. Fisher, an employee of the Newark Creamery and Thomas B. Simpson, the fireman on the train.

SUPT. RITZ RETURNS

Suffers From Result Of Fall

Frederick Ritz, superintendent of the paper department of the local plant of the American Vulcanized Fibre Company, who was taken ill here about a month ago and went to his home in Pittsfield, Mass., returned to Newark Monday night. For about two weeks he was in a hospital at Pittsfield and for some time his case baffled the physicians there. It was not until the X Rays had been used that the trouble was finally located and the patient who had been suffering extreme pain was given relief. His entire body from under his arms to his hips is now encased in a plaster paris cast which he will have to wear indefinitely to give the injury near the base of the spine time to knit.

The case is an unusual one in several respects. Mr. Ritz nearly five weeks ago had an attack of what he thought at the time was rheumatism. As his ailment continued to grow worse, on May 2nd, he gave up work here and left for his home. After arriving in Pittsfield he was advised to go to a hospital. His condition remained unchanged, however, and, in fact he continued to suffer more each day. The case puzzled the physicians to such an extent after trying several treatments without success, that eventually they decided on the X Rays. Several pictures were taken and it was then that the trouble was located near the base of the spine. One of the pictures showed an opening between bones that was causing them to scrape together in a manner which accounted for so much pain. Having discovered the injury the physicians soon relieved the pain and then the plaster paris cast was decided on and made especially for the patient. It will probably weigh 10 pounds and while uncomfortable at times, there is no more pain.

Mr. Ritz at first could not account for such an injury but later remembered that last winter while walking over some paper rolls at the plant one of his feet slipped between two rolls and it is supposed that in this way the injury was caused. Although he was sore for a couple of days, after applying some liniment the soreness left and apparently there was no bad effect. It was some weeks later that he was compelled to return to his home. Because of the plaster paris cast and the nature of the injury he has been told to be very careful at work until entirely cured.

Animal Husbandry Class

The class in Animal Husbandry, Delaware College, will attend the Devon Horse Show on Thursday. Some members of the class will stay over and go to the famous Jersey cattle sale the following day at Coopersburg, Pa.

Prof. Hayward has been invited to judge at a Horse Show to be held at Smith School of Agriculture on May 29, at Northampton, Mass.

1500 Scouts will Contest For Prizes

Twenty-five of the Newark Scouts will take part in the Third Annual Field Days and Encampment at Cobb's Creek on May 30 and 31 in the vicinity of Philadelphia.

The troop will leave Newark on the 5:59 a. m. train Friday on the Pennsylvania R. R. From Wilmington the trip will be made on the Wilson Line Boat, leaving 7:30 a. m. The return trip will be made on the boat to Wilmington and from there over the B. & O. leaving Wilmington 9:09 p. m. Saturday.

In order to make the train Friday morning the scouts will assemble at their headquarters before 5:30 a. m. and promptly at this time leave for the depot. Those making the trip will deposit the expenses, $1.50 Thursday evening with the committee in charge of transportation and supplies.

On account of possible difficulty in getting baggage transferred Memorial Day, all baggage will be packed Thursday morning and forwarded before noon. The headquarters has sent notice that straw will be distributed for bedding accommodation. Each boy will take one heavy woolen blanket, a waterproof canvas or oil cloth to lie on, a woolen or flannel garment for sleeping, comb, tooth brush, soap, towel, also an inexpensive knife and fork. Spoons and tin cups have been provided.

A luncheon will be taken by each boy for breakfast on the boat. Other rations will be provided by the committee in charge.

A meeting tonight (Wednesday) for all taking the trip is called at headquarters for further instructions.

Notice has been received that 1500 scouts have entered the different contests.

DELINQUENT SCHOOL TAX CONSIDERED

Lecture Course In Prospect

The collection of delinquent school taxes was discussed at some length at the meeting of the Board of Education last night. There is considerable tax outstanding and the board is anxious to get it in. Dr. Joel S. Gillfillan, secretary of the board and also collector of the school taxes was instructed to collect the delinquent taxes by law if necessary. He has the authority to either have attachment issued against wages or seize property for the school taxes.

A representative of the Coit Lyceum Bureau of Philadelphia was before the board with a proposition for the board to select a course of five entertainments to be made up of high class talent and to be given during the next school year. The course would consist of music, literary and lectures. The board took the matter under consideration and may likely interest the Athletic Association of the schools in it.

President Edward L. Richards announced the appointment of the following committees for the ensuing year: Teachers and Discipline—McCue and Gillfillan. Finance—Hoffecker and Gallaher. School Property—Gallaher and Hoffecker. Text Books—Gillfillan and McCue. Visiting and Inspection—McCue and Gillfillan. Supplies—Gallaher and Hoffecker. R. F. Friedel, principal of the schools announced that Rev. Wm. J. Rowan would preach the baccalaureate sermon the Sunday before the High School Commencement and invited the members of the board to attend in a body with the teachers.

Pet Dog Frightens Burglars

Burglars were frightened from the home of Mr. John Burnite last Sunday night, by the barking of Trix, the pet dog, who was tied in the kitchen. The furious barking of the dog awakened the family who went to investigate and found the outside door standing wide open. The dog's reception had evidently caused the intruders to make a hasty exit.

Improving North College Avenue

Much interest has centered for the past week in the work under way on North College Avenue, under the direction of W. J. Bernard. The large trees that lined the walk have been removed during the last five days, the trees, roots and all, being pulled out by a traction engine.

The lumber is being removed today after which work will begin immediately on widening the street macadamizing, and laying the curb. The street when finished will be thirty feet from curb to curb. The town will macadamize from Main street to Delaware Avenue and the property owners will provide cement gutter and curbing. Although there has been much regret expressed at parting with the beautiful old trees, it is the general opinion that the finished work will greatly improve that section of the town.

Purchases Milk Route

Chester Ewing, for several years the popular assistant in the ticket office at the B. & O., has resigned his position with that company and purchased the milk route of Mr. John McKoon.

Mr. Ewing will assume charge of his new business the first of June.

New Lieutenant For Co. E

Frank H. Clark, who last week established a State record on the target range, has been elected to the second lieutenantcy at the recent election held by Company E.

Lieut. Clark was chosen for the position by the men a few weeks ago. He was obliged to undergo an officers' examination, given by members of the general staff in Wilmington, a test which the candidate has successfully passed, giving Company E a second lieutenant.

Delawarean Leads Class At Naval Academy

The results of the final term's work at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis make it practically certain that first honors in the graduating class this year will be taken by William H. P. Blandy, midshipman, of Delaware. Second honors probably will go to Evett L. Gayhart, midshipman of Ohio.

Mr. Blandy is a resident of Newark, and was recommended for appointment by Senator duPont. He has been at the fore in his classes since entering the Academy and for awhile was cadet commander, the highest rank for a student at the academy.

OBITUARY

JAMES HARGIS

James Hargis, the originator of the plan to establish the Red Men's Home near Newark, died in that institution on Wednesday, May 21, at 9:40 o'clock. The deceased, who was 68 years of age, for the last year has been suffering from internal trouble which caused his decline to be a rapid one. Funeral services were held from the residence of a daughter, Mrs. Clarence Diekey, Wilmington, on Sunday, May 25. Interment in Silverbrook Cemetery.

Mr. Hargis has for years been prominent in Red Men's circles of Delaware. Previous to his admission to the Home, December 6, 1911 he had worked earnestly to effect the establishment of the institution. He offered the resolution to start the fund for the purpose October 30, 1895, and donated the first nickel toward the fund which made the Home possible. Throughout the campaign to gain the necessary money Mr. Hargis was one of the most active workers, and received the general commendation of members of the order throughout the State. He was a painter and for years was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mr. Hargis was considered an authority on historical questions affecting Wilmington during the last generation and for a long time contributed a series of special articles for the Sunday Star.

Two sisters, one brother and four daughters survive.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS CONSIDERED BY WOMEN'S CLUBS

Much Work Accomplished During the Year

After voting to go to Milford next year in response to an invitation extended by Mrs. Marshall, former State President of the Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs elected the following new officers:

President, Mrs. Samuel J. Reynolds, Smyrna; first vice-president, Mrs. Brashaw, Delmar; second vice-president, Mrs. A. T. Neale, Newark; third vice-president, Mrs. J. Lynn Pratt, Milford; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles Hastings, Laurel; corresponding secretary, Miss Anna Hough, Smyrna; General Federation secretary, Mrs. J. C. Robinson, Wilmington; treasurer, Mrs. Madison Willin, Seaford; auditor, Mrs. Cecil C. Fulton, Dover.

REPORT FROM NEWARK CLUB

Reports were read, during the first days session, from all the clubs in the State, Mrs. C. B. Evans telling of the activities of the Newark Club.

"Figures are not very interesting, but they seem the only way to tell what we have accomplished during the year. We have given $10 to the Boy Scouts. We have increased our building fund $314.78. For the town sprinkler we have collected $301.97, and for our library we raised about $280. As there are several other matters pending just now before the taxpayers, it does not seem feasible to establish a free library at present.

"Our club has added thirteen new members to the roll this year. Through our educational committee we have offered to the pupils of the public schools (in the grades from third to eighth, inclusive) prizes amounting to $10 for good spelling. This committee has also made several attempts to have a woman on the School Board, but has not succeeded so far. However, as the result of these efforts, we have been asked to appoint a committee of three to visit the schools and report to the board. We have also aroused considerable interest in a parent-teachers' association and hope soon to be able to establish one.

"Our civic committee has had a town cleaning day; has had the street rubbish cans painted; had several objectionable signs removed, and has asked the trustees of the Academy to reserve the rear campus for a public playground, the club to act with the trustees in fitting up and caring for the same."

GENERAL DIRECTOR PRESENT

Mrs. W. E. Andrews of Washington, D. C., director in general of the Federation of Women's Clubs, was an active official visitor who was frequently called upon to advise with the Delaware women on the procedure and in the movements for the uplift of women and children, the education and betterment of the people and the improvement of civic conditions.

VISIT DOVER HIGH SCHOOL

The visitors were invited to visit the Dover High School during the afternoon and inspect the new Manual Training Department of the school. A number of the delegates from Newark found this an especially interesting feature apropos of the discussion in connection with the offer from the DuPont School, to co-operate in the engagement of teachers to carry on this work.

The exhibit included a library table, clothes tree, porch swing, knife boxes, roller towel racks, book racks and other articles, all well made and most useful. There is also an interesting exhibit of card-board work by the younger girls.

STRONG FOR REFORM

Many subjects of interest were discussed and acted upon at the Wednesday session. Mrs. Harry Hayward of the Newark Club deplored the extremes in both dancing and dressing, which prevail in the modern community.

Mrs. Harry Hayward of the Newark Club deplored the extremes that prevail in both dancing and dressing, which prevail in the modern community.

She spoke of the chief problems of educators in numerous parts of the country as being the over-elaborate dress of young school girls. To a great degree she placed the blame upon the mothers whose careless training of their daughters was responsible for present conditions. Protests, she said, were coming from all over the country, against the modern dress of women and girls. "If one is judged by such costumes," said she, "can you wonder if a like estimate is placed upon one's character?"

In like manner she deplored the modern dances which have become such an objectionable feature of social life. She compared the beautiful square dances of the past, and the graceful round dances to the present dances, which, as she said, were not conducive to a high standard of morality.

Resolutions were adopted indorsing the fight for reform along many lines.

Resolutions praising the Legislature for the reform and educational legislation passed were adopted, also the State Grange, W. U. F. D., Equal Suffrage League and State Board of Education for help in getting more good laws.

Delaware was reported fourth in the roll of states sending in the apportionment to the National Federation for the Sarah Platt Decker Memorial, which is an endowment fund to perpetuate the meeting of the National Federation and pay the heavy expenses. Delaware's share was $400.

BOYS AND GIRLS CLUBS

Mrs. Frederick C. Snyder of Delaware State Grange described the corn and canning club movement started by the United States government. Boys and girls are encouraged to raise vegetables and they are taught to can by sterilization, emphasis being placed on the objections to the open kettle method. There are three clubs in Newark, one in Newport and one in Stanton and Mrs. Snyder is anxious to have them all over the State. She offered to go to any of the towns to assist in forming clubs and to give instructions in canning.

THE RELATION OF CLUB WOMEN TO NEW WOMEN'S COLLEGE

Mrs. A. D. Warner, chairman of the Committee on Education made an interesting report, dealing principally with the new Affiliated College for Women, to be established in connection with Delaware at Newark. Mrs. Warner represents the Federation on the Commission in charge of the buildings and spoke as follows concerning the latest developments and future plans:

"April 14 the commission met in Newark with the trustees of the college and visited several properties in various locations. It has met twice since in Wilmington but so important a step must be wisely and thoughtfully considered before a final decision can be reached. However, we may assure our friends that before the beautiful foliage dons its autumn tints they will be invited to the corner stone ceremonies and all will be glad for this tangible evidence of our dreams.

"What is your plan for the college organization? we are now being asked. The commission at present only has power for the erection of the buildings, but it is full of fine plans to extend to our Delaware daughters such broad and liberal opportunities as will meet their varied needs. It is intended to establish a Department of Education and also a Department of Household Economics, which will include a normal course, domestic science, vocational work and garden culture. These departments will cover a wide area of education and development which cannot fail to bring far reaching and high results in home, school and community.

"We know the heart of this federation is beating through it all, for Emerson says 'the world moves by heart beats' and high ground is being reached at every step. Our gratitude extends to our untiring president, your committee throughout the State and our kind friends, whom we have already named as loyal supporters through this memorable campaign.

"Women of the federation, we appeal to you to mother this college for our Delaware daughters. Will our clubs think how they can furnish a room in their name, equip a department that will stand as an enduring monument? Give it your co-operation, give it your sympathy give it your love that we 'may build better than we know.'"

THE NEWSPAPER IN THE HOME

The following interesting talk on the modern newspaper was given by Miss E. N. Taylor of the Wilmington Club:

"Whenever the 'yellow' newspaper is left on the stall unsold or whenever its subscription list becomes alarmingly low, then that newspaper is going to cease being trashy, and it will become worthy of your home and mine. Why should we buy searchheads and front pages given over to murders and suicides when there are papers that are honest and sincere, free from perversion of truth, whose reports are written in good English. The continuity of a newspaper makes it important—it is in your home every day, and should be as wholesome as your bread; it is your daily historian; history is in the making day by day, only we don't realize it.

"Newspaper publishing, like every other business, is pleasing the people. Readers are given what they want. Thousands of readers means thousands of dollars income from advertising, and it is the advertisements that pay—circulation is only a means to an end.

"Every class of readers is considered by a newspaper. Because only a small percentage of the 1,600 club women of Delaware are here, reports of the State Federation are published, that those who remain at home may know almost immediately what is being done here. In this manner and for the same reason all the interests of a newspaper's patrons are considered—every man and woman is served with his or her own particular news.

"Readers seldom realize how responsible they are, on occasions, for the news of the day. If you are president or secretary of a society, it is to you that the reporter goes for information, and it is for you to be accurate and definite in your statements. Granted that reporters are occasionally careless, and the hurry of newspaper writing sometimes causes mistakes, it is nevertheless a fact well known to those on the inside that definite information is often hard to obtain.

"As to gaudy colored comic supplements—they are going out of fashion, due undoubtedly to the movement among women's clubs and other organizations against them. A few reputable newspapers still cling to them, but the lurid red and yellow sheet with so-called comic characters is rapidly disappearing, and we hope not even a copy will be saved for a museum of the next century.

"To conclude: in newspapers, as in many other things, we get what we seek; therefore, why not let along the unworthy sheet and read the paper giving us the news of today—local, national and world-wide—with a supplement that provides fiction, humor and yester that are well worth reading."

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

J. J. Levison, the Brooklyn City Forester, gave many helpful suggestions about the "Care of Shade Trees in the City." Previous to his address Mr. Levison was taken around Dover in an automobile and examined a number of the shade trees and many practical suggestions were given by him.

He suggested that the Federation see that Delaware adopts a "Tree Ordinance," and have a tree warden in every city and town in Delaware, whose special work would be the care of the shade trees.

Jostled by two negroes at Ninth and Young streets, New Castle on Saturday evening, to whom remarked, "Look out where you are going," Clarence Palmer, a member of the city council was stabbed by one of them in the breast and was hurried to Delaware Hospital. The assessed value of the city's real estate is $57,526,338 and the bond limit 10 per cent of the total or $5,752,633. The total of bonds outstanding is $3,857,000. With coming issues, including $900,000 for the new joint city and county building the total will be $4,961,000, leaving a margin of $791,633 before the city's borrowing capacity is reached. The statement takes the cost and not the present value of the city's assets and shows its financial condition to be safe and sound.

Dr. Warren P. Laird, professor of architecture in the University of Pennsylvania, has been chosen advisor to the Commission in charge of the new joint city and county building in Wilmington in the choice of a supervising architect, and competition in submission of plans is invited.

George Naylor, brother of Charles B. Attorney General Wolcott has notified Naylor's counsel that he will move that the Court's order for a new trial, on the ground of new evidence to have been given by the deceased brother, be vacated.

The barking of their dog saved Justice Jesse T. Sharp of Seaford, and his wife from suffocation by gas escaping from a leaking jet at their home one night last week. Dr. W. F. Haines revived Mrs. Sharp with difficulty. Had not the dog roused the husband the aged couple would have perished.

Negroes in a quarrel over crap, at Moore's Run, near Chesapeake City, on Sunday afternoon attacked Harry Vance, "Doc" Everett and Richard Callahan, white residents of that town. Vance and Everett were knocked down, and the latter was slashed with a razor. Callahan made his way to Richard Stubbs' home, nearby, and the latter took his gun and went with one of his sons to the scene of the fracas. Stubbs fired over the heads of the negroes but was knocked down and his gun was taken from him. Mrs. Stubbs went to her husband's aid and was knocked down. Young Stubbs was also beaten. The negroes escaped before Sheriff Perkins and Bailiff Rous of Elkton arrived after Callahan had brought news of the trouble to Chesapeake City. The first report was that Vance had been killed and two other white men seriously wounded. O. M. Stewart, employed in the George M. Pusey flour mill at Ashland, near Wilmington, met with a horrible death on Thursday. His clothing caught in the machinery while he was oiling the gearing, and he was whirled around the shaft and beaten to death before a fellow employee, who heard the thump of his feet upon the floor, could come to his aid. A widow and two young children survive him.

A New Year and a New Plumbing Equipment

Resolve now that this coming year will show an added convenience in the sanitary equipment of your home. Life is surely worth living, but to be lived at its best, one should have the comfort and conveniences which modern views recognize as necessary.

A dainty bathroom, a white enameled kitchen sink or a set of laundry trays which the housewife will be sure to appreciate; all of these are sure to add to the convenience and comfort of the home, and thus make for the peace of mind and good health of the household.

Now not only make this resolve but let us show you how easy it will be to keep it and carry it out most advantageously by installing "Standard" guaranteed fixtures in our scientific manner.

A happy and healthful year (not spoiled by annoyances of an unsanitary plumbing equipment) our New Year's wish to you.

Mr. Robert Coverdale of the Harmon and Bailey Circus is suffering with pneumonia in the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore.

Miss Eleanor Pilling of West-Point Home School spent the weekend at her home in Newark.

Mrs. Bessie Perry left this week for an extended visit with relatives in West Virginia.

Mrs. William Hoffman of Philadelphia is visiting her aunt, Mrs. John Davis at Coaches Bridge.

Miss Eunice Ensor of West Arlington, Baltimore, is the guest of Newark friends.

Miss Florence Butler is spending some time at Atlantic City.

Miss Elizabeth Jarnon is visiting relatives at Berlin.

Henry Torrell of the Cecil Whig, Elkton, paid The Post a visit on Monday evening.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mrs. Charles C. Herman, Jr. has issued invitations for a luncheon and cards on Saturday, May 31st, at 12:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Whittingham and family motored to Valley Forge on Sunday, returning by way of Philadelphia. The trip was delightful and the roads good, with a few exceptions. Upon reaching home the speedometer showed 114 miles covered on the trip.

The Newark New Century Club is this year honored in the State Federation with the office of second vice-president. She has been favored with the chairmanship of the State Educational Committee. So she has good reason to feel proud.

The Newark Club extended the invitation to entertain the Federation next year, but in view of the fact that there would be more of interest to show to visitors and the affiliated college a reality in 1915 she gracefully yielded in favor of her sister club at Milford, for 1914.

Mrs. C. H. Evans, with a party of friends, motored to West Grove, Pa. on Sunday.

Resolutions Of Respect

At a regular meeting of Ivy Castle, No. 23, Knights of the Golden Eagle, the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God, who, in his infinite wisdom, has seen fit to remove from our midst our Brother, W. B. Johnston, therefore be it

Resolved, While we deeply deplore the loss of our beloved Brother, we tender our sincere sympathy to the bereaved family and commend them to the care of an Allwise Father, whose ways we cannot understand, but whose mercy is everlasting.

Resolved, That as a token of respect our charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Castle and a copy be sent to the family of our deceased Brother, also to the Newark Post and Delaware Ledger.

Returns To Home

Miss Lillie Miller has returned to her home, West Main street, after undergoing treatment for several months at a private hospital in Philadelphia.

Miss Miller has been in poor health for some time and her friends rejoice with her that she has returned a well woman.

Poor B. & O. Service

Changes in schedule were made by both the B. & O. and the Pennsylvania railroads on Sunday and as usual with the first named road, the changes are generally for the worse.

In the first place the 11:02 north-bound fast express in the morning no longer stops here and the morning express from Philadelphia to Washington, formerly stopping here at 9:09, no longer stops, its place being taken by an accommodation train from Wilmington to Baltimore, reaching here at 8:52 a. m. The train that left Wilmington at 8 a. m. and got here at 8:27 generally carrying a car load of students to the College no longer runs and so every day from forty to fifty students will have to miss chapel exercises and be late for their first recitations. It is a serious matter to the Faculty and students and it will probably result in Wilmington students using the "Pony" train reaching Newark Center at 8:08.

Under the new Pennsylvania schedule the north-bound trains from Newark Center will back down to the Newark station and take on passengers there and then continue north. Trains arriving at Newark Center from the north will stop first at the Newark station before coming to Newark Center. The 12:20 Center train for Philadelphia now leaves at 12:10 p. m. There are many other minor changes, mostly for the better.

New Base Ball Manager

On account of the rain, the game between Newark and Aberdeen, last Saturday was called off. Owing to not being able to devote more attention to the baseball club, Manager Everson has resigned and "Billy" Johnson has taken up the reins in his place. "Billy" should make a very capable manager as he knows the game from A to Z.

Charles Beattie has been signed to play third base for the local team. This will strengthen the team considerably as Beattie is considered one of the best utility men in the game.

Weather permitting (and we hope it will), Newark will open the season here on Decoration Day with Aberdeen.

Post Baseball X.

Minstrel Band At Ball Game
DeRue Bros. Big Minstrels will give a performance in the Newark Opera House on Friday evening, May 30th.

The company's band will be at the base ball game in the afternoon when the Tri-county team will play the boys from Aberdeen, and furnish music for the occasion.

FIVE MINUTES FOR MEMORY
In honor of the heroic dead who gave their last full measure of devotion, that we might the better live—let us stop the whirl of this work-a-day world and give FIVE MINUTES TO MEMORY and reconvert ourselves with the resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain.

What is the feminine of Paul Moore?

Failing to blow his horn in Dover, Capt. Mitchell was fined last week. This neglect seems to be growing on him since the last convention.

Well—Horace Greely Knowles is home and from reported interviews he is a Delawarean still.

To say he is the silver-tongued orator of Delaware is trite, but Be George it's true.

Newark invites him out to his old stamping round.

Tell me what a girl reads, and I'll tell you whether she can do the tango! tell how a man votes on the Sewer and with a public micrometer I can give you his measure.

When you set yourself up to criticize the proposed Sewer System as planned by the authority of the East, Engineer Hatton, be sure you have the reputation of business judgement.

Here's a good one handed to us by one of our good friends:

"Don't worry, old man, what they say. Always remember when walking through the woods that it is the dead twigs that fly up and hit you."

That is about true, any man or institution trying to do anything is criticised,—mostly by the dead ones.

At the meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, Newark made the report, that, due to the increased burden of taxes, it was inadvisable to attempt the Free Library idea.

We should like to see the Wilmington City officials, Chamber of Commerce and citizens-at-large invited to attend the Commencement this year.

The B. & O. is a railroad which passes through Newark with occasional stops.

Miss Shew Entertains

Miss Ethel Shew entertained a number of friends last Saturday evening at her home on Delaware Avenue. Those present included: Misses Elsie Sutton, Elizabeth Pierson, Hannah Marsey, Edna Thomas, Jennie Moore, Isabella Sweet, Bessie Shaw; Messrs. Del Smith, Thomas Murray, George Bickling, Wm. Gregg, Rufus Roberts, Chester Ewing, Clarence Jester and Guy Gray.

"The Blue Hen" Just Out

If you live in Newark—that's sufficient. Whether you are a College man or not, you will appreciate the D. C. Annual "The Blue Hen" just out today under the editorship of the wonderful Class of 1914 which promises to excel the reported glories of old '98.

The copy comes to us just before we go to press and we cannot give you even a faint hint of its tone, quality and striking features. Suffice just now to say that it is not only a College Year Book but a piece of Art that rightfully belongs on every Library table in Newark.

Bound in Limp Leather, color blue, stamped in Gold,—that's just suggestive of the inside. Get one and look for the views, the cartoons (or are they actual photographs?)

They are at Rhodes' Drug Store for sale for Two Wilson Dollars, and guaranteed. They are worth the price all right.

Next week buy The Post for a review.

Just now, congratulations to Delaware, Newark, the Juniors and the Star Printing Company, the worthy artists.

Miss Reed Improving

Presumably by mistake, Lizzie Reed, daughter of Robert Reed, employed at the home of Dr. Kollock, swallowed a dose of formaldehyde, last Sunday evening.

Her groans aroused Dr. Kollock who found the young woman suffering from the results of poisoning.

Drs. Steel and Blake were immediately summoned when medical assistance relieved the patient.

Miss Reed has been removed to the home of her parents on Delaware Avenue, and while seriously ill is improving daily and her recovery is expected.

Farm Prospects

Farmers are getting anxious over weather conditions. The cool weather that has prevailed for the last two weeks has greatly handicapped work on the farm. The recent rains have stopped corn planting and reports of the necessity of replanting are increasing daily.

Crop conditions are not especially favorable just now. Late frosts killed lots of the tomato plants, making a late crop.

Hay and wheat are looking fair and a normal crop in these grains is predicted.

The berry crop in this section will probably be short due to late frosts and cold rainy weather.

Asparagus is not up to its usual standard and all local gardeners report a late season in truck.

First Summer School Bulletin

A preliminary bulletin has been issued by President Harter of Delaware College, concerning the Summer School to open at the State College in June. Every teacher in the State will receive a copy of a second bulletin giving more detailed information, within the next ten days.

The short bulletin issued yesterday follows:

The Summer School for Teachers at Delaware College has been established by the Board of Trustees in accordance with the provisions of an Act passed by the General Assembly of Delaware at the session recently held. The Board conjointly with the State Board of Education has arranged courses of study to meet the varying demands of the teachers of our schools for preparation for their work.

The school will begin Monday, June 23, and will continue five weeks, closing Friday, July 25. Monday will be registration day and everybody should be present at that time in order to be ready to begin work promptly on Tuesday morning. Recitations will be held every day except Saturday. Patriotic exercises will form part of the programme of Independence Day.

All persons who are now teaching or who will give satisfactory assurance to the Director of the School that they intend to teach in the free public schools of this state, shall be admitted into this school, the tuition of which shall be free. All other persons who may wish to take any of the courses offered by the School will be charged the nominal fee of $5.00 for the term of five weeks. There will be no examinations for admission. Students of either sex will be admitted to such courses as they may be found qualified to pursue with advantage.

INSTRUCTION

The courses will be made to suit the needs of the teachers. Elementary instruction in the fundamental school subjects, including methods of teaching, will be given to the teachers of the primary grades. More advanced work will be given to the teachers of higher grades.

A fine opportunity of receiving instruction in Agriculture is offered by this School. Since the State Board of Education has added this subject to the list of studies required in the schools of the state, it is necessary for every teacher in Delaware to become familiar with the fundamental knowledge of farm life and rural home-making. Special stress will be put upon the methods of instruction.

In brief, in all work Delaware College seeks the widest usefulness to the teachers and is ready to organize classes to meet their needs.

EXPENSES

Tuition is free to all Delaware teachers. To others a nominal charge of $5.00 will be made. Board may be obtained at the College at the cost of food and service; it will not cost more than $3.50 a week. Furnished rooms may be rented at convenient distances from the College at 75 cents to $1.00 a week. The actual living expenses for the five weeks, beginning June 23 and lasting until July 25, need not exceed $23.00 or $24.00, and may be made less than $20.00. In some of the houses where rooms may be rented, it will be necessary for the students to supply sheets, spreads, and towels.

BOOKS AND MATERIALS

Teachers will bring with them the text-books that they may have. Instruction will be given by the topical method, consequently any text-book may be used.

Another bulletin, giving courses of study and teaching staff, will follow this in about a week. For bulletins and other information address

GEO. A. HARTER,
Director of Summer School,
President of Delaware College.

Humane Butchering Practiced in Iceland

A recent article in June number of "Dumb Animals" describes the superior methods of slaughtering animals for market, which prevail in Iceland. The following extract is clipped from the mentioned article:

"The sheep are led into the slaughter room singly, where a mask, with a movable iron bolt, is quickly thrown over their eyes as they enter. A man with one blow drives the bolt into the sheep's brain. It drops dead instantly. It has seen no signs of others destroyed before it. Cattle and pigs are killed by a bullet before the knife is used, death being instantaneous. This is Iceland! Here in America, swine, and the majority of calves, are still subjected to the brutal methods employed by the uncivilized and savage—they are hung up by a hind leg, then their throats are cut and they are left to bleed to death, the dying struggle lasting into several minutes. Why are we so careless of their suffering? Because the great body of those who eat flesh never stop to think of the horrors of the shambles into which, as into some hell of fright and pain, these creatures must pass before their carcasses are worked up into chops and roasts and cutlets. Also because to kill them humanely would take a minute or two of extra time, and time is money to us in this progressive country where so small a matter as the fair and just treatment of our food animals must not be considered even against the profits of business.

The cruelties of the small slaughter pen and of the great packing houses constitute one of the blackest crimes of our time and country against defenseless animal life. Here is a theme well worthy the attention of Congress, as it has been deemed worthy of the consideration of the British Parliament. We too must have a commission to investigate this whole subject of our slaughter methods. Once the nation is compelled to face the facts the reform will have to come.

Lowering The Cost Of Living

After a series of experiments lasting through many weeks, the officials of the colored social settlement of Washington, D. C., have announced that they have lowered the cost of a wholesome meal for six persons to 42 cents, or seven cents a person.

The reduction in cost is brought about largely through an advanced knowledge of cooking, by which cheap meats are made as toothsome and appetizing as meats of greater cost. Here is one division of the cost: One and one-half pounds of flank beef, at 12 cents a pound; spinach, 5 cents; potatoes, 5 cents; parsley, 1 cent; onion, 1 cent. The remainder of cost, or 12 cents, provides for beaten biscuits and baked apples.

The settlement insists that the seven-cent meal is not theoretical and that such meals are the rule in its headquarters.

A Big Show Coming

Not one stale or worn out act presented and we feel confident that we shall please our friends to such an extent that they will pronounce us the one and only truly advertised Minstrel Company that visits your city this season, for we have gathered together the most expensive army of Minstrel talent from American and European agents that was ever engaged under one Minstrel management. Don't fail to see the street parade and hear the solo band concerts on day of show.

Delaware In National Congress Of Mothers

Mrs. Lewis Mustard, of Lewes, before the National Congress of Mothers, in Boston last week read the report for the Delaware branch of the congress in lieu of Mrs. George W. Marshall of Milford, who was a delegate to the congress, but was prevented from attending. The report follows:

The Delaware Branch of the National Congress of Mothers has been growing steadily in influence throughout the State during the past year.

"We have six parent teachers' associations, with a good prospect of others coming in this year. All associations are connected with schools, except one, and that is connected with a church. Our membership is about four hundred. As a council meeting held in Milford, organizers were appointed for each of the three counties of the State. One new association has been organized at Cheswold in Kent.

The annual meeting of the council will be held at Laurel, Sussex county, on Thursday, May 28, in the Century Club rooms. Reports from officers of the State branches and presidents of associations will be given. The meeting will be an open one and all who are interested in child welfare will be invited to attend and participate in the proceedings.

"The problem in Delaware seems to be to arouse the interest of the people to the value of the work of the congress.

"The Parent Teachers' Association, of Dover, Delaware, is doing a splendid work; through their efforts manual training is established in the schools; bubble fountains placed in both the white and the colored schools, also in the town fountains. Two playgrounds and an athletic field have been opened to the children. They conserved moving pictures with the result that a better series have been secured, and they have assumed an active part in all things that are for social betterment. Milford Association has held their work for playgrounds that will be supervised.

"The Wilmington Parent-Teachers' Association, the only one connected with a church, is doing splendid work in training mothers how to care for and feed their children. The State board can with pleasure report progress and a hope for a better progress during the next and succeeding years.

"Mrs. Mary L. Marshall,
President,
Milford, Kent County, Del."

Fly-Swatting Ineffective

It is always fly time somewhere, and everywhere (in this country at least) it is fly time some time. Summer is pre-eminently the time for flies in all portions of the United States, and as the past winter has been unusually short and mild, it would be well for us to be more than ever on our guard this season against the dangerous and pestilential insect which has been the object of organized campaigns of extermination.

In presenting the report of the fly-fighting committee of the American Civic Association, last fall, the chairman expressed the hope that there might be no more fly-killing contests. According to a report made at the time, that sentiment took the assembled fly-fighters by surprise, which was dissipated, however, when Mr. Hatch, the chairman, said:

"We cannot insist too much or too often upon cleanliness as the beginning, middle, and end of the fly-fighting campaign. 'Swat the fly!' as a slogan must give way to 'Starve the fly!' The latter is more euphonious, and infinitely more practical.

The chairman summarized a series of reports coming from cities and towns in all parts of the country and said that, in cities in which substantial cash prizes had been awarded, in no case did the number of flies killed in the whole of a campaign exceed the quantity which could easily have been reared in the course of a few weeks. "While the educational value of such fly-killing campaigns cannot be overestimated," the report said, "it would seem that greater results might be obtained by conducting campaigns against dirty stables and back yards, garbage heaps and dumps and all places that produce flies and supply them with infection."

The Florida Board of Health last summer adopted an ordinance requiring hotels, boarding houses and restaurants to screen their dining rooms and kitchens so as to keep out flies. The ordinance also requires wire covers to be placed over fruits, meat, etc., offered for sale; and makes it unlawful for a horse stable within 500 feet of a residence or store not to be equipped with means to prevent the breeding and liberating of flies.

Reports from the Panama Canal Zone indicate that the canal country is now free of flies than the Middle Atlantic States. This is due to scientific screening, the destruction of garbage, and the removal of refuse matter.

From Delaware Of Course

John Bassett Moore, counselor for Bryan's Department of State, is one of the leading authorities of the country on international law. He has written books on the subject that are the final tidings. Furthermore, he was Assistant Secretary of State in 1898 and was secretary and counsel of the Spanish-American Peace Conference at Paris in that year. From all this, even the most skeptical reader will grasp the idea that John Bassett Moore knows something about international law and the relations of nations one to the other. He knows where the various nations are and what comprise their rights.

Having that in mind, let us now go back several years—back to 1885 when Secretary Bayard was running the State Department. A friend of Bayard walked into the office one day and said:

"I have a young man I want to get a job for in the State Department, but I'm not sure he can get through his civil service examinations. See if you can't throw a little influence his way. He's a fairly bright young man, but I'm afraid he can't pass in geography. He doesn't know one country from another."

The young man contrived to slip through and got a job in the State Department, regardless of his lack of information about geography.

And that young man was, of course, John Bassett Moore.

Legislation Affecting Freight Shipment

To assist the railroads to protect interstate freight shipments from theft, Congress has enacted a law making such theft an offense against the National Government.

For years railroads and shippers have suffered heavy losses from theft of goods in transit. These losses in many cases amount to more than the claims paid by a railroad for goods damaged in train wrecks. On the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1912, claims to the extent of $28,908, due entirely to theft, were paid, while claims for goods damaged in wrecks amounted to only $16,000.

Owing to the fact that trains run through many different counties and states, railroad authorities have heretofore found it very difficult to prosecute car and depot thieves because in such prosecution it was necessary to establish the location of the crime.

Through the Carlin Act, as the new law is called, these thieves must face prosecution in the Federal court, either in the district where the theft occurred, or in the district where the thief is apprehended with the stolen goods. In other words, the new law makes it possible for railroads and the National Government effectively to expedite the prosecution of thieves who make a practice of robbing freight cars and depots.

Safe-guarding the Delaware Records

An interesting feature of the meeting of the club women of the State, held in Dover last week, was the visit to the Hall of Records in the State House where the visitors were received by members of the State Archives Commission.

Members of the Commission have been busy since the action of the last legislature in awarding $1000 for the carrying forward of the work of safeguarding the old and valuable records of the little commonwealth.

Fireproof partitions and floor have been put in and the place is also burglar proof, and proof of all the ills that can befall records.

On a table was spread out the original grant of land from Charles II to the Duke of York, which has been in safe deposit in Wilmington and was brought down Wednesday by J. Ernest Smith. This is our most valuable document, also the most splendid, with its pen and ink portrait of King Charles and its rich embellishments of armorial design. The documents of the twelve mile circle are in the glass case in the safe, and around the walls are the mahogany cases (also containing papers) that were made for the Jamestown exposition, but were not sent. These contain a vast quantity of historical papers classified in their arrangement. One case is devoted to Caesar Rodney and another to William Penn.

The safe is the latest and best of its kind and was purchased by ex-governor Pennell and J. Ernest Smith. Besides it is a steel filing case, containing a great many catalogued papers.

INDEPENDENCE BELL

The bell that rang out independence for Delaware is in the hall of records, suspended on a Flemish oak stand, made by Mrs. William S. Hilles. When the mansard roof was put on the State House in the '70's the original tower and its bell were removed, and now that a reproduction of the tower is on the State House, the commission hope to reinstate it in the belfry.

Five Empire chairs used in the early days of the republic by Delaware legislators and one old table have been restored by the commission for use in the depository. The electric light chandeliers were made by Mr. Tatnall from old gas fixtures found in the building and he also made the black letters over the arch entrance, designating the room as "Hall of Records."

Grape Culture Growing Industry In Delaware

The grape industry has developed rapidly in Kent county, Delaware, during the last few years. The introduction of this branch of fruit growing is due to several growers from the Niagara and New York grape districts who experimented a few years ago in Delaware. These are agreed that the Delaware soil is even better adapted to grape culture than that of New York State. Prior to this the growing of grapes was limited to three or four families in Kent county. There is now hardly a district in Kent but that has several acres of grapes planted, which in some instances have already reaped much benefit from the crop. The number of vineyards in the county exceeds 150, ranging in acreage from 35 to 5 acres.

From the J. Frank Moore grape vineyards, just on the outskirts of the state capital, over five tons to the acre were produced last year, he being in the lead in Delaware, having been an extensive grower in New York for many years. With his large yield, he could not begin to fill the demand for his grapes.

A. G. Massey, a smaller grower near Dover, sold his grapes last year at $20 a ton at the Dover station, and is said to have cleared over $100.

John W. Davis, another near Dover grower, states that after paying for his help and baskets, he cleared over $900 last year from five acres.

Between Cheswold and Wyoming a distance of about 10 miles, there are fully 50 vineyards just coming into bearing, and will yield immensely this year if not interfered with by insects.

Historic Wagon To Repeat Famous Trip

Many are looking forward with interest to the appearance in Wilmington of the Conestoga wagon, more than a century old, which the E. I. duPont de Nemours Powder Co. is to send loaded with powder from Wilmington to Lake Erie, in connection with the Commodore Perry celebration. The wagon was scheduled to reach Wilmington today.

The Children's Days service will be observed Sunday afternoon, June 1st. The annual strawberry festival will be held on Tuesday evening, June 3rd.

SOME COLOR SCHEME

To effect a striking color scheme seems to be the determined effort of the Post Office Department. Just before the close of the last administration, Post Master General Hitchcock issued an order authorizing all mail boxes on rural routes and all rural delivery wagons to be painted "red"—with capital R.

Now along comes Burleson with order — Make all postal cards "green."
