That Newark young men acquitted themselves gallantly on the field of action has been evidenced again and again when for distinguished service, the nation proudly enrolls them among her heroes.

A Distinguished Service Cross has been awarded to Second Lieutenant George H. Ferguson of Newark. Although painfully wounded in the leg in an action at Romagne, Lieut. Ferguson refused to give the wound attention, but continued leading his men in the attack, and later he administered first aid to the wounded around him until he fell unconscious from exhaustion. For this, General Pershing has awarded him the Distinguished Service Cross, in the name of President Wilson. The lieutenant's citation reads:

"Second Lieut. George H. Ferguson, 6th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Romagne, France, October 14, 1918. After being painfully wounded in the leg early in the attack, Lieut. Ferguson continued forward, leading his platoon through an unusually heavy artillery and machine-gun fire. Later he left a shell hole in which he had taken refuge and administered first aid to soldiers who had fallen near him, until forced to abandon this work because of exhaustion. Home address, Mrs. G. F. Ferguson, East Main Street, Newark, Del."

Lieutenant Ferguson has been with the Army of Occupation in Germany, and is now in Luxembourg, according to a letter which his mother has received from him.

Lieut. Ferguson was enrolled in the Arts and Science Course at Delaware College in September 1915. While in his freshman year, he was sent to the Mexican border with the Delaware National Guards, Company E. He had returned his college course when a second time the call came to military duty for his country. In May, 1917, he went to Fort Meyer, Va., and while there was transferred to Company A, of the Sixth Infantry, U. S. Regulars. ## Another Newark Soldier Returns Home

T. Reese Griffin, son of George W. Griffin, received an honorable discharge from the army on March 8th and returned to his home here on March 12th.

Mr. Griffin enlisted in the Army on July 1, and was ordered to Camp Joseph E. Johnston for training. While there he suffered a severe attack of "flu." After his recovery he was made a corporal and later a sergeant. After a few days of recreation he will resume work with the Fader Motor Co.

RED CROSS ASKS FOR YOUR OLD CLOTHES

Will Receive Contributions Every Afternoon Next Week

A stirring appeal is sent out by the Red Cross to every Delaware home asking, not for money this time, but for old clothes. This week householders and others are urged to ransack trunks and attics which one thought in mind, "Do I need these garments as urgently as those who for four weary years have endured hardships that I can understand but vaguely?"

The need of the children and the adult population has been presented in Chautauqua and in the churches and Newarkers are asked to give as a thank offering for their immunity from all such suffering, clothing which has still good wear left in it.

Garments need not be mended for European women are especially skilled in the mending art and can obtain work from the Relief Commission remodeling garments.

Garments for both sexes and for all ages are desperately needed. Send cotton flannel, or other cloth to clothe new babies, sheeting, ticking, shoes, leather scraps for repairing, pillow cases, old pajamas, blankets, warm woollens of every description. Garments most wanted are men's work suits, trousers, coats, sweaters, undergarments, petticoats, skirts, waists, knitted caps, aprons, mufflers, and baby clothes.

None of the clothing is to go to the people of the Central Powers. The Elliott Building will be open every afternoon to receive contributions.

Every Member Canvass

All over the United States, next Sunday afternoon, March 23 will be set apart by Presbyterians for the "Every Member" canvass of their respective churches.

The plan is to secure a weekly offering from every member of the church and of the congregation. The Newark Presbyterian church through its Session has appointed solicitors who on Sunday afternoon will visit the home of every member of the church to present pledge cards on which members will indicate the amount they wish to give for the local church and for the general benevolence. The plan is not complete until every one in the church is contributing to these two objects.

WEDDINGS

McCloskey-Beardslee

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. T. Beardslee at 203 West Thirteenth Street, Wilmington, March 12th, when their daughter, Mary E., became the bride of Ralph A. McCloskey of Wilmington, formerly of Appleton, Md. The bride's gown was beaded white crepe meteor; her veil was caught with a rope of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, sweet peas and ferns. The parlor was decorated with palms and daffodils and dining room in pink and white. About 65 guests were present. The ring ceremony was performed by Rev. C. L. Hubbard, assisted by Rev. E. C. Simfield. Mrs. Highfield sang "Oh Promise Me" and the "Life Road." Prof. Highfield played the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn marches. After a honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. McCloskey will be at home at 203 West Thirteenth Street. The bride's traveling suit was silver-tone. Many beautiful gifts were received.

CHAUTAUQUA EXPENSES FULLY MET

Plans for Next Year Include Increased Number of Guarantors

According to a report made by Dr. T. F. Mauns at the closing session of the Chautauqua last night, the guarantors were well pleased with the support given this movement by the people of Newark. The expenses were fully met. The returns from the season tickets aggregated $355.75 and the expenses were $358.25 leaving a deficit of $2.50 which was returned by the Chautauqua management from the sale of single tickets which amounted to $70.

Arrangements were made for the return of Chautauqua next year. The number of guarantors however, will be increased to 40. The number is not yet complete and the present guarantors are asking for cooperation of interested citizens.

All of the sessions were well attended and much enjoyed. On Tuesday afternoon the Junior Chautauqua consisting of about 50 young people from the public schools gave an exhibition of drills and athletic stunts, prepared under the direction of Miss Fitch.

A social hour with refreshments followed the talk.

Improve Depot Road

The Levy Court under the personal supervision of F. W. Lovett is making some much needed repairs to Depot Road.

Dr. Mitchell Speaks at Camp Devens

For the past week Dr. Samuel C. Mitchell has been devoting his time to the National War Work Council, which requested that he spend three weeks making addresses throughout the different detention camps of New England. He consented to go for one week and was assigned to Camp Devens, located about 36 miles from Boston. At present, Camp Devens has great numbers of overseas men streaming through it, on their way to their homes or to other camps; hence the special need for Y. M. C. A. work. Quite a number of college and university men have been called to Camp Devens, and, in main, have spoken on the rehabilitation of wounded soldiers, on social reconstruction, the League of Nations, and like timely subjects. While there, Dr. Mitchell visited every "Y" hut in the camp, of which there are quite a number, and attended a conference of all the "Y" workers.

In telling of his trip, Dr. Mitchell spoke of his meeting a Delaware man—Lt. Gillfillan, at the first hut which he entered. Lt. Gillfillan was in the class of 1912, and is the son of Dr. Joel S. Gillfillan, who was pastor of the Christiana Church, now in Wilmington. He was in charge of a large company of men in the Veterinary division,

HIGHWAYMEN ATTEMPT TO HOLD UP NEWARK YOUTH

Four Men, Evidently Amateurs Try to Stop Automobile

Gilbert Chambers while on his way to Wilmington after the dance on Saturday night with some young people from that city, was the victim of an attempted hold-up near Richardson Park.

Four desperate looking men presumably white, two armed with flashlights, and two having bandanna handkerchiefs with which they probably intended to gag their victims, made an effort to stop the machine.

Young Chambers put on speed and ran them down, thus making his escape.

On reaching Wilmington, he met Paul Swayne who had traveled over the same road just ahead of Chambers. He reported a similar experience with a lone highwayman and told of a car just back of his which had likewise been held up. The matter was immediately reported to the Wilmington police. The occupants of the car got a good view of the men, who were apparently middle aged and unarmed.

Chambers and another young man traveled over the same road on the way home to Newark but failed to see any thing of the highwaymen.

Stockholders of Building & Loan Association To Meet

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Newark Building and Loan Association will be held in Odd Fellows' Hall on Tuesday evening, March 25, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, and consideration of other business attending such meetings. A new series of a limited number of shares will probably be issued April 1st.

CARS COLLIDE ON SOUTH COLLEGE AVE.

Occupants Hurlled Out But Escape Serious Injury

A Studebaker passenger hack owned by A. C. Stiltz and operated by Harry Knoll, collided with a Ford truck belonging to David McMullin on Saturday evening about 7:30 on Depot Road near the entrance to the home of George L. Townsend.

Both machines were proceeding at a fairly rapid gate and in some way the wheels of the hack locked with the front wheels of the truck, breaking the steering gear of the former car and bending the axle. This rendered the car unmanageable causing it to swerve about over a culvert and into the field adjoining the A. G. Wilkinson residence where it overturned. Young Knoll, the driver, and several college boys who were passengers, were thrown out but escaped injury other than a severe shaking up.

Mr. McMullin also escaped injury but his car was badly wrecked. Both front wheels were broken off.

The Stiltz hack was going to the Women's College for students and chaperones who were to attend the Student Council dance. The McMullin truck was on its way to Newark.

J. Helfenstein Mason To Sing Own Composition

J. Helfenstein Mason, who will appear in recital at Wolf Hall next Friday evening is a composer as well as a vocalist. He will on the occasion of his visit here sing "Allah!" one of his own compositions.

Helen Penrose Donlevy, the harpist, has one of the most beautifully toned instruments in this country. It is said to have cost $1800.

Plans for Friday evening's concert are nearly completed and the program promises to be of unusual interest.

The seating capacity at Wolf Hall is comparatively small, and judging from the demand for seats an appreciative audience will greet the artists on Friday night.

FOUR AIRPLANES LAND AT HUBER RACE TRACK

Mailplane Replenishes Gasoline Supply and Resumes Journey

Three small airplanes from Aberdeen Proving Grounds and a Curtis mailplane alighted on the Huber race track just east of Newark on Saturday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock. This unusual circumstance drew hundred of people from all directions.

It was learned that the mailplane aviator was taking the place of the regular operator of the machine which daily carries mail between Washington and New York and which has become a familiar sight every day between 12 and 1 o'clock enroute to the latter city.

An accident Saturday morning near Washington it is understood, resulted in an injury to the regular carrier and the destruction of his plane. The substitute aviator took over the route in a machine with which he was not entirely familiar and lost his way in the fog near Aberdeen. He alighted there and on resuming his flight was accompanied by three small planes from the aviation field which intended making the trip to New York. They also lost their way in the fog and landed near here to get their bearings. The mail plane replenished its supply of gasoline and after a half hour or so proceeded on its way accompanied by two of the small machines. The third machine returned to Aberdeen. The mailplane aviator hoped to reach Philadelphia that evening.

New Buildings To Go Up Soon

In line with the policy of the government and of the states to stimulate building operations, several prominent Newarkers contemplate building homes this spring.

Contractor George W. Griffin will break ground this week for a handsome new bungalow to be erected for Mr. Frank Jester on Nonantum Heights, one of the prettiest building sites in Newark.

New Bell For St. Thomas' Ordered

The new bell for St. Thomas' Church, funds for which were raised in various ways by the members, has been ordered; it is one of the famous Meneely bells. Plan are now being made to have it in place by May 25 so that it can be rung for the first time on the 5th anniversary of the Rector's residence here.

Hiram Lodge, No. 25, A. F. and A. M. has been invited to worship at St. Thomas' on Palm Sunday morning, April 13. Jr. O. U. A. M. has been invited for the evening service.

Resolutions On Death of Miss Pennington

The following Preamble and Resolutions were unanimously adopted by the faculty of the public school of Newark.

WHEREAS, In the Providence of God our school has been visited by death, and our beloved co-worker Miss Emilie Pennington has suddenly been taken from us. Therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That while we bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father we mourn the loss of our esteemed friend;

RESOLVED, That to the bereaved family we extend our heartfelt sympathy in this their sorrow, though we readily acknowledge our sympathy comes far short of soothing the sorrow of a lost daughter and sister. Yet we can look with confidence to Him who has promised to be a present help in time of need;

RESOLVED, That at the stroke of the school bell Thursday at 2 o'clock p. m. every school child and teacher stand with bowed head as a mark of respect and gratitude to one who gave her life in loving service to the children of this community. Respectfully submitted in faculty Monday, March 17, 1919. (Signed)

Dean Hayward Encounters Rough Weather

VOYAGE TO FRANCE TAKES 16 DAYS

FINDS FRENCH PORTS CONGESTED AND LANDING DIFFICULT

Mrs. Harry Hayward has in the past few days received five letters from Dean Hayward, telling of his ocean trip and of his safe arrival in France.

Dean Hayward sailed February 8th on the San Jacinto to do agricultural recreation work in France. He encountered rough weather on the voyage and owing to the congested condition of the French ports his boat was unable to make a landing for four days. The vessel was rather a slow one, requiring 12 days to make the voyage, so that in all the party was 16 days in crossing.

During the first few days of the trip the weather was delightful, he said, permitting him to be on deck without an overcoat but on the 4th day, a severe storm arose, which tore away a part of the ship's rail and tossed the passengers about like corks. Some were injured. Dean Hayward sustained a bruised hip and an injured knee. The last few days were exceedingly calm and spring-like.

There were, he says, a great many interesting people on board who enlivened the tedium of the voyage by stunt parties and other original and delightful forms of entertainment.

It was expected that a landing could be made at Havre but congestion made this impossible. Cherbourg was next tried but the result was the same and the vessel steamed back to Havre where they expected to make a landing the day on which the last letter was written.

Yesterday, Mrs. Hayward received a letter dated February 26, stating that her husband had arrived in Paris and expected to see there Miss Brady and Miss Alice Evans, from whom he had received a note.

He expressed the hope that by March 1, he would be definitely assigned to his future field of work.

Elliott, decided to take definite action towards preserving as complete as possible a record of Delaware's contribution to the war, in all of its phases. ## "Victory" Is Name Given To New Color Scheme In Dress

In the light of world events which often influence the matter of color in dress, it is natural to assume that prevailing colors for spring and summer will be light and bright. "Victory" color, of which the underlying thought is that victory was made possible by the combined nations of the world, and accordingly it was felt that only a combination of colors would adequately describe "victory" in dress. The combination of navy and Mikado color, called victory, was designed as a combination symbolizing peace and victory. The colors do not have to be blended into a single shade, but instead, can be worn in combination. For instance, a navy blue dress may be piped with Mikado very effectively and combined in many ways in millinery or can be worn separately or combined in one, as the individual may desire.

Wearin' The Green

"Babe" Riley left no doubt in the minds of his friends Monday as to what his nationality is. He sallied forth in the full regalia of a son of the "Ould Sod." Green was naturally the dominant note of his costume. A misplaced cuff encircled his neck and his tie was a riot of emerald. There were some to be sure, who sported the green, a ribbon or shamrock wore shyly, but none could dare for a moment compare with the splendor of this lad—O-Riley.

FARM "SUPERSTITIONS" NOW CONSTITUTE A SCIENCE

NATURE ALWAYS TELLS TIME FOR PLANTING

TREES AND SHRUBS BETTER INDICATORS THAN SCIENTIFIC INSTRUMENTS

You have heard them say—the old farmers in the neighborhood in which you were brought up—that when the little, late, stunted cocklebur weeds an inch or two high began to mature their burrs, it was time to get the late crops under cover because frost would be along in a few nights. The catkins on the maple trees had something to do with early gardening. The women used to watch for blackberry blossoms—had something to do with planting beans, didn't it? And either the opening of the elder flowers or the ripening of the elderberries fixed the time for some summer operation—maybe it was sowing turnip seed, or it may have been harvesting the early onions. And there was a great deal more of the same kind. Nearly every field and garden operation depended on some tree or flower—a mass of misinformation, interesting as folklore and all that, but utterly useless as aids to productive farming.

That is what you thought, perhaps. It is what a great many thousands of people have thought. All those "superstitions" did not fit in with the little bit of cocksure science that every boy and girl learned in school. It was merely something for well-meaning old fogies to putter around with and for well-informed people to smile at.

Not Mythical, Says Science

Comes, now, the United States Department of Agriculture and says that such lore is not superstition and never was, that it is not useless and never was, but that, on the other hand, it is and has always been one of the most accurate aids possible to the right sort of agriculture. There is a best time for every farm and garden operation, and some tree or shrub or plant indicates that best time more accurately than all the scientific instruments can possibly register it.

The only restriction is that this nature lore with relation to crops be "properly recorded and correctly interpreted." The "superstitions" that you smiled at were all the while the basis of a very useful and very exact science—only nobody had every systematized it.

Science Called Phenology

You see, this system that the old fogies followed was the science of phenology—only it was not scientifically gotten together. "Phenology" means the science of phenomena. No human being has ever yet known it in its completeness. Many hundreds of years ago a wise man, though probably an unlettered one, picked up a bit of it here and there and practiced it and told it to his children, and they practiced it and in turn told it to their children. So it came down by word of mouth through many generations, with accretions here and there, every generation adding a little, but each generation likely to confuse and wrongly apply what it had inherited from the preceding generation. Some of its results may have been wrong, because men failed to remember accurately or to apply properly what their grandfathers had told them or what they had learned for themselves, but, on the whole, it doubtless has worked beneficially, and now a beginning is made toward converting it into an exact science.

Practical With Hessian Fly

The Hessian fly may be said to have started it all. Its depredations were such that it was necessary to sow wheat so late that the Hessian fly would not ruin it and yet early enough that it would get a start before very cold weather.

The rule was laid down that the season, in general, varies four days for each 1 degree of latitude, 5 degrees of longitude, and 400 feet of altitude. That is a perfectly good, workable rule. But since no two seasons are just the same, the date that is right this year may not be right next year.

But the time for sowing winter wheat has been determined upon as the period between the time when the tall late goldenrod is in full bloom and the time when the white common Japanese clematis flowers are nearly all gone or the leaves are distinctly colored on the dogwood and hickories. At least, that is the verdict of Dr. A. D. Hopkins, the scientist of the Department of Agriculture.

Applying the New Science

And that is what the application of the science of phenology to agriculture will be when it is worked out—a definite something in nature that will indicate the right time for doing a definite thing in the farm operations. It will be rather a slow process. Dr. Hopkins has worked out forms for gathering index material on practically all trees, shrubs, and plants, annual and perennial, wild and cultivated, with regard to the various crops. In the course of years qualified agricultural experts will gather and systematize the data.

In the meantime—well, any individual farmer may have some of his natural phenomenon indices wrong, but he is likely to have a good many of them right. If he will use his own powers of observation and his own judgment, he can correct them for himself from time to time. Any intelligent farmer who will take the trouble can work out a pretty good system for himself. And the Department of Agriculture will be able to give him more and more aid from year to year.

For The Homemaker's Eye

Beef Pie

Cut cold roast beef into inch squares, using two cupfuls. Put into a quart baking dish and season well with half a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, a tablespoonful of tomato catsup or one-third of a cupful of cooked, seasoned tomatoes. Pour over the meat one cupful of broth or gravy mixed with water. Cover with a crust made of baking powder biscuit, cut out with a small doughnut cutter. For this pie one-half a cupful of flour will be sufficient. There is no more delicious way of serving cold roast than in thin, rosy slices on a well-browned platter with any well-seasoned sauce like catsup, horse-radish, or cucumber sauce.

Stuffed Peppers With Beef

Put six green peppers for five minutes, then stuff with a mixture of cooked rice, and rare roast beef or steak well seasoned and chopped, and moistened with brown and or soup stock. Cover the peppers with buttered crumbs; place in a baking pan and bake with broth while baking. Serve with brown sauce.

To Keep Warm

Harrow an idyllic in the makers of fireless cookers and "thermos" bottles. Put the vessels containing the cooked food in deep saucepans of boiling water, cover all

Hashed Brown Potatoes

Chop two cupfuls of cold boiled potatoes until fine. Season with onion juice, salt and pepper and turn into a frying pan; add a quarter of a cupful of milk and cook without stirring for ten minutes. Fold and roll like an omelet on a hot platter when ready to serve.

Lustrous Silks for New Skirts

A new and fascinating chapter in the story of separate skirts has been offered by the employment of wonderful new weaves in silk for making them. The knitted weaves, in plain and mixed colors, heavy and very brilliant satins, tricolettes, are all produced in beautiful patterns of one or two colors showing huge checks, cross-bars, plaids and mixtures.

Voile Most Serviceable for Waists

A blouse that will look like new after each laundering, as long as it lasts, is made of fine white voile and embellished with dots and thread embroidery in blue silk. For durability and for daintiness nothing is superior to voile.

To Wash Silk Mesh and Crepe de Chine

Prepare a suds of pure soap and soft water, warm but not hot. If the water is naturally hard dissolve a little borax in it. Then knead the silk garments about in the suds with the hands until all the dirt is loosened. Put them in one piece, at a time, as they must be thoroughly kneaded if they are to be thoroughly cleaned.

If they are badly soiled they will need to be immersed in a second suds bath.

After they are clean rinse them in two changes of clear lukewarm water and wring them gently. Hang them out doors in the shade, or else in the house, in an open window where there is no sun. When they are almost dry iron them. If possible iron them with a piece of thin muslin between them and the iron. This method prevents a shiny gloss from coming to the silk.

Some persons find it better to let crepe de chine dry thoroughly and then iron it on the wrong side.

After the garments are ironed they should be thoroughly aired before they are put away.

To Remove Varnish

An excellent varnish remover is made of one quart of sal soda to two quarts of water. While boiling hot, apply to the varnish—of the floor or whatever it may be—and let it remain an hour. Then wash the floor with hot water and soap powder.

NEW ANGLO-SAXON "ALLIANCE"

Willing Maids of Old England Wed Khaki-clad Americans

Tiny Cupid overseas has established an Anglo-Saxon alliance that no Senate can veto and only a divorce court can dissolve. For 1200 English brides who were wooed and won by 1200 stalwart crusaders of Pershing are coming to this country to make their future home in the land of their husbands' birth.

According to one who landed recently English girls find the American men in khaki irresistible, and that the young Yankees just dance their way into the hearts of their Anglo-Saxon cousins of the feminine gender.

"You know," she said, with a charming smile, "the American men are lovely. They are so breezy. Take an Englishman who is in love with a girl and you find him hitching around, standing on one foot and then another. But the Americans—why, take my husband, for instance. He never proposed to me, never gave me any option. Just said that I was going to marry him, and that was all there was to it. And I did."

Are "So Different"

"Then your American men are so different from the Englishmen. I know what the difference is, but I'm afraid I can't express it. Any way, it made me marry one of them."

"And I'll tell you something else that ought to make you feel proud. All of the English brides must come to America, their husbands wouldn't live anywhere else. They say they feel all cramped up in such a little island as England and that the climate is the worst they ever saw."

"Another thing they say is that the British don't know how to celebrate anything, not even an armistice. But down deep I think it really is a home-sickness for the U.S.A. and a confident belief that there is

Growing Potatoes

Under Straw

The practice of growing Irish potatoes under a straw mulch is excellent for small areas. The potatoes are planted at the usual time in shallow rows two inches deep. The mulch of straw, leaves or strawy manure is spread over the ground to a depth of five inches, about the time the plants come through the soil. The tubers are formed partly in the soil and partly in the straw. They are easily harvested, are clean and keep well in storage.

The mulch protects the roots and tubers and holds the soil moisture. No cultivation is necessary after planting, so that the rows may be placed as close as two feet apart. —Farm Journal.

Repair Shade Trees

This Month

March is a good month to repair shade trees. Dead wood and crowded branches should be removed. Cut close to the trunk, so there will be no long stubs. Paint the wounds over as soon as possible with a tar or lead paint. Cavities should be cleaned out thoroughly; wash the inside with creosote and fill the cavity with a mixture of one part of cement and two parts of sand. After three hours, freezing will not injure the cement.

Where large branches are splitting apart, the limbs should be drawn together and held in place with bolts and a chain. A straight iron rod will not allow the limbs to sway naturally in the wind, and this may split the trunk.

The only pruning necessary for hardwood trees, such as oaks, is the removal of dead wood and crowding branches.

Why French Soldiers Are Called "Poilus"

Why was the French soldier called a "poilu"? The French word "poilu" means hairy. When the soldiers were in the trenches they let their beards grow, and did not shave when they went home on leave. Hence, the word was applied to the soldiers to describe their unshaven state.

LOSS OF THE RED HAT BAND AND JINGLING TAMBOURINE GONE

Salvation Army to Adopt More Efficient Method of Raising Funds

Gone forever is the lass of the red hat-band and the jingling tambourine—the Salvation Army girl whose work as a collector of odd dimes and nickels probably was the biggest factor in making the organization known throughout the country. She has done the work that was set for her to do and her task is finished.

The demand for efficiency, the adoption of more strictly business methods in raising funds for religious social service and charitable work, and last, but possibly equally important, the adoption of the constitutional amendment favoring prohibition, all were contributing causes for the Salvation Army's Executive Council's recent decision to stop all public soliciting for money. Behind everything else as the principal cause for this radical change in the army's methods is the great war.

Back in the days when the organization still was in its infancy and only gradually becoming known in the United States, the tambourine girls had an important mission. For years they tramped the streets of the big cities, tambourines extended for the passer-by's penny. In fair weather and foul the tambourine jingled and rattled at street corners. Midnight frequently saw the lassies of the poke bonnets invading saloons in the worst quarters of the cities where the organization was established.

"A penny or whatever you can spare—please give," they entreated and seldom did they go away empty handed.

The casual listener to Salvation Army street corner preaching—the man and woman who used to pass critical remarks about the teachings of the man who told how he was "saved"—views the army from a new angle now. No longer does the street corner band—sometimes out of tune and time, but always in earnest, find itself the butt of some one's joke. No, the role played by the tambourine girl in France took all the laugh and criticism out of the American public's viewpoint.

Don Martin's Tribute

It was Don Martin, who died in France while serving there as correspondent with the American armies for the N. Y. Herald, who paid one of the finest of tributes to the work of the tambourine girl as he found her on the battlefield, and thereby probably did as much as any one else in directing the American public's confidence to the organization. He wrote:

"Whenever you see the whiskered old Santa Claus with kettle and bell, who stamps his feet to keep warm as he watches the human currents swirl around him in Herald square, or wherever else it may be, give him something. When the Salvation lassie comes around with her modest appeal to help the boys at the front, don't turn her away, for the Salvation Army is a ministering angel to the boys in the fighting ranks.

"It takes human nature as it finds it and asks no questions. There is not a soldier in France who does not tip his hat to it. It is right there under fire, selling at bare cost chocolate, coffee, gum, cigarettes; giving away when the boys are without money; sending everything it can spare to the trenches and accepting not a penny for this invaluable service; writing letters for such as do not take readily to penmanship, but have heartstrings just the same; doing a thousand and one things to offset the brutalizing influences of war, and getting nothing for it except the satisfaction that comes from doing good and asking nothing in return."

"TANK" INVENTED 400 YEARS AGO

Leonardo da Vinci, Famous Artist Foresaw Use in War

The "tank," considered by some military experts as the greatest single achievement of modern warfare was actually invented according to a recent authority by Leonardo da Vinci somewhere about 1500.

Da Vinci is known to the world today as a great artist. His "Last Supper" and "La Gioconda" are among the world's masterpieces. He was proficient in other things as well and in his day was distinguished as a sculptor, architect, military and civil engineer, and scientific inventor.

In 1502 he was appointed chief engineer and architect in the pope's army. During this period apparently he wrote in a letter to Leonardo il Moro, Duke of Milan: "I know how to construct covered indestructible assaulting cars, carrying artillery, that will open a way through the enemy's ranks and pierce the most solid lines of defence. The infantry will follow them without difficulty." He does not make clear in his writings, although he probably had it in mind the method by which these cars were to be propelled. From his writings it is established, however, that he not only invented "tanks" but even foresaw their tactical use in precisely the same manner demonstrated by the recent war.

"BOURGEOIS" AND "PROLETARIAN" STRANGE TO AMERICA

Ideals of Democracy and of Bolshevism Contrasted

Since the advent of Bolshevik propaganda and the prevalence of social unrest due partly but not wholly to war conditions, we hear a great deal about "bourgeois" and "proletarian." These words are common enough perhaps in French circles but are little understood by Americans.

They mark distinctions which we have not considered it necessary nor proper to make in this country.

The word bourgeois is the old French word for a citizen of a bourg, or city; we have the same word in English as burgher. Originally it distinguished the town dweller from the noble who lived in his castle and the peasant who dwelt in the hamlet among the fields. Then, since the bourgeois was likely to be a tradesman or a craftsman, the word came to have that meaning, too. As a noun it described the thrifty, industrious member of the mercantile or manufacturing classes; as an adjective it described the qualities, the standards and the characteristics of those classes. In the most modern sense of all—that employed by the Socialist writers who take their cue from Karl Marx—the word is used to mean these who have accumulated some property, those who are in a position to employ other people and to pay them wages.

The word proletarian comes from the Latin word proles (offspring), and two thousand years ago was used by the Romans to designate the less substantial and useful members of society, those who had nothing except their children to offer to the support of the state. The word also has taken on other shades of meaning until it has come to be applied to a member of the community who has no other capital than the strength of his hands; the laborer or workingman who lives, as it were, from hand to mouth, and who has no reserve to support him in time of need.

In theory at least, the advanced Socialist apparently puts all mankind except a few kings and princes into one or the other of those classes; but if the words are strictly used, there are a great many of us here in America who are neither one thing nor the other. It they are thrifty enough to own a house and to boast of a substantial account in the savings bank or in the government funds, are in no position to give employment to anyone else, and, indeed, are themselves dependent for their livelihood either on salary or on wages.

Only Proletarians Recent Immigrants

It is fair to say that until the great immigration of the last forty years and the consequent growth of great industrial establishments there was, among the white people of the United States, no class that could properly be called proletarian. The proletariat we have today is made up almost wholly of recent immigrants who brought with them to this country the traditions, the prejudices and the suspicions of their European class. A great many of our foreign born fellow citizens have worked out of that state of mind and of purse and are today prosperous and independent, but there are millions who are still near enough to the conditions that they grew up in to afford fertile soil for the propaganda of proletarian socialism.

It is to be observed also that, although that propaganda represents the bourgeois and proletarian classes as rigid and permanent bodies, they are nothing of the sort. In every country, and most of all in our own country, where social conditions are fluid and social distinctions are valid only temporary, persons who have natural intelligence and character are all the time coming up out of the proletariat and entering the middle class. If the facts could be collected, it would astonish us to know how many men successful in business or in the professions are the sons of families that began with nothing except the labor of their hands.

The ideal of democracy is to make all the citizens essentially members of the bourgeois or middle class; partakers in the national wealth according to the measure of their ability, industry and thrift; independent men and women, with ideas, initiative, individuality and a "stake in the country." Mrs. Beadenkopf was 65 years old and had been a resident of Wilmington for many years. She was a native of Lancaster County, Pa., and lived afterwards in Chester County. Her maiden name was Elizabeth J. Pennington. Mr. Beadenkopf died about six years ago and the only surviving relatives are her brothers: John W. Pennington, of Wilmington; James Pennington, of Newark; and Benjamin Pennington, who lives in Kansas.

GIVE ENDORSEMENT OF PARISH HOUSE AT
COMMUNITY CENTERBishop of Delaware and Rector of Trinity Send Congratulatory Letters

The following letters were received by Rev. Walter G. Haupt recently with reference to use of the Parish House as a Community Center:

March 10, 1919

Trinity Church Rectory
1106 Adams Street
Wilmington, Del.

My Dear Mr. Haupt:

My attention has been called to a copy of the Newark Post in which there is an account of the St. Thomas Guild entertainment held in your Parish House, March 3rd. I also heard some independent expressions about the good use you are making of the Parish House as a social center for the community, and I hope you won't think I am intruding in sending a work of congratulation.

I have always felt that the church should be an active factor in maintaining community good will and in small places like Newark, I think such agencies as you have inaugurated are very much needed and are calculated to do a great deal of good.

I congratulate you on having the fund for the church bell already raised. An object like this in connection with Guild work gives added zest to the pleasures they enjoy.

I notice that you allowed dancing at your recent entertainment. I was interested in that because we have done the same both here and at Old Swedes, in a limited way and under careful restrictions, and I think it has had at both places a distinctly good effect. The more the Church shows sympathy with the young in their innocent pastimes, the more likely we are to find them seeking the Church's ministrations in regard to higher things.

With all good wishes believe me
Sincerely yours
Frederick M. Kirkus

The following extract is taken from a letter written from Warren, Ohio, where Bishop Kinsman, was recently summoned to the sickbed of his father:

"All good wishes for your work in providing your young people with healthy social life in the Parish House. Eternal vigilance is the price of the well-working of such plans; but under good management and with a right sense of proportion, they can work well, as I know from experience. I am sure your efforts will be successful."

Faithfully yours,
F. J. Kinsman,
Bishop of Delaware."

"Dress Up" Week In April

Complete plans were finally settled to make the week of April 5th to 13th Wilmington's Dress Up Week. This will conform with the plans of the larger cities throughout the country making this the National Dress Up Week.

All merchants of Wilmington are making plans to put their stores and merchandise on display in very attractive style. Special window prizes are being offered for the best displays and it is needless to add this in itself will prove a good drawing card. But they do not intend to stop there. All stores will be dressed their prettiest. Living models will display the latest fashion. Furniture stores, hardware, groceries, in fact all lines of merchandise will have special attractions. Arrangements are being made to handle the biggest crowds in the history of Wilmington.

Y. W. C. A. of Women's College Joins
Wilmington "Y"

As a result of the meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. T. Coleman duPont, in Wilmington, Mrs. Otto Newland, chairman of the committee in charge, has asked the Y.W.C.A. of the Women's College of Delaware to join the Wilmington Association in its efforts to raise $6,000 during the campaign beginning March 17. The students of the college feel that the Association has had such an elevating influence on their lives that they would like to extend it to their sisters in rural Delaware. At present the Y.W.C.A. at the Women's College is the only one in the state outside of Wilmington. If the towns in rural Delaware will help in raising during the campaign the amount of money needed, they will make possible a field secretary for rural Delaware.

The Bantam Does Her Bit

The boys' and girls' poultry club in Searcy County, Ark., was, and is, a live-wire organization. Not to belong is to lack standing among the youngsters. One small girl who wished to be among the elect saw the coveted membership escaping her when the club leader told her there were no more settings of hen's eggs procurable in that locality. Undiscouraged, the would-be member scoured the neighborhood, and later came back with four turkey eggs, all the embryo poultry material she could locate. She was admitted to the club.

Her difficulties had only begun. In the excitement of locating the eggs she had forgotten until she reached home that the sole incubator which she could use was a tiny bantam hen. But Mrs. Bantam, as well as her mistress, proved heroic and rose to the emergency. By fluffing up her feathers well she managed to cover the turkey eggs, and so faithfully did she do her duty that all four eggs hatched, to the delight of the poultry club member and herself.

The four turks were brought up in quite proper turkey fashion by their foster mother and owner, although the amount of feed they managed to consume kept the providers busy. Later in the summer one of the four met with an untimely end, and "so there were three." These three big, bronze beauties with their tiny foster mother, to whom they were apparently much attached, were one of the popular exhibits at the county fair this fall.

BAGGAGE POOLERS
GET STERN REBUFF

Cologne Cathedral and Kaiser's Bathub Now Safe

The plan of the sergeant who intended to have the Army of Occupation pool its baggage allowance and ship one of the German castles back to Hoboken has been frustrated. Although G. H. Q. announced in G. O. 222 that each corporal or private would be allowed 75 pounds of baggage, they had to apply a more strict interpretation when three German pianos and an airplane all labeled "Soldier's baggage," arrived at Brest along with outfits that carried the contents of their barracks bags in their packs.

When the cars were unloaded and the first piano was dumped on the platform an R.T.O. stepped up to a corporal who was anxiously directing the work.

"What in blazes is that," he politely inquired.

"That's my squad's baggage," quietly remarked the corporal. "Just 600 pounds. Be careful of those pedals."

But it didn't get by, and the piano along with two others is doing fatigue in a Y.M.C.A. hut while its former owners are on the tossing deep.

This incident was considered a joke, but when a salvaged airplane rebuilt to fit a French box car arrived, the R.T.O.'s got mad, and Aero Squadron that hoped to fly over the Alleghenies in their own sky-cart got seant sympathy.

Whatever G. H. Q. said about 75 pounds per man, it is now plain they meant "not transferable." So Cologne Cathedral and the Kaiser's bathtub are safe.—Stars and Stripes.

MIDDLETOWN CLUB HOUSE
ORDERED CLOSED

The handsome new home of the Middletown Century Club, built less than two years ago at a cost of more than $8,000, has been declared unsafe for public gatherings, and will be closed until alterations, which will begin immediately, are completed.

For some time past the plaster on the walls has been cracking, and the roof of the building has been settling until it seemed dangerous. An inspection of the building was made last week by a Wilmington building inspector, and the building was ordered closed.

The building was erected after a struggle of several years upon a lot donated by Mrs. G. F. Brady.

Student Council Dance

A Success

On Saturday night last, the Student Council held the first of its two dances of the semester. Although the decorations were neither elaborate nor varied and the refreshments neither imposing nor indisposing, yet everyone agreed that the affair was a big success.

The patronesses were Dean Robinson, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Mitchell, Miss Rich and Mrs. Cummings.

Social Notes

Mrs. C. L. Penny entertained a number of her friends on Friday afternoon at her home in West End.

Miss Eleanor Harter entertained a number of friends at tea on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Sara Casho Brown entertained 18 or 20 guests on Tuesday evening in honor of her birthday. A pleasant social time was spent and delicious refreshments served.

Hold St. Patrick's Dance

A St. Patrick's Day dance was held in the New Century Club on Monday evening under the management of the young men of the town. Draine's orchestra furnished the music and about 30 couples enjoyed the dancing.

The Voice of Prudence

A dual personality, it is generally believed, is to be found in every one.

In the mind of man also there are many conflicting forces.

Chance whispers: "Oh, trust to luck. Perhaps nothing will happen."

Prudence warns: "Be prepared. The unexpected often happens."

Listen to the voice of Prudence—fortify against emergency; prepare for opportunity.

IS AWARDED DISTINGUISHED SERV. ICE CROSS

nooga, Tenn., followed. After receiving his commission the lieutenant went overseas in May 1918.

Letters from their son received some time ago informed Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson that he had been wounded by shrapnel above the left eye in the St. Mihiel drive. He refused to go to the hospital. He had the wound dressed at the front and went on with the fight.

His second wound, in the action for which he was cited for extraordinary heroism came in the battle of the Argonne, on October 9. After he had received a severe wound in his left leg, for which he refused to receive any but temporary treatment at a field hospital, Lieutenant Ferguson led his platoon over the top. After the attack he crawled from a shell hole and administered first aid to the wounded around him until he dropped.

He was then taken to a base hospital, and was later sent to a hospital at Bordeaux.

He writes that he is now billeting and mess officer of his company.

This citation occasioned no surprise to his friends here who had heard from Lieutenant Glenn glowing accounts of his action under fire.

Is Now Director of Camp Athletics

Lieut. E. P. Jolls, C. A. C., is now stationed with the 15th Grand Division, in France, near the town of Romorantin, which was the American flying center during the war. While attached to the 30th Company of this division, Lieutenant Jolls has charge of the athletics of the whole camp of more than 3,000 men, and from his letters home, he is kept pretty busy. On one day he had four games of basketball, three prize-fights, five wrestling bouts, in addition to the other athletic training and keeping the baseball and football teams up to the mark.

Lieutenant Jolls, better known to Newarkers as "Eph" writes of interesting experiences and observations at the front, among them that of seeing Lieutenant Maynard who holds the worlds record for flying.

In the same camp with Lieutenant Jolls is Lieutenant Groff, a half brother of State Senator Hollett, of Clayton. George Hukill of Middletown, has been a visitor at the camp and he has been in communication with John Hukill, and also Davis Bell of Smyrna. Groff and Bell are both Delaware College men and were in Jolls' class at college. These appear to be all the Delaware boys with whom he has been brought in contact.

He says that rumors are thick that he may be able to return to this country by June 1, although he is expecting to be sent to either the Paris University or one of the big English universities at government expense for post graduate work in certain branches. He is one of the few who seems contented and pleased with his work, his present command being composed of high-class men in the engineers.

Poultry Culling Demonstration At Mt. Pleasant

All people in Mt. Pleasant and vicinity who are interested in poultry problems will wish to be present at the demonstration of culling which will be held at the home of Mrs. Dan Cochran on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Better methods of poultry keeping is part of the plan of the Home Demonstration Work for New Castle County. Mrs. Cochran, who is the committeeman in charge of poultry in the Mt. Pleasant community of the Farm Bureau is working in co-operation with Miss H. L. Comstock, Home Demonstration Agent, and Miss Clara Nixon, Poultry Specialist. Miss Nixon will demonstrate the best method of distinguishing between profitable and unprofitable birds and touch upon other points of value to poultry keepers.

If birds are not laying at this time of the year they are "boarders," so are unprofitable, and to make the poultry successful financially these should be removed from the flock. This was shown very conclusively by reports from twelve Sussex County poultrymen. The number of birds in these twelve flocks was 5,331. Of this number 2,110 or about 40 per cent were culled with no decrease in egg production. This meant a direct saving of the feed that would be consumed by 2,000 birds.

DELAWARE WOMEN ORGANIZE FOR "VIC- TORY" CAMPAIGN

Mrs. Henry Ridgely Announces Chairmen and Tells of Plans

"The coming loan campaign of the women of Delaware will follow the lines of the third," says Mrs. Henry Ridgely, state chairman. "God forbid that it should follow the fourth," she adds "for that was dominated by the epidemic and state-wide quarantine."

The women's organization for Delaware will be practically the same as in the previous drives, but it is probable that in more of the districts the men and women will work on a fifty-fifty basis. This was the rule in most of the districts in the southern part of the state during the last campaign.

In the fourth drive, Delaware had eight hundred women workers organized, who sold to nearly 12 per cent of the population, including negroes. The per capita subscription through the Women's Committee was $48, and 61 per cent of the state's quota was raised by them—surely a splendid record, one unsurpassed by the women of any other state in the Union.

The following women will head the city and county organization for the next loan: Wilmington, Mrs. Otho Nowland; rural New Castle County, Mrs. Lewis Eliason; Kent County, Mrs. Philip Burnet.

The Women's Executive Committee for Delaware includes: Mrs. Henry Ridgely, chairman; Mrs. Otho Nowland, Mrs. William Tutherly, Mrs. Walter Morris, Mrs. W. N. Rybold, Mrs. Alden B. Richardson.

New Castle County Leads in Thrift Stamp Purchase

SOLDIERS TO RECEIVE $60.00 BONUS

Men Released Since April 16 to Benefit Under New Law

Section 1406 of the revenue act approved February 24, 1919, authorized the payment of a bonus of $60.00 to officers, soldiers, field clerks and nurses of the Army upon honorable separation from active service by discharge, resignation or otherwise. This bonus is not payable to the heirs or representatives of any deceased soldier.

Those who are discharged hereafter will receive this bonus on the same roll or voucher upon which they are paid their final pay.

Those who have been discharged and have received their final pay without the $60.00 bonus should write a letter to the zone finance officer, Lemon Building, Washington, D. C., stating their service since April 6, 1917, the date of last discharge and their present address to which they desire their bonus checks to be sent, and enclosing with this letter their discharge certificate or military order for discharge and both, if both were issued.

Upon the receipt by the zone officer, Washington, D. C., of this information and the soldier's discharge certificate, this officer will cause checks to be drawn and mailed to the claimants in the order in which their claims were received by him. The discharge certificate will be returned to the soldier with the check.

It is estimated that at least one million and a quarter persons have been discharged from the service who are entitled to the benefits of this Act, and while payments will be made as expeditiously as practicable, it will manifestly take considerable time to write and mail this many checks.

Food-saving Lesson Remains

The "gospel of the clean plate" was preached so thoroughly during the war that youngsters in the United States still have a guilty conscience if they waste food. In Washington Parish, La., a little girl recently took more food on her plate than she could eat. Valiantly she strove for a clean plate, in accordance with the teachings of the home demonstration agent in that parish, but in the end failed. Thereupon she folded her hands, closed her eyes, and said, "Oh, Lord, please don't let Mr. Hoover of Miss Wolff hear of this. I want to go to heaven if I've got to go any place."

Mrs. Elizabeth Metten Dies At Her Home At Middletown

After an illness of several weeks Mrs. Elizabeth Metten, aged 66 years, died at her home in Middletown on Thursday, March 13. Heart trouble was the cause of her death.

The deceased is survived by a husband, three sons and two daughters, who are Misses Bernice and Jean Metten, at home; William F. Metten, Manager of the Every Evening Publishing Co., Wilmington; John F. Metten, Chief Engineer for William Cramps Co., Philadelphia, and Irving H. Metten, First Lieutenant U. S. Navy. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon, at two o'clock and interment made in Forest cemetery.

GLASGOW SOLDIER RETURNS THIS WEEK

Son of Representative Brooks Saw Active Service for Over a Year

Early last week Claude C. Brooks of Battery D, 53d Artillery, son of Representative W. C. Brooks of Glasgow, landed at Newport News, Va., after being in active service in France for more than a year.

In a letter to his mother, written before landing, he says:

On board U.S.S. Naumoud March 9, 1919

Dear Mother: We are almost ready to set foot on good old American soil once more.

If nothing happens it will be about noon on Tuesday, the 11th, at Newport News, Va.

We left St. Nazaire, France at 7.30 a. m., February 25, just eighteen months from the time we left the States, so, of course, we are wearing our three service chevrons. You see we are on a very slow ship and are somewhat crowded, as there are more than six thousand on board, including a great many casuals who fare no better than the rest.

Battery D no longer exists to our sorrow as it has been divided into detachments each detachment going to a camp in or near the State in which the men in it live or enlisted.

I am in Camp Dix detachment and after a brief stay at Camp Stewart, Va. (perhaps ten days' quarantine) will be sent to Camp Dix, and either discharged or given a furlough. In either case it won't be long until I see you all at home. Won't it be great? We only have two meals a day while on board. You can easily see it would be impossible to give so many three meals a day. So you can imagine what an appetite I am bringing home with me, and as I see the boys bucking the chow line for their dinner, I feel as if I must join in the squeeze, so will stop for this time. Hoping to see you real soon, love to all at home.

Your son,
Claude Brooks.
