Prominent Educator Here Friday Evening

Will Address High School Teachers

Hugh S. Magill, Field Secretary of N. E. A., to Discuss National Outlook

The meeting of the State High School Conference to be held at the University of Delaware on Friday evening and Saturday morning of this week promises to be the largest in the history of the Conference. Reports already received by Prof. W. A. Wilkerson, under whose direction arrangements for the Conference have been made, indicate that teachers are coming from practically every high school in the State, and that the attendance will probably be twice as large as at any previous meeting.

The program for the Friday evening session includes short addresses by Dr. Walter Hüllihen, President of the University of Delaware, and Hon. George B. Miller, President of the State Board of Education. The principal address of the evening will be delivered by Hugh S. Magill, Field Secretary of the National Education Association. Mr. Magill is recognized everywhere as one of the foremost educators of the country, a man who knows educational conditions, needs and tendencies as few other men know them. His address on "The National Outlook in Education" will be of interest not only to teachers but to the general public as well.

At the Saturday morning session some topics of special interest to the high schools of the State will be presented and discussed. All meetings of the Conference will be held in the West Wing of Old College Hall and are open to the general public.

Want Chief of Police Retained

A petition is being circulated asking Council to reinstate Chief of Police Thompson to his former position. His service here, according to many comments this week, has been very satisfactory. He is specially qualified as Traffic Cop and boasts of service and "honorable discharge" from the U. S. Army. He was also with the Texas Rangers, the famous mounted police, from which organization he has commendatory papers. It is understood that the impression has been that he was too lenient with auto speeding. A prominent citizen in discussing this phase said, "No one wants stricter enforcement of our traffic regulations than I. Police Thompson was strict plus being a gentleman. Safety of the public was his service and not arrests and fines for town revenue. When a word of caution answered, he used this method. Then, again, speed regulations in towns are not violated as they were a few years ago." It is understood that Council's criticism of speed regulations is the cause of dismissal.

Will Play Elkton

A. C. Saturday

The Newark Athletic Club has arranged for a baseball game to be played on the High School diamond here next Saturday, May 7. The local nine is putting in some pretty stiff practice and has every hope of winning.

Town Council

Appoints Assessor

At the regular monthly meeting of Town Council held on Monday evening, A. Lewis Fisher was reappointed assessor. No other business except that of routine character was transacted.

One of the old pumps at the water plant has been removed and a new one with triple the capacity has been installed. No appointment has yet been made in the police department to succeed James Thompson, resigned.

Visits Valley Forge

The Senior Class at Women's College motored to Valley Forge last Saturday, as guests of Mrs. A. D. Warner. They viewed with great interest the headquarters of General Washington and other points of interest at that historic place.

RED MEN HAVE BIG TIME AT UNION

Entertain Representatives of 16 Tribes When Palefaces are Adopted

The joint adoption of pale-faces into Little Bear, No. 46, and Wa Wa, No. 45, Tribes of the Improved Order of Red Men, at Red Men's Hall, Union, Del., on Saturday evening, April 30, was one of the greatest events of the order in the upper part of the state in recent years. There were more than three hundred and fifty persons present, between two hundred and seventy-five and three hundred being members of the order. Sixteen tribes from three states were represented, Little Elk, No. 50, of Maryland; Itaska, No. 184, Tanota, No. 226, and Wyanoke, No. 367, of Pennsylvania; and Delaware, No. 1, Keokuk, No. 3, Cherokee, No. 4, Lenape, No. 6, Minqua, No. 8, Wavasett, No. 9, Andastaka, No. 14, Minnehaha, No. 23, Osage, No. 39, Seneca, No. 44, Wa Wa, No. 45, Little Bear, No. 46, all of Delaware.

There have been thirty-eight adopted and twelve reinstated in these two tribes since the first of January. Thirty-one were adopted Saturday evening. The adoption work was done by Lenape Tribe No. 6 degree team of Wilmington, which has the reputation of being one of the best in Delaware, and they added much to their credit by their excellent work in all three degrees.

After the adoption every one trailed to the banquet room, where a bountiful spread of minced ham, rolls, cheese, pickles, coffee, cake, ice cream, and cigars were served by the members of Wa Wa tribe and their wives.

On Sunday May 15, Wa Wa Tribe will attend services at Ebenezer M. E. Church in a body and will welcome all brother Red Men who will attend with them.

Have Narrow Escape from Death

Raymond Fader and several other college students, had a narrow escape Monday morning when the bus in which they were passengers crossed the B. & O. tracks directly in front of a fast freight. The bus driven by Harry Null, was returning from West Main Street, where it had discharged passengers from the midnight train. The safety gates at the B. & O. were up and the driver had no thought of danger. Young Fader saw the fast moving eastbound freight and shouted to Null, who accelerated his speed and made the crossing safely.

Red Cross to Meet Thursday Evening

The Newark Branch of the American Red Cross will hold its annual meeting in the Academy on Thursday evening, May 5th, at 7.30.

FARMERS TEST CORN BY RAG DOLL SYSTEM

Hope Thus to Minimize Low Germination Due to Root Rot

"I never thought my corn was this bad," stated J. D. Reynolds of Townsend after testing his seed corn for germination and disease according to the rag doll method. Mr. Reynolds stated further that each rag doll tester contained samples from enough corn to plant an acre. Each sample represented one ear.

In one tester all twenty samples were bad and were discarded. In another sixteen samples out of twenty did not germinate and in the remaining testers three to five samples out of twenty were discarded. As a matter of fact according to tests conducted at the Farm Bureau office Mr. Reynolds' corn is germinating above the average.

The low germination of the seed corn this year is due to the prevalence of the corn root rot disease which the Plant Pathology Department of Delaware College estimates is reducing the yield of corn in New Castle County 15 per cent. If there is serious infection of the disease the corn fails to germinate. If the infection is slight the corn germinates weakly, but produces a small stock and ear.

Through the use of the rag doll system it is possible for every farmer to determine and discard those ears which will not germinate and those which are slightly infected and germinate weakly.

MOTHER'S DAY TO BE OBSERVED AT PRES. BYTERIAN CHURCH

Congregational Meeting to be Held Wednesday Evening, May 11

Members of the Presbyterian Sunday School are preparing a special program in celebration of Mother's Day which will be observed next Sunday. Mrs. Thomas Ingham will sing and other features of interest will be presented.

While the regular Sunday School session begins at 9.45, this special program will not be given until 10.30. All mothers connected with either the church or the Sunday School are invited to be present.

Congregational Meeting, May 11
A congregational meeting has been called for Wednesday evening May 11, when an effort will be made to issue a call to the pastorate made vacant by the death of Rev. William J. Rowan.

Display Window Broken in Mysterious Manner

One of the large plate glass windows in the front of Sol Wilson's store was broken in some mysterious manner early Sunday morning. That robbery was not the motive is evident from the fact that nothing in the window was disturbed; and from the additional fact that the window was broken after daybreak, according to residents in the vicinity who heard the crash.

Mr. Wilson is of the opinion that the affair was an accident. A disabled machine was seen in front of the store very early in the morning. The occupants were making repairs and it is thought that one of the tools was accidentally hurled against the window.

The value of the window, which is approximately $80, is covered by insurance.

White Clay Creek to Observe 200th Anniversary

White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church, one of the oldest in this vicinity, is making elaborate plans for the celebration of the 200th anniversary which will take place on June 5th, 6th and 7th. Committees have been appointed and preparations are going forward in a satisfactory manner.

American Vulcanized Adopts Standard Time

After a week of daylight saving which wore to a frazzle the nerves and temper of the housewives and boarding house keepers who were compelled to maintain a double standard, the American Vulcanized Fibre Co. on Monday morning reverted to standard time.

Much dissatisfaction arose from the fact that in families where workers are employed in other industries or where children are in school the maintenance of this double system greatly inconvenienced the housewives. A vote at the plant was overwhelmingly in favor of a return to standard time.

Festival at Welsh Tract

Preparations are under way for a festival and entertainment to be held at Welsh Tract school house on Friday evening, May 20.

In addition to the good things to eat usually provided at such affairs, music and other entertainment will be a conspicuous feature of this festival. The Continental Band and the High School Mandolin Club, which made such a hit there last week, together with the Poole and Mercer duo, will be present.

If it should be stormy the festival will be held the following evening.

Baraca Auxiliary to Meet Thursday

The Baraca Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church will meet next Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Ritz.

Will Celebrate Thirty-sixth Anniversary

On Thursday evening, May 19th, the Ladies' Mite Society of Ebenezer Church will hold a pie social at the church. That day will mark the 36th anniversary of the society.

Prof. Charles Edwards, of Wilmington, will entertain with his orchestra from the Continental Band.

I. O. O. F. ENTERTAINS PAST GRAND OFFICERS

Visitors Have Planked Shad Supper After Lodge Meeting

Oriental Lodge, No. 12, I. O. O. F., on Thursday night, April 28, had a visitation from the Past Grand Officers Association, I. O. O. F. of Delaware. The following visitors were present: Jacob F. Snyder, president; Goldsmith C. Naylor, secretary; James F. Price, E. W. Jester, George N. Bailey, Otto M. Burkhard, C. Frank Davidson, F. C. Smith, Oscar B. Sundberg, W. A. Walker and W. T. Foreman. Each delivered a very interesting and instructive address. Some of the members of Oriental Lodge made some remarks. After the Lodge meeting closed, the visitors were entertained at Walter R. Powell's restaurant, where a planked shad supper was served.

President Commends Work of Rehabilitation Students

Dr. Walter Hüllihen in an address to the Rehabilitation students this morning commended their work and that of the department. He stated that supervisors sent here by the Federal Board for Vocational Education have expressed freely their commendation of the course of study and the method in which it is carried out. He congratulated the men upon their choice of farming as a profession, stating that in his opinion more solid satisfaction may be obtained from this than from any other profession. In conclusion he expressed regret that executive duties prevented his knowing many of them personally. In order to know better the individual men of the group he invited the students and their faculty members to call at The Knoll next Tuesday afternoon.

RED CROSS SENDS OUT APPEAL FOR CLOTHING

Children of Europe in Great Need to Meet Winter Conditions

In answer to the great cry for clothing from overseas, the Executive Committee of the Delaware Chapter of the American Red Cross decided at its regular meeting last week to do all in its power to aid in providing the garments so urgently needed by millions of babies and children in Europe.

An appeal sent out by the Red Cross after the meeting asks everybody to aid as much as possible in this work and to give as much of their time as they can possibly spare so that the clothing may arrive overseas in time to prevent the disaster and suffering which is always bound to be more severe with the oncoming of winter.

Information from the Red Cross in Europe shows that there is an instant need of 250,000 layettes and 2,000,000 garments for children up to the age of 14.

Mrs. Willard Hall Porter, chairman of the Woman's Bureau and of the Bureau of Production is in charge of this work. Mrs. Porter is taking steps to reorganize the workrooms and to call upon the branches and auxiliaries of the Delaware Chapter to answer the call of this great and stirring appeal.

Dr. Livingston Ferrand, president of the National Red Cross, who is in Europe at the present time, has written to the Red Cross authorities in America saying that the condition of destitute children beggars description and that if every woman in America would make a garment there still would be need for more.

As soon as Mrs. Porter is able to outline the work and to announce her plans more definitely word will be received by the branches and auxiliaries by letter and telephone concerning the work which is expected of them.

Serenade Newlyweds at Providence

Between 200 and 300 persons including the Elkton Band, the Elkton Fire Co., and friends from that town and vicinity tendered a rousing serenade to Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Cleaves at the home of the bride's parents, in Providence, Md., last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleaves returned the last of the week from a honeymoon trip spent in Northern New York and Canada.

VESTRYMEN ELECTED AT ST. THOMAS' P. E. CHURCH

Congregation Makes Plans for Reception to New Pastor

The annual election of vestrymen held at St. Thomas' P. E. Church on Monday evening resulted in the re-election of the former members, A. A. Curtis, Dr. George A. Harter, D. C. Rose, L. K. Bowen, W. D. Dean, D. Lee Rose, Charles Colmery, George Dobson and George Carter. A. A. Curtis was chosen Senior Warden and Dr. Harter Junior Warden.

Annual reports of the various church societies, some of which were read, showed the financial and other affairs of the church to be in a highly satisfactory condition. Announcement was made that plans for the reception to the new pastor are under way. He will assume charge of parish affairs on June 1. In a letter just received from him from St. John's, Newfoundland, the place of his former pastorate, he says that while he is planning to be here by the first of June, Mrs. Jones and the baby will remain in Boston with relatives until September.

A. A. Curtis and D. C. Rose were chosen delegates, Dr. G. A. Harter and W. D. Dean alternates to the annual church convention which will be held this year at Milford.

Following the congregational meeting the Guild held its regular monthly social and business meeting.

Mr. Curtis, who recently returned from California where he had spent the winter, and David C. Rose, who recently returned from Florida, where he had spent the winter, gave short but highly interesting talks descriptive of California and Florida. Both talks were heartily applauded.

Final reports received from the recent bake showed the receipts to have been about $65. It was decided to hold a strawberry festival about the middle of June and it will probably be held on the church lawn. The following festival committee was named: Mrs. Spogle, Mrs. Mattie Dobson, Mrs. Creswell, Mrs. Christodora, George Dobson, William D. Dean and D. Lee Rose. Clarence Denney will have charge of the music.

The meeting was then turned over to the entertainment committee for the evening, consisting of Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. Owen and Mrs. Ernest Sanborn. There was dancing and an enjoyable evening was spent. Light refreshments were served.

Rev. John Oliphant, of Vineland, N. J., conducted the services on Sunday.

A number are planning to visit Wilmington this week to witness the dedication of the chapel of St. John's.

Will Observe Parents' Day

The Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church will observe Parents' Day, next Sunday, with special services. All members of the congregation are expected to be present.

Seventy Dollars Cleared at Bake

Seventy dollars which will be applied to a fund for providing suitable quarters for the Young Men's Catholic Club, was cleared at the bake held last Saturday by the Women of St. John's Church.

Will Hold Bake Next Saturday

The Tiger Club, an organization of boys 12 to 16 years old, who are organizing a live baseball club, will hold a bake on the porch at the Daniel Thompson residence on Saturday, beginning at 10 a. m. Pies, cakes, candy, salad and other good things will be on sale.

New "Cop" Causes Much Merriment

A University student familiarly known as "Sap" Warner caused considerable amusement to the students and townfolk last Friday when dressed in the "cop" uniform constituting part of the "props" for "Miss Bob White," he acted the part of the conscientious traffic cop in front of Harter Hall. The performance took place at a time when traffic to the Havre de Grace races was particularly heavy, and many peaceful motorists were warned not to exceed the speed limit. The appearance of the real cop put an abrupt but amicable end to the performance.

Record Entry for Inter-Scholastic Track and Field Meet

276 Entrants Registered

Local Youth to Represent Perkiomen in Several Events

High and preparatory schools in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey have entered a total of 276 contestants for honors in the 8th Interscholastic Track and Field Meet to be held on Frazer Field next Saturday. The entrants are divided into three classes with an arrangement whereby any individual may compete in a given event in a higher class. The schools comprising the first class are Baltimore City College, Army and Navy Preparatory School, Baltimore; Gilman Country School, Mt. St. Joseph's, Baltimore; Perkiomen Preparatory School, and Tome Institute.

Class 2 comprises Baltimore City, Frankford, Vineland, N. J., and Wilmington High Schools, Wesley College Institute.

Class 3 includes Avondale Vocational High School, Calvert Agricultural, Caesar Rodney, Centerville, Elkton, du Pont, Greenwood, Lewes, Middletown, Newark, Smyrna, New Castle, Delaware; and Garrettsville, Md., High Schools.

Special interest attaches to the fact that Perkiomen will be represented in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, shot put and other events by Paul Steel, last year's Newark High School star.

The local high school is represented in every event in Class 3 by strong contestants who should again bring victory to the home team.

Armstrong and Evans have entered for the 100 yard dash; Hubert and Armstrong for the 220; Evans and McMurray for the 440; Henning and Green for the 880 yard dash; Armstrong, Henning and Evans for the broad jump; Davis and Hopkins for the shot put; Sanborn and Hopkins for the high jump; Armstrong, Green, Henning and Mayer for the Medley relay race.

OBITUARY

Samuel M. Donnell

The death of Samuel M. Donnell last Wednesday afternoon removes from the town's activities one of her most active and interesting characters. A long record of service to the community as notary public, trustee of Newark Academy, director of the Farmers Trust Co., member of Town Council and Mayor, gave him an insight into community affairs which coupled with his keenness of intellect and practical common sense made him an invaluable advisor to many who sought counsel of him.

Born April 3, 1850, in Montgomery, Alabama, the son of Andrew and Rosa Donnell, he came to Newark in early childhood with his parents who lived for years on the farm now occupied by John Armstrong. He was educated at the Newark Academy of which he later became trustee. He engaged in the real estate and insurance business, the former of which he discontinued about a year ago when his health began to fail. He continued his activities in the latter and in the office of notary public until three weeks ago when he was seized with a sudden attack, attributed to uremic poisoning, which resulted in his death. He was an ardent lover of horses and dogs, and always took particular pride in owning and caring for spirited animals. He had a keen sense of humor and an unusual appreciation of literary and artistic values which made him a raconteur of unusual ability and interest.

He was for many years a trustee of the Presbyterian Church and was a member of the Masonic order.

The funeral services took place on Saturday afternoon, the 71st anniversary of his birth, at the Presbyterian Church, with Rev. David A. Reed, of White Clay Creek Church officiating. The pall bearers were Charles B. Evans, N. M. Motherall, Daniel Thompson, John McKeown, Wilbur T. Wilson and J. E. Dougherty.

His widow, Mrs. Mary B. Donnell, and two sisters, Mrs. George Marshall of Milford, and Mrs. Manley Drennen, of Elkton, survive.

EDUCATION

COMMENTS BY THE TRULY GREAT

In a country like this, where equal liberty is enjoyed, where every man may reap his own harvest, which by proper attention will afford him much more than is necessary for his own consumption, and where there is so ample a field for every mercantile and mechanical exertion, if there can not be money found to answer the common purposes of education, not to mention the necessary commercial circulation, it is evident that there is something amiss in the ruling political power, which requires a steady, regulating, and energetic hand to correct and control it.—George Washington.

For The Homemaker's Eye

Country Fried or Smothered Chicken

Select clean and joint a good chicken weighing four pounds. The chicken should be singed, then washed carefully in luke-warm water with a little brush, before it is cut up. Lay the chicken in a large frying pan, putting a half-cupful of butter or any good fat in the centre, then covering all with clean, cold water. Cover the pan and let the contents cook slowly for a half-hour. When it begins to brown turn the pieces and watch that they do not burn, but brown evenly. Serve on toast garnished with fresh cress, if desired, a good brown gravy can be made and served with the chicken, using the foundation of fat for its making left in the frying pan. Macaroni and cheese, baked sweet potatoes and stewed celery may accompany this chicken dish.

Chicken Cutlets.

Chop enough cold boiled chicken to make two full-sized cupfuls and add a grated onion, pepper, salt, a beaten egg, a quarter of a cupful of heavy cream sauce. Shape into cutlets, dip in egg and fine crumbs and fry in hot fat. Drain when done and serve with cream sauce or smooth tomato sauce. Pears, mashed potatoes and fried apples may be served with the cutlets. Garnish with fresh cress.

Chicken a Poulette.

Chop enough cold boiled chicken, coarsely to make two cupfuls. Season it and add a small can of mushrooms that have been drained and sautéed in a little butter. Prepare a cupful of rich cream sauce and add the chicken mixture. When hot, pour over toast slices on a hot platter, and garnish with sprays of parsley and potato puffs. Boiled cauliflower with butter sauce and celery are suitable accompaniments to chicken thus prepared.

Chicken a la Creole.

Mince enough cold boiled chicken to make two cupfuls. Mince a Spanish onion and two sweet peppers with two stalks of celery and fry them in a generous lump of butter until they are done clear, but not brown. Turn in a small can of tomatoes or use two large, fresh ones cut up, and cook gently for 10 minutes. Add a tablespoonful of sugar, pepper and salt to taste, then put in the chicken, dredge lightly with flour and cook until hot. Have ready some boiled rice and keep it on a hot platter, then turn the Creole over it, garnish with stuffed peppers and serve with sweet potatoes.

Household Hints

When ironing place an old kettle or tin over your irons; they will heat quicker and keep hot longer.

Never pour boiling water over fish in the kettle, as it breaks the skin. Lower fish into the water. Let fish stand for at least half an hour in salted water before cooking as the salted water will make the fish good and firm and will not fall apart when boiling.

Keep a crochet needle in the sewing machine drawer as you will find it indispensable in cleaning the lint and dust from the under part of the machine where it is hard to remove.

Sweep your carpet thoroughly to remove all dust and dirt. After an hour dampen the broom after it has been rinsed clean and go over the carpet again, this time removing all the dust which has settled since the first sweeping. The carpet will be remarkably bright.

To remove a grease spot from a straw matting, cover with French chalk moistened with turpentine. Let stand for a few days and scrub.

A paste of polishing nickelware which is as easily made as it is effective is a mixture of lard and whiting.

When iron-ware rusts cover it with grease, place it in a hot oven for an hour, and wash with soap and water, and the iron rust will be removed.

Many are the lurking places of dirt and many are the devices for cleaning dirt out of its lurking places.

There's nothing better than a small whisk broom for working behind radiators, and a small pointed stick for attacking corners.

Women in Public Life

The first public duty of every woman is to prepare herself to accept economic independence. If she is needed in her home, her place is there, but every woman, no matter what her social or financial position may be, should be capable of earning her living, if necessary, or of benefiting humanity.

The standard for women in public life should be work, not sex. Service is the necessary product and it does not matter whether it emanates from man or woman. I have worked with both, and have found sex to be immaterial, so long as the individual in authority is efficient. If the woman mentioned for an open position is more efficient than the man, then she has a right to the appointment. But the public has the right to demand service which will be of the utmost benefit to the community and to the nation, irrespective of sex.

To be of value to the government, the woman going into public life must handle the problems she encounters from a woman's viewpoint. She should be a woman and not an imitative man in her service—but the woman's viewpoint is necessary to the body politic, because the government is concerned with women as well as with men. Her knowledge of certain facts and of how to approach certain types of labor with the least expenditure of effort fit her for issues representing only in broader scope problems which she has been forced to solve all of her life. The president realized the value of a woman's viewpoint when the appointments for commissions were open. Even before I received word of my appointment, the papers were preparing their readers for a woman executive.

The adding of another department in the Cabinet under the direction of a woman should be considered with great care. Over-organization in government or corporation is a great evil. We do not wish to delay or clog the machinery, and if the President has too many advisers they are apt to prove a hindrance rather than a help. When the Department of Agriculture was created it seemed to me it would have been better to have had a Department of conservation which would have included, first, health, having to do with the conservation of human life, then agriculture, mines, water power and the other natural resources could have been added without difficulty or complication. After a department is organized, it is very difficult to combine or change, for the simple reason that employees take pride in their separate organizations. People who have had little or no experience in civic or government organizations should be careful of their criticisms. An outside survey merely touches the surface without considering the human equation or the many sides to every question of importance.—Mabel Boardman.

The Little Things

THE LITTLE THINGS

She always thought of little things, And brightened many a dreary way.

The little things that most forgot, Like sunshine on a darksome day.

Perhaps a single fragrant flower, A proffered book, a cheering word,

A ready smile, a written line, A happy story that she'd heard.

She always thought of little things, And never guessed what joy she gave.

What courage to the shy instilled, Discouraged ones she helped to save

And when she went, they mourned her long,

'Twas though some passing angel's wings

Had sudden touched the weary earth,

Her service was the little things.

High Price of Books

May Prove a Blessing

The high prices of new books will prove a blessing in disguise if only they have the effect of setting people to reading some of the old ones. There has not been a time within the last forty years when the buyer of new books got so little for his money as he gets today. Many serious books, so called, though not large in bulk, cost from four to six dollars; and not a few of them are so hastily thrown together, are so unscholarly, so lacking in anything like real authority or utility that they would be dear at any price. In the field of fiction so many popular authors are writing with one eye on the movies and the other on the speakers that the reader often gets mighty lean pickings for his two dollars.

There are social groups all over the land in which it is thought to be a sign of intellectual inferiority not to have read the newest novel, though no odium attaches to the profoundest ignorance of the larger part of the really great fiction of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. In these pseudo-intellectual circles every young matron is expected to have a glib opinion of the immaturest cockney writer of corduroy verse, but no one even thinks of chiding her for never having read twenty consecutive pages of that noble company of singers who are the pick and flower of six hundred years of English song.

Fiction, poetry and the essay are not the only kinds of reading that have a just claim upon our interest. Certain Americans need Americanization almost as much as the swarthy immigrants who are swarming in at Ellis Island. Very few of us know nearly as much as we should of the history of our own country, of the beginnings and growth of its institutions or of the lives of the sturdy statesmen, soldiers and pioneers who made thirteen straggling, thinly settled colonies into a vigorous young nation with a mighty destiny before it. These matters are well worth reading about, whether in the pages of Bancroft, John Fiske, George Otto Trevelyan and former Senator Beveridge or in those of dozens of less familiar authors.—Saturday Evening Post.

One Joy of Doing Kindness.

Be useful where thou livest, that they may

Both want and wish thy pleasant presence still.

Kindness, good parts, great places, are the way

To compass this. Find out men's wants and will,

And meet them. All worldly joys grow less

To the one joy of doing kindness.

The Praying Palm

In Bengal, India, there grows a date palm tree which stands alone amid its kind, and indeed among all the trees of the earth, for a singular action which it performs every morning and evening. In the morning it raises its height of 16 feet, slender, straight and towering, to the skies above; but as the sun goes down and the Moslems hear the call to prayers from their temples, it gradually bends and bends, till finally it softly lays its waving crown of plumes almost down on the earth, as if in worship. The Mohammedan natives regard it with awe as a miraculous tree, and call it the praying palm. They believe it is worshipping Allah, the name they give to God. It really seems as if nature chose this wonderful palm as its high priest, to bend in adoration before the Maker of the universe on the part of all his creation. Crowds of pilgrims go to visit the spot, and see this "prayer" of the palm. They wait all night to see it lift its beautiful head again in the early morning light, and stand straight and erect in praise and thanksgiving, it may be, as we do at the Te Deum. Who knows? Perhaps the rustling fronds are singing in their own tree language, uncomprehended to us.

Holy God, we praise Thy name!
Lord of all, we bow before thee,

All on earth Thy sceptre claim—
All in heaven above adore Thee!
Infinite Thy vast domain,
Everlasting is Thy reign.

"HEADS UP"Faith in Business Integrity
Essential Says Market
Summary

To be other than an optimist, to doubt even for a moment that the nation which has overcome every obstacle, victorious in war and successful in business, leading the world in the possession of physical wealth to doubt that it should be able to overcome a business depression which by comparison is insignificant, is to doubt the ability and integrity of our fellow Americans.

Every man at one time or another in his life has come face to face with conditions which compel him to make use of his greatest ability and call forth all his courage. So also, must a nation from time to time, face similar conditions. No nation regardless of its material wealth is really great unless it has met such tests and survived them. A nation is no greater than the composite average of its people.

Today the people of the United States are face to face with new and trying business conditions. It is time for "heads up." There is a certain stimulating effect in the command "heads up." Drill masters use it frequently in the training of raw recruits and veterans trudging the dusty road know its heartening qualities. The expression is symbolic of turning from a pessimistic to an optimistic outlook.

Improve the Farm Business

Business that is spasmodic, careless or otherwise not dependable is not profitable, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Some farmers send their produce to market on consignment without any previous notice to the commission merchant, and in such cases the latter has no opportunity to prepare for a satisfying sale. Some farmers take no pains in making shipments regularly so as to enable the merchant to build up a profitable demand for the products.

In justice to himself, say marketing specialists of the Government, as well as to the commission man, the farmer should find what the market demands, try as far as possible to meet the demand, always make products appear attractive, so far as he can.

The Middle Years

Arthur Davison Ficke in the North American Review.

I.

This is the burden of the middle years:

To know what things can be or not be known;

To find no sunset lovely unto tears;

To pass not with the swallow southward-flown

Toward the Hesperides where gold seas break

Beyond the last horizon round strange isles;

To have forgot Prometheus on his peak;

To know that pilgrim-miles are only miles,

Then death seems not so dreadful with its night

That keeps unstirred the veil of mystery.

Then no acclaimed disaster can a-fright

Him who is wise in human history

And finds no godhead there to earn his praise

And dreads no horror save his empty days.

II.

Not all my will can change this casque of bone

That predetermines what each thought must be;

And I have learned to bear with these my own

Enforced defects and doomed futility,

And with reproach no longer rack a skull

Whose rigid plan, conditioned long ago,

Left such low arches for the beautiful

To pour its summer light through.

Now I know

Somewhat the measure of what may be done

And may not by this child of a dark race

Who in the long processions of the sun

At last for a brief moment takes his place.

I bid him bear his banner with the rest,

Not too much blame the dusk that haunts his breast.

—Arthur Davison Ficke, in North American Review.

Presence of Mind in an Emergency

A dozen or more congressmen were sitting in the famous amen corner of the Congress Hall Hotel in Washington. They had been swapping yarns and discussing all sorts of subjects ranging all the way from the vamping of Samson and the Island of Yap mixup to the very recent alienation of affections scandals, when the talk suddenly veered to quick thinkers. The most interesting story along the line of quick thinking was related by Congressman Frank Crowther, who hails from the Schenectady, N. Y. district. According to Crowther, a young man who was employed as a Ranger in the United States forest service in one of the Western States was making a trip on horseback through a lonesome valley located between two high mountains when he suddenly came upon fresh tracks in the snow. These tracks plainly told him that three generous-footed men were just a few miles ahead of him. His suspicions were immediately aroused as to their business in that particular locality. Trailing them for a mile or two, he found a separation of tracks, one man going to the left and others straight ahead. He followed the tracks of the lone man and shortly overtook him, casually inquiring where his two pals had gone. With a mild expression of surprise on his face he assured the Ranger that he was absolutely alone and that he was hunting for coyotes. "Man, cut out that kind of fool talk; whoever heard of anyone hunting coyotes in two foot of snow? It ain't done! You know blankety blank blank well that you birds are out here trying to shoot deer out of season." At that moment the two other hunters hove in sight over a hilltop and hurriedly joined their worried companion. A few short sharp words from the Ranger, uttered in open air fashion straight from the shoulder, brought an admission from all three that they really were looking for deer. "All right, boys, I'll draw up a little statement for you to sign, admitting you were hunting deer out of season and agreeing to appear before Justice of the Peace Jule Hutchison next Saturday afternoon." Then it dawned upon Mr. Ranger that he had neither pencil nor paper upon his person and that the hunters were about to have a good laugh at his expense. Only for a few seconds was he disconcerted. Quickly drawing a bullet from his cartridge belt and extracting his knife from his pants pocket, he proceeded to whittle the bullet to a point as fine as any lead pencil; then walking over to a nearby birch tree peeled off a smooth piece of bark of requisite size and a few minutes later the confession and agreement was written and signed.

"Twenty-five dollars and costs from each of you," was the brief speech made by Jule Hutchison, J. P., the following Saturday.

The Population of the State

The population of the State of Delaware, as announced by the Bureau of Census, is 77.5 per cent native white, 8.9 per cent foreign-born white, and 13.6 per cent Negro. In 1910 the percentage Negro was 15.4, and in 1900 16.6.

The total population of the State, 223,003, includes 172,805 native white, 19,810 foreign-born whites, 30,335 Negroes, 43 Chinese, eight Japanese, and two Indians.

Of the 172,805 native whites, 23,288 are the children of foreign-born parents and 9,641 had one parent foreign-born, the other parent being a native American. The native whites whose parents were both natives—the native American children of native Americans—number 139,876, and constitute 62.7 per cent or a little more than three-fifths of the total population of the State.

Newspaper Ideals

Formerly newspaper making was a trade that employed a lot of uneducated people. There is a certain instinct for journalistic success that is inborn and can not be manufactured by any course of study, so many uneducated men have done well in this profession. But still broad education makes a man a better worker in this field.

It is the ambition of every newspaper to maintain high standards for its working force. It wants a group of workers who not merely have the "hustle" called for in this business, but who have the gift of leadership, who shall constitute a force in the community for progressive measures.

The better support a newspaper gets from its community, the higher standards it can require of its force of workers. It can offer better opportunities when the brightest young people of the community seek this career in the home field. The newspaper that is able to attract and hold people of that type becomes a tremendous power in the service of all good home causes.—Educational Leadership.

Be Patient.

Be patient, if thou wouldst thy ends accomplish; for like patience is there no appliance effective of success, producing certainly abundant fruit of actions, never damped by failure, conquering all impediments.—Bharavi.

NEWARK OPERA HOUSEPROGRAM WEEK BEGINNING*Thursday, 5th--

Lyons and Moran in "A Shocking Night," an Edgar Franklyn story that's a scream. Also, a Christie Comedy, "Dining Room, Kitchen, and Sink."

Friday, 6th--

Pearl White in "The White Moll," Frank L. Packard's greatest story. The most dramatic exposition of life in the underworld ever visualized upon the screen. Tensely human and vividly emotional, it tells the story of a great redemption.

Saturday, 7th--

Bryant Washburn in "A Full House," a comedy drama, News, and a Sunshine Comedy.

Monday, 9th--

Harold Goodwin in "Hearts of Youth," a tale of mystery and vengeance based on Mrs. Southworth's novel, "Ishmael." Also a Christie Comedy.

Tuesday, 10th--

William Farnum in "His Greatest Sacrifice," the story of a wife who sacrifices home, husband, and child to win fame as an opera singer. Also, "Torchie's Big Lead."

This will be a benefit performance, forty per cent of the gross proceeds go to the Newark Y. M. C. A.

Wednesday, 11th--

Wallace Reid in "What's Your Hurry," a comedy drama. Also, a Christie Comedy.

SPRING

at the Quality Shop

Just as soon as the Weather Man gives the word, SPRING is here. I am all ready.

The line carried this year is larger and of better qualities. The War conditions are becoming adjusted. No where can this be seen so plainly as at the Tailor Shop. The prices are surprising and assortment and qualities are quickly coming back to normal.

Not only is this true of clothing but of all men's wear. Shoes, here, this season are offered at prices that show the Back-to-Pre-War times.

I have made a special effort to meet the demands of the most exacting.

Newark deserves a Furnishing Shop for men that compares with the best. That desert has been provided.

There may be more display in the presentation of goods in some of the High Class city shops—but the same quality at less money can be secured right here at home.

Suitings to measure can be given here. The tape line is the same, the styles and cuts are the same as the city—the price is, we admit, different. It's cheaper. Our rents and expense of operation are less.

It actually pays to buy at home.

Try it. Pay us a visit and let us show you.

Epitaphs

If you could write your own epitaph,—honestly what would you say? Very like, when you pass out and friends erect the marking stone at your grave, your epitaph will flatter you. They usually do. But if it were possible and your modesty would permit, and you could leave instructions to carve your secret ambition and supreme motive of your life, on your tomb, what would it be?

One's supreme ambition is something the world seldom hears. The longing yearn of our heart's best is, in most instances, a quiet but well guarded secret. Once in awhile, a biographer will tell of an ambition of his subject, that the world never dreamed of. Great men, serving well, even receiving deserved applause, go out into the Unknown and the world knows not the personal defeat that was theirs. Sometimes, however, in revery by the fire with a comrade, a friend, the woman of his heart, a man will, in abashed whisper, tell his most cherished desire.

What man wishes said of him when he dies, is representative of the best in him as well as the frailty of human nature. For illustration, Lincoln gave, I believe, his best when he said: "I want to so live that when I die, those who knew me best will say: He planted a rose and plucked a thorn, wherever he thought a rose would grow."

That to me, best typifies Lincoln. I believe it was his secret desire. It escaped him, in some unguarded moment. Tender, full of sentiment, yet rugged in pioneer common sense, he bared his soul to a friend. National and world character, that his life and work made him, I like to read that sentiment. It was his ambition, fuller of meaning than a single reading interprets. A misplaced emphasis destroys much of its greatness. On Memory's Shaft that I have erected to History's Great, those are the words, I carve, as his most fitting epitaph.

Speaking of epitaphs, there are so few that are truly expressive. But here is one picked up the other day. Sir Christopher Wren, the great English architect, designed many of London's finest buildings. After devoting his life to the passion of "frozen music" he lies in the heart of the city he made so beautiful. Upon the tablet to his memory is engraved—

"If you would see his monument, look about you."

Epitaphs could well be a worthy ambition. What's the moral, say you? It is this:—

have you, citizen of America, of Delaware, of Newark, an ambition such as Lincoln had? Will Delaware, those who know you best, say "He planted a rose and plucked a thorn, wherever he thought a rose would grow." Will Newark read in memory of you,—

"If you would see his monument, look about you."

No Epidemics in Israel

The Children of Israel spent forty years in the wilderness; yet we have no record of any single death from typhoid, or cholera or other plagues.

WHY?

Because every day was

CLEAN-UP DAY.

"In every tent," commanded Moses, let there be a paddle. And any man who has rubbish or garbage to throw out of camp, let him take that paddle with him and bury it immediately."

"For the Lord thy God walketh in the midst of thy camp," said Moses, "to deliver thee; * * * therefore shall thy camp be holy: that he see no unclean thing in thee, and turn away from thee."

While we with our Universities, our Clubs, academic and welfare, our societies devoted to social service, hesitate to admit that the Grand Old Man of Sinai had any thing on us, I imagine if he were to locate in this vicinity in 1921 that he would immediately break ground for a Paddle Industry. Knowing Moses as we do from our reading, we are convinced that he would be a progressive citizen and a loyal supporter of the Post.

Sons of Delaware

Sons of Delaware have again accepted the invitation to come to University of Delaware for their spring outing. The institution is to be congratulated for these men are worthwhile citizens. They have left Delaware and made a success in life for themselves and more—they have made an impression for good in our neighboring state. True Sons, they are. The Home Fire spirit glows and once a year they come back.

We wish the University would ask the town to participate in this Welcome Home. It would add to the occasion and increase a friendlier understanding and relationship.

Good American

The new administration is giving us some old time American talk—and we like it.

President Harding at the naval review, speaking of our foreign relations and national policy burst out with a "By the Eternal, we shall have what is rightfully ours." Then this morning Daugherty, Attorney General, speaking of May 1st demonstration, said the country was getting back to normal. "Of course," said he, "we can't leave the smoke-house door open but we are reasonably safe." No official airs about "By the eternal" and "smoke-house" illustrations. It just suits us common folk. Harding, Hughes, Hoover have all hit out the situation in clean cut American and now Daugherty has proven his command of language easily understood.

Abolish Committees

An interesting act of the Senate at Washington which has received little publicity was the recent elimination of forty of its seventy-four standing committees. Most of these committees have not functioned for years, but have been retained and chairmen regularly appointed at each session, with the regular appropriations for clerk hire, printing, and other expenses. One of the committees, namely Committee on Transportation Routes to the Seaboard, had not had a meeting for forty years. The House of Representatives still retains its dead committees.

20-Cent Mileage

One of the first acts of the Sixty-seventh Congress was the passage of the customary appropriations bill for expenses of the session. This bill included $51,000 for mileage of Senators and $175,000 for mileage of Representatives and Delegates, and expenses of Resident Commissioners. Mileage is allowed at the rate of 20 cents a mile each way for each session.

Du PONT NOT TO SERVE ON STATE BOARD

Declines Appointment and Explains Attitude on New Law

Whether Pierre S. du Pont would continue a member of the State Board of Education has been a serious and interesting speculation for several weeks.

Governor Denney expressing the views of the public urged both Mr. du Pont and Mr. Miller to continue. Both have refused. The attitude of Mr. du Pont is set forth in the letters which follow.

New York, N. Y.,
March 29, 1921.

Hon. William D. Denney,
Governor of Delaware,
Dover, Delaware.

My dear Governor: Your message, requesting me to serve as a member of the State Board of Education of Delaware under the new school law, came to me yesterday. It is a great honor to receive an offer of such appointment, for no subject demands more careful consideration and higher thought than does that of education. I am therefore embarrassed and, I might add, disappointed to be obliged to decline to serve. In view of my interest in education in Delaware and to the fact that Governor Townsend did me the honor to appoint me a member of the State Board of Education under the law of 1919, it is only fair to you that I should make frank statement of the reasons that have led to my present determination.

While I have many other questions occupying my attention at present, and while my business commitments are somewhat burdensome and call for much absence from Delaware, I cannot plead these facts as a proper cause for declining to accept another appointment as a member of the State Board of Education.

A report on certain features of the law leads me to the following * *

A 25 per cent tax rate is insufficient and has no defence in the practice common in other States; the tax rate on real estate is the only means at command of the State Board of Education for raising money to meet unforeseen deficiencies in the income tax or other source of revenue. Therefore, the tax rate should be sufficient; elastic so that the Board may use it as a means of providing the budget approved by the Legislature. The new law, placing the power of increasing the tax rate with 300 or 400 separate districts, makes a uniform school system impossible.

Under the new law a building program is impossible. The several dis-

Alumni to Back University

The first meeting of the executive committee of the Wilmington Chapter of the Alumni Association of the University of Delaware was held Friday afternoon in the office of County Engineer C. E. Grubb, president of the organization. Various matters were discussed at the meeting and three committees were named.

Those on the membership committee are: Chairman, L. B. Steele, '17; Rev. Charles W. Clash, '06; LeRoy B. Hickman, '03; Jay Robinson, '12, and Edmund S. Hollings, '98. The scholarship committee consists of the following: William H. Heald, '83, chairman; George N. Davis, '98, and Joseph McVey, '04. The athletic committee follows: F. Irving Walls, '11, chairman; W. A. Trotter, '00, and J. A. Crothers, '16.

The next meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening, May 25. At this meeting athletics and a number of other topics will be brought up for discussion. A "Back for Commencement" slogan will likely be adopted at the meeting and an effort made to have as many as possible back for the alumni reunion in connection with the commencement activities.

Bringing the Bodies Home

Twenty thousand bodies of American soldiers who fell in France have either been shipped to the United States or are in process of being returned for burial in their native country. With 102 officers of the American army and a personnel of more than 2,000 men working night and day in many sections of France the Graves Registration service of the American army has reached a point where it is possible to forward 4,000 bodies a month. The work of sending back the 52,311 bodies designated for interment in America will be completed by the end of next October, if present plans are fulfilled.

Our Dearest Friends.

We spend a great deal of our time in learning what literature is good and a great deal more in attuning minds to its reception, rightly convinced that, by the training of our intellectual faculties, we are unlocking one of the doors through which wisdom and light may enter. We are fond of reading, too, and have always maintained with Macaulay that would rather be a poor man with books than a great king without them. Though luckily for our resolution, perhaps for his, such a choice has never yet been offered. Books, say, are our dearest friends, and with true friendly acuteness, we prompt to discover their faults, and take great credit in our ingenuity.

LOCAL ORGANIZATIONS TO SELL POPPIES

American Legion and Century Club to Aid French Children

Representatives of the New Century Club and of the local post of the American Legion, including Mrs. J. Pearce Cann, Dean Winifred J. Robinson, S. Pusey Morrison and others attended the luncheon meeting held at the Hotel du Pont on Monday to plan a fitting observance of Memorial Day in honor of those who died on the battlefields of France. The luncheon was attended by representatives of practically every club and civic organization in Delaware. The luncheon was given under the Delaware section of the American Star and the Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs.

Among those who were invited to this luncheon were representatives of the Daughters of 1812, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, the Young Men's Christian Association, the Young Women's Christian Association, the Kiwanis Club, the Daughters of Isabella, the Grouse de Wilmington of the Alliance Française, the Junior League, the Council of Jewish Women, the Consumers' League, the captains of Legion posts, the president of each of the 39 clubs in the Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs, city officials, George B. Miller, president of the State Board of Education; the Rt. Rev. John J. Monaghan and the Rt. Rev. Philip Cook.

Will Sell Poppies to be Worn Memorial Day

One of the matters taken up and discussed was the sale and wearing on Memorial Day of red poppies, the emblem adopted by the American Legion. These poppies, of which 35,000 will be sent to Delaware, are being made by the women and children of France, and the money obtained from their sale, will be used for the relief of the makers of these artificial flowers. This work will continue for three years.

Several hundred of these will be sold in Newark by the American Legion, the Century Club, and the Women's College.

Distinguished Guests at Luncheon

The special guests for the luncheon were Colonel Moffat, of New York, and Miss Elizabeth Kite, of New York, who addressed the meeting in the interest of a fitting memorial.

Mayor Taylor formally welcomed those present, and Josiah Marvel, as chairman of the gathering, made a few remarks in which he said it was the duty of the men and women of the world to look after the children of soldiers who died during the war.

Major J. P. LeFevre, of Smyrna, State commander of the American Legion, spoke in behalf of that organization. The posts of the States are cooperating to make the sale of poppies a success, he said.

Miss Kite in her speech said that last summer she visited hill 304, the scene of one of the most deadly battles of the war, which then was covered with barbed wire, grenades and the wreckage of battle. The bodies of soldiers slain there were placed in unmarked graves, she said, many bodies resting in one trench. The American Legion, she said, had shown the people the way to wear poppies, and she hoped the public generally would follow that practice and honor the men who fought and show respect for those who died.

Purpose and Personnel of the Organization

The American Star, or as it is now called, the American-France Children's League, was started in Delaware sometime over a year ago with Mrs. Irene du Pont as honorary president and Mrs. William C. Speakman as secretary and treasurer. Its object is to foster friendly relations between the two countries through the children and to keep alive the memory of those who gave their lives in the great struggle. The American League will act as distributors of the poppies in this state.

The Board of Directors of the Delaware Section are: George Gray, president of the Delaware Chapter of the American Red Cross; Otto Nowland, president of the Equitable Trust Company; Clifford J. Scott, Superintendent of Wilmington Public Schools; John P. LeFevre, State Commander of the American Legion; David J. Reinhardt, former Attorney-General, and Mrs. William C. Speakman, State Chairman.

Dean Robinson at Home Next Friday

Dean Robinson will be at home on Friday, April 6th, from 3.30 until 5.30. She will be assisted by Mrs. Walter Hullahen, Mrs. Clarence A. Short, Mrs. Ralph B. Harris and Mrs. L. K. Bowen.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mrs. C. B. Evans entertained at bridge on Monday afternoon in honor of her guests, Mrs. Dawson, wife of a former member of the Delaware College faculty.

Miss Katherine Heiser entertained the Card Club at dinner at her home on Main Street last Monday evening.

Mrs. Ernest V. Vaughan entertained a number of friends very delightfully at a children's party last Thursday afternoon. The guests were asked to come dressed as children, to bring a childhood picture and to tell stories of their youth. The costumes were a source of much merriment which was further increased by the fitting behavior of the guests.

A prize offered for the best childhood story was awarded to Dean W. J. Robinson; and one for guessing the greatest number of childhood pictures was won by Mrs. J. Pearce Cann. At the close of the afternoon's entertainment the guests marched to the dining room where they were provided with buns, cups of milk and animal crackers. This repast was followed, however, by real grown-up refreshments.

The picnic schedule by the New Century Club to be held yesterday afternoon on the lawn at the home of Mrs. J. O. G. Duffy, was indefinitely postponed because of the unsettled condition of the weather.

Give Reception for Newly Wedded Pair

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob C. Maclary, near Stanton, a reception was given on Saturday evening for Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Jenkins, who were married recently at Washington. More than a hundred guests were present.

CHESWOLD YOUTH RECEIVES ACHIEVEMENT TROPHY

Stanley Short Wins Corn Judging Contest for Delaware

"In behalf of the Delaware Corn Growers' Association of 1920, I have the honor and pleasure of presenting this Challenge Trophy Cup to Stanley Short, of Cheswold, in recognition of his winning the Annual State Junior Corn Judging Contest which was held at the State Corn Show in Newark during the Christmas holidays." With these simple words, W. V. Cosden, President of the State Farm Bureau Federation, but acting as former president of the Delaware Corn Growers' Association, presented the Association's fine silver cup in the presence of the executive committee of the Kent County Farm Bureau at Dover on Monday afternoon.

While still holding his splendid award, Stanley expressed his appreciation for the recognition that had come to him and pledged his continued support of the State Corn Growers' program.

The cup stands about 12 inches high and has the following words engraved on one side:

"Delaware Corn Growers' Association Challenge Trophy Cup."

On the other side of the cup are these words:

"For Boys' Judging Contest 1920 - Stanley Short, Cheswold, Delaware."

According to the plan of the Association, the cup will remain the property of the State judging champion only so long as he continues to maintain first place in the annual judging contest. No doubt a number of boys under 21 years of age will contest for the privilege of holding this Challenge Trophy Cup for next year.

Every boy who contests for this cup feels that after all Stanley Short is the Junior Corn King of Delaware. He has won the Corn Club Shows and a large number of the first premiums in the open classes of the State Corn Show for the last two years. He has won two scholarships to the Junior Farmers' Short Course at Delaware College, and has represented the state twice on club teams at the Eastern States Exposition, where his team won first place in judging corn in 1919.

In the meantime, for the last two years he has made a systematic study of agriculture in Dover High School and has developed a fine herd of pure bred hogs, to which he has learned to feed his corn in a balanced ration.

Stanley is on his fourth year as a member of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Kent County and is now the State Chairman of the Achievement Champions of Delaware.

He is graduating this June from the Dover High School with a county-wide reputation as a breeder of good seed corn and fine pure bred Poland-China hogs. He plans to continue his studies in the University of Delaware, College of Agriculture. The greatest achievement of Stanley Short is the inspiration that his success has been to other country boys and girls.

University Professor on Politics

A University Professor gave me a good-natured but serious lecture recently on having anything to do with politics. In the discussion, the new school law came up. He admitted he had not read it, knew nothing of its provisions. In fact he was utterly ignorant of the whole legislative program—and worst of all, a bit proud of it. Said, "Politics is thoroughly disgusting. No professional man would have anything to do with it. Then, again, our point of view, would be misinterpreted and re-act against the Institution. Then, too, we have not the time to bother with it."

I knew that to his credit that week, were two dances, two card parties and a smoker—so I didn't argue further.

HUGHES THAWS OUT

Beyond question one of the members of the Cabinet most talked about in Washington is Charles E. Hughes, Secretary of State. In fact, there is a distinct Hughes wave, and remote indeed from the centers of power and of gossip is the place in official or social Washington that has not felt the influence of this wave.

It is the story of two Hughes—how one has supplanted the other in the popular mind.

The Hughes personality, as it stands out today, took official Washington completely by surprise. The unfailing smile, the hearty handshake, frankly caused astonishment. A cold, calculating, austere, self-centered man had been expected at the State Department. Officials and minor employees there had looked for a chill in the air as he approached; a brusqueness of greeting as he entered; a sharp closing of the door with orders that none was to be tolerated near the official sanctum unless summoned to appear.

And then came the revelation. A smile and a cheery word of greeting for everybody and Mr. Hughes was on the job. Officials who were requested to drop in to see him came away, their faces expressing a strange mixture of disbelief and pleasure. There could be no mistake in the identity of the man, for the famous whiskers were there, although somewhat more closely cropped than in the old days.

"Yes, it's Hughes, all right," commented one visitor; "but what I want to know is, where's the faker who said he was an iceberg?"

THE GOOD INDIAN'S PRAYER

Oh Powers that be, make me sufficient to my own occasions. Teach me to know and to observe the Rules of the Game. Give me to mind my own business at all times and to lose no good opportunity of holding my tongue. Help me not to cry for the moon or over spilled milk. Grant me neither to proffer nor to welcome cheap praise; to distinguish sharply between sentiment and sentimentality, cleaving to the one and despising the other. When it is appointed for me to suffer, let me, so far as may humanly be possible, take example from the dear, well-bred beasts, and go away quietly, to bear my sufferings by myself. Give to me to be always a good comrade, and to view the passing show with an eye constantly growing keener, a charity broadening and deepening day by day. Help me to win, if win I may; but—and this, oh Powers! especially—if I may not win, make me a good loser. Amen.

Caleb J. Freeman

Caleb J. Freeman, aged 78 years, a resident of Middletown since 1881, and editor and owner of The New Era, a weekly newspaper, died at his home on South Broad street last Friday night. His death was due to old age, superinduced by a fall he suffered in his office on last Thanksgiving Day. At the time he fell no one was in the office. He was coming upstairs after fixing the furnace fire, when a misstep threw him to the basement floor against the furnace. No bones were broken, but his head was gashed and a leg injured. His age was against him and he never recovered his strength.

When he first started his plant, Mr. Freeman was in partnership, but for the past number of years he has maintained the business by himself. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman celebrated their twenty-first wedding anniversary recently.

Born in Elkton, Md., in 1842, Mr. Freeman came to Middletown and started to work on The Transcript. In 1885 he went into business for himself as a job printer and established The New Era. He was known as a practical printer and a writer of no mean ability. Several printers in Wilmington and other parts of Delaware received their preliminary training with him.

Mr. Freeman was a life-long Democrat and at the town meetings of the Democratic party up to recent years, always acted as secretary. He never ran for office. He is survived by his wife and one sister, Miss Anna Freeman, who made her home with him. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon.

NEBRASKA HONORS A POET

The first legislature to give official recognition to an American poet has just acted in Nebraska to make John G. Neihart Poet Laureate of that State. Mr. Neihart won the Poetry Society prize for the best American volume of verse in 1919. This was "The Song of Three Friends."

Condition of Highways

Detailed for Autoists

The following bulletin of active road construction for the present season was issued last week by the State Highway Department, and also instructions as to travel through the State as to detours where work is under construction:

"Active construction has begun on nearly all State highway contracts, and it is confidently expected that all unfinished contracts will be finished early in the season. Two mixers are laying pavement between Tybout's Corner and Wilmington. This section should be open for traffic not later than July 1.

"The contractor on the Milford-Frederica section is to start another mixer soon, and this important road also should be finished in time for the summer traffic. The Georgetown-Harbeson road will be completed early in June.

"Wilmington-Odessa—The State Road is closed from the Causeway to Farnhurst, and from State Road Station to Tybout's Corner. Motorists are advised to leave Wilmington via Market Street bridge, following the trolley line to and through New Castle to Roger's Corner, thence by the River Road to St. Georges and Odessa.

"The River Road for some three miles south of New Castle is in poor condition, but passable, regardless of the weather. An alternate route from New Castle is to keep straight through along Delaware Street, leaving the trolley line at left, past the armory to Hare's Corner, then follow the new concrete road and old stone road to State Road Station, then over earth road three miles, turning sharply to left just before reaching Bear Station, across railroad, thence to Tybout's Corner. Caution should be used in approaching the railroad crossing, as northbound trains cannot be seen until after passing station.

"Odessa-Dover—Turn to left in Odessa and follow macadam road to Fieldsboro, thence by new concrete road to Pine Tree Corner and Hart's Garage. Turn sharply to left at Hart's Garage, then by macadam and concrete roads to Smyrna and Dover. Avoid contractors' tracks near Fieldsboro and Pine Tree.

"Mount Pleasant-Boyd's Corner—New concrete road. No detours.

"Dover to Milford, Georgetown, Rehoboth and other points in Southeastern Delaware—Take new concrete road one mile south of Dover, follow to Frederica. No detours. Shoulders are soft. Drive carefully. Work in progress at Causeway north of Frederica; avoid construction materials and contractors' trains.

"Frederica to Milford—Earth road, Frederica to Tub Mill, five miles very rough; drive carefully across Causeway. Take concrete road at Tub Mill, follow three-quarters mile, turning to left into Milford. Keep straight through Milford, across bridge and follow guide sign to right to du Pont Boulevard; Milford to Georgetown and Selbyville; concrete boulevard; no detours.

"Rehoboth and Lewes—Follow detour signs east of Georgetown.

"Georgetown to Laurel—New concrete road open for traffic four miles west of Georgetown. No detours.

"Dover to Elkton, Harrington, Farmington, Greenwood, Bridgeville and Seaford—Dirt road Camden to Farmington. Farmington to Greenwood, new concrete road open to traffic. Farmington to Bridgeville, new concrete road open to traffic four miles. Detour to east one mile to Bridgeville. New concrete road Bridgeville to Seaford.

"Seaford to Laurel to Delmar—New concrete road. No detours."

If the Sheppard-Towner "Better Baby" Bill is passed, we shall expect to see a vast improvement in the personnel of Congress beginning about 1950.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

Opera House Offerings

"One reason why I prefer work on the screen to work in the spoken drama," remarked Harold Goodwin, the Fox star, who will be seen at the Opera House next week in "Hearts of Youth," a Fox production, "is found in the fact that deafness or defective hearing appears to be spreading in our country—I presume through the prevalence of catarrhal affections."

"Many people, lovers of the drama, cannot enjoy a stage play unless they are able to occupy seats close to the stage. Many others cannot hear under any conditions. The same is true of musical comedy, of course."

"The motion picture obviates this embarrassment and deprivation. The person who cannot hear a word can enjoy a screen production just as keenly as the spectator whose hearing is as good as new. Therefore the motion picture confers a positive blessing upon a very considerable part of the country's population. And it pleases me to be a factor in the creation of this blessing."

Does a husband's success mean everything to a wife? And can mother love be crushed from a woman's heart by the applause of the public? These are questions put forth in the latest William Fox production starring William Farnum. This picture, called "His Greatest Sacrifice," will be shown at the Newark Opera House next Tuesday. It is a highly dramatic play and one that gives the popular William Farnum an opportunity to display his finest gifts as an actor.

J. Gordon Edwards, who directed "Salome" and "Cleopatra," among other pictures for William Fox, directed "His Greatest Sacrifice."

FAMOUS NOVELIST PAID COMPLIMENT TO PEARL WHITE

"I have seen you on the screens of three continents, and always your success was overwhelming," was the significant compliment paid by Vincente Blasco Ibanez, the famous Spanish novelist, to Pearl White on the occasion of his visit to the popular William Fox Star shortly after his arrival in this country.

Ibanez, whose books—"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," "Mare Nostrum," etc., have created a sensation in the world of literature, expressed a desire to meet Miss White soon after he reached New York from Spain. The star, equally anxious to meet the famous novelist, invited Ibanez to visit her at her beautiful home at Bayside, Long Island.

Miss White, who will be at the Opera House Friday in her first big production, released by William Fox, "The White Moll," based on the famous story by Frank L. Packard, author of "The Miracle Man," greeted her distinguished visitor in French, knowing that he was not well acquainted with the English language.

"I want you to know how delighted I am with your stories," the actress said. "I appreciate very deeply your fine interpretations of character."

Ibanez, not to be outdone, replied: "In Europe and South America your admirers can be counted by the million. It is my deep conviction that such admiration is well deserved. I am one of those millions."

NEWARK HIGH CARRIES OFF TWO VICTORIES

Defeats Middletown and Team of Rehabilitation Students

Twice last week the Newark High School nine demonstrated their fast team work by defeating formidable opponents. On Friday they won from Middletown by the close score of 5-4, and on Saturday afternoon on the new diamond of the Rehabilitation nine, won from that aggregation by a score of 12-2.

The game against Middletown was a hard fought contest, the outcome of which was in doubt until the last man was out.

Crompton had excellent support. Although Middletown registered five hits they were so scattered as not to do any serious damage to the score.

Newark jumped into the lead in the first inning, scoring one run and increasing the lead to four by scoring again in the third and fourth. The locals came back strong in the fourth and sixth and came within one run of tying the score.

From this point on the fray developed into a pitcher's battle with neither side scoring and the score remaining the same at the end. Whitlock's hurling and Alfrey's batting were the bright lights for Middletown the Newark boys touching Whitlock for but five hits.

Many arguments arose during the game. The score:

FACULTY DEFEATS KIWANIS CLUB

Wilmingtonians Put Up Game Fight Against Heavy Odds

The famous Kiwanis base ball club journeyed to Newark last Thursday in all the bravery of white and blue uniforms, to play a postponed game with the University Faculty club. In a discouraging drizzle the fracas started to the distress of those who enjoyed the spick and span whiteness of the pretty uniforms.

The visitors got a good lead in the first inning, when they scored four runs. After Horner flied out, Winters hit for three bases and scored when Saville doubled. Hoch walked, but Saville was caught at third for the second out. Holton's single and errors by Robinson, Shipley and Davis, with a couple of stolen bases, brought in three more runs. Winters' triple and Saville's single scored another run in the second. The visitors' last two runs were made in the fourth, on Casper's double and singles by Horner and Saville.

The Faculty scored one run in the first on Tarr's triple and Robinson's single, and took the lead in the second by scoring five runs. An error by Horner, a pass to Smith, and singles by Harris and Tarr, scored two of the runs and then with two on, Robinson hit to deep centre for a home run, driving in Tarr and Shipley ahead of him.

In the fourth inning the Faculty scored one run, when Davis reached first on a fielder's choice and scored on Runk's double. The last two runs were made in the sixth on a combination of errors and two hits. The score:

tricts vote for improved schools and raise money therefor separately. These schools will be built through the whim of local prejudice without regard to the needs of adjoining districts, or the development of the school system of the State as a whole. It would seem most unwise to spend public money in such an extravagant and unsystematic manner. Even the proposed high schools cannot proceed with their planned buildings, for they can no longer rely upon receiving high school pupils from distant points on account of lack of transportation facilities. This practice of building development is so at variance with established practice that it would be most unwise to proceed under the new law until the latter had been thoroughly tested over a period of several years.

My two years' contact with school affairs in Delaware has led me to the conclusion that the taxpayers, parents and pupils all suffer from lack of sufficient administration expenditure. Good schools cannot be had without proper supervision of teachers and pupils through the efforts of supervisors and attendance officers and school affairs in many districts cannot be conducted without proper expenditure for clerical and statistical work in order that there may be record of accomplishment and study for improvement.

The above comments are based upon a comparatively short experience in school affairs. The people of Delaware are entitled to the fairest trial of the new law. Possibly it may be made successful and economical. To this end I urge you to appoint as members of the State Board of Education the men who are responsible for and who approve the provisions of the new law. All citizens of the State should support the Board of Education and allow time sufficient to prove conclusively the merits of the choice that has been made. The law of 1919 was not bettered by the modifications of 1920 and a two years' trial was insufficient to prove its merit. The new law should be given at least two years, or a sufficient time for the people of Delaware to conclusively determine which one of the two plans is the better.

As stated in the fore part of this letter, I have not yet had opportunity to read or to study the details of the new law, and if you so wish I shall not give a final decision until I have had opportunity to do so. However, if it is your desire to have from me an immediate answer, I write with regret that this answer must be "no."

Sincerely yours,
P. S. DU PONT.

His refusal to accept a reappointment was sent to the Governor in the following letter:

Wilmington, Del., April 16th, 1921.

Hon. William D. Denney,

Governor of Delaware,
Dover, Delaware.

Dear Governor: I talked with Mr. George B. Miller this morning and received from him your verbal message, requesting that he and I defer our decision as to membership on the State Board of Education until May 9th, when it is hoped that the action of the Legislature with respect to finances of the schools may make the situation for the year 1921-1922 more certain. I regret that it seems to me unwise to permit this delay, as there is crying need for a definite appointment of State Board members, in order that many questions concerning the coming school year may be settled.

I have already written that I believe elimination of certain mandatory provisions of the old law was intended as notice to the coming State Board of Education that the latter should exercise its discretion by modifying the school laws in a way that will be decidedly against the interests of the pupils and good education. I have been told that Mr. Curley, who had a large share in drawing up the present law, has stated that the purpose of the above-mentioned changes was as I surmised. If this report is correct, I am more strongly determined not to serve on the State Board of Education, but to leave the administration of school affairs to those who promoted the new law and who believe that its provisions can be used to the development of a good school system. If they are determined to try out this experiment, we should all co-operate in order that a fair test may be had. One necessary point in co-operation is to eliminate from the school system those who do not believe in the new plan and substitute for them those who by conviction and qualification will attain the best results.

The above is a worthy method of expressing my determination not to serve on the State Board of Education under the existing law, and I only wish that I might express to you the deep appreciation of the honor that you offer me, particularly when the offer is accompanied by your kind expressions of good will and, I must admit, very persuasive arguments. I wish that I thought it best to agree with you.

Sincerely yours,
PIERRE S. DUPONT.

Doubt Hangs Over Important Bills

The fate of numerous important bills passed by the recent session of the Legislature hangs in doubt, pending the final settlement of the question as to whether the General Assembly has adjourned or is still in session.

Among these measures is the parole bill, which the governor has not as yet signed. It is understood that he plans returning this measure with his veto when the two houses convene a week from today.

It is understood that the governor and his advisors take the position that the Legislature has not adjourned, but merely "recessed" until May 9. If this contention is correct, the governor is required by the constitution to return within ten days after a measure is presented to him, any bill meeting with his disapproval. If he does not do this, it automatically becomes a law without his signature.

In the case of the parole bill and other measures which the governor has not signed, it is believed that he takes the stand that the Legislature by a "recess" has prevented their return, and consequently these bills cannot become law without his signature. Should he veto any bill now in his hands, he is required to return the same to the Legislature next week, and the body may then pass the measure over his veto.

Article 3, section 18 of the State Constitution, relating to the signing of bills, provides:

"If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within ten days, Sundays excepted, after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the General Assembly shall, by adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not become a law without the approval of the Governor. No bill shall become a law after final adjournment of the General Assembly, unless approved by the Governor within thirty days after such adjournment."

This question has annoyed the Legislature for several years following each session of the Legislature. During the recent session Senator Asa Bennett advocated a recess of ten days after the two houses had finished their work. This would have made it necessary for the governor to either approve, by signing or return, every bill turned over to him by the Assembly, and would have eliminated the question of legality that now entangles every bill not signed promptly by the governor.

One of the Governor's supporters, resident of Wilmington, in discussing the question, remarked that possibly the "acid test" would be the form and text of the resolution by which the Legislature ceased its sessions until May 9, and "the very pertinent question that, if certain members were to insist that the legislature had adjourned then it could not resume session on May 9 without call to an extra session made by the Governor."

Thus, if it should be construed the legislature has already adjourned, whatever action it may take on May 9 would be unconstitutional, unless the Governor should exercise his authority under Article 3, Section 18, which states that "he may on extraordinary occasions convene the General Assembly by proclamation."

Or, if it should be construed the legislature has merely "recessed," then the governor has 30 days from date of actual adjournment in which to approve measures before him, or let them die.—Morning News.

Reduce Standing Army to 150,000

Reduction of the standing army of the United States to an average of 150,000 men during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, was approved by the House last week. The vote was 109 to 82.

A combination of Democrats and "little army" Republicans effected the reduction despite the appeals of Republican leaders that the size be fixed at 163,000.

Secretary of War Weeks had urged that the number be 175,000.

Should the action taken by the House become law, it probably will mean that the army must be cut down about 125,000 by July 1, 1922.

Present the strength is about 200,000 and it is admitted that it will be impossible to reduce down to 150,000 by July 1 of this year.

A Practical Mind and a Good Slogan

At ten years of age, the well-known Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, of Battle Creek Sanitarium, said to his father, "If you pay me for what I do for you, I will pay you for what you do for me." He did chores on the farm, made use of every opportunity to learn with his mind and his hands and at fourteen had adopted as a working philosophy the slogan, "Seek Truth and Do Good." That was fifty-five years ago. During these active years Dr. Kellogg has become one of the most prominent and successful health specialists in the country. As an author and member of various medical societies his influence has been widespread. Incidentally he and Mrs. Kellogg have adopted and brought up no less than forty-two children. Many of these are now married and have children of their own who regard Dr. Kellogg as the ideal grandfather. The story of Dr. Kellogg's career, published in a magazine devoted to hard-headed business administration closes with the significant statement, "Learn Truth and Do Good is as good a flag to nail to the masthead of any youthful craft today as it was fifty-five years ago." Believe the ideals can be practical marks the most promising advance of modern business.

A Shaded Porch—A Hammock and an Easy Chair

Here are the famous Vudor Screens. They are made of bass wood strips that will not split or break and are finished in green or tan or combination colors. The safety wind device prevents flapping in summer windstorms—the cords run through guides that will not wear out the cord. Vudor Screens are the only screens made with ventilating strips that while screening your porch insure perfect air circulation. They can be hung in four minutes by anyone—due to the patented self-hanging device. We have them in various widths—all 7 ft. 6 in. drop, and priced:

Five ft.	$6.50	Eight ft.	$10.40
Six ft.	$7.75	Nine ft.	$13.85
Seven ft.	$9.40	Ten ft.	$16.75

These screens insure at a minimum cost a cool and private porch and are especially adapted for sleeping porches.

And such comfy porch hammocks! Made in the sturdy standard khaki and some in grey and green duck—and some unusual hammocks in striped duck and cretonnes with pillows and canopy to match. Nearly all these hammocks have soft mattresses and adjustable backs and magazine pockets and some with adjustable head. They offer the most delightful place to spend a drowsy afternoon and they add considerable to the seating capacity—and the informality—of your porch.

They are priced $18.50 to $75.00, ready to hang. Metal stands in green or gray or brown are $7.00 and $8.00.

And there is some attractive reed furniture in gay cretonnes—and strong, sturdy rustic furniture wonderfully low priced—the old time maple porch rockers—little tables, folding chairs—swings and canvas chairs and many, many suggestions for a comfortable porch here awaiting your selection.

ITS AN EDDY!

You never say why you have an Eddy Refrigerator. It's possession alone marks you as one who knows and will have the best. If the Eddy was not, in our opinion, the most efficient refrigerator made, we would not have continued selling it year after year.

If we did not know of hundreds and hundreds of Eddy Refrigerators giving real economical service to our customers, we could not—dare not—refer them to you.

But it is a good refrigerator—and it will do just what you want a refrigerator to do—keep your food safely and with the least ice expenditure.

Ice Boxes, metal lined, are priced $14.75 to $58.75.

Refrigerators, metal lined, are priced $30.50 to $140.00.

Refrigerators, porcelain lined, $55.50 to $156.00.

We'll gladly mail a catalogue showing the various sizes on request.
