Firemen Postpone Housing Ceremony

New Date Not Yet Determined

Additional Units of Water Extension System Now in Service

Because of difficulty in securing the services of a visiting fire company to conduct the housing ceremony, the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company has postponed the big event until a later date not yet determined. The affair was to have taken place next Saturday and elaborate arrangements for a parade, music and other features had been made by Fire Chief E. C. Wilson and other members of the company.

Preparations for the annual carnival to be held under the auspices of the Aetna Company are going forward satisfactorily. The committee will be announced next week.

The fire company, the Mayor and Council, as well as the property holders of the town were gratified and relieved yesterday to learn that the extension to the water system is now in working order. Both units are in operation today and an unlimited water supply is now available. The new standpipe was filled yesterday as well as the new reservoir which has a capacity of approximately 200,000 gallons. Engineer Hartman was here from Baltimore, and several representatives of the Delaval Company which has the contract for the pump installation, were here yesterday to inspect the work.

Change in Banking Hours

Beginning June 1st, the Newark Trust Co. and the Farmers' Trust Co. banks open at 9 a. m. and will close at 3 p. m.

Battalion Review at Frazer Field Tomorrow

A battalion review will be held on Frazer Field tomorrow morning between the hours of 11 and 12. The University band will be in attendance and a number of visiting military officials will probably be in attendance. The public is invited.

Ivy Castle to Initiate Class

Preparations are being made to initiate a large class of candidates next Saturday evening. All the members are expected to attend as well as neighboring castles and brother Eagles visiting in the vicinity.

Presbyterians Elect Trustees

At a congregational meeting held last Wednesday evening, the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church elected R. W. Helm, State Director of Vocational Education, a trustee of the church to succeed Samuel M. Donnell, deceased. George W. Griffin whose term had expired was re-elected. An effort was also made at the same time to call to the vacant pastorate of the church a candidate who had won the approval of many of the congregation. The way did not prove clear, however, to take this action and the matter was deferred until a later date. Reverend John MacMurray, pastor of Church of Christiana Presbyterian Church, acted as moderator.

"Social Hour Club" Gives Fine Entertainment

The "Social Hour Club," of Cowntown, held its regular meeting on Friday evening, May 13. The piano which was recently purchased, was installed and an interesting program was rendered which was as follows: Singing, selection by the Club; recitation, Miss Ruth McMullen; piano duet, Miss Ruth McMullen and Miss Isabel Biddle; reading, Miss Alice Blackson; several piano selections by Miss Mary Richards; reading, Miss Mary Brown; singing by the Club; solo, John Finnegan; closing song by the Club.

The Club decided to hold a festival Friday evening, May 27.

Delegation from Richardson Park Here Last Night

A delegation of firemen from Richardson Park were here last night to consult with Fire Chief E. C. Wilson, concerning the method of conducting a successful carnival. This Company has recently purchased a new fire engine and expect to raise funds by means of a big carnival to be given some time this summer.

D. A. R. ELECTS OFFICERS AT MEETING TUESDAY

Much Interest is Manifested and Social Time is Enjoyed

The annual meeting of Cooch's Bridge Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held at the home of Miss Miriam P. Alrichs, Glasgow, on Tuesday afternoon, May 10th. The election of officers being in order, the following were chosen to serve for two years: Regent, Miss Eleanor E. Todd; Vice Regent, Mrs. J. Wilkins Cooch; Secretary, Miss Miriam P. Alrichs; Treasurer, Mrs. Ernest Frazer; Registrar, Miss Henrietta Todd; Historian, Mrs. J. P. Cann; Chaplain, Mrs. Eleanor L. Pennington, of Delaware City.

At the conclusion of the business session a collation was served, after which the guests enjoyed a stroll about the grounds of Miss Alrichs' pleasant country home. The ride home in the balmy spring evening proved an enjoyable close to a very delightful afternoon.

PHILADELPHIA SONS OF DELAWARE ENJOY ANNUAL OUTING

Hear Inspiring Address by Veteran of "Princess Pat" Regiment

Animated with a spirit of love for their Alma Mater and inspired by the prospect of greeting again old friends, 250 of the Philadelphia Sons of Delaware, visited old scenes and renewed old friendships last Saturday. The occasion was the fourth annual visit of the Blue Hen's Chicks to Newark, an event which brought here not only the Philadelphia Sons but many old grads from the towns and hamlets throughout the State.

The visitors arrived shortly before 2 o'clock and were met by a committee from the University. They proceeded first to Red Men's Grove where they witnessed the Mid-May Festival given by the students at Women's College. At the conclusion of this, many attended the baseball game on Frazer Field, where they saw old Delaware administer a crushing defeat to Haverford. Many also visited the Experiment Farm, the Women's College and other places of interest in the vicinity.

A shad dinner was served in Old College. The orchestra entertained and between the courses William P. White, of Wilmington, led the singing of popular songs. Miss K. B. Graybill sang two especially delightful songs.

Before the speakers of the evening were introduced, G. B. Wells introduced Burton G. Moore, who paid special tribute to those boys who are working their way thru college. His talk was so effective that a collection of two hundred and five dollars was received for the men who waited on the table. C. Arnel Nutter, head waiter, thanked the Philadelphia Sons of Delaware and extended to them an invitation to return.

The speakers of the evening were introduced by Hon. Charles R. Miller. Dr. Hulihan gave a survey of the work of the University and also spoke of future plans. Lieutenant H. G. Milson, one of the eight survivors of the famous "Princess Pat" regiment, received an ovation when he arose to make the principal address of the evening. In his reference to the World War he said, "an honorable man who fights for an honorable country is worthy of honorable treatment when he returns." When Lieutenant Milson called Theodore Roosevelt the 100 per cent American, the entire assemblage arose and applauded vociferously. Lieutenant Milson closed his stirring address by reciting the latter part of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Hon. F. W. Stites, of the Pennsylvania Legislature, spoke highly of the efforts of Canada in the World War and pleaded for a closer union between Great Britain and the United States.

PRIMARY SCHOOL CHILDREN GIVE OUTDOOR PLAY

Little Tots in Miss Wilson's Room Present "The Pot of Gold"

A charming little outdoor play was staged yesterday afternoon on the lawn of the Primary School building by the children of Miss Harriet Wilson's room. A very effective stage setting for the production, "A Pot of Gold," was prepared by a committee consisting of Irvin Smith, Willis Jackson, William Taylor, Earle Crow, James Campbell, Austin Reynolds, James Taylor, Reuben Heath, George Dalton, Joseph Doordan, Thomas Campbell, Damon Cage and George Dawson. These boys secured greens and flowers with which they made a bower for the fairy queen and her court.

The play was the development of a language lesson upon which the children had worked faithfully. The costumes for the play were very effective, the queen, little Miss Harriet Ferguson, in white and silver, and the rainbow fairies in their vari-colored costumes, making a charming picture. The fairies were as follows:

Orange, Elaine Bennett. Yellow, Elizabeth Richards. Blue, Eleanor Van Sant. Green, Evelyn Houghton. Violet, Louisa Medill. Dancer, Miriam Gallery.

The buttercups were: Dora Handloff, Corinne Berry, Bertha Moore, Dorothy Moore, Miriam Gallery and Martha Jaquette.

Daniel MacMurray took the part of the old man.

Many of the parents and friends of the little folks witnessed the play and examined with much pleasure and admiration an exhibit of art work on display in Miss Wilson's room. A reception committee of the little folks, Grover Ward, James Smith and J. Handloff, looked after the visitors and conducted them on their tour of inspection.

May Day Celebration at St. John's, May 29

The annual May Day Celebration at St. John's Church will be held this year on May 29.

Memorial Day Exercises, Monday, May 30

Memorial Day Exercises will be held Monday, May 30th, on the University Campus on the spot where the selected service men for the World War were sworn in. A Committee has been appointed to make all arrangements for these exercises. It is earnestly desired that all military and civic organizations should unite in commemorating our soldier dead. Eben B. Frazer, Mayor.

G. A. R. and American Legion Celebrate

Plans are progressing for Memorial Day exercises to be held in the Newark M. E. Cemetery on Sunday, May 29, at 2.30. R. S. Buckingham, of Reynolds Post, No. 29, will preside and Dr. Joseph H. Odell, of Wilmington, will be the chief speaker. The American Legion, school children and various fraternal orders are planning to attend in a body. Members of the committee are working to make the occasion truly representative of the honor Newark wishes to pay to those who have given their lives in the defense of civilization.

Festival at Welsh Tract School Friday Evening

Many persons from Newark are planning to attend the festival and social at Welsh Tract School on Friday evening. The Continental Band, High School Mandolin Club and the Creswell-Pool duo will furnish music. Other entertainment features will also be provided.

Newark Ball Player Goes to Red Lion

Walter Ritz, at one time catcher for the Delaware College team and more recently a member of the strong Sun Shipbuilding team, has signed with the team at Red Lion near York, Pa. Other local stars, it is rumored, have received offers from the same team.

GOVERNOR EXPRESSES VITAL INTEREST IN EDUCATION

Addresses Interested Gathering of Parent-Teachers

The remarkable growth of the Parent-Teacher Association during the last year in Delaware was demonstrated last Saturday at the tenth annual State Convention, held in the Presbyterian Church, Dover, by a one hundred percent representation from the sixty associations in the State. Ten colored schools affiliated with the Association were not represented at the meeting. "A full day and a profitable one" was the verdict of the 158 delegates at the end of the session.

The morning program, devoted to a round table discussion of subjects to be included in the next year's program, was participated in by men and women from all three counties. Among those taking part were Mr. Elisha Steele, of Millsboro; Miss Margaret Hastings, of Delmar; Mrs. Frances McCoy, of Newport; Mrs. Howard A. Pool, of Middletown; Miss Rothwell, of St. Georges; Miss Ina Barnes, of Wilmington; Miss Pepple and Mrs. Annie E. Snyder, of Georgetown; H. E. Stahl, of Seaford; Miss Mary E. Rich, Newark. Dr. R. W. Cooper presided. At the close of the morning session Governor Denney, who was present during the greater part of the discussion extended words of greeting to the delegates. "I have the deepest sympathy for the children," Governor Denney said. "I feel that their education is the most important function of the State. I want very much your continued cooperation, as I can assure you you will have mine. I have appreciated the advice of this association in the past and hope that I may have it in the future, for I am sure that it has the very best interest of the State at heart."

"Three hundred volumes in ten years for every rural school in the State" was the slogan left with the association by Dr. Cooper in summing up the discussion of the morning. "Every school needs a library, and certainly every school can have a library if the Parent-Teacher Association will make it a part of their program to provide ten books every year for the next decade."

Luncheon, served by the Ellen Circle of the church in the adjoining chapel to one hundred forty delegates, was a delightful affair. The tables were attractively decorated with spring flowers and a menu, measuring up to the far fame hospitality of Kent, was served by the hostesses.

Following a short business session at 2.30 and a musical program, furnished by the Dover quartette, Miss Mable Carney of the Department of Rural Education, Columbia University, addressed the Convention. "The whole story of success," Miss Carney declared, "may be summarized in the phrase, 'Community Ideals and Leadership.'" Miss Carney described various types of organizations generally considered safe modes of attacking the community problem, according to such authorities as County Life Association; the type which built upon the firm foundation of the people, extends in a cone-like structure into more centralized organization through the varying degrees of a commission, made up of representatives of all the organizations in the county, a council, made up of seven people chosen from this commission, and finally an executive committee at the head of the

NEW CENTURY CLUB TO GIVE MOVING PICTURE BENEFIT

Plans for Supper Thursday near Completion

Before the close of the year's work the New Century Club divided its members into teams of approximately nine each who are pledged to raise money for the treasury during the summer months. Team No. 9, of which Mrs. A. R. Carlisle is chairman and Mrs. William Barnard assistant, will give a moving picture benefit in the Newark Opera House next Monday evening. The attraction will be D. W. Griffith's "Romance of Happy Valley," featuring Dorothy Gish. A Torch Comedy will also be given. The club is completing arrangements for the supper to be given tomorrow evening. This will be followed by a dance for which excellent music will be provided.

MANY YOUNG FOLKS TO PURCHASE HEIFERS

County Agent Bausman to Procure Cattle in New Jersey

Richard Manns, Newark; Robert Jaquette, Newark; Leroy C. Davis, Newark; Ernest H. Milliken, Porter; Elizabeth K. Milliken, Porter; John E. Lewis, Strickersville; Henry Beebe, Claymont; Joseph M. Armstrong, McDonough; Austin Ginn, McDonough; Samuel M. Smith, Mt. Pleasant; Harry D. Pearce, Middletown; John G. Armstrong, McDonough; Aubrey Webb, Blackbird; Wm. Taylor, Middletown; Boyd V. Armstrong, Middletown; Charles Shetzler, Odessa; Lester K. Burge, Middletown; John E. Bingnear, Jr. Odessa; Edwin W. Medford, Henderson; and Grace Mathews, Bear, are twenty names which constitute the third New Castle County Boys' and Girls' Pure Bred Heifer Club.

R. O. Bausman is in New Jersey this week purchasing the heifers for the members of the club. It will probably require two weeks to buy the car load of heifers and have them tested for tuberculosis by a government man.

The heifers will be yearlings of good breeding and the best conformation available. It is difficult to state what the heifers will cost, but as the Farm Bureau has purchased over two hundred head of pure bred females, it is in a position to buy the best stock at the lowest price. It is estimated, however, that the heifers will cost approximately $150 per head.

Upon their arrival in Delaware each member of the club will soon become the owner of a heifer which with care will develop into a valuable dairy cow. Each member of the club will buy and own his own heifer. The close co-operation of the banks of the county with the Farm Bureau is making the provision possible.

After the boy or girl becomes the owner of his heifer the Farm Bureau will give him all assistance possible in developing her into a valuable cow. Heifer shows and dairy cattle judging contests are held at which the boys making the best showing are awarded prizes and scholarships. Periodic and timely instructions will be given the members relating to the care and management of the heifer. The Agricultural and Club Agents will render assistance through personal calls.

Improvements Made to Newark Properties

A new pavement is in the course of construction in front of the store property and residence of William P. Wollaston on Main street.

Barrow Brothers have moved into new quarters erected for them recently on part of the porch at the Washington House. William H. Cook has taken possession of the property vacated by them.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell has been beautified by a coat of paint.

Gives Reception for Newly weds

A very pleasant afternoon and evening were spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Davis, near Cooch's Bridge, in honor of the marriage of their granddaughter, Miss Mary Dempsey, of Newark, to Mr. John Lilly, of North East, which took place in Elkton on Saturday; also in honor of Miss Etta Lilly, of North East, a sister of the bridegroom, who became the bride of Mr. Parker Ford, also of North East, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lilly of North East.

Among those who were present were:

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Davis, Mrs. Ida Dempsey, Mr. Horace, Ellis Davis, Joseph Sharp, Wesley and Preston Dempsey, of Cooch's Bridge; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lilly, Mr. and Mrs. Parker Ford, Mr. and Mrs. John Lilly, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Craig and daughter, Mrs. Wilmer White and two sons of North East; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Thomas, Mrs. Mary Evans, Mrs. Ora Hall, Miss Beatrice Moore and Mr. Theodore Strickland, of Newark.

Community Club to Give Play

The Pleasant Valley Community Club will give a play on Wednesday evening, May 25, at Ott's Chapel. They will present "Always In Trouble."

High School Alumni Sets Date for Annual Meeting

Will Elect Officers June 4th

Graduates to be Entertained at Reception and Dance Afterward

Committees have been appointed by the Newark High School Alumni Association to arrange for the annual reception to the graduates of the high school which will be given in the New Century Club on Saturday evening, June 4.

Previous to the reception, the annual business meeting will be held and officers elected. This part of the evening's program will begin promptly at 7.30. The reception will take place at 8 o'clock and will be followed by dancing.

The committee to arrange for the reception consists of Mrs. H. N. Reed, Misses Naomi Street and Anna Gallagher, Warren A. Singles and Ira Steele.

MANY ENJOY MID-MAY CARNIVAL SATURDAY

College Students Aided by Little Folk Give Colorful Pageant

Several hundred interested spectators including the Philadelphia Sons of Delaware, prominent State officials, relatives and friends of the students, witnessed the annual May Carnival presented by the Women's College of Delaware last Saturday on the lawn at Red Men's Fraternal Home.

The fete this year, appropriately styled the Mid-May Carnival, depicted an old-fashioned English May Day festival. The participants wore English costumes of the time of Ben Johnson whose "Hue and Cry After Cupid" was a pleasing feature of the afternoon's entertainment.

Miss Ruth Weihe, of Washington, D. C., made a charming Cupid. A bevy of little girls including Mary Thomas, Elizabeth Tiffany, Barbara Bonham, Louise, Phoebe and Dean Steel, Eleanor and Dorothy Townsend, and Margaret Wilkinson, assisted Cupid and made a charming picture.

Miss Helen Groves took the part of Venus, and Dorothy Ford, Ann Vansant and Eleanor Cannon represented the Three Graces.

Previous to the presentation of the play, the participants in the fete marched in procession through the spacious grounds, making in their gay costumes a colorful picture. The heralds, Anna Pearson and Margaret Learned, led the way. They were followed by the flower girls, Louise and Frances Hulihan, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hulihan. The queen Madeline Dixon, her pages, Buddy Pence and Alison Manns; her Maid of Honor, Margaret Groves; her attendants, Lillian Thornley and Edna Pratt, were next in the procession. Misses Katherine Townsend and Rebecca Cann, were flower girls.

These were followed by the duchesses with their attendants, the dancers in typical costume, the players, and the court jesters who created much merriment by their antics.

Graceful dances including the Court Dance, Morris Dance, New Castle Dance, of the Chimney Sweeps, and the May Pole Dance were well presented by groups of gaily dressed students. The whole pageant in the opinion of the highly pleased spectators was an ambitious, well executed production worthy of the traditions of Old Delaware.

Baraca Auxiliary Gives Supper

The Baraca Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church gave their regular monthly supper in the church lecture room last night.

OBITUARY

Reverend R. C. Jones

Mrs. Leonard A. Rhodes, of Newark, has received a telegram announcing the death of her father, Reverend R. C. Jones, of Knight's Town, Indiana, on Friday last. Mr. Jones was formerly of the Wilmington Conference, serving several charges while in the ministry here. He was well known in Newark.

Mrs. Rhodes, due to the illness of her husband, was unable to attend the funeral. He will be buried from his late residence in Indiana.

For The Homemaker's Eye

Bread Pudding

Few people will admit that they like bread pudding, and the reason is not far to seek, for the watery compounds, dotted with a few currants, served under that name are not very inviting or appetizing. The foundation usually consists of a generous quantity of rich milk and eggs, with bread used as an incidental. Do not be deluded into using skimmed milk, or half milk and half water, or omitting the given quantity of eggs. It is the better plan to heat the milk, and after the bread is added mash it thoroughly with a wire potato masher. Then remove from the fire, add the beaten eggs and other ingredients, put into a buttered baking dish and cook in a pan of hot water. The pudding will be cooked when a thin-bladed knife can be inserted in the center and drawn out clean. So long as the knife looks milky it is undercooked. Fresh fruit combined with bread in the form of an appetizing "betty" always furnishes a popular dessert, and if sweetened whipped cream or a good hard sauce is served with it there are few more delicious dishes.

The following two tested recipes for bread pudding will be found well worthy of a trial:

Southern Bread Pudding

To one quart of rich milk allow one pint of fine breadcrumbs, one tablespoonful of salt, half a cupful of sugar, the yolks of three eggs and a little grated lemon rind. Mix the ingredients well, heating the milk as already described. Turn into a buttered pudding dish and bake in a pan of hot water. Cool, spread with a thick layer of orange marmalade, and cover the top with a meringue, made from the stiffly-whipped egg whites and a tablespoonful of sugar. Return to a very moderate oven to brown over.

Chocolate Bread Pudding

Soak two cupfuls of breadcrumbs in four cupfuls of hot milk for thirty minutes and add two squares of shaved, unsweetened chocolate melted over hot water, two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, two lightly-beaten eggs and a teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Pour into a buttered mold and bake in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven. Half a cupful of chopped nuts may be added if desired. Serve hot with a whipped sauce.

Other Uses for Stale Bread

Cut it up small and place in a slow oven until quite crisp and a nice pale brown, then pass through a mincing machine, then through a wire sieve and store in an air-tight tin. Use as raspings for ham and for frying fish. Any stale pieces can be used in this way.

To Cook Asparagus and Other Greens

Carry out the following directions and the results should be all that is desired. Cut the stalks of a bundle of fresh asparagus evenly and tie them up in a bunch; put them upright into a pan just large enough to hold them comfortably and with boiling water to within about three inches of the tops. Keep them on the fire from thirty to forty minutes, then lift them out, drain well, remove the string, dish them on a neatly folded napkin or square of toast. Treated in this way the heads are not so apt to come off and the stalks, instead of being tough, are quite tender and eatable. Serve with butter, pepper and salt or with drawn butter or Hollandaise sauce.

Tender spinach or lettuce leaves require no added water for cooking. If thoroughly washed, enough water will cling to the leaves to prevent their burning. Delicately flavored vegetables should be steamed or cooked slowly in a small amount of boiling water until tender and the water boils away. Strong flavored vegetables may be cooked uncovered in a large amount of rapidly boiling water and the water changed several times during cooking. Starchy vegetables should be put in enough boiling water to cover them. Boil gently and keep kettle covered.

Do You Need a Change of Diet?

The doctor used to look at your tongue. Now he may ask a row of questions. But his advice is about the same as of long ago. He advises a change of diet. He wants you to eat something which is more agreeable to your stomach and will make you feel better. You follow his advice and are rewarded.

The doctor of the soul, the priest, after hearing your story, which, when told, unburdens your mind and conscience, also gives you wholesome advice and you feel like a new man.

Did you ever stop and think of what is the cause of the unrest in your mind after reading the morning paper on the way to work or after reading the evening paper? Examine yourself or another member of the family the next time after a thorough reading of the average daily paper.

Unless your fine taste has been dulled by the slush you have clogged your mind with while reading the daily, you will find yourself yawning and shuddering at the looseness of the world and its manikins. Time and again you find that which looks like a leading story is but the codding of a criminal or the details of the make-up, habits, hobbies, etc., of a scarlet woman.

Almost the reverse of that which has been taught you as respectable and proper is popularized in the average cheap daily. It's everybody's business, and therefore nobody considers himself called to make a protest or to lead in reform efforts. At best every effort looks hopeless, and so the daily keeps right on unhampered. Finally, slow but sure, the objectionable parts of the news and views seem less glaring. Your fine taste has given place to indifference and condonance.

You may not know it, but you need a doctor who has the courage of his convictions, to call your attention to the fact that you need to read better literature and not look to the secular daily for more than the briefest news of importance.

The Same Young Spring

The same young spring is back again, The same fair leaves and flowers, As lovely in their grace as when They charmed my youthful hours; The birds are flitting just as sweet As then their love they trold, There's nothing changed, There's nought estranged— I only have grown old.

The vagrant breeze is murmuring
The same dear, happy tune,
With fragrant whispers promising
The coming joys of June.
The happy bees and butterflies,
Forgetting winter's cold,
'Mid blossoms stray
The livelong day—
I only have grown old.

The lads and lasses pass me by—
They have not changed at all;
Soft glances fly from eye to eye,
Love still hath power to thrall;
Ay, hearts are won and vows are made
That shall forever hold,
But listening I—
What makes me sigh?
I only have grown old.

The realm of Nature's just the same,
The same the skies above,
The faithful stars are constant flame
And brightness give to love;
They, just as kind, are looking down,
Their radiance is not doled,
Unfaded still
On vale and hill—
I only have grown old.

Alack-a-day, to human hearts
What can their spring restore?
Ah, when its loveliness departs
'Tis gone forevermore,
Each year the curving rose renews,
Unfolds its petals sweet,
But man alone,
How'er he moan,
His spring but once shall greet.

The Ladder of Life

Life is a ladder all the way; it does not become a plain, easy, flower-lined path after a time. A really earnest and faithful Christian life is never easy. Here is the key to all growth of character. We must rise by daily self-conquests. We must make stepping stones of our dead selves. Every fault we overcome lifts us a little higher. Every bad habit that we trample down becomes a ladder round on which we climb upward out of groveling and sinfulness into noble being.

Always laugh when you can; it is a cheap medicine. Merriment is a philosophy not well understood. It is the sunny side of the existence.—Byron.

Afraid to Face Your Banker?

Slowly the old man entered the bank and stood for a moment nervously tapping the rail by the vice-president's desk.

For a week he had dreaded this interview. Night after night he had worked over his financial statement, but now as he faced the ordeal he knew that the paper he held in his hand was a sorry mess of figures that he could not prove.

It seemed to him that bankers wanted to know a lot of fussy details that no man could be expected to answer off hand and he hated to go through all that—it seemed like a million questions to him.

The trouble with this man, and so many others in the same boat with him, is that he has never had his eyes opened to the need of getting more figure facts about his business. He thinks the cost of making daily records would eat up all his profits and he needs to be shown that on the contrary he would make more money if he had them.

Most successful men in business today have learned that clear, accurate, detailed records of all the departments and operations of their business are the best assurance of success.

Machine methods of figuring and mechanical aids in bookkeeping and record keeping have simplified these operations so that it is no longer necessary to carry a heavy bookkeeping expense to get the necessary facts.

With a Burroughs figuring machine an inexperienced clerk can work out automatically all the figure problems of business transactions as: adding sales and charge slips, footing all sorts of figure columns, proving postings, taking trial balances, checking invoices, distributing sales by clerks or departments, totaling weights and quantities and so on.

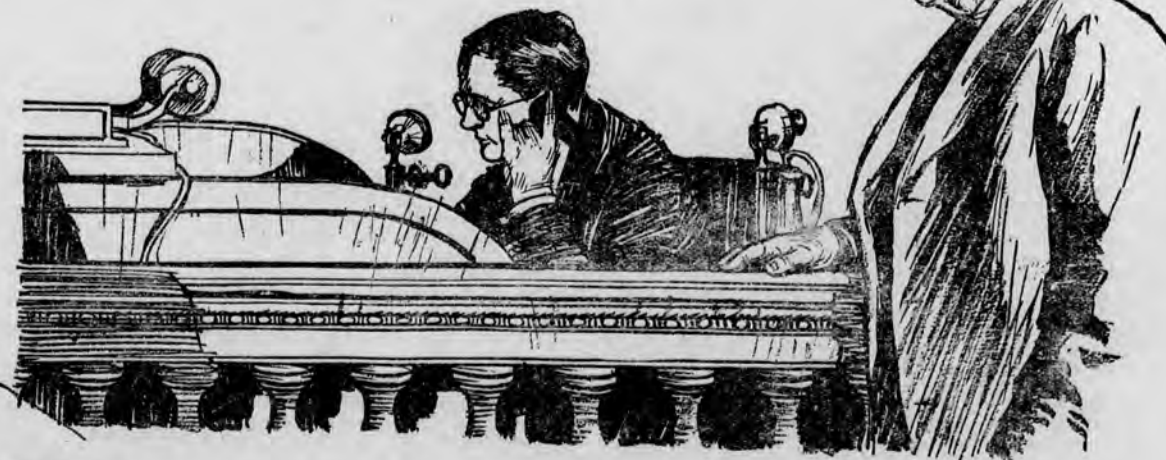

Telephone the nearest Burroughs office and ask them to show you the type of machine you need and how to get the facts about your business.

ACTION OF FARMERS NECESSARY TO ASSURE ROAD APPROPRIATION

Influence of Vitally Interested Persons Essential for Federal Action

The act under which Federal aid for road-building is granted to the States, expires June 30 this year. The amount of the Federal appropriations for the whole country during the past five years has been $379,000,000. A new act now being promoted calls for $100,000,000 annually, but the proposal to continue Federal aid to the States is being vigorously opposed on the ground that many States have spent the money for unimportant local roads not connected with any inner-state or national highway systems. Objection is also raised because the Federal appropriation has not been made contingent upon the States assuming a binding responsibility for the upkeep of the roads built with Federal funds. These objections can be met by proper safeguards in the law and by the co-operation of the States.

Friends of the movement to continue the Federal appropriation are depending greatly on the farmers and farmers' organizations to give their guarantee to Congress now that they will prevent the dissipation of Federal funds in constructing purely local roads unconnected with the main highway system. Delaware does not need to be concerned about this practice for herself, and a report of this State's efficiency in the construction of a highway system will doubtless help to supply arguments for continuing the Federal appropriation.

Ventilated Crates Best For Shipping Berries

One of the most effective methods of causing fruits to decay in transit is to pack them in solid crates that afford little or no ventilation. A few years ago this was the manner in which early strawberries were shipped to market. The result was that large quantities of strawberries arrived at market in bad condition, and the monetary returns to the growers were smaller than they should have been.

But today, largely as a result of the activities of marketing specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, the non-ventilated Hallock crate, or "coffin box" as it is locally known in the Louisiana strawberry district, is now in universal disrepute as a strawberry container. True, a considerable number of non-ventilated strawberry crates are still being used, in fact too many of them, but not nearly to the extent that they were used a few years ago. Berries shipped in ventilated crates invariably command a premium over berries shipped in non-ventilated crates.

Femininity in Court

The subject of women jurors seems destined to be a perennial problem with succeeding angles which even the law cannot straighten out. A new angle was added by a woman in New Jersey, where all the freak cases come from, who came into the court where she had been summoned in a state of extreme vexation, emphasized by self-determination to be the minion of no court process, contempt charges to the contrary notwithstanding. She informed the officials with considerable heat that she had entirely too much to do at home to be bothered about court cases, adding that she knew nothing whatever about the particular case on which she was called and cared less. When she was informed that ignorance of the case and the parties thereto was more a grace than otherwise in an unprejudiced juror, she said she didn't care, that she would never vote again, and that the men, for all she cared, could go and do anything they wanted to.

This collision of home duties with civic and judicial ones has occurred before, but the outright defiance in the New Jersey woman threatened to bring the matter to a climax. And while the unreasoning insistence of women to have their own way, a charge always made against them, cannot be allowed to obstruct the path of justice, women are apt to have the sympathy of men in this resistance to jury duty when household work, in feminine opinion, should have first call. For it means much to a man to have a good dinner spoiled in the cooking by the withdrawal of the cook from domestic fires to sit in the jury box, or to have a home topsyturvy on his arrival there because the keeper of his domestic comfort has exchanged the broom for the jury ballot. Even courts may be inclined to think the women are not altogether unreasonable in this particular protest, and agree that pressing home duties may constitute a reasonable excuse from jury duty.

The New Jersey case, however, will not settle this point as a test one, for the imp of the perverse arranged it so that before decision could be made on the irate housewife's objection the case was settled out of court and no jury at all was required.—Baltimore American.

Radium Made in United States

Radium was discovered in France, but it remained for the United States to make the radium industry. Thus over one and one-half ounces of radium are being produced yearly in this country—a small figure at first blush, but remember that it requires nine carloads or 250 tons of carnotite ore to produce only one gram—a mere fraction of a thimbleful, selling for $120,000. The 250 tons of ore must be transported 2,800 miles from the mines in Colorado to the reduction plant near New York City. Almost countless chemical processes reduce the ore down to a diminutive rod of radium—the most expensive thing extant. This gram, if mixed with zinc sulphide crystals to make luminous material, may be used to illuminate 4,000,000 watches, which will glow in the dark for from five to twelve years, depending on the quality of the luminous preparation. It is the zinc sulphide crystals, and not the radium, which wear out. Watches, instrument dials, electric light switches and pull chains, furniture locator buttons, house numbers—these and many other articles are now illuminated because of America's radium industry.—American Scandinavian Review.

Good Health Essential to Ideal Americanism

Chairman Simeon D. Fess, of the National Republican Congressional Committee, is anxious that Americanism include the highest physical development of the youth of the country. Formerly president of Antioch College and now chairman of the House Committee on Education, he has introduced a measure providing for co-operation between the Federal and State governments with this end in view.

The purpose and aim of physical education is declared in the meaning of the bill to more fully and thoroughly prepare the boys and girls of the nation for the duties and responsibilities of citizenship through the development of bodily vigor and endurance, muscular strength and skill, bodily and mental poise, and such desirable moral and social qualities as courage, self-control, self-subordination, cooperation under leadership, and disciplined initiative.

To further this purpose the bill provides $10,000,000 for cooperation with the States in the preparation of supervisors and teachers of physical education, including school health supervisors and school nurses, through normal schools and other institutions, and for the payment of their salaries.

Vocational Training for Federal Prisoners

A proposal has been made by United States Attorney General Dougherty to use one of the existing army cantonments for developing a vocational training station for young men serving first terms as federal prisoners. Mr. Dougherty believes that these men should not be confined with hardened criminals, but should be taught a useful trade which will enable them to make good when they are sent back into the community.

Who wants the city,
With its lines of streets, and its crowded ways,
And its rushing throng, and the human maze
That struggles and strives for some visioned joy,
Which proves, when enclasped, to be but alloy?
Not I—not I!

I want the country,
With each hill and glen, where the bracken grows,
And the robins call, and wild buds
unclose,
And the fragrance drifts from the
cherry-bloom,
For in Nature's arms there is always room
And rest for me!

American Rats are Finicky; Variety in Food Demanded

A starved rat will eat anything from a strip of lead pipe to an old boot, but a well-fed rodent, such as we have in the United States, is often inclined to be finicky in the matter of food. Rat-poisoning campaigns often fail because the house owner does not give his intended victims a sufficient variety of edibles. Specialists of the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture urge a rat-control campaign in America, and they stress the importance of catering to the rodents' tastes.

Rat baits may be divided into three classes: Meat foods, vegetable foods and cereals. In mixing his baits the successful poisoner selects a food from each of the three classes, and combines it with barium carbonate in the proportion of one part poison to four of food. Then he puts a teaspoonful of each variety on a strip of paper, or bit of board, so that the rat, traveling along his runway, finds a three-course meal all laid for him. Usually one of the three baits appeals to him, and the rat population is reduced by one.

Poisoned baits should be watched carefully, and uneaten baits replaced by others of the same class on the following evening. In this way a wide selection of foods may be used without departing from the basic combination. All baits must be kept fresh and tempting. You can't catch rats by smearing a dab of poison on a bit of stale bread and then putting it in some out-of-the-way corner.

Barium carbonate is the poisoning agent recommended by the specialists. It is tasteless, odorless, and can be obtained at any drug store.

SPRING at the Quality Shop

Just as soon as the Weather Man gives the word, SPRING is here. I am all ready.

The line carried this year is larger and of better qualities. The War conditions are becoming adjusted. No where can this be seen so plainly as at the Tailor Shop. The prices are surprising and assortment and qualities are quickly coming back to normal.

Not only is this true of clothing
but of all men's wear. Shoes, here, this season are offered at prices that show the Back-to-Pre-War times.

I have made a special effort to meet the demands of the most exacting.

Newark deserves a Furnishing Shop for men that compares with the best. That desert has been provided.

There may be more display in the presentation of goods in some of the High Class city shops—but the same quality at less money can be secured right here at home.

Suitings to measure can be given here. The tape line is the same, the styles and cuts are the same as the city—the price is, we admit, different. It's cheaper. Our rents and expense of operation are less.

It actually pays to buy at home.

Try it. Pay us a visit and let us show you.

Always Welcome

Public School children of Rural New Castle County had a great day at their University on Friday. And it is theirs. The Government and the State support it for them. Private wealth contributes to it for them. Board of Trustees, Alumni and friends give time and thought to it for them. It's theirs, and it was with joy they came. Many of them had never seen the Institution. Wide eyed with wonder and amazement, they looked and the spark that inspires glowed. Was it possible that they, by work back home, could ever come here some day? A day out of doors on Frazer Field at their University! Wonderful. There will be good lessons this week back in the little one-room schools. One teacher told us that that one day has settled a College education for one of her boys. The boy nor his father had ever sensed the opportunity. They had never dreamed that it was theirs. Strange, perhaps, but they simply did not know that the State made such chance possible for them.

That boy will come to the State University because of that day and event.

A bit unfortunate was the misunderstanding in arranging for the courtesy of using the grounds. A bit unfortunate that comment was made of the rudeness displayed. Especially so when it was no particular one's fault. No one came in the spirit of invasion. Every one there thought arrangements had been made with the proper custodians. None regret the affair more than the Public School officers and any breach of etiquette, discourtesy or behavior that offended was in perfect innocence. The arrangements had been innocently made with people who were neither responsible nor in proper authority.

It was a great day for the University, too. No Field Meet nor athletic event ever aroused the interest in the Institution as did this day. The University would serve well if it immediately announced that the Public School Children of Delaware are welcome, always, and give invitation that such events be annually held on its grounds.

A Great Day! The children were welcome. If any one disagrees—ask the Citizens of Delaware.

And as for the town of Newark, the latch string is always out, especially to School Children.

Country Club

Country Clubs, Golf Courses, Community Play Grounds are assets to any town. They attract home seekers of very good type of citizens. The business man, and professional man have come to the conclusion that success as well as mere joy of living can be increased by more outdoor play. Golf today is no longer the game of the leisure class. It's the game of the busy man. Its greatest enthusiasts are business men, lawyers, laboratory men, office clerks, and mechanics. It means health, pleasure and increased success energy. So the town that has a well regulated Golf Course is considered a good resident district. Churches and schools used to be the demands of the man looking for a home site. Then came, water supply, sanitation, health. Then good roads came with the automobile. Now the city man, the live wire American everyday successful man wants a home in the suburbs with Churches, Schools, Libraries, sanitation and health regulations, good roads and—a playground.

The Country Club idea is American in conception. It means health, play, recreation. The Golf Courses being laid out all over the country are not social centers of excess wealth. A few of them are, of course, but the great majority are playgrounds and community centers of the ordinary rank and file of successful business men.

The Newark Club is such an idea. If successful, and there is no reason why it should not be, it will attract home seekers. Real Estate values will be enhanced. If the Community idea, a whole town affair, can be effected, the Newark Country Club will be an asset to this community. It will be the civic and social center—that is the Community Clearing House for Newark. And such an institution has wonderful possibilities.

"Col." Wickes

The Post wishes to congratulate the Delaware State News on its 18th Anniversary. While young in the game of news, we are sufficiently acquainted with the craft to know a good paper when we see one, and the State News is such. Colonel "Jim" Wickes, the publisher, knows the game, is a good mixer, a tireless worker and devoted to the art of printing. He has made the News a real country weekly. It has received the commendation not only of friends at home but of observers outside. His special editions are the envy and wonder of us all. No newspaper man in the State is so widely known—and we want to continue to know through the many years. Wickes and the News are Democrats but not hide bound. They are friends of us Republicans when in their judgement our acts deserve it. And Republicans are friends of Wickes and the News. The Colonel has friends because he is one.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

"MAKE IT SO"

To the Editor of the Post: When the orderly on board a United States man-of-war comes to the Captain and says, "Six bells, sir," the Captain says "Make it so," and the hour is officially declared. The Legislature, at the wish of the Board of Trustees, has said to the Alumni of what we lovingly called for fifty years "Delaware College," "The University of Delaware, Gentlemen," and, as you intimate, whatever our recent views as to the propriety of the change in name, we all now say heartily, "Make it so." If we are to call ourselves a university we must make ourselves such not merely in name and form, but in spirit, aim and fact. We have about us, immediately to the South, and immediately to the North, several universities that are such in name, form, spirit and fact. There are a good many universities in various parts of the Union that are such only in name and form. Let us join not the nominal and formal universities, but the real universities, with a distinctive character that shall make the University of Delaware, even though relatively small in size, a home of excellent things academic.
E. N. Vallandigham.

Cecil County Community Council Meets

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Cecil County Community Council was called by the President at Mr. Pogues office in Rising Sun, on April 29th. Five members were present.

Plans for the June meeting were discussed and it was decided to hold the meeting on Monday evening, June 6th, at the Court House in Elkton.

Mr. W. C. Snarr presented the budget which has been prepared to cover the county expenses of the County Agent and Home Demonstration Agent. The Council endorsed the budget and a motion was carried that a committee be appointed at the June meeting to bring it before the Commissioners to urge its adoption and call attention to one or two items which should not need to be included in this budget, such as office rent and telephone expense for other departments.

The secretary requested that the different organizations send in writing lists of their delegates with their addresses. It was suggested that new delegates should be appointed in the fall previous to the December meeting when nominations are made for new county officers.

Plans for the Farmers' Day for Cecil county which has been held for eight years under the auspices of the Farmers' Clubs, were next brought up. This being a county affair it was thought that it should be held this year in the eastern part of the county. The third Saturday in August was suggested as the date, to be held at the Armory at Elkton. Mr. Kimble was asked to try to secure Mr. Sandles of Ohio as one of the speakers for that meeting.

GOVERNOR EXPRESSES INTEREST IN EDUCATION

community unit. Eight or ten counties in Massachusetts are organized in this way, with the county as the administrative unit and the community as the functional unit. Miss Carney described a community in Clear Creek, Putnam County, Ill., where community spirit is demonstrated at its best. "If Delaware is going to be saved," the speaker continued, "it is through just such an organization as the Parent-Teacher Association; something of this type can get closer to the situation than any other. The fundamental difficulty everywhere in country life is that we have not enough local leadership and local initiative. These things cannot be brought in and plastered on the top. They must be a slow and normal growth in your own associations. I want to congratulate Delaware on the splendid progress it has made in Parent-Teacher work during the last year. I feel that I am quite safe in saying that no other state can show as great proportionate growth in this work."

Theodore T. Martin, of the University of Delaware, in a stirring address, commended the work of the Association. "Let the fellow who likes to follow his money and see it function follow his money to the school," Mr. Martin said. "No parents should ask a teacher to take more interest in their boys and girls than they are willing to do themselves." Mr. Martin charged the Parent-Teacher Association with two specific tasks: first, to get acquainted, the parents with the teachers, and all with the neighborhood, and second, to get the facts before the people. "There never has been a politician that could stand the knock-out blow of facts persistently put forward," he said.

Mrs. John B. Cleaver, State President, presided at the afternoon session of the convention.

THE NEWARK HIGH SCHOOL STARTS DRIVE FOR FUNDS

The Newark High School is starting a fund drive on May 19th. Funds obtained are to be used for much needed athletic equipment.

Through the courtesy of the Curtis Publishing Company the school has been given the opportunity to earn this money and earn it in a business-like way. All the school is asked to do is to secure a certain number of readers for the Ladies Home Journal.

This publication has long stood a leader in all movements for better schools, better clubs and better citizens. Its many pages of wholesome and interesting fiction—its splendid editorials—its practical household suggestions and many other features combine to make it a magazine that will fill a useful place in every home.

A year's subscription for this magazine can be secured for just about the price of a picture show for the family. But, instead of only one evening's entertainment, it will supply a whole year's entertainment and instruction as well.

For each reader secured in this drive the school will receive a commission to be applied toward their athletic fund.

Superintendent Owens and the teachers of the High School highly endorse the plan. By giving each subscriber full value for their investment, they hope to secure a hearty response. The drive will begin actively Thursday, May 19th, and a thorough and complete canvass is contemplated.

ANNOUNCE CASTS FOR PLAYS NEXT TUESDAY

After having practised diligently for more than a month, members of the casts who will appear in three plays to be given by the combined dramatic clubs of the Men's and Women's Colleges, in Wolf Hall, Tuesday evening, May 24, are now patiently awaiting the curtain for opening scene of "Simoom," the first of the plays to be presented.

There are but three characters in the next play of the series, which is a charming fantasy in one act, entitled, "The Maker of Dreams," by Oliphant Down.

Pierrot, Johnson Rowan, '23
Pierrette, Marion Spruance, '23
Manufacturer, Joseph H. Fairbanks, '21

"Gods of the Mountain," by Lord Dunsany, will be the extravaganza of the evening. It is a short drama, full of Eastern cunning and pithy satire, which presents a wide field for character study in make-up and costumes.

POSTORIALS

We have 30 Universities in this country with departments for the study of hogs and only one with a department for the study of boys.

Fiction, romance, poetry, drama, tales of adventure; dissertation, thesis, lecture, oration; law, proclamation, pronouncement, military order—all would be trite, tiring, disgustingly insipid compared to interviews with twenty selected Delawareans.

It's luck if you do and damned if you don't.

"Beware of the wrath of a patient man," said Dryden. And it is a good warning, especially if that man has been acquainted with your counsel, and knows your methods—and especially beware if he loves Truth, hates knavery and secret diplomacy.

Theft, either of Money or Good Name are violent offenses, punishable by process of law. But the offender of these is not half so contemptible as the Mental Thief. There are two kinds—the Kleptomaniac who steals every little idea and suggestion and pans it off as his own, when simple fairness and sufficient honor would be his by leading in its execution. Then there is the malicious type who is a Raffles Crook. He would steal money just as quickly except he is a coward—afraid he can't get away with it. But a name, an idea, he is subtle. By omission from a report, by slighting suggestion, he reflects credit from its rightful place to himself. Brought at bay he is a mental gunman.

An honest opposition is a fine thing. And the man who leads it has our admiration and respect. But one of these Line-of-Least-Resistance Artists, excuse us.

Guerilla Warfare is un-American. The only way to fight them is to burn the woods.

Dr. Richard Watson Cooper in addressing the Parent-Teachers' Association last Saturday is reported as saying that all those opposed to progressive ideas in Education were in the saddle.

Not all of them Doctor—lots of them are bare-back riding like mad for the Pine Thicket.

There are enough straddlers in Delaware to make an Imperial Cavalry. It could well be called the "School Code Huzzars." Colors—Yellow and Green with Insignia of Prejudice crucifying children. Many riders would wear a mask reading Progress with the reverse spelling Politics.

NEWARK DOWNS ELKTON A. C. ON HOME GROUNDS

Sensational Fifteen Inning Game Decides Close Contest

In a sensational uphill fight which lasted for 15 innings, Newark A. C. on Saturday afternoon triumphed over Elkton A. C. by a 4-3 score on the latter's grounds. Elkton started off with a winning stride, putting over three tallies in the first inning. Newark A. C. tightened up, however, and refused to permit another run. The local lads scored lone tallies in the 5th, 6th and 7th innings, thus tying the score. Both sides played a tight ball for the succeeding innings until Newark scored in the fifteenth. Both pitchers played a remarkable game and had excellent support. The score:

W. H. M. S. of Methodist Church Holds Interesting Meeting

The interesting and entertaining character of the meetings held by the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, draws, each month, a large attendance to the regular meetings. The meeting for this month, held at the home of Mrs. Robert Campbell, was attended by nearly every member enrolled.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. H. Warner McNeal. After the singing of the favorite hymn, "Bringing in the Sheaves," Mrs. Boyce took charge of the devotional exercises. She read the 14th chapter of St. John, after which the Lord's Prayer was repeated.

Mrs. Evans Robinson gave an interesting talk on Alaska, which was followed by a dramatic reading, "How Peter Bugaras Saved Unalaska," by Mrs. Mary E. Williams. Mrs. H. B. Wright had charge of the Home Mission enigmas.

In line with the policy and purpose of the society, the sum of $25 was voted to Mrs. Francis McCleary who suffered a severe loss in the recent destructive fire at the Elliott farm.

After the social hour during which refreshments were served, the meeting adjourned to meet on June 10th, at the home of Mrs. Howard Williams.

If You Knew---

---that there was a refrigerator that had been made with practically no change for almost seventy-five years.

---that it was from your friend's and neighbor's statement an ice saver, a food saver, and a thoroughly efficient refrigerator.

---and that it was moderately priced and made in styles and sizes you prefer.

Wouldn't you, if you needed a new refrigerator, want just such a one?

The Eddy Refrigerator is the best refrigerator you can buy.

It is made of white pine, a wood that will never warp or shrink or split.

It is lined with heavy metal or porcelain---the drain pipe is instantly removable---the trap, water sealed---efficient and readily cleaned. Shelves are of slate or galvanized wire and the door locks are of heavy brass, positive, self locking and almost break-proof.

And the Eddy Refrigerator has not only the guarantee of the makers but also the Megary guarantee behind it.

We know the Eddy is a good refrigerator---we have sold it exclusively for many years.

There are hundreds of Eddy Refrigerators in Wilmington---some with twenty years and more to their credit---giving excellent service.

And it is to the owners of the refrigerators that we would refer you.

"Ask your neighbor."
We know the answer.

MEMORIAL TREES FOR HIGHWAYS

President Harding Heartily Approves Beautiful Commemorative Idea

President Harding has given his hearty approval to the movement for planting memorial trees along important highways of the country in honor of the Americans sacrificed in the great war. In doing so he truly said: "It would be not only the testimony of our sentiments, but a means to beautify the country, which these heroes have served." Certainly there could be no more beautiful memorial, none more dignified than a great tree, and we hope the President's endorsement will mean an increased regard for trees generally and the planting of many trees not only along highways but in other places.—New York Mail.

Saving the Trees

Statistics supplied by the State Department of Forestry in Pennsylvania show that 45,000,000 trees have been grown under the supervision of that department in the past twelve years. Of these 11,500,000 have been distributed directly to owners of land for planting. The cost has averaged $2.25 for each 1,000 trees shipped. Today these trees are worth many thousands of dollars, and the replanting of areas denuded by forest fires besides providing valuable timber and conserving the water supply has restored the natural beauty for which several of these areas are noted.

Recently the State Forestry Department has supplied 32,000 young trees to hospitals and other institutions for planting on available grounds, where patients may look after the trees and find interest and enjoyment in their growth.

There is an increasing movement among the states to provide for reforestation. This movement will be greatly encouraged if the Snell Bill is passed by Congress. This bill provides for the Federal Government to match dollar for dollar the funds appropriated by the States and will stimulate the planting of trees on millions of idle acres, many of which are unsuitable for profitable cultivation in other ways.

The Hole in the Road

The highway past a person's home or place of business constitutes his connection with the world. Without it the individual would revert to primitive isolation. Moreover, that highway belongs in part to the individual, for it is built with his money. Whether the road be good or bad, the individual is a partner in the enterprise.

A hole in the road near one's home concerns one personally and directly. If one happens to drive frequently the hole assumes the proportions of a major public issue. It may appeal to the individual as of more importance to him than the tariff, the currency, or the foreign policy of the nation.

Millions are spent annually on American highways. Many thousands are wasted, and one of the chief sources of waste lies in neglecting pavements after they are laid. As soon as that hole in the pavement in front of your property appeared it should have been somebody's particular business to repair it. Such a hole is much like a cancer—readily cared for at the start, but rapidly spreading and becoming more malignant if neglected.

President Harding doubtless had in mind this hole in the pavement—this hole you are especially interested in—when he told Congress on Tuesday that it should be the policy of the federal government when it co-operates with local authorities in road building to insist that pavements so laid shall be afterward maintained properly to avoid waste. "Patrol and constant repair" was the phrase he used.

They do this better abroad than here, though in some states in America the importance of "patrol and constant repair" is recognized. If it is worth while to spend millions in good roads every year it is obviously worth while to maintain them in their improved condition afterward. Patrol crews equipped with materials for quick repairs should be constantly on the alert for signs of trouble. In other countries a hole in the road is not allowed to become a cancer beyond control. It is fixed forthwith. It should be so here.

If American highway authorities want to make themselves solid with those who own the roads—that is, with Mr. Average Citizen and all his kin—they should take a hint from President Harding's message to Congress: "Patrol and constant repair." That's a slogan that sounds good to us.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Wife—"But, my dear, you've forgotten again that today is my birthday."

Husband—"Er—listen, love. I know I forgot it, but there isn't a thing about you to remind me that you are a day older than you were a year ago."

Would You Keep Young? Then Fall in Love.

One good method of retaining your youth is to fall in love. I recently saw a five-reel moving picture in which a man is portrayed making extraordinary endeavors to get back his youthful spirits. He had apparently grown old prematurely, for his appearance would hardly indicate a greater age than 35 or 40. He planned a house party to which he invited some of his boyhood companions, men and women who had married and grown old in the meantime, but who accepted the invitation nevertheless. He endeavored to bring back the keen enjoyment of youth by indulging in the pleasures that they had enjoyed so much in those earlier days. But his efforts were fruitless. They were unable to enter into the spirit of youth that he was trying to create. This was only one of his many attempts to win back youth, and they were all failures until he acced-identally met the girl that thrilled his nerves with a new zest in life. And the story ends with a statement to the effect that the spirit of youth is always with you if you are in love.

Therefore, if you are desirous of attaining the youthful spirit, and if you have not already fallen in love, or if you have fallen in and out several times and are now out, it is a good plan to fall again. To be in love is the normal status of every healthy man or woman.—Physical Culture.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my dear wife, Myrtle Eklund Keith, and daughter, Myrtle Pauline Keith, who departed this life May 15, 1918. Three years have passed my heart still sore. As time goes on I miss them more. Their gentle smiles their loving faces. No one can fill their vacant places.

God called them home, it was His will. But in my heart I love them still. Their memory is as dear today As in the hour they passed away. Gone but Sadly missed, —Charles W. Keith

Fire at Stanton Wednesday
The house of Walter A. Rothwell, a farmer of near Stanton, was entirely destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon, the Fane and Union fire companies being called from Wilmington at the request of Mr. Rothwell. The furniture and belongings of the family were saved but the house was entirely destroyed.

The cause of the fire is unknown. The fire companies were unable to reach the place until the fire was under considerable headway and the firemen could only assist in taking care of the furniture and guarding property.

on Pershing
General John J. Pershing will be the guest of the Pennsylvania Military College at the commencement exercises

The Women Must Know
The activity of Republican women seems to be growing instead of decreasing since the fall elections. This activity is not only local. The Western women as well as those of the Eastern States are having "get-together" meetings and conferences in the interests of better citizenship and the political education of their sex. Their clubs have various names, but they all have the same spirit of basing judgment on facts that has given the Oklahoma clubs the plain name of "Women Must Know Clubs."

A New Doorway for European Immigrants
It is reported that 125 Slavs and Spaniards have been caught recently trying to cross the border of Mexico into the United States. These people are believed to have been landed at Vera Cruz by ships carrying 500 Europeans, some of whom have been already successfully smuggled across the border.

Buy Your Coal Now
A statement has been issued by Senator Elkins of West Virginia, saying that the lack of demand for coal has resulted in throwing 200,000 miners out of work, and that their families are in distress. He urges the public to lay in the winter supply of coal now and during the summer in order that the market may be gradually restored and the unemployment relieved. Another reason given in Senator Elkins' statement for buying coal now is to avoid the transportation difficulty which the railroads could not overcome if the nation's supply of coal is delayed for delivery to the fall and winter months.

Printing to Be Read or Not to Be?
Experts have learned that a column of just a certain width is ideal for reading. The eyes can take in that much without shifting their gaze along. A narrower column is wasteful in optical effort and a wider one is objectionable for another reason; the lines are then so long that it is difficult to keep track of one's place. In going from the end of one line to the beginning of the next you get lost.

What I'm really getting at is this: The other day I started to read over my insurance policy and I discovered that the lines in the text were about ten inches long. The text was so difficult to read on this account that I gave it up and do not know yet what the preamble to my policy says. I am wondering now if the insurance company knew I would not finish reading the policy. Is that why the lines run clear across the street, instead of in ordinary column width? Is there anything there that the company doesn't wish me to read?

OPINION
You cannot salt the eagle's tail,
Nor limit thought's dominion.
You cannot put ideas in jail;
You can't deport opinion.

If any cause be dross and lies,
Then drag it to the light;
Out in the sunshine evil dies,
But fattens on the night.

You cannot make a truth untrue
By dint of legal fiction.
You cannot prison human view,
You can't convict conviction.

For thought by thumbscrew and by rack,
By exile and by prison,
Truth has been crushed and palled in black,
Yet truth has always risen.

You cannot quell a vicious thought
Except that thought be free;
Gag it, and you will find it taught
On every land and sea.

Truth asks no favor for her blade
Upon the field with Error,
Nor are her converts ever made
By threats of force and terror.

You cannot salt the eagle's tail,
Nor limit thought's dominion.
You cannot put ideas in jail;
You can't deport opinion.

Surprising Demand for New States
To the native citizen of our Eastern States a proposal to change the territory or name of any of the 48 States comes as a shock. To us a State is a State, with roots reaching so far back into history that realignment of territory or even renaming would seem impossible. Not so in the West. A plan for dividing Texas into five States has recently been given wide publicity. Now comes the announcement of a convention at Spokane of legislators from the Eastern Section of the State of Washington and the Northern part of Idaho to consider the joining of their respective territory to form the new state of Lincoln.

The third proposal for a new State is in the Illinois Legislature in the form of a resolution calling upon Congress to create the State of Northern Illinois to consist of Cook County (which includes Chicago), and seven adjoining counties.

School children, approximately 2000 in number, representing nearly every community in New Castle county, came to Newark last Friday to participate in one of the most significant events ever held here. It marked a distinct advance in educational achievement in the State since at this gathering, the first annual field day, were presented achievement flags to those schools which had maintained an attendance record for five months of the school year.

The awakened interest in regular attendance and the evident realization of its vital importance was gratifyingly evident in the large number of rural schools eligible to receive these handsome flags. The presentations were made by County Superintendent Wilbur H. Jump, who congratulated the schools upon their achievement.

Historical stories developed from the series of historical cards which have been awarded to children who have made "Perfect" monthly attendance records were effectively depicted in pantomime by the children of the various schools. The teachers were assisted in the staging and presentation by Miss Alice L. Roop, of the Wilmington Community Service. The costumes were cleverly contrived, the beautiful terrace and the stately trees made a fitting stage setting for the presentation.

During the noon recess the children took possession of the University and of the town. Everybody accorded them a hearty welcome and a cordial invitation to return another year. Ice cream cones, candy, peanuts, and all the other good things which children and their elders, too, associate with a good time, were much in demand, the merchants good naturedly and enthusiastically adding their bit to the sum of the day's pleasures.

To many of the boys and girls, the crowning event of the afternoon was the athletic meet with its numerous events and its many contestants for athletic honors.

The University coaches, the college boys and others gave every assistance to State Athletic Director Fogel, of Middletown, and the events went through in good time.

Du Pont and Newark schools featured the meet all afternoon by the close race for first honors. Du Pont eventually winning out with a total of 160 points, Newark being second with 141. Middletown was third with 52 points, then came Delaware City with 26 points, Mt. Pleasant 7, Richardson Park 5 and Townsend 5.

One of the features was the race between Fournere of Middletown, and Henning of Newark, in one of the relays. These boys have met on several occasions the last previous time being at the inter-scholastic meet last Saturday. Fournere won by a step or so but the Newark boy made him hustle every second of the time.

Reward Offered for Slayer of Miss Wilson

On Sunday evening, April 10th, at about 7.50 p. m., Miss Amanda Wilson, a young woman of Wilmington, was run down and killed by an automobile on the Kennett Pike, a short distance outside of that city. After striking Miss Wilson and a girl friend, the automobile driver put on speed and drove away. Her mangled body was taken to a hospital by a passing machine. At the time of the accident Miss Wilson was walking on the side of the road and should have been well out of harm's way.

The death of Miss Wilson, and the cowardly circumstance of the driver immediately speeding up to get away, caused so much indignation that a reward of $1,000 has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person driving the car. This reward has been subscribed in part by the Delaware Automobile Association, by private individuals, by friends of the Wilson family, and by fellow employees of the company where Miss Wilson worked.

The authorities of Delaware are doing everything possible to get information which might lead to the arrest of the guilty person and the Delaware Safety Council earnestly request any one who has knowledge of the matter to send their information.
