COOP SHOWS INCREASE IN SALES

H. C. Milliken Reelected To Board For 1941

Farmers in nine northeastern states purchased more supplies cooperatively through the Eastern States Farmers' Exchange during 1940 than in any previous year, according to H. C. Milliken of Newark, Delaware, who has just returned from Springfield, Mass., where he attended the 23rd annual meeting of the cooperative purchasing association. He was re-elected to the board of directors for a term of three years.

During 1940 Eastern States purchased for all its members commodities valued at $11,601,130, which was $1,554,121 more than the dollar volume record established in 1937. The 1940 dollar value of goods and services was up $1,000,456 from 1939.

There are, in this state, about 2591 members of the Farmers' Exchange who, during 1940, called on their cooperative to purchase for them 17,411 tons of dairy, poultry and livestock feeds, 1020 tons of fertilizer and fertilizer materials, 148,310 pounds of feed seed, 1999 cwt. of seed potatoes, 7134 pounds of spray materials, 4028 gallons of motor oil and large amounts of many other supplies.

Through it, they have accumulated several million dollars worth of facilities including an ultra-modern feed mill, grain storage elevator and seed refinery and storage house at Buffalo, N. Y., and fertilizer plants at Wilmington, Del., and Cambridge, Mass.

Two of the visiting soloists will also be used in the Bach cantata, "Sleepers, Awake!" which will be given on the program.

EDUCATION OF CHILD DISCUSSED

Editors And Educators Speak Before P.-T. A.

"Education for Character and Citizenship" was discussed by Dr. Garry Cleveland Myers, editor of "Children's Activities," a Chicago publication, at a meeting held in the Newark High School auditorium last night under the sponsorship of the Newark Parent-Teacher Association.

Dr. Myers urged respect for the child's property. Teach him to exercise reasonable care toward the furniture and never destroy property in the neighborhood and don't tempt your child to lie or steal, he said.

"Good sex education in the home consists of answering kindly and sympathetically all the child's questions by parents who understand him and win his confidence," Dr. Myers pointed out. "Not the facts of sex are most important, but the atmosphere in which he gets these facts."

Mr. Myers spoke on the subject, "Making the Child Self-Reliant."

Group singing preceded the meeting and a violin solo was played by Ernest Korber, accompanied by Lois Detjen. Marian Mylrea entertained with a piano solo.

The next meeting of the organization will be held on Tuesday, April 8, in the high school auditorium. Two one-act plays, coached by Miss Ann Stauter, a member of the school faculty, and given by parents and students, will feature the program.

Newark's Fourth Case Of Rabies Reported Wednesday

Newark's fourth case of rabies was discovered yesterday when a collie dog, owned by Mrs. W. E. Hayes, West Delaware Avenue, was found to be suffering with the disease.

Confined since the quarantine, the dog was found by Vaughn Lancaster, New Castle veterinarian, to be suffering with a form of dumb rabies which paralyzed the animal, making it impossible for him to bite.

Residents in this section were again warned by local officials that strict observance of the quarantine is necessary if spread of the disease is to be curbed. Dogs must be muzzled or kept on a leash during the six-week period which started on February 8. The quarantine is scheduled to end on March 22.

SENIOR PLAY

Superintendent C. E. Douglass announced yesterday that the Newark High School annual Senior Play this year would be presented on the afternoon of Wednesday, April 2 and the evening of Thursday, April 3.

The vehicle chosen for presentation is "Sunshine Twins." Miss Anna Gallaher will again direct the play.

The remaining thirteen arrests were classified as follows: Assault and battery, 4; reckless driving, 3; drunkenness, 2; non-support, being drunk and disorderly, breaking and entering, and larceny, one arrest for each offense.

BLUE LAW DRIVE TO CONTINUE

No Arrests Reported Here After Drive

Although almost 500 persons were called into court this week to answer charges of violating the state's Sunday Blue Laws, no arrests occurred in Newark as police covered the state under the direction of Attorney General James R. Morford.

Following a recommendation by the State Senate on Friday to enforce the 200-year-old laws, Mr. Morford began the drive on Sunday and announced that the practice will be continued until some action is taken on the archaic statutes.

Incited by the wholesale enforcement, the House of Representatives at Dover, Monday, in a resolution called the radical move an attempt to coerce the Legislature, and asked for a modified interpretation of the laws. On Tuesday, however, the Senate tabled the resolution which had unanimously passed the House, and refused to ask for a more liberal enforcement.

Service stations and garages in Newark, usually open for business, were closed last Sunday through mutual agreement and local managers announced that they will not operate this Sunday "if the other fellow doesn't."

One small grocery store remained open and its manager announced yesterday that he will continue to operate on Sunday, "blue laws or no blue laws."

Mr. Morford visited Rhodes Drug Store, owned by Dr. George W. Rhodes, speaker of the House, but a summons was not served. Only drugs were sold when the store re-opened in the evening.

Indication of stricter enforcement of the laws next Sunday was made at Wilmington by Mr. Morford who said that despite criticism which had been directed at him, he intended to "saw wood, and continue on my course."

DIVIDEND DECLARED

The Board of Directors of the New Bedford Rayon Company, New Bedford, Mass., have declared a dividend of one dollar per share on the Class A stock of the company, payable March 15, 1941, to stockholders of record at the close of business March 5, 1941.

Announces Scholarship Drive

Albert C. Clark

DRIVE FOR FUNDS IS ANNOUNCED BY ALUMNI

High School Association To Campaign For Scholarship

Albert C. Clark, president of the Newark High School Alumni Association, announced plans for a fund campaign this week which will continue until the end of March.

A sum of $100 has been set as the campaign goal, the amount necessary to continue the association's annual scholarship award to some deserving student at the local high school.

A committee, headed by Mrs. F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., is conducting the drive. Members of the group in charge are: Anna Frazer, Harry Maclary, Mary Alice Hancock, Mrs. Samuel Lockerman, Clarence Smith, Mrs. Edwin Shakespeare, and Mr. Clark.

Lack of support given other methods of raising funds has resulted in a straight drive for subscriptions. In a letter sent out to members of the association, Mrs. Cooch says: "We believe that you will agree that the continuance of this annual scholarship award is necessary for the good of our association. It has helped many a deserving student in the past to continue his or her education in the institutions of higher learning. We, therefore, appeal to you to give us a donation that you can afford. We shall appreciate anything that you give, however small."

Graduates not contacted personally are requested to forward their donations to Clarence Smith, Farmers Trust Company, Newark, who is treasurer of the association, or to Mrs. Cooch.

Contributors thus far are: Martha Wollaston Eshman, A. Jeanette Thorogood, Paul Milliken, Charles Davis, Elinor Roberts, and Leroy Crompton.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS

World Traveler Relates Experiences

E. C. Ramsey, world traveler and journalist held students and faculty members of the Newark High School enthralled with a highly interesting discussion of his travels at the regular Wednesday morning assembly period yesterday.

It is hoped, at a later date, to have Mr. Ramsey return to Newark and address an adult gathering.

Keeping the weekly assembly periods on the same high plane of inspirational and educational entertainment, Superintendent Douglass also announced that next week's program would be a presentation by the Dramatic Group under the direction of Miss Minnie Smithers.

The Delaware School of Music will provide the assembly program on March 19.

Lesson-Sermon

"Man" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon to be delivered on Sunday at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Park Place and Van Buren Street, Wilmington. The morning meeting will start at eleven o'clock, while an evening session is slated for 8:30.

Renew Protests At Meeting Of Town Council Monday Night

One of the most hectic meetings of the Council of Newark in recent years was held Monday night when representatives of the Newark Parent-Teacher Association renewed their protest against the erection of a garage in the vicinity of the high school.

More than 50 persons, including members of the delegation and other interested spectators, jammed the council office to witness the proceedings which were a continuation of the February session when an amendment was introduced to modify the ordinance limiting garage and filling station sites to Main Street between the two railroads.

Evidence that reverberations may be heard at the town election in April appeared following the meeting when a member of the P.-T. A. group stated that the garage question may become an election issue and open the way to opposition for seats in the council.

The delegation, composed mainly of women, was headed by Robert J. Boyd, treasurer of the Newark Trust Company, who acted as official spokesman for the group, but as the discussion developed, others arose to offer protests to the proposed construction. Mayor Frank Collins, who presided over the session which lasted almost two hours, was forced to call the meeting to order several times.

The Rittenhouse Motor Co., due to the purchase of its present site on South College Avenue by the University of Delaware, will be forced to change its location in 1942 and is attempting to re-locate its business on the Newark Methodist Church property opposite the high school.

C. OF C. TO DISCUSS MDSE SHOW

Merchants Urged To Attend March Meeting

The question of whether or not the Newark Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its fourth annual Merchandise Show and Food Exhibit this year will likely be the most important item on docket at the March meeting of that organization to be held in town council offices Monday evening, at eight o'clock.

Tentative dates of April 3, 4 and 5 were set by President D. A. McClintock at last month's meeting when he appointed a committee of George Jackson, chairman, Weldon Waples, George Haney, Herbert Hollingsworth and Herman Handloff to contact local merchants to see if they were receptive to staging the event this year.

One argument which has been advanced against holding the Show this year was the theory that the Army would not be available. In conversation with Brigadier General Berl yesterday, however, a representative of this newspaper was told that the Army would be available if satisfactory arrangements were made.

All merchants who have previously exhibited or who would be interested in participating in a 1941 Show are especially urged to attend the meeting Monday evening when a definite decision will likely be made.

REGULAR PRUNING ADVISED

Mature Apple Trees Need Is Greater

Pruning mature apple trees is an annual farm task that serves several useful purposes. Dr. Elmer W. Greve, research horticulturist for the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station, says that pruning aids in securing better fruit color by opening up the tree to sunlight. Pruning may also increase the size of fruit through removal of some of the fruit buds. Control of pests is easier with properly-pruned trees. Sprays and dusts can be driven into the inside parts of the trees. And good pruning, especially when the tree is young, helps to prevent broken branches later on in the tree's life.

Scaffold or framework branches on young trees should be carefully selected to have older apple trees that are well formed. The scaffold branches should originate at least eight inches apart on the trunk. The framework branches should be well spaced around the trunk and one should not come out directly above another.

Young trees require only light pruning once a good scaffold system is obtained. Heavy pruning when apple trees are young results in delayed bearing and a dwarfed, stunted tree.

After an apple tree has produced several good crops the need for pruning becomes greater. There are two main types of pruning—one is a heading-back operation whereby the one-year old wood is cut back, the other is a thinning-out process in which entire small branches are cut out. By thinning out a third to a half of the small twigs, the tree is opened up and the remaining twigs should produce fruit of better size and color.

Trees that are too high should be lowered by cutting back the leader or main branch to a good strong side branch. It is best to cut the leader before too large a cut needs to be made to lessen sunscald on other parts of the tree and on the fruit.

Merchants Downed In Burro Ball, 36-34

Superintendent of Schools Carleton E. Douglas (left) and Chief of Police William Cunningham, shown aboard two of the mounts, officiated at the burro basketball game staged last Thursday in the high school gymnasium. Members of the faculty defeated a team of businessmen, 36-34 in a nip-and-tuck battle that was packed with thrills and spills. A capacity audience jammed the auditorium to witness the proceedings.

Russell Suk, high scorer for the evening, added five field goals to the merchants' total, but despite this outstanding effort, the teachers emerged victorious.

Despite the fact that half the game was played on the floor as frisky burros unseated their riders, the tilt was not entirely lacking in skill and several long shots were marked up for both sides.

Bob Thompson and Dr. P. K. Musselman also turned in brilliant but futile efforts for the losers as they were both credited with four action shots. Marvin S. Dale and Dick Ware accounted for two each to conclude the businessmen's scoring. Other merchant performers were: George M. Haney, Louis T. Staats, Arthur E. Tomhave, Jack Hurley, A. Wesley Perry, and Dr. John R. Downes.

George Nichol and Stan Gibbs turned in the highest scores for the faculty as they paced the professors to victory with three successful shots from the floor. Second honors, with two shots each, was divided between Bob Kern, Ralph O'Connell, Harvey Moore, and M. James Parsons, while Henry Buckwalter, John Justin, Frederick B. Kutz, and Jerry Moore accounted for one each. William K. Gillespie was held scoreless throughout the tilt.

Players were allowed to leave their burros only when retrieving a lost ball. All passing and shooting was done from a mounted position.

Pupils of the second grade at the Krebs School, who have been studying about transportation, under the direction of Mrs. Grace Maguigan, teacher, went from Newport to Wilmington by train this week.

The last quarterly conference of the year was held in the Newport Methodist Church Wednesday evening, with Dr. Walter E. Gunby, district superintendent, presiding. The Rev. J. C. McCoy and Mrs. McCoy were guests. Favorable reports were made showing advance in membership and increased activity in church organizations. Annual reports were made by the Rev. McCoy and representatives of all church organizations, as well as the building committee.

The Rev. J. C. McCoy, pastor, reported to police that three bicycles had been stolen from him. "When were they stolen?" asked the lieutenant. "About 15 years ago," replied Cottle.

CORN BORER CUTS CROP PRODUCTION

Feed Fodder To Livestock To Kill Pest

Answering calls from Delaware farmers asking for information about a small, white worm eating their corn during the past three summers, Dr. L. A. Stearns, entomologist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, reveals that the bug is the European corn borer.

The European corn borer is a relatively new crop-ruining pest in Delaware. It was discovered and identified positively for the first time in Sussex County during the summer of 1934. When a Statewide survey was made in 1939, the borer was also found in Kent and New Castle Counties.

Injury by borers results from tunneling and feeding within the stalk, ears, tassels, midrib of the leaf, brace roots, stubble and practically all parts of the corn plant except the fibrous roots. They also feed to a slight extent upon the surface of the plant, particularly upon the leaf blades, tassels buds, husks and silks of the ear, and leaf sheaths. The type of injury inflicted by the borer apparently depends upon the stage of development of the corn plant when attacked and on the weather conditions.

Since borers spend the winter in corn stubble and fodder, Dr. Stearns is suggesting that corn should be cut as low and as early as possible. Then to make sure that the borers in the fodder are killed, he is telling farmers to feed the fodder to livestock directly or to make it into silage. Plowing under of corn stubble in the fall or early spring is another important way to help keep down borer damage. Stubble and trash in corn fields must be turned under just as cleanly as possible if the work is to be of much help against the corn borer.

Plant breeders are developing corn hybrids that may be entirely or partially resistant to the destructive action of the borers. Tests will be conducted in Delaware to determine those hybrids which appear most promising.

At the roll call each member described some high-light in the life of former presidents, and Mr. Kendall showed several films.

The club will devote a Wednesday of each month to Red Cross sewing and to date, the girls have completed three blankets, three skirts, 30 diapers, 4 kimonos, and 3 children's dresses. The next regular business meeting will be held on March 26.

The Elsmere Township Taxpayers' Association met Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Poore. Vice-president George L. Sanders presided in the absence of Frank H. Harrison, president, who is in Florida. The group approved the platform, adopted by the Elsmere Taxpayers' party for the coming town election.

BOOK SHELF

As you throw your 1940 Christmas cards in the wastebasket, pause a moment while we tell you who started it all. The third issue of Print, a Quarterly Journal of the Graphic Arts, arrived along with the last batch of cards, and that is why we can give you the low-down. According to Claire Imrie, the generally-accepted conclusion is that Henry Cole of London was the actual originator of the Christmas card. "In 1846, so goes the story, Cole (subsequently Sir Henry Cole) was faced with the familiar problem of catching up on a lagging correspondence. As a way out, he conceived the idea of sending by messenger to friends and acquaintances a printed greeting in the holiday spirit, and to design it, engaged a rising young artist destined to become an eminent member of the Royal Academy, John Calcott Horsley. Horsley's efforts . . . not only resulted in a card for Cole's friends, but a storm of indignation from the temperance forces of the day, who took exception to the wine-drinking scene in the center panel. Thus was its fame established." Perhaps we would add that Mr. Cole did not become Sir Henry just because he invented the Christmas Card. A visit to THE COLUMBIA ENCYCLOPEDIA shows that he was quite a promotor of other things: he shared in the establishing of the Record Office and was an organizer (a forerunner of Grover Whalen) of the Great Exhibition of 1851, among various activities of this sort.

The Christmas rush of 1940 seems, as usual, to have produced some minor brainstorms in the book trade. A few days before the holiday we received from the bookstore at one of the ivy colleges an order for one copy of "The Old Time College President." We decided to send them a copy of THE OLD TIME COLLEGE PRESIDENT, in the cause of higher education. The other event concerned a tricky little study stand, invented by Harold Bentley, Manager of the Columbia Bookstore, some time ago and sold in various colors by the bookstore. A certain Philadelphia bookstore wanted one, but by the time the order reached us it read "one study stand, by Green."

FAMOUS GOURMETS OF HISTORY

IT IS SAID THAT AFTER HIS RETIREMENT, DAVID HUME PLANNED TO DEVOTE THE REMAINDER OF HIS LIFE TO THE SCIENCE OF COOKERY.

We haven't seen a copy of The Sentimental Novel in America, 1789-1860, published by Duke University Press, but it must be good. We say this because the author is Herbert Ross Brown of Bowdoin College, and we have had some pleasant relations with Professor Brown in the past. Not only that, he has written something for us, too. It happens that he is the author of the introduction to our Facsimile Text Society edition of Hannah Webster Foster's THE COQUETTE. It further happens that THE COQUETTE is one of the best examples of the kind of fiction Professor Brown has now written a book about. (We started out to praise a book published by someone else, and here we are plugging our own goods. Such is publishing.) Which means we might as well go on and say that we also have a facsimile edition of the first American novel, William Hill Brown's THE POWER OF SYMPATHY. And we might as well suggest that to have these two sentimental novels handy in their original formats will add spice to the reading of Professor Brown's volume.

Here it is, a new year. A new year which does not open auspiciously for millions of people all over the world. Wishes for a happy new year and hopeful gazes into 1941 seem out of place. But the courage to believe that there is hope for a better future is not dead. Here, for instance, is the Foreign Minister of the Netherlands, E. N. van Kieffens, in JUGGERNAUT OVER HOLLAND, which we shall publish a week from today: "There is a keen sense that the Netherlands must become a free country again. Its people cannot be permanently enslaved, they will not be stifled, they cannot breathe in that sullen, oppressive atmosphere. As soon as the chance comes, the people of the Netherlands will free themselves, just as they freed themselves in the days of Spanish tyranny . . . Against them, all despots have played a losing game . . . Holland bides its hour: sooner or later, it knows that hour will strike."

Handwork For Your Home

Smart women are beginning to realize that touches of handwork in the home make it more livable and more homelike. The bedspread which grandmother crocheted when she was a girl is coming out to grace the guest room bed, and the modern woman is determined not to let grandmother's ability surpass her own. Bedspreads, pillow covers, doilies and luncheon sets express the personality of the woman who makes them. This newspaper is offering its readers a series of eight articles illustrating smart and practical household articles which a woman can make herself.

An illustrated sheet of detailed directions will be sent you without charge, if you will send a self-addressed return envelope bearing a three cent stamp to THE CROCHET BUREAU OF THIS NEWSPAPER, 522 Fifth Avenue, NEW YORK CITY. Specify, "Handwork for Your Home, Design No. III."

"WE WUZ ROBBED" AND "I shoulda stood in bed" is what members of the Businessmen's team are moaning following the burro basketball game in which they were handed a 36-34 setback at the hands of the Newark High School faculty.

Staged in the school gymnasium, the tilt developed into a free-for-all and although the professors emerged with a two-point advantage, witnesses conceded that the fugitives from a pack train were the actual victors.

Drug stores reported a booming sale of liniment, alcohol rubs, and aspirin tablets following the game which some spectators claimed was an easy method employed by William K. Gillespie to get the floor mopped up for a jacket cage encounter.

ALTHOUGH THE BUSINESSMEN were announced as winners, the score was actually reversed and when this was brought to light, Louis T. Staats, business manager for the defeated quintet, stole a quote from the late "Yusell" Jacobs and yelled: "We wuz robbed."

Basing his protest on the fact that the faculty used not one but several "ringers" in the battle, Staats claimed victory for his team and issued another challenge for a burro game—of polo.

Joe Moore, a student at the school, was classified as a "professional" rider by Mr. Staats who pointed out the fact that Joe has exercised horses at Delaware Park and therefore should be barred from any amateur athletic contests. In addition, he asked "Since when has Joseph been a member of the faculty?"

"Since when have you been a business man?" countered Faculty Manager Gillespie and the battle royal was on.

BOTH MEN CAME OUT OF THEIR corners cautiously at the opening cowbell (Lew reached for the bucket) and both threw lusty rights which fell short of their marks.

Staats led with a left but wasn't close enough to make contact with Gillespie's jaw and the faculty manager threw a round-house right that was at least two feet short. Both men were sparing cautiously at the bell.

Midway in the second round Gillespie brought the spectators to their feet when a wicked left hook fell only 11 inches short of its mark instead of the usual three feet. Staats retreated and while going back threw a right uppercut that missed by only six feet.

Both men fell exhausted at the end of the fourth round and the bout was declared a draw by technical knockouts.

THE FIRST TO RECOVER, STAATS once again issued his claim for the verdict and Gillespie, still indisposed, merely panted.

Getting along famously with "Mae West", Russell Silk led the scoring for the evening with five field tosses while Dr. Paul K. Musselman and "Clark Gable" and Bob Thompson and "Tom Thumb" accounted for four each. Dick Ware and "Gracie Allen" harmonized perfectly to the tune of two double deekers, while Mervin Dale, aboard "Dynamite" riffled the chords for another pair of action shots.

The teams switched burros at the end of the first half in order to eliminate any advantage to be gained in the type of mounts.

"MAE WEST" PROVED TO BE THE perfect companion for the evening as, in the first half, she steered Stan Gibbs to three field goals for the faculty. George Nichols, riding on "W. P. A.", also marked up six points while Bob Kern and "Ginger Rogers", Ralph O'Connell and "Gracie Allen", Jim Parsons and "Sophie Tucker", and Harvey Moore and "Olive Oyl" were credited with two action shots each.

With the faculty victory under protest and with the majority of the participants nursing a few more bruises, aches, and pains than they had prior to the game, one doesn't have to do much figuring to determine the real winners—those bulky burros from Dodge City.

WINTER ATHLETIC PROGRAM TO BE CONCLUDED SATURDAY
AT UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

Preparations Underway For Spring Contests; Eight Diamond Lettermen On Hand For Coach G. P. Doherty; Practice Delayed By Weather Conditions

Old Man Winter will do a fade-out this week—at least as far as University of Delaware Sports are concerned—and preparations are already underway for the spring athletic program which will officially open on April 3 when the Blue and Gold diamondmen entertain Dartmouth College in the 1941 baseball opener.

The winter card will be concluded this week by Coach Ed Bardo's swimming team which will be represented in the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association championships at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J., Saturday night. Coach Joe Shields' Delaware basketball team concluded their 1940-41 performance on Saturday night, bowing to Pennsylvania Military College, to finish the season with a record of seven victories against nine defeats.

Activity on Frazer Field has not entirely subsided due to the poor weather conditions and although the Blue and Gold baseball candidates will not be able to start working out for at least another week, perhaps two, the Hen gridders are being put through their paces. Emory E. Adkins, newly-appointed assistant football coach who succeeds Flucie Stewart, reported Monday afternoon and is assisting Coach William D. Murray and Assistant Coach Joe Shields.

The squad has been increased due to the close of the basketball season and Howard Jarvis, Conrad Sadowski, and Jack Davis, all performers on the cage combine, were added to the list.

Coach Gerald P. (Doc) Doherty, with eight lettermen around which to build his 1941 diamond combine, is looking forward to another successful year. Forming the nucleus of this season's team will be Bill Tibbitt and John Daly, southpaw, two dependable hurlers, with Hugh Bogovich, a sophomore, in reserve for mound duty. The latter was hampered considerably last year due to illness.

Other lettermen who will report are: Conrad Sadowski and Tom Skripps, catchers; Amos Crowley, second base; Freddy Mitchell, shortstop; Wilmer Appleby, third base; and Perry Burkett, outfielder.

Skripps is also capable of handling the first base assignment left vacant due to the graduation of Earl Sheats and the ineligibility of Luke Selby. Sadowski has also had considerable experience in the outfield.

Several promising freshmen are also expected to turn out for the opening practice which will probably be held just as soon as the diamond is worked into shape. Included in this group are: Jim Buchanan, pitcher and outfielder; Bill Hogan, infielder; Greg Hillman, Phil Doherty, and Gerald Doherty, Jr., outfielders.

Other spring sports, tennis, golf and track, are slated to get underway as soon as there is a break in the weather. The track team will open its season against Ursinus at Collegeville, Pa., on April 24, while the Hen tennis combine will inaugurate its schedule here the same day against Villanova.

Defending Cue Title At State

One of the town's outstanding cue wielders, Pierce is meeting all challenges for the crown which he lifted from Bob Walls last week. Due to the lack of opposition, efforts are being made by Jimmy Martin, sponsor of the affair, to arrange a 500-ball match between the former champion and the present wearer of the crown.

SHIELDS ON THRONE
JACKETS DEFEATED

Joe Shields, physical education instructor and coach at the University of Delaware, who claims he's too old for the sport, upset his own predictions Saturday night when he regained the Delaware State badminton championship at the Wilmington Y. M. C. A.

Shields, a three-time winner before he was dethroned last year, regained the men's singles crown by conquering Endsley P. Fairman, defending champion, in the final round, 10-15, 15-5, 15-9.

He drew a bye in the first round, then easily downed A. M. Porter, 15-5, 15-9 in the semi-final bracket. Fairman marked up a 15-7, 15-10 triumph over George Winter to move into the finalist position.

BILL GEROW PACES HEN SCORING

Blue And Gold Leader Hangs Up 128 Points

Winding up his basketball career at the University of Delaware with a total of 35 points in the last three games, Capt. Bill Gerow paced the Blue and Gold cagers in the scoring department with a season's total of 128 points.

He was closely followed by Conrad Sadowski, the Hens' long-range gunner, who compiled a grand total of 123 points, and Carty Douglass, lanky pivot man, who accounted for 118.

Gerow, who sported an 11-point lead over Sadowski with three games left on the slate, turned in a 10-point performance against Haverford, 16 against West Chester State Teachers' College, and 9 against Pennsylvania Military College. Sadowski turned in a total of 40 points for the last three games, but was unable to catch the Hen leader. He dropped in eight against Haverford, 18 against the Teachers, and 14 against the Cadets.

In accounting for the top score, Gerow dropped in 54 shots from the field, 20 from the charity stripe, while Sadowski was hanging up two less action shots and one less penalty conversion. Douglass shot 49 double-deckers and 20 fouls.

Many of the Reds' opponents, who do a bit of wishful thinking every once in a while, point to the situation at shortstop. To this Bill McKeehan replies, "We have no hole at shortstop. I'm sure Eddie Joost and Bobby Mattick will fill the bill. If I wasn't sure of this, I would never have traded a shortstop like Myers from our club."

In case you're interested in further information about Joost, it might be well to tell that Eddie played about half of the Reds' games at that position last year, and did a whale of a job. Too, he was quite a ball player in the world series, when he showed his ability under fire. In the event he doesn't have the strength to play a full schedule, help out. In McKeehan's book, Mattick has a much higher rating than is commonly supposed. He sees a bright future for the young man.

Defense hasn't been forsaken in the least. It never will as long as Bill McKeehan is the manager and Warren Giles the general manager. The acquisition of Monte Pearson was a master defensive stroke, for Pearson is a looked upon as a potential 15-game winner. Add a 15-game winner to a staff that has such great starters as Derringer, Walters and Thompson, plus backer-upper like Jim Turner, Whitey Moore, and Johnny Vander Meer, plus relief man extraordinary, Joe Beggs, and you really have something the opposing clubs have to step high to hurdle when they are out to score runs.

Food For Thought

We have a job to do. You, and I and everyone. Our job is this—to make America strong.

This is the opening paragraph in an issue of Consumers Guide devoted to Food and National Defense. Consumers Guide is a publication of the United States Department of Agriculture. The following paragraphs are also quotations from this Food and National Defense issue.

We are not strong enough now. Forty five million of us live below the safety line because we do not get the food we need.

Below the safety line—because some of us don't earn enough. We must be helped.

Below the safety line—because some of us with land don't grow food for our families. We must learn how.

Below the safety line—because some of us don't know the foods we need. We must be taught.

Garage

An amendment to the present ordinance restricting garage and filling station sites was introduced at the January meeting of the council to permit the garage to be built on the Academy Street location. It received its first and second readings, but was declared illegal due to the existing ordinance which also states that the law cannot be modified for the benefit of any one individual to the detriment of others.

Councilman Charles C. Hubert, representative from the western district, notified the council that at the April meeting he will introduce an amendment to repeal all existing laws limiting the erection of garages and filling stations to Main Street. Despite the fact that he will introduce the amendment, Mr. Hubert announced that he will vote against the measure.

Besides Mayor Collins and Mr. Hubert, other members of the council present were: C. Emerson Johnson, George F. Ferguson, George E. Ramsey, John F. Richards, and Herman Wolleston.

Home Education

"Excuse me a minute, please," said Mrs. Lee. "I hear the children coming in from school."

From my seat in the living room of the old-fashioned house, I could look through to the kitchen where she was dividing fruit and cookies among her two children and the friends they had brought home with them. "Did your mother say you might share your lunch today, Andy?" she asked one small boy. He smiled and nodded. Then pretty soon I saw all the children going out to play.

"Your place seems to be a playground for other people's children," I remarked. HER CHILDREN'S FRIENDS when Mrs. Lee came back to me.

"Well," she said with utmost good nature, "I like to have my own children close at hand. Their friends like to come here because the yard is a good comfortable place for their games, and on rainy days I let them come inside."

"How do you ever stand it?" I marvelled. "From their appearance I should think they'd upset things seriously."

Mrs. Lee laughed. "I suppose they would if I'd let them, but they like to come here well enough to mind the rules of the house. Oh, yes, I do have certain rules. They're printed on a card that hangs on the kitchen wall."

"This is such a mixed neighborhood," I said doubtfully. "How do you ever sort the children out? There must be many undesirables."

"I don't sort them out," Mrs. Lee replied earnestly. "As long as they obey the rules which are very simple and as plain as day, they may enjoy our home. I do insist, though, on respectable language and fairly good manners."

"But aren't you afraid your children will pick up faults in grammar and a bad manner or two?" I argued.

"My children have been taught the difference between the good and bad of language and manners, and they've developed character enough by this time, I hope, to adopt what is really worthwhile."

"Well," I said, "I'll have to admit that your system works. You have fine children, and your home must seem a place of happiness to their friends; you make them so welcome."

"Yes," said Mrs. Lee, her voice deep with feeling. "I do make them welcome; for, oh, I remember so well an experience that came to me in my childhood. There was one very hard year when I was a little girl. My father had lost his health and then had lost his teaching position, and we were very, very poor. We moved to an old house near the railroad track in what was considered a very undesirable part of the town. It was the best we could afford."

"I had made a friend at school—Barbara Curtis. She was delightful. I never would have known she was a child of wealth if I had not gone home with her one day. Her mother looked me over, asked where I lived, and then told me to go away. She did not want me coming to her house."

"Barbara was terribly ashamed of her mother, but she handled the affair like a little thoroughbred. She explained who my father was and spoke of his illness. Her mother then apologized and allowed our friendship to continue, but I have never forgotten the bitter pain that my child-heart suffered that day."

"Yes," I thought to myself, "but out of that painful experience came understanding and wisdom that have brought much happiness to many children."
