Delayed Pending Occupancy

Start of construction on the Brookside and Newark shopping centers has been delayed about six months from original estimates.

Brookside was to begin construction last fall on a $2,500,000 community shopping center, but to date only the preliminary grading of the building site has been completed.

H. W. Grimmitz, office manager at the Chestnut Rd. headquarters for Brookside Associates announced that construction of the shopping center was contingent on the building of 1,200 housing units in the Brookside community.

The initial announcement of the 300 homes will be sold by this spring, leaving the way clear to begin construction of the Brookside shopping facilities at that time.

The train, which halted on the main southbound freight tracks, delayed several other freight trains until a shifter engine arrived to switch the burning locomotive to a siding. Red hot plates surrounding the transformers kept at steaming temperatures by the burning oil.

The Bear 4-H club met Feb. 3rd at 8 p.m. at the home of William Wallburg, and after the 4-H pledge, flag salute, and prayer, the group was led in three songs by Anita Fox.

Members were reminded to attend the 4-H square dance with the Corner Ketch and Salem clubs on Feb. 20 at 8 p.m. in Moore's barn. The order of dances will be: four square dances, two jitterbugs, and then two slow dances.

Twenty members are going to attend the "4-H Community Get-Together" on the evening of March 10th at the Agricultural Hall. Mrs. Worrall will be the speaker and will show slides on her trip to Europe.

Joan Mowll's motion to send five dollars to the March of Dimes fund, was approved, and Emma Jane Schirring, recreation chairman, set March 27th as the date for a club skating party at the Maryland Roller Rink in Glasgow.

A committee was appointed to plan a display window for 4-H week, March 6 through 14. Members of this committee are Charles Moore, Carol Ann Sweetman, Joan Mowll, Bill Wallburg, Bessie Lou Gardner, Emma Jane Schirring, and Sylvia Wallburg.

Two demonstrations were given—one by David Moore, safety chairman, on "Home Safety Hazards," and the other by Charles Moore on "How to Prepare a Calf Hauler." These were followed by slides in sequence on a subject, "How to Give a 4-H Demonstration," which were shown and explained by Sylvia Wallburg and Carol Ann Sweetman.

The Brookside PTA officers, elected at the meeting last week are Bradford Howes, president; William Cooke, vice president; Mrs. William Barr, secretary; and Miss Joan McCain, treasurer.

At a later date it will be determined just when the PTA meetings will be held.

Mrs. F. Bednarek and daughter, Diane, spent last week in Philadelphia with Mrs. B's mother, Diane, who is now home recovering from the chicken pox.

Another member of the chicken pox group is Paul Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wright of Copperfield Lane.

Mrs. George Watrous, Chaucer Drive, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burger, Robert, Jr., and Jean of Reading recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Eller, 19 Chaucer Drive are trying to get a Boy Scout troop started in Brookside. Besides needing interested boys and their parents they need a Scoutmaster.

Three boys of your age need scouting but they can only get this training if the parents give the required help. You men who have gone through scouting know the importance of this phase of a boy's development. Come out and pass on your past experience and training. It is for your boys and no one can do the job for you.

Phone Mr. or Mrs. Eller, Newark 6998. Let's get this program going. As for Cub Scouting, Pack No. 352 of Brookside is making real progress.

Our first Pack meeting, Feb. 3, at the Brookside School, was a real success. Six boys received their Bobcat pins and three received re-registration cards. After the installation meeting the mothers served cake and ice cream followed by everyone playing the games made by the leaders. One game was pitching pennies. This netted $176 for the March of Dimes.

Bobby Fleck, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fleck celebrated his birthday with a party on Saturday, Feb. 6. His guests were Sherry Nelson, Christine Creighton, Judy Pocalyko, Dorothea and Bobby Reilly, Judy Neiswander, Fleckie Soper, Patty Weldon, Ronny Sanchez, Del Aldhouse and brother Tommy Fleck.

Anthony J. Loudis, chairman of the University of Delaware Music Department, and guest artist Virginia Morgan will present the first of five special chamber music programs in the Hillman of Warner Hall on Monday evening, Feb. 15, at 8 o'clock. Three of these programs, scheduled for alternate Monday evenings, will consist of sonatas for violin and piano and will feature Mr. Loudis and Mrs. Morgan as the performing artists.

Mr. Loudis' long association with musical activities in Delaware is well-known, but Mrs. Morgan is a comparative newcomer to the state, having arrived last summer with her husband.

Mrs. Morgan has enjoyed a broad background of musical experience. Following her graduation from the Eastman School of Music, she played for a number of years in the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra; appeared as soloist with the Buffalo Symphony Orchestra; with the Eastman Rochester Symphony and was a member of the music departments of Colby Junior College, at William Woods College, Mo., and as assistant to Jacques Gottschalk at the Eastman School of Music.

The opening program consists of three sonatas by Mozart, Brahms, and Beethoven. Works by Cesar Franck, Claude Debussy and Ernest Bloch will be featured in subsequent performances.

University Accepts
$2500 duPont Grant
For 12 Fellowships

Dean Carl J. Rees, director of the University of Delaware summer session, has announced an award of $2500 from the duPont Company committee on fellowships and grants.

This sum will provide funds for 12 science fellowships for the 1954 summer session.

Each fellowship will carry a stipend of $125 for living expenses and in addition will provide tuition. A committee of the faculty will be appointed to award the fellowships.

These grants made available by the duPont Company are all in the area of the natural sciences. They are designed primarily for teachers in service in the sciences and are based upon a special curriculum of graduate studies leading to the master's degree in education.

This special course of study specifies that a minimum of 24 credit hours of the 30 hours required be taken in science itself. The students will be required to distribute this work among three of the natural sciences.

Four of the fellowships are available to Delaware teachers and the remaining eight for teachers outside the state.

Applicants for the 1954 summer session science fellowships are invited to address inquiries to the director of the summer session, University of Delaware.

1,866 Register For 2nd
Term Extension Courses;
40% Fewer Fall This Year

A total of 1,866 persons—"our best for second term extension courses," according to Gordon C. Godbey, associate director of university extension—have enrolled in University of Delaware extension courses which began Monday night.

The figure includes 80 mail registrations for non-credit work, and Mr. Godbey estimated that the number will be increased by about 100 late registrations.

The faculty committee on undergraduate scholarship has announced that 17 students, including 11 Delawareans, have straight A averages for the first term's work. Of this number 10 are seniors, four are juniors, two are sophomores and one is a freshman.

It was also announced that there were 40 per cent fewer students dropped from the university's rolls due to academic failure than at this same time last year.

In commenting on this marked improvement in student effort and results, university officials drew attention to the increased emphasis on faculty counseling, the annual parents conferences, and letters to parents designed to keep them informed in matters of particular and general interest within the academic program.

the man - the genius - the American ideal

FEBRUARY 11—birthday anniversary of Thomas A. Edison—a man whose creative genius gave to the world among many other things, the electric light; the phonograph; the moving picture camera.

But, beyond these inventions which have added immeasurably to the comforts and conveniences of all his fellowmen, Thomas Edison left an even greater gift. This was his enthusiasm and belief in a great America, a country built on free enterprise and profit.

Tireless and dedicated, Edison contrived to live several life-times in his span. He was granted over 1,097 patents. He benefited financially from many of his inventions because in the American free enterprise system, profit serves as incentive and reward.

On this, his anniversary, the world honors Thomas Alva Edison. In his lifetime, he achieved genius and success; he lived quietly and in dignity. His surging creative spirit, great love for humanity, and indomitable faith in the rights of American free enterprise have served as an example of American democracy to millions of people the world over.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Fred Waring and his half-hundred musicians and singers make up probably the greatest popular musical aggregation in entertainment business today. They're the most diligently selected and trained, the largest group, top-priced and all that. But the really big, perennial asset of the Pennsylvanians has always been something less tangible—a kind of perpetual enthusiasm and freshness for music that keeps a Waring show close to the American public. The Pennsylvanians are one of the great traveling bands—some

TV TO BC ON "YOU ARE THERE"

In its second year on television, after several years on radio, the Sunday night (CBS-TV) drama, "You Are There," is proving among the most viewable—as well as educational—on the air today. "You Are There" reenacts historical events whose settings may—and have—ranged from an era before Christ to the recent Moscow purge trial. Sprightly written and documented, the action is in the present tense; the viewer must only assume that TV existed at the time of the event. INSCRUTABLE MYSTERIES

By Gladys J. Peterson

For many years scientists have been baffled by the simple miracle of the salt water found in the oceans that cover more than two-thirds of the earth's vast surface.

Time and time again laboratory workers have separated the simple molecular and atomic components that make up salt water—water, sodium salts, trace elements and so forth. It seems an easy matter to account for every property. But when the scientists try to put together the substances they have separated, they find it simply impossible. No matter how carefully they have selected, measured and combined their elements, no scientist has ever been able to make sea water. Any living thing requiring sea water simply dies in the man-made product.

An aquarium many miles from the ocean must order sea water from coastal resources to keep their aquatic animals alive. Sea water is expensive, but they must buy it or just not have sea water specimens. Thus sea water is shipped thousands of miles in railroad tanks, because men have not been able to discover the secret of its mysterious content.

The same Creator who planned the mystery of the sea has a plan that is even more baffling to the minds of men. It is His plan of salvation, a formula of which is found in the Word of God. The message of the Bible is the miraculous fact that God loves us, that He wants to forgive us, and that He offers us a new and far better life.

Frosh Applications
For U.D. Alumnae
Grants Due Mar. 1

Scholarship Committee
Lists Grants Available
For Girls At University

Miss Dorothy E. Markert, chairman of the University of Delaware Alumnae Association scholarship committee, announced last week that all applicants for association scholarships should apply through the dean of student office in Hullen Hall. The deadline date for entering freshmen application is March 1, and for upper class application, May 1.

These scholarships have been made available through the annual university development fund, re-university class gifts, the sponsoring of the 52nd Children's Theatre production in the Playhouse last year by the alumnae association, and friends of the university. The following are available for entering freshmen:

Winifred J. Robinson scholarship, to be awarded to an applicant from Delaware; Everett C. Johnson scholarship, to be awarded to an out-of-state applicant; and Emalee P. Warner Scholarship, to be awarded to either a Delaware or out-of-state resident.

Holders of these awards, valued at $400 for one year, must live on campus for the year of the award. At its 35th reunion on the Newark campus last spring, the class of 1918 established a scholarship which will be awarded to an entering freshman, regardless of place of residence, who may live on the campus or commute.

For the second year, Miss Markert also announces that the Edge Moor alumnae chapter will award a $150 scholarship to an entering freshman who resides north of Wilmington city limits within the state.

The following scholarships are available for upperclass women: Three awards named in honor of the classes of 1933, 1939, and 1948, which established these scholarships at their reunions on the campus last May. The class of 1938 also established a scholarship in memory of Professor James A. Barkley, for which upperclassmen majoring in history may apply.

Through the generosity of Miss Alice P. Smyth of Wilmington, the alumnae association will again be able to award a scholarship to an upperclassman. Miss Smyth, instrumental in the founding of the Women's College, has continued to show her interest in the education of women during the year. The university has honored Miss Smyth by naming the new women's dormitory Smyth Hall.

The Wilmington chapter of the alumnae association will also give a scholarship valued at $300 to an upperclassman.

After the scholarship applicants are tested on the campus, a select group will be interviewed by the alumnae scholarship committee. These serving on this committee are: Mrs. Wallace H. Carothers, Mrs. Roger B. Thomas, Miss Bessie Collins, dean of women; Henriette E. Miller, Mrs. Theodore D. McKinley, and Mrs. Edwin D. Taylor.

DOWN THE RIVER

J. N. (Ding) Darling, the famous cartoonist, put the case for soil conservation in these memorable words: "Beef-steak and potatoes, roast duck, ham and eggs, and bread and butter with jam on it, are being washed down our rivers each year in the form of good rich farm topsoil."

We have long passed the point where we can afford to let this happen. We will have to feed a population which is growing at a dizzy rate from an agricultural acreage which is virtually fixed. That fact imposes a dual obligation: to get maximum production from our land and, at the same time to save and whenever possible improve that land for the needs of the years ahead.

Basically, soil conservation is not the job of government, even though government agencies are vitally interested and are active participants in the movement. It is the job of the farmer—individually, and collectively with his neighbors. And he has no lack of aids. Agricultural colleges, the soil conservation service, the forest service, farm equipment manufacturers, government bureaus and others offer booklets and other materials dealing graphically and constructively with the problem. Modern farm machinery provides an efficient, low-cost means of doing the actual work.

Every time an acre of farmland is properly and scientifically conserved, the whole country is permanently enriched.

HISTORICAL REVIEWS OF THE NEWARK AREA

by Ethel M. Hill

From time to time, Mrs. Hill's series concerning Newark's interesting historical background will appear in the pages of the Post. Your comments and suggestions will be appreciated by the writer.

The Creek Road out North College Avenue—a most beautiful drive—shows less change than any other road out of Newark. After crossing Pomeroy tracks down a little hill and over a bridge crossing Booby Run, is a level stretch shaded by old beech trees grows much larger in the last three quarters of a century and with their lovely silver gray bark more mutilated by the carving of initials.

On the right, down a bank is Rock Cavern—a big rock onto which almost every small boy and girl in Newark has claimed to sit a moment "just pretending" to sit. Owahala, son of Indian Chief Mashahala of the Lenni Lenape at the Indian town of Minguananam which was where London Trout church is now.

The copper marker tells us it was here that Wm. Penn in 1683 bought from the Indians all the land between the Delaware River and the Susquehanna, up to the falls. But that was long ago and Owahala does not paddle his canoe down White Clay Creek now.

The road follows close by the west bank of the creek. At the foot of the meadow, just before driving through the foundations of what was the Pomeroy tracks, one looks in vain for the five big persimmon trees. Even their roots have been washed away.

On the left the Crossan farm has been bought and the stone house enlarged. Up a long lane it is not noticed from the road as are several other old stone houses in the area.

Just before coming to Tweeds Mills is a mineral spring road, prized by the Indians long ago as of great medicinal value.

Tweeds's Mill
The big stone house on the left side of the road overlooks the scene of Tweeds's Mills on the right. The foundations have been grubbed out so that you would not know that a hundred years ago this was a brick four-story community. It was built and owned by Joseph Rankin, who came here from the banks of the River Clyde in Scotland when all this region was virgin forest. He cleared the timber and converted the forest into productive farm land, and built the mills which meant so much to the growth of the neighborhood.

There was first a sawmill—then a grist mill—a tanbark mill for tanning hides of animals—a cooperage where barrels were built—and the last part of the time, when Tweeds owned it, a flint mill used for grinding powder from the beautiful clear white stone found in the hills to the north for making dials.

Across the Creek
Crossing the creek here one sees a bridge fenced off, no longer safe for travel, and closing a road that lead out to the Unami Trail.

And at right angles to this, Hominy Ridge road, now closed just beside Alma Johnson's house at the edge of Louviers.

All this region up to Hop Yards was formerly called Rankin's Banks. Joseph Rankin was a follower of John Knox, a keen student of books and a believer in keeping well informed on topics of the day—a religious man who believed that the country could only prosper as it supported its churches.

Joseph helped to organize Head of Christians Church in the early 1700's.

After many, many generations of his family in this neighborhood, during the Revolutionary War Capt. Thomas Rankin formed a company of soldiers and led them under George Washington. On Rankin fought in the war of 1812 and the name Joseph continued down the line.

One Joseph lived at Rankin Hall when I was a small child.

No Ride
We had been told never to accept a ride offered by a stranger but we knew Miss Marge Rankin who drove out her lane just as we were walking to Millford Cross Roads and when she offered us a ride all the way to the school house we felt thrilled.

She insisted that we come to call on her and one Saturday, dressed in our best Sunday School dress, we walked down one hill and up the other—past Yellow Hall where Miss Hannah Jane Rankin lived—to Rankin Hall to see Miss Marge. Going up the front walk I found a bright new shiny dime I offered it to Miss Marge who said, "Child the dime is the keeper." When I went home I put it in a little box in my top bureau drawer.

My mother then said "why don't you spend it?" I said "Miss Marge did not say the 'spender,' she said the 'keeper.'" After I was grown up I found among my treasures that little lonesome dime. Anyhow I kept it, and as happens to so much that has been kept, I do not know now what became of it.

A totalitarian state is one where everything is compulsory that is not forbidden.

Vincent Insinga of Newark recently purchased a registered Ayrshire dairy cow.

The transaction was recorded in the National Office of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association in Brandon, Vt., where complete records on all registered Ayrshires in the United States have been maintained since 1875.

Because of their ability to produce at a low cost an abundance of milk with an average butterfat test of 4%, the Ayrshire breed of dairy cattle has become increasingly popular with dairymen throughout the country.
