Shawn and Chris Bahm (baseball cap) and their cousin, Samantha, were among the hundreds of children who had Lunch with Santa at Holy Angels church hall last week. The parish's Parent Enrichment Program sponsored the event to help raise money for the church building fund. In addition to a visit and pictures with Santa Claus, parents and children enjoyed lunch, crafts and dancing to music from DJ Rockin' Rodney.

Code approval probable

By MARY PETZAK

ON NEW YEARS' EVE, the much discussed and amended Unified Development Code will no doubt be approved by New Castle County Council.

At 10 a.m. on that day, council is scheduled to vote on whether to accept the code as written. But changes and compromises sought by various interest groups could continue right up until the last minute.

Even as amendments to the draft code, already under scrutiny since October, were released on Dec. 9, meetings were underway to modify it further.

In response to criticism that not enough time has been allowed for the public to review and understand the effect of proposed land use changes, an amendment was added to permit a landowner to petition for a zoning correction after the code passes.

However, this only applies to the landowner in the event it appears an

Vandalism brings new lights

ESTABLISHING community pride and taking back the neighborhood are all goals set by community groups and city officials for Cleveland Heights located at Terrace Drive and Cleveland Avenue in Newark.

The Newark Housing Authority together with the city electric department has been working on installing vandal resistant lighting in the residential area after receiving a grant from the city for that purpose.

Manufactured in California, the new lights will replace existing ones, according to Betty Budd, executive director of the Newark Housing Authority. "They will be taller and therefore illuminate a wider area," Budd said.

Assistant electric director in Newark, Graham Bingham, explained, "The extra height 25 feet above ground instead of 14 feet, will make it difficult for the lights to be knocked out."

Bingham also said the lights will come with bulletproof shields that will fit over the light bulbs and the bulbs will be a higher wattage. "The bullet-

Shopper killed driving on Marrows Road

An 83-year-old Newark woman was killed when she drove her car into the path of another vehicle on Marrows Road on Saturday, Dec. 20 around 1:35 p.m.

According to Newark Police, Ruby D. Vannoy of Ogletown Road in Newark was exiting the College Square Shopping Center onto Marrows Road south of Ogletown Road. Vannoy failed to yield the right of way to 20-year-old Amanda Stahl who was driving south on Marrows Road.

Vannoy was pronounced dead at Christiana Hospital. Stahl of Shenandoah Drive in Newark was treated and released at Christiana Hospital for knee and facial injuries.

POLICE BLOTTER

Malin's Market burglarized

On Dec. 18 around 5:25 a.m. police found that unknown persons had broken into Malin's Market on South College Avenue. Police said the unknown suspects broke the front window of the store with a rock and removed the cash register and the lottery ticket dispensing machine.

Peddler's cash register taken

Sometime between 1 and 2:30 a.m. on Dec. 20 unknown persons broke into Peddlers Pit Stop Liquors on South College Avenue. Police said the front window was damaged and the suspects removed an undisclosed amount of money and the cash register.

Loud music on Julie Lane

Newark police report that on Dec. 15 around 10:55 p.m. they responded to a noise complaint on Julie Lane. The officers could clearly hear the sounds of bass and drums across the street when they arrived. The 25-year-old resident was cited for a noise violation.

Pellets fired at Winner Ford

Employees at Winner Ford on Cleveland Avenue told police unknown persons shot pellets at the business on Dec. 16 around 6 p.m. breaking a six by six foot window. A 37-year-old woman was sitting behind the window at the time but was not injured.

Car damaged in Newark High lot

Sometime between 6 and 7:45 p.m. on Dec. 15 unknown persons damaged a 1995 Nissan Maxima parked at the lot at Newark High School. According to police, someone struck the front and rear doors on the passenger side causing small dents. The rear door on the driver's side was also "keyed" causing paint to be scraped off.

Apartment residents cited for noise

Police cited two residents of an apartment on Center Street on Dec. 18 around 12:30 a.m. for noise. Officers said the residents had the TV playing a live music concert which could be heard in other parts of the apartment building. The residents were argumentative and uncooperative, according to police.

University changes home purchase plan

UNIVERSITY of Delaware Trustees have scrapped the school's previous Mortgage Program for faculty and professional employees in favor of a new Home Purchase Assistance Program.

According to Maxine Colm, University vice president for administration, the new plan is easier for the university to administer. "In the Mortgage Program, the school actually underwrote a 30-year mortgage," said Colm. "It was a lot of time and money."

Under the purchase assistance plan, eligible employees will receive a one-time $5,000 payment at settlement on a primary residence. "This is a tool to encourage recruitment of faculty and professionals from across the country in places like Michigan or California," said Colm.

Colm said University staff discussed the change with faculty before scrapping the old plan. "They are very comfortable with the change," she said.

The existing Mortgage program will be discontinued effective July 1, 1998, except for all eligible employees hired prior to that date. These persons have the option of utilizing either the current program or the one-time purchase assistance.

Colm stressed that the 18-month-old Neighborhood Mortgage Assistance Program, open to any University employee, will continue to be in effect.

"That program is very user-friendly," said Colm, "and the new purchase assistance plan actually enhances it."

Instituted in February 1996, the university offers $5,000 interest-free loans to any full-time employee who purchases a home in designated neighborhoods in Newark. If the employee maintains the home as a primary residence, the loans are forgiven at the rate of $1,000 per year.

Employees who leave the university within two years from their date of settlement have to repay the balance of the loan.

"Eligible employees can actually take advantage of both the one-time assistance and the Neighborhood Mortgage program," said Colm, "resulting in a gift of $10,000 toward the purchase of a primary residence if they live in it for five years."

DelChapel cleanup delayed once again

AN ORDER entered by Newark Judge Loreto Rufo in March to demolish buildings and clean up the DelChapel Associates site on South Chapel Street received another setback this week.

According to Newark building director Junie Mayle, the trial for DelChapel's appeal of that Order was scheduled to begin on Dec. 18. However, Thomas Ruger, co-owner of the former Continental Fibre/Budd Company property, filed last minute motions with the court.

"The city has until Jan. 10, 1998, to file answers to the motions," said Mayle on Monday. "Then the (superior court) judge will set a trial date again."

Mayle said the repeated delays are very frustrating.

On March 5 of this year, Judge Rufo found DelChapel in violation of the terms of probation indicated in his previous Order of June 5, 1996. Rufo said at that time the demolition plan and schedule of two years proposed by Ruger was unacceptable. Rufo wanted the site cleaned up and cleared by September 1997.

DelChapel was also ordered to keep the fence around the property secure, maintain No Trespassing signs, and repair and maintain all possible points of entrance into the structures.

The owners refused to comply with the demolition Order, and instead filed the appeal.

A 2.4 acre portion of the former industrial site is listed for sale. However, despite discussion with city officials, no plans have been filed for development there.

Architect Gunter Shaffer, chair of Downtown Newark's design committee, believes the entire property could be developed into student housing.

"There is not enough housing near the University of Delaware, for students who cannot, or do not wish to be, accommodated on campus," noted Shaffer at a recent civic meeting. "The rest don't disappear. They end up primarily on Elkton Road, causing more sprawl and traffic."

Shaffer said housing on South Chapel Street at the former factory site could mean more pedestrians and retail sales in the downtown area.

"Except for the Brownfields issues, people would want to live there," said Shaffer, referring to contamination on the property. "It's idealistic, maybe naive, but I believe housing for as many as 1,000 students could go there."

According to Shaffer, at four to eight two-story units per acre, the site could hold up to a thousand people with ease; but the city would have to allow increased density.

Shaffer's concept would include use of a neo-traditional zoning with townhouses or duplexes and even corner stores. "There are ways to design so different types of housing are compatible with each other," said Shaffer.

Other benefits of the site, said Shaffer, include a possible greenway and bike access to White Clay Creek State Park along the old railroad line. "On the West Coast, communities have been doing this for years," said Shaffer. "If the city would help out with zoning and investment in lighting, landscaping and parks, those dollars could come back when the tax base increases."

Shaffer said it was not unusual to get payback of such investments in five years or so. "Increasing the number of units per acre, would also make the asking price of the property more reasonable," noted Shaffer.

Members of the Old Newark Civic League said they would also like the University of Delaware to provide funds and help for redevelopment of the site as student housing.

Vandalism brings street lights to Cleveland Heights

► LIGHTS, from 1

proof shields were necessary because the bulbs were being shot out or smashed," said Bingham.

"It was very difficult and costly to keep replacing the lights," said Corporal David Martin with the Newark Police Department. "And this will be a more cost-effective plan in the long run."

Newark Police Chief William Hogan said the department hoped the lights would be a deterrent to the drug dealing found along the streets there in the past.

Bingham said he expects the lights to be installed right after the first of the year.

Last year, the police department also directed attention on the development with the Cleveland Heights Intensive Patrol program.

"The main focus is to have high visibility in the neighborhood to prevent crimes," Martin said. "The intent of the program is to get the residents to take an active role in taking back their neighborhood and to establish community pride."

Hogan added, "The police have invested their resources to make sure Cleveland Heights is safe."

Martin said support from the residents and more communication between them and the police has been beneficial. "We encourage them to call us whenever they see any suspicious acts."

Hogan said the beginnings of a civic association for the neighborhood are also in the works for this spring. "The civic association would set up a communication network within the community and help establish a close relationship between the residents and police," Hogan said. "Nothing works better in a neighborhood than when the residents and the police come together."

On Monday night, Newark Police together with the Marine Corps Reserve, brought Santa Claus and Toys for Tots to kids in Cleveland Heights and other Newark neighborhoods in their annual holiday effort.

Children in Cleveland Heights will also benefit from a scout program developed by the Boy Scouts of America and funded by city grant money. The Urban Scouting Initiative is designed to assist at-risk youths to come to terms with conflicts and crises of growing up, in a sometimes hostile environment, according to Frederick Glock of the Boy Scouts of America. Special topics covered in the program are drug abuse, child abuse, illiteracy and crime.

Despite these city initiatives, an effort to remove trash from the neighborhood has not proved so successful.

Newark Police Department applied for a grant this year in order to clean up the neighborhood, but received no money from the city for the program.

"The purpose of the Cleveland Heights clean-up initiative program was to do just that, clean up the neighborhood," Martin said.

According to the grant proposal submitted by Officer Curtis Davis, the program would have helped improve the appearance of the development by reducing or eliminating visible waste, trash and discarded car parts within the development.

The money would also be used for clean-up of the community park, demolition of a storage shed and removal of dangerous obstacles.

"If you clean up a neighborhood and make it nice, the residents will take pride in their community," Martin said, adding that the department will most likely be submitting their proposal again in the future.

Final hearing on Unified Development Code is lengthy

Over 300 people attend meeting

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

THE PLANNING Board of New Castle County held its final public meeting concerning the proposed Unified Development Code (UDC) on Dec. 16.

The council chamber in the Louis L. Redding City-Council Building was full, with over 300 people attending the meeting which lasted for six hours.

Citizens in favor of the code were given a chance to address the board first.

The president of Pike Creek Valley Civic League, praised the board for allowing civic input. "Too many times, in the past, civic associations and umbrella groups have been left out," he said. "But this time we have been allowed to make a positive contribution."

A spokesman from the Barley Mills Civic Committee said the UDC will insure orderly progress in the county.

Representatives from various environmental groups, including the Society of Natural History in Delaware and Delaware Nature Society, spoke in favor of the code's protection of environmental resources.

Tony Marchio, School Superintendent of Appoquinimink School District, spoke in favor of a provision in the code which requires adequate space in nearby schools before developers are permitted to build.

The board had fought to prevent a loop-hole in the code which would have eliminated that provision.

"Since 1989 (the Appoquinimink district) has had a 75 percent increase in student population," Marchio said.

Marchio said the code can help the school districts by preventing the continued growth of enrollment. "We are not here in opposition to growth," Marchio said. "We are here for responsible growth and that is something we have not seen in a long time in this county."

Seven citizens spoke in opposition to the provisions of the code regarding horses. "Horse ownership is being discouraged," said Janet Binkley of Farm House Lanes near Bear.

The code would require horse owners to have four acres of land, rather than the one acre now required. Also, owners would need a six-foot fence; be required to label any horse operation commercial if it brings in over $1,000 in revenue; and limit special events to six each year.

"What is classified as a special event?" said Leona Young from Middletown. "Is a special event giving a child riding lessons?"

As in earlier public meetings, opposition to the code came from developers on the issues of sewers and impact fees connected to land value.

UDC approval is expected

error was made. Adjoining landowners, who may be dismayed by new uses in their vicinity, do not have the same right.

The requirement that a school certify that there is capacity for new development was amended to only apply to major subdivisions. Retirement communities are also exempt.

The Traffic Impact Study requirements, critical to linking land use and transportation, were amended to reduce the level of service needed to develop from C to D within a sewer service area.

At present, development cannot proceed in areas with level of service F or failing intersections until DelDOT or the developers themselves contract for improvements to raise the level of service to a D. Intersections with a D grading still have noticeable rush hour congestion and an average delay of 25 to 40 seconds, according to DelDOT.

The decision to continue the current law is among those drafted to encourage sewer hookups because of concerns about failing septic systems in developments.

According to the county executive's staff, it costs a homeowner with a failing septic system $6,500 to hook into the county sewer system. More critically, it costs the county $12,000.

In the developments of Marabou and Rolling Meadows, taxpayers are paying $1,167,000 and $600,000 respectively to upgrade failed systems. Other additions to the county sewer system due to failed septic systems bring current costs to over $4 million.

In an effort to recoup some of this cost in the future, the county also added a septic elimination fee with the recent amendments.

The present draft of the code will require a minimum density of one dwelling per two acres in subdivision for on-site septic use. In resource protection areas, only one dwelling per three acres will be allowed.

Outside subdivisions, lots not served by public water must be no less than one acre, while those hooked into the public sewers may be three-quarters of an acre.

County concerns about ground-water pollution and costs from failed septic systems is so great, that County Executive Thomas Gordon added incentives to bring already approved development into the fold.

Developers with plans previously approved for septic systems would be permitted to build on lots as small as one-half acre if they refile to use the sewer system instead. Plans already filed are exempt from the impending code changes, and developers taking advantage of the sewer provision would continue to be exempt from other requirements like school capacities, roads and impact fees for services.

Reportedly, there are more than 5,000 homes approved for development with septic systems in southern New Castle County.

Other recent amendments addressed developers and Maintenance Organizations. The property owner or developer must remain a member of the Maintenance Organization as long as they own any lot in the subdivision. Further, they are responsible for maintaining community open space until it is transferred to the corporation and control of the corporation transferred to the community's homeowners.

In response to claims from home buyers that they were not informed about a subdivision Maintenance Corporation before they took up residence in a community, developers are now obliged to do so prior to settlement.

The purchasers must sign a statement indicating they have received a copy of the maintenance declaration and bylaws.

County residents still wishing to review the proposed code changes and rezoning maps can do so at the Department of Land Use, 87 Reads Way in Corporate Commons near New Castle.

Christina District schools welcome end-of-year donations

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

CHARITABLE donations are a tax deductible consideration at this time of year that schools in the Christina School District would be glad to accept. However, Christina has a set criteria to decide which donations will be accepted and what school program they will be used for.

So, who decides if a donation is accepted? "That depends on the value," said Dr. Capes Riley, assistant superintendent for planning and facilities.

According to Riley, if the total value of a donation is $500 or less, it may be accepted by the appropriate school principal or school program manager. If the value is over $500, but less than $10,000, it may be accepted by the School Superintendent. The Christina School Board must review the donations over $10,000 and vote whether to accept it.

Criteria for acceptance include:

-Donations may not involve significant costs to the district for installation or maintenance, nor any financial commitment of district funds.

-Donations must be appropriate and have a purpose consistent with the district policies.

-Donations may not place any restrictions on the district unless specifically approved by the Christina School Board.

-Donations must not initiate a program unless specifically approved by the Board.

-Donations of equipment and material must comply with safety standards of the district.

Riley said the person making the donation can make a suggestion or recommendation as to how to use the money or material. "However, (the suggestions or recommendations) have to be consistent with guidelines of the district," Riley said.

Riley said he had never denied a donation. Others in the district have.

In January 1996, Glasgow High School refused a donation of $950. The donation came from Jim Baeurle owner of the Stone Balloon, a bar on Main Street in Newark.

The money came from a non-alcohol teen night held at the bar. Baeurle wanted to hold one teen night a month, with some of the money going to local schools. However, Glasgow High School declined the donation on the ground that it was not a school-sponsored event and was beyond the immediate control of school officials.

Charles Hughes, principal of Etta J. Wilson Elementary School, said he also has refused donations.

"It's a thin line," Hughes said. "It's hard to say we can't use something when people want to do something good for the school."

According to Hughes, if a cash donation is made to his school he allows the Parent Teacher Association to accept and distribute the money.

However, he decides about material donations. "If the school can't use it, I try to be diplomatic about it, but I would deny it," Hughes said.

Riley noted all donations accepted by schools or the district become the sole property of the district.

Newark Arts Alliance plans on painting the town

Alliance benefits from city grant

By MEGHAN AFTOSMIS

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

ABOTANICAL flower garden, surrealist motorists or friends walking down Main Street — one of these scenes may be coming to a wall near you as early as June.

The Newark Arts Alliance recently received a grant from the city of Newark in part to complete two murals on Main Street. One mural was planned for the side of the Abbott's Shoe Repair building owned by Eric Mayer, according to Terry Foreman, Newark Arts Alliance staff person.

Artists will be asked to submit sketches of possible murals which a panel, including the owner of the building, will review, Foreman said. The artist selected by the panel will be paid $500 to paint the mural.

"The idea was to create imagery that is creative and interesting," Foreman said.

"It will definitely be an arty thing."

In their proposal to the city, the Arts Alliance indicated three theme ideas for the painted mural. One theme would depict a group of friends talking and laughing as they walk together down Main Street.

Another is of an artistic garden mural showing a garden courtyard scene. The third theme is of surrealist motorists driving invisible cars, holding steering wheels, and turning and signaling with their hands.

Part of the purpose of this mural is to attract attention to the entrance of the Newark Parking Authority lot behind the shoe store building. "A lot of people don't realize there is parking back there. The mural could subtly suggest that there is parking without being tacky," explained Foreman.

Transforming a concrete wall into a beautiful work of art, the mural would also make the area look less hard, Foreman added.

Mayer, approached about this idea almost a year ago, said recently he has changed his mind and may use the wall for one of his tenants as advertising space.

Artist Bernard Felch, who has also done work for the Delaware Art Museum and the University of Delaware, will design the tiled mural which does not have a possible site yet.

Felch will hold a free two-day workshop, open to the public, in order to plan and create the design for the mural. Those attending the workshop will be asked to participate in completing the mural along with Felch, Foreman said.

A much more abstract work, this mural will depict the diverse faces of the Newark community, according to NAA fundraising chair Sally March. The goal is to have both projects finished by June, said Foreman.

The grant money will also go towards decorating Main Street and the Newark Shopping Center with barrels planted with flowers and vines. Small signs will be placed in the barrels with poetry or sayings on them, Foreman said.

Unified Development Code should be approved

READY OR NOT, New Castle County Council will vote to approve the Unified Development Code on Dec. 31.

We can't say that more time isn't need to study the first comprehensive changes to county land use in over 40 years. Even members of civic organizations who routinely review such plans throughout the year have complained about its complexity.

Average citizens interested in discovering how the new code will affect their property and their lives find the two-inch thick document plus amendments exceedingly daunting.

But we also can't say that another month or year will assure the perfect document.

County planners and officials have already produced 11 pages of revisions as a result of months of public meetings and hearings on the plan.

Those people who seriously want to read and understand the document have tried to do so. But some people will wake up and pay attention only when the changes go into effect and have a direct impact on their lives.

Delay at this point will only risk more ill-planned development above and below the C and D Canal. County council has said the new code can be amended later if needed.

Let's hold them to that and move ahead before another year, or decade, goes by in what ifs.

And the manner in which we live, and that in which we ought to live, are things so wide asunder, that he who quits the one to betake himself of the other is more likely to destroy than to save himself; since any one who would act up to a perfect standard of goodness in everything, must be ruined among so many who are not good.

IT IS DISTINCTLY OUT of harmony with the spirit of the holiday season to suggest that this quotation from Niccolo Machiavelli's early 16th century book, "The Prince", is as applicable today as it was 500 years ago.

The princes of contemporary society, whatever their vocation, are as ruthless and unprincipled as the Italian noblemen of Machiavelli's day, and their behavior mirrors the philosophy he espoused. Let's recall a few incidents of the last few months, all of which have received coverage in the major media.

We have been treated to a Congressional hearing in which the CEOs of almost every major tobacco company in America swore that they had no knowledge of any harmful effects of cigarette smoking. Within a short time, we learned that not only were they aware of harmful effects, but had been informed of them by their own researchers 40 years earlier in reports they had promptly suppressed.

When independent counsel Kenneth Starr requested records of work Mrs. Clinton had performed for the Rose law firm, he (and we) were initially told that the files had mysteriously disappeared. When they magically reappeared on a table in a White House hallway, no one could explain how they got there and Mrs. Clinton, widely recognized as a brilliant attorney, could barely remember the names of the clients for whom she had worked, let alone the specifics of their cases.

On the local scene, one of our state's most influential Republican leaders has been identified as the proponent of an election year ploy that Machiavelli surely would have admired. He offered to finance a scheme to lure Jesse Jackson into a 1970s presidential campaign and thereby draw votes away from the principal Democratic candidate. John Rollins' objective, we are told, was to ensure the election of his friend Richard M. Nixon, the incumbent.

When questions recently arose about Vice President Al Gore's visit to a Buddhist temple in California, a White House spokesman stated, without blinking an eye, that Mr. Gore had no idea that the monks with whom he met intended to thrust campaign contributions into his outstretched hand. This explanation reflects either some very sloppy work by the Vice President's staff or is one of the year's least believable disinformation campaigns.

Similarly misleading statements are delivered almost daily by the U. S. Postal Service. One official-looking envelope which arrived recently bore the words, "1997 Benefit Notification prepared for" and my name and address appeared in the glassine window. Upon inspection, the contents proved to be less beneficial to me than to the insurance company that had sent it.

Publishers Clearing House, the ballyhooed maker of millionaires through annual giveaways, has sent more than 40 advertisements since January urging me to purchase magazines and other merchandise. I have responded to none of these appeals, yet a November letter assured me that I had received it because my outstanding record placed me in a "select" group of customers receiving this "special" mailing. Since several of my neighbors with different purchasing records received the identical mailing, I con-

OUT OF THE ATTIC

Generations of Newark children confided their wishes to Santa Claus each December in his booth at the Newark Shopping Center. In 1986, seven-month-old Ashley Snyder didn't seem to mind sitting on Santa's lap for the very first time. Due to the closing of Woolworth's in the shopping center, the traditional visit was interrupted this year.

PAGES FROM THE PAST

• News as it appeared in the Newark Post throughout the years

■ Dec. 27, 1922 Merry Christmas!

The Star over Bethlehem is the light of the world. Through the groping darkness of the Centuries and the shadows of History, the Ideals expressed and lived by the One whose birth we celebrate, are the supreme Hopes of civilization. Truly, Emerson was right when he said that an Institution was the lengthened shadow of one man, for Christmas, though Pagan in conception, is the Birthday of Christian civilization. And so long as we remember and celebrate that day, we need have no morbid fear of tomorrow.

■ Dec. 27 1972 U of D begins construction on insect research building

Ground breaking ceremonies were held Dec. 14 for a new U.S. Department of Agriculture Beneficial Insects Laboratory at the U of D. The 9,000 square foot building will be built by the university and leased to the Agriculture Research Service of the USDA.

Delaware has benefited from the university's past cooperation with the USDA Laboratory through the development and distribution of a parasitic insect to control the alfalfa weevil. Successful results from research on the European corn borer could lead to control of that insect on 200,000 acres of corn produced in Delaware.

Workers can earn more and still receive SS

Starting in 1973, people who are working while getting social security benefits can earn more but never lose more than $1 in benefits for each $2 earned, according to Myron Milbouer, social security district manager in Wilmington. "Under the new social security law, social security payments will be reduced by $1 for every $2 earned over $2,100 in a year."

■ Dec. 25, 1992 Dear Santa... Here's what local kids are asking for this year

Dear Santa Claus,
I know it is a little early, but I would like to tell you my most important gifts and my not so important gifts. So, here they are!
My important: I would like to have my boyfriend back and if not his phone number and address. My daddy to stop smoking, my most important thing. To see Santa Claus again, last time I saw you I was little and got scared. Please come.

Other gifts: a jeep of my size to ride. Another snake for my snakes new friend. A tree house that I can fit in. A big trampoline and last of all a balance beam.

Thank you for your time and as you say Ho! Ho!

Love Nicole of Newark
Dear Santa,

I want to ask you some questions. 1. Are you really Santa? 2. Do you really get the presents? 3. Do you really write to me? 4. There's no such thing as Santa so who gives me the presents? 5. Do you have elves? 6. Do you really have reindeer?

Please tell the truth!
From Sara of Newark
Dear Santa,

I've been pretty good this year. Every once in a while me & my sister had a spat, but besides that it's been a perfect year.

The only thing I want for Christmas is a radio-controlled airplane or a mountain bike and a nice coating of snow for my mom.

This year could you please be a little more quiet on your landings?

Yours truly, Sean of Newark

Remember the true role of the court

By WILLIAM S. SESSIONS

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

IN THE MEDIA spotlight of high public interest trials, such as the Massachusetts au pair case where all parties issued multiple statements, day in and day out, and people picketed outside the Cambridge courthouse, it is important to remember the true role of the court and the judge who presides over the trial.

The true role of the judge is not to be a caricature in a made-for-television sitcom, where the viewer tunes in for entertainment and then clicks to another channel. The true role of a judge is not to be reduced to a 25-second sound bite on the evening news. The true role of a judge is not to be shaped by pressure groups promoting a particular outcome.

Rather, the true role of a trial or appellate judge is to uphold the rule of law and ensure that justice is done. This principle is at the core of our democracy. This critically serious business requires that a judge protect the rights of all participants in a trial as well as the public interest. This principle is what has made the American legal system the most copied judicial system model in emerging democracies around the world.

The judicial process requires time to unfold. It is deliberative and thoughtful, designed to ensure that all issues are carefully weighed and considered. It is designed to produce the truth. Without this careful and deliberate process, under the rule of law, the strong fabric that binds Americans together would fray and democracy would be weakened.

Judicial decision making, however, does not occur in a vacuum. Our judicial system is at work in the jury trial process when a jury considers the evidence and arrives at a verdict on the facts. The system is at work when a judge conducts the trial and reviews the verdict of the jury in the light of the law, and again when the appellate court reviews the decision of the trial court. This dynamic system of judge, jury and appellate review is what makes American's judicial system so unique and effective.

As the world reacts to the decision of Massachusetts Superior Court Judge Hiller Zobel, Americans should understand that judges' decisions are not determined by the glare of the camera lights, nor as Judge Zobel put it, "by a plebiscite," nor by partisan pressure brought to bear on the jury or the judge.

An independent judiciary is a necessary, vital and irreplaceable constant in the American Democracy, which continues to successfully evolve after more than 200 years.

That's our American system — and it works.

William S. Sessions is the chairman of the American Bar Association Special Committee on Judicial Independence. He is a former federal judge and former head of the FBI.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

State Rep. Pamela S. Maier
R-Drummond Hill

As a college and high school level instructor, I have been asked by fellow teachers and public school parents to offer guidance concerning classroom discussions of religion during the holidays. The concern has been that some students are not being properly educated about holidays like Christmas and Thanksgiving due in part to teachers' misperceptions about how to handle religious topics in public school.

While I understand and respect the desire to refrain from violating the constitutional separation of church and state, let me assure you that teaching the history of Christmas, Passover, Hanukkah, Kwanzaa and other holidays does not violate the Constitution. The court has spoken in favor of one's right to explain the religious history of holidays. Religious discussions and the use of religious symbols such as a cross, Menorah, Star of David, creche or other symbols that are part of religious holidays are permitted as teaching aids provided they are displayed as examples of the cultural and religious heritage of the holiday and are temporary in nature.

I join with school parents in my district and around the state in support of preserving holiday history and meaning. It is my hope that fellow educators will seek appropriate guidance, rather than shy away from, explaining the religious history of holidays to our children.

cluded that I had been told two lies. I neither have an exceptional record as a purchaser nor have I been accorded special consideration by the company. I do suspect, however, that I still rank high on its sucker list.

There can be no question that much has changed since the 16th century. What hasn't changed is human nature. Machiavelli could be commenting on contemporary America when he writes, "But men remain so simple, and governed so absolutely by their present needs, that he who wishes to deceive will never fail in finding willing dupes."

Perhaps most irritating is the fact that we know we are being duped, but lack the power to do anything about it.

NEWARK OUTLOOK

The perfect holiday gift

■ This weekly feature on the Lifestyle page is authored by the staff of the Newark-based Cooperative Extension Service.

IF YOU ARE anything like I am, you still have some gifts yet to buy. Our tree is in the stand but very bare at the moment. Every year it seems a little bit harder to finish all the preparations for this wonderful holiday. Sometimes, the rush to get it all done and find those perfect gifts causes us to neglect an important gift to ourselves and our families...safety.

At a press conference on December 15th, the US Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) reported that in 1996, toy related injuries led to 13 deaths and more than 140,000 hospital emergency room visits nationwide. Deaths are always a tragedy, especially when they are preventable. Chairman of the CPSC, Ann Brown, cautioned consumers, "It is important for shoppers to take the time to read age-appropriate labels when choosing toys. This information can save a child's life." The CPSC published a new pamphlet, "Toy Safety Shopping Tips." The pamphlet should be available in stores but is also available on CPSC's web site, <www.cpsc.gov>. Basically, toys need to be developmentally appropriate to suit the skills, abilities, and interests of the child.

Toy safety is not the only item that needs our attention during the holidays. The CPSC also issued a press release recalling curtains-style holiday lights that may cause an electrical shock. The 1.5 million sets of curtain-style, indoor/outdoor lights have electrical wiring that can pull out from the splicing connector of the lights, producing an electrocution hazard. To check to see if you have any of these lights, check for the names, "Curtain," "Icicle," and "Wonder Lights". These miniature lights come in strings of clear and multicolored bulbs, and have white or green wires. They were sold in strings of 100 or 150 lights, in boxes containing one string, and sets of three or more strings. According to Underwriters Laboratories (UL), unauthorized holographic labels are on each string or near the plug. Consumers should stop using these lights immediately, and return them to where they were purchased, or contact CISC's toll-free hotline at 800-638-2772.

Jennie Lynch and Kathy Johnson, both of Newark, opened their resale business on Old Baltimore Pike in May.

'Lucy and Ethel' open new resale business on Old Baltimore Pike

By PEG BROADWATER

NEWARK POST CONTRIBUTING WRITER

MOST OF US HAVE seen I Love Lucy reruns and laughed as Lucy and Ethel got themselves in and out of predicaments. A new business on Old Baltimore Pike called Lucy and Ethel's Craft and Resale Shop mimics some of the show's hairbrained ideas that worked.

Jennie Lynch (Lucy) and Kathy Johnson (Ethel), both of Newark, opened their business in May. That was just two months after Lynch came up with the idea at her husband's prodding, because she was always doing crafts at home. She previously had a cleaning business for nine years so the thought of another business was not far fetched.

The name Lucy for Lynch originally started while running her cleaning business. She was never afraid to take on big jobs and would sometimes get herself and her staff in over their heads. But, they would tackle the job anyway. One of Lynch's workers began calling her Lucy after one of those incidents.

Lynch originally thought of going into business alone but then thought of Johnson, her "crafty" creative neighbor. Johnson had never thought of her own business before. "We talked about the possibility of a business and then I went to see my brother in Florida," said Johnson.

Lynch was home buzzing with plans when she received a fruit basket from Florida signed "Ethel." She knew then Johnson was interested. Lynch was on her doorstep the day Johnson got back from vacation.

Everything snowballed from there. The property they wanted became their's even though there were several others interested in it. After signing the lease, they got busy on the building which needed a lot of work and clean up.

"Neither of us are afraid to work or afraid to do something we haven't done before," said Lynch, although she admits they could be more businesslike.

"We knew we had to change gears."

JENNIE LYNCH
CO-OWNER OF LUCY AND ETHEL'S

One of the first things recommended the Delaware Small Business Development Center is writing a business plan which Lynch and Johnson did not do.

Johnson said they will be contacting the SBDC to help them set up some things that probably should have been done from the start. "We just didn't have time," said Johnson as both ladies laugh. "We're definitely going to look into it."

"That's the way a lot of the stuff has gone," said Lynch. "We end up laughing so hard in predicaments."

She admits she is the one with zany ideas and Johnson really is like Ethel from the show. "We are a good balance for one another," added Johnson.

They are expanding to a building next door which will be called "Ricky and Fred's." More room is needed to display the overflowing inventory ranging from knickknacks to household items and furniture of the past, present and future.

Although their whirlwind business venture has exceeded their expectations, Lynch said, "We wouldn't recommend anyone doing what we did."

They started off the business with 20 consignors. After three months they went strictly with items they obtained through auctions, estate sales and sometimes donations. "The consignors were making more than we were. We knew we had to change gears," they explained.

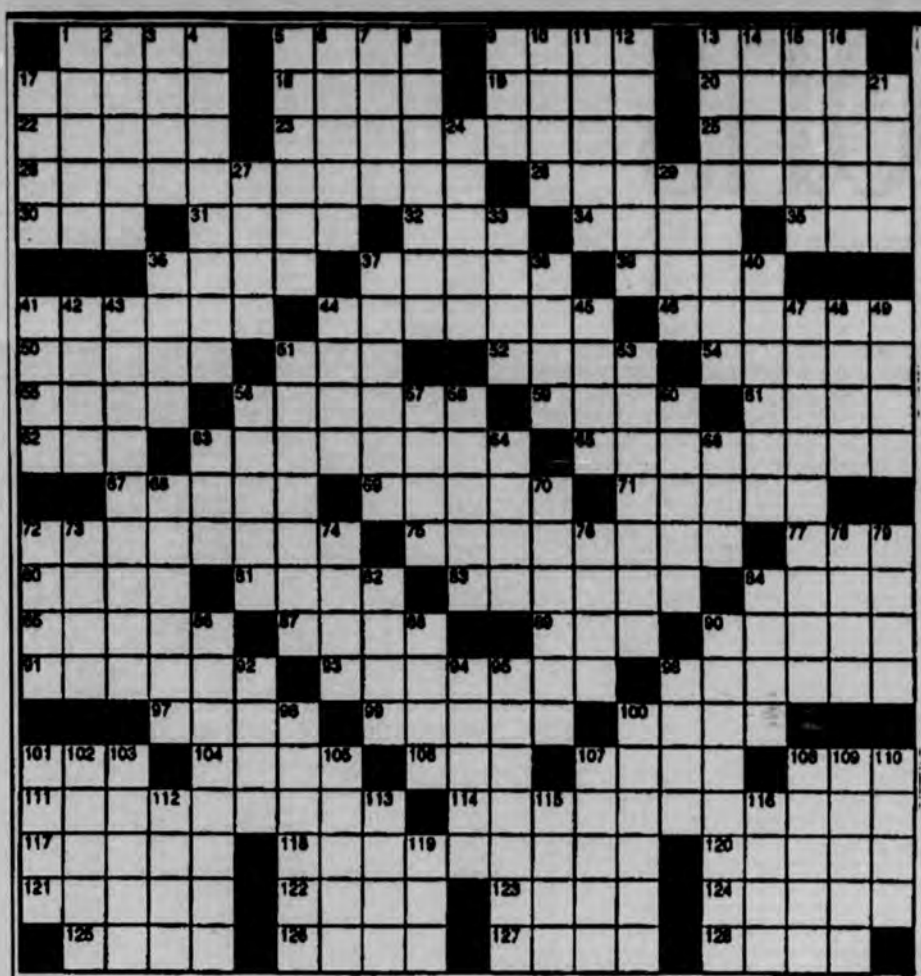

Meeting another dealer at an auction proved to be just what the duo needed. He helped them learn the ropes of the auction circuit which can be tough. They are learning as they go and have books to help them identify various items.

"We like helping people and those who are just setting up housekeeping," said Lynch. "The best part of the business is the hunt for items for our customers."

According to John Osoniach, director of training, the Delaware SBDC has many resources available to the small business owner. In addition to computers and reference material, they hold classes for a nominal fee in their facility in Wilmington. Close to 4,600 people have taken advantage of the free services. For information, call 571-1555.

By James C. McLaren

Now back home at North Pole
For a leisurely stroll;
Elves and Santa were tried of sleighing.
Reindeer loll in their stalls
After slippery falls.
What a joy all this positive neighing!

Santa's Christmas was weird:
Candy canes stuck to beard,
Sneezed in flue, then stubbed toe on a brick.
His reindeer were sassy
Elves noisily brassy.
Fewer Ho-Hos from jolly Saint Nick.

Why do toys face a happy future?
They're not tied to the present.

When does a festive log feel strange?
When he makes a fuel of himself.

The lack of snow need never deter one's festive zestfulness.

At holiday times it is not imperfect for a grammarian to feel tense.

Sloan has given the University works on paper by 19th-century European artists and American artists. She has also been active in working with the University's degree candidates.

The University's Medal of Distinction is presented to individuals who have made humanitarian, cultural, intellectual or scientific contributions to society, have achieved noteworthy success in their professions or have given significant service to the community, state or region.

Helen Sloan receives the University of Delaware's Medal of Distinction from University of Delaware President David Roselle.

Some last minute holiday gift ideas

► OUTLOOK, from 8

tions we need to be aware of.

For a quick reminder, here is a short holiday checklist: artificial trees should have dust removed to avoid making it more flammable; check a live tree to make sure it is in a sturdy water-holding stand and full of water; examine all lights for cracked bulbs and exposed wires; unplug lights, window candles and other decorations before retiring at night or leaving for the evening; avoid using the fireplace as an incinerator for holiday wrappings; keep stockings well away from the heat and flame of a fire; after holiday parties check your home for smoldering cigarettes; be sure to check smoke detectors and fire extinguishers monthly.

Most importantly—make sure you and your family buckle up properly every time you ride in the car. The value of this season for me is having the time to relax and enjoy the company of family, friends and co-workers.

Taking time to think of safety will help ensure their company. Blessings of the season to all.

Spartans win Governor's Trophy

Blair wins overall tourney

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

ST. MARK'S won the Governors trophy, given to the top team from Delaware, but overall the Spartan's performance in the Delaware Mid-Atlantic Wrestling Classic may be considered a little disappointing.

"We thought we would be doing much better at this point," said Spartan head coach Steve Bastianelli, prior to semi-final action. "If we could wrestle this thing again tomorrow I think you would see a different result."

St. Mark's was only able to qualify three wrestlers for semi-final action, a feat Bastianelli described as disappointing.

The Mid-Atlantic, or "The Beast of the East", is the number one rated high school wrestling tournament in the country.

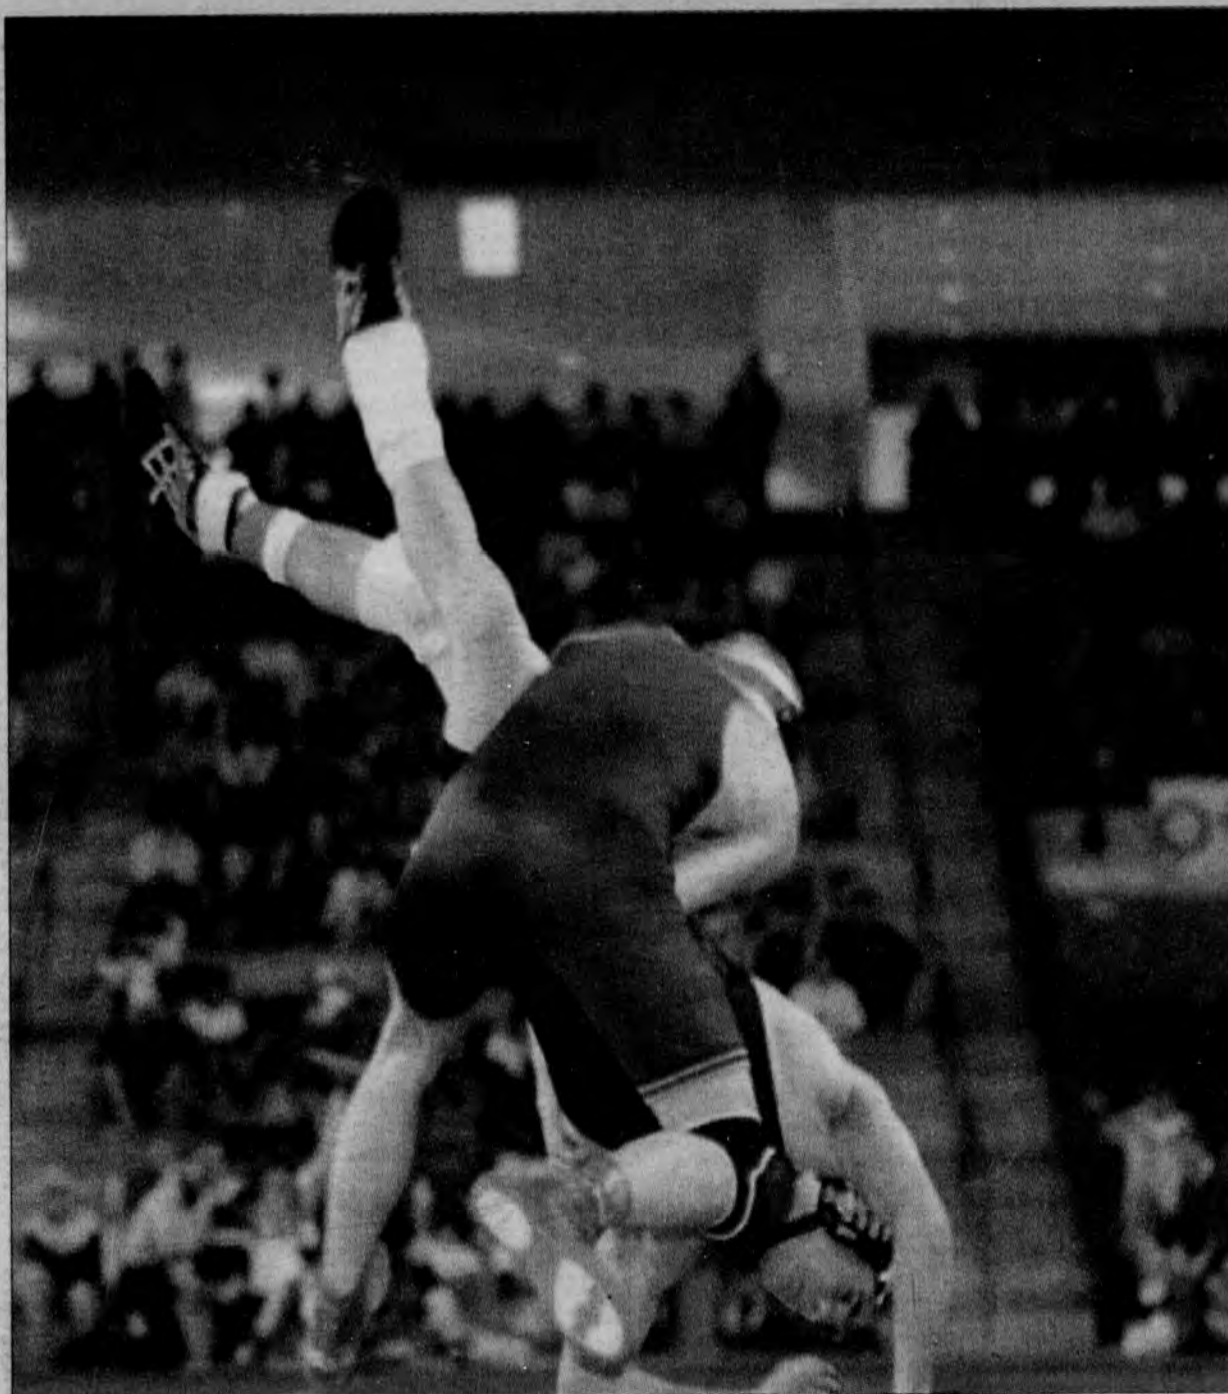

Thirteen of the thirty-five teams were ranked among the nation's elite. Still, St. Mark's had high aspirations going into the tournament. Only Blair Academy from New Jersey, and Easton from Pennsylvania had higher national ratings than the Spartans going into the tournament.

Spartan wrestlers Bruce Kelly 119, Justin Jackson 160, and John Testa Hwt., were joined by Hodgson's Pete Laucirica as the only local semi-finalist.

Kelly and Testa would advance to the finals. However, Kelly would be the only local wrestler coming away with a championship medal.

Kelly got to the final by winning a hard fought match over Jeff Albano from Methacton, Pa., 5-4.

Laucirica met Northampton's (Pa.) Tommy Rohn in his 135 semi-final match. Laucirica was never able to recover from an early roll move which gave Rohn four points, on a take down and two back points. Rohn won the match 9-4. Laucirica lost both of his consolation matches and wound up taking sixth place.

"Pete [Laucirica] met some tough kids," Hodgson head coach Jerry Lamey said. "He has some moves that didn't go his way. He didn't get the breaks. When your in with good competition often you have to create your own breaks, but, for what ever reason, he just didn't get them today."

Jackson seemed to be in control of his semi-final appointment, Derek Lipoli, of Great Bridge, Va., leading 2-0 after one period. However, in the second period, Lipoli, wrestling from the top position, was able to turn Jackson and record a questionable pin.

"I didn't think he was down,"

Bastianelli said. "Justin Jackson has been wrestling a long time. When an experienced wrestler is being pinned he usually makes a panic turn, Justin did not do that. I hope he can rebound and take third."

Jackson did rebound to take third, beating his final two appointments by a combined score of 18-3.

Glasgow girls off to good start

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

FACING ITS TOUGHEST test of the season, the Glasgow High girls basketball team wasted no time in displaying that it will be a team to contend with all season long.

The host Dragons outscored Alexis I. DuPont by five points in the first quarter on their way to a 45-26 victory Saturday afternoon. The win improved the Dragons' record to 4-0 on the young season.

"It was really a good win for us," Glasgow coach Larry Walker said. "We played very well; a very disciplined game."

Glasgow had easily rolled over its first three opponents of the season (57-14 over McKean, 66-14 over Wilmington and 52-23 over Dickinson). The Tigers, however, posed a much more serious threat.

A.I. has perennially had a good team and was coming off a big win over traditional power Ursuline.

"This was a big test for us," Walker said. "Our starters hadn't played more than a half in any of our first three games. We thought this would be a hard game and I am really pleased with the way we played."

"We thought it would be a much closer game than this."

One reason for the Dragons' success was their defense.

A.I. scored 10 points in the first quarter, but was held to eight, six and two in the three remaining quarters. The Tigers' top scorer Deanna Morris was held to just four points on just four free throws.

"Before the game [the A.I. coaching staff] asked us if we'd stop the game and give her the game ball because she needed only a few points to get 1,000 for her career," Walker said. "That's all we needed to hear. We tried to stop her and I think the girls did a great job. I don't think she even scored a field

Blue Hen hoopsters in good shape for January

Coach pleased with record, progress

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

THE University of Delaware basketball team will head into the meat of its schedule in January off an 88-69 victory over Division III Washington College Sunday at the Carpenter Center.

Blue Hens coach Mike Brey may not have been ecstatic over the way his team played Sunday, but he is happy it got the victory and he's even happier about his team's position going into January.

"If, on Oct. 18, you would've told me we would be 5-4 overall and 2-1 in the league at this point, I would've signed on the dotted line," Brey said after the win over the Shoremen. "We had Tyrone [Perry] and Keith [Davis] coming back in their positions. Everyone else was a new player, or someone we were asking to play a new position or new role."

"I'm happy with where we are and I really think, because of our inexperience, we will improve a lot more. I think we've already improved dramatically from our first game until now."

Davis led the Hens Sunday by recording the first triple-double (double figures in points, rebounds and assists) in school history. The Hens' lone senior had 17 points, 11 assists and 10 rebounds.

"I'm flattered," Davis said of the school record. "My teammates made a lot of shots, so they should get a lot of the credit."

Davis was a little surprised he played enough minutes to accumulate those kind of statistics.

"You have to give [Washington College] credit," Davis said. "They were a hard-nosed team. They came out and fought us hard. I didn't think I'd play this much but coach kept me out there because we needed the leadership."

After losing three straight games to George Washington, Rider and Virginia, Delaware has now won three of its last four games. Included in those wins were America East conference victories over Hofstra at home and at Towson State. The only loss came in a 65-63 nailbiter at Drexel.

"I think we're right there," Davis said. "I'm the only senior on this team, but I see everybody on this team giving it all every time we go out on the court."

"Everybody's really coming together as a team."

With the abundance of youth and inexperience, the Hens could benefit from the two week layoff they will have before facing Delaware State Jan. 5 in Dover.

"I'm looking forward to [the break]," Brey said. "I'm calling it 'Training Camp II.' We'll have a chance to work together and we'll even have some two-a-days in there. We'll get a chance to look some more at some of our guys and maybe even move some people around some more. We really get two full weeks to get better."

During that span of practice time, the Hens will play a home exhibition game Dec. 30 against the Delaware Dynamite.

Delaware's next regular season home game won't come until a Jan. 13 America East rematch against Drexel.

Senegal connection lives

Brey announced a big addition to the Hens' squad last week. Ndongo N'Diaye, a 7-foot, 1-inch center — who like Blue Hen teammate Madou Diouf hails from Senegal — has transferred to Delaware from Providence.

N'Diaye will enroll in school in January and attend Winter Session. He will be eligible to play in December, 1998.

N'Diaye, will become the first-ever seven-footer to play at the University of Delaware.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

BRUCE KELLY - ST. MARK'S

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

FOR THE SECOND CONSECUTIVE YEAR Bruce Kelly won "The Beast of the East."

The Delaware Mid-Atlantic Wrestling Classic is considered, by many national experts, as the hardest high school tournament in the country to win.

Kelly, just one of three Delaware finalists, usually wrestles 125, but drops to 119 for all major tournaments to help the team standings.

"I should be disappointed if I don't win," Kelly said prior to his semi-final match.

Kelly won his first match 7-2, then pinned his next two opponents on way to the semifinals. However, in the semifinals, Kelly ran into a tough competitor in Jeff Albano, of Methacton Pa.

Kelly scored a first period take down by turning a single leg short into a double. After an escape, Kelly recorded his second take down giving him a 5-0 lead. Albano cut the lead to 5-3 by the end of the second period with an escape and take down. In the third period, Albano got a quick escape, but Kelly was able to prevent a take down to win the match 5-4.

In the finals, Kelly met fellow Delaware wrestler Harry Blendt of Smyrna. To get to the finals Blendt had pinned or technical falled all of his opponents.

The tournament had a feature called "Point - Counter Point." During this, two wrestling experts, Wade Schalles and Rob Sherrill, debate who will win each final. Both Schalles and Sherrill predicted a Blendt win.

The match opened with Blendt scoring a quick take down. Kelly was able to escape, grab the leg of Blendt and score a take down of his own. Before the period ended, Blendt would escape and score another take down on Kelly. This made the score 5-3, Blendt, after one period.

"Both those take downs fired me up," Kelly said. "[The take downs] plus, the remarks the commentators were making really got me going."

Going into the last period Kelly led by just one point, 9-8. Kelly chose the down position and quickly scored a reversal. However, Blendt was able to escape and again cut Kelly's lead to one point. With about one minute left in the match Kelly took control for good. First, he scored another take down, extending his lead to three points, then he put Blendt on his back for the second time. The final score was, Kelly 15 - Blendt 11.

"The most impressive thing was that Blendt hit some shots on him early and he made adjustments," said St. Mark's coach Steve Bastianelli. "Often our coaches make adjustments with a wrestler in between matches. But, Bruce did it in the middle of the match. That is impressive and it is something you can't teach."

Local grid, v-ball players earn All-State honors

Newark's Corey Wallace had an outstanding football season capped off by being named the state's Offensive Player of the Year.

Wallace, a senior, rushed for 1,151 yards and 13 touchdowns this season and helped lead the Yellowjackets to their first state championship since 1985. He was also a first-team selection at line-backer.

Other Newark players named to the first team included sophomore offensive tackle Kwame Harris, junior linebacker Justin Caserta and senior defensive lineman Chris Adams. Harris became the first sophomore to be named to the first team on the offensive line.

Caserta led the Yellowjackets in tackles with 110 and Adams helped lead a strong defensive front that earned four shutouts during the season. Adams was also named as an honorable mention offensive end.

St. Mark's senior John Testa was named the state's Outstanding Lineman and the state's Defensive Player of the Year.

The Spartans' down lineman had 20 sacks during the year and was dominant on the offensive side of the ball as well, earning honorable mention status at offensive guard.

Glasgow senior wide receiver Brian Miller was also named to the first team. Miller caught 43 passes for 618 yards and six touchdowns during the season.

Caravel quarterback Alex Faircloth earned first team honors as well. The Bucs QB rushed for over 1,000 yards this season in helping the Bucs to an 8-2 record. He accumulated over 5,000 yards in total offense in his four years as a starter at Caravel.

Local players named to the second team included: Christiana senior defensive end Bryan Haman and Newark junior defensive back Brandon McClennon.

Honorable mention players were: Christiana senior running back Calvin Carr, Newark quarterback Bobby Johnson, Caravel senior running back Steve Delgado, Newark junior running back Richie Parson, Glasgow senior offensive guard Bobby Bryant, Newark senior offensive guard Tighe Excelby, Newark senior kicker Rob Brennan, St. Mark's junior defensive lineman Peter Santoro, St. Mark's junior defensive lineman Brian Santoro, Caravel junior defensive lineman Scott Terrizzi and Christiana senior defensive back Virgil Rush.

Redden leads Christiana boys over St. Mark's

Senior scores 21 in 49-39 victory

By CHRIS DONAHUE

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

CHRISTIANA HIGH senior guard Lawrence Redden can handle just about any challenge he faces on a basketball court.

And if Redden can maintain that same level of proficiency in the classroom, the Vikings should get more than passing grades against opponents this season.

Last Wednesday, in a 49-39 victory over host St. Mark's, Redden showed his versatility on the court, making shots when he was open, with an opponent in his face, or by driving to the basket.

Redden finished with 21 points, the fifth consecutive game with at least that many points to help the Vikings improve to 3-2. Redden also dished out a couple eye-popping assists against a St. Mark's team that relies on its defensive prowess to stop opponents.

Redden said he doesn't mind being called on to carry the bulk of the offensive load every game.

"Day in and day out, I'm trying to go the championship this year," Redden said. "We've got to improve on some of the little mental errors here and there, but we've got a good team and we'll try to get stronger and stronger as we go along."

For Christiana coach Ron Hollis, who's coached Redden for four years, the improvement on and off the court has been commendable.

"Lawrence is a leader out on the floor, he's a leader in practice, and guys respect his leadership," Hollis said, "Lawrence is an outstanding athlete and a great human being."

"Lawrence is our leader..."

RON HOLLIS

CHRISTIANA BASKETBALL COACH

Unfortunately for the Vikings last season, Redden, who's been the Vikings' leading scorer every season, became academically ineligible. But Hollis said Redden, a former special education student, is on

Redden attended a program to boost his academic prowess at Holyoke College in Massachusetts, and is currently getting extra help at Christiana.

Helped by 13 points from Redden and some cold shooting by St. Mark's in the second quarter, Christiana held a 29-19 lead at half-time.

Virgil Rush scored four of his 14 points in the game early in the third quarter to give Christiana a 33-22 lead. St. Mark's finally began to find its scoring touch and closed the deficit to 37-31, but Rush and Redden tallied the final four points of the quarter to make it 41-31.

Christiana put the game away in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter by outscoring St. Mark's 8-2.

"They outplayed us," said St.

Mark's coach Lee Sibley. "We pride ourselves on defense, and we just didn't defend at all tonight."

As for Redden's performance, Sibley said: "We did a lot better job on him last year (in two Spartans victories), but he's very good. He played under control and made some big shots early."

Said Hollis, "At one point, Lawrence's game was all 'me.' But Lawrence understands that when he's out there, it's a team sport, and that's the one thing that I think has turned him into a much better player."

Hollis, whose team lost its first two games by a combined total of three points, said if Redden can maintain good grades, "there's no telling how far this team can go. We've got a nice group of kids."

St. Mark's finishes sixth in tourney

► WRESTLE, from 13

In the heavyweight semi-final, Testa met a familiar opponent in Salesianum's Joe D'Amico. After a scoreless first period, Testa scored three take downs in route to a 7-3 victory.

Kelly and Testa's finals were arguable the two most interesting.

At 119, Kelly met the only other finalist from Delaware, Smyrna's Harry Blendt.

After two periods, Kelly led 9-8. Starting from the down position, Kelly scored a quick reversal to start the final period. Blendt followed with an escape. However, Kelly sealed the match when he was able to hit a take down and get two break points off the move.

Testa met the number one ranked heavyweight in the country, Luke Ows from Grundy, Va. After two periods the two were tied 3-3. Ows chose the down position to start the final period. Ows scored a quick escape. Testa seemed to be the aggressor as he shot but was unable to finish and Ows scored a take down making it 6-3. Testa was able to escape and Ows was called for

66

He was just stalling.

JOHN TESTA

ST. MARK'S HEAVYWEIGHT ON HIS FINAL OPPONENT

his second stalling. That call gave Testa a penalty point and cut Ows lead to 6-5. However, Ows was again able to take advantage of a Testa shot and record a take down. Testa again escaped and forced another penalty point for stalling.

So, with less than a minute in the match, Ows led 8-7 with both wrestlers on their feet. Testa seemed to have a match-winning take down but the referee stopped the match because of an accidental head collision prior to the shot. Time ran out and Ows won 8-7.

"John was already on the attack," Bastianelli said. "If the referee doesn't make that call Testa gets the take down. But the referee probably made the right call."

"He was just stalling," Testa said. "He was just blocking me off in the third period."

Bastianelli said we was more pleased with the second days performance. At 189, Peter Santoro, of St. Mark's, avenged his only loss to take third place. Mike Collins took fifth place at 140 for Bastianelli's team. St. Mark's finished sixth overall, behind: Blair Academy, Northampton, Mt. Pleasant Pa., Great Bridge and Temecula Valley, California.

Delaware Ducks Peewees win four of six games

The Delaware Ducks Pee-Wee Traveling Ice Hockey team just recently completed its longest Delaware Valley Hockey League (DVHL) stretch of games (six) this 1997-1998 season. Within this stretch the Ducks won four, tied one, and lost a game. They improved their overall DVHL season record to 8-4-1.

On 12/7/97 the Ducks iced Valley Forge at home on The Pond 9-5. They traveled to Reading, Pa. on 12/13/97 and defeated the Timberline Wolfpack 7-1. Later that same evening the Ducks traveled to Warminster, Pa. to face-off against the Glaciers who remain undefeated in the DVHL. A tired flock of Ducks lost 5-0. On 12/14/97 at The Pond the Ducks defeated the Delco Phantoms 4-1.

This past weekend the Ducks tied the Hollydell, N.J. Gladiators 2-2. On Sunday morning, 12/21/97, they destroyed Warwick, Pa. 14-2. The scoring for the last two contests were as follows: at Hollydell, N.J.; Eric Moore, even strength goal, 5:07 of period 1 - unassisted; Chris Tyczkowski, power play goal 2:14 of period 3, with an assist from Eric Moore. Matt Marshallson, a Duck Squirt Goalie played for injured Pee-wee net-minder & played very well - 9 saves on 11 shots. On Pond Ice vs Warwick: Richard Campbell, Andrew Madey, & Eric Moore had hat tricks. Bob Finney had two goals & five assists. Ben MacPherson, Doug Drummond, and Ian King each had a goal. Other assists went to Peter Tarabicos (1), Danny Fletcher (2), Ben MacPherson (1), and Andrew Cassidy (1).

The Ducks next DVHL game is against Lehigh, Pa. at Valley Rink on Jan. 3.

Glasgow wrestlers top Christiana

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Glasgow High wrestling team opened defense of its Flight A championship in fine fashion last Wednesday night.

Spurred on by a surprise pin at 103 pounds from Dan Duong, the Dragons went on to topple district rival Christiana 42-23 in their first conference meet of the season.

Duong, trailing 5-0, caught the Vikings' Steve White attempting to roll and pinned him as time expired in the second period.

Glasgow went on to win nine of the 13 bouts.

"No question, that got us going in the right direction," said Glasgow coach Marc Vettori, whose team has captured the last two Flight titles. "Christiana's a tough team and they're well coached. I thought it was going to be a very tough match. But every match that was up in the air went our way."

Vettori also noted that his team got big wins from Bob Mingola at 140, Scott Brooks at 145 and Steve Mierding at 160.

Mingola earned a pin at 3:19 in the 140 pound bout while Brooks recorded a quick 28 second pin at 145. Mierding then won a hard-fought 6-4 overtime victory over Dave Maichle.

"We're a very young team just trying to find our way," Vettori said. "But this gives us a very good start and a lot of confidence going into the rest of the conference season."

Also earning victories for Glasgow were Jim Boutin at 130 (12-0), Henry Mahan at 135 (tech fall), Bryan Vettori at 152 (fall, 3:13) and Jesse Johnson at 171 (fall, 3:37).

"I don't think we're the best team in the conference," coach Vettori said of his team's chances this season. "But, I think we are the most intense."

Winners for Christiana included Matt Vento at 112 (tech fall), Justin Mills at 119 (fall, :20), Bryan Salinsky at 125 (4-1 decision), Owen Davis at 189 (11-8 decision) and heavyweight Matt Booz (fall, 3:55).

Glasgow girls stay undefeated

goal."

Another reason for Glasgow's success was its balance.

Kelly Hines scored a game-high 18 points, but Tammy Adams added 15 and Lashanda Simpson had nine.

The team also connected on 14-of-19 free throw attempts.

"We have a pretty balanced team," Walker said. "Everybody can score and we have a lot of people who can hit the three point shot."

In every game, the Dragons have had good balance. Against Dickinson, Simpson had 12, Chelesha Harding 11 and Adams 10. Against Wilmington, Harding scored 13, Simpson 17 and Tia Ennis 9. Against McKean, Simpson had 15 points and 12 rebounds while Kristin Nau added 10 points and Jamie Sassaman seven.

Glasgow played Brandywine Tuesday afternoon before heading to this weekend's Diamond State Classic in which it will play a first round game Saturday against neighborhood rival Caravel.

Dragons eye third straight title

By STEVE WESTRICK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Dragon grapplers will be looking for their third consecutive Flight A title this season.

"I really think Christiana, Newark and ourselves are the best teams in Flight A," said Marc Vettori, head coach of Glasgow wrestling. "Who ever has the best night between us will end up on top. But you can't count out AI [Dupont]."

Glasgow's top returning letterman are: Pete Lazzapina 119, Jim Boutin 130, Henry Mahan 140, Bryan Vettori 145, and Brian Conway 171.

Vettori, going into his fifth season as head coach, was worried about filling all the weight classes. However, he was able to get all but one weight class filled for the recent Yellowjacket tournament.

Five Glasgow wrestlers placed in the Yellowjacket: Lazzapina 4th, Boutin 5th, Bryan Vettori 3rd, Conway 3rd and Jesse Johnson 5th at 189.

Vettori points out the toughness of the Dragons schedule.

"We wrestle the toughest kids we can," he said. "We're going to six tournaments this year. And we have tough dual matches against William Penn, Howard [at the Mid-Atlantic duals] and North East. Plus Flight A is more competitive than ever."

Glasgow's line up: Dan Duong 103, Eric Wasmburn 112, Lazzapina 119, Justin Parag 125, Boutin 130, Bob Mingoia 135, Mahan 140, Vettori 145, Scott Brooks 152, Steve Mierding 160, Johnson 171, Conway 189, George Hackett Hwt.

What is Assisted Living?

Maybe you've heard about Assisted Living-but weren't sure whether it would benefit your loved one.

Basically, Assisted Living provides seniors with assistance in everyday living such as dressing, grooming, bathing and other day-to-day activities that can become difficult. At Millcroft our caring staff enhances Assisted Living with programs that foster dignity, wellness, and independence, in a homelike atmosphere.

To find out if your loved one would benefit from Assisted Living at Millcroft consider this check list.

- ☐ Had a recent problem that makes me worry about their living situation
- ☐ Needs a little help with dressing, bathing or grooming
- ☐ Gets confused about which medications to take, and when
- ☐ Regularly forgets to eat or take medications
- ☐ Has difficulty getting around the house
- ☐ Isn't comfortable cooking or preparing food in the kitchen
- ☐ Has little companionship
- ☐ Has a chronic condition that does not need nursing intervention
- ☐ Is too independent or healthy for Nursing Home Care

If you checked two or more boxes, Assisted Living may be right for your loved one. For more information, please call (302) 366-0160, ask for Kristie Augenblick.

REAL ESTATE BRIEFS

Fox & Roach complete merger

The merger between Fox & Lazo Inc., Realtors, and Roach Wheeler/Better Homes and Gardens is complete. The official documents have been finalized joining together the only two remaining large family owned and operated brokers in the Delaware Valley. The merger of the two companies establishes the 12th largest real estate services company in the nation and will give a new look to more than 10,000 lawn signs across the Greater Philadelphia/Tri-State region. Fox & Roach Realtors is projected to dominate the area real estate services industry in 1997 by generating a total of more than $5.2 billion in sales volume in 1997. $3.2 billion will come from the sales of more than 18,000 homes with an additional $2 billion from the sales of more than 13,000 mortgages, title insurance and homeowners insurance policies.

In addition to the traditional residential real estate services offered by the individual companies, the new company also plans to offer mortgage, title insurance and home insurance policy services under the name "The Trident Group." The increased capabilities and investor base of The Trident Group, will enable Fox & Roach to offer more finance choices and rates to their customers. Fox & Roach is also planning to expand and offer new and non-traditional services to their clients such as home security and other home services.

Fox & Roach Realtors is headquartered in Devon, Pa., with regional offices in Haddonfield, N.J. The new company has a total of 40 sales locations in the Tri-State area staffed by 1,800 sales associates and 400 employees.

First State announces new officers

The First State Manufactured Housing Institute announced its newly elected officers and directors for 1998: president, Stevan D. Class, managing partner of Colonial East, Ltd., Rehoboth; 1st vice-president, Terri Rock, executive director of Community Management, Inc., Laurel; treasurer, Andrew Strine, vice-president of Investors Realty, Wilmington; secretary, Trish Edwards, property manager of Waterford-MHC, Bear.

Directors are: Jim Caine, president of Capitol Homes, Inc., Dover; Kenneth S. Clark Sr., owner of Riverdale Park, Millsboro; Dan Dugan, district marketing manager of Schult Homes, Elkton, Md.; Marion Fetterman, vice-president of Reybold Homes, Newark; Michael Ginsberg, vice-president of LHI, Smyrna; Sheila Morrow, director of administrative services for Tunnell Companies, Long Neck; Terry Strine, president of Investors Realty, Wilmington; Mr. David Webb, president of Mobile Gardens Inc., Seaford.

First State Manufactured Housing Institute is a professional state trade association representing over 150 members in Delaware and the region at the state, county and local levels.

Two upcoming industry initiatives in 1998 include establishing statewide installation standards for manufactured homes and setting up a scholarship fund specifically for financially needy students who live in manufactured homes. For more information please contact executive director, Phyllis McKinley, at 302-674-5868.

Garage strong enough to support office building

CONTRACTORS for a recently-opened parking garage in downtown Wilmington used precast concrete to achieve the look of an office building with the strength to support one.

According to the Mid-Atlantic Precast Association in Hockessin, the Community Service Parking Garage built by E.D.I.S. Construction Management Group has 500 parking spaces and 10,000 square feet of retail space at ground level. A unique architectural design will allow the structure to support a nine-story office building planned for the future.

The present six-level structure, completed on Sept. 5 after 22 weeks of construction, was opened to the public on Oct. 1.

Precast lattice work on the three main elevations provides an architectural effect that makes the building appear to be an office building rather than a parking garage. This unique design received an award from the American Institute of Architects.

"The future elevator core, at the center of the building, is built with two additional internal shear walls to allow the structure to take the wind forces of a building on top," said architect Buck Simpers.

The structure's total area is 195,800 square feet with a 16-foot high first level, allowing more space for the retail area's high ceiling. There are 1,089 structural and architectural precast members in the structure.

The Mid-Atlantic Precast Association was formed in 1978 by producers of precast/prestressed concrete products serving New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Concrete Building Systems, Inc. in Delmar supplied the structural precast members and erected all precast members. Architectural precast was supplied by Universal Concrete Products corporation of Douglassville, Pa.

Tips for backyard composting

*Pick a well-drained spot in full sun to locate a compost pile.

*Build a compost bin out of easily available materials: scrap lumber, chicken wire, bricks or concrete blocks, or just build up free standing piles and cover with tarps.

*Make sure the bin has enough openings to allow air to penetrate so that bacteria and fungi which break down the material have enough oxygen.

*Feed your composter - it will work best with alternating six to eight inch layers of coarse and fine materials. Lay down a bottom layer of coarse material such as twigs, hay, wood chips or other materials. Follow with a layer of material rich in nitrogen such as leaves or grass clippings. Alternate the layers and sprinkle water as you build the pile. It helps to keep it covered.

*Keep it going, be sure to turn the pile every three to four days to move the fully composted material out of the hot center. The pile should be at least three feet by three feet and not higher than five feet.

*Some compost may be ready as quickly as 12 days after you begin, but it may take four to eight weeks. Compost can be used in flower beds, around trees, shrubs and potted plants.
